Ex-Service Men, Notice.

The Courier has been requested to announce that Jas. O. Ritchey Post 215 American Legion of Grapeland has arranged to have the government "Claim Clean-Up Squad" meet the ex-service men and women of Houston and Trinity counties in Grapeland Sunday, September 18. This squad of men under the command of Dr. W. G. Doonan is vested in authority from the United States Government to act and make final settlements on discrepancies and adjustments of claims for disability as may exist regarding any ex-service man or woman. It is very urgent that each person affected by the terms of this notice make arrangements to meet these government men either in Palestine on September 17 or Grapeland on September 18. These towns are the only two places this "squad" will make in the seventh congressional district. Kindly pass the news of this notice to any one you think will be interested, and for more definite information and assistance apply to Mrs. W. A. Norris, Houston County American Red Cross; Locks Cook, Mayes Berry, N. H. Phillips, American Legion, Crockett; or address George E. Darsey Jr.,

Claude B. Keeland or Dr. Sam Kennedy of the American Legion, Grapeland.

With Our Subscribers.

Callers at the Courier office during the last week are well pleased over the advance in the cotton price. It looked Tuesday morning like the price would go above 20 cents this week. Some of them, however, are afraid the price of other things would advance in proportion. The man who raises the most of his living on the farm is not bothered much about the high price of other things, but he does and should want a good price for whatever he has to sell.

Among the number calling to renew or subscribe or sending in their renewals and subscriptions since last issue may be mentioned the following:

Mrs. H. A. Lacy, Long Beach, Calif.

J. C. Scarborough, Oakville.

J. M. Runnels, Palestine.

J. A. Hensarling, Pennington. College of Industrial Arts, Denton.

The top of a folding writing table, horizontal and of the usual height, can be raised at an angle and to the proper height to form a drafting board.

New Baptist Pastor.

The First Baptist church of Crockett has called a new pastor in the person of Rev. A. S. Lee who comes from the First Baptist church of Center. Mr. Lee and his family have arrived in Crockett and taken up their residence. They are receiving a hearty welcome at the hands of Crockett people.

A recent issue of the Center Champion has the following editorial regarding the loss by Center of Rev. Lee and his family:

"Center will lose a good family tomorrow when Rev. A. S. Lee, pastor of the First Baptist church, and his family leave for Crockett where he is to become pastor of the First Baptist church.

"This well-liked Baptist minister has resided here for two years. He has done great good in the Baptist church. His presence as a citizen has been elevating. He has been in the open for those things which meant for the betterment of this city and for the betterment of the people at large. He has proved himself a good man and a good, wide-awake citizen, and he carries with him the good wishes from hundreds of friends. He takes with him also several petitions bearing the signatures of several hundred people urging him to remain here."

Street Cotton Sells at 18 Cents in Temple.

Temple, Texas, Sept. 3.—Street cotton sold here Friday at from 16½ to 18 cents, the highest range of the season. Old cotton in good condition brought a premium of $10 per bale over the new crop. Receipts for the season reach 1000 bales, which is far below the average. With increased prices for cotton some pickers are demanding $1 per 100 as against the 50-cent price inaugurated at the start of the season. With the shortage in the crop, however, the average farmer is independent of hired labor this year and can gather the crop with the assistance of his family.

Gravel Your Streets.

This may be sung to the tune of "Feather Your Nest." It should be sung on all occasions, standing or sitting. No other words are needed, and these words, "Gravel Your Streets," should be sung over and over until every street in Crockett is covered with gravel. Gravel may be had now for the hauling, and the opportunity to get gravel so cheaply may not happen again soon. Mr. J. C. Millar, chairman of the road committee, tells the Courier that he has two teams scraping up gravel at the bayou three miles northeast of Crockett and that this gravel is free to all who will haul it away or have it hauled away and placed on the streets of Crockett. Every street in Crockett should receive a coating of this gravel and it will have to be put there by the property owners, as the city has no funds for that purpose. Now is the time to get busy, before bad weather sets in. Remember, you get the gravel for your street at the cost of hauling.

Henry Ford to Be Asked to Operate Defunct R. R.

Joplin, Mo., Sept. 3.—Henry Ford of Detroit, automobile manufacturer and capitalist, will be asked to take over and operate the defunct Missouri and North Arkansas railroad by a committee, representing several towns along the line, which has been granted a hearing on the subject in Detroit on September 7, it was announced Saturday by J. R. Pile, president of the Joplin chamber of commerce.

Many Cotton Shipments Booked For Foreign Posts.

Galveston, Texas, Sept. 3.—Many advance bookings for movement of cotton abroad have been made this week, 300,000 bales having been slated for shipping to the Far East and between 400,000 and 500,000 bales for Havre. Liverpool is not buying cotton except from stocks there and there is no inquiry for ocean tonnage to the United Kingdom. Most of the bookings are for October.

TWO ESCAPE FROM HUNTSVILLE PRISON

Guards Are Attacked With Knives and Relieved of Guns.

Houston, Tex., Sept. 1.—According to reports reaching here late tonight, no trace beyond Phelps Junction and New Waverly could be found of the two convicts who made a daring break from the state penitentiary at Huntsville about noon today. A telephone message received late tonight, stated that the convicts were traced as far as Phelps with the aid of bloodhounds, but from that point their trail was indiscernible, as the convicts secured a horse near Phelps, making it impossible for bloodhounds to follow. Posses now on the trail believe the convicts to be somewhere southeast of New Waverly on the Houston road.

The convicts made their escape through the big railway gate which was attacked some months ago by a band of convicts and a sensational delivery effected. According to the report, the two men approached B. F. Oliver, assistant warden, armed with knives they had smuggled in the penitentiary.

Oliver was thrown from the wall on which he stood and one of his legs broken and one wrist sprained. He also received a gash in the throat from one of the knives. At this juncture another guard approached, but the life of Oliver was threatened if the guard made any effort to raise his gun or come closer. In this manner the guns of the guard were secured. Armed with these two convicts scaled the wall and headed for Phelps Junction.

The two convicts are Meximo Vega and Ernest Conner. Meximo, a Mexican from El Paso, is regarded as one of the most dangerous prisoners in the penitentiary and Ernest Conner was serving a two-year term on a charge of burglary at Fort Worth.

Get-Rich-Quick Schemes Pale Beside This Guy's Plan.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 1.—George H. Shank, an American citizen, with offices in the Stock exchange building here, has signed what purports to be a remarkable contract with the Chinese Republic—a contract which gives him a practical monopoly of business concessions in the whole yellow republic.

"Read it," smiled Shank as he tossed a copy of the contract across the desk.

The document contained amazing provisions. It makes Shank a partner with the "government of China" in twenty-year industrial development operations.

Shank undertakes to interest American business in China on an unprecedented scale.

The republic, according to the contract, agrees to pay Shank one-third of the net profits of all industries organized and promoted through his efforts, as well as 25 per cent of the purchase price of all material that may be bought by the United States government.

Dr. Sun Yat Sen, president of the "government of South China," signed the contract with Shank.

"Sun Yat," Shank explained, stroking his Van Dyke beard, "is the hero of thirteen revolutions. He is China's big man today. He controls more than half of China, and aspires to the conquest of the rest. He is an implacable foe to the military regime."

The South China government pledges itself to issue a preliminary bond flotation of $100,000,000 gold, 8 per cent interest to be used in the promotion of industrial development. The marketing is left entirely with Shank. Shank said that a score of large corporations are interested, including banks, railroads, construction firms, electrical houses and coal companies.

This Is Age of Sham.

Cincinnati, August 31.—Revolt against tradition and authority has sprung up not only in the political state but in music, art, poetry and commerce until the age has become "pre-eminently one of sham and counterfeit," James M. Beck, solicitor general for the United States, declared before the American Bar Association today. His subject was: "Spirit of Lawlessness."

Set over a kitchen sink and operated by a water motor connected to a faucet, a new dish washing machine is said to do the work for a family of six persons in three minutes after each meal.

You'll enjoy the sport of rolling 'em with P. A.!

FIRST thing you do next—go get some makin's papers and some Prince Albert tobacco and puff away on a home made cigarette that will hit on all your smoke cylinders!

No use sitting-by and saying maybe you'll cash this hunch tomorrow. Do it while the going's good, for man-o-man, you can't figure out what you're passing by! Such flavor, such coolness, such more-ish-ness—well, the only way to get the words emphatic enough is to go to it and know yourself!

And, besides Prince Albert's delightful flavor, there's its freedom from bite and parch which is cut out by our exclusive patented process! Certainly—you smoke P. A. from sun up till you slip between the sheets without a comeback.

Prince Albert is the tobacco that revolutionized pipe smoking. If you never could smoke a pipe—forget it! You can—AND YOU WILL—if you use Prince Albert for packing! It's a smoke revelation in a jimmy pipe or a cigarette!

Prince Albert is sold in tippy red bags, tidy red tins, hand-poured tin humidors and in the pound crystal glass humidor with sponge moistener top.

Pumpkin Center Shines in Liquor Puzzle.

Pumpkin Center, Mo., August 30.—Pumpkin Center, the mythical, jumps into sudden fame. It has been known for years throughout the country and glorified in the movies.

And now the spotlight of publicity comes to shine on one of Pumpkin Center's most respected citizens.

Will McCulley was called from a revival meeting by Prohibition Enforcement Officer King. He was placed under arrest. A whiskey still had been found in his attic. McCulley protests that the still is not his; that he knows nothing about how it came into his home.

And while the spotlight is on Pumpkin Center a purported villain steps into the ring. Maybe a designing neighbor who loved McCulley's wife placed the still in the attic, eight of this burg's fourteen inhabitants declare.

The still has cobwebs on it. No whiskey was found.

Accommodates Couple and Has an Accident.

C. M. Jennings, who lives two miles out on the Rusk road, was awakened last night by a couple of young people, who had broken their car, and wished a ride to town. He was accommodating enough to bring them to town, and while going back down Avenue A, he struck a car, which was stopped next to the curb. A car meeting him with glaring lights blinded him so that he didn't see the car until just before striking it. Mr. Jennings escaped without serious injury, but the damage to both cars will amount to quite a sum of money, and all caused by trying to accommodate others.—Palestine Herald.

GOVERNOR FINDS TIME TO APPROVE BOLL WORM BILL

Motor Truck and Highway Measures Are Also Filed By Executive.

Austin, Texas, Sept. 1.—Aside from conscientiously endeavoring to give audience to each and every person or group of individuals seeking to obtain a hearing with the chief executive, studying minutely each bill before him which developed out of the recent legislative turmoil, considering and deciding upon new appointments, taking care of a voluminous correspondence, and participating in numerous conferences which are continually being held as necessary for the efficient conduct of the various State departments, the governor of Texas has virtually nothing to do except find time to eat and sleep.

It is seldom that the chairs in the outer office of the chief executive's business suite are not mostly occupied daily, and by persons whose missions are equally important, if not more so than the other fellow's. The governor's duty is to see and sympathize with each and every visitor and send him away happy, or as nearly happy as the exigencies of the occasion or the visitor's general disposition will permit.

All those in the city for the purpose of seeing the governor are usually to be found at some hour of the day between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. sitting in the governor's outer office, waiting an opportunity to see the chief executive for "just a few minutes." Between chats with his callers the governor signs vetoes or merely passes bills.

Boll Worm Bill Signed.

Between friendly conversations with visitors, friends and appointees, Thursday the governor managed to find time in which to sign the pink boll worm bill passed during the first called session of the 37th legislature. The bill, now law, carries an appropriation of $125,000 of which $25,000 is for administrative purposes and $100,000 to be used to recompense farmers whose cotton crops may be damaged under the provisions of the law. A commission of five members appointed by the governor, one member to be appointed at the recommendation of the State commissioner of agriculture, one on the recommendation of the secretary of agriculture of the United States, and one upon the recommendation of the district judge whose district is affected under the provisions of the bill, and two members at the discretion of the governor.

Other official business relative to measures passed by the recent legislative gathering consisted in the official filing with the secretary of State the motor truck bill, and a bill providing for a patrol system of highways which exempts about every county in Texas with the possible exception of seven. The governor also filed the motor vehicle registration bill, which provides for the registration of all motor vehicles in Texas, effective in 1923. The departmental appropriation bill and State educational appropriation bill are two of the most popular measures, judging by the unflagging interest displayed in these bills by persons inside and outside the State capitol. There are many employed in the various departments who are deeply concerned as to the disposition in detail to be made by the governor of the various estimates and appropriation items carried in the departmental bill. If the signs are right a clairvoyant is what is needed if haply a comforting forecast of the governor's ultimate decision might be imparted to the eager inquirers who declare their jobs are hanging on the movements of the governor's blue pencil.

It is possible that the suspense and anguish caused by the uncertainty will have been dispelled before midnight Friday night, and then again it is possible otherwise. The governor has refrained thus far from letting slip any advance information, and it's more than probable that nothing of an information nature will slip until the governor is ready to turn loose a detailed statement which will be after the fate of the bill has been definitely settled. The policy of the present administration is defined as follows: "Let patience have its perfect work."

A Definite Purpose.

The first step in writing a good advertisement is to decide definitely upon the duty which it is expected to perform.

An advertisement written at random to fill a certain amount of space cannot be expected to bring profitable returns.

The successful advertiser knows just what purpose he wishes to accomplish with every advertisement before he prepares it. Then he can write his message intelligently and expect it to be read with interest.

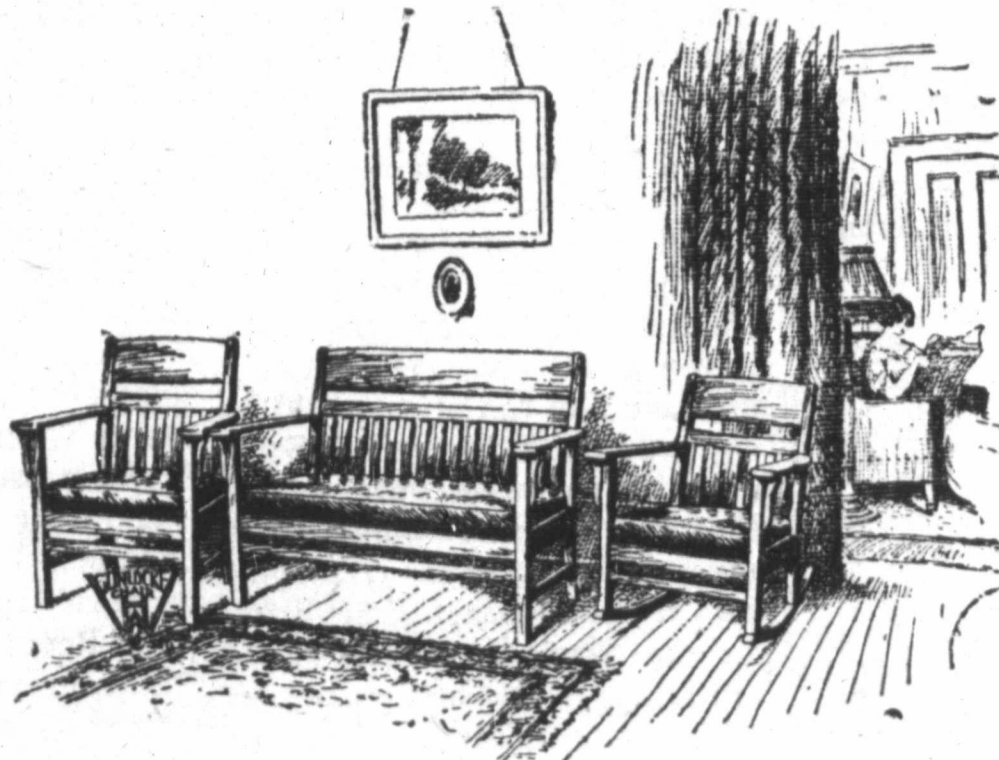

Sometimes he may wish to announce the arrival of a new line of merchandise. Another time he may decide to offer reduced prices on certain articles.

But whatever the purpose of the announcement, the successful advertiser has that purpose in mind throughout the entire preparation of the advertisement. His display lines, illustrations and text all reflect the message he wishes to send.

After all, the object of most advertisements is to induce you to visit the advertiser's store. And just as there are different reasons why you might wish to go there, so are there different purposes for which advertisements might be prepared.

The farmers of the nation must save it in the future just as they built its greatness in the past.—James J. Hill.

GOVERNOR USES PRUNING SHEARS ON MANY ITEMS

Live Stock Appropriation Comes in for Most Trimming.

Austin, Texas, Sept. 2.—Governor Neff Friday in approving the departmental bill, pruned items and accompanying appropriations totaling $68,945. The majority of the items were small in amount and in numerous instances applied to but one year, leaving one year's appropriation intact.

The largest cut in the bill made by the governor was the elimination of the $10,000 appropriation yearly for the two years ending August 31, 1923, for the investigation of loim diseases by the live stock sanitary commission. The total amount carried in the bill for the two years ending August 31, 1923, after deducting the amount vetoed by the governor, is $4,875,357. Very few jobs were affected by the governor's blue pencil, and there were minor positions only.

Employees Relieved.

Great relief is expressed by employes of the various departments who were fearful that a wholesale reduction in salaries and a pretty general abolition of jobs and positions in various departments would be the result of the governor's scrutiny of the bill. San Jacinto park, although the battle ground where the freedom of Texas was decisively won, was also the scene of a minor slaughter of appropriations carried in the bill for repairs, improvements and upkeep. The roads and culverts in the park will receive $500 in 1923 to be used for repairs and upkeep, but during 1922 an appropriation of $500 has been bluepenciled. The appropriation of $4400 allowed by the board of control for the construction of a creosote wharf at the park has been cut off by the governor. Also the item of miscellaneous expenses appropriated for the park, amounting to $1000 for the two years, has been disapproved and vetoed. The $200 appropriated to build walks through the park was eliminated.

Game Appropriation Cut.

Under the game, fish and oyster commission the appropriation of $1500 for shore deputy at Houston was stricken out for the year 1922. The shore deputy at Port O'Connor for the year 1922, carrying an appropriation of $720, was also eliminated for 1922. An appropriation of $5000 for 1922 for improving oyster reefs in bays of Texas was eliminated. It was intimated at the executive offices that the educational bill might receive its final scrutiny and be passed upon by the governor Saturday, although it was not definitely stated that such would be the case. Now the departmental bill is disposed of, the employes in the capitol are breathing more freely and are expressing relief that the blow was, after all, a light tap compared to the shock which was anticipated by many.

SUIT FOR SCHOOL FUND THREATENED

Pope Says Corpus Christi Will Probably Sue State Board.

Corpus Christi, Texas, August 29.—Corpus Christi school board probably will file suit against the state department of education to obtain the full amount declared by it to be due under the regular census enumeration made in March, 1921, which showed approximately 6,000 scholastics, according to W. E. Pope, attorney for the board. This step will be taken should Miss Blanton adhere to her announced decision of allowing but 2,096 scholastics for this district.

"The state superintendent has issued an ultimatum and has officially said that the census as shown by her representatives for the Corpus Christi independent school district is 2,096," said Mr. Pope.

Mr. Pope said the state superintendent had not proceeded legally in that she had not had a new census taken, nor had she in any legal way demanded a recensus of the district. Of her own volition she had sent her representatives here to take what presumed to be a census of the district, and on the result of that partial and incomplete census, was undertaking to stand against the official and legal census of the local board through its legally appointed enumerator.

Hr. Pope said further that if the state superintendent believes the census taken by the local enumerator incorrect, she could exercise her legal prerogative and order another census taken. Such a step was necessary in order to obtain a recensus. Instead of doing this, Mr. Pope said she had advised the board, after her own representatives had taken their census, that "if they would take a recensus, her department would have a representative present and see that it was properly taken."

Mr. Pope characterized the action of the state superintendent in connection with the scholastic census matter of Corpus Christi as purely political, and assured there was more politics than legal grounds for the stand she had taken. He expressed no doubt as to the outcome of the proceedings he intends to institute in the event that the state superintendent declines to recognize the census submitted by Corpus Christi's school board.

Systematic Plan.

One single advertisement does not make a campaign any more than one single cannon shot makes a battle. If you were to read one advertisement by a local dealer and not see another by him for a long time, you would not be much impressed.

Even if he advertised at long intervals, you would not pay much attention to him. But the man who has frequent messages of interest for you gets you into the habit of looking for them.

Following this theory, he advertises systematically. He maps out a definite plan of campaign. His announcements appear at regular and frequent intervals, so you know when to expect them and will, therefore, look for them.

He adopts a style which remains characteristic of all his advertising. Each advertisement has a certain individuality about it, and yet something that iden-

A REMARKABLE JOURNALISTIC SUCCESS.

The New York Times is receiving congratulations from the press of the country, and from eminent public men, including President Harding, upon the splendid success it has enjoyed under the management of Adolph S. Ochs, who a few days ago celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his assumption of control of that newspaper.

The words of felicitation that have come to Mr. Ochs from his colleagues and admirers are not perfunctorily spoken, and are richly deserved. The achievement of Mr. Ochs with the Times is typically American, and is one that the whole country may take pride in. The story of the Times as set forth by Mr. Ochs on the anniversary occasion reveals one of the most noted successes in the history of American journalism.

Twenty-five years ago the New York Times had a daily circulation of 9000, a yearly volume of advertising of 2,227,169 agate lines, and it was losing $1000 per day for its owners. The Times today has a circulation of 352,000 daily, a volume of advertising of 23,447,395 agate lines annually and its gross revenues last year were $15,000,000.

The success of the Times is all the more noteworthy because it has never resorted to the tricks of the "yellow" press to gain material advantage. The Times had a good reputation when Mr. Ochs bought it. That was its chief asset. That reputation has been maintained and enhanced during the years. Its rewards have come from hard work and honest service on the part of those who made it. It has developed a truly great newsgathering service, and it has presented the news without bias. Dependability has been and is today the mark of the Times.

The Times today stands among the two or three greatest newspapers of the world. It is an influential factor in the public life of the nation, the more so because it never permits partisan fervor to betray it into a distorted presentation of any matter. It is living evidence that decency in journalism is appreciated by the people.—Houston Post.

THE PRICE PAID LABOR IS NOT ALL.

It is but natural that the man who works in a printing office for a wage conceives the idea that his wage alone is the basis upon which the printing office figures the price of the work done, and that some way there is a wide difference between his wages per hour and the hour prices on which work is figured and sold.

That many proprietors of printing offices still think along the same lines is also natural, as they have considerable difficulty in meeting the weekly pay roll—and possibly because of a lack of proper bookkeeping methods.

The printer who has placed before him each month the actual costs or expenses of the previous month, and takes a good long look at the figures will find that the wages paid are about one-fourth to one-third of the amount of cost, and that there are a lot of other expenses which have to be met besides that of wages paid.

It is to be regretted that some labor unions have tried to discredit their business by publishing statements of hour selling prices and wages paid, in the effort to produce public sympathy, when as a matter of fact they are injuring the very business upon which their bread and butter depends, and in addition show a lack of knowledge of economics and costs that is appalling.

BUILDING CONFIDENCE.

When you patronize a merchant who practices honesty in his advertising and always sells the quality he offers through his printed announcements, you acquire confidence in him and his goods.

You accept his word as truth. You know that when he says he is going to sell dollar values at half price you can buy a full dollar's worth for fifty cents.

And you feel that you can go to his store at any time and be assured of honest treatment, honest values and honest prices.

Good advertising in its fullest sense can give any merchant the reputation of being "on the square." On the other hand, advertising with only an occasional little untruth can often undermine the reputation of a dealer to such an extent that you become suspicious and question every statement he makes thereafter.

Advertising that tends to build confidence is a mighty and valuable instrument in the hands of the progressive merchant. It is the means of nourishing his business and making it grow to the limit of its capacity.

PUBLICITY.

Fear of publicity is the greatest preventive of wrongdoing the world has ever known. It is the greatest agency for the protection of the public that has ever been invented. It is worth more than all the courts and juries that exist in the world today.

Many a man has been kept in the straight and narrow path through fear that his wrongdoing might become known.

This is particularly true as to public affairs. There should be the fullest and freest publicity as to all public offices and those who fill them.

Whenever you find a public official trying to keep anything pertaining to public affairs from becoming known there can be but one of two motives.

The desire to hide something crooked or something incompetent.

Just as sure as you are born! —Madisonville Meteor.

Success comes by hard work. There are many things that may be done even in unfavorable weather.

EDITORIALS BY COL. R. T. MILNER

What the Former A. & M. President Writes in the Rusk County News.

AS WE PASSED BY.

The other day as we passed through this goodly land we observed two fields of sandy land corn, belonging to two individual farmers, separated only by a wire fence, the soil exactly the same, and of the same cultivated age. On one field thirty bushels per acre would not be too high to place the yield. On the other not over three bushels can possibly be gathered. The contrast was so great, so striking that it produced a line of thought that ought to stir the mind of every intelligent patriot in the country. One of those farmers reads, thinks, investigates, and acts intelligently. He is moved by an alert mind. He plans his work in accordance with certain well-defined rules, understands how to rotate crops. The other is not prepared to farm. A person desiring to teach school, or to practice law or medicine with no more knowledge of the profession of his choosing could not be admitted in any enlightened country in the world. This man has always been a failure as a farmer. And there are others. Now, there is a place somewhere for such persons. It may be in a factory, shop, a mine, or in some position where he would not be expected to think, but to move as an automaton. Such men are a hindrance to the business of farming. The land they despoil should, and of course will in due course of time, pass into more skilled ownership. But it is that kind of farmers who make interest rates high, credits exorbitant and even cash prices high, because the real successful farmers must be the sole sureties of that unfortunate class of makeshifts.

THE BLESSINGS OF COUNTRY LIFE.

The notion prevails among the farmers that a large majority of them will harvest feed crops enough to make out on. But there are those who never did produce a sufficient quantity of feed and food crops, and they never will until they are made to realize that less acreage, soil improvement, and better cultivation are absolutely essential to the production of a living on the farm. It is a favorable sign to see farmers terracing their land, improving their live stock, and devoting serious thought to the important business of making a living first. And when we say living, we do not merely imply material existence, but thriving, prospering spiritually, intellectually and morally, and going forward in all the ways that elevate and ennoble the race. As we shall leave out cotton as the sole dependence and direct our thoughts and energies to the substantial and larger field of making the farms more attractive, the soil richer and the homes more attractive, we will come to appreciate more and more the blessings of country life.

JOEL'S FIELD IS WASTED.

We cannot too often refer to Joel and the times in which he lived. He only gives us three small chapters, but in them is related some of the most terrible things already happened, and describe what was to occur in the future in language the most graphic ever written. One day when the word of the Lord came to him he rose up and exclaimed: "Hear this, ye old men, and give ear, all ye inhabitants of the land. Tell ye your children of it, and let your children tell their children even to another generation. That which the palmer worm hath left, hath the locust eaten; and that which the locust hath left, hath the canker worm eaten; and that which the canker worm hath left, hath the caterpillar eaten." And if Joel lived now he could have continued his story indefinitely as follows: "And that which the caterpillar hath left, hath the boll weevil eaten; and that which the boll weevil hath left, hath the boll worm eaten; and that which the boll worm hath left, hath the drouth destroyed."

Those who sit around with more or less leisure should read these three chapters. They will find the terribleness of God's judgment expressed in one of the noblest pieces of literature ever written.

Half the torture of making a mistake is the misery of considering what other people will think about it; as if that made any difference! The mistake should make us wise enough not to repeat it. The only point is that we were sufficiently foolish or ignorant to make the mistake at all.

The Courier is the place to have your printing done, no matter what kind it may be.

Good Printing

¶ The kind of printing that pays dividends is the kind you should have. Pale, muddy, poorly arranged printed matter is worse than none. The quality of your business is often judged by the quality of your stationery—inferior printing gives an impression of cheapness that is hard to overcome, while good printing carries with it a desirable suggestion of quality.

¶ We produce only Quality Printing. Whether you want an expensive handbill or a letterhead in colors, if you order it from us you will be sure of getting good work. We have the equipment and the "know how" that enables us to get out really good printing—printing that impresses people with the good taste of its users. That is the only kind of printing that pays.

Christian Church Revival.

Interest in the revival at the Christian church continues to increase and attendance reached the overflow stage Sunday night, many being turned away for lack of room. Extra seats had to be provided again on Monday night. The scriptural preaching and kindly spirit of Evangelist Chasteen makes it easy for all christians to work with him, and all the churches are giving support to the meeting. The solos of Miss Lillian Hancock are greatly enjoyed by our people.

The meeting will continue through Sunday.

Mrs. Albert Durham.

Mrs. Albert Durham died at her home a short distance east of Crockett Friday night about 10 o'clock. The remains were taken to the old family burial ground near Ratcliff Saturday afternoon and laid to rest near those of departed relatives. Mrs. Durham leaves the husband and three children. She was a member of the Baptist church.

Mrs. Durham before marriage was Dora Steed, a daughter of W. M. Steed, and was reared in the Ratcliff community, where she leaves many sorrowing relatives and friends. She had lived near Crockett only a few years, but was known as a devoted wife, mother and neighbor. The funeral services were conducted at the cemetery by the Ratcliff Baptist pastor.
