

CALLAHAN COUNTY GETS FIRST RELIEF FUND CHECK

Callahan County was one among the 24 counties in this section to receive funds from the Federal Relief Fund last Saturday at the conference held in Abilene, at which Callahan county was represented by Judge J. H. Carpenter, County Commissioners J. H. Hammons, of Baird; S. S. Harville, Oplin; C. E. Bray, Putnam and G. H. Clifton, Cottonwood; Mayor H. Schwartz, Judge B. L. Russell and Ace Hickman, of Baird; R. D. Williams and Gus Branden, Putnam and Mr. Pratt of Cross Plains.

The amount of the check received by Callahan County was $2,853.02, which will be divided between the four Commissioners precincts as follows: Precinct No. 1, $856.52; Precinct No. 2, $570.00; Precinct No. 3, $713.25; Precinct No. 4, $713.25.

Distribution of the money to the counties was made by D. A. Branden, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, who is handling this work. The allotment received Saturday covers November needs and on December 1st checks for similar funds will be issued for the month of December, thus giving Callahan a sum of $5,706.04 to be used for relief by giving work to the unemployed during these two months. This money is to be used in paying for labor on the roads of the county. The money will be spent where most needed under the direction of the County Commissioners and a Relief Committee composed of two men in each Commissioners Precinct who will serve with no pay for their services, all being glad to do their bit in relieving the depressed financial condition of the people by giving work to the unemployed and thus enabling them to supply their needs.

At the conclusion of the meeting in Abilene Saturday afternoon Judge B. L. Russell of Baird made a motion that the assembly give a vote of confidence and appreciation to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for its efforts in the behalf of communities with pressed relief problems. Judge Russell's motion was seconded by W. A. Smith, newspaper man of San Saba and the motion carried in a rousing chorus of ayes.

Boy Convicted Here Is Fugitive From Connecticut Officers

Identification of a 19-year-old youth held at Baird under 3 year sentence for burglary, as one of four men who figured recently in a sensational jail break at Litchfield, Conn., has been established by means of fingerprints and photographs.

The man is Harry Curtiss of Torrington, Conn., said by Connecticut authorities to be a member of the notorious McCaul gang whose members ransacked roadside stands and stores before being captured.

A $100 reward for his arrest, offered by the sheriff of Litchfield county, will be forthcoming for the Callahan county sheriff's department.

Curtiss, alias Harry Britton, received the three-year sentence here Tuesday of last week, upon a plea of guilty before Judge M. S. Long in 42nd district court, to charge of burglarizing the Clyde Mercantile company store at Clyde, early this month. With a companion, charged at Baird under the name of Bill Cook, Curtiss was arrested at Baird by Bob Tollett and W. R. Ray, deputy sheriffs, a few hours after the Clyde burglary, committed at night.

Ray, nightwatchman at Clyde, surprised two men in the act of the burglary. They fled, leaving discarded clothing on the floor of the store. When Curtiss and Cook were arrested at Baird, at an early morning hour, they were outfitted in new clothing identified as stock taken from the Clyde store.

Curtiss was indicted here under the Britton alias. Fingerprints and photographs, made by R. T. Redies, of the police department of Abilene, November 6, and sent to the department of Justice at Washington led to the identification.

Department of justice record on Curtiss, in the hands of Sheriff Edwards, states he was bound over to the superior court from Thomaston, Conn., for theft, at the time of the tember 1, 1932.

A partial report of the Litchfield jail break follows:

"Curtiss and three companions sawed bars in the early morning of September 1, and dodging a heavy police cordon thrown about the country territory, made for their freedom. Blades with which they sawed the iron bars had been smuggled into the jail in bananas. The quartet broke into stores, obtained food and clothing, and finally stole an automobile in which they made temporary escape. Two of the men were later arrested. Pohn Woods, 22, of Thomaston, Conn., is still at liberty.

"Fully 100 deputy sheriffs state troopers and city police officers joined in the initial search for the escaped prisoners.

"Surprised in the act of burglarizing a food and clothing store, the four men fled in the stolen automobile, and were pursued by officers. Leaping from the car in a heavily wooded area, Curtiss and Woods dashed through a ravine and concealed themselves for two days in the timbers. Later they escaped in another automobile, which was found abandoned in New York."

Cook, who also entered a plea of guilty to the Clyde burglary indictment, has not been sentenced. Judge Long is awaiting investigations now being made by officers of Callahan and Taylor counties.

Mrs. Iverson was born in Moody, Texas, Oct. 22, 1891. She was married to A. O. Iverson May 14, 1819, who with four sons and a daughter survive her. Mullican and three sisters: Miss Catherine Mullican, of Baird; Mrs. J. B. Whalen of Wink; and Mrs. J. B. Stinson of Big Spring.

Mrs. Iverson was a devoted Christian, a member of the Methodist Church since childhood. She was a loving and devoted daughter, wife and mother and her death has brought sorrow to many loved ones. We tender sincere sympathy to all the bereaved ones, especially the children, who in their tender years have been deprived of their mother whose loving and tender care they will miss so sadly.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Whalen and Mr. and Mrs. Stinson and families were here for the funeral.

Mr. Iverson and the children accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Whalen home and will for the present remain there.

Polecat Invades Telephone Office

A polecat in the telephone office Monday morning made things rather lively for a short while. It was found on the stairway at an early hour and for a time was unmoled as Mrs. Driekill the night operator and Miss Reba Dix the day operator came to and from the building by the back stairway. A. T. Vestal, Jr., undertook the job of getting the unwelcome visitor out of the building and in the melee some one opened the door to the office and his catnip immediately took advantage of a place of refuge under Mr. Yarbrough's desk where it was finally shot by A. T. and it is needless to say that the telephone office has had very few visitors the past few days.

The polecat was an unusually large one, and the pelt which is beautiful, was saved by A. T. Vestal, Jr.

SWIFT & CO USE MORE THAN 1000 CHEVROLET CARS, TRUCKS

An example of how American business organizations are maintaining their service at a high standard of efficiency despite general business conditions is shown in the purchase by Swift & Co. of more than 1000 new Chevrolet Six cars and trucks for the twelve months period ending Oct. 1. These Chevrolets, relivity of which were made throughout the year, are being used in every state in the union at the various Swift branches and subsidiary companies to expedite delivery of the company's numerous food products.

At present there are approximately 2,500 Chevrolets in the fleet equipment of Swift and Company. This ranks them as one of the largest operators of Chevrolet fleets in the United States.

Lee Haley, who has been ill for some months, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. James Ross in north Baird at an early hour Saturday morning. The remains were taken in charge by W. O. Wylie, undertakers, and prepared for burial after which it was carried to the home of his brother, Earl Haley to await the funeral hour the cortege leaving the home at 12 noon Sunday for Cross Plains, the home of the Haley family for many years, where the funeral was held at two o'clock at the Baptist Church services being conducted by Rev. Graves Darby, the pastor, assisted by Rev. Joe R. Mayes, pastor of the Baird Baptist Church, after which interment was made in the Cross Plains cemetery.

Haley and Earl Haley, of Baird; Ray Haley, of Cisco Carl Haley, of Big Spring, survive him.

Lee Haley was a young man who made many friends, during his short sojourn on earth, as was attested by the hundreds who stood at the grave side Sunday to pay a last tribute of respect. He had been in ill health for some months and everything possible was done to restore him to health and for a time he seemingly was improving, but some two weeks before his death he became so much worse that his loved ones knew that the end was near and that all they could do was make his last hours as comfortable as possible.

District Court Will Adjourn Saturday

District Court will adjourn Saturday for the term.

The court convened Monday morning. The cases of S. F. Bond, of Cross Plains, former vice-president of the Farmer's National Bank, of that city now in liquidation and R. B. McGowen, former treasurer of the City of Cross Plains, which were set for trial Monday, were continued on motion of defense attorneys.

Indictments were returned November 4, charging Bond with swindling R. W. and C. F. McNeel, bank depositors, in the amount of 8,000, and McGowen with embezzlement of $1,000 of Cross Plains city funds.

Dallas Scarbrough of defense counsel said continuance was sought in order that an audit of books in the McGowen case might be completed before the trial.

Both Bond and McGowen are represented by Scarbrough, Ely and King of Abilene and Russell and Russell of Baird.

After disposition of the Bond-McGowen cases, Judge Clyde Grissom of Haskell, presided for Judge M. S. Long for hearing of a plea of privilege in the case of Roy Guffey against the Samuel Investment corporation. Judge Long was recused in the case.

Guffey is suing the corporation for approximately $30,000 in connection with asserted contracts for financing a gas distribution franchise in Abilene. The plea of privilege was sustained and the case transferred to Dallas district court.

Guffey was represented by Henry L. DeBusk of Abilene.

After the hearing of a number of civil cases, the jury for the week was discharged and court adjourned until today.

Thanksgiving in Baird

Thanksgiving was quietly observed in Baird; most all business houses were closed.

In the forenoon a large crowd was here to witness the football game between Baird and Clyde.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the Ladies' Bible Study Club held services at the Presbyterian Church, where a splendid program was presented.

The Baird Public School closed Wednesday afternoon for the Thanksgiving holidays. Some of the teachers were going to their homes and others were to attend the State Teachers Convention at Fort Worth.

Barn Burns On Berry Farm

A large barn on Mrs. M. C. Berry's farm south west of Baird, burned Tuesday night.

It is reported that several hundred bushels of feed, all harness, saddles and a car was destroyed by the fire. We did not learn the origin of the fire or the amount of the damage.

Miss Samaria Fay Grimes, teacher in the Baird Grammar School, who has been quite ill for the past three weeks is reported some better.

Miss Nancy Cutbirth, a senior in Baird High School spent the Thanksgiving holidays at her home at Dudley.

Miss Ethlyn Clark, is spending the Thanksgiving holidays with her parents in Abilene.

Baird High School downed the Clyde Bulldogs here yesterday morning in their annual Thanksgiving day tussle. The two teams were as evenly matched as they were ever known to be since the beginning of their football career.

The two out standing yard gainers for Baird were Judson Atchison and Alvin Chrisman. Neal Stanley came in pretty handy on catching passes and on defense work. The team as a whole played a wonderful game.

For Clyde, Pete Tyler and Rhodes were the leaders in their ball advancing department. Malfers played a wonderful defensive game also. Their line was successful in stopping Baird's power plays.

Baird's touchdown came in the third quarter after Clyde's safety man fumbled a kick and Baird recovered. They were successful in putting the ball over when Atchison darted around Clyde's left end for the counter. The point came when Malfers was off sides on the try for point.

Clyde's tally came when Tyler completed a forty-five yard run around right end and then slipped through the line for the counter.

SYNOPSIS: In scrimmage, Clyde carried the ball 51 times for 139 yards, made 9 first downs, received 30 yard penalties, yards lost was ten. They punted 11 times for 363 yards. In passing they tried 13 passes, 6 incomplete, 3 intercepted and 4 complete for 48 yards.

FOR BAIRD: In scrimmage they carried the ball 52 times for 147 yards, lost 18 yards in scrimmage, made 9 first downs. They drew 35 yards in penalties, punted 11 times for 337 yards. Baird threw 14 passes, 11 were incomplete, 1 intercepted, 2 complete for 55 yards.

League Football Party

The Epworth League was entertained football fashion last Friday night in the basement of the Methodist church. As it was just before the last game of the season—with Clyde—the Clyde and Baird color scheme was carried out.

As the young people gathered they found Baird and Clyde banners waving in the doorways and on the walls. After a few high school songs and yells the group was called to order and told that they were to do as the referee, Miss Burma Warren, directed. Grace Evans, dressed in red and white acted as the Baird captain and choose her players and Leota Alexander, dressed in yellow and black, acted as Clyde captain and choose her players. Each captain gave each player a tiny football with his colors on it.

Everyone enjoyed the football games that followed, which included helmets, forward pass and several others, then the group went into a business meeting and the election of new officers. During this time we ate—pumpkin pie, whipped cream and coffee.

The following officers were elected: President, Cahal Clinton; Vice President, L. C. Duncan; Secretary, Leota Alexander; Treasurer, Russell Warren; Reporter, Juanita Duncan; Social Service Chairman, Grace Evans; Mission Service Chairman, Burma Warren; Recreation and Entertainment, Mrs. S. E. Alexander; Adult Concliser, Mrs. V. E. Hill.

Come on young people and help us win that banner again when we go to District Meet. We are doing a good work, but we need you to help us put it over.

Reporter.

Saracens in History

The Saracens were a people mentioned by Ammianus Marcellinus as inhabiting the northern district of Arabia Felix. At the period of the Crusades the term was employed to designate all infidel nations against which crusades were preached, and in course of time it became the generic name of all Arabian tribes who embraced Mohammedanism and extended their conquests to Asia and Africa.

Better for Baby

THE most careful mother cannot strain her baby's first cereal feedings as finely as the commercial canners. A new product, Strained Cereal, has just been put on the market by one of the most prominent canners of strained baby foods, and the strainers used have openings of about one-fourth to one-fifth the area of the holes in the ordinary wire strainer used in the home. Finally Ground.

This cereal mixture of whole wheat, hulled oats and additional wheat germ is finely ground to make it suitable for baby's sensitive digestive tract, and then cooked in whole fresh milk instead of water, and the mixture strained to remove the larger particles of bran. This process means that the nutritive values in the bran or outer layer have been extracted from the entire wheat grain before straining.

For baby's first cereal feeding, this Strained Cereal in most cases is of ideal consistency as it comes from the can. Where desirable to feed with the bottle, it can be readily diluted with milk or water. Its smooth, even consistency is maintained with no lumping or other difficulty when liquid is added, and no further cooking is necessary in either case.

No salt or sugar is added in canning this Strained Cereal in order that the mother can season as the baby's doctor directs. The product can just be poured into a sauce pan, warmed to the desired feeding temperature, and salt or sugar added as the doctor advises. Be sure always to feed your baby strictly according to the doctor's directions.*

LET'S COUNT THE BLESSINGS

The institution of our American Thanksgiving Day dates back almost to the beginnings of the settlement of North America by newcomers from Europe. The first Thanksgiving Day was celebrated by the Pilgrims in 1623. After a day of prayer and fasting the Pilgrims feasted and gave thanks to Almighty God for the bountiful harvest which enabled them to look forward to a winter of ample food.

All of the New England colonies and some of the others continued this custom of an annual day of thanksgiving, and in his first year as the first President of the United States of America George Washington himself made Thanksgiving Day a national feast by proclaiming Thursday, November 26, 1789, as the day for its celebration.

There has never been a day since, in spite of wars, internal stress and calamity in which we, the people of the United States of America, have not had genuine occasion to give thanks for blessings received. For in spite of all that has occurred in our history the American spirit has never daunted and we have grown steadily in spiritual strength.

In this year of 1932 we see many things to be thankful for. We have come through the three most trying years we have experienced in more than half a century. We have come through them safely, with far less suffering, far less permanent injury to our national institutions and our national welfare than have any other people of the world. On every hand there is evidence so plain that all can see that the worst is past, and that we are coming again into material prosperity with renewed courage and with our national moral still unshaken.

That, it seems to us is sufficient reason why Thanksgiving Day this year should be more than a mere holiday, why it should be a day upon which every American should actually give thanks to the God he worships for having led us safely through the slough of despondency to the verge of the promised land again.

IN PURITAN DAYS

Some interesting facts concerning the life of New England Puritans immediately after the Revolution are related by Arthur Train in his "Puritan's Progress," written after extensive research into old town records, newspapers, letters and other early documents.

There were few roads and no good ones, so most journeys were made on horseback. The first systematic stage route between New York and Boston began operation in 1783, the trip taking from eight to ten days. Relatives living only ten miles apart sometimes visited one another only once or twice a year.

There were no hospitals or trained nurses, no anesthetics, no vaccination against smallpox, which caused countless deaths. The hour-glass was still used as a timepiece, fires were lit with flint and steel. If teeth were given attention it was by rubbing with gunpowder applied with a wooden stick.

While gambling with cards and lotteries prevailed generally, theatrical performances were unlawful, and so was kissing on Sunday, even by husband and wife. An official made his rounds on Sunday to see that every one went to church. In the few schools which existed the Bible was the principal textbook. Harvard students had to get up for chapel at six, and retired when the curfew rang at nine. They had to call at the kitchen for their bread and milk, which was eaten in their rooms, in which no lights were allowed.

Women usually married young and died young, the average family being nine or ten, with twenty or more children not unusual, but about half of them died before maturity. And considering the hard conditions under which they would have been forced to live, those who died early may have been lucky at that.

Red Cross flour from Government wheat, voted by Congress, was distributed in more than five-sixths of America's counties, through Red Cross Chapters.

This Week In Washington

Whatever legislation Congress takes in hand first when it reassembles next month, the most exciting news for a few days will be the reorganization of the two Houses, particularly the Senate which has "changed hands." Then will follow speculation regarding the changes to follow among the political job-holders a few weeks later when President-elect Roosevelt is sworn in.

Not in twelve years will there be such a wholesale redistribution of offices and it is likely that nearly 150,000 new faces will be seen in the Federal Civil Service by the time the Democrats get through changing Republican job-holders to Democrats. It is not unlikely that many Republican jobs will be saved in the territories where the Progressives threw their weight for Mr. Roosevelt. The Government report shows that two years ago the total of those holding civil service jobs in the Federal service totaled 616,837. Of this number there were 468,050 who are in the Classified Civil Service and, as such, not subject to removal by the incoming Administration.

Under three rules that governed some fifty years ago, no fewer than half a million Federal employees would be due for removal. In 1883 President Grover Cleveland first caused the Civil Service Act to be passed by Congress and he gave the enactment teeth by naming as the first Commissioner a young man named Theodore Roosevelt. While thousands of positions were removed from the zone of party strife by these two men, yet it took the years since to close the gap so that today less than one-fourth of all Government employees are liable to dismissal as a result of an upset in political parties.

Practically everybody in this city under the grade of Bureau Chief is safe from being dropped but it is figured that about five thousand, or possibly double that number may be fired after next March. Most of those destined to be replaced are the heads of the many departments whose headquarters are located in the nation's capital. Each chief will carry, in his down fall, his own personal forces. Then the two Houses have hundreds of employees who are not protected by the civil service. With the Democrats possessing tremendous majority in both Houses it is certain that many employees will be fired, although in recent years there has been a growing custom to retain the more efficient workers, no matter what their party politics happen to be. An efficient Republican clerk can be of much greater benefit to a Democratic Representative than a man who is densely ignorant of the ropes, is generally expressed thought here.

Partisan politics nowadays is vastly different to what it used to be in Andy Jackson's time, when the cry was always "turn the rascals out." In the past campaign neither party intimated that any of its opponents were rascals. This spirit results in a forbearance when the time comes to garner the spoils. One hundred years ago politicians openly declared that "To the victor belongs the spoils," but modern efficiency has ruined that slogan and President Roosevelt, it is said, can be relied upon to see that no important cogs in the governmental machinery are lost through the mere desire to reward a party worker.

Naturally, all the Cabinet positions will be filled with new men. Perhaps the only sure prediction that can be made right now, observers here declare, is that James A. Farley, head of the Democratic National Committee will be rewarded for his splendid work on Mr. Roosevelt's behalf by being named Postmaster General. Three recent Postmasters General won their appointments by winning a Presidential campaign, Will H. Hayes, Hubert Worw and Harry S. New. As the greatest number of vacancies will occur in the post offices, it is obviously good party politics to name the campaign manager for that post. Most of the postoffices in the country under the first and second classes are now protected by the Classified Civil Service Act so that postal appointments will not be so many as in the good old days. Nearly all the old-timers here feel certain that Norman H. Davis will be chosen Secretary of State. They are also fairly sure that Owen D. Young will be named Secretary of the Treasury, especially since William Gibbs McAdoo, who was President Wilson's Secretary of the Treasury, has virtually removed himself from further consideration by winning the Senatorial race in his home state, California. Had the race gone against him it is fair to presume, declares Washington, that he would have been reinstated in his old office.

One surprise, to most of those who noted the interest that, Newton D. Baker, President Wilson's Secretary of War, took in the recent election, is that he is not being picked by the unofficial slate-makers for a Cabinet post. Instead they are predicting that Mr. Baker will be named for the first vacancy on the Supreme Court Bench, a position so exalted that President Taft felt no loss of dignity in taking his seat there after serving the nation as its Chief Executive.

Chisholm Trail Boy Scout Council

With a budget of only $3,500, the lowest in the history of the Council, the Chisholm Trail Council, Boy Scouts of America, is now entering into a program destined to be the most progressive step ever undertaken by a social service organization.

The Chisholm Trail Council includes the counties of Haskell, Taylor, Callahan, Shackelford, Coleman, Jones and Runnels. The Council employs a trained Scout Executive whose duties are to give leadership to the Scout program in the entire seven counties.

Out of the amount of the budget $3500 is paid the salary of the Scout Executive $166 monthly, the office secretary, telephone, office supplies, postage transportation and miscellaneous.

The total amount of the budget must be raised this year and it is hoped that additional funds will be forthcoming to enable the Executive Board of the Chisholm Trail Council to enter 1933 with adequate finances to carry on the new Ten Year Program, which is a program to reach and enroll in Scouting one of every four twelve year old boys in America. Scouting is non-secretarian, but truly religious.

Non-military, but truly patriotic. Non-political but essentially civic. Recently a prominent law official said: "During my term of office we have never arrested a boy who was a Boy Scout."

Scouting is a new philosophy of the out-of-doors devoted to keeping and holding the imagination of youth for character building processes. Character building is the basic service in the welfare program. This fall more than ever before in American experience the truest need will be for money to maintain and enlarge character building and health agencies.

Ed Shumway, Boy Scout Executive of the Chisholm Trail Council writes, "The Chisholm Trail Council program must carry on and the only way it can be carried on is through financial support from every city in the Council."

America is challenged with the Ten Year Program of Growth. This program will insure more participating citizens, less violation of law, and more unselfish service for others.

One of every six boys in America, since Scouting in the U. S. was inaugurated twenty-two years ago is or has been a scout.

The challenge of the Ten Year Program of Growth is the challenge to every city in the Chisholm Trail Council to support the program with considerable man power and adequate finances.

One Boy's Club is better than a dozen policeman's clubs.

Mr. Minor Huffman, Deputy Regional Executive, Boy Scouts of America who recently spent two weeks in the Chisholm Trail Council Boy Scouts of America and among the cities visited, said, "The territory of the Chisholm Council is one of the best and affords a wonderful opportunity for progressive building. Every city in this council is cooperating 100 percent and the council is developing real area consciousness."

During the past two weeks Mr. Huffman and Executive Shumway have met with committees in Haskell, Aron, Stamford Winters and Tuscola and excellent progress is manifest.

Mr. Shumway states that the Chisholm Council expects to be one of the leading scout cities in the Chisholm Trail Council.

The Ten Year Program of Growth will necessitate the enrolling one of every twelve year old boys in the city, this number plus Scouts 12 years of age will give this city the largest number of scouts in the history of Scouting in our city.

Local Scouts will hold a Court of Honor Friday night, November 25, as one feature of the 1932 Achievement Award which introduces the Ten Year Program of the Boy Scouts of America. Award all troops in the Chisholm

Trail Council must attend the November 25 Court and must have present a sufficient number of parents or adults equal to 50 percent of the active membership of the troop as of September 15, 1932.

WEST TEXAS—"Raw Materials Capitol"—

Offers Immense Industrial Opportunities

It has been the history of West Texas that after every national depression this section returns to normal—and marches ahead to greater prosperity—more rapidly than any other section of the country.

Present fundamental conditions are sound, and West Texas' wealth of natural resources—unsurpassed in any other part of the country—promise future progress of a magnitude that will dwarf that sensational development which a few short years ago riveted on this section the attention of the entire nation!

AND ALERT INDUSTRIES ARE TAKING ADVANTAGE OF THIS ASSURED DEVELOPMENT!

An adequate, flexible and inexpensive power supply is vital to industrial activity. Here in West Texas, the "Land of Opportunity", this industrial necessity is ably and amply supplied by the West Texas Utilities Company.

Industries recognize power as one of their prime problems. They recognize, too, that in West Texas this company has solved that problem by making their power investment for them—and is able to furnish energy at a lower cost than it could be produced in any other manner.

The West Texas Utilities Company, dependably serving 125 progressive West Texas cities, makes available more than 100,000 horsepower of electrical energy, distributed from three major generating stations and 22 auxiliary plants over a 2,500-mile transmission line network.

With Baird Baptist

Many of our folks attended the convention last week and we could teell the spiritual uplift in the services Sunday.

The service was splendid and we made some good advancement, one addition. We have not failed for several Sundays now to have additions and we surely are glad to have them come. There are several more yet who should and we are hoping and praying that they will join with us soon.

Next Sunday morning I will preach on "Winning the Battle For Christ." That sounds like a migtry good tonic and it really is better than it sounds, for it tells you how and at the same time gives you inspiration to go and do the thing. All are invited to worship with us Sunday night. My subject will be "The Inspiration of The Bible." Now if you doubt the inspiration of the Scriptures, then I bid you come and hear what the Bible has to say about it. I am a firm believer in these old fashioned doctrines and I want us to study them and know for ourselves what the teachings of the Bible is concerning them.

Come with us friends, we need you, and whether you believe it or not, you need us.

Sincerely yours,
Joe R. Mayes.

TO SANTA CLAUS

Dearest Santa:
Sure hope I get to see you this year. Last year I waited and waited for you, jus' got so sleepy, jus' had to go to bed, but the next morning when I awoke, I found you had visited me and had been awfully nice.

This year I want a cowboy suit, all trimmed up in red corduroy; a pair of boots; a cap pistol and jus' lots and lots of caps, for I surely do enjoy shooting 'em; and a football. And Santa, I still like candy, fruit and nuts as much as I did last year. Remember?

The chimney there at Granddad's is awfully narrow, 'fraid you'd get hurt if you tried coming down it, so I'll leave the front door unlocked and you'll find my tree in its usual place. Don't forget all the other little boys and girls.

GILLILAND'S

Better Breakfasts

With the first tingling days of fall your mind turns back momentarily to those sunshiny days of summer during which you had such a good time. It looks forward eagerly to winter, too, with its bracing winds and vigorous sports, but there is just a wee tinge of regret for the fading joys of summer. All this is true, of course, only if you are the sort of person who starts the day right with a "better breakfast."

So here is a better breakfast suggested for fall that has plenty of fruit in it, sweets to sustain you, and a reminiscent suggestion of sunshiny summer days in the pineapple from far away sun-soaked Hawaii:

Baked Prunes with Lemon Peel
Boiled or Steamed Rice with
Crated Maple Sugar
Pineapple Breakfast Cake
Coffee

The preparation of this breakfast is all plain sailing except for the pineapple breakfast cake. This is not difficult to make and here's the way to do it:

You'll Want a Lot

Pineapple Breakfast Cake: Sift together one cup flour, one-eighth teaspoon salt, two teaspoons baking powder and one tablespoon sugar, and cut or rub in three tablespoons shortening. Add one well-beaten egg and two table-spoons milk, and pat out into a round greased tin. Drain thoroughly the contents of an 8-ounce can of crushed Hawaiian pineapple, and spread over the top. Sprinkle with one-half cup brown sugar, and dot with butter. Bake in a hot—400 degree—oven for fifteen to twenty minutes, and serve hot. Serves four to six, but more likely four.*

Prevalent Unbelief
A lecturer says that mothers find it difficult to get modern children to believe fairy stories. Fathers are often faced with a similar difficulty in the case of modern mothers.—The Humorist (London).

Also Ran
A Canadian who suffered partial loss of vision as the result of a lacrosse accident forty-five years ago suddenly had it restored to him at a race track, but the incident is not without precedent. Numerous others have had their eyes opened at the same place.—Los Angeles Times.

Old Phrase
"King's English," meaning the English language as it should be spoken, is a very old phrase. Who originated it is not known for certain. Shakespeare used it in the "Merry Wives of Windsor," but it is supposed that it was old already then. "Queen's English" is used in the same sense.

Chinese First in Field
The Chinese were the first to conceive the idea of the printed daily newspaper, according to Doctor Berthold Laufer, curator at the Field museum, Chicago. There was a paper known as the Peking Gazette which made its appearance 713 A. D., and was issued daily until 1911, when the Manchu dynasty collapsed.

Historic Beauty
Sophie de Witt, Countess Potocka, was a famous beauty, known chiefly from Anton Graff's pastel portrait of her made in Berlin, where she lived for some time and where she died. She was the daughter of a Greek ship-maker of Constantinople. She married a Russian general and, after her divorce from him, married Count Stanislas Felix Potocki.

Lee's Memory Honored
Robert E. Lee's mausoleum and recumbent statue by E. V. Valentine is at Washington and Lee university Lexington, Va., where he died. A statue by Rudolph Evans is in the Virginia state capitol at Richmond. His birthplace at Stratford, Va., has been made into a memorial shrine, while his former home at Arlington is also regarded by many as a memorial of him.

Wonderful Bird Flights
The bi-annual flight of the chunky bob-o-link across 700 miles of the Caribbean sea is a remarkable performance. It is only matched, perhaps, by those of the larger plover and the tern. The first flies 2,400 miles without a stop from Nova Scotia to South America, while the second commutes between the Arctic and Antarctic ice, making an estimated 22,000 miles a year.

Europe's Concerted Move for War Debt Cancellation—Hoover and Roosevelt to Confer—Diversion of Colorado River Completed.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

SIR RONALD LINDSAY, British ambassador to Washington, handed to Secretary of State Stimson his government's request that the United States agree to a re-consideration and modification of the war debts agreements under which European powers are obligated to pay this country eleven billion dollars in principal and ten billions in interest during the next 58 years. The French ambassador followed with an almost identical request on behalf of France, and two days later Belgium asked the same thing. The three powers asked suspension of all war debt installments, including those due December 15, pending the outcome of the discussions suggested.

Receiving notice of this action while on his way from California to Washington, President Hoover immediately informed President-Elect Roosevelt of the development and invited him to a conference at the White House, suggesting that he bring with him the Democratic leaders of congress and any other advisers he might select. He told Governor Roosevelt he was loath to proceed in the matter with recommendations to congress until he had conferred with him, since any settlement of the debt problem must be the result of protracted negotiations that would reach beyond the remaining days of his administration. The President's plan seemed fair enough, but Mr. Roosevelt accepted it only "in principle," saying he would be glad to meet with Mr. Hoover and go over the situation but asking that the meeting be "wholly informal and personal." He added that the European notes create a responsibility "which rests upon those now vested with executive and legislative authority." Thus it was made evident Governor Roosevelt has no intention of shouldering any responsibility ahead of time.

ONE thing that is fairly certain is that Europe's concerted move for revision of the war debts, and cancellation if possible, will not be successful with the short session of congress that opens in December. Not one of the senators and representatives in Washington was in favor of granting the concessions asked, so the prospect was that the debtor nations would either have to pay the December installments or default. The British installment is $5, the French 20 millions, and the Belgian two millions. It was felt certain that Great Britain would pay if necessary.

Governor Roosevelt, according to Democratic leaders, is opposed to any reduction of the debts; but he thinks payment could be made easier through an economic conference to free trade channels of tariff barriers and exchange restrictions. President Hoover is opposed to downward revision of the tariff, but has suggested that foreign nations be given credit against their obligations for any concessions that would offer a wider market for American farm products and manufactures.

GERMANY'S interest in this debt matter is vital, for the drive of the allied nations for revision is based on the Lausanne pact of last July. This was a "gentleman's agreement" providing that the reparations which Germany must pay the allies should be reduced from $26,000,000,000, as stipulated in the Young plan, to $14,000,000. The reduction was not to take effect unless the United States could be prevailed upon to modify the understanding under which the allied powers are obligated to pay this country.

Ideas of security and disarmament, seemed to offer Germany the equality she demands, under terms yet to be agreed upon. But it provides for "Progressive disarmament" of the powers and excludes rearmament for Germany. The section of most vital interest to the United States reads: "Any war undertaken in breach of the Paris (Briand-Kellogg) pact is a matter of interest to all the powers and shall be regarded as a breach of the obligations assumed towards each one of them.

"In the event of a breach or threat of a breach of the Paris pact, the said powers shall concert together as promptly as possible with a view to appealing to public opinion and agreeing upon the steps to be taken.

"In application of the pact of Paris outlawing war, any breach of that pact shall involve the prohibition of direct or indirect economic or financial relations with the aggressor country. The powers shall undertake to adopt the necessary measures to make that prohibition immediately effective.

"The said powers shall declare their determination not to recognize any de facto situation brought about in consequence of the violation of an international undertaking.

FRANCE, Germany and Great Britain have got together in one project—the formation of a tripartite economic consortium designed to rehabilitate Europe and the Near East. It was announced in Paris by Raymond Patenotre, French undersecretary for national economy, who said the first project would be the offering of a loan of 17,000,000,000 francs for the electrification of railways in Poland, Portugal, Rumania and Iraq. France and England are expected to provide 40 per cent of the loan each, and Germany 20 per cent. Premier Herriot will be the titular head of the consortium in France and Chancellor Franz von Papen in Germany. Patenotre, as the vice president for France, will be in actual charge of operations, with headquarters in Paris.

Patenotre said guaranties as to insurance, security and noncompetition in industrial bidding would constitute the underlying principles of the organization.

DIVERSION of the Colorado river, one of the big preliminary pieces of work in the building of the Hoover dam, has been completed and the full flow of the river is now going underground through the two Arizona tunnels. The still water between two temporary dams at the inlet and outlet of the diversion tunnels has been pumped out and the river bed laid bare for nearly a mile ready for excavation. Bedrock probably will be reached by next July. Some 4,000,000 cubic yards must be removed before pouring of concrete starts, the river bed being excavated to a depth of 150 feet.

Frank T. Crowe, general field superintendent of Six Companies, contractors, said the most difficult part of the project is behind the engineers. Building of the dam itself, he explained, will be comparatively simple work. He said the big job was the pioneering state of shaping the great canyon walls, building the diversion tunnels and spillway bores and getting the river out of its channel. Work on the project is more than a year ahead of schedule and it is expected to be completed by the end of 1937.

Sir Ronald Lindsay

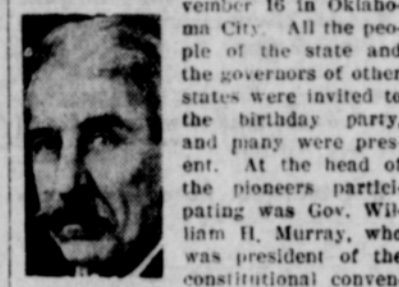

REPRESENTATIVE SHANNON of Missouri resumed his investigation of government competition with private business with hearings in Chicago, and his committee was told that this competition is a "trust" that must be destroyed if private enterprise is to be encouraged and economic recovery furthered.

Representatives of business organizations in Illinois and the Panama Canal Zone as well as executives of steamship companies, told the committee of specific cases where the government competes to the detriment of private companies. On the basis of their testimony, the United States government today is interested in every type of business from mortician to the manufacture of gun powder.

The Illinois Manufacturers association, representing practically every manufacturing industry in the state, ascribed to the government responsibility for a large part of the unemployment in the state and through its counsel, David C. Clarke, charged before the committee that the government has been found to be competing, directly, in 27 different manufacturing operations "and numerous others."

Clarke declared that his association had been advised that the federal government was not strictly concerned with the actual cost involved in its ventures. "Much less," he said, "is there strict regard for any reasonable profit to the government from industrial operations."

OKLAHOMA is twenty-five years old, and the silver anniversary of her admission to the Union was fittingly and excitingly celebrated on November 16 in Oklahoma City.

Gov. Murray

All the people of the state and the governors of other states were invited to the birthday party, and many were present. At the head of the pioneers participating was Gov. William H. Murray, who was president of the constitutional convention and speaker of Oklahoma's first house of representatives. He was one of the speakers, the others being Charles N. Haskell, the first governor, and Federal Judge Robert L. Williams, former governor and first Supreme court justice. Among twenty-six Oklahomans honored at a banquet and whose names were added to those in the state's Hall of Fame were Secretary of War Patrick Hurley, Will Rogers, cowboy humorist; Judge Haskell, once known as an oil company capitalist; Senator T. P. Gore, Senator Elmer Thomas and former Senator Robert L. Owen.

The marriage of "Miss Indian Territory" to "Mr. Oklahoma" was re-enacted by the couple who participated in the first ceremony at the state capitol in Guthrie November 16, 1907. Following the ceremony carrier pigeons were released to bear news of the birthday to the four corners of the United States.

LIBERALS of Honduras, having lost out in the recent election, have turned to revolution and have been fighting some bloody battles with the government forces. The rebels were reported to have seized the towns of Trujillo, La Ceiba and La Esperanza, and then they moved on the city of San Pedro, which they captured. The fiercest of the fighting to date was in a counter attack there by the government troops. Many hundreds were said to have been killed.

In the election Gen. Tiburcio Carias Andino, the Nationalist-Conservative candidate, won over Angel Zuniga Huete, the Liberal nominee. The inauguration has not yet taken place, and President Mejia Colindres remains as the head of the government. The President and the President-Elect are political allies.

SEVERAL weeks ago in this column mention was made of the quarrel between Peru and Colombia over possession of Leticia, and by a slip of the pen it was said the sector in dispute had once been ceded by Colombia to Peru, instead of by Peru to Colombia. An authoritative source now gives the information that the Leticia sector was in fact ceded by neither country to the other, but that it is in territory that has always been claimed by Colombia. In 1922 by the terms of the Salomon-Lozano treaty (between Peru and Colombia) it was definitely decided that Colombia's southern boundary line included Leticia within the limits of Colombia, and the sector was thereafter recognized by Peru as belonging to Colombia.

SOON after the December session of congress opens Senator Benigno Aquino of the Philippine legislature will be in Washington to take part in the efforts to win independence for the archipelago. He sailed from Manila some days ago bearing secret instructions to the Philippine delegation, presumably in the form of a mandate of the legislature opposing both the Hawes and Hare bills and demanding a new independence grant without reservation by the United States of naval bases and coaling stations.

The mandate also would provide for tariff reduction between the United States and the Philippines and that there be no prohibitive independence by the islanders in the interim of transition of government for a period not exceeding ten years. The limitation on importation of sugar to the United States free of duty would be fixed at not less than 1,500,000 long tons.

Hillside and Vicinity

Maude Muller

The Thanksgiving season finds the people of this locality with a beautiful harvest, like unto the first Thanksgiving. Crops are better than they have been in years. Pecans, walnuts, acorns and heavy turkeys, fat hogs and other livestock are plentiful. We wish all you city dwellers could see our hills and valleys while the lovely autumn colors last. We have had beautiful weather to harvest our crops. We should indeed be thankful for these many blessings.

Othar Merryman is attending school at Burnt Branch. He reports that the school is doing fine. Mr. Snyder and Miss Cooper are their teachers.

William Burks and family, who have recently returned from South Texas, paid a visit to Mr. Burk's mother, Mrs. A. J. Burks, last week. While in the south they visited historical San Antonio: Buckhorn Saloon, Brackenridge Park, the Alamo, etc. Their son, Olvis, explored the new cavern, near Boerne, which was opened to the public this summer. They came back by way of the state capital. On his way here Mr. Burks met his brother, James, who did not recognize him—due, we suppose, to the mustache he has grown since leaving Rowden!

Blanton Childers, of Burnt Branch, is in a Cisco hospital convalescing from an appendicitis operation. We are glad to learn that Blanton is doing nicely, and will come home soon.

Among the sick in our community, we are sorry to list, are Mr. Phillips, his daughter, Mrs. Katy Lee Smedley, and Miss Pauline Elliott.

Elizabeth Burks received a very interesting package from her cousin in California the other day. It contained a burhl of the giant Redwood tree. This burhl is similar to a knot that has grown around a scar, and if placed in a pan of water, it will grow like a fern. Miss Burks is eager to see how it will look and to learn more about the Redwoods.

They are "rounding up" on the Owens ranch today.

Mr. John Q. Morrison spent last Sunday night in the home of his wife's mother, Mrs. A. J. Burks.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Burks and two little sons visited Mrs. Burk's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Gould, Sunday and Monday.

The Victoria school began last Monday with Miss Fannie Baum as teacher.

The patrons and alumnae of the Hillside School would be glad to help the teachers and pupils with a George Washington Bi-centennial program before the year is out, as there have been very few such programs held, and we feel that Hillside should, and is renewing its lease on life, and that we, all of us, should manifest the patriotism that we feel.

We grieve with Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Elliott and family for the loss of their little Floyd, age nine, whose sudden death yesterday, November 21, was a terrible shock to all of us and especially to his little school friends, whose whole school year will be saddened by the absence of his sweet, chubby face, his bright, brown eyes and cheerful manner. Little Floyd was laid to rest today at Admiral, by the side of his brother Ralph, who died October 26, 1929.

Rowden News

Just Ike

Hello, everybody! As Mike got married, and moved to Oklahoma, and left writing the news to me, I'll do the best I can with it. Writing to a newspaper is all new to me, so if the Star force is not well up on the Chinese alphabet, they had better get busy if they get my piece in the Star.

Rev. Luther Kirk, the new Methodist preacher, preached Sunday morning at Rowden. Mrs. Kirk and baby came over from Abilene with him.

Miss Ososote Gaines from Abilene visited in the Bert Tabor home Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. A. J. Sikes and wife visited Mrs. Sikes' parents at Baird Sunday. Loyd Hearne made a trip to Eastland Saturday, and returned to his uncle's, W. V. Roberts Sunday.

Rev. Royce Gilliland will fill his appointment at Rowden Saturday night, Sunday morning and Sunday night.

The whole Rowden community was shocked when they learned of the death Monday evening of Floyd Elliot. He had been sick with diptheria only a few hours and but few of the neighbors knew he was sick until after he had died. Floyd was ten years of age. The body was carried to the Admiral cemetery for burial, with funeral services conducted by Rev. McDonald of Baird. Floyd was the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Elliott. He is survived by his parents, one brother, Aaron Burr, and three sisters, Mrs. Robert Lee Smedley, Pauline and Halley Elliott to mourn his passing away. They have the sympathy of the entire community.

Pall bearers were: H. R. Tabor, J. M. Hardin, Prof. Ross Dawkins, Ivan Odum, N. B. Haloway and Floyd Phillips.

Atwell Items

S. A. Black is working at Union school house this week.

This community was sadly greived Monday morning by the death of Thomas Hassie Mitchell, who died at the home of his mother, southwest of Atwell. Thomas Hassie Mitchell was born December 5, 1886 in Alabama and came to Texas when three years old and settled in Callahan county. He was laid to rest in Cottonwood cemetery Monday afternoon at 2:30. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. S. R. Respass of Cottonwood. Mr. Mitchell leaves his wife, Mrs. Etta Mitchell, his mother, Mrs. R. P. Mitchell and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Tom Houston of Clyde; Ferny Mitchell of Carbon; Claude and Loyd Mitchell of Arizona; Mrs. William Hutchins of Runnels county; Misses Maude and Lois Mitchell of this community. All were present for the funeral except Claud and Floyd Mitchell.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

The Christian Endeavor met Sunday afternoon at the regular time with a large and attentive group of young people.

Several visitors were present Sunday afternoon whom we all enjoyed having very much. We also had some new members. We were glad to have them present.

Miss DeSpain led a very interesting program on "Count your blessings," and "Thanksgiving."

Our sponsor promised us the first time we had twenty-five present we would go on a picnic, and we had twenty-three. Come on young people lets have a big crowd out next Sunday, so we can have our picnic.

Something New

SALMON is one of the most popular fish in the world, and such vast quantities of it are eaten annually that everyone supposed they know all about it. But a certain food packer has taken the hint from a can of "Fruit for Salad" and now offers a specially selected and prepared "Salmon for Salad." The salmon are skinned and the bones removed and then diced and packed into inside enameled cans, lined with pure parchment paper, to give the contents the greatest possible protection. Only the choicest portions of the best of salmon are used for this popular food product in a new form. The cubes are only slightly cooked together and are easily broken apart. It is most attractive—no waste—and possesses an excellent flavor.

Individual Steaks, Too

Just as special cuts are used for this new "Salmon for Salad," the best possible parts of the fish are used for the new "Individual Salmon Steaks," now being put up in this salmon packer in oval quarter pound cans. For just as there are certain cuts of meat which are particularly suitable and desirable for certain uses, so there are portions of each salmon, according to this packer, that are superior to other parts.

Helps for Home Canning

WHEN you can food at home, be sure that every step of your process is right. Choose the freshest foods for canning. Clean the food thoroughly. Prepare to get it into the cans or jars immediately. Process in a pressure cooker, observing the proper length of time both for expelling the air and processing. Use clean containers in perfect condition. If old glass jars are used, be sure to use a new lid and a new rubber if the lid is of the screw type. Remove the cans or jars from the cooker and cool immediately. Tin cans should be plunged into cold water or put under the cold water spigot. Lids on glass should be tightened as soon as the jars are removed from the cooker. And they should be separated to allow air to circulate around them that they may cool as rapidly as they will.

processed foods in a cool dry place to prevent rubbers from cracking.

The reasons for these constructive suggestions are to be found in a recent article by Dr. F. W. Tanner in which he said:

"Commercial canners have long since faced the fact that unless canned foods are properly processed, this organism (Clostridium botulinum) may survive and be responsible for some terrible outbreaks of botulism. Home canners should be willing to capitalize on this information. They should be impressed by the fact that practically all of the outbreaks of botulism in the last six years have been due to improperly processed home-canned foods, and that not one single outbreak of botulism has been caused by foods commercially prepared by the canning industry."
