Tornado Alert, Wind Accompanies Storms

A heavy thunderstorm moved into the Muleshoe area Monday night just before 10 p.m., bringing strong winds, moderate rainfall and the threat of tornadoes.

At 10:25 p.m. the Lubbock Weather Bureau issued a tornado alert for Bailey County after a funnel was spotted by radar just northwest of the city. Local law enforcement officers were on duty watching the clouds, but no tornado formed from the funnel which quickly dissipated.

The thunderstorm brought strong winds that tore branches off trees, blew off shingles and did other minor damage in town.

A tree on West Third Street was completely uprooted and Minnie Moore who lives on South First Street reported that a large tree in front of her house had limbs twisted off of it by the strong winds.

A spectacular lighting and thunder display accompanied the storms which dropped over a half of an inch of moisture in some areas of Bailey County. Rain reports showed moisture varying in different sections of the county from .4 to .7. Only one report of small hail was reported during the storm.

Charles Daniels at the ASCS office in Muleshoe reports that there was apparently no severe damage to crops in the areas. He said that he had talked to a number of farmers over the county, none of which reported any damage to corn, feed or cotton.

He stated that the severe weather did not hamper the cotton prospects for the county and that if nothing further happened, Bailey county would have one of the best cotton crops in many years. Even the dryland cotton was the best he had ever seen. No further moisture is actually needed for the cotton to produce, but a little rain would help the feed on the dryland farms.

The Wildlife Refuge, south of town, reported that there was no damage sustained there from the fastmoving storms except for a few broken limbs.

Thirty miles away, Cannon Air Force Base reported up to 90 miles per hour winds during the storm that moved through the Clovis area.

Other panhandle towns were also swept by violent thunderstorms during the evening. At one point, a wide band of thunderstorms stretched from near Cont. on Page 3, col. 5

The Muleshoe Independent School District Board of Trustees met for their regular monthly meeting Monday night, August 21 at 8 p.m.

The board heard the current financial report and reviewed all categories of the operating fund and bank balances of all funds. They also approved the payment of current bills. A report was heard on current tax collections of which 95.27 percent of the current taxes have been collected.

Members of the Equalization Board met with the School Board and approved and signed the tax roll for 1972-73.

A report was heard on the collection of delinquent taxes by the law firm of McCreary & Huey of Austin. They reviewed all collections and the suits filed under the present two year contract. This contract ends at the end of this month. They then negotiated a revised contract for the next two years. The new contract will be presented at the special Board Meeting called for August 29, 1972 at 7 a.m. for consideration of approval.

A report was heard on the summer maintenance projects which have been completed. At the high school, three classrooms have been paneled; the front of the band hall and bus garage have been blacktopped; library paneled; painted walls and floors of the corridor in front of the gym; installed drapes on the auditorium windows; refinished the gym floor; installed fluorescent lights in the corridors of the old part of the building and in one classroom; built storage space

Raymond Schroeder Named To Volume

Raymond Schroeder, teacher and coach at Muleshoe High School has been chosen for inclusion in the 1972 edition of "Outstanding Young Men of America", according to the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture.

Sponsored by leading men's civic and service organizations, "Outstanding Young Men of America" honors men between the ages of 21 and 35 whose demonstrated excellence has marked them for future leadership in the nation.

"These young men," according to Doug Blankenship, chairman of the Board of Advisors, "Outstanding Young Men of America", "are truly outstanding because they have distinguished themselves in one or more aspects of community and professional life."

Nominations for the awards volume are submitted each year by civic organizations, Jaycee chapters, college alumni associations and military commandants.

In complimenting those in the awards volume, U.S. Senator Adlai Stevenson III (D-ILL.) has said that for all their diversity, the Outstanding Young Men of America have "in common -- and in abundance -- that quality of civic energy. They are Cont. on Page 3, col. 5

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,
I am a widow and my children are trying to persuade me to sell my house and go to a home for older people. I am in fairly good health and I enjoy my garden. I get a good cleaner to come in occasionally and go over my house so that is not a big problem.

I do not wish to sell my house and I would rather run the chance of getting sick with no one in the house than to go and live with a lot of other people. I am not rich but I have enough money to care for me and to hire someone to live in my house if I should need them.

Do you think I should listen to the children or should I do as I prefer to do?
G.M.--Ala.

lem. It would pay you to let some desirable person have a room in your home for very little rent. You could try this plan for a while and then go back to your old way of living if they disturbed you.

Everyone has to live his or her own life and I think the decision should rest with them, if they are financially able to care for themselves.

Louisa.

Couple Wed In Bula Ceremony

Miss Donna Ruth Crume and Danny Paul Smith exchanged wedding vows Saturday afternoon at 3 p.m. in the Bula Baptist Church. Rev. Paul Gordon, former pastor of the church, now of Louisville, Kentucky, officiated for the reading of the double ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Crume, Route One, Sudan, Texas. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Paul Smith, Albuquerque, N.M.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal wedding gown of angelmist peau desole and alecon lace over bridal satin designed with high neckline, empire waist, long camelot sleeves and semi A-line silhouette. Insets of re-embroidered alecon lace enhanced the neckline, bodice, sleeves and skirt of the gown. Tiny sequins and seed pearls complemented the lace. The full back of the gown ended in a sweeping chapel length train. Her veil of imported illusion was gathered to a peau de sole bow enhanced by seed pearls and sequins.

She carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations, yellow roses and daisies, centered on a lace covered Bible.

The focal point of the altar was a flared candelabra holding fifteen white candles, flanked by two marble pedestals containing pale yellow gladiolas and harvest gold mums. Pews were marked with daffodil yellow bows and gold daisies.

Miss Diane Crume served her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Brenda King, Artesia, N.M., and Donna Smith, Albuquerque, N.M., sister of the groom. They wore Jonquil yellow empire gowns. ## Taylor-Stancell Vows Read In Lariat Church Of Christ

The Lariat Church of Christ was the scene for the August 19 wedding of Miss Maudie Faye Stancell of Abilene and Larry Lee Taylor of Breckenridge. The double ring vows were read by Paul Burch at 7:30 p.m.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Jessie V. Stancell of Route 2, Muleshoe, and Mr. and Mrs. Neil Taylor of Tuscola. The church choir provided musical selections including the 'Bridal March', with Mrs. Betty Martin singing 'Wither Thou Goest' and J.R. Sewell singing 'Twelfth of Never'.

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of delustered satin with Venise lace heavily accenting the Empire bodice, hi-rise neck, long cuffed sleeves and A-line skirt which ended in a chapel train. A bow accented the center front of the waist. The tiered English veil was attached to a Dior bow of peau de soie. The crescent shaped bridal bouquet of white figi mums, centered by a white phalaenopsis orchid, and accented with white satin, pearls and lily of the valley, was carried atop a white Bible.

Maid of honor was Mary Ann Latourette of Abilene. She wore a gown of powder blue dotted Swiss with white ruffles accenting an Empire bodice and hi-rise neck. Ruffles accented the long Shepherdress sleeves and A-line skirt.

Becky Strain of Colorado Springs and Carrol Clancy of Sunray, the bridesmaids, wore gowns of cornflower blue dotted Swiss styled identically to the maid of honor's. Each of the attendants carried a single satin wrapped figi mum with white satin streamers.

Candlelighters were Doug Copeland of Virginia and Terry Taylor of Hobbs, N.M.

Ronnie Taylor of Hobbs, N.M. brother of the groom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Jim Elkins of Brownwood and Mac Sayles of Tuscola. Ushers were Bennie Stancell of Muleshoe, Terry Taylor and Doug Copeland.

A reception followed the ceremony in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Burch. The serving table, laid with a white lace cloth accented with blue was centered with a blue and white floral arrangement with white tapers. The double tiered wedding cake, decorated with white and silver wedding bells and filigree, was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Crystal and silver appointments were used. Presiding at the serving table were Sue Coke and Sherry Taylor. Members of the houseparty were Mrs. Bennie Stancell, Mrs. Jackie Stancell, Mrs. Ronnie Taylor, Mrs. Ruby Coke, Mrs. Doug Horsley and Mrs. Sam White.

Following a wedding trip to New Mexico and Colorado, the couple will be at home at the Meadowgreen Apartments in Breckenridge.

For travel, the bride chose a powder blue double knit dress with a cowl collar and long waistline. The orchid corsage was lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Taylor, a 1966 Farwell Graduate, attended West Texas State University in Canyon for two years and was employed by Anderson, Clayton and Co. in Amarillo and Abilene.

The groom, a 1964 Jim Ned High School graduate, received a BA degree in chemistry from McMurry College in 1968, taught at Farwell High School for two years, and is now employed by Ralston Purina Company in Breckenridge.

Vegetables are an important part of our summer menus as they offer vital minerals and vitamins, and provide roughage. They also stimulate the appetite by adding color and flavor. Dark green vegetables, like beet tops, spinach, or kale, contain large amounts of calcium and Vitamin A and the bright yellow vegetables, such as squash and carrots are high in Vitamin A. Some vegetables are more tempting served raw than cooked in the summertime.

Market Report

COLLEGE STATION -- Some markets will feature various cuts of mature beef at special prices, "so check counter for family preferences before going on a buying spree," Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said this week.

For best beef values, the specialist suggested looking for round steaks and roasts, ground beef, arm and blade pot roasts and steaks plus beef and calf liver.

In the pork section of the meat counter, she predicted best values on shoulder roasts and steaks, hams, picnics and end-cut loin roasts and chops, with most pork prices continuing about the same as last week at the higher level.

Fryer chickens remain an excellent choice price-wise, Mrs. Clyatt noted. She advised consumers to "take advantage of their versatility and serve them often to help cut family food costs."

Turning to the egg forecast, the specialist said egg prices remain about the same as this time a year ago.

"Large sizes are in best supply, and Grade A Large size eggs offer the best combination of quality and economy for your egg money."

Mrs. Clyatt listed these fresh fruit and vegetable items in good supply this week at the most economical prices: bananas, cantaloupes, watermelons, peaches, plums, grapes, potatoes, head lettuce and celery.

Also cabbage, corn, carrots, dry yellow onions, cushaw, purple hull peas and okra.

Jane Russell To Appear At Hayloft

Jane Russell, the famous screen and stage star, arrived in Lubbock this week to begin rehearsals for the new Hayloft Diner Theater comedy production of "Catch Me If You Can", preview nights for the play being Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday -- August 29, 30, and 31.

By completing studies at Max Reinhardt's Theatrical Workshop and continued work with the famed Madame Oustenskaya, Jane prepared for the outstanding success which she has achieved. While working as a photographic model, her picture was seen by an actors agent. The agent tracked down the beautiful model, and introduced her to Howard Kawks, who was then preparing to direct "The Outlaw" for producer Howard Hughes. When the picture was released four years later, Jane was catapulted into international recognition with a publicity campaign which made her familiar to film audiences around the world.

Since then she has starred in many motion pictures including "The Paleface", "The French Line", "Young Widow", "The Fuzzy Pink Nightgown", "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes", and other notable successes.

In 1958, Jane made her debut on the legitimate stage in New England in "Janus". This was followed by "Skylark" at the Drury Lane Theatre and "Bells Are Ringing" at the Westchester Town House Theatre in Yonkers.

In addition to her screen and stage triumphs, Jane has scored in the recording field and has acclaimed for her night club appearances both in this country and overseas. Jane was born in Bemidji, Minnesota, but she was raised in the rural surroundings of the San Fernando Valley in Burbank, California. Her background is rooted in the deep religious convictions of her mother, which remain as the guiding force in her life today. While in Europe seeking a child to adopt, Jane became interested in an Inter-Country Adoption Program. As a result, she founded W.A.I.F., an organization designed to remove orphans from institutions abroad as well as in the United States, and into adoptive homes. Jane will be in Lubbock throughout the run of "Catch Me If You Can", and reservations for the Monday through Saturday performances can be made by calling 866-4213 or writing the Hayloft ticket office.

Federal Safety Laws

The era is approaching when the federal government, not the states, will be dominant in establishing highway safety laws. For the first time, the Department of Transportation has proposed to apply broad new safety standards to motorists in all the states.

Among other things, traffic laws in all states are to be standardized. Officers would be allowed to make traffic violation arrests without warrants. All drivers would be required to take breath analyzer tests.

Right turns on red lights, after a full stop, would be allowed—as they are already in many states. The wearing of seatbelts would become mandatory for all drivers and passengers. Removal of warning buzzers, lights, etc., would become illegal.

The Department of Transportation has proposed to put these and other new rules into effect in April of 1973, though it is inviting comments from the states. The new rules would update less inclusive standards adopted in 1967. Although the department cannot require states to accept the new rules, it can cut off federal funds, now a major part of highway budgets in all states, and says it will employ this puerile in seeking acceptance universal standards.

The new safety rules are obviously in the public interest; thus the states are likely to accept this latest encroachment on their powers from the Washington bureaucracy, even if reluctantly.

Bobby's Chess

Whatever one thinks of Bobby Fischer's war-of-nerve tactics and other personal behavior, there is no doubt he's a master chess player.

In dominating Boris Spassky, the world's champion, in their first dozen games, Fischer appears certain to be the new champion, and could possibly be by the time some read this editorial.

For America, it is an accomplishment all can take pride in—that this young chess genius has almost single-handedly ended decades of Russian supremacy in what is perhaps the world's most demanding non-card game. Fischer is thus certain to be remembered in America as both a great chess player and folk hero, who came from nowhere to dominate world chess, unquestionably a prodigious achievement.

Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
NUMBER 6 ON THE BALLOT (SJR 7)
General Election November 7, 1972

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS: Section 1. That Article VIII, Section 1-b, of the Texas Constitution, be amended to read as follows:

"Section 1-b. (a) Three Thousand Dollars ($3,000) of the assessed taxable value of all residence homesteads as now defined by law shall be exempt from all taxation for all State purposes.

"(b) From and after January 1, 1973, the governing body of any county, city, town, school district, or other political subdivision of the State may exempt by its own action not less than Three Thousand Dollars ($3,000) of the assessed value of residence homesteads of persons sixty-five (65) years of age or older from all ad valorem taxes thereafter levied by the political subdivision. As an alternative, upon receipt of a petition signed by twenty percent (20%) of the voters who voted in the last preceding election held by the political subdivision, the governing body of the subdivision shall call an election to determine by majority vote whether an amount not less than Three Thousand Dollars ($3,000) as provided in the petition, of the assessed value of residence homesteads of persons sixty-five (65) years of age or over shall be exempt from ad valorem taxes thereafter levied by the political subdivision. Where any ad valorem tax has theretofore been pledged for the payment of any debt, the taxing officers of the political subdivision shall have authority to continue to levy and collect the tax against the homestead property at the same rate as the tax so pledged until the debt is discharged, if the cessation of the levy would impair the obligation of the contract by which the debt was created.

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1972, at which election the ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment providing that the various political subdivisions of the State may exempt not less than Three Thousand Dollars ($3,000) of the value of residence homesteads of all persons sixty-five (65) years of age or older from ad valorem taxes under certain conditions."

NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

McGovern's Strategy—The Key State—The South—Hollings' View—

Washington, D.C. — Senator George McGovern's campaign managers plan to win in November with a huge youth vote and by concentrating their efforts in five key states—California, New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, and Texas.

The big two are California and New York. In California, President Nixon's home state, McGovern forces probably have their best chance. New York, normally Democratic, could this year go Republican because the Democratic party is badly split. Democratic candidates normally begin with major advantages in New York but Governor Nelson Rockefeller is actively working for Nixon this year and is naturally optimistic.

Pennsylvania is another state in which Democrats normally have an edge but their traditional margin in Philadelphia this year is likely to be down, with the mayor a Nixon backer and various other ethnic blocs and many Catholics swinging toward Nixon.

Nixon has never carried Texas, with its large Spanish-speaking population, traditionally Democratic. McGovern strategists count on a win there but may be over-optimistic. The President is stronger in Texas this year than in 1968.

Illinois is likewise an iffy state for McGovern. Chicago's mayor is not overly enthusiastic about the Democratic ticket and the usual Democratic margin in Chicago is therefore likely to be reduced.

Other key states McGovern's campaign will center on are: Ohio, Michigan, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Oregon, Washington, Arkansas, Georgia, and North Carolina. If, of course, McGovern carries all of these, he will win. That now appears next to impossible to neutral observers.

Carrying the four Dixie states of Texas, Georgia, Arkansas, and North Carolina would give McGovern a split of the region's electoral votes. But even Democratic Senate campaign chairman Ernest Hollings (D-SC) admits McGovern is in very serious trouble throughout the South.

Missouri seems to have been written off in this calculation—presumably because of the dumping of Senator Tom Eagleton from the ticket. Eagleton, however, is set to campaign actively for the McGovern-Shriver ticket.

The best cure for anger is delay.

Miss Mary Morton was crowned queen of the 1952 Will Rogers Memorial Roundup. The new queen was attended by the other candidates for the honor and they rode on the float that was judged first in the parade. The Clovis Shrine Club drum and bugle corps added much color to the parade with their gayly dressed drum and bugle corps. The organization made one of its few appearances in West Texas in the parade here. J.J. Redwine of Muleshoe won the prize for the largest family present with 13 members counted. Lester L. Wimberly traveled the greatest distance to attend when he drove from Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Mrs. J.A. Tipton, 92, of Muleshoe, won the prize for the oldest person present. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Roebuck were the newest wed; the Longhorn String Band of Littlefield had the best string band; Allen Guinn drove the earliest vehicle, a 1928 Ford; Ross Glaze was the earliest settler, coming to Muleshoe in 1907; and Charlene Willman was the most typically dressed westerner. The Muleshoe Home Demonstration Club had the most spectacular float.

Hopper Ivy was judged as having the cutest beard; Arnold Gross, the oddest beard; Jack Henley, the longest beard; and C.W. Goss had the ugliest beard. Each won a free shave from barber shops in Muleshoe. Sheriff's posse and riding groups gathered from two states to ride in the parade, which was about a mile in length; the Cochran County, Crosby County, Portales, N.M., Lamb County and Bailey County sheriff's posse as were the Amarillo Range Riders, the Abernathy Riding Club, the Tula Rodeo Club, the Clovis, N.M., Mounted Patrol, the Muleshoe Roping Club and the Independents. Miss Daphne Vineyard of Kress was named rodeo queen at the opening performance. A spectacular attraction was the Mounted Patrol square dance team from Portales, N.M.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, TEX.--For the first time in three years, the number of Texas families with dependent children on welfare rolls declined last month.

There are 1,555 fewer AFDC recipients than a month before, the State Department of Public Welfare reported.

Welfare Commissioner Raymond W. Vowell attributed the reversal to a number of factors, including tighter controls on AFDC program eligibility, vocational training and expanded day care programs to help mothers get to work.

The decline was the first in AFDC caseload since July, 1969. Drop-off was from 447,967 recipients to 446,412.

A steady increase in recent years has been attributed to liberalized eligibility standards as ordered by federal courts and altered federal regulations. In late 1970 and early 1971, AFDC rolls swelled at a rate of 10,000 to 12,000 recipient a month.

Growth slowed significantly in recent months. Vowell directed caseworkers to the practice of holding personal interviews with AFDC applicants and recipients, verifying income, child support, domicile, household composition, and other factors affecting eligibility and the amount of assistance granted.

A massive recertification effort also has been ordered by which AFDC cases are being checked individually to determine whether a family situation has changed so as to affect the monthly assistance payment. A new policy also has been instituted requiring applicants to provide documentary evidence of child eligibility by birth or baptismal certificate or hospital record.

Fraud detection efforts have been stepped up, and 130 of 205 suspected cases have been referred to local prosecutors or grand juries.

PWD REORGANIZED--A far-reaching reshuffling of Parks and Wildlife Department divisions was ordered by new Executive Director Clayton T. Garrison.

Garrison named six new directors to head statewide divisions under a new structure.

The new directors are James E. Dickinson, 30, finance; Stetson G. Reed, 39, law enforcement; Robert J. Kemp Jr., 46, fish and wildlife; Paul E. Schlimper, 32, parks; Clayton G. Rutter, 38, engineering; and Bobby E. Bradley, 37, administration. Richard A. McCune will remain as director of information and education.

Garrison said the reorganization is a "move to get back to the basic responsibilities of the department." Each of the six new divisions will be the headquarters unit for administration of all field activities. PWD personnel will report to appropriate directors and divisions in Austin.

HIGHWAY CONTEST FINALLISTS NAMED--Five State Highway Department foremen and construction supervisors are finalists for this year's Lady Bird Johnson award for highway beautification work.

They are Milton C. Campbell of Ralls, Cullen Luttrell of Sonora, Herbert H. Smith of Rusk, Melvin E. Bayless of LaGrange and Rinaldo Rivera of Fallsburg.

Mrs. Johnson will make the awards October 11 at the Lyndon B. Johnson State Park near Stonewall. First-place winner will receive a cash award of $1,000, and the runnerup will get $500. An additional award of $500 will go to the newspaper writer who does the best job on highway beautification coverage, and an identical prize will go to the best radio-television effort in the field.

OFFICERS CREDITED -- Additional auto insurance reductions may result from intensive law enforcement efforts that curb accidents, Southwestern Insurance Information Service said recently.

On the other hand, if enforcement efforts slacken and accident frequency rises, benefits of the recent 11 percent rate cut (effective September 7) will be lost, the association said.

Police chiefs and sheriffs received a special commendation for efforts to reduce accidents last year -- and a request that they continue to concentrate on speeders, drunk drivers, and those without proper licenses.

HIRING COMPLAINTS AIRE--Texas state agencies were warned they don't have enough minority group employees.

Dr. Luther Holcomb, federal Equal Employment Opportunities Commission vice chairman, briefed the agencies on legislation making state governments subject to anti-discrimination regulations.

Six of the state agencies already facing hiring complaints under the new law. Practices found discriminatory include asking of questions on job application about race, religion, or arrest record, use of standardized tests, requirement of a high school diploma and insisting on photographs of job applicants.

CANDIDATES FILE -- Three candidates have filed for a vacant state representative seat in South Texas district 46, place 3 -- Brooks, Cameron, Kenedy, and Willacy counties.

Candidates in the special election September 16 are Dr. Martin Garcia of Raymondville, Neal Clark Jr. of Cameron County, and Claude Carter of Harlingen.

Rep. J.A. Garcia Jr. of Raymondville resigned his House seat in the district July 31. Deadline for filing was last Wednesday.

PAY RAISES SOUGHT -- Gov. Preston Smith and Sen. John Tower are pressing the federal pay board to approve 6.8 percent pay raises for state employees September 1 as voted by the legislature.

The pay board voted to retain a 5.5 percent ceiling on raises, but Smith and Tower claim an exemption for the 67,000 state employees under the "catch-up" provision.

GOATS TO RUSSIA -- Eighteen hundred Texas Angora goats are being airlifted to Russia September 1 to help upgrade the mohair industry in the Soviet.

A three-man Russian team bought the goats in the Brady area where 700 others were sold to Russia in 1936. Sale was handled through federal agencies, industry services, the Texas Department of Agriculture, and the Russian Embassy.

RETIRED TEACHERS WANT BREAK -- Changes in the teacher retirement system are being requested by retired school personnel who claim their benefits are meager or "token."

The retired teachers want benefits raised to the standard provided in 1971 legislation -- based on the best five-year average and boosting the percentage factor. An example was cited of a teacher with 29 years' service who gets $189 a month after retirement seven years ago. A teacher who retired last year with 19 years service, under the example quoted draws $245 a month.

Economic Stabilization

Questions and Answers

Q. I am leasing from the State residential property consisting of ten units. Is the rent I am charged subject to controls?

A. Rent adjustments by state or local governments are exempt from Phase II controls. However, a sublease agreement between you and a subtenant would be controlled by the rent regulations.

Q. What kinds of evidence would a tenant find helpful when bringing his own legal action against a landlord for evicting him in retaliation for protesting an allegedly illegal rent increase?

A. Useful evidence to support an allegation of retaliatory eviction includes the following:

- 1) the tenant always paid rent on time, behaved properly, etc., and therefore, the landlord could have no reason for eviction other than retaliation;
- 2) when the tenant asked the landlord the reason for the notice of rent increase, the landlord refused to answer or was evasive;
- 3) if the landlord contends that the tenant was sometimes late in paying the rent or was sometimes noisy, the landlord had never complained about this to the tenant;
- 4) other tenants were late in paying rent for longer periods and more frequently than the tenant in question; or
- 5) the only points of consequence about which the tenant and landlord disagreed, or about which the tenant challenged the landlord, were the validity of the proposed illegal increase or the compliance of the rent increase notice with the form required by Economic Stabilization regulations.

Q. May a person's salary be increased beyond the Pay Board's 5.5 percent standard to comply with the equal pay for equal work laws?

A. Yes. Such pay adjustments are covered under the Fair Labor Standards Act and, thus, are exempt under Economic Stabilization regulations.

Q. Can a person who has filed a complaint with the IRS about a price increase learn about the status of that complaint?

A. Yes. In addition to general information on the Economic Stabilization Program, the following information is available to a person who has filed a complaint or has specific knowledge of a complaint:

- 1) that a case is still under investigation;
- 2) that no violation has been found as the result of an investigation and an explanation of the general reasons for the finding of "no violation"; and
- 3) that a case has been investigated and no further action is contemplated.

Changes foreseen in nuclear safety criteria.

Cotton Growers Travel To See Systems, Machines In Field Test

HARLINGEN — As harvesting of the nation's first cotton crop of 1972 moved into high gear here in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, over 100 visiting growers and cotton industry specialists from a dozen states took a close look at two new mechanized, money-saving systems for handling and storing seed cotton.

The field-scale demonstrations, staged by Cotton Incorporated, showed off a new mechanized module builder and a turnrow rick compactor in successful harvesting operation on the Jack Funk farm, a spread of 5,000 cotton acres just north of this Mexican border town.

The new machines, each requiring just one operator, store masses of seed cotton on the farm until it can be scheduled for ginning. The visitors to the Funk farm, who came from Carolina to California, saw the machines in actual harvesting operation. Funk's harvest plans called for storing up to 2,000 bales of seed cotton this year.

Both pieces of machinery were developed by researchers for Cotton Incorporated, the research, sales and marketing company sponsored by America's cotton growers through their dollar-per-bale program.

The mechanized module builder, developed at Texas A&M University, is available for the first time this year. It stacks seed cotton into free-standing forms of specific dimensions on wood pallets, which guard against moisture and make the unit suitable for use in rain-belt cotton producing states.

The demonstrations also showed off four loader-transporter trailers for mechanized loading and unloading of intact modules for moving them from the farm and hauling them from the gin at highway speeds.

The turnrow rick compactor, developed at Texas Tech University, was used for the first time last year by more than 60 growers on the High Plains of Texas. It stacks cotton into free-standing ricks of indeterminate length on the ground. Growers who used it last year reported savings of more than $20 per bale in the total cost of moving seed cotton from stalk to bale.

The demonstrations included a loader device for moving cotton from the rick to the gin in conventional trailers.

Roy Forkner, a grower from the Lubbock, Texas area, told the visitors he stored 1,000 bales of cotton last year with the new Cotton Incorporated machinery and plans to store many times that amount this year.

J.K. ("Farmer") Jones, Cotton Incorporated's manager of mechanization research, said the demonstrations were very successful.

"We are especially pleased that so many growers from the mid-South were able to see the mechanized module builder in action for the first time," Jones said.

During the demonstrations, a total of eleven two-row cotton pickers ran in the fields of the Funk farm, as a custom harvesting team earned its pay in actual full-scale picking operations.

The visitors watched six pickers dump steadily into the turnrow rick compactor with no waiting between dumps. The compactor, operated by one man, formed a free-standing rick on the ground that measured seven feet wide by six feet high.

Professor Lambert Wilkes of Texas A&M University described the action of the module builder. He headed a team of agricultural engineers that developed the module builder -- from idea to prototype commercial unit -- in one year.

Throughout the day, representatives of machinery manufacturers added their explanations to the commentaries of researchers and Cotton Incorporated spokesmen.

Following a tar-b-cue and beans lunch under shade trees on the Funk farm, the visitors followed a loader-transporter bearing the first demonstration module to a gin at Sebastian, some 20 miles away. There they watched as the seven-bale module was unloaded at the suction pipe in 22 minutes by one man.

Fred Abel, Cotton Incorporated's manager of research implementation, said the demonstrations proved that the new systems increase harvester efficiency, reduce labor requirements, and allow extended gin seasons with more economical practices.

He said the turnrow rick compactor is available to growers this year at a price of $1,890, f.o.b. Lubbock, Texas. The price of the KD lift truck with special loader-basket used in the demonstration is around $12,000 delivered.

Another rick loader, the Great Bend "Cotton-Master" attachment that fits on farm tractors, costs around $2,800.

Abel said the price of the mechanized module builder at the Industrial Metalcraft plant in Lubbock, Texas, is around $6,600. The loader-transporters shown at the demonstration sell for $3,500 to $3,750, Abel said.

The Harlingen demonstrations were the first of a series planned by Cotton Incorporated throughout the cotton belt over the coming six months. The schedule will be released as arrangements are completed.

Abel said growers who seek more information now should get in touch with their county agents.

Cotton Production Up . . . Cattle Production Up . . . Crop Production Up

The 1972 cotton crop in Texas is estimated now at more than one million bales above 1971, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes.

Production this season is set now at 3,600,000 bales; this is an increase of 1,021,000 bales over production in 1971. Production last year was the smallest since 1946.

Acres for harvest are estimated at 5,125,000 acres compared with 4,700,000 acres of 1971. Abandonment from all causes is expected to total 325,000 acres. Last year 530,000 acres were abandoned.

Yield is expected to average 337 pounds of lint per acre compared with only 263 pounds per acre in 1971.

Nationwide, cotton production is estimated at 13,343,100 bales, this is 27 per cent more than the 1971 total. Acreage for harvest this year is set at 13,200,000 acres compared to 11,500,000 acres in 1971.

TEXAS continues to be the number one cattle feeding state in the nation. There were 2,120,000 head of cattle and calves on feed for slaughter as of August 1 in Texas. This is 29 per cent above a year ago, but virtually the same as the number on feed a month ago.

Placements into Texas feedlots during July totaled 370,000 head. These placements are 39 per cent above July 1971 but 18 per cent below the previous month. Marketings of fat cattle during July totaled 369,000 head, which is 14 per cent above July 1971 but two per cent below marketings for June.

In the six-state major cattle feeding states-Texas, Arizona, California, Colorado, Iowa and Nebraska-cattle on feed total 7,784,000 head. This is 18 per cent above the 6,596,000 head on feed last year at this time, but is a three per cent decrease from a month ago.

Iowa is second ranking cattle on feed state with 1,561,000 head.

PRODUCTION of all major crops in Texas this year--with the exceptions of corn and rice--are expected to exceed production levels of 1971. Increased production in 1972 is expected as a result of an increase in acres for harvest and higher yield prospects over 1971.

Grain sorghum production is forecast at 336,000,000 bushels, up 11 per cent from 1971. Yield is expected to average 60 bushels per acre compared with 52 bushels in 1971. Harvest of the crop is now approaching the half-way mark.

Wheat production is estimated at 44,000,000 bushels, 40 per cent above last year. Yield is expected to average 22 bushels per acre.

Corn production is estimated at 35,000,000 bushels compared with 43,056,000 bushels in 1971.

Peanut production is estimated at 434,720,000 pounds compared with 366,795,000 pounds in 1971.

Oat production is estimated at 9,720,000 bushels compared with 5,994,000 bushels in 1972. Yield is expected to average 27 bushels per acre, the same for 1971.

Soybean production is estimated at 5,670,000 bushels in 1972. This compares with 2,781,000 bushels in 1971.

Rice production is forecast at 22,464,000 hundredweight; this compares with 22,932,000 hundredweight in 1971.

Range and non-irrigated pasture condition was 76 per cent of normal; this compares with 45 per cent a year ago.

Market Structure Influences Growth

Market structure can restrict production anywhere along the line -- from the production of supplies to the end products and from processor to retail distributor. "No matter where the restriction occurs, it can affect the overall economic development and growth of the area."

Mallett offers several alternatives for improving the market structure and increasing the economic incentive for producers to expand to their fullest potential.

First, new firms could be enticed to enter the industry at the level where competition is most needed. For example, if there is only one wholesaler in the business, the area would benefit more if another wholesaler came in.

A second means of improving the market structure is through organizing marketing

THE FAMILY LAWYER

When You Go Dancing

Whenever business was good at a suburban night club, the management would "stretch" their space by putting extra tables and chairs on the edge of the dance floor. One night, a dancing couple stumbled over a stray chair. The woman suffered painful injuries, and later sued the club for damages. She pointed out that the chair had been shoved several feet into the dancing area.

"If it was," countered the management, "some other customer must have done the shoving. We are not legally liable for what our customers do."

But the court granted the woman's claim. The court said that by placing chairs directly onto the dance floor, the management had set the stage for trouble.

When you go dancing in a public place, you are entitled to conditions of reasonable safety. The dance floor, the lighting, and the furnishings should all be maintained in such a way as to minimize the chance of accidents.

Nevertheless, merely by choosing this form of recreation, you are accepting those dangers that are "natural" to it. For example: Another woman, injured while dancing, claimed she lost her footing because the floor was slick. But the court found no reason to blame the management for this. As one judge put it: "Dance floors are intended to be slippery."

Furthermore, your own behavior might amount to negligence. That was the court's ruling in a case in which the claimant had ventured onto a ballroom floor in a state of advanced intoxication.

And in another case, the court declared it was negligence for a woman to try a particularly tricky step while wearing heels three-and-a-half inches high. "The situation," said the judge, "parallels that of the risk taken by a participant in a sport."

CONGRESSMAN

Bob Price

18th Congressional District

In separate action, Congressman Bob Price today sought to rescind the ban on the use of diethylstilbestrol in animal feeds recently ordered by the Food and Drug Administration.

Congressman Price introduced legislation to modify the so-called "Delaney Amendment" to permit greater flexibility in setting toleration levels for DES residues in meat destined for human consumption. Price emphasized that the zero residue toleration standards of the Delaney Amendment threaten the use of DES which would result in higher meat prices with no increase in product safety for the American public.

Price contrasted the ban on DES to the use of other products in society which have a definite benefit-risk ratio. "Automobiles have killed more Americans than have been lost in all wars this Nation has ever fought combined and contribute to pollution, congestion, and urban decay--and yet who among us will propose legislation to abolish the automobile, especially those of us who drove to work?" Price asked.

The Price bill would allow the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare to set levels for food additive residues at limits which would permit the continued use of DES in animal feeds but would not induce cancer in humans.

In another action, Congressman Price called on Commissioner Charles Edwards of the Food and Drug Administration to reconsider the decision to not hold hearings on the announced ban on DES. In a letter to Edwards, the Congressman emphasized "in view of your own candid admission that DES in amounts being detected constitutes no known threat to human health, the decision to go ahead and hold hearings would allow a more thorough and open consideration of this whole issue and would help focus needed attention upon the advisability of amending the highly restrictive Delaney cause.

We must apply the rule of reason to the law if we are to maintain public respect for those who enact and administer the law."
