Parking Ordinance To Be Enforced

Gas Price Resolution Passed

Local Commissioners Approve Resolution

Commissioner's Court met in the courthouse Monday, July 10, for its regular monthly meeting. Present were commissioners W.M. Dudley, Precinct One; Loyd Stephens, Precinct Two; W.H. Eubanks, Precinct Three; and Rudolph Moraw, Precinct Four; and Bailey County Judge Glen Williams.

The court purchased two legal size filing cabinets and two document size filing cabinets for the Justice of the Peace office from William Brothers Office supplies for the amount of $157.60.

W.T. Millen and Omer Kelton appeared before the Commissioners Court to present the following resolution which provides for FPC government control of prices charged by Pioneer Natural Gas Co.:

WHEREAS the Commissioner's Court of Bailey County, Texas met in regular session at the Court House at Muleshoe, Texas on July 10, 1972 and one of the matters considered by the Court was the recent increases in the price of agricultural and irrigation gas promulgated by Pioneer Natural Gas Company which said company holds a monopoly in Bailey County and the surrounding irrigated area;

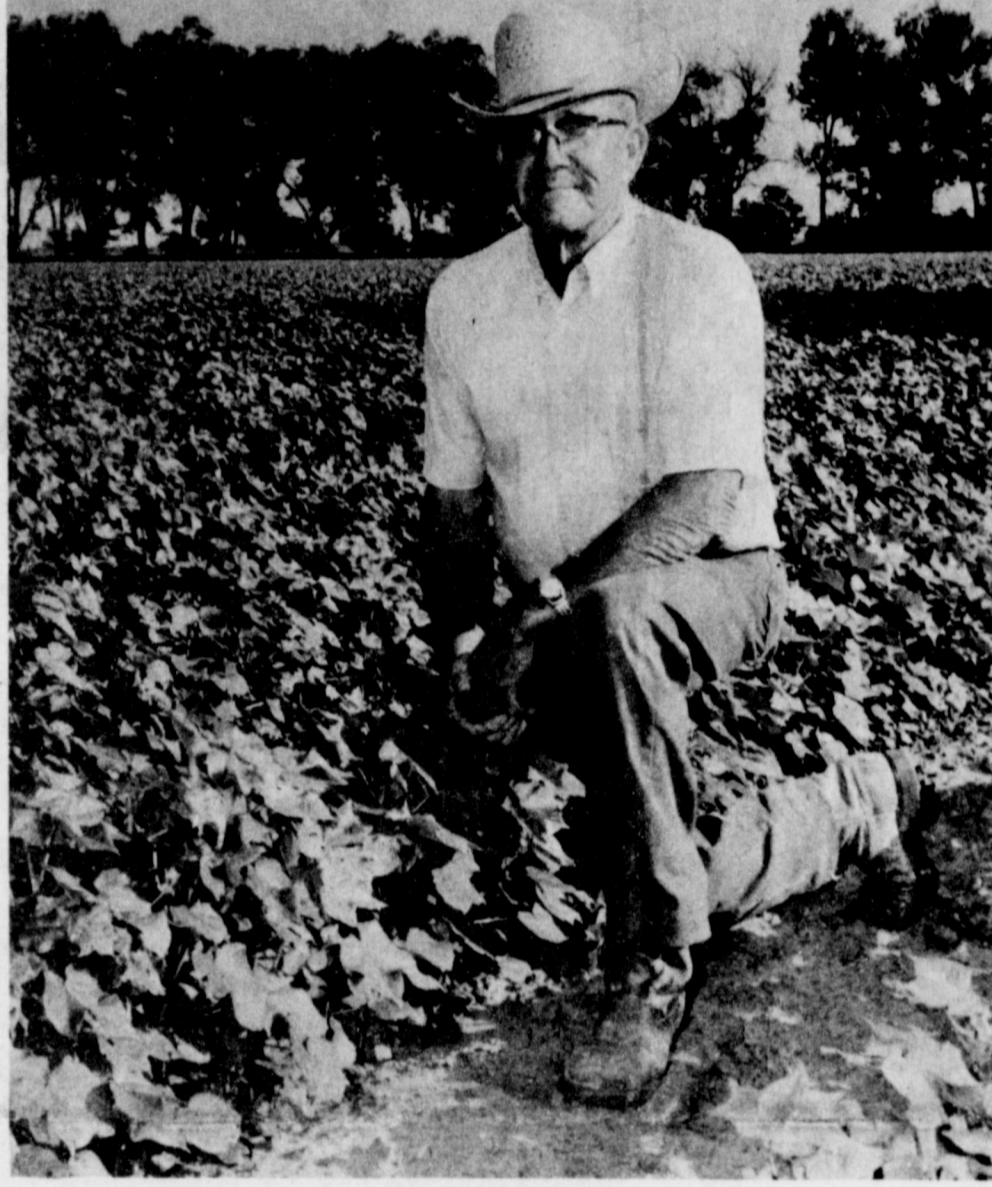

and WHEREAS one of the major costs of farming in Bailey County is the cost of natural gas used as irrigation fuel and even though the farmers in the area served by Pioneer spent an average of $1,000.00 per well building their own gas lines to tie on to Pioneer, Pioneer has raised the price of irrigation gas a number of times in the last 17 years and since Pioneer is not regulated by any agency with regard to the price of irrigation gas the said company is free to raise the price of gas at any time and the farmers have no recourse and simply must pay the increased price or be cut off from natural gas; and

WHEREAS any unregulated monopoly is opposed to the public interest and the monopoly held by Pioneer with the attendant price increases is having a devastating effect upon the agricultural economy of the area at a time when agriculture in general and particularly in this local area is already so depressed that many farmers have lost their farms and have been forced to earn a livelihood in some other way; and

WHEREAS the Commissioner's Court of Bailey County, Texas feels keenly its responsibility to the irrigation farmers in Bailey County, Texas and feels strongly that no monopoly should be completely free of regulation and that Pioneer Natural Gas Company should not be free to raise the price of irrigation gas any time they see fit and the farmers in the area should have some recourse and some forum in which to complain of the exorbitant and excessive prices charged by Pioneer for irrigation gas and the farmers should have the same protection as users of natural gas within the confines of cities and municipalities and the Court feels strongly that the farmers are being discriminated against in that they are deprived of this protection; and

WHEREAS the Court feels that it has a responsibility to the farmers in the county and feels that it should be able to protect them against exorbitant and excessive rates charged by any public utility or supplier of natural gas or electricity and feels that every action should be taken by the Court legally possible in order to afford some protection for the said irrigation farmers; and

WHEREAS a complaint has been lodged with the Federal Power Commission and a request made to that body to

FIRST COTTON BLOOMS...W.F. Harrison is shown with some of his early cotton which has already begun to bloom. This cotton west of town was planted on the last day of April and was lucky enough not to be rained or hailed out as some of the fields were in this area. This is one of the earliest cotton crops ever recorded in Bailey County, Barring bad or severe weather or an early freeze, area cotton farmers are expecting a good crop this year.

House Approves Public Works Water Bill

The House of Representatives in Washington last week (June 26) approved the big annual Public Works Appropriation bill which includes funds to complete the West Texas-Eastern New Mexico Water Import Study. House action was based upon the recommendations of the Appropriations Committee, headed by George Mahon.

The $691,000 appropriated this year will bring the amount spent on the seven-year study to a total of $6.1 million.

The bill also includes $481,000 to complete the three-year comprehensive water resource study of the Lower Mississippi Valley, which is closely associated with the Import Study. This $2.4 million water resource study is essential to supplement the information being developed as part of the import study concerning the nature and extent of the availability of surplus water for export from the Lower Mississippi region.

The next step to be taken will be largely dependent on the findings of the present reconnaissance study, scheduled for completion by June 30, 1973. Authorization must then be obtained to proceed with the following feasibility study.

Mahon said, "We do not know what the recommendations will be, but we are, of course, hoping for the best because our needs are very great and time is running out."

investigate the possible jurisdiction of the Federal Power Commission over Pioneer Natural Gas Company and the sales of Pioneer Natural Gas Company of irrigation gas; and

WHEREAS it is a matter of utmost importance that the farmers of Bailey County receive some protection at the earliest possible moment and that the Federal Power Commission be urged to make an exhaustive investigation and assume jurisdiction,

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED by the Commissioner's Court of Bailey County, Texas unanimously that the Federal Power Commission be urged to make a careful and exhaustive investigation and that jurisdiction be assumed by that Commission over Pioneer Natural Gas Company and its sales of irrigation gas so that the increasing spiral of natural gas prices may be terminated and so that Pioneer Natural Gas Company will be limited to a fair return on the investment in the sale of irrigation gas.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a copy of this resolution be furnished to the Federal Power Commission and to the Board of Directors of Plains Irrigation Gas Users Association and that the irrigation farmers of the area be assured of the support in any way possible of the Commissioner's Court of Bailey County, Texas.

formed their ceremony, placing sixth in the state.

Thursday night the boys attended the Miss Texas Pageant preliminaries then saw the movie, "Viva Max."

That afternoon there was a dance with the chapter sweethearts. The band "Titus Oaks" performed.

Friday, the group attended different workshops, degrees and meetings during the day and then hosted the grand ball that night, beginning at 8 p.m. At midnight a movie was shown and then from 1:30 to 5:30 a.m., the eight areas met to caucus candidates running for state offices.

At 8:30 a.m., Saturday morning, the State Association meeting was held and the group formally elected the new State Master Councilor and Deputy State Master Councilor. For the remainder of the day, workshops were held.

The Grand Banquet was held Saturday night at the Terrell County Coliseum.

On Sunday, the boys visited Six Flags Over Texas and returned to Muleshoe about 2 a.m., Monday morning.

A spokesman for the group reported that although the boys only averaged about two hours sleep each day, they really "had a blast."

Bill Millen is presently the president of Bailey County Gas Users Association.

At this time, the FDC regulates prices for gas companies doing interstate business but does not regulate prices for companies which are only intrastate. Pioneer operates only in the state of Texas.

The Court approved the resolution.

The Court then approved the vacating and closing of some streets and alleys in the Morrison Addition located out of the south half of the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of Section Number 41, Block Y, W.D. and F.W. Johnson Subdivision Number Two.

Owners of the property who asked for the streets and alleys to be closed were Horace L. Hutton, Elmer L. Downing, Jimmy Ray White and W.R. Byers.

Leaving New York via jet plane, the couple made a stop over in Frankfurt, Germany. From there they went to Athens, Greece. For the next 16 days they traveled by boat from one place of interest to another.

Visited on the tour were Corinth, Thessalonica, Antioch, Patmos, Ephesus, Crete, Cyprus, Rhodes, Bethlehem, Jerusalem, Damascus, Tyre, Jopa, Philippi, Nazareth, Mount of Olives, Jericho, Samaria, Bethel, Sea of Galilee, Dead Sea and River Jordan. They report visiting many other places and seeing many interesting things.

Congressman Bob Price has announced that his assistant, Mr. Charles Lanehart, will be at the Courthouse in Muleshoe from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., on Monday, July 17 to assist any Bailey County residents who may have problems with the Federal Government.

Everyone is welcome to visit with Mr. Lanehart at this non-partisan, open to the public meeting. Congressman Price emphasized that these visits are arranged in an effort to bring the services of his office closer to the people of Northwest Texas.

Ways of preventing people from parking in the right of way were also discussed including the use of portable curbs in front of businesses.

Another problem brought before the council included the matter of loading zones on the right of way.

Another question brought before the council was why the ordinance referred to only a portion of 214 and all of Highway 84. The council replied that this was all the state asked for. It was also reported that the traffic on highway 214 had decreased over the years instead of increasing, and if and when traffic does increase then parking will be stopped entirely on Highway 214.

Before closing the lengthy meeting, the council decided to definitely enforce the ordinance on Highway 84 and 214. Police will be issuing tickets for violations in the next few days after no parking signs have been adjusted. Tickets will be issued to comply with state highway regulations and tickets will be issued to those who park on the highway right of way.

ment reduction because of less productive land are sloping areas that are difficult to farm and irrigate, lighter or poor productive land because of soil type, non-irrigated land on an irrigated farm or other less productive land.

If less productive land is being used as set-aside be sure to show this information when certifying cropland. The Committee will approve a yield and make the payment reduction which is a small percent of the total payment.

The acreage is certified to be average land and it is later checked and found to be obviously less productive the whole payment could be lost.

Many farmers will receive a questionnaire this summer about the acreage and production of crops on farms. This information is very important and the questionnaire should be completed as accurately as possible and returned to Statistical Reporting Service.

Congressman Bob Price

As the result of an act signed into law by President Nixon on July 1, a general increase in social security benefits of 20 percent will become effective with the benefits payable for the month of September.

The September check is normally delivered on October 3rd, and at that time about 26, 1 million social security beneficiaries will receive the increased benefits.

Average benefits payable to retired workers will increase from $134 a month to $163, to retired couples from $224 a month to $271, and to widows from $115 a month to $138. The minimum benefit payable at age 65 will be raised from the present $70.40 a month to $84.50.

Benefits which are payable to people over 72 who did not work long enough to qualify for regular benefits will be raised from $48.30 a month for individuals to $58.00 and from $72.50 a month for couples to $87.00.

The new legislation provides for automatic cost-of-living increases in benefits with the first increase possible for January 1975. Under this provision, benefits could be increased automatically each January whenever the cost of living rises three per cent or more between specified base periods. However, an automatic benefit increase would not go into effect if in the year preceding the January for which it would otherwise become effective, a general benefit increase (other than an automatic benefit increase) had become effective or had been enacted.

Market Report

COLLEGE STATION—"Don't forget to check local markets this week for tips on economical food buys," Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, advised.

"Beef prices remain about the same as last month," Mrs. Clyatt said. "Since it's the broiling steak season, better beef values cover chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef and round steaks and roasts. Look for best pork values on hams, picnics, shoulder roasts and steaks, and cut loin roasts and chops and all kinds of lunch meats.

According to the Texas A&M University employee, fryer chickens continue to spotlight poultry bargain counters. Eggs also boast exceptionally low prices, with Grade A large and medium sizes running a close race for best value.

Mrs. Clyatt named cantaloupes, watermelons, Santa Rosa bananas, pineapples and nectarines as fresh fruits in good supply at the most economical prices.

Food Eaten At Summer Outing Can Cause Illness

COLLEGE STATION--Summer blazes with outings, picnics, barbecues--and food poisoning.

"Foods can look appetizing smell good and even taste delicious yet still cause illness," Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said.

"Poor or improper handling of food in the home is the major cause of food poisoning outbreaks," Mrs. Clyatt noted. "Most types of food poisoning aren't fatal and normally result from two bacterial organisms: staphylococcus and salmonella."

Are You Aiding Your Enemy?

Dr. C.L. Goodpasture D.C.

Time is your worst enemy when it comes to matters concerning your own health. Time can convert a curable cancer into a fatal growth. The passing of only a day or two can make the difference between a sore throat and a far advanced diphtheria. A very short time can transform a functional heart condition into serious organic heart disease.

Every minute that passes after the beginning of disease increases the odds which the doctor must fight. There are numerous methods of diagnosis and treatment available today which were unknown a few years ago. Yet well equipped as he is, with all these never methods of fighting disease, your doctor is often handicapped by his worst enemy, time.

Your spine does much more than help you hold upright. Its most valuable function is the protection of a vital part of your nerve system. That's why even a slight spine failure is to be most carefully guarded against. When there is any degree of spine failure the result is that some body tissues are being deprived of the necessary nerve control or influence they need to function normally.

Are you or anyone in your family aiding your worst enemy, TIME by saying, "I'll wait and see how I feel tomorrow." For tomorrow or next week or next month, TIME may have piled up tragic obstacles to your recovery.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex.--The Parks and Wildlife Commission handed one controversial issue back to the Attorney General and was handed another one by the Legislature.

PWC voted four-to-two to task Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin to review and reconsider a May 26 ruling that a 1970 contract to purchase 3,965 acres of Mustang Island property for park development is a "binding obligation".

Martin's opinion, according to PWC Chairman Jack Stone of Wells, is expected in about a week.

The Mustang Island battle has raged from Austin to Washington and back through the federal courts and has figured in battles over Senate confirmation of PWC members.

Legislators, in special session, thwarted long-standing plans of the State Highway Department to build a 10-story $20 million headquarters building on a block near the capitol and governor's mansion.

Instead, the Legislature decreed, the Parks and Wildlife department would purchase with $1.5 million from its cigarette tax the barren, dusty block in downtown Austin and convert it into a park.

The highway department was directed to consider placing its plush new building elsewhere.

Neither agency, conceded legislative leaders, was deliriously happy with the arrangement. Under the circumstances, however, neither seemed to have much choice.

GAME LAW FUSS CALMED--Texas game wardens will no longer enforce state game and fish laws near the mouth and jetties of the Sabine River, an area of disputed ownership with Louisiana.

Louisiana last month threatened to appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court Texas officers' attempts at enforcement in the area. Attorney General Martin informed Louisiana Atty. Gen. William J. Guste Jr. Texas will keep its commitments in the disputed areas of the Gulf south of the Sabine River mouth.

The area was recently found by a Supreme Court-appointed master to belong to Texas, but Louisiana appealed the decision. INFLATION STILL THREAT--Inflation is still a strong threat, though Texas is recovering from economic recession, according to a University of Texas Bureau of Business Research study.

Unemployment remains high, says UT BBR, but estimated personal income rose nine per cent in the last year and bank deposits 10 per cent.

The unemployment level, frowned on by the Bureau, was 3.8 per cent in May, which is lower than the 4.1 per cent of a year ago and considerably below the national 5.9 per cent rate.

Consumer spending and residential construction were seen as strong. The rate of the consumer price index rise slowed somewhat after the presidential price freeze, BBR found.

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT WINS AWARD--Texas Highway Department received the National Safety Council Award of Honor for an outstanding occupational safety record during 1971.

"Less than five out of 1,000 of the nation's total number of work units meet the award of honor requirements," said Howard Pyle, National Safety Council president.

The Texas Highway Department got the award for a 52 per cent decrease in frequency and 42 per cent decrease in severity of accident rates of its employees last year.

TEXAS BEEF CATTLE LEADER--Texas is the nation's leader in all major categories of the beef cattle industry, Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White states.

The livestock industry in Texas is a $2 billion industry, accounting for almost half the total agricultural income of the state. There were 12.8 million cattle and calves in Texas in January, more than five million head above second-ranked Iowa.

Rankings by counties for livestock categories include the following (one through 10): All cattle and calves; Deaf Smith, Parmer, Hansford, Castro, Swisher, Sherman, Randall, Ochiltree, Hale, and Hopkins.

Texas ranks second in the nation in number of slaughter plants, third in cattle and calves slaughtered during 1971, third in sheep and lamb slaughter and 15th in hog slaughter.

DEMOCRATS AT MIAMI BEACH--One hundred and 30 Texas Democrats--most of them new to the party wars--are busy at Miami Beach this week, helping nominate a candidate for president.

Another 70 alternates were named to the convention.

The Texas delegates, headed by gubernatorial nominee Dolph Briscoe of Uvalde, are closely divided as to supporters of George Wallace, George McGovern and Hubert Humphrey. TEXAS EXHIBIT PLANNED--A special Texas exhibit is planned at the fifth annual El Salvador International Trade Fair November 3-20.

The fair is one of the top trade expositions in Central America and attracts commercial firms from surrounding Central American states. Several Texas manufacturers have indicated an interest in sponsoring exhibits. The International Trade Division of the Texas Department of Agriculture are sponsoring the Texas exhibit.

FARMWORKER GRANT APPROVED--A $2 million federal grant will provide classroom instruction and on-the-job training for migrant farmworkers.

Trainees from 19 counties will benefit under the one-year contracts with five project sponsors.

Local agencies participating include Economic Opportunities Development Corporation of San Antonio (Atascosa, Bexar, Frio, Medina and Wilson counties); Community Action Agency of South Texas (Starr and Zapata counties); Coastal Bend Migrant Council (Duval, Jim Wells, Kleberg, Nueces and San Patricio counties); Middle Rio Grande Development Council (Dimmitt, LaSalle, Maverick, Uvalde, Val Verde and Zavala counties) and Laredo-Webb County Community Action Agency.

United States Senate COMMITTEE ON ARMED SERVICES

Just before the Congress began the current recess, the Senate approved this year's Labor-HEW Appropriations Bill containing several items of significance to Texans. That bill had already been passed by the House.

The Senate agreed with the House in taking strong action concerning the funding for the impacted school aid program which is important to our State because of our large number of military bases. In this program, the federal government contributes to the costs of local public school districts which encompass significant areas of federal lands which may not be included on local tax rolls. For some districts in Texas, this funding is absolutely essential and for many others this program greatly eases the local tax burden which would otherwise result.

As a sponsor of the Bilingual Education Act, I was particularly pleased that the Senate voted to fund this program at a level of 60 million dollars. There is no program in existence today which has given more hope to the Spanish-speaking population in Texas than bilingual education. This program is assisting funding of the 19 migrant health projects in Texas receiving federal aid.

Another item in the Labor-HEW Appropriations Bill; one that effects a larger number of Texans; is funding for the Hill-Burton Act which provides federal assistance for new and modernized hospitals. Small community hospitals have played an important role in the development of our nation's health care system. The current funding will enable a continued and expanded program of hospital construction and modernization.

Also during consideration of this funding measure, we were able to achieve relief for small businessmen and farmers from the oppressive administrative interpretations of the Occupational Safety and Health Act. This Act is important to many employees but its value lies primarily with enforcement affecting industry and big business. Unfortunately, the Labor Department has not differentiated between small and large employers.

When the Labor-HEW Appropriations Bill was in the House, an amendment was attached to deny funds for enforcement of the Occupational Safety and Health Act against employers of 25 employees or less. This would provide necessary relief to small businessmen and farmers without jeopardizing the benefits of the Act for employees. In the Senate, I worked for a similar amendment which was defeated by only four votes; so we did succeed in gaining Senate passage of an amendment pertaining to employers of 15 or less. This means that the application of the enforcement exemption will be subject to a determination by a joint House-Senate conference committee. But the question of whether to deny funds for enforcement has been solved and many businessmen and farmers will get relief. The only question still before the Congress is whether the relief will be for employers of up to 15 or 25 employees or somewhere in between.

The main difficulty has been that the Occupational Safety and Health Act considers the corner grocery store and General Motors the same. It is not only unrealistic to provide the same type of standards to these enormously different concerns; it is simply not in the interests of either public safety or public welfare to treat all businesses as if they were identical.

The stated purpose of the Occupational Safety and Health Act to "assure so far as possible every working man and woman in the Nation safe and healthful working conditions" is indeed laudible; but the failure to recognize the differences between small and large business has prevented us from achieving that goal. It has resulted instead in unnecessary hardship for small employers and their employees alike.

In conclusion, this year's Labor and HEW Appropriations Bill contain some very significant sections, but the bill did exceed the budget request by some $2 billion. That total is inflationary and I am hopeful that the Conference Committee will act to reduce the appropriations for some of those items I have not mentioned here. Such reduction is necessary to ease the inflationary aspect of the overall total expenditures contained in the bill.

Razorbacks Favored To Win SWC

For the first time since 1966, a team other than Texas is predicted to win the Southwest Conference. That team is the Arkansas Razorbacks under the leadership of quarterback Joe Ferguson.

In the 1972 Dave Campbell's Texas Football magazine, Arkansas leads the field with 19 of the 24 first place votes by football writers across Texas. Second place goes to Texas who captured the remaining five first place votes. Texas A&M is third and SMU fourth.

The field closed in a TCU-Texas Tech-Rice Baylor order. A new feature in the poll this year, voters tried to predict the national champions. The winner by one vote was Colorado followed by defending champion, Nebraska. Two votes were given to both Alabama and Arkansas.

Jim Carlen's Texas Tech squad ranked at only fifth place this year. His team is young this year but should be a team in contention if Tech can find a quarterback.

Campbell reports that the players to watch this year are Joe Ferguson of Arkansas, the best passer and greatest offensive threat; SMU's Robert Populka is the standout of the defensive backs; Alvin Maxson of SMU is the finest running back and Terry Sisemore of Texas is the best offensive lineman.

It looks like the Porkers have finally ended the Longhorn dynasty of the Southwest Conference or so it seems at the first of the season; but remember there is always the unexpected in football.

The unemployed aren't all eager to find what they're looking for.

The Lonely Heart

Weeds In Cotton

LUBBOCK...Even if South Plains farmers have waited until their cotton stands are established, they can still control or at least reduce certain perennial weeds.

Dr. Bob Metzger, Extension area cotton specialist at Lubbock, says that due to favorable soil moisture this spring, weeds such as silverleaf nightshade, woollyleaf burdock and Texas blueweed have made rapid growth and are common in usually clean fields.

"These weeds are often the most difficult to control, but some weed control practices now can mean increased yields later," he adds.

Metzger says that less cultivation and hoeing are another reason why these particular weeds are a problem. It is made worse because herbicides that are effective on perennial broadleaf weeds are limited to use only on grain sorghum. But Metzger reminds that even limited cultivation or hoeing can weaken the weeds for a better kill with chemicals.

He offers several suggestions for controlling these three perennial weeds in fields that are already heavily-infested this year.

Silverleaf nightshade, commonly called whiteweed, can be treated with MSMA to give good knockdown and partial root kill. Dr. Dudley Smith, a Texas A&M University researcher at Lubbock, found that the best rate is one and a half to two quarts per acre, with repeated applications as needed to handle regrowth.

"There is no one-shot treatment that will give complete control," the specialist emphasizes. He adds that the air temperature should be at least 70 degrees for a good kill. MSMA should not be used in cotton after first bloom because arsenic is deposited in the cotton seed.

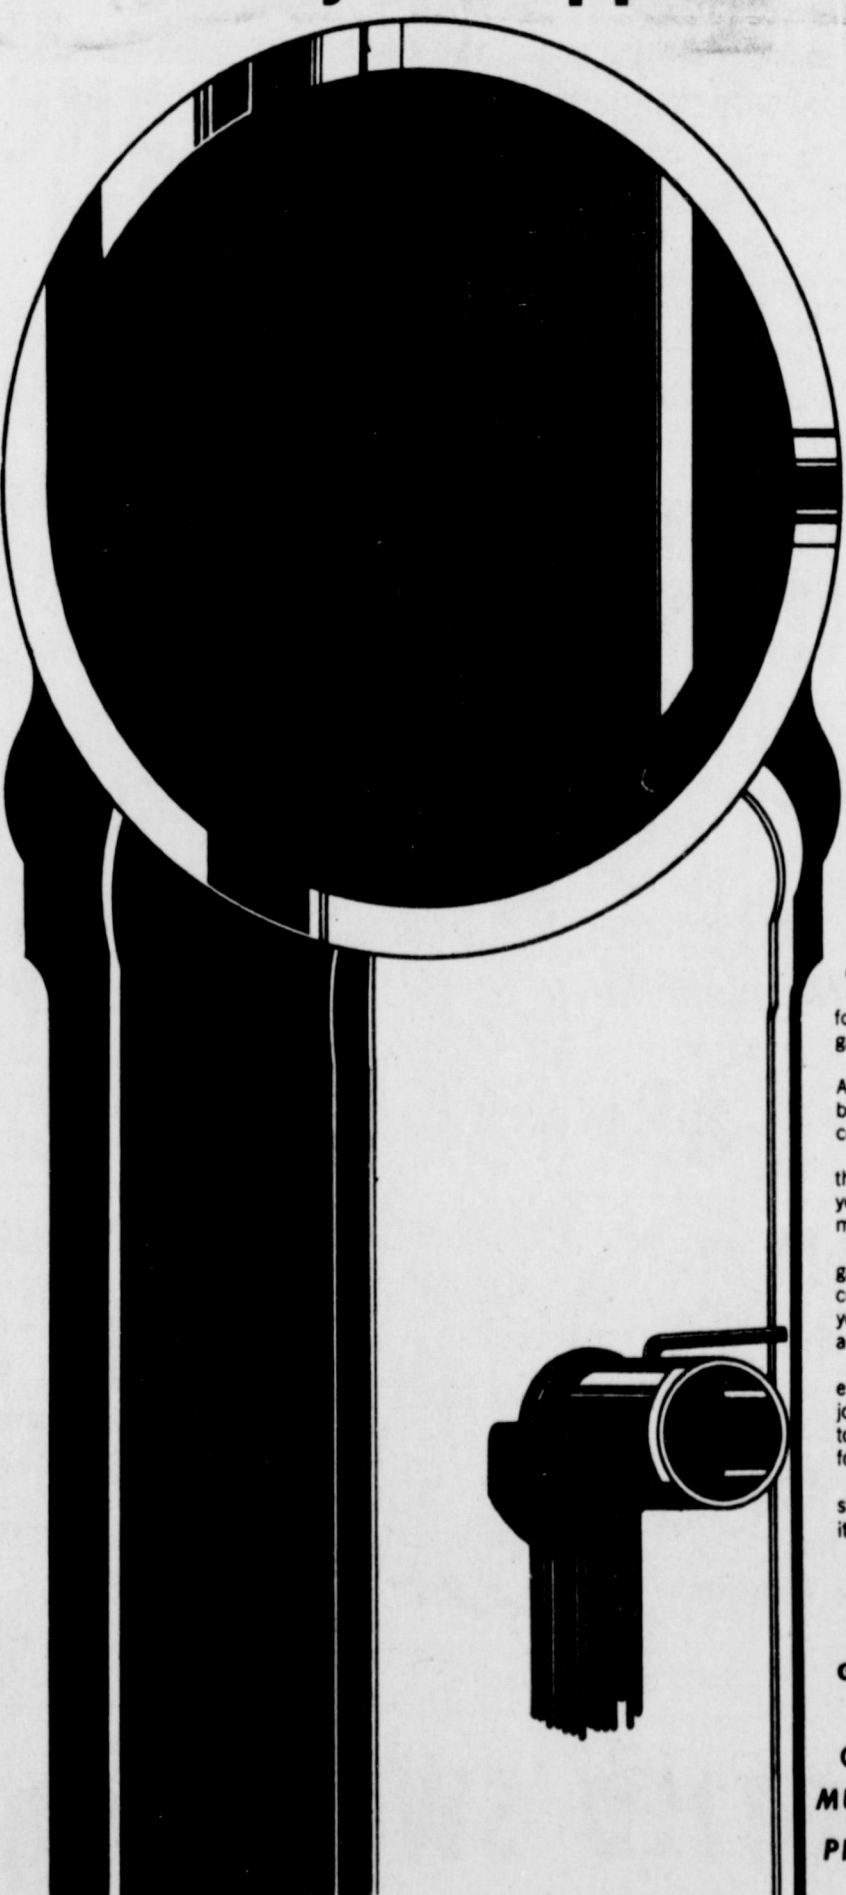

Smith and his co-workers also found that woollyleaf burdock, or lakeweed, can be controlled by a post-directed application of MSMA at two quarts per acre after the cotton is up. Again, Metzger says that application during cool, cloudy weather will give poor control.

Research on the Bill Alsbaugh farm at Idalou saw untreated cotton yield about 100 pounds of lint per acre, while areas that had received MSMA twice for woollyleaf burdock control produced 500 pounds per acre. "Deep plowing before planting cotton frequently spreads this weed by clipping the roots underground and preventing an effective root kill with chemicals," the specialist explains.

The Texas blueweed, or perennial sunflower, is a different problem. Metzger says that at this time there are no herbicides for effective control in cotton. The best method is still cultivation and hoeing of infested spots. In this case, deep breaking before planting can help control the weed.

The specialist adds that small patches of these weeds in non-crop areas may be controlled with 2, 4-D, MCPA, Banvel and soil sterilants such as sodium chlorates and tordon beads. Sweep plowing or mowing three to five times when the soil is dry also give effective control. "The producer must keep in mind that he is responsible for using these herbicides properly," Metzger emphasizes, "all chemical labels should be carefully studied and followed."

Services Held For Local Man's Mother

Mrs. Elva Pearl Krebs, 92, of Midland died about 1 p.m. Sunday in a Midland Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Services are set for 10 a.m. Tuesday in Resthaven-Singleton-Wilson Funeral Home Chapel with burial in City of Lubbock Cemetery.

A native of Mississippi, Mrs. Krebs lived in Lubbock for 20 years before moving to Midland in 1970. Previously she lived in Levelland for 10 years and was a member of the United Methodist Church.

Survivors include a daughter, Francille Krebs of Midland; six sons, Ralph Krebs of 3512 46th St., Jack Krebs of Hobbs, C. W. Krebs of Tulsa, Okla., Clyde Krebs of Muleshoe, Horace Krebs of Arlington and Roy Krebs of Dallas; three brothers, Earl Speaks and Leiland Speaks, both of Mississippi and Sam Speaks of Austin; 22 grandchildren, 19 great-grandchildren and a great-great-grandchild.

a big percentage of the crop there will be late. Martin, Howard, Midland and parts of other "dryland counties" failed to get planting moisture early in the season and most of the cotton there was planted after June 5. Overall, it is estimated that about 28 per cent of the Plains crop is June 5 or later cotton.

Still, moisture conditions are the best seen in years, and a bumper crop, areawide, is a definite possibility.

An areawide yield equal to the 433 pounds per acre averaged from 1962 through 1971, assuming 2,530,000 acres harvested, would bring in 2,283,000 bales. The 1967 through 1971 average of 394 pounds per acre would produce 2,076,000 bales, and production somewhere in this range from 2 to 2.3 million bales is probably the most likely.

On the extremes, a per-acre yield of only 264 pounds as was recorded in 1971 would turn out less than 1.4 million bales. But should the area equal the 513 pounds per acre achieved in 1965, baleage could zoom to over 2,700,000 topping the all-time record of 2,433,900 bales gathered in 1961.

consideration of the agricultural money bill. The Senate recesses from June 29 to July 17 for Independence Day and the national political conventions.

An amendment which would have prohibited the issuance of food stamps to workers on strike was also voted down by the House, and no doubt figured prominently in the vote-swapping and perhaps even "arm-twisting" that led to the defeat of both measures.

Generally speaking the southern congressmen who opposed the lower payment limit were in favor of the food stamp prohibition to striking workers. And the northern, liberal House members who opposed the food stamp amendment generally were for a lower payment limit.

The inequities involved and the illogical nature of payment limitations notwithstanding, the most telling arguments against the lower payment limit on the floor of the House were (1) Congress should not be attempting to write legislation or substantially change existing legislation during consideration of an appropriations bill, and (2) to lower the statutory $55,000 payment limit before the 1973 expiration of the Agriculture Act of 1970 would constitute a breach of faith with farmers.

The point was also made that since the present farm program expires in 1973, Congress will have an opportunity next year to make whatever changes it deems necessary, including the adoption of a lower payment limit.

The July 1 estimate of standing cotton acreage on the High Plains, made by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. and the Lubbock Cotton Exchange, shows 2,602,000 acres of cotton in the 25 PCG counties surrounding Lubbock. This compares with 2,499,700 planted acres and 2,324,400 harvested acres in 1971. While the estimate is called the "July 1 estimate," according to Joe D. Unfred of New Home, chairman of the PCG Estimates Committee, calculations were not made until July 5, and acreage lost to hail prior to that time was taken into consideration.

Jimmy Cochran of Lubbock is chairman of the LCE committee, and the two groups in effect function as one. Information for the joint committee's reports is drawn from Extension Service personnel, officials of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, gin-

By a margin "thin enough to send chills up the spine of a fence post" House members in Washington June 29 voted down a move to lower the payment limitation under federal cotton, wheat and feed grain programs from $55,000 to $20,000 per crop per farmer. The final vote, which required breaking of an initial 191 to 191 tie, was 192 to 189.

The "chills up a fence post" quote is from Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, Johnson, along with PCG President Donnell Echols of Lamesa, was in Washington to join forces with other cotton industry leaders who mounted the major opposition to the lower limitation figure.

The move to lower the limitation level came, as usual, in the form of an amendment by Representative Silvio Conte (R-Mass.) to the annual Agricultural Appropriations Bill. Conte or one of his city-minded colleagues has offered a similar amendment each year since enactment of a direct-payments-type farm program. Votes on the amendments from 1965 through 1970 were on the non-record variety in which each Congressman's vote does not come a matter of public knowledge, and the limit-lowering effort failed each year.

But the 1971 vote was a record vote and Conte's amendment carried in the house by a vote of 214 to 198. However the Senate in 1971 failed to go along with the House and the lower limit was deleted in Senate-House conference.

The vote June 29 was also a record or "teller" vote and therefore marks the first time a $20,000 limitation amendment has been defeated in the

Cotton Yield Off On Plains

The 1971 average yield of 313 pounds of cotton per harvested acre (based on the December estimate) was the lowest in recent years for the High Plains.

This is pointed out by the National Cotton Council which is cooperating with state agricultural Extension services and the U. S. Department of Agriculture in a campaign aimed at "Better Yields of Quality Cotton for Profit and Market Growth."

Ray Joe Riley, Rt. 2, Hart, and Dr. John E. Hutchison, director, Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, College Station, are co-chairmen of the effort in Texas.

The average yield of 318 pounds compares with 394 pounds in 1970 and 357 the previous year. It is far below the record of 526 pounds achieved during the 1965 season.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhill Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm claims he has a solution to the airplane hijacking problem. You decide whether he has.

Dear editor:
After some long and hard thinking I have come up with a solution to the airplane hijacking problem, and it's about time. As you know, the airlines and the government have tried nearly everything to stop the crime, from hiring sky patrolmen to ride shotgun to using all sorts of metal detecting devices to trying to psychoanalyze each passenger as he goes through the turn stile, but people keep on hijacking planes, getting on board with everything from pistols to machine guns, from nitroglycerine to hand grenades, from long-bladed knives to sawed-off shotguns.

The thing simply can't go on, so I'm offering a solution free of charge and I wonder why nobody else has thought of it. Although it would be the ultimate in preventing anybody from carrying weapons aboard, the country, at least the part of it I'm familiar with, just isn't ready yet to fly nude, therefore the airlines should do the next best thing.

First, install two dressing rooms at every airport between the ticket window and the gate leading to the planes, one for men, one for women. When a passenger shows up he goes in, undresses, hands all his clothes to an attendant, is inspected in the raw from head to foot, and is then given a flight suit to wear aboard the plane. His clothes, his hand luggage, her purse in the case of a woman, are all put in a sack, tagged, and stored in the baggage compartment of the plane.

Landing at his destination, the passenger goes to the dressing room, gets out of his flight suit and into his street clothes, and gets a cab for the two hour or so ride into town.

I guarantee under this system nobody's going to get off on a plane carrying a hijacking weapon. Everybody may be dressed alike in those flight suits, but it'll beat going to Cuba or Algeria or sitting in a plane on the runway while the airline rounds up half a million dollars in small bills.

But wait a minute, I just read about two men hijacking a bus loaded with people headed for a race track, making the driver cruise around town while they robbed all the passengers of several thousand dollars and disappeared into a crowd.

This is going to take some thinking. Changing clothes to get on a bus on a busy street in broad daylight has a lot of drawbacks. I will turn this problem over to you.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Rural Development Commission Makes Plans... Acreage and Production Questionnaires To Be Mailed... Summer Time Is Turkey Time... Seed Meeting Planned...

HOW TO IMPLEMENT rural development was discussed at length by members of the Texas Rural Development Commission, holding only their second meeting since they were appointed by Governor Preston Smith. They met in the LBJ School of Public Affairs where they also heard Will Erwin, deputy undersecretary for rural development of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, discuss their jobs.

The 25-member State Commission is attacking rural development problems in eight areas: economic development, natural resources, human resources, general government, transportation, health, housing and education. Chairman Roy Davis of Lubbock has named Committees to explore each category, and much of the Austin meeting was taken up in discussion of committee reports.

Raymond L. Prewett, formerly with the Texas A&M extension service, is director of the Texas Rural Development Commission, and Jim McAlister is planning officer. Their offices are in the John H. Reagan building in Austin adjoining Texas Department of Agriculture offices. The Texas Department of Agriculture is co-sponsor with the Governor's Office of the Texas Rural Development Commission.

ABOUT 22,000 Texas farmers will receive an acreage and production questionnaire during the early part of July from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

The information obtained will be the basis for determining harvested acreage production of early harvested crops for Texas and for each of the 254 counties in the state.

If you receive one of the questionnaires, please fill it out as accurately as possible and return as soon as possible. Farm programs are based on information supplied by the Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Accurate information is essential so that an unbiased picture of Texas agriculture can be obtained. The information is also invaluable in planning production and marketing programs.

SUMMER TIME is Turkey Time, and the Texas Agricultural Products (TAP) program is promoting turkey for summertime good eating and good nutrition. A buyer's guide to Texas Turkey is available by writing to the Texas Department of Agriculture, Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

Texas ranks fifth in total turkey production with 8,378,000 produced last year. Bell County is the number one turkey producing county in Texas with a total of 1,000,000 head growing out in 1971. Other leading counties are Gillespie, Hill, Blanco, DeWitt, McLennan, Eastland, Brown, Robertson, and Falls.

Per capita consumption of turkey is on a steady rise as producers continue to improve the quality of the product.

A COMBINED meeting of Southern Seed Certification officials and southern seed control officials as well as foundation seed personnel will be held July 11 to 14 at San Antonio. Fourteen states will be represented. Part of the meeting will be in the form of a tour of the Texas seed laboratory at Giddings.
