GSPA Considers New Feed Grain Program

At its meeting on Jan. 26, the Board of Directors of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association asked the Executive Committee and staff to continue their study of a new approach to the Feed Grain Program and supply management.

The proposal that is under study would eliminate the present base allotments, which have long been outdated, and replace them with a program under which set-aside would be directly related to the acreage actually planted during a crop year.

The present base allotments were established by the amount of grain planted in 1959-60. Since then, the grain sorghum production area has shifted into many new areas. Therefore, the producers who have begun planting since the base allotments were established are not participating in the feed grain program to help keep the production in balance with demand.

The essential recommendations of the GSPA study are: 1. Secretary of Agriculture shall be required to carry out a feed grain program each year that will hold the production in balance with consumption, and prices at levels which will be profitable to producers.

2. Base allotments established in 1959-60 will no longer apply since they have long been obsolete.

3. Set-aside acreage that is required by the Secretary shall be related directly to acreage actually planted for harvest on a farm during a given crop year.

(Example): (a) National Goal--If Secretary of Agriculture set a national goal of 100 million acres planted and 30 million acres set aside, the requirement for set-aside would be an acreage equal to 30% of the acres planted for harvest.

(b) Farm--A farmer would plant 100 acres and set aside 30 acres.

4. Secretary shall set payments at levels necessary to achieve the goal of production and set-aside.

5. Secretary shall set pay-farmers' income to the degree that average market prices paid to farmers plus government payments will equal the national weighted average cost of production and include a fair profit.

GSPA Executive Director Elbert Harp asks grain farmers to study this proposal and to let the Association know their views. National headquarters of GSPA are located at 1212 14th Street, Lubbock, Texas.

Better Weather, Inc. Meets Monday At Springlake-Earth

Better Weather, Inc., a group of citizens interested in hail suppression, met at 7:30 p.m. Monday night at the Springlake-Earth School Cafeteria.

Approximately 60 members were in attendance representing Muleshoe, Littlefield, Amherst, Feldton, Spade, Anton, Abernathy, Hale Center, Earth, Sunnyside, Springlake, Hart and Dimmitt.

Tom Henderson, president of Atmospherics, Inc. of Fresno, California, explained the technical aspects of cloud seeding and hail suppression.

Rates were set at 64 cents an acre with the total cost of the program estimated at $90,000 to $100,000. The program will be of six months duration beginning on May 1 and continuing until October 31.

Atmospherics Inc. will furnish two Piper Twin Comanche turbo-charged aircraft, radar system, equipment and chemicals, personnel and communications if the proposed program goes through.

The target area consists of parts of Lamb, Bailey and Castro Counties. Headquarters with the radar and planes will be based at Littlefield. The radar has a radius of 172 miles. Alternate strips will be located at Muleshoe and Dimmitt.

Henderson stated that the surveillance of the target area was better from a north-south direction rather than from an east-west direction since thunderstorms generally move from the west to the east. This is why the radar will be located at Littlefield which is south of the target area.

Henderson will be back in the area beginning on Monday, Feb. 12 for a series of meetings with the area. He will be showing slides, time lapse films of cloud formations and explaining cloud seeding and how hail suppression is accomplished.

Last year this area was within the Hale County program and raised $64,000 in conjunction with the Hale County program. This year there will be a separate program for this area. Meetings are now being scheduled for the Muleshoe Area.

Two students from Muleshoe were among 291 scholars named to the honor roll during the fall semester at West Texas State University.

Nelda Finley, junior elementary education major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Finley of Muleshoe, and Jerry Putman, sophomore liberal arts major, son of Dr. and Mrs. B.R. Putman of Muleshoe, were named to the honor roll which required a minimum 2.5 average on a 3.0 scale and a 15 semester hour class load.

Miss Finley and Putman were also among 144 scholars inducted into the Mary E. Hudspeth Honor Society during the fall semester.

Membership in the society is limited to freshmen and sophomores who make the honor roll the preceding semester.

Favorable Weather Aids Harvesting

Cotton harvesting has resumed in all areas as open weather prevails, according to W.K. Palmer, in charge of the Lubbock Cotton Classing Office of the U.S.D.A.

Samples from 86,3000 bales were tested and classed at the South Plains U.S.D.A. cotton classing offices at Lubbock, Lamesa, Brownfield, and Levelland during the week ending Friday, February 2nd. This brought the total classed for the season to 1,462,000 bales.

Estimates indicate that approximately 80 percent of this season's crop is now out of the fields.

Grades of cotton at Lubbock were slightly lower than the previous week. Strict Low Middling Light Spotted (42) was the predominant grade, making up 17 percent of all cotton classed. Strict Low Middling (41) made up 11 percent, Strict Low Middling Spotted (43) 15 percent and Strict Low Middling Tinged (44) 18 percent.

Average staple length was also lower than the previous week. Staples were predominantly 29 to 32. Ten percent had a staple length of 29, 39 percent stapled 30, 23 percent stapled 31 and 16 percent was 32.

Micronaire readings were slightly lower. Only 11 percent of all cotton classed at Lubbock had micronaire readings in the premium range of 3.5 through 4.9, 9 percent "miked" 3.3 through 3.4, 29 percent was 3.0 through 3.2, 35 percent 2.7 through 2.9 and 16 percent was 2.6 and below.

The Agricultural Marketing Service of the U.S.D.A. reported active trading on the Lubbock market. Prices ranged from $2.50 per bale over the loan for low grade, low micronaire cotton up to $50.00 per bale over the loan for high grade, premium micronaire cotton.

Average prices paid for the most predominant qualities in the 3.5 to 4.9 premium micronaire range were: Strict Low Middling (41) staple 30-27.40 cents per pound, Strict Low Middling (41) staple 31-27.90, Low Middling (51) staple 30-26.35, Low Middling (51) staple 31-26.80, Strict Low Middling Light Spotted (42) staple 30-26.75 and Strict Low Middling Light Spotted (42) staple 31-27.15.

Cottonseed prices were steady and farmers received $47 to $56 per ton for their cottonseed at gins.

Yahum Digdigen Speaks To AAUW

Miss Yahum Digdigen from the Philippines presented the program "Philippines, the Pearl of the Orient" to the Muleshoe Branch of the American Association of University Women, Monday, Feb. 5, at 7:30 p.m., in the Muleshoe High School Library.

Miss Digdigen is a graduate of the University of Manila and is now a graduate nurse at the West Plains Hospital in Muleshoe.

Miss Digdigen told of the beauty of the islands, the vast natural resources and the low per cent of the illiteracy in the Philippines.

Almost 83 per cent of the people have finished secondary school and many have finished at least two years of college. It is the custom that the parents send the eldest child to school, then it is his responsibility to send the next oldest child and then this obligation is passed down until each child has received an education.

There are very few homes for the elderly in the Philippines because each family looks after their parents and relatives in their own homes. Two or three generations may be living in the same house.

Mrs. Neal Dillman presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Jane Rudd.

Mrs. Tom Jinks reported on the Library Project and related some projects that Mrs. Anne Camp, Muleshoe area librarian, had suggested.

Mrs. Eric Smith, member of the State Nominating Committee, reported on the meeting that she attended in Austin, Feb. 3.

Mrs. Jack Rennels, cultural interests chairman, reported on the Children's Theatre from E.N.M.U. Two performances of "Rumplestiltskin" will be given March 5, in the High School Auditorium. Mrs. Robert Sanders reminded the membership of the Fellowship Fund. Each member gives three dollars which is used for AAUW members at home and abroad to work on advanced degrees in education.

Hostesses for this meeting were Mrs. Eric Smith, Mrs. Alden Henderson and Mrs. C.E. Moore.

Punch, cake, and nuts were served from a table decorated in the Valentine motif.

Market Report

COLLEGE STATION--With fryer supplies leveling off, prices will move upward for the next several weeks, according to Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt.

The consumer marketing specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, added that fryers remain budget buys--both the whole bird and fryer parts--in spite of price increase.

Whole turkeys and turkey parts also offer an economical choice at the poultry counter.

"Beef prices are about the same as the past two weeks, and most markets are featuring various beef cuts at special prices.

"In general, look for best values on chuck roasts, and beef liver."

Pork values include hams, picnics, end-cut loin roasts and chops, and shoulder roasts and steaks.

"Two eggs will satisfactorily take the place of a serving of meat for high-quality protein, so families can use more eggs economically," the specialists suggested.

"Grade A large-size eggs offer the best quality and economy for the money."

Fresh fruit and vegetable items in ample supply at the most economical prices include apples, oranges, grapefruit, bananas, tangerines and tangelos.

Others are potatoes, purple top turnips, cabbage, carrots, dry yellow onions, cauliflower, rutabagas, hard shell squash and broccoli, although prices on potatoes and dry yellow onions edged up a bit recently, she concluded.

4-H Film Series Slated For Local TV Viewing

"Exploring the World of Electricity," the first film of a new 4-H television series, will be shown on television station KCBD, Lubbock, Channell, Feb. 10, at 12:00.

County Extension Agent Robin Taylor says the film is about 25 minutes long and features "Sam, Betty and Mr. E," two 4-H'ers and their adult leader. Astronaut Neil Armstrong introduces the series of six films called "The Magic World of Electricity."

The three basic uses of electricity--heat, light and power--are explored in this first film. The 4-H'ers learn about the principle of electromagnetism and how this idea is practically applied in home appliances, machinery and industry. The basic operation of heating devices, light bulbs, and motors are outlined. In one part of the film, the two youths and their leader visit a television studio and see how important electricity is in television production.

The county agent points out that the film should help area youth learn to perform certain technical skills related to everyday uses of electricity. The film is made available by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

More information concerning the film and the entire series can be obtained at the county Extension office, says Mrs. Taylor.

Progress 4-H Club Meets

The Progress 4-H Club held its regular meeting at St. John's Lutheran Church parish hall with John Gunter, president, presiding. Secretary pro-tem, Ruth Ramm, called the roll and read the minutes of the last meeting.

Auxiliary Plans New Projects

The Muleshoe Hospital and Nursing Home Auxiliary met for their regular meeting Monday afternoon, Feb. 5, in the dining room of the Nursing Home. Two new members, Mrs. Tommy Hawkins and Mrs. Creston Favor joined the group, and one prospective member, Mrs. Bill Wimberly, also attended.

Mrs. J.E. McVicker, president, presided over the meeting. She appointed a nominating committee to submit a list of new officers for the year 1973-74 to the group at the April meeting. These new officers will be elected in May. Appointed to serve on the committee were Mrs. Doyce Turner, chairman; Mrs. Oscar Allison, Mrs. Clarence Mason, Mrs. Herb Ramage and Mrs. Willard Tibbets.

Mrs. Haney Poyner, "Project: Christmas Card" chairman, announced that the project was a tremendous success, netting the Auxiliary over $2200. "A few people who subscribed have not turned their money into the Auxiliary and it is needed to balance the financial statement for the Auxiliary," Mrs. Poyner said. The money from this project was used to purchase an Isolette infant incubator for the nursery in the Hospital. The Auxiliary plans to remodel the nursery soon. The walls and cabinet will be painted a soft color, and new window shades will be hung. The pediatric chairman, Mrs. Doyce Turner, has arranged for hand puppets to be made by the Alpha Zeta Pi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi and given to the children who are patients in the Hospital. The children will also be given a coloring or paper doll book to help them pass the time while they are patients in the Hospital.

Another service that is available is the Baby Photo. New babies, born in the Hospital, are photographed and the picture is placed in a folder. These are then sold to the parents at a very nominal charge. The profit from this service is used by the Auxiliary for their many Hospital and Nursing Home projects.

Recently pictures were purchased and hung on the dining room walls of the Nursing Home by the Auxiliary. Soon to be installed will be a new door with glass window for the benefit of the Nursing Home residents. Mrs. Dorothy Green, orientation chairman and vice president of the Auxiliary described the various services the Auxiliary members perform in both the Hospital and Nursing Home. Among these are running the hospital cart in both places. Coffee and juice are offered to the patients at no charge. Also the cart has books and magazines, coloring books

Lubbock Symphony To Present Pianist

The third Lubbock Symphony concert of the season brings to the platform a gifted young pianist, Robert de Gaetano, who though still under thirty, had made a name for himself among the top musicians. He will join Conductor William A. Harrod and the orchestra at 8:15 p.m. Monday, Feb. 26, at the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium to give patrons an evening of musical enjoyment.

Discovered by two revered musicians of the Soviet Union, pianist Sviatoslav Richter and violinist David Oistrakh, while they were performing in Philadelphia in 1969, de Gaetano was immediately contracted by Sol Hurok upon their recommendation. Though only two years into touring under contract with Hurok, he has appeared in Boston, Cincinnati, Memphis, and numerous other U.S. cities. Typical of the reaction to his fine playing is that of Louis Snyder of the Christian Science Monitor, who wrote: "His sensitivity to the music at hand reached the keyboard through a firm technique that has been acquired to serve his interpretive ideas rather than as an end to itself..."

A native New Yorker, he received early exposure to performance when as a student of the High School of Performing Arts, he appeared often on New York radio stations. He later attended the Mannes College of Music and graduated from Juilliard where he studied with Adele Marcus and Rhosine Lhevinne. In and puppets for the children. Auxiliary members shampoo and set hair in the Nursing Home beauty shop on Tuesday, Thursdays and Saturdays. They also offer this service to Hospital patients. Their members are available for sitting with patients when the need arises. Some of their members do clerical work in the office of the Hospital and soon will be serving at the reception desk as relief help.

The main purpose of the Hospital Auxiliary is to relieve the nurses of insignificant jobs so that they can do the job they're trained for. Some of these jobs are folding linens and putting them away, making hospital beds after a patient has gone home, escorting new patients to their rooms and helping to get them settled, and delivering flowers or mail.

A new project was voted on and accepted. The Auxiliary will purchase a new electric bed for the hospital.

Members attending Monday's meeting were Mrs. Harold Allison, Mrs. S.M. Ethridge, Mrs. Dorothy Green, Mrs. Clinton Kennedy, Mrs. Lee Kimbrough, Mrs. Finis Kimbrough, Mrs. R.L. Kimbrough, Mrs. Gene McGlaun, Mrs. J.E. McVickers, Mrs. Clarence Mason, Mrs. Haney Poyner, Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. Willard Tibbets and Mrs. Alex Williams.

Importance of Women Recording Wishes In Wills

COLLEGE STATION--"Have you ever thought about what you would do if suddenly left alone?" It's not a happy thought--but happens to more and more women each year.

Mrs. Doris Myers, home management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, stressed the importance of recording your wishes in a will. "Unfortunately, many women fail to do so."

"Statistically, most married women become widows sooner or later. Of course, sometimes the men are left alone instead. Still another situation involves the single or unmarried woman."

"Whatever the case, eventually the time will come when someone else will handle your affairs. When that time comes, can important papers be found designating your wishes?"

To insure they are followed as desired, Mrs. Myers stressed becoming familiar with the state laws concerning wills.

"After learning the proper procedures and forms, put personal and business affairs in order immediately."

"First, take and inventory of what you have."

"Also, check with insurance policies to make sure beneficiaries are up to date."

"Get your business center in order, talking over all business matters with your spouse, next of kin or a very close friend," the specialist continued.

"Consult your attorney about the inventory and your plans to determine what must be done to protect loved ones."

"Making a will while your spouse is alive has a definite advantage--plans can be jointly discussed and made concerning disposition of the estate and plans for the children and grandchildren. Decision-making is more difficult when alone."

Unavoidable hardships can come about without a will, Mrs. Myers emphasized. "For example, if the husband dies leaving the wife everything, what happens if she dies shortly afterwards, leaving no will? If they had small children, serious consequences could result involving a guardian. Without a will, guardianship may be left for strangers to decide."

"Also, with out a will, the couple's joint plans could be defeated. Their property would be disposed of by a court-appointed administrator according to state law."

"Thus, chances are the property won't be distributed as they desired. In addition, the estate might be reduced since probate and administrative expenses would be deducted."

Mrs. Myers also noted a will assures that an unmarried woman's wishes will be carried out in disposing her estate. Without one her property would revert to relations--no matter how distant or unknown. Since a will is so important, why don't more women prepare one?

"Part of the problem revolves around the idea that the husband's will is sufficient for the family."

Also, in many cases women feel their property isn't worth drawing up a will. Nevertheless, their estates often include valuable jewelry, paintings, antiques, stocks, bonds, life insurance and real estate," Mrs. Myers contended.

"Hence, the wise family plans together for the future of those left when death claims adult members," she said.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,
I am a widower, a W.W. veteran. I receive disability from the army also Social Security. I need a good woman for companionship and I want to be wanted and needed. I can furnish plenty of references as to character and honesty. I need somebody who will appreciate a good home and a good honest man.

C.B.-Woodward, Okla.

Answer:
There are so many lonely men and women in the world that we wish they could all find each other. But there are also many people who exploit a lonely man, or woman and, for that reason, we are not allowed to give out names.

Louisa.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex.--The Texas Legislature swept away some of the clouds last week and made important moves toward "government in the sunshine."

In addition to passing the revised "open meetings" law--patterned after Florida's famous "sunshine law"--House committees approved a new "open records" law for Texas and placed on the House calendar a "free flow of information" bill.

Changes in the Texas open meetings law will allow the public and press to be informed of all "quorum" meetings of public bodies. It was approved 132 to 13 by the House of Representatives and moved over to the Senate Jurisprudence Committee.

Closed meetings will be held to a minimum under the exemptions in the new law. It was authored by Rep. Carl Parker of Port Arthur and submitted as a part of House Speaker Price Daniel Jr.'s "reform package." A marathon five-hour hearing by the House Judiciary Committee--chaired by Rep. DeWitt Hale--was held on the "free flow of information" measure. This proposal is H.B. 10, sponsored by Rep. Dave Allred of Wichita Falls.

It grants a "news source" confidential privilege, and allows Texas journalists to get more information about governmental, law enforcement and other matters important to the public.

The House Judiciary Committee approved the bill 16 to 4 and sent it to the House floor for debate this week.

H.B. 6, the "open records" measure, will allow the public and press access to most all records of government, city, county and state, that are not closed by state statute. A few other restrictions were placed on the bill--sponsored by Rep. Lane Denton of Waco.

All of these "government in the sunshine" measures follow the pattern of new House rules which open committee meetings, and follow the trend toward "openness."

PEOPLE'S WATCHDOG PROPOSED--AGAIN--Legislators from Houston and Ft. Worth have introduced legislation proposing to create the office of "Ombudsman" in the State Government in Texas.

The idea has been put before the legislature in previous sessions only to receive a cold shoulder. The Ombudsman would be an independent and politically neutral office with the sole duty of investigating and recommending action on citizen complaints about state government administration, under the proposed legislation.

The two sponsors, Reps. Hawkins Menefee of Houston and David Finney of Ft. Worth, said the Ombudsman would be able to protect individual citizens by giving them recourse for their grievances against unfair or abusive administrative practices.

The Ombudsman, however, would have only the power to criticize and publicize, but not reverse, undesirable administrative actions.

MICKEY MOUSE DISCRIMINATION--Houston Rep. R.C. (Nick) Nichols has introduced legislation which he says will eliminate the "Mickey Mouse" discrimination practices of some insurance companies when it comes to selling automobile and fire insurance.

One bill would prohibit any fire or automobile insurance company from cancelling, refusing to issue, or refusing to renew a policy because of age, sex, race or place of residence of the person applying for insurance.

Rep. Nichols says "older people and younger people are the victims of automatic discrimination when buying auto insurance even though they may have good individual driving records."

Another Nichols' bill would require that the only kind of life insurance policies which can be sold in Texas would be level term policies which are guaranteed renewable to age 80--without evidence of insurability.

"The typical cash-value life insurance policy is one of the most prevalent and least understood consumer frauds in existence," says Nichols. "The simple fact is, at the death of the insured the beneficiary automatically loses the cash value of the policy." PRAY QUIETLY PLEASE--Sen. Walter Mengden, Republican state senator from Houston, has dropped a bill in the legislative hopper to allow local school boards to establish periods of silent prayer or meditation at the beginning of each school day.

The U.S. Supreme Court says a school district cannot dictate to a class of students the wording of a daily prayer. Mengden says his bill would "get around that ruling through this bill which authorizes private prayer, not as a religious service or exercise, but an opportunity for silent prayer or meditation on either the anticipated activities of the day or--by those so disposed--on a religious theme."

DWI IS A NO-NO, OR ELSE--Baytown Rep. Joe Allen has introduced legislation to require a mandatory minimum 30-day suspension of operator's license upon first conviction for driving while intoxicated, and a mandatory one-year sentence on second conviction.

Rep. Allen says Department of Public Safety officials tell him "almost a third of all fatal rural accidents were the direct result of drunk drivers. Statewide figures are almost as high."

Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has named Doland Olson of Lubbock as supervisor of the Texas Department of Agriculture's District II at Stephenville and named Raymond Houthens, an inspector in District I (Lubbock) to succeed Olson in the supervisory position.

Leading communicable disease in the state in 1972 was influenza and other flu-like illnesses, the State Health Department reports. The leading communicable disease nationwide in 1972 was gonorrhea, which ranked second in Texas with 58,404 reported cases.

Some 4,000 Texas junior and senior high school students and their teachers are to converge on Austin March 16-17 for the 46th annual convention of the Inter-scholastic League Press Conference.

The State Department of Banking has received applications for state bank charters for the Katy Bank & Trust and Sheldon State Bank, both in Harris County.

The 26th annual session of the YMCA Youth and Government program will be held in Austin February 22-25 with about 800 delegates assembling to study the legislative and judicial process.

Dr. Kenneth H. Ashworth, vice chancellor of the University of Texas System, has been named executive vice-president of the University of Texas at San Antonio.

Texas Municipal League directors will ask the Texas Legislature to conduct a thorough study of public labor-management relations in Texas. Action was taken public-related bills to be considered by the Legislature.

United States Senate COMMITTEE ON ARMED SERVICES

This week, the President submitted to the Congress his budget proposal for the fiscal year. Portions of that budget will be controversial issues in the Congress this year, but I do not think the Congress should quarrel with the basic goal of the budget which is to hold down government spending in order to avoid new taxes and keep up the fight against inflation.

Overall, the budget is slightly higher than for the previous fiscal year, but the increase is not as large as expected increases in revenues due to our expanding economy.

I have always felt, from a philosophical and idealistic standpoint, that government budgets should be drawn up in much the same way as household budgets. When my wife and I look at our household budget, we take our estimated income and we adjust our anticipated expenditures so as not to exceed that income. I have learned that such a simplistic approach is not possible with our federal government budget, but I do think that such a situation is a proper goal to be sought.

This is why I was encouraged to see in the new budget that the level of deficit spending is to be cut in half.

One of the main problems in developing the federal budget is the level of mandatory expenditures. A great deal of our federal revenues each year must go for such uncontrollable items as interest on the national debt and payments for social security, GI benefits, widows and orphans assistance and various federal retirement payments.

The Administration and the Congress must be particularly critical of the controllable portions of the budget if expenditures are to be kept down.

Concern for domestic needs is reflected in the new budget by the fact that two per cent of the budget dollar is being diverted away from national defense to various human needs. In the new budget, 47 per cent of expenditures are to go for such human resources as education, health, social security and welfare costs; 30 per cent will go for national defense; 10 per cent for physical resources such as transportation, housing, agriculture and environment; the remaining 13 per cent will go for other programs and requirements.

In submitting his budget the President asked the Congress to place a legal ceiling upon expenditures at the level set in his budget. I will support such a ceiling because I believe the Congress must work in a responsible manner to help keep spending within reasonable limits.

This is not to say that I agree down the line with every budgetary request. I see both pluses and minuses in the budget details. The Congress must cooperate in the effort to hold down expenditures and avoid a tax increase, but it cannot abdicate its responsibility to determine which programs should bear what portion of the burden caused by budget limitations.

The Congress should look at the budget request in minute detail. In so doing, it should realize the economic value of expenditures which provide jobs and serve to increase tax revenues, and it should also realize that administrative costs and programs which do not generate income are direct drains upon the treasury, upon the taxpayer generally.

Some programs are of such merit as to override the test of economic return. I am not convinced that all the reductions in the health and education and agriculture fields are wise ones. Conversely, I am pleased to see budget increases for environmental protection and crime fighting, and the elimination of funds for the Office of Economic Opportunity, the OEO. In general, I think we have taken the good workable programs the OEO originated and placed them in other agencies for continued work. The programs left to the OEO have generally proved to be unsound.

One of the major questions surrounding the budget this year is the relative power balance between the Executive and Legislative Branches. Over the past several years, the Congress has too often funded what might appear to be worthwhile programs, without sufficient regard for the aggregate spending level which results. The Congress has sometimes passed an overall spending ceiling and left it to the Executive Branch to determine where to make the necessary cuts. To retain its appropriations power, the Congress should begin to exhibit a cognizance of the impact of its appropriations in context with anticipated federal revenues.

Cotton producers have long had the burning desire to secure greater income from the marketplace, thus reducing dependency on the federal government. Through their organizations producers over the years have invested millions of dollars in research and promotion projects aimed at realizing his ambition. Once this goal is reached--once farmers have some assurance that market prices will cover production costs and a reasonable return to management, labor and capital--then and only then will there be justification for substantial cuts in federal expenditures on cotton programs.

"But this time has not yet come," says Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., "and in the foreseeable future a cotton program with solid producer income protection is going to be an absolute necessity."

Historically the marketplace

has been an unreliable source of adequate income for farmers. Prices are sufficient to cover production costs only when supplies are short. Then supplies go up, prices come down, and only the strongest of the strong survive.

Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz currently is pointing to record high average prices for farm commodities and saying this new found "prosperity" reduces the need for farm programs. He has said the current administration's farm policy will be focused on increasing farmers' profits from the marketplace and reducing their dependence on government.

"Which is well and good,"

Congressman Bob Price of Texas announced today that he has introduced legislation, H.R. 3299, similar to that which he has introduced during the last session of the Congress, to take the Federal Power Commission out of the business of regulating the sale of natural gas in interstate commerce--directly or indirectly--in order to allow these prices to fluctuate according to the free market laws of supply and demand.

The Price legislation comes on the heels of the energy crisis which has been adversely affecting states all over the Nation this winter. "The time has already passed for the Congress to face up to its responsibilities in order to assure an adequate and reliable supply of natural gas for the consumers of the United States. Natural gas, which is the cleanest burning, cheapest fuel we have in this country has been discriminated against by repressive legislation--while other fuels such as coal and oil are rebated by the laws of supply and demand, consideration, gas is regulated by the Congress through delegation to the FPC." Price charged.

The Price legislation is designed to provide the consumer with an adequate supply of natural gas in the future by providing a sufficient amount of economic incentives which will encourage rather than discourage the exploratory activity necessary to recover the abundant gas supplies which lie below ground.

"The continuation of present policies with respect to natural gas will result in a situation where no gas will be available to many consumers. It is my hope that the Congress will support this legislation to place natural gas on the free market--an action which will not result in drastic increases in the average consumer price of natural gas, but will assure our Nation of a continued supply of this commodity," Price concluded.

Johnson points out, "if the Secretary has found a way to maintain high market prices over the long term. But no one in or out of government has yet been able to prevent the development of oversupply in various commodities from time to time, followed by plunging prices and the decimation of agricultural enterprises."

For cotton, a government program to stabilize prices and supplies are short and prices high, we lose our markets to man-made fibers. When supplies are long and prices low, we stand to lose our farms.

"So one of the major tasks ahead for PCG and other cotton industry groups is to convince this administration that we are not yet to the point where our industry can survive without a solid government cotton program to assure adequate supplies for our customers and at the same time protect producers against disastrous prices."

Cotton producers on the Plains and all across the belt have indicated a desire to see the current set-aside program continued, retaining a 15-cent payment rate, writing in a loan level more closely tied to world market prices and eliminating or at least maintaining the $55,000 payment limitation. There is also support for this approach from other segments of the industry, from gins through textile mills.

But all agree that getting such a program through an urban-oriented, economy-minded Congress where understanding of cotton's problems is at best minimal will not be easy and could prove impossible without a direct and vigorous effort from the White House and USDA.

"Thus our ability to continue as a major industry," Johnson concludes, "may ride with our ability to change, or at least modify, some of the thinking that now prevails at the executive level in Washington."

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Cotton producers have long had the burning desire to secure greater income from the marketplace, thus reducing dependency on the federal government. Through their organizations producers over the years have invested millions of dollars in research and promotion projects aimed at realizing his ambition. Once this goal is reached--once farmers have some assurance that market prices will cover production costs and a reasonable return to management, labor and capital--then and only then will there be justification for substantial cuts in federal expenditures on cotton programs.

"But this time has not yet come," says Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., "and in the foreseeable future a cotton program with solid producer income protection is going to be an absolute necessity."

has been an unreliable source of adequate income for farmers. Prices are sufficient to cover production costs only when supplies are short. Then supplies go up, prices come down, and only the strongest of the strong survive.

Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz currently is pointing to record high average prices for farm commodities and saying this new found "prosperity" reduces the need for farm programs. He has said the current administration's farm policy will be focused on increasing farmers' profits from the marketplace and reducing their dependence on government.

"Which is well and good."
