the Criminal Justice Council, which oversees statewide law enforcement planning and administers funds from the U.S. Department of Justice for crime control projects in Texas.

One of the South Plains grants will be used in implementing action projects outlined in previous plans and in updating the comprehensive five-year criminal justice plan for the 15 counties of the South Plains State Planning Regions. The amount of this grant was $29,200.

Early in 1972 SPAG realigned the multi-year criminal justice program for the region to keep pace with other developments and updated priorities for the regional criminal justice plan. Programs receiving emphasis include law enforcement training and communications, and others dealing with courts, juvenile delinquency and probation.

SPAG furnishes professional criminal justice planning services to each local governmental unit in the region's 15 counties and serves as a regional clearinghouse.

These counties are Bailey, Cochran, Crosby, Dickens, Floyd, Garza, Hale, Hockley, King, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Motley, Terry and Yoakum.

The region's cash contribution to the criminal justice planning effort will be $3,244.

Two other criminal justice action grants to the area served by SPAG were also among those approved by the governor. These totaled $36,687.

Lubbock County will receive $18,488 as second-year funding for its adult probation project to a cash match of $20,994. The probation projects ser-

Area Youths Take Tour To Washington

Two young people from this area visited in Washington last week on rural electric's Government-in-Action Youth Tour. Timothy Jewell Morris of Farwell and Jennifer Lynn Davis of Muleshoe were on the tour June 12-18 that took them through a number of government buildings and cultural and historic sites including the Washington and Lincoln Memorials, Mount Vernon and The White House.

At the White House, President Nixon greeted them along with some 1,000 other electric youth from across the nation. Bailey County Electric Cooperative sponsored the local participants who were part of 66 young people and nine chaperones making up the Texas group. They returned from the 12-day trip on June 20.

FHA Loans Available

Many additional families in Texas are now eligible for rural housing loans from the Farmers Home Administration, FHA State Director J. Lynn Futch announced today.

"In families where both husband and wife are employed," Futch explained, "the new policy permits half of the wife's gross income to be excluded in determining whether the total family income is within the maximum limit for loan eligibility."

For example, the husband is the principal source of income with $6,000. His wife earns $4,000. His entire income, plus half of his wife's, or $2,000 total $8,000. This is within Texas' moderate income level of $8,000 so the family may be eligible for a Farmers Home Administration loan.

James V. Smith, National Administrator of Farmers Home Administration emphasized that newly-eligible families must demonstrate that they otherwise merit FHA financing, and that credit is not available from regular commercial sources.

"The new policy will assist families in which the wife's income is needed to improve the standard of living. Note that if the wife is the principal breadwinner, the rule does not apply. This change will in no way affect our expanding service to low-income families," Mr. Smith said.

Loans may be made to families that will buy or build homes in open country or towns of up to 10,000 population, and

"Last-minute storming about doesn't result in a shower of compliments.

A buffet menu is particularly feminine and appealing. Serve chicken almond mousse as the main dish.

"Filled with chicken pieces and topped with creamy cottage cheese, it's delicately flavored and textured but hearty in protein. Buttered hot rolls and well-chilled milk round out the menu. For dessert, treat the guests to strawberry tarts."

To prepare chicken mousse salad, combine one 3-ounce package of lime-flavored gelatin, one tablespoon (one envelope) unflavored gelatin and 1/2 cups boiling water in a bowl.

Stir until the gelatin dissolves. Blend in one cup warm chicken stock. Add three cups finely diced chicken, three-fourth cup finely diced celery, one-half cup chopped almonds, two-thirds cup finely chopped cucumber, two tablespoons chopped parsley, one tablespoon lemon juice and two teaspoons salt to the gelatin mixture.

Chill until jelly-like in consistency, then carefully fold in one cup whipping cream that's been whipped. Turn into a mold which has been rinsed in cold water. Chill until set. Unmold in chilled platter. Spread top of salad with one cup cottage cheese and edge with parsley.

"Flowers made from white turnips tinted with yellow food coloring add a gay spring touch," Mrs. Robin Taylor said.

According to the agent, chicken, dairy products and strawberries, plentiful in supply, now carry attractive prices.

Muleshoe Rotary Ann Attends Houston Convention

HOUSTON--Mrs. David Anderson, of Muleshoe was among the 18,000 Rotarians and guests from more than 65 countries who attended the 63rd annual convention of Rotary International, June 11 to June 15, 1972, in Houston. Mrs. Anderson, a Rotary Ann of the Rotary Club of Muleshoe, was accompanied by her daughter, son-in-law and children.

The theme of the convention was reflected in major addresses encouraging Rotarians to forward the Rotary ideal of service through their businesses and professions and through their activities as individual citizens concerned with the condition of human beings all over the world. Among the speakers: Geoffrey Kemp, professor of international politics at Tufts University and an associate of the Institute for Strategic Studies in London; Jan Prawitz, special assistant for the disarmament of Sweden's Ministry of Defense and adviser to the S.A.L.T. talks in Geneva; John Hannah, administrator of the Agency for International Development; Leonard Woodcock, president of the United Automobile, Aerospace and Agricultural Implement Workers of America; and Robert W. Cox, director of the International Institute for Labor Studies in Geneva, Switzerland. The gathering was also addressed by His Eminence, Juan Cardinal Landuzare Ricketts, Archbishop of Lima, Peru, and Roy D. Hickman, of Birmingham, Alabama, incoming President of Rotary International for 1972-73.

Conventioners also applauded a number of entertainment events with a distinct southwestern flavor. Among them: a spectacular featuring the U.S. Marine Drum & Bugle Corps, and Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minnesota, U.S.A., in 1974.

Set Boundaries For Your Child

Do you give your child the security of limits?

"Each child needs definite boundaries," Mrs. Robin Taylor, Extension county home demonstration agent, said. "He needs to know how far he can go."

According to Mrs. Taylor, freedom and limits needed are different for every child. "Some children seem to need a high fence. Others can manage with a low one."

Deciding limits for each child is hard to do, she pointed out. But there are some key questions to help you set boundaries. Ask if the limit is necessary for the child's safety or for the safety and well-being of others.

Is the limit necessary for the protection or property? Is it primarily for the convenience of adults?

Does the boundary prohibit the child from experimenting? Ask if it is still necessary or if he has outgrown its usefulness. If it is necessary, how can it be enforced?

"Not all limits need to be explained to the child, but the parent should understand the reason for the rule," she urged. All too often parents simply reply, "Because I say so," without thinking about the reason for the boundary. Other parents slip into the habit of automatically saying "no!"

"Children cooperate more with fewer, well-defined limits that are strict," Mrs. Taylor said. "Let your child make his own decisions within these limits, and as he grows older, let him help decide on new limits."

BIRTHDAY PARTY...The Mary Martha Circle of the First United Methodist Church hosted a birthday party for Tressie Webb, 63, the only Nursing Home resident having a June birthday. The party was held at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 20. Mary Beth Dillman played the piano for group singing.

John Tower
United States Senate COMMITTEE ON ARMED SERVICES

One of the best investments we can make in this country's future is to insure the best possible education for as many members of our society as possible.

Our men and women in uniform, and our veterans of military service should not be overlooked as we seek to provide full educational opportunities.

The Congress is presently considering legislation to increase the educational benefits of the G.I. Bill which provides financial assistance to veterans who continue their education after their discharge. The G.I. Bill has proved to be one of the most successful ways in which our society can repay those who have taken time out from their normal lives to help meet our military manpower needs. It has proved most helpful in assisting veterans return to a useful and productive civilian life. I am supporting an increase in the G.I. educational benefits. This increase is necessary to offset the spiraling costs of education and keep it within the financial reach of most veterans.

The House has already passed a bill to raise educational benefits for veterans. The Senate has completed hearings on a similar measure which I am co-sponsoring and should be able to act soon. I am assured that the Congress is hopeful that final passage can come in time to be effective for the upcoming fall semester.

The G.I. Bill does not cover full educational costs. Veterans must demonstrate their good faith by financing the remainder of the expenses themselves. But the current unemployment situation for Vietnam Era veterans is critical and the part-time job market, a primary source of financial support for veterans using their G.I. benefits, is slight. In an effort to expand the part-time job market for students, the Congress included in the more general Higher Educational Act already passed a provision creating the Work-Study for Community Learning Program. I am proud to have been a co-sponsor of the amendment adding this provision.

This new program authorizes federal funds for allocation to the States for assisting public, private or non-profit agencies to pay the salaries of students employed by such agencies which are providing needed community services. Such Community Services might include work in environmental quality, health care, public safety, crime prevention and control, or nearly any other field of human and community improvement. Employment of students on a part-time basis to fill this need will aid both the students and the communities.

The Higher Education Act amendment provides that Vietnam Era veterans will be given preference in the hiring of students under the Work-Study Community Learning Program. This should significantly aid veterans who need jobs in order to meet educational costs and enable them to take advantage of their G.I. benefits.

Another important area of education involves our men and women still in uniform. The American Association of Community and Junior Colleges and the Department of Defense is now cooperating to improve the educational opportunities of many servicemen. I applaud and endorse this program.

Servicemen, by nature of their duty, are frequently transferred from base to base. Thus, servicemen encounter greater difficulties in amassing the necessary number of educational credits from a single institution to earn a degree.

To remedy this situation, the Servicemen's Opportunity College is being created. Its members are community and junior colleges located near military installations throughout the nation. Such a college will agree to accept the credits of a serviceman accumulated at another member institution, and to award the serviceman a diploma upon meeting the same set of requirements established

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The article in the June 8, 1972, issue of The Muleshoe Journal entitled "Farm Bureau Takes Stand Against Chavez" presents several issues in the farm labor movement, but from the Farm Bureau's point of view. From the standpoint of equal protection under the law, as guaranteed by the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, we wonder if the position of the Farm Bureau, or of the farmers themselves, can really be considered "fair to everyone involved". Specifically, just as the Farm Bureau advocated that the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee be treated the same as industrial unions under terms of the National Labor Relations Act (by being subject to anti-secondary-boycott provisions), should not the agricultural worker be given equal status with the industrial worker under Sections 6(a) and 7(a) of the Fair Labor Standards Act, which provide for uniform minimum wages and overtime compensation, respectively. And just as the Farm Bureau supports protection of the farmer against strikes at harvest time, should not the farmworker be afforded the protection of unemployment insurance, as guaranteed most industrial workers under state statutes and the Federal Unemployment Tax Act. Along with creation of an "Agricultural Labor Relations Board", which would presumably benefit farmers and farmworkers equally, it seems only reasonable, too, that benefits currently available to farmers under the various "agricultural adjustments" ("price support" and "farm income stabilization" programs of the U.S. Department of Agriculture should be extended to the farmworker, as well, who helps make the nation's agricultural abundance possible and who suffers more than the grower at the hands of low markets.

If the Farm Bureau really has the welfare of the farmer in mind, it must also be concerned for the interests and equal protection, to its full extent, of the migrant and seasonal farmworker.

throughout the system.

In addition, the Servicemen's Opportunity College will seek to develop tests for servicemen to allow receipt of equivalent college credit for the training and knowledge accumulated through a serviceman's military activity. Many servicemen acquire important technical skills while in military service. This equivalency testing program will translate a skill into a meaningful record for employment and education purposes after discharge.

Later this month, June 26, representatives from the American Association of Community and Junior Colleges, the Department of Defense, the community and junior colleges of Texas and the military installations in Texas, will meet in Austin to initiate the Servicemen's Opportunity College in Texas. This is an innovative program designed to meet an important need. It has my full support.

The trouble about the candidates who know it all is that there are so many of them.

Q. Will the Internal Revenue Service issue a notice of violation to a landlord who fails to abide by the notice requirements of the rent regulations, even where the rent to be charged is lower than that permitted by the regulations?
A. Yes. The IRS will issue a notice of violation to landlords who violate the notice requirements, even where the rent charged would otherwise be permitted by the rent regulations.

Q. Now that small businesses have been exempted from controls, can my doctor, who employs only a few people, raise his fees without regard to the price regulations?
A. No. The small business exemption, which exempts from controls certain firms with 60 or fewer employees, does not apply to health service and construction industries or landlords.

Q. Can the Pay Board, in considering the first year increase in a contract, also rule on the validity of the second and third year increases and order a reduction?
A. Yes. While normally the Board is concerned only with increases occurring in the first control year, in circumstances where it appears that the second and third year of the contract and are so large as to constitute an attempt to compensate for wages reduced by the Pay Board in the first year, the Board has authority to rule on the appropriateness of such increases.

Selfishness is at the bottom of most human conflicts; you can't reform your neighbors, but you can work on yourself.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

MEXICO CITY--Mexico opened an institution of higher learning in the United States this week -- in San Antonio, Texas. Why?

The answer to that question lies in the personality, leadership and goals of Mexico President Luis Echeverria Alveara. The new dynamic President of Mexico is visiting the U.S. this week to discuss a couple of major problem areas between Mexico and this country.

If his track record here comes close to his achievements in Mexico since his inauguration December 1, 1970, he will go back home with some commitments about the Mexican laborers in California and the salinity problems of the Mexicali Calley caused by the Colorado River water.

His visit to Texas gave this state a clue to his major goals in Mexico. He dedicated the San Antonio Mexican Cultural Institute -- located in HemisFair's Mexoco pavilion. It is symbolic of the principal changes Echeverria is attempting in Mexico's way of life.

His enthusiasm and determination to solve Mexico's problems has become contagious among all government leaders in his country.

His common workday is 12 to 14 hours -- with no complaints from Mexico's government leaders and their staffs. There is no "siesta" in Mexican governmental circles these days. The new leadership in Mexico is determined also to get rid of the "manana" image-- and turn it to "today and tomorrow."

They recognize internal problems -- and have programs to do something about them.

"Most of Mexico's problems can be solved by education," Echeverria believes.

His program for educational reform in Mexico points out the fact that he means what he says.

Echeverria anticipated the country's education problems before he started his six-year term as president (a president may not succeed himself in that country).

"President Echeverria studied the country's population statistics and discovered that 500,000 children per year will be entering the elementary education program," states Mexico's Secretary of Education Victor Bravo Ahuja.

"Mexico has a population of 50,000,000 -- half of which is in the rural areas. One-fourth of the population is between six and 14 years of age. There were no schools for 150,000 students wanting to enter elementary school.

"More than 12,000 new teachers must be trained each year to educate these new students," the Secretary of Education continued.

Mexico will have 11,000,000 or one-fifth of its entire population in elementary school this year. Only 57% of the elementary school students finish grade school -- and this is up from 45% two years ago. Echeverria's goal is to get 75% of the grade school students into high school.

He does not believe all high school graduates should go to college. (There are 133,000 students attending the University of Mexico this year.)

Echeverria has more than doubled the budget for technical institutes. Although the cost of college is only $12 to $15 a year tuition in Mexico, the Mexico President is trying to direct high school graduates into technical and trade institutes. "We believe that it is a mistake to send everyone to a university. The President's education policy has three principal points," the Secretary of Education relates, "giving students a chance to accept every educational opportunity, get into their working lives without frustration, and the economic opportunity for everyone to be educated."

Here are some other facts and figures given to newsmen by Mexico's Secretary of Education Victor Bravo Ahuja.

*27% of the national budget (up 23% from last year) goes into education.

*66% of the people on Mexico's federal government payroll work in education.

*88% of education in Mexico is financed now by the Federal government.

With all of this interest on education -- it is easy to see why President Echeverria wanted to open a Mexican educational institution in San Antonio.

More buildings will be added later, classrooms, labs and a library. Operated by the Secretary of Foreign Affairs Emilio O. Rabasa, the Institute will feature classes in Spanish for four levels, also anthropology, literature and Mexican history. Exhibits of Mexican arts and crafts, Mexican painting and excavations of ancient temples will be featured also.

AUSTIN, TEX. -- Legislative leaders are predicting a quick end to their longreaded special session which began last Wednesday.

Gov. Preston Smith caught nearly everybody by surprise when he announced he has discovered an additional $125 million in federal funds which can be applied to welfare.

The federal windfall for social services to the needy was Smith's secret weapon to finance 1973 state operations without need for any new taxes.

Most lawmakers had concluded he would recommend an eight months' budget for welfare to make it possible to avoid another tax bill before he leaves office.

The governor proposed a $4.1 billion budget for 1973 ($818 million from general revenue).

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and House Speaker Rayford Price say they are optimistic about chances of finishing the budget-writing job in two to three weeks.

AW, I'M JUST GONNA' BE LOOKIN' AT SOME OF THOSE SOUTH AMERICAN COWS AND STUFF--

Submission of other matters would keep the special session going longer, although Smith has indicated he is reluctant to broaden the call. A proposed new code of ethics has been drafted, and there will be pressure on the governor to submit it.

Welfare Commissioner Raymond Vowell told the joint finance committee he fully expects to get written confirmation from Health, Education and Welfare officials next week that the additional welfare funds will be available.

Comptroller Robert S. Calvert, who must certify foreseeable revenue before it can be obligated by the legislature, wants firm evidence the $125 million will be available if he permits it to be counted in 1973 budget-writing. If Calvert declines to certify it, lawmakers almost certainly will turn again to the eight-month welfare budget idea.

DEMOCRATS CONVENE -- George Wallace and George McGovern were high-point winners in Texas delegate strength for presidential nomination at last week's stormy, marathon state Democratic convention.

Democrats milled around for more than 15 hours before they could agree on the slate of 130 Texas delegates who will attend the party's national presidential nominating convention.

Wallace got 42 of the delegates, McGovern 34, Hubert Humphrey 21, and 33 are uncommitted.

Main fireworks at the long-drawn-out convention came on the election of the largely-ceremonial vice-chairman. State Democratic Executive Committee Chairman Roy Orr of DeSoto was defeated 2,125 votes to 1,795 by Mrs. Eddie Bernice Johnson of Dallas, a black nominee for state Representative.

Gubernatorial nominee Dolph Briscoe had his way with other convention officers and nomination of Democratic national committeeman and committeewoman. Jess Hay of Dallas will be the new committeeman and Mrs. Roland (Jane) Blumberg of Seguin, the new committeewoman, Calvin Guest of Bryan served as convention chairman.

GOPS CLASH -- Republicans who had anticipated a quiet, uneventful convention, ended up with some excitement of their own.

GOP gubernatorial nominee Henry Grover of Houston demanded the convention instruct the state Republican executive committee to meet and oust the party's state chairman and vice chairman, Dr. George Willeford and Mrs. Malcolm Milburn of Austin. Grover claimed the leaders are doing nothing to help him get elected. His proposal was shouted down.

Party leaders deny there is a deep rift, claim they are backing Grover.

Rep. Fred Agnich of Dallas and Mrs. Tobin Armstrong of Armstrong were re-elected GOP national committeeman and committeewoman.

Boat Registration Shows Over 300,000

The Texas Park's and Wildlife's Boat Registration Branch reports that 300,000 boats have been currently registered as of May 23, 1972.

Although the common expiration date of March 31, 1972 has passed, transactions are still at a level of 1,000 to 2,000 per day.

Future registrations will not create the same volume problems, however, since the staggered registration program is now underway.

The first expiration date under the program is September 30, 1972. At that time registrations will expire.

Renewal notices will be mailed at a first class rate to those applicable boat owners during July. Each subsequent month shows expirations of 13,000 to 18,000 registrations.

Renewal notices will be mailed during a period of 60 but not more than 90 days preceding each expiration date.

The department reminds registered boat owners that changes of ownership must be reported within 15 days of the transaction according to the Texas Water Safety Act. Failure to do so may result in difficulty in renewing registrations.

The renewal fee and respective notice should be mailed to Austin not later than three weeks prior to the expiration date to facilitate processing. New or original registration numbers can be obtained without delay by visiting any one of the department's 31 sales offices throughout the state.

Other important improvements have been made in the registration process. The old paper certificate of number has been replaced by a more durable plastic card.

Color coded decals, which remind boat owners of their expiration dates, must now be placed on both the port and starboard sides of the boat three inches to the right of the numbers.

Registration records are now computerized which increases access speed and insures greater accuracy.

By June 30, the department anticipates a 10-working-day processing period for boat registrations.

The overall improved program will result in fast, accurate service at no additional cost to Texas boat owners.

AREA YOUNG PEOPLE IN WASHINGTON...Timothy Jewlon Morris of Farwell and Miss Jennifer Lynn Davis of Muleshoe are pictured before the Capitol building in Washington, D. C. during the June 12-18 visit there on rural electric's Government in Action Youth Tour.

Texas cotton farmers have very little use for DDT. Therefore they have no cause for concern that the well-known insecticide is about to be banned in the U.S. Right? Wrong, says Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock-based cotton producer organization.

DDT is used in some parts of the cotton belt, primarily for bollworm control, and is an important production tool in those areas. In Texas DDT is recommended only for control of cutworms and garden webworms, which are minor pests, and for control of flea-hoppers in the mix with toxaphene. It is not used in Texas for control of boll weevils or bollworms, the major pests.

"But the significance of the DDT ban, important as it is to cotton production in some areas, goes far beyond the immediate effect on cotton production," Johnson said.

Federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Administrator William Ruckelshaus on June 14 announced an almost complete ban on DDT usage in the United States beginning December 31, 1972. DDT for several years has been under fire from "environmental purists" who maintain its use creates an unreasonable hazard to human health and various species of wildlife. They claim this hazard outweighs the benefits to crop production and to humanity as a means to controlling mosquitoes and thereby furnishing protection against such scourges as malaria, yellow fever, encephalitis and a number of other deadly diseases.

Seven months of hearing were held by EPA in Washington during which DDT opponents attempted to show that DDT causes severe damage to the environment. They failed. At the conclusion, hearing examiner Edmund Sweeney said "There has been proof that, on balance with the benefits, the present essential uses of DDT...do not create an unreasonable risk."

Accordingly, Sweeney recommended to Administrator Ruckelshaus that essential uses of DDT be continued. But the Administrator has apparently ignored the recommendation of the hearing examiner, ignored the absence of evidence to support claims of detrimental DDT effects, and announced a ban on DDT.

The alarm being voiced by agriculture is totally justified," Johnson says, "because the ruling denies use of a valuable production tool. But to many of us it is even more alarming by the EPA Administrator without cause having been shown."

DDT manufacturers and agricultural groups will no doubt take the case to court in an effort to set aside the Administrator's decision. And, if the evidence presented in court is the equivalent of that presented at hearings, the EPA ruling should be reversed. "Hopefully that will be the case," Johnson said.

"If minority groups of ill-informed environmentalists can pressure the EPA into banning DDT in the face of massive evidence that its benefits to society far outweigh any possible ill effect, then one is forced to ask what will be banned next, chocolate ice cream?"

At stake in the final court decision on DDT, Johnson believes, is the continued use of all insecticides, herbicides, fungicides and chemical fertilizers, and the loss of these chemicals would mean a return to "organic farming."

And, as Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz has said, we can easily return to organic farming, but first we have to determine which 50 million people in the U.S. are going to starve.

The man or woman who is too busy to take a vacation is in for a great surprise, when he, or she, dies the world will hardly miss them.

Health Thoughts

Dr. C. L. Goodpasture
D. C.

Many people wonder why a Chiropractor is so interested in the spine when often the complaint may be located in the stomach, kidneys, eyes, legs, etc.

Chiropractors are interested in the spine because it houses the main channel of life force ... called the spinal cord. The spinal cord may be likened to the great trunk of the tree from which many branches and sub-branches come forth.

The spinal cord and nervous system comprise the main communication system in your body carrying messages to and from the brain to every microscopic cell.

Then there is an open line so to speak ... that is, when the messages get through, all is well and health is abundant providing that moderation is the keynote of living. When there is a block to that life energy output it means that one or more of the bones of the spine is displaced slightly from its normal position.

Now you can see why the Chiropractor is so vitally interested in your back and spine. He is scientifically trained to locate and remove that block to life energy ... bringing you health and happiness.

Congressman Bob Price

"I can't see how anyone who truly has the interest of the farmers and ranchers, small businessmen and their state government at heart could possibly oppose the bill to increase from 50 to 80 percent the federal share of the cost of the cooperative state meat inspection program," the Pampa Congressman asserted.

for a vote. "This bill has already been approved by the United States Senate," Congressman Price said. "One hundred Senators passed judgement on it and said it deserved to be inacted into law--and yet my opponent is putting himself above the Senate and refusing to allow even the full House Agriculture Committee to see it and consider it.

and yet my opponent is putting himself above the Senate and refusing to allow even the full House Agriculture Committee to see it and consider it. "The truth is," Congressman Price declared, "that the meat-cutters' union, whose servant he is, does not want this bill passed. The union does not want the states to get more funding for their inspection programs because it's difficult to unionize small state-inspected plants.

"Some states have already had to withdraw from the meat inspection program and turn it over to federal control because of the extra expense involved in new environmental control pressures to insure meat and meat products are not contaminated due to use of pesticides, medicated feeds and drug additives, along with programs to control bacteria, enforce standards for processed meat product and other new responsibilities," he explained.

"Withdrawal of states from performing this service would require expansion of the Federal Meat Inspection Program, thus requiring the federal government to further preempt jurisdiction of states over intrastate commerce. This would open the way for more unionization of meat plants and a tremendous enlargement of union power.

"On the other hand it would take away from Texas cattlemen a service they badly need. Many of our meat processing plants are not only small, they are located for the most part in rural communities. They make it possible for the cattle producers to sell their animals at the local level, at a fair price, and with the cost of transporting them long distances. This is very helpful to the producer with only a few head to market. These small plants also provide local jobs for community residents and they can sell meat to the consumer cheaper because they can operate with smaller overhead costs."

Congressman Price said reports from various states show that states overwhelmingly are in favor of continuing their own meat inspection programs for various reasons, including production of livestock, and feed lot operations, lower labor and overhead costs, and personalized service to meet the needs of local market clientele. State governments usually have a better understanding of the problems and needs of the small plants, he added.

"With all these considerations in mind, the only conclusion a reasonable and logical person can draw is that this legislation is being held in the subcommittee because the meat-cutters' union wants it there," Price said.

Watermelons in good supply and good quality... To Shrink Or Not To Shrink... Pecan Hearing Set... Egg Production shows increase...

HARVESTING of watermelons is moving to the Cotulla, Pearsall and Pleasanton areas. Watermelons now are in ample supply and the quality is good, also. Market prices reported relatively firm.

WHICH OF THESE is the best deal? An offer of $24.50 for your 400-pound steer calves without a shrinkage allowance, or $25 with a four per cent shrink.

You can get the answer to this plus a lot of other valuable information on livestock marketing in a handy, compact booklet available from the Texas Department of Agriculture, Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711. Ask for Livestock Marketing Handbook.

In the question above, the first offer will net you $98; the second offer nets $96.

Information in the handbook consists of three basic types: 1. conversion of live animals into dressed costs; 2. break-even cost charts for cattle feeding; 3. shrinkage section.

Also included are pointers to look for in selling your cattle as well as U.S. federal meat grades, average and range in dressing percentages of various kinds of livestock by grades, and motor freight rates for livestock in Texas.

Average yield of carcasses into retail cuts is also included.

The booklet contains tables showing the dressed costs at varying yields, shrinkage tables, and break even cost charts.

A HEARING involving the Texas Pecan Growers Association seeking certification to hold a referendum under the Texas commodity referendum law will be held June 15 at 10 a.m. in room 503-G in the Sam Houston office building in Austin.

The Texas Pecan Growers Association proposed to hold the election in all 254 counties in Texas. Main purpose of the hearing is to ascertain if the Texas Pecan Growers Association is representative of Texas pecan growers and if the referendum proposed is in conformity with the law.

Texas pecan production in 1971 was estimated at 23,000,000 pounds. Leading counties in production of pecans in Texas during 1971 included Gonzales, first, with 1,596,000 pounds; Guadalupe, second, 1,445,000 pounds; Hood, third, 1,180,000 pounds; Maverick, fourth, 959,000 pounds; Colorado, fifth, 880,000 pounds; Bowie, sixth, 876,000 pounds; El Paso, seventh, 784,000 pounds; Mills, eighth, 730,000 pounds; Comanche, ninth, 706,000 pounds; San Saba, tenth, 700,000 pounds.

More than half the counties in Texas have pecan production. Improved varieties normally account for about one-fifth of the state's production with four-fifths of the production coming from seedling varieties.

EGG PRODUCTION in Texas continued to increase during April. Texas egg production totaled 238,000,000 during the month; this is up nine per cent from a year ago. Texas layers totaled 12.6 million during April, three per cent above a year earlier.

Nationwide, total eggs produced numbered slightly more than six billion, up slightly from last year. The number of layers in the nation was down two per cent below a year ago at 314,000,000.
