Rains Bring Additional Moisture

Two Day Rains Bring Over A Half Inch

Spring-like weather returned to the Muleshoe area Sunday and Monday bringing .67 of an inch of additional moisture according to the local weather reporter Jeff Peeler.

Rain fell most of the afternoon Sunday and a steady rain fell most of the day Monday.

The Bailey County Law Enforcement Center in Muleshoe reported sighting several twisters in the area Monday afternoon. Law enforcement officers spotted two tornadoes northeast of town Monday afternoon between 3 and 4 p.m. Only one of them was reported to have touched the ground.

The moisture added to the already abundant moisture available in the area. The rains should help the early crops that have just been planted.

It has been reported that the Muleshoe area has the best underground moisture supply in many years. Most farmers did not even pre-irrigate before planting this year.

Corn is now 100 per cent planted in this area with some cotton still to be planted.

Good planting weather prevailed last week allowing farmers to get the majority of their crops in the ground before the rains on Sunday and Monday.

An abundant vegetable harvest is predicted for the Bailey County area this year. Bell peppers, onions, tomatoes, potatoes and some carrots have already been planted and are up and growing.

V.T. Tanner and Ralph Douglas met with the council to discuss a water system at Progress.

Mayor Williams explained that the council would like to help in any way they could, however an engineering study would have to be made.

It was estimated that possibly as many as 100 users could be anticipated in the Progress area.

also present at the meeting was Clinton Kennedy, FHA manager, who explained that FHA has financed some 700 such projects in Texas.

Kennedy explained that the long term loans were paid back by purchasers of water.

It was pointed out that such applications would have to go to HUD and then be approved by SPAG.

Representatives from the General Telephone Company also met with the council in regard to their overall 10.9 per cent proposed increase and it was explained by General Telephone representative John Allen of San Angelo of the need for a greater return on the company's investment services.

Allen further explained that there has been no increase of this nature since 1959 and costs have increased for the telephone company on everything that the company uses and that

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin

AUSTIN, TEX.--Daring more federal court challenges, the House, reappointment Committee has advanced a "redistricting" bill that makes virtually no changes in present representative districts.

The Committee bill, approved 12-8, would retain multi-member districts like those in the three larger counties.

Chairman Rep. Fred Head of Troup favored dividing all urban counties, which now have two or more representatives, into single-member districts. Committee action, in effect, took control of the bill from Head on the floor.

A three-judge federal court in January, 1972, ordered single-member House districts for Bexar and Dallas counties and gave the legislature until July 1 to rewrite a 1971 re-appointment scheme.

Representatives were warned before the vote that if the U.S. Supreme Court upholds the 1972 ruling, it is likely to order single member, individual House districts in all urban counties.

The bill as advanced further did not meet federal court disapproval of a 9.9 per cent population spread between smallest and most-populous Texas House districts.

However, Wyatt contended the Supreme Court in a Virginia case later upheld a 16.4 per cent deviation.

UNNECESSARY "ENERGY" ADS -- The House Natural Resources Committee held a hearing on HSR 131 last week-- a measure that requests advertisers to "not use advertisements to urge the public to use more power or energy than is reasonable necessary."

House authors are Representatives Ben Grant, Marshall, and Woody Denson, Houston. Grant testified before the Committee that his bill was not intended to regulate advertising of energy companies in Texas-- but to urge advertisers to "teach or persuade the public to conserve or decrease the use of energy and to avoid all wasteful uses of power."

He cited some of the copy used by Conn Edison--a major utility in the East.

A spokesman for the Southwest Electric Power Company told the Committee that his company was against the bill because they did not feel the state should "get into the business of curtailing advertising."

"We have a surplus of power," he said. "Conn Edison has a shortage. We need to urge our consumers to use more electricity in the winter for heating purposes. We have the power available, and we need to sell it in order to pay for our bonds."

"Our consumers use our power supply in the summer when air conditioning is needed," he continued. "But we need to 'sell' them on winter-time power consumption through our advertising programs. We don't think the state legislature should get into advertising controls in Texas."

Grant said he was merely trying to encourage advertisers to avoid waste of energy, and that he would oppose "mandatory" regulations also.

The bill was sent to the Oil and Gas Subcommittee of the Natural Resources Committee.

VENDING MACHINE FIRMS EYED-- The attorney general's office and 14 other government agencies are investigating operations of 11 vending machine corporations in five cities.

Visitorial letters were served on the firms requesting that books and records be made available for inspection.

The Department of Public Safety, State Comptroller, State Securities Board, Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission and law enforcement agencies in the cities are cooperating in the probe, coordinated by the At-ney General's Organized Crime Strike Force.

Firms are located in Dallas, Houston, Fort Worth, Grand Prairie and San Antonio.

Details of the investigation were not disclosed. Refusal of a Grand Prairie concern to allow inspection of records resulted in filing a misdemeanor complaint in Dallas County Criminal Court No. 2.

DISASTER AID AVAILABLE, LIMITED-- The federal Small Business Administration will make disaster loans in Hale, Navarro and Frio Counties as a result of April 15 tornadoes.

Sen. John Tower announced the aid, but Governor Briscoe said the Office of Emergency Preparedness rejected his request to declare Hale and Navarro Counties major disaster areas.

Tower said 15 other counties have been declared eligible for emergency loans from Farmers Home Administration due to weather damage including excessive rainfall. The counties are Concho, Crosby, El Paso, Franklin, Garza, Hale, Hockley, Hudspeth, Montgomery, Lamb, Lynn, Lubbock, Reeves, Wharton and Wood.

RECORD WHEAT HARVEST REPORTED -- Agriculture Commissioner John C. White reported the first wheat harvest of 1973 in Frio County averaged 26 bushels an acre, a record high.

The Texas wheat harvest is expected to reach 83,200,000 bushels this year, double the 1972 yield, from 3,200,000 acres, White estimated. Major harvest in North Texas won't start until late May, and won't reach a peak until June.

COURTS SPEAK -- Texas Supreme Court held a new Austin high school can be constructed on land near a city lake without a referendum.

On the other hand, the High Court said Austin school district's plans to place an athletic field and sports center in a residential area would violate municipal zoning ordinances.

In other cases, the Court concluded:

- * An insurance company is responsible to its policyholders even when they misrepresent use of autos covered by policies.
- * It will hear June 13 a Nacogdoches school district tax suit involving a contractor's heavy highway-building equipment.
- * A San Antonio night watchman is entitled to $177,000 damages due to a fall from a ladder at a construction site.
- The Court of Criminal Appeals held a defendant in misdemeanor cases is entitled to bail pending hearing on revocation of probated sentence.

A district court in Scurry County ordered American Magnesium Company to cease operations of its Snyder plant until it receives a Texas Air Control Board construction permit and is in compliance with the Clean Air Act.

AG OPINIONS--A $3,000 homestead exemption applies to property subject to ad valorem taxes for county farm-to-market road and flood control purposes, but a second residency exemption on the same property can't be claimed, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

- * A bill allowing the State Board of Control to serve as purchasing agent for college districts is constitutional.
- * Cooperative purchasing agreements by local governments with the Board of Control or among themselves would also be constitutional.
- * A Commission on Revenue Earmarking would be constitutional.
- * Metropolitan county supplementation of Court of Criminal Appeals pay would be unconstitutional.

APPOINTMENTS--Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby was designated by Briscoe as chairman of a new state energy advisory council charged with recommending a coordinated state policy on energy.

Briscoe's executive assistant, Charles Purnell of Dallas, was named vice - chairman. Heads of 11 state agencies and representatives of 13 industries, sciences and professions will be permanent council members.

Briscoe reappointed the Rev. J. Carroll Chadwick of Center and George L. Allen of Dallas members of the Texas Southern University board of regents.

CONVENTION DISCORD RAISED--Senate planners for the 1974 constitutional convention were angered by House efforts to dominate the arrangements committee.

The House adopted a resolution calling for 16 members of the convention planning committee and only five senators. Senate spokesmen said the proposal will never be accepted.

Meanwhile, House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. said he does not condone circulation of a petition endorsing him as convention chairman. Both Lt. Gov. Hobby and Daniel have acknowledged they are interested in the chairmanship, although they say they are not campaigning.

Several House members have endorsed Daniel.

SHORT SNORTS--A proposed constitutional amendment providing for annual legislative sessions and a $15,000 salary for lawmakers has been cleared for a November 6 statewide election.

Both houses of the Legislature also have agreed to a bill overhauling workmen's compensation laws and raising maximum benefits to $63 a week starting September 1.

The House passed bills to restore the death penalty for certain crimes, to lower the first offense penalty for possessing up to an ounce of marijuana to a misdemeanor (punishable by up to six months in jail and $1,000 fine), and to allow competitive auto insurance rates.

Legislation giving 18 - 20 year olds full majority rights was amended in the House to restrict drinking and abortions until age 21.

Bail bond reform has been approved by the Senate.

Comparison Of Cotton Quality-1971, 1972

The 1972 South Plains cotton crop showed great improvement in quality over the 1971 crop, according to W. K. Palmer, In Charge of the Lubbock Cotton Classing Office of the USDA.

Unfavorable weather plagued South Plains farmers through the entire harvesting season. This caused the harvest to extend well into this year and some cotton is still being ginned. Through May 11th, samples from 2,007,000 bales of the present crop had been classed. This compares to only 1,122,000 bales produced from the 1971 crop.

One-third of the South Plains cotton this season was classed in the White grades, one-third in the Light Spotted and Tinged grades. During the 1971 season, only 14 per cent was classed in the White grades.

60 per cent in the Light Spotted grades and only 26 per cent in the Spotted and Tinged grades.

Average staple length of the 1972 crop showed great improvement over the 1971 average. Staple averaged 31.3/32nds of an inch, or between 31/32nds of an inch and one inch. This compares to an average of 30.4/32nds of an inch for the 1971 crop.

Micronaire also showed considerable improvement over the 1971 crop. Twenty-three per cent was in the premium range of 3.5 - 4.9, compared to only 7 per cent of the 1971 crop. Quality of the 1972 crop was much better than the poor quality 1971 crop but was still below average. However, quality of the 1972 crop would have to be considered as excellent when the extremely unfavorable conditions are taken into account.

You are invited... to good times, good food

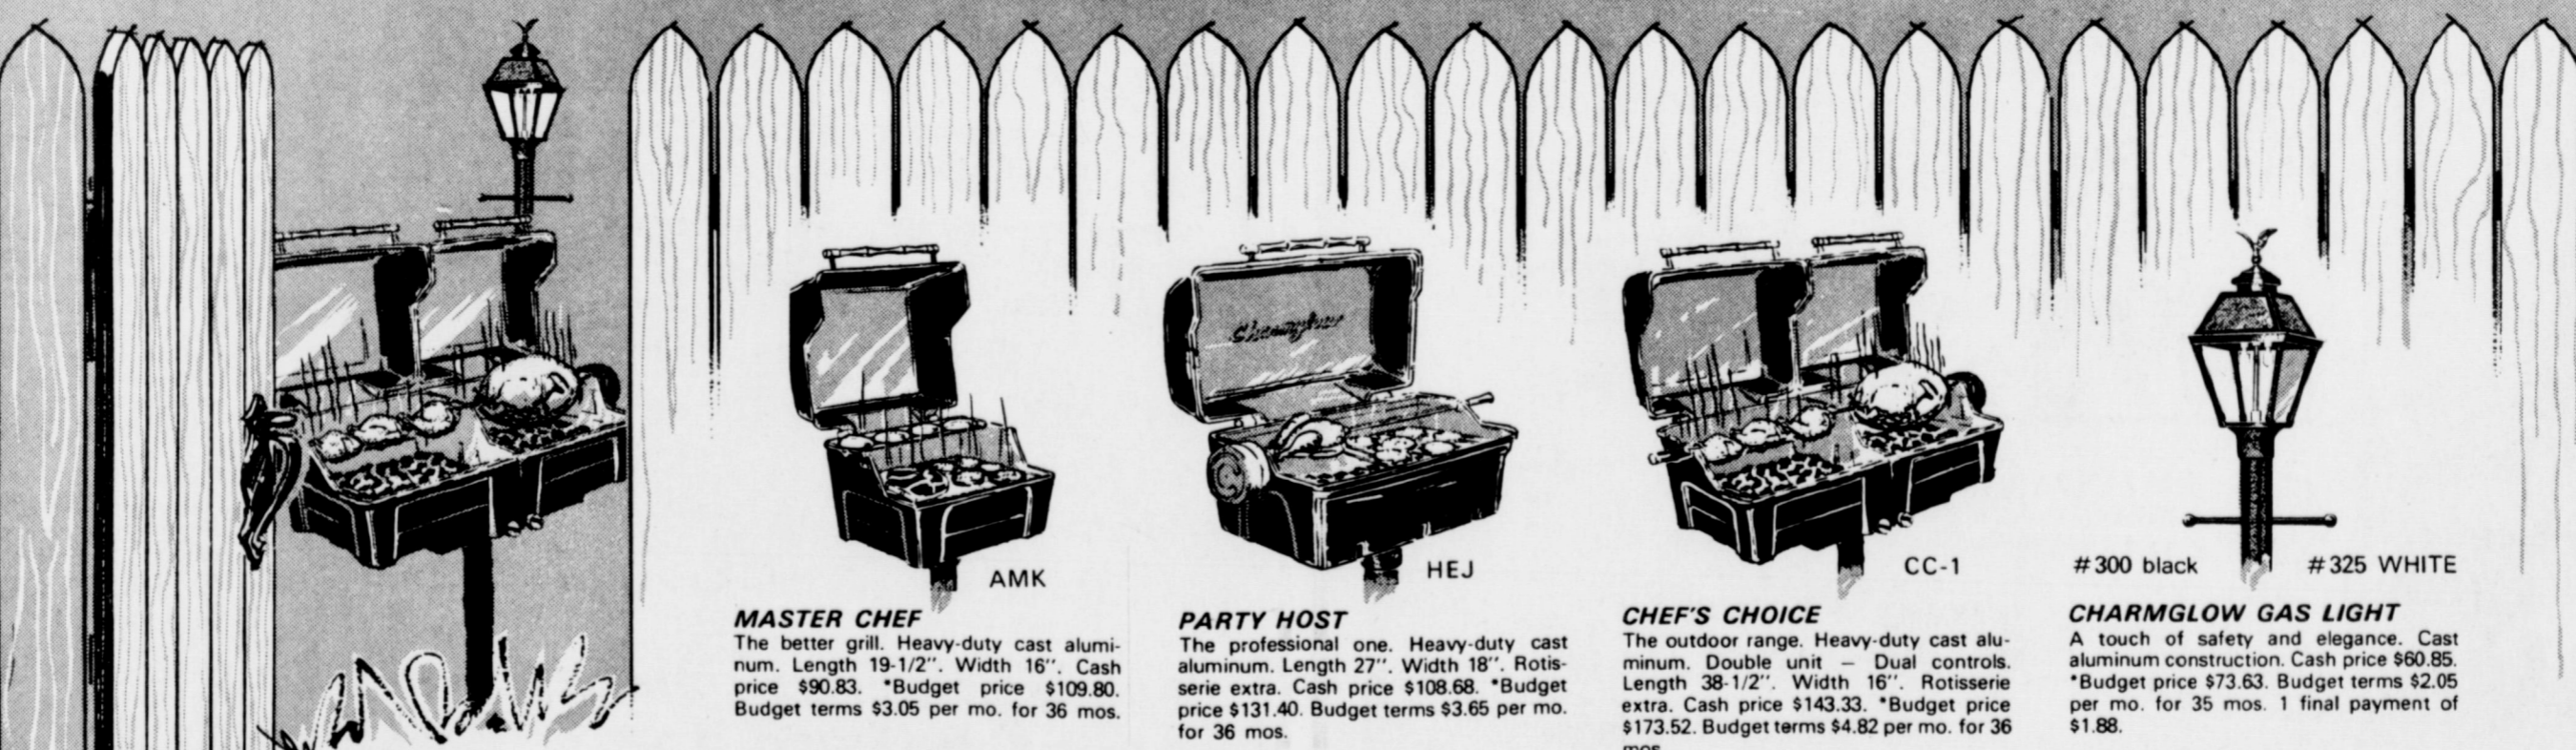

... in your own backyard with an outdoor gas grill and gas light. You can cook up a party at a moment's notice, because a gas grill is ready to cook in minutes. And it's so easy to cook on because you can control the heat. With a gas grill there's no charcoal mess, and you still get that delicious, outdoor char-broiled flavor that comes from the smoke of meat juices dripping on permanent ceramic briquets.

Besides the good times you'll have cooking out, you enjoy the convenience of having a gas grill. You'll probably find yourself cooking on it just because you wanted to get out of the kitchen or didn't want to mess up the broiler of your kitchen range.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,
My mother is so old fashioned that she doesn't want me to dress like all the other girls I go with. She thinks it is bad to wear a tight sweater without a bra or a bikini. What must I do to make her realize that times have changed and nobody pays attention as to how many clothes you have on?
Daughter--N.C.

Answer:
Things have changed but you are wrong about what people think when they see girls in garments that are vulgar and in bad taste.

I, for one, am glad that we have turned away from some of the prudish ideas of past years but I also think that we have gone too far in displaying our bodies to the public.

I recently heard a speaker give statistics on the great increase in the crime of rape during the past year. He felt and I agree with the idea, that much of this has been caused by magazines, theaters and television networks encouraging young people to be immoral.

However, I think many of the girls innocently accept ideas and customs, not because they are wicked, but because they try to run with the crowd and get attention. I'm sure that if they knew what was in the minds of some of the men who see them they would care less for such attention.

Louisa.

Going Steady-- Wise Or Otherwise

COLLEGE STATION -- Steady dating--whether it's wise or otherwise--depends on the maturity of the couple involved.

"Although there's no universally accepted definition, 'going steady' is considered an understanding between boy and girl to date one another regularly and exclusively," Dorothy Taylor, specialist in family life education, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, explained.

"In addition, it may lead to marriage by default--that is, the couple is expected to marry because they went steady so long."

Steady dating also may limit social activities--and cause

Science Classes Do Experiments

The seventh grade science classes tried something different this week. Each class divided into six different groups with a separate packet for each of these groups. The packet contained complete instructions and experiment cards telling how to do different experiments. The experiments were presented and the results recorded by each individual. Research papers having something to do with science, were assigned for spare time to keep the students busy. Most students were glad to get away from the same routine and try something different for a change.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN--Now that the weather's nice, and you're spending more time outdoors, you may be noticing that the house could do with a little fixing up.

That kind of thinking might make one susceptible to a home improvement salesman's suggestions for a new roof, aluminum siding, or a remodeling job.

But, be very cautious about agreeing to any construction work until you are certain you are dealing with a bona fide contractor who makes a specific work proposal, complete with plans, specifications and cost estimates. There are literally thousands of Texas builders who can be depended upon for a workmanlike job.

Too often, homeowners have been fast-talked into unwanted, unneeded and unsatisfactory "improvements," only to find that the so-called contractor has flown the coop, leaving the homeowner with an expensive, long-term installment note which had been sold to a financing company.

In the legitimate construction trade, these home improvements fly-by-nights are known as the "hit-and-run variety." Both the Texas Association of Home Builders and the National Home Improvement Council provide advice telling you what to expect in dealing with a reputable builder, and how to avoid involvements with the type who offices only out of the trunk of his car.

Through complaints handled by members of the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division staff, we have learned that the "hit-and-run" operators prefer to zero in on low-income neighborhoods, but may turn up anywhere.

They know that the folks who find money hard to come by have great pride in home ownership. And they play on that pride.

The typical gambit is to show the man or lady of the house a photograph of a pretty cottage finished with fancy siding. If he protests that he doesn't have the funds to remodel, the salesman counters with an "easy-payment" installment proposal. If the customer still resists, saying that he already is overloaded with payments, he may be tempted with a plan to "consolidate" his bills and the improvement cost under one installment note.

One easy way to tell the unscrupulous home improvements salesman from the contractor you can count on is his insistence on getting you to sign on the dotted line right away.

A regular contractor will expect the homeowner to get bids and estimates from three or four firms, and will present exact plans and specifications for your consideration. Also, he will tell you which financial institutions usually make loans for his company's home improvements, and ask if you would like to go through one of them.

A fast signing with one of the hit-and-run fellows usually leads to heartbreak and heavy expenses. In one case, a homeowner realized several months after accepting a "siding" job that the material used was so thin, it bent on touch. He refused to pay any more installments on the $4,000-plus note, only to learn that the note had been sold within 24 hours after he had signed it to another company which had a holder-in-due-course defense against his complaints. Since the papers he had signed included a mortgage on his house, his refusal to pay any more resulted in his home being sold out from under him. By then, the fly-by-night had flown.

The best advice for avoiding that type of problem is: 1) Make a double check on anybody who is selling "home improvements" door to door. Remember, that auto or pickup has four wheels. Look to see if it has Texas license plates.

2) If the salesman asks you to go with him to a notary, or pulls out a notary seal, he probably is asking you to mortgage your property to him as security on the note. Are you sure that is what you want to do?

3) Under the Federal Truth-in-Lending law, anyone planning to take a second mortgage as security has to disclose to the buyer in writing that he has the right to change his mind within 72 hours after signing. If the purchaser is not given that notice, he may rescind the contract at any time.

4) Under the Texas Consumer Credit Code, the contractor must obtain from the consumer who signs a retail installment transaction a certificate of completion, imprinted with these words: "WARNING TO BUYER -- Do not sign this certificate until all services have been satisfactorily performed and materials supplied or goods received and found satisfactory."

And, the financial institution who buys the note must give the consumer written warning that he has purchased the note, and the buyer has 30 days in which to file a complaint about the goods of service.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhill Philosopher on his Johnsongrass farm turns his attention this week to the possibility of a gasoline shortage.

Dear editor:
There has been a lot of talk in the newspapers and on the streets about a gasoline shortage this summer and what I've been reading lately suggests there's a grain of truth in both sources.

At least, officials in Washington have been warning a shortage is possible, and are making suggestions to avoid it, such as spending your vacation close to home instead of seeing how many miles you can run up in two weeks. Another suggestion is to reduce the maximum speed limit to 50 miles an hour, since a car burns less gas at 50 than 70 and also requires few ambulance calls.

These are half-way measures. When you stop to think about it, after all the supply of oil inside the earth is limited, there are just so many barrels down there, and some day we're bound to pump it all out. No oil, no gasoline. No gasoline, no cars, at least as we know them now.

At that point, the world will have to turn back to organic transportation. That is, the horse.

And I can't help but think of a friend of mine who had an uncle years ago who invested all his money in opening up a chain of livery stables just as the automobile was coming on the scene. Naturally his empire collapsed.

For years he has been held up as an example of utter lack of foresight, but if he were living now he might be due an apology. If he could have just hung on a little longer he might have become a transportation tycoon, with livery stables from one end of the country to the other offering a complete line of feed, service and parts for all makes of buggies, surreys, horses, mules and even oxen.

I don't know if he'd have thought of this, but his brand name could with a little imagination and the changing of a few letters in signs already in place be called Oxzen.

Say, if you think the price of meat is high, wait till we find out what the cost of bug-ging is.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

COMMITTEE ON ARMED SERVICES

POW TREATMENT -- Now that it appears relatively certain that all Americans captured by the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong during the recent Indochina war are returned and integrated back into our way of life, it seems to me that a new look into this matter is in order. We've heard all types of reports of mistreatment, torture and misuse of our prisoners of war in press stories, but I have a feeling that the public has not yet had the full picture of what went on.

Another aspect of this whole question of treatment of war prisoners that bothers me is this: what was the real effect on the captives of visits to Hanoi by American civilians and other outsiders. We've had sketchy reports, but I'm convinced that we need an in-depth study of these so-called "peace" visits to the capital of a hostile country during times of conflict. Is it possible that we need to pass new legislation with regard to such acts in the future?

For these reasons, and others, I have this week introduced in the United States Senate a resolution to authorize the Armed Services Committee to make a special investigation into the whole matter of POW treatment in Indochina. I am deeply concerned that the full story of their captivity will not otherwise become a matter of public record, and I feel that it certainly should be.

Only when the public is apprised of the gruesome treatment of our men in Indochina will the American people fully appreciate their ordeal--their bravery.

I feel it equally important that the world be informed of the hypocrisy with which the North Vietnamese treated the prisoner of war question. Many of us are aware of the Hanoi Hilton tours conducted for the benefit of the foreign visitors--many of them from our own country. But was this camp typical of those in North Vietnam? Was the condition of the prisoners in this camp typical as well? I do not believe we have at present the full picture of what prison life was like in North Vietnam or in other communist prison camps.

We have been given staged pictures and staged events by the other side. Behind these, however, lie the beatings, the pain, the anguish inflicted by a cruel and barbarous captor who portrays himself as a liberator from a nation of peace and freedom-loving people.

I would envision the special investigation by the Armed Services Committee looking into perhaps three specific areas. These would include the extent to which the enemy violated the terms and provisions of the Geneva Convention on the treatment of prisoners of war; the effect of visits by American civilians and other non-North Vietnamese on the treatment of said prisoners; and the effect of prior survival and other training on the stamina and the will to resist of the prisoners.

Of course, the Committee would not necessarily be limited to these three specific subjects.

It should be left free to look into any other relevant subject matter directly or indirectly related to the confinement of POW's. The Committee then would be able to make whatever report or reports it deems advisable, and recommendations for possible legislation.

I am not among those in public office who have flatly ruled out possible future aid to the Vietnamese people, but I am at present opposed to any aid to the North Vietnamese. I feel that we simply do not have enough answers to make a proper judgement on the matter. Perhaps the investigation called for by my resolution will shed some more light on it. I get the feeling that most Texans, and a majority of other Americans, now oppose aid in any form to the North Vietnamese. Perhaps a thorough study of treatment of our prisoners of war will help us make a better judgement on the future of our actions in this area.

I have had personal visits with several of our returning prisoners of war from Indochina, and I have nothing but the highest admiration for them. As a whole, they strike me as the finest of our men who answer the call of their country. Almost without fail, I have heard them time and again say they would do it again if their country calls on them.

These past few years have been trying times for our country. There have been some--a very minor but vocal group, thankfully--who questioned some of the very basic structures of our American way of life. Much of this dissent grew out of the war in Vietnam and its many complicated side effects.

Now this long and controversial conflict is behind us, hopefully for all time. But there remains some very pointed and yet unanswered questions about the treatment of our prisoners of war. I believe a full and thorough investigation by the Senate Armed Services Committee is in order. Only then can we know that we have done everything we can to provide satisfactory answers.
