July Fourth Celebration Shapes Up

City Dads Table Action On Rate Hike

Jeff Peeler and Warren Danton of Southwestern Public Service appeared before the city council to negotiate a new street light contract, Tuesday, July 1 at 8 a.m. at City Hall. The present agreement expires

October 11, 1975. The major differences between the proposed contract and the old contract are: (1) A 14.9 percent rate increase, (2) A fuel adjustment charge and (3) A provision requiring the city to reimburse SWPS for the original cost less three percent depreciation each year for all street lights removed at the request of the city. In addition, the city would be responsible for any costs incurred due to the relocation, revision, or alteration of street lighting requested by the city.

The city dads tabled action on the proposed contract pending submission by SWPS of further financial information to justify the 15 percent increase and clarification by SWPS of contract language. The City of Muleshoe has budgeted in fiscal year 1975-76, some $13,500 for street lighting.

Rad Richardson of General Telephone Co. met with the city council to discuss proposed increase in telephone rates for the Muleshoe exchange. General Telephone is proposing an increase in net revenues of $23,022 or a 37 percent over present income available for return.

Councilmen questioned Richardson at length over service deficiencies and possible corrective measures. In addition, the council quizzed Richardson concerning the lack of direct dialing for Muleshoe residents. Richardson assured the council that General Telephone was making every possible effort to provide direct dialing to the Muleshoe exchange.

Richardson also informed the council that the cost of providing direct dialing would be charged against toll call revenues and not against the base rate for which the increase is being sought. The council deferred action on the General Telephone rate increase request until a rate consultant has been contacted.

According to Joel Young, Texas Highway Patrol, who investigated the accident, the victim was apparently walking down the middle of the roadway with his back to the traffic when the accident occurred. The accident was reported at 1:30 a.m., June 29, by Aubrey Heathington of Muleshoe, Heatington flagged down the patrolman, who was enroute to the scene after being told by a Clovis motorist that he had nearly hit a man on the highway.

According to Patrolman Young, the Clovis motorist stated he stopped and offered the victim assistance, after almost hitting him. The motorist told the officer that the victim swore at him and kicked his car, when he offered help. The Clovisite then drove to the Law Enforcement Center and reported the incident.

WASHINGTON REPORT BY Lloyd Bentsen, United States Senator

According to a recent survey most Americans fear that crime in their own neighborhoods is on the increase.

This includes residents of inner-city Houston, middle-class suburbanites from the Dallas-Ft. Worth area, and the people living in middle-sized and smaller cities and towns across our state.

Texasans are worried. They are afraid to walk the streets at night, afraid to leave their homes unguarded, afraid when their children go out or walk home from an evening job. Their fears, unfortunately, are more and more well-founded.

Last year alone, crime throughout the country jumped seventeen percent over the year before. Violent crimes are up eleven percent. And even as these and other categories of crime are climbing, statistics from the Federal Bureau of Investigation show that over half of the defendants charged with major crimes are either acquitted at the trial, or released before the trial with all charges dropped.

The trend is unmistakable. More crimes are being committed, a smaller percentage of criminals is being apprehended and the rate of conviction and sentencing for those crimes which are solved is far too low.

This has got to change. Certainly the very least Texans and other Americans should expect from their government is that they can walk the streets of their own neighborhoods in safety. Certainly the very least they should expect is protection from chronic crime and chronic criminals.

We can start meeting these expectations by taking steps to fashion a system of law enforcement that discourages people from committing crimes. First, we must deal more severely with chronic criminals. There should be mandatory sentences for repeat offenders and the sentences should become harsher with each offense.

In short, those who choose crime as a career should pay the full penalties.

Federal laws should also be changed to impose mandatory criminal penalties for possession of a hand-gun by anyone who used a hand-gun in an earlier crime. I'm not talking about gun control here, but crime control. And this should be part of larger reforms severely punishing all criminals who use guns to commit crimes.

Beyond stiffer penalties for chronic criminals, we must also work to better train and better equip our police forces. We must aim for a more effective use of judges and attorneys. We must begin shaping a truly workable approach to rehabilitation.

Although these are all primary functions of state governments, and should remain so, the Federal government can help. Seven hundred and seventy million dollars is now funneled to police agencies in Texas and other states by the Federal government for law enforcement.

To date, much of this money has gone for newfangled hardware and gadgetry and this is something that should change. More of these funds should be redirected into such things as police training and programs involving the police more deeply in community activities.

Many states could also use help in strengthening other links in their criminal justice system. After all, it does little good for a criminal to be captured quickly when the jail he is kept in is too crowded to hold him, and the trial he's waiting for will be delayed for months because of an equally crowded court docket.

Reforming some of the Federal criminal laws can help in Federal cases, and so can the streamlining of present court procedures.

If this sounds like a massive and wide-reaching undertaking, it is because that is exactly what is needed to reduce crime in our country. That is exactly what must happen before Americans receive the type of protection they are entitled to as law-abiding, tax-paying citizens.

The President has demonstrated his concern by offering a set of proposals intended to deal with the threat of rising crime. I plan to work carefully on his suggestions, and to come up with others, until we have dealt firmly and effectively with this crisis in rising crime.

Mrs. Finnely called on several of us here on Tuesday, she is always welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Moore came on Wednesday and visited me awhile. I am always glad to see them.

Mrs. Joyce Hart and children of near Dallas, are here visiting her mother and grandmother, Mrs. Blackburn and Mrs. Bray who is quite ill.

I hope you will get a blessing and enjoy reading the following little verse as I always have done and do. It is by Esther F. Thom, and follows, it is entitled "I Wonder". "What would happen if each drop of rain refused to fall; or every sunbeam refused to shine because it was too small? What would happen if each day we choose to leave undone an act of kindness just because it was a little one?" Perhaps more than we know a smile or kind word or deed might help someone as they journey along life's pathway, and make their "hill" less hard to climb or their burden or loss much easier to carry. We should all be mindful of our "brother" and stop to help those in need bear their burden. Maybe a smile or kind word would mean much more to those with whom we meet.

Test Utensils For Microwave Cooking

COLLEGE STATION --- Usability of certain pieces of glassware or pottery for microwave cooking can be tested in a simple manner, Mrs. Lillian Chenoweth, family resource management specialist, said this week.

"Place the dish in the oven along with a cup of water in a glass cup. Heat for 15-30 seconds. If the glassware in question has not become warm, it is suitable for microwave use," the specialist with the Texas A&M University System, said. "If the glassware feels warm or hot, it is best not to use in a microwave oven as it will absorb the microwaves. The cup with the water may also feel warm but only because the heated water made it warm."

She explained that repeated usage of unsuitable glassware or pottery may damage the dish as well as slow the cooking process.

Fashion

Something new for the beach is a beach bag that is quite large and has a strap for the shoulder. It can be opened up to make a fair sized beach mat.

Many women who have different measurements for shoulders and hips are finding shops where tops and bottoms for bikinis or for pants suits can be bought as separates. In this way no altering is necessary.

A Weekly Report Of Agri Business News

Compiled From Sources Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

Boom, Boom, Boom . . . Good News For Livestock . . . How Long Will It Last? . . . Milk Production Up and Down.

Although they will fizzle in some parts of the state, crop prospects this July 4 week end should be booming. Cotton planting is finished on the High Plains and harvesting is underway in the Valley; grain sorghum harvest is well underway in South Texas as planting is finished and in the north; prospects for many crops are now the best they've been in years.

If you're going to celebrate July 4 week end this year, plan to make it an all-Texas food affair. You can enjoy peaches produced in Texas; watermelon season is with us; cantaloups are being harvested; and there are plenty of fresh vegetables such as tomatoes, onions, cucumbers, sweet corn, squash, and many others. And be sure to include Texas-produced beef.

Wheat harvest is about half complete; oat harvest is nearing the final stages; peanut planting is nearing completion; and soybean seeding is about finalized.

All in all this July 4 week-end, crops are looking good over most sections of the state.

GOOD NEWS, a thing which has been hard to find in agriculture in the past couple of years, is making inroads in the livestock industry.

Cattle on feed in Texas, as well as the major cattle feeding states, is showing an upward trend. Cattle feeding in the state is up six per cent from a month ago.

Even though the June 1 estimate is 42 per cent below a year ago, cattle feeding has shown a turn-around.

Cattle on feed in Texas as of June 1 totaled 1,128,000 head. Texas cattle feeders placed 288,000 head into their lots during May.

Cattle and calves on feed June 1 in the seven major feeding states totaled 5,841,000 head. Although this is down from a year ago, it is an increase over a month ago. May placements of cattle and calves on feed is up 20 per cent compared to a year ago.

Cattle feeders are showing some profit now. How long will this last? Economists note that more cattle will be coming to market in the months ahead, and this will tend to lower prices to producers later this year.

But for the time being, cattlemen are seeing some signs of improvement in their price situation.

MILK PRODUCTION is having its ups and downs in Texas. During May, milk production in the state was five per cent above last month, but one per cent below a year ago.

Production per cow is the same as last year but is above a month ago. Milk cows on farms are down one per cent from a year ago. Milk cow numbers declined 26,000 from April, the largest month-to-month drop nationwide since the month of January, 1974.

HAVE YOU DONE IT YET? Have you returned your census of agriculture form? About 99,000 Texas farmers have failed to do this, so the Census Bureau is urging you to get the census form completed and returned as soon as possible.

And they emphasize the figures you send in will not be used by an other government agency. Individual reports will be combined into county, state, and national totals.

Cotton Funds Cut

Memphis, Tenn. - (Special) - Although production of adequate food and fiber for domestic and export use has a top national priority, federal funds for agricultural research are being cut, the president of the National Cotton Council declared today.

C. L. Denton, Jr., Denwood, Ark., cotton producer, warned that such cuts are not in keeping with past experience and in the public's interest.

"We recognize the importance of belt-tightening in these days," Denton said. "However, over the years, the nation's investments in research and the extension of technology have paid big dividends for both consumers and farmers."

"Had it not been for these well-conceived research programs, U. S. agriculture's capacity to meet the nation's food and fiber needs today would be highly questionable," the Council president stated.

Congress reduced the 1975 fiscal year executive budget for research by the USDA's Agricultural Research Service by $2 million, and directed that an additional $3 million be diverted into new programs. Thus, the regular research base was reduced by $5 million, not counting the effect of inflation.

Agricultural Research Service recently made the adjustments, and will carry through on 1976 programs unless Congress directs otherwise, Denton explained.

He expressed special concern over the fact that cotton research funds were reduced by more than $500,000. Specific cotton project locations and reductions are as follows: Las Cruces -- diseases, $20,000; Phoenix -- insects, $50,000; growth hormons, $48,000; weeds, $32,000; production, $35,000; Brawley -- aflatoxins, $24,000; insects/population modeling, $24,000; Knoxville -- fiber research, $50,000; Florence, S. C. -- production, $27,000; College Station, Texas -- diseases, $65,000; New Orleans -- cotton blends, $100,000; and Auburn -- mechanization, $34,000.

"These reductions come at a time when cotton needs more, not less, research if it is to remain a viable industry and provide millions of jobs as well as fiber and food products for domestic and export use."

"For example, if producers are to grow adequate supplies, they must have new technology from research to offset rising costs and to make needed gains in production efficiency," Denton said. "In addition, we are especially concerned over the downward trend in cotton research funding despite the unmet needs which have been clearly documented by industry, state, and federal scientists."

He noted that consumers have a dual special interest in cotton because it is a source of both food and fiber.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Gov. Dolph Briscoe's veto of 136 college building projects (which he estimated would cost more than $1 billion) may be the subject of a court case. University of Texas Board of Regents Chairman Allan Shivers said UT regents will defy the veto and go ahead with at least two of the rejected projects. Shivers claims the veto is unconstitutional. He said the attorney general long ago held the governor cannot veto appropriations bill riders which do no call for specific expenditures. The chairman further contends that UT projects will be financed with constitutional funds which cannot be controlled by an act of the legislature.

Briscoe maintains that UT, like other schools, must get College Coordinating Board approval of its construction projects under a new law—or specific legislative approval. He voted the projects, in the first place, because he interpreted them as an effort to bypass the new statute by a subterfuge prior legislative appropriations riders.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock has indicated he will approve none of the UT building project vouchers in controversy without an attorney general's opinion. It has been hinted regents may seek a declaratory judgement in court to uphold their position.

Campaign Begins

Campaign for adoption of the proposed new state constitution November 4 already is shaping up.

Former Texas Supreme Court Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert will lead the drive for voter support.

Top officials who are supporting the new charter include Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, House Speaker Bill Clayton, Atty. Gen. John Hill and Supreme Court Chief Justice Joe Greenhill.

Governor Briscoe did not attend the initial meeting to kick off campaign plans. He made clear later that he has not made up his mind whether or not to support the revision. He has never been a supporter of annual legislative sessions, Briscoe reminded. The new constitution would provide for annual legislative sessions. It also would broaden powers of the governor considerably.

Committee Recesses

A House committee studying possible impeachment proceedings against 229th District Judge O. P. Carrillo recessed until July 9 to allow its staff time to catalogue evidence.

Chairman Rep. De Witt Hale of Corpus Christi said he is hopeful the committee will complete its work and vote on its recommendations by August.

If the committee recommends impeachment, the House will convene three weeks later to hear the case. Should the House vote articles of impeachment, the Senate then must "try" the case. A two-thirds majority would be necessary to impeach.

Courts Speak

The State Supreme Court upheld an intermediate court judgment dissolving an injunction by Judge O. P.

Carillo against oil operations on the Clinton Manges Duval County ranch.

The Court of Criminal Appeals affirmed a life sentence given a Laredo rancher in the 1972 shooting of five Mexican aliens on his ranch.

A $535,866 judgment for a truck driver who was disabled when he ran into a train on a foggy night was upheld by the Supreme Court.

Truckers' $363,646 breach of contract suit verdict against the Houston Chronicle was affirmed by the Supreme Court. At issue was an agreement to transport newspapers.

An Austin district judge stopped Austin and Dallas commercial colleges from enrolling new students until they refund $230,000 in tuitions to former students. The judge also restrained an Indiana truck driving school from violations of the propriety school act.

AG Opinions

Atty. Gen. John Hill held records on suspension or revocation of alcoholic beverage licenses, except those excepted by statute, are public and should be disclosed.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded: Information submitted to the Board of Insurance to fix workmen's compensation coverage rates is public.

An applicant for an occupational driver's license must offer valid proof of having an auto liability insurance policy.

A private club license fee can be paid under protest.

Texas Private Employment Agency Regulatory Board can prescribe fees for private employment agencies where an applicant loses a job found for him in 30 days of employment.

Appointments

Uvalde District Judge Ross E. Doughty was appointed by Governor Briscoe to succeed State Supreme Court Associate Justice Ruel C. Walker who resigned after 21 years' service.

Jack Woodley of Sabinal will replace Doughty as 38th district judge.

Former State Rep. Terry Doyle of Port Arthur was named legal counsel to a special legislative impeachment study panel.

Governor Briscoe named members of the revamped Texas Board of Health Resources and selected Dr. Robert D. Moreton of Houston chairman and William T. Foran of Amarillo, a citizen member, as vice-chairman.

William M. Rugeley of San Marcos was designated by Briscoe to serve as criminal district attorney for Hays County.

Mike F. Frost of McAllen was appointed to the Texas Water Quality Board, succeeding Clyde Johnson of San Antonio, who resigned.

Tom McFarling of Austin is interim Insurance Commissioner.

John H. Garrett of Deer Park was moved to a vacancy on Texas Amusement Machine Commission.

Major Gen. William Aven Harris of San Antonio succeeds Dr. Billy Mac Jones of San Marcos on the Texas Historical Commission.

Short Snorts

Texas Department of Public Safety estimated 54 traffic fatalities over the July 4 weekend.

A major oil, gas and sulphur lease sale by the General Land Office is scheduled for October 7.

More than a third of Texas senators have moved into rented office space in Austin during a renovation of their capitol quarters.

Fourteen planning and service areas in Texas received $1 million for services to the elderly.

Permits to sell $13.4 million in securities in Texas were filed with the State Securities Board last week.

Cattle Price Outlook

COLLEGE STATION -- What's in store for cattlemen as far as prices are concerned for the remainder of 1975? "Although there's optimism in some circles due to current stronger market prices and an increase in cattle feeding, it's a little early for cattlemen to begin cheering," contends Dr.

Ed Uvacek, livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, "in fact, producers may be in for another drop in market prices as the year moves along."

So Uvacek advises cattlemen to market or contract calves early and cull old cows as soon as possible.

What are the reasons for Uvacek's gloomy outlook?

First of all, the supply of grain-fed beef should increase during the second half of the year. Fed cattle marketings are expected to be about 9 per cent larger during the last six months of 1975 than during the first half of the year.

Increased cow liquidations will also boost the total beef supply. Uvacek expects cow slaughter to increase 42 per cent during the last half of 1975 compared to the first six months of the year.

More beef will also result from large kills of non-fed steers and heifers and calves. Slaughter of non-fed steers and heifers is expected to be up 62 per cent during the last half of the year while calf slaughter should be up almost 70 per cent, according to the Texas A&M University System specialist.

"Cow-calf producers are loaded with calves that they will be marketing this summer and fall," points out Uvacek. "Many of them will be moving to feedlots, but the expected overflow is sure to bring feeder prices down."

"All this means a weaker cattle market during the remainder of this year," believes the specialist.

The worker who always has a clean desk arouses our suspicion.

It's very easy for people to persuade themselves that they are being mistreated.

We Americans are entirely too careless; we pay for it with human lives.

3 Accidents Investigated In County

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 3 accidents on rural highways in Bailey County during the month of May, 1975, according to Sergeant Thurman Keffer, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in no persons killed and two persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first five months of 1975 shows a total of 19 accidents resulting in two persons killed and nine persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for the 60 counties of the Lubbock Department of Public Safety Region for May, 1975, shows a total of 524 accidents resulting in 17 persons killed and 310 persons injured as compared to May, 1974, with 406 accidents resulting in 25 persons killed and 218 persons injured. This was 118 more accidents, eight less killed, and 92 more injured in 1975 at the same period of time.

The 17 traffic deaths for the month of May, 1975, occurred in the following counties: one each in Baylor, Parker, Terry, Yoakum, Moore, Swisher; two each in Clay and Armstrong; three in Potter; and four in Wilbarger.

THE SCIENTISTS TELL ME ...

By Robert L. Haney, Science Writer
The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station

Space-Age Cameras Study Human Body Without X-Ray

A "twilight zone-type" camera apparatus has been used for the past 8 years to peer inside astronauts and observe muscle, heart and nutritional changes after space flights. The technique is called stereometric measurement of body volume, and it is so accurate scientists are hoping the process can be used in health-related areas on the local level. Expense is a main blocking agent.

Actually, there is nothing mystical about the new method. It's a real process invented by real engineers that can help determine if you are receiving proper nutrition or if your internal body makeup is forming correctly, no matter what your age.

Besides giving an accurate picture of the interior body, stereometrics is faster than the conventional method of measuring the circumference of limbs, the head, skin folds, etc. and then trying to tally body volume. The new process is more sensitive to nutritional changes than presently used techniques and can accurately, easily and quickly detect certain malformations such as curvature of the spine. If the stereometric process reaches a local physician level, you would stand between two cameras which would produce a 3-dimensional front and rear view called stereopairs. Before, a 3-d observation couldn't be made.

These stereopairs would then be fed into a computer which would draw an outline of your body. The outline would contain a map showing growth of muscles, bone structure and other interior makeup of body volume.

Using this map as a guide, your doctor, along with a biochemist, could observe and treat your interior medical problems as easily as the obvious external ones.

Dr. R. E. Herron of the biostereometrics laboratory at the Baylor College of Medicine in Houston has been principal investigator in studies using the body volume measurement technique. He is working along with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station researchers at the recently established Human Nutrition Center on the Texas A&M University campus

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhill Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm struggles with an idea this week, you might say.

Dear editor: As Calvin Coolidge used to say, the cure for unemployment is more jobs, but of course the rub is, how can you create more jobs?

I have given this some thought and I believe what we need is a sensational new invention that'll take the country by storm. We just can't rely on the old ones anymore. I mean, take cars. Sure, making cars provides a lot of jobs but there's a limit to it, as Detroit is beginning to see. Or take clothes. Changing women's styles every year helps employment in the garment industry, just as convincing men that wide-flared trousers are in right now but narrow ones will be back before the wide ones are worn out. Same thing goes for ties. Also, I've always thought that the plumbers let the economy down when they didn't try to persuade homeowners that styles in bathtubs and other bathroom items should change every spring. Bring out a new model tub every year in different colors and hood design and have people embarrassed to be using last year's model. The piano people made the same mistake. I know people who've had the same piano for 50 years. With violins it's even worse.

But even so, all that wouldn't have been enough. What we need to create more jobs is some brand-new invention people simply can't live without, like television. You know, when television first appeared 90 per cent of the people already had all the time-payments they could handle. They were up to their necks and nobody could imagine how they could take on one more major gadget, yet as everybody knows, 90 per cent of the homes in the country now have television sets, and some have two, especially homes where children are unmanageable and two sets are required if the grown-ups get to watch what they want.

Clearly, the answer to 90 per cent unemployment is some new invention I haven't been able to think up. Oh, I thought of a few like air-conditioned lawnmowers or TV screens as big as one side of a room so you can see the entire football field instead of the rear end of the quarterback, but those are stop-gap half-measures. Not enough universal appeal.

In the mind of some lonely inventor or abstract-minded scientist working late in some laboratory there must be lurking un-born some un-heard-of idea which, once sprung on us, none of us can live without, and the production of which will create thousands and thousands of jobs. Don't worry, we'll find the money to buy it with somehow, and full employment will be at hand.

Has President Ford thought of offering a big prize for such an idea? The election is only about a year away. Yours faithfully, J. A.

in College Station.

A coworker and biochemist, Dr. Roscoe Lewis of A&M, is in charge of the biochemical analysis of nutritional intake after the stereometric process is used. Herron and he are applying their techniques to a research project involving 100 pre-teen girls in the Bryan-College Station area. These girls are representative of the racial distribution and income levels within that area.

In the 5-year study, Lewis and Herron will determine exact nutrition needs of pre-adolescent children.

"By using the stereometric process, we can find out exactly how nutrition is affecting internal growth," Lewis related. "The camera process also gives us a permanent record that we can always refer to."

"Right now stereometrics is so expensive we can only use it at a research level. Hopefully, costs will come down and it will be made available to the general public," Lewis commented.

Stereometrics is just one example of joint research projects going on at the Human Nutrition Center. In the future, with such improved technology, people will be given a chance to live longer, healthier lives.

The Consumer Alert

By John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Home swimming pools used to be within reach of only the wealthy. Now, however, many persons are considering adding a pool as part of a home improvement plan.

Our Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division lawyers caution such persons to consider carefully whether they are willing not only to install a pool, but to maintain it safely. Every family or individual contemplating a home pool should be aware that a certain amount will be needed each year for pool maintenance, whether do-it-yourself or professional.

A swimming pool also demands diligence on the part of the owner to assure that unauthorized and unsupervised use of the pool does not take place.

Once the decision to take on both the fun and the responsibility of owning a home pool is made, there are decisions to be made about pool features. Our Consumer Protection attorneys remind persons installing a pool to check first on any local ordinances and codes for safety requirements.

The U.S. Product Safety Commission recommends that safely constructed home pools have the following: Non-slip materials on pool deck, diving board, and ladders. Pool steps should be three inches wide, ladder rails should be small enough for a child to grasp, and there should be a ladder at each end of the pool.

A licensed electrician should install any electrical equipment, and ground-fault circuit interrupters are strongly recommended.

If diving board or slide are desired, the pool should be deep enough for them, and the slide should always be in the deep part. Water depths should be clearly marked and a safety float line used to show where the bottom slope deepens.

All sides of the pool should be enclosed by a six-foot hard-to-climb fence with a locked gate. A side of the house should not be used as part of the fence, since a small child could wander out a door or window.

If an above-ground pool is installed, it should have no sharp edges or protruding bolts. The access ladder should either swing up or be removable, so unauthorized persons cannot enter the pool.

Once pool features have been chosen, it's time to select a contractor. The summer season has already brought consumer complaints about a few unscrupulous pool contractors to our attention, so it is very important to be cautious when selecting one to build your pool. Our attorneys recommend that you get three bids from different contractors and check with persons who have employed them to see if work was satisfactory.

Then get a written estimate of the cost, and think over the deal a day or so before deciding.

Avoid by all means any contractor who resorts to such deceptive trade practices as "bait and switch" selling, misleading "special demonstrator" prices, or "referral" selling, all of which are against the law.

When you've selected a contractor, get a contract that spells out what is to be done, what kind of materials will be used, when work will start and end, and the total price. You may want to have an attorney look over the contract before you sign, but be sure to get a copy for your files.

Let's Keep George in

Let's keep this face in our place! When you stop to analyze what happens to your 'shopping dollar', you'll know that - when you spend it at home, it helps everyone in the community. Your local merchant is your friend, and he wants your business.

He supports the local economic necessities. He pays taxes that support the city, his payroll adds dollars to the local economy... plus, all the charities and contributions he provides to support the advancement of "your town".

Yes, you do get 'more for your money' at home. No need to drive all around, when you can find what you want - right here!

Your local merchant cares! He wants your business, so doesn't it make good sense to 'Keep George At Home'?

On Wall Street
By Bob Hill
Lentz, Newton & Co.

One of the dangers which comes with good news of a temporary nature is that it isn't identified as being of a temporary nature. The result is a false sense of security of prosperity which results from being lulled into complacency when the good news isn't identified as temporary only.
This week a sharp improvement in the U. S. balance of payments was announced--from a deficit of $6.6 billion in the last quarter of 1974 to a first-quarter deficit of only $500 million. The surprisingly strong showing was a result of both strong trade activities and continued large investments in the U. S. by the oil producing countries.
However, there is no room for comfort or complacency in the numbers recently reported. The OPEC nations plan another boost in the price of oil and this could substantially cool off business recoveries in several of the industrialized nations as well as kick the inflation rate above 10% in less than 12 months. Over half of the inflation pains suffered by many countries were a direct result of the jump in oil prices.
Continued hikes in oil prices could set off a major worldwide recession. The third world (developing) countries have used up the reserves of foreign currencies they built up by selling raw materials at high prices during the commodity boom. Many of these countries are in hock up to their necks and are no longer in a position to continue purchasing machinery, farm equipment and other goods. Thus, the trend toward high exports by the U. S. and other manufacturing countries will begin to taper off and drop sharply in the second half of 1975. The Agriculture Dept. estimates that farm exports will slide $4 billion in fiscal 1976.

Thrips Attack Grain Sorgham

The greenbug and banks grass mite, major pests of sorghum, may cause damage at any time.
Thrips are a less spectacular pest, but with the right conditions can severely damage young grain sorghum plants, according to N. E. Daniels, Entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Bushland. They migrate from maturing wheat to emerging sorghum plants in adjacent fields. Thrips range up to one-sixteenth of an inch but are slender and difficult to see.
These pests injure plants with mouth parts that enable them to rasp through leaf surfaces, suck juice, and destroy cell tissue. Heavy populations kill all leaves and very small plants die. Brown leaves on young plants are a good indication that damaging numbers of thrips are present.

Conditions were favorable and thrips became numerous on seeding grain sorghum in 1973. In order to develop control measures, Daniels sprayed several insecticides on infested sorghum at the USDA Research Center at Bushland. Azodrin, dimethoate, meta systox R, carbofuran, lannate and parathion each gave effective control. Grain yields were not reduced if thrips were controlled with insecticides on sorghum plants less than 3 inches tall. Thrips infesting sorghum larger than 3 inches did not reduce grain yield nor require control measures. "Thrips won't hit sorghum every year, but careful checking and insecticide treatment, if necessary, may save the cost of replanting" Daniels stated.

Outdoors in Texas Presented By GIBSON'S
Boat owners of Texas... Look Out!! You could be facing one of the largest tax bites ever. If some Washington legislators have their way, and bill HR 5005 is approved, a 20% Excise Tax will be placed on motorboat engines and replacement parts. The tax is contained in the Energy Conservation and Conversion Acts of 1975. However, the facts about pleasure boat gas usage don't lie... Boats use only 1/2 of 1 percent of the gas burned in the U.S. Not much of a savings, but look at the injustice to the sportsman. Everyone today should be fuel conscious but this bill will cripple, if not kill the massive boating industry. The cure would be worse than the illness. Write your representatives in Washington, D.C., 20515 or your Senator at Zip Code 20510.
Tip Of The Week: Gun thefts in Texas are on the increase. Record all serial numbers of your guns for easy identification in case your guns are stolen and recovered.
