EARLE B. MAYFIELD SPEAKS AT CROCKETT

Hon. Earle B. Mayfield, candidate for the United States senate and at present railroad commissioner, spoke to a large, splendid audience in the district court room at Crockett Friday afternoon. The speaker was introduced by Hon. B. F. Dent, district attorney, who paid a pleasing tribute to the senatorial candidate and railroad commissioner. During the course of his speech the speaker made a strong plea for the restoration of rate-making powers to the railroad commissions of the different states to the end that the people of the states may secure relief in keeping with the conditions of the states affected. For example, under the federal laws the freight rates in Texas are as high with operating cost less as in more prosperous states where the operating costs are higher. He made a plea for a return to state government in all matters, denouncing the anti-lynching bill now pending in congress as a usurpation of the right of the different states to pass their own laws regarding the punishment of crime. He said he would favor amending or the absolute repeal of the law giving the interstate commerce commission the power to fix a freight rate on shipments wholly within the state as a usurpation of state's rights and as an injustice to those states where the cost of operation is the least. He opposed centralizing the government at Washington which established a government of bureaus, permitting the employment of numerous useless heads of departments and bureaus, increasing the cost of government and wasting the public funds. He said there were some matters not within the scope of the states and among these were the immigration laws. He said he would favor, if elected to the senate, a law shutting out foreign immigration for a definite period of years. He referred to the deflation policy of the federal reserve system as untimely and without regard to the interests of the greatest producing class, the farmers. He said he favored what is known as the "farm bloc" in the senate in the interest of those who make the crops. He said he stood for the continued separation of church and state, for free speech and a free press, for the right of trial by a legally constituted jury, for the right of contract and for personal rights and property rights as guaranteed by the constitution.

"There ought to be a sweeping reduction in freight rates and passenger fares," he said. Continuing, he said: "The Texas commission can make no reductions because it has been robbed of its rate-making powers by the federal laws which fix the rates for all the states. Congress alone can restore. My candidacy for United States senator is committed to that undertaking. The rate making power of the Texas railroad commission was destroyed by the decision of the interstate commerce commission in the celebrated Shreveport rate case. That decision was written into the Esch-Cummins transportation act, and the rate-making powers of the state railroad commissions cannot be restored until that act has been repealed or amended and until congress passes direct legislation defining clearly what is state commerce and what is interstate commerce and limits the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission so that it cannot destroy the rate-making powers of the state commissions as it did in the Shreveport and similar cases. When the interstate commerce commission reduces an interstate rate 10 per cent on a given commodity, the Texas railroad commission can follow suit and reduce the state rate on the same commodity 10 per cent, but the state commission cannot reduce the state rate on anything if in conflict with the rates fixed by the interstate commission, and that is why I am a candidate for the United States senate."

Mr. Mayfield's speech was well received and frequently interrupted by applause. The speaker arrived in Crockett with friends from Palestine Friday morning and spent the intervening time in meeting the people in town. Following his speech he returned to Palestine by automobile to catch a train for the west.

DISCOVERS REMEDY TO KILL THE WEEVIL

Hopewell, Va., June 6.—As the result of nearly two years' experiment, Fred Godere, chemist of the Hopewell Sanitation and Supply Company, of this city, announces that at last he has discovered an insecticide that will successfully combat that bane of the cotton grower, the boll-weevil.

Mr. Godere declares that he will apply for a patent within a few days, which will cover the process of treating calcium arsenate with two chemicals of foreign manufacture, which produces a chocolate colored liquid of superior germicidal qualities which he claims is non-injurious to plants, but which has proven highly efficacious in killing the cotton pest.

By Mr. Godere's new process, the seed of the cotton, before planting, is immersed in a bath composed of one part of the mixture and fifty parts of water. The plants are then sprayed with a mixture of the same strength after they have grown to some size.

Austin College Graduates.

The friends of Rev. S. F. Tenney will be interested to know that two of his grandsons have lately graduated from Austin College at Sherman. The youngest son of Rev. Sam Tenney, Warren, 17, graduated with A. B. degree, he being the youngest in a class of 26 and the youngest graduate that college has had in its history. The other grandson, William French Tenney, son of Rev. Will Tenney, graduated with distinction, receiving the Stephen F. Austin fellowship, worth $300 to him, and elevating him to the position of assistant professor of history in that college. It may be interesting to know that the president of Texas University and also the head of the university law department are graduates of Austin College.

Lovelady Graduates.

The Courier learns of the graduation of J. S. Kimble of Lovelady at Austin College, Sherman. Another of Lovelady's young men, Mr. Haynie, son-in-law of Dr. W. B. Collins, graduated a year or two ago at Sherman and has since been one of the instructors of Austin College.

RICHMOND PLANS TO RECEIVE BIG REUNION THROUG

More Than 5000 Confederate Veterans Expected as Guests.

Richmond, Va., June 10.—More than 5000 veterans are expected here for the grand reunion, United Confederate Veterans, June 19 to 22, it was announced Saturday by the general committee in charge of arrangements. With them will be delegates to the conventions of the Sons of Confederate Veterans and the Confederate Southern Memorial Association, which will be held in conjunction with the reunion.

Plans have been completed for housing 50,000 visitors here during the reunion, the committee announced, and every convenience for the comfort of the veterans and their families and their friends has been arranged.

Special trains, operated by every railroad in the south, will bring the veterans and visitors here for the reunion. A train of 12 Pullman cars will bring the Texas brigade here; the veterans from Tennessee will come in 10 sleepers; those from Georgia in 10 cars; the Birmingham and Montgomery delegations will travel in four cars, and other special trains will be run from Mississippi and other points.

The reunion which will be presided over by General Julian S. Carr, commander in chief of the United Confederate Veterans, will be addressed by Senator Harrison, Mississippi, Governor E. Lee Trinkle, Virginia, W. T. A. Brady, Oklahoma, Mayor Ainslee of Richmond, and others. The feature of the four days will be the parade on Thursday, June 22.

Laying of the cornerstone of the Matthew Fontaine Maury monument will take place after the parade. The reunion will be brought to a close with a grand ball Thursday evening.

Plans for Syrup Organization Completed.

At the Longview meeting of the Syrup Growers June 7, a large and enthusiastic number of delegates assembled and plans were completed with the following results:

The name of the organization will be known as the Texas Farm Bureau Cane Growers' Association.

The plant was not located, but will be located and when installed will have a capacity of one million gallons.

It will be equipped with large store rooms for cans and barrels and also raw and finished stock rooms, blending, reheating, inverting tanks, evaporators and canning machinery.

This plant will be built on full government specifications with space for governmental experiment work.

The plan is for the grower to make his syrup at home as has been the custom, then barrel same and ship as soon as possible to the blending plant, in car lots, where it will be treated and blended into two or three grades and packed for the market.

A sales organization will be formed to go into the consuming territory and sell this product before it is made, thus leaving the producer nothing to worry about except to grow the crop.

Every producer will get the same price for the same grade of syrup produced and marketed through the farm bureau.

Organization officers were selected with S. M. Monzingo of Houston county as chairman and G. H. Alford, secretary of the Farm Bureau Federation, as secretary.

As soon as the contracts are printed, general organization will begin and a 100 per cent sign-up is predicted.

One fact developed at these meetings that Houston county should be proud of is that we produce more syrup than any county in Texas, so let's market twice as much this year.

SOME NEWS OF THE CROCKETT OIL FIELD

There is very little to report regarding the local oil well situation. The Porter well at Crockett, which was closed for cement to set ten days ago, will begin bailing again to-morrow, Friday. Mr. Porter will return to-day from St. Louis and the east, and other members of his company will be here for the final try-out of the well. The opinion of all geologists who have inspected the well is that it is an oil well, but they will express no opinion as to how much oil. The thing now is to get the water out and find out how much oil there is in the underlying oil sand.

Porter Springs well is at a standstill around 2500 feet. Col. Otis, one of the operators of the Driskell well, which is around 1500 feet, has gone to Pittsburg, Pa., to assist in arranging for the completion of his well. We have no report from either Weldon, Grapeland or Augusta. The Elkhart well is drilling with indications favorable.

Married Wednesday.

Mr. Murdoch S. Murchison of Port Arthur and Miss Mildred Slade of this city were married at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Kate Slade, in Crockett Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Rev. S. F. Tenney, the Presbyterian pastor, performed the ceremony. Only immediate relatives, including the families of both bride and bridegroom, and a few close friends witnessed the ceremony. The bride is the second daughter of Mrs. Slade and was a valued employe of the Crockett State Bank. She has many friends in Crockett whose best wishes are for her happiness. The bridegroom is the oldest son of Mr. R. T. Murchison of Grapeland and was formerly in the employ of the First National Bank of Crockett, but is now cashier of a bank at Port Arthur, where he resides. He has many friends here and elsewhere who will hasten to extend congratulations. Mr. and Mrs. Murchison left on the 2:45 south bound afternoon train Wednesday for Port Arthur and will make their home in that city.

To Drill at Angleton.

J. T. O'Hara and family have moved to Angleton, where Mr. O'Hara will drill for oil. His well was to be "spudded in" this week. He expects to return later to Crockett and make another test for oil here.

BUSINESS DURING MAY BETTER ALL OVER SOUTHWEST

FEDERAL RESERVE BANK REPORT SHOWS NOTABLE STRIDES.

St. Louis, Mo. Business took a decided turn for the better during May and more confidence in values and in the future was manifested than at any time in more than 4 months, the St. Louis federal reserve bank announced in its monthly report.

The improvement affects both actual volume of transactions and sentiment, the report said, notable strides being made in all branches of activity in the direction of normal conditions. Confidence resulted from a disposition to deviate from conservative purchasing by merchants, and greater enthusiasm among farmers producing heavier crops, the report asserted. All sections of the Eighth federal reserve bank district have participated in the improvement, the report continued, but the grain areas appeared to be making the greater progress. In these sections spring farm operations were well under way, and with the single exception of oats, according to the report, prospects are for larger acreages of grain than a year ago.

The report said that the planting of cotton was pressed in the south, advantage being taken of every favorable day to seed additional acreage. Prices of cotton have advanced, and prices of grain and live stock were well maintained, the report declared.

Prospects for fruit were reported to be magnificent, in marked contrast with last year. Shipments of fruit from the southern section was formidable, the strawberry crop in Arkansas, according to reports, being the largest on record, while the berry crop in southern Missouri gave promise of rivaling the crop in Arkansas.

A broader market for spring vegetables than in former years was reported.

The distribution of commodities through retailers was said to be increasing in volume as a result of heavier spending in the agricultural districts due to a more definite outlook for the crops.

The report continued: "Augmented manufacturing activity is reflected in considerably more satisfactory markets for raw materials, particularly metals. Purchase of pig iron and scrap have been larger than since 1920. Lead and zinc are moving well at higher prices. The demand for lumber has increased and all varieties of building materials are moving in volume. After a long period of depression the oil business has developed renewed life, the demand for gasoline and other petroleum products being greater than at any time in more than a year."

Price changes, the report declared, have been relatively narrow, except on seasonal goods, the trend in many important commodities being firm. Irregularly marked the fuel market, but the report declared "no one appears to be suffering the least from inconvenience from the coal strike." Prices for coal fluctuated frequently. Mines in the district still have a large number of unconsigning cars on hand, and there has been fair shipments from Kentucky and other fields, according to the report, which stated that the production of bituminous coal is increasing.

Improvements in the automobile industry continued, and for the first time in a number of months distributors of certain makes of passenger cars report they are running behind on deliveries."

With a new kitchen machine it is possible to cut any vegetables into several different forms by adjusting the knives.

Parent-Teachers' Association.

The Parent-Teachers' Association met June 7, and by request, four members of the board met with them. Many plans and improvements for the coming school year were discussed, the gentlemen being very gracious and promising every assistance in this worthy work. A committee was appointed to meet at an early date with some members of the board, and re-arrange some of the rooms, making it more convenient and comfortable for the children and teachers. It was decided to put up danger signals and re-arrange the drive ways in the campus, also to make a gravel walk for the childre's comfort instead of having them wade water getting to the school building. It was decided to take up a proposition from the Sunset Coffee Company of Houston to advertise their coffee, thus making a nice little sum to help defray the expenses of these proposed improvements. If the women can raise money enough, they are hoping to put a rail around the campus, preventing this criss-cross and dangerous driving across the campus. Many social entertainments were planned, looking to the raising of this money, and in the near future you will hear of some of them. Get ready and go, for we must have some money, and this is all the way we know how to get it this hot weather.

The association adjourned for the summer, except the committees, and if you are called on to serve on a committee, get up and serve. We must do a lot of work before September, and every one must do their share. Mrs. J. A. McConnell, Reporter.

STANLEY HURLS DART AT HARDING IN FIGHT ON PRESS FREEDOM

Senator Bitterly Assails Executive For Attempt to Muzzle News on Daugherty.

Washington, June 3.—President Harding and Attorney General Daugherty were assailed Saturday in the senate by Senator Stanley, democrat, Kentucky, in connection with statements credited Friday to President Harding with respect to a senate attack on Secretary Hoover and to assertions made by Mr. Daugherty in his Chicago address Friday as to the policy to be followed in filling 24 judgeships created under a bill recently passed by the senate and house.

Senator Stanley, interpreting the president's remarks on the basis of some newspaper accounts, to refer to criticisms of all cabinet officers, including Mr. Daugherty, said Mr. Harding was attempting "to stifle if not muzzle" the press. Turning his fire on the attorney general, the senator accused him of having by his Chicago speech served public notice on applications for the judgeship that they must not say anything in criticism of Mr. Daugherty if they expect appointment to the bench.

Reading from a dispatch in the Philadelphia press in which it was stated that the president had taken a "two fisted fling at the political black-guards" who attacked executive officers Senator Stanley wanted to know "who are the black-guards who were assailing the attorney general?"

"There are two members of congress only," he said, "who wore the colors and the uniform of a soldier; eminent senators, representing sovereign states, ambassadors from two proud commonwealths. It is possible that a genial, self-poised courteous gentleman occupying this high place should so far forget himself in his desperate attempt to shield a man who dares not shield himself; to speak for a man who dares not speak for himself?"

"Will the president, in his desperation, finding no other who dares say a word for this discredited official, denounce senators as black-guards who criticize the crooked operations of a political broker who makes it a business, it is charged at least, to deceive the chief magistrate of the United States in order that men may despoil women in time of peace and plunder the treasury in time of war."

adelphia Public Ledger in which it was stated that the president believed newspapermen and newspapers performed a public service in "putting on the brakes," in the publication of attacks on executive officers. Mr. Stanley said he would tell the president himself that "this is not Austria; this is not Prussia; this is the once free America, at least."

"Putting on the brakes is the next thing to putting on the muzzle," he declared, "and the statement is an implied threat to the press. Not the president nor congress, nor senate, judges shall shackle or abridge the freedom of the press in the United States while the first amendment of the constitution is intact and there are men of wisdom and courage ready to defend and maintain it."

Senator Stanley referring to Attorney General Daugherty's speech Friday night before the Illinois Bar association, said Mr. Daugherty had admonished those seeking high offices, the president had agreed with the attorney general that in the matter of selection of judges these supporting the candidates "ought to consult with 'us'—Harry Daugherty and Warren G. Harding, the president of the United States."

"Twenty four judges are shortly to be named," said Mr. Stanley, "and you must consult with 'us,' and that is given to the public. Why? as a notice to all who seek a place upon the bench 'do not say anything about Daugherty because Daugherty shadows the representatives and senators; Daugherty sleuths are charged with framing up important witnesses and Daugherty is not very apt to give his consent! Will no consent to the naming of a judge who says anything about 'us.'"

"Is the ermine to be besmirched by all the filth that now stains and dishonors the department of justice? and does the president mean to account to the world that Daugherty must be consulted before he will name a judge and that a senator or representative is a rascal or a black-guard who dares assail him?"

GOVERNOR NEFF ANNOUNCES FOR SECOND TERM

EXECUTIVE BELIEVES HE IS IN POSITION TO GIVE SERVICE.

Austin, Texas, June 3.—Governor Pat M. Neff Saturday announced himself for re-election in the following statement, addressed to the Democracy of Texas:

"Sixteen months ago I was inducted into the office of governor of Texas. At that time, the detailed working affairs of the state government to me were new. I therefore proceeded with my work cautiously and carefully. By constant thought and conscientious work, I have become reasonably familiar with the various departments of our government. I have also visited and studied our numerous educational and eleemosynary institutions, and know something of their wants and necessities. While gaining an intimate knowledge of our government and institutions, I have at the same time kept in close touch with the people and their conditions, and know their thoughts concerning the state's affairs. Believing that the work and thought given by me to the duties of the office of governor in the past will enable me better to serve in solving some of the pressing problems now pending for consideration, and having an ambition thus to serve, I hereby announce my candidacy for re-election for a second term to the office of governor.

"Claiming political allegiance to the democratic party only, this announcement of course is made subject to our party primary to be held on July 22nd of this year.

"In public office, as in private life, the distinguishing trait and the priceless principle to which all right thinking people pay homage and respect is unflinching fidelity to truth and unswerving devotion to duty. These virtues I have faithfully followed, as your governor, insofar as He who rules in the councils of men has given me light and wisdom to see. Perhaps I have made mistakes in the past. I doubt not that I shall make mistakes in the future. However, I have tried to serve the citizenship of the state in the highest and truest sense, and at all times, through good and evil report, I have had as a constant companion, a clear conscience.

"If the democratic voters of Texas feel that they can in full justice to their State honor me with a second term as their governor, I shall deeply appreciate it, and shall continue my efforts in behalf of the welfare of our people, with a sincere ambition to fulfill their expectations and to justify their confidence."

Judge Stops Court Loan Friend Money.

The Dalles, Ore., May 27.—"Indian" Spencer, in from the Warm Springs reservation and dressed in his "finest," elbowed his way through the railed section of the superior court room where counsel and defendant were parked Friday, interrupted District Attorney Galloway as he addressed the jury, and asked Judge Fred W. Wilson for the loan of 50 cents.

The judge smiled in unison with the prosecutor, spectators and jury, handed the Indian the coin and the prosecutor resumed his oratory.

Judge Wilson is known among the Indians as "Tillicum" and Indian Spencer he numbers among his friends on the reservation.

"DUMB-BELL" DRESS FLAYED BY LINDSAY

Denver, May 31.—Sartorial idiosyncrasies should be included in the "tests" of the Denver juvenile court psychoanalysis chart, according to Judge Ben B. Lindsay, who declared, in sentencing a youth for delinquency, that oil-smearing hair, bell-bottom trousers, low-cut vests, and "ruff-back" sleek hair cuts were an indication of moral wickedness. The noted jurist then proceeded to "flay dumb-bell" dress.

Judge Lindsay directed that in the future officers of the court add a notation on the cut of the hair and style of dress to the physiological and psychological data and family history now a part of regular reports on delinquency cases.

Judge Lindsay announced his new found psychological observations when Howard Crane, nineteen, appeared before him on a charge of having violated a probation he had been placed on after conviction of stealing an automobile. Young Crane left the jurisdiction of the court for two months and went to Texas.

Crane is a tall, stoop-shouldered youth whose long hair was combed straight back to the collar of his coat and shone like a patent leather shoe—a style which, the court said, is popular among youths brought to court for numerous offenses.

"Son," Judge Lindsay said when Crane appeared looking like a matinee idol, "how did your hair get that way?"

"I use water to make it lay down," Crane responded.

"But why do you cut it that way?" the court asked, continuing:

"It is strange thing that haircuts of that type seem to be correlated with a certain kind of weakness. Do you spend your afternoons at drug store fountains sipping lemon cokes through a straw?"

Judge Lindsay declared himself in favor of bobbed hair for girls, but he frowned on the "male flapper."

"I only wish I was sending you some place where they would give you a man's hair cut," Lindsey announced in sentencing Crane to 30 days in jail.

Baylor University Awards Dan Russell a Scholarship.

The Lariat, the college newspaper published by students of Baylor University, has this to say of Daniel Russell, a Houston county boy: "Daniel Russell, this year chairman of the judicial council and all-round popular student leader, has been granted a scholarship in the University of Chicago for next year. Dan says 'he is sho' goin'.' The Lariat says that Daniel's fellow students have voted him a valuable medal, and not only the medal but a coat to wear it on, and that they have further voted him the only original 'jelly bean' in the university. Daniel's friends at home are proud of the distinction he has won, but no less amused at the 'jelly bean' joke.

CREDIT AND DUNS.

Says the Brownwood Bulletin:

Even the friendly monthly statement sent out by the live, wide-awake and up-to-date business men is often the occasion of hard feelings, owing to a lack of understanding on the part of some receiving the same. How often do you hear a customer say: "You sent me a dun," or "I don't want you to send me any duns." When the fact is the labor and service rendered by any merchant in sending out monthly statements should be appreciated as a painstaking method of keeping customers informed as to their standing and business connection with the store they trade with.

To which State Press of the Dallas News adds:

People who are sensitive over duns shouldn't buy on credit. The seller is as much entitled to ask for payment when payment is due, as the buyer is to ask for credit, when the purchase is made. There is too much credit business in this country. It is too easy to say, "charge it."

Too many persons of small means are trying to live like persons of large means by owing the difference. Too many little businesses are trying to expand into big businesses by borrowing capital.

Too many small farmers, too many ranchmen, too many newspaper publishers are attempting to spread their operations over sufficient ground with the use of borrowed money to justify them so-called "quantity" production.

There are too many people who want to be big people with borrowed capital representing the expansion. Quantity production will bankrupt any producer on a declining market if the decline lasts long enough to absorb the capital owned by him.

Don't rock the boat unless you know how to swim. The other fellow doesn't count.

STATES' RIGHTS BY SAVOYARD

Washington, May 29.—The supreme court of the United States has astonished the people of the United States. Through the chief justice that august tribunal has handed down an opinion adjudicating that the States which make our glorious Union have some rights that congress must respect. The issue was raised in an act of congress regulating labor in industries located in the States, and the court of last resort holds that the act is unconstitutional and therefore an usurpation and must be held for naught. It is about the first glimpse of States' rights the American public has seen for many years and it may be observed that it knocks all the constitutional profundity out of statecraft as preached by the Hon. Beveridge of Indiana.

The constitution of the United States is of Virginia parentage and Virginia birth, though ignorance and stupidity have exhausted language to assert that our fundamental law is a direct lineal descendant of a ship named Mayflower. After our fathers gained their independence from Great Britain representatives of the colonies sat in council to form "a more perfect Union" than the Articles of Confederation afforded. They deliberated long, and as fruit thereof they presented to the colonies for ratification a shell that old Virginia put the American system into, for old Virginia made the first ten amendments and they are the soul of American liberty, or were the soul of it when the States had rights.

It was Virginia that forbade an established religion. It was Virginia that asserted the right of the citizen to bear arms. It was Virginia that forbade the quartering in time of peace of soldiers in the house of the citizen without his consent. It was Virginia that secured the citizen in his home and preserved his houses, papers and effects against searches and seizures. It was Virginia that established the grand jury and prescribed that no citizen should be twice put in jeopardy of life and limb for the same offense. It was Virginia that assured an accused a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury and gave him the right to confront his accusers, also to force the attendance of witnesses in his behalf and to have the aid of counsel at his trial. It was Virginia that preserved the right of trial by jury in all civil actions involving amounts of $20 and more. It was Virginia that forbade excessive bail, excessive fines and cruel and inhuman punishments. And it was Virginia that put this in the constitution:

"The enumeration in the constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people."

And it was Virginia that forced Article X into the constitution, without which the colonies could have refused to form the Union. Here it is:

"The powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States are reserved to the States respectively or to the people."

The foregoing constituted the soul of the American Union and they are the invention of old Virginia, God bless her!

The recent supreme court adjudication ascertaining that the States have some rights left, I hope also implies that the supply of free speech is not quite exhausted, which emboldens me to cite the fact, if it be not treason, that Virginia ratified the Constitution of the United States with the positive and distinct reservation that when she did not like the way things were carried on she was at liberty to secede from the Union. New York, I believe, made the same reservation.

But the South ran our Federal government for seventy years with such wisdom and justice that millions of men sprang to arms to whip Virginia for attempting to exercise her reserved right to secede in 1861. It was a long and a bloody war, as glorious on the part of the South as it was victorious on the part of the North. States' rights were shot to death on a hundred battlefields. All political and military powers were concentrated at Washington. The creature of the States, in practice, Federal establishment, no longer the became the master of the States. Authority no longer issued from the people; but under the Fifteenth amendment authority originated at Washington and commanded the people everywhere.

Taxes Depopulate Town.

"They bonded the town so dog-gone heavy the folks all moved away."

That's the way one of the "surviving" residents described the plight at Pershing, Ok.

Pershing—boom town of the Osage country—incorporated in 1919, and quickly growing to a population of several thousand, has but a few hundred inhabitants left within its limits. Its "Main Street" looks deserted—for all the world like a stage street on a movie "lot" after the mob "extras" have left and the cameras have ceased to grind.

It had big ideas, according to the "early settlers." It took the name of the commander of the American armies in the war, and General Pershing, justly proud, gave money for its beautiful church edifice.

But it wanted public improvements and bonded itself for $140,000. Taxes soon soared. They reached 16 per cent, where they are at present, and the Pershingites began to "pull up stakes" and move. Some of the buildings were portable, were hauled out of town. Others were boarded up.

Oklahoma taxpayers who took $80,000 of Pershing's bonds have now asked for an investigation, which has been ordered, to ascertain why the interest on their bonds has not been kept up.

And in the meantime Pershing wonders what it will do to solve its problem—taxes, taxes and still more taxes.—Dallas Democrat.

LIQUID SPRAYS FOR POISONING WEEVIL FAKES

A warning against liquid sprayer attachments to cotton poisoning machinery is issued by B. R. Coad, director of the boll weevil laboratory of the United States Department of Agriculture. Calcium arsenate applied as a dust, he points out, is the only certain means yet found for controlling the boll weevil and any effort to control by means of liquid sprays is useless. Sprayer attachments are, therefore, not only unnecessary but are an added burden. They increase the cost of machinery and make it more complicated and difficult to operate. The liquid spray, even if it were as effective as the dust method, would be decidedly more expensive. It would necessitate the use of water carts, to feed the machines, would demand an ample and constant water supply which is not available on most farms, and in various ways would increase the cost of poisoning operations. Orchardists and others who have to conduct poisoning operations regularly are constantly searching for poisons that can be dusted instead of sprayed. Cotton growers are very fortunate in that the one really effective method of controlling the boll weevil is the dust method and they should not waste time and money, Mr. Coad points out, in experimenting with the expensive spray method that farmers in other lines are so constantly trying to get away from.

In addition to the foregoing spraying equipment we also find on the market many curious devices for applying some liquid preparation, usually containing calcium arsenate, for the control of the boll weevil. Some of these are to be attached to plows, others to cultivators, while still others run independently. They are usually provided with some exceedingly simple form of tank with a gravity flow of liquid, which either drips on the plants or is wiped on them by some form of brushes or rags. Many such implements are absolutely comical, and the only sad feature is to fact that some farmers are foolish enough to purchase them. The literature advertising these implements promise wonderful results and the directions given often call for only a small fraction of a pound of poison per acre, which is distributed over the plants in a very irregular manner. To expect boll weevil control from such method is absolutely absurd. The Department specialists have been attempting boll weevil control with liquid applications for many years. In these tests they use the finest available high pressure spraying machinery, distributing the liquid poison over the plants in a mist form, thus reaching absolutely every part of the plant. Furthermore, these applications are usually made at the rate of 100 gallons of solution per acre. In spite of this these spray applications do not control the boll weevil, and how can anyone expect to secure benefit from the absurd recommendation issued with some of the machines now offered the farmer?

Farmers who desire more detailed information on this subject may secure it free of charge by writing the Delta Laboratory, Tullulah, La.

$365 IN PRIZES FOR BEST RHYMES

A new contest is just being started which will interest everyone who reads this paper. Anyone can enter this Contest—anyone can win! All it is necessary to do is to write a 4-line rhyme on Dr. Price's Phosphate Baking Powder, using only the words which appear on the label of the Dr. Price can (front and back).

Isn't that easy? Everyone likes to make rhymes and here is a chance to spend a fascinating hour or two writing rhymes on this popular Baking Powder and perhaps winning a substantial prize for your efforts.

27 CASH PRIZES

For the rhyme selected as best a prize of $100 will be given; for the second, third and fourth best rhymes prizes of $75, $50, and $25, respectively will be given. And besides these prizes there will be 23 prizes of $5 each for the next 23 best rhymes. With such a long list of prizes as these, it would be a pity not to try your hand. Here's a 4-line rhyme as example:

*Biscuits, muffins, pie or cake,
With Dr. Price's Powder bake,
The Price's Co., guarantee
No alum in the cans to be.*

As Dr. Price's Phosphate Baking Powder sells for only 25 cents a 13 oz. can, some rhymes could play up the great economy of this pure and wholesome baking powder.

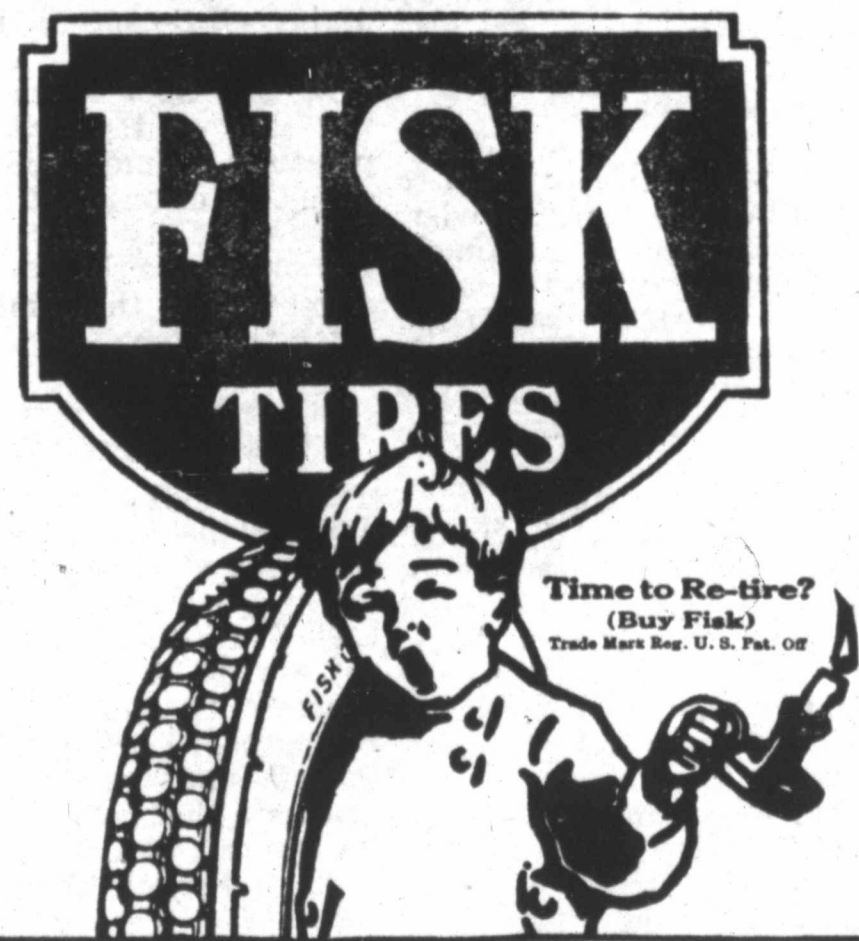

All rhymes must be received by July 1, 1922. Only words appearing on the label of the Dr. Price can (front and back) may be used. These words may be used as often as desired, but no other words will be allowed. If you haven't a can of Dr. Price's, you can see one free at almost any grocer's. It is not a requirement that you purchase a can in order to be eligible in this Contest.

Anyone may enter the Contest, but only one rhyme from each person will be considered. In case of ties, the full amount of the prize will be given to each tying contestant. Write plainly on only one side of a sheet of paper and be sure to give your name and address. Send your rhyme before July 1st to Price Baking Powder Factory, 1005 Independence Blvd., Chicago, Ill.

REORGANIZATION OF I. & G. N. CALLS FOR $18,000,000 CASH

Four Million Dollars Is Required As Working Fund of the New Company.

Houston, Texas, June 3.—Plans for the reorganization of the International & Great Northern railway, in receivership since the fall of 1914, prepared by J. and W. Seligman & Co., and adopted by the committee representing the holders of the three-year 5 per cent notes, of which Frederick Strauss is chairman, call for the underwriting of cash requirements of approximately $18,000,000. Of this amount at least $4,000,000 is reserved for a working fund for the new company. Under the reorganization plan it is expected to reduce the fixed charges from $1,597,175 to $1,179,000 an annual cut of $418,175, or about 26 per cent.

Provision is made in the new plan for the issuance of three classes of new securities: $40,000,000 first mortgage bonds to be issued in series; $25,000,000 adjustment mortgage bonds, issuable in separate series, interest on which will be cumulative beginning January 1, 1928, and $7,500,000 common stock.

The plan calls for the issuance of $20,000,000 of the first named bonds, series "A," first mortgage, 35-year, 6 per cent, $11,420,500 of which are to be exchanged for International & Great Northern bonds and Colorado bridge bonds outstanding; $5,829,500 to be sold for cash and $2,750,000 to cover a note to be issued to the government to liquidate receiver's certificates now held by the government.

Of the adjusted mortgage bonds, $17,000,000 are to be issued to redeem $13,452,120 three-year notes, $1,084,000 to take up refunding and first mortgage bonds of the defunct company and $2,463,880 are to be sold for cash.

The common stock of $7,500,000 is to be issued in the sum of $2,452,120 to liquidate three-year notes; $517,990 for bond refunding purposes and $4,529,890 sold to provide cash working funds for the new company.

Under the terms of the plan the stock of the new company is to be assigned to Williard V. King, James Speyer and Frederick Strauss as trustees to be held by them jointly subject to a trust agreement for a five-year period.

Holders of the various classes of International & Great Northern securities who agree to the terms of the reorganization and deposit their holdings will on the completion of the reorganization, be entitled to the following exchange:

For each $1000 International & Great Northern Railroad company first mortgage gold bond (with coupon maturing November 1, 1922); $1000 first mortgage 6 per cent bonds, series "A" of the new company, carrying interest from July 1, 1922; and $55 in cash.

For each $1000 Colorado Bridge company first mortgage gold bond (with coupon maturing November 1, 1922); $1000 first mortgage 6 per cent bonds, series "A" of the new company, carrying interest from July 1, 1922; and $57.50 in cash.

For each $1000 International & Great Northern Railroad company three-year gold note (with coupon maturing August 1, 1914); $1,222.92 adjustment mortgage 6 per cent bonds, ranking for interest from January 1, 1923; and $222.92 in common stock.

For each $1000 International & Great Northern Railway company first and refunding mortgage bonds (with coupons maturing May 1, 1914, and all subsequent coupons): $978.34 adjustment mortgage bonds, ranking for interest from January 1, 1923; and $467.50 in common stock.

Provision is made in the plan to pay off in cash at maturity, November 1, 1922, holders of first mortgage bonds of the International & Great Northern Railroad company and the Colorado Bridge company who do not elect to deposit their securities under the new plan.

COAL OPERATORS MAKE BIG PROFIT IN AUGUST, 1920

NEW MARGINS OF FROM 59 TO 79 PER CENT ARE SHOWN.

Washington, June 1.—A report has been made to congress, the federal trade commission announced Wednesday night, covering "investment and profit" of bituminous coal mine operators for the last six years statistics on which the report was based having been collected partly by the commission, and for the last three years by the National Coal association. The committee said "it does not vouch for" the latter figures.

The six-year average of profit, as shown by the report, was 15 per cent, the yearly average being as follows: Nineteen hundred and sixteen—8 per cent; 1917—29 per cent; 1918—18 per cent; 1919—6 per cent; 1920 (nine months)—23 per cent; 1921—3 per cent.

"The report shows," the commission said, "that while in the first three months of 1920, under the fuel administration price regulation, operators in Ohio, West Virginia, Tennessee and Kansas were earning at rates varying from 5 to 18 per cent, these same operators during the peak of panic prices in August 1920, were making net margins, according to figures given by the National Coal association, at the rate of 59 per cent in Ohio, 57 per cent in West Virginia, 64 per cent in Tennessee and 79 per cent in Kansas, though the average price in August, 1920, in none of these states was higher than $5.23 per ton."

The report covered the operation of 1126 "representative" companies having an aggregate investment of $521,250,000 "as revised by the commission," but an aggregate of $758,000,000, according to the balance sheets. This was estimated by the commission to figure $3.12 per ton of annual production. The estimate of investment made by one large company was "revised" downward by 54 per cent, the report said, through elimination of over-valuation, and investments in properties not connected with the coal industry.

Should Have Camping Park.

A party of prosperous-looking automobile tourists from Columbia, Mo., inquired about a camping park at Crockett Tuesday afternoon, but decided to go to Huntsville. The city of Crockett, as the owner of the fair grounds property, could very easily fix up, at a small cost, a camping park for tourists at the fair grounds. A small house for shower bath and toilet and clean grounds for camping are about all that is needed. Many automobile tourists, to and from Galveston, will pass through Crockett this summer.

JAIL THREAT IN MERGER HEARING

WARM TILT BETWEEN ATTORNEY UNTERMYER AND BANKER CHIEF.

New York, June 3.—The sparks flew again today at the Lockwood committee investigation of the latest steel merger, with Samuel Untermyer, committee counsel, swinging on the anvil, and Mortimer L. Schiff of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., flaring in anger at his interrogations. Their verbal fusillade got so hot at one time that Untermyer warned the banker he might go to jail for refusing to answer questions. Schiff quickly intimated that if he did, Untermyer would keep him company behind the bars.

The discussion centered around the part Kuhn, Loeb & Co., are to take in merging the Republic, Midvale and International companies into the North American Steel Corporation. Schiff insisted the relationship of his firm was purely one of banking. They were "financially feathering" the enterprise, he said, and were to head a syndicate to underwrite $25,000,000 in preferred stock at $90 and $44,000,000 in common stock at $43, and then raise another $20,000,000 in cash to purchase additional Midvale paper.

Untermyer contended that the bankers intended to "create a market" for the stock of the new corporation with this $20,000,000 cash and that they were likely to manipulate prices to favorable levels by buying and selling securities.

Hot with resentment, Schiff called on Chairman Lockwood to make Untermyer to cease asking "unfair" questions.

After he had admitted that the bank might both buy and sell the stock, the question that set off the fireworks was put to Mr. Schiff in these words:

"So that whilst with one hand the syndicate is selling stock to the public, with the other hand, it is buying stock from the public."

Man Falls 6 Stories; Walks Away Unhurt.

Shreveport, La., June 1.—After falling six stories from his office window Thursday, G. M. Wallace, lawyer, picked himself up and asked the way to the nearest doctor, as he believed he had hurt himself. He is in a sanitarium recovering from minor injuries. SPEND YOUR DOLLARS WITH OUR ADVERTISERS.

The advertisers in The Courier deserve the first consideration, and patronage of the home people since it is a fact that his dollar is doing double and full part in the co-operation and support of the home business enterprises, as decidedly constructive and valuable assets our community, also as our customers, who make it possible, by the co-operation, for us to publish the Courier. Do not send your money away from home to get what could be had at home just as cheap and equal in value in the long run and thereby helping those who are helping you by spending their money at home for the upbuilding and progress of our city. This is not only reasonable and right to spend your money with home enterprises but a dollar kept in circulation at

What the Former A. & M. President Writes in the Rusk County News.

MILLIONS FOR PROTECTION.

Millions for protection, not one for a tariff for revenue only, is the way the situation looms up at Washington. When the democrats, years ago, departed from the sound democratic doctrine for a tariff for revenue only they sounded the death blow to one of the long standing tenets of the democratic party. The rice growers, all southern gentlemen, and formerly for Jeff Davis and the Constitution, are demanding protection. The Louisiana ribbon cane growers and the Colorado beet farmers are calling loud for a tariff for protection only. The sheep man in New York joins hands with his wild and woolly brother on the plains of Texas for a tax on foreign wool. Old Virginia, proud and noble of name, the birth place of democracy and the mother of the biggest presidents of any state in the Union, beckons unto Georgia, and sends greetings all the way to Texas, something about a tariff on peanuts so high that no pig tail, cross-eyed Chinaman can climb over in a thousand years. And every cotton seed producer from the Gulf of Mexico to the tobacco patches of North Carolina is heard to exclaim as the procession moves by: "Count me in, too, boys, while counting is good." "No cow hide in America shall have a competitor again so long as the flag shall wave over the land of the brave and the home of the free," or something to that effect, is heard from every cow-pen throughout the nation. It is protection for all, whatever that means.

BERRIES.

We should not forget to remark that no country so far as horticulturists have been able to discover grows berries as well as Eastern Texas. Here can be produced blackberries, dewberries and strawberries to absolute perfection. And yet, and yet, we are bound to admit that the farm home that is supplied with these healthful fruits is an exception. One row of each the length of an average garden will furnish more berries to eat while fresh and to can for all the year round than the average family can consume. How thoughtless, indifferent and unconcerned we seem to be!

Thousands of acres of land adjacent to our railroad stations over here in Eastern Texas can be made to produce in blackberries about $100 each, every year. The labor required to cultivate and harvest an acre in blackberries is very little more than is required to cultivate and gather an acre of cotton. The poorest land in Smith county for years, some of it, has averaged more than $100 per acre in blackberries. A very few adaptable acres in strawberries, say three acres, which is a good crop for a one-horse farmer, will average from year to year, $500 per acre. Instances in Smith county can be cited where one acre in strawberries has produced as much as $1200.

We are glad to see Senator Owen, who is largely responsible for the Federal Reserve Banking Law, calling the attention of the public to the mean way the Federal Reserve board has prostituted that law. That entire board should be retired to those pleasant shades where the responsibilities of office shall never again tempt them to rob the industry of the Nation.

THE TOWN MAN AND THE FARMER.

One day a benevolently inclined town man, in an adjoining county, was returning home after a visit in the country. On the way he met a farmer with an empty wagon, except a lone bale of hay. The town man, with much feeling, cried out:

"Hold up, my good farmer! I am ashamed to think my town will permit a farmer to haul his hay to the market and then refuse to buy it at the market price. Before you shall take it back home I will pay you for it myself, even if I have to leave it on the roadside."

And then the town man was informed by the farmer that he had given 75 cents for that bale of hay at the warehouse in town, and was taking it home to feed his mule while he plowed the grass up in his cotton patch.

"How much grass is in your cotton patch, dear farmer," asked the town man.

"Oh, it is very grassy. I am afraid, if it keeps on raining, that I will never be able to clean it," said the farmer.

"Is the grass good for your mule?" inquired the town man.

"Yes, it is very good for all kinds home helps every business here and may meet and cheer you again any day, while the dollar sent away is gone to stay.

of stock. If I don't plow that grass up right soon I will have to muzzle my mule to keep him from eating all the time I am plowing," answered the farmer.

"How many bales of hay would an acre of your land make, dear farmer?"

"I have some land which will make 75 bales per acre. The land where my cotton is will make more than that. I tell you nothing grows like grass," said the farmer.

"Well, my dear farmer, if your land will make 75 bales to the acre, at 75 cents per bale, your hay on one acre would be worth $57.75. But suppose it should turn out that it produced only 50 bales per acre; that would be $37.50," remarked the town man. "But, my dear farmer," continued the town man, "how many acres of your grassy cotton can your mule plow in a day and clean it?"

"About two acres," answered the farmer.

"So I see; you go to town, lose a day almost, pay 75 cents for a bale of hay to kill something like a $100 worth of grass to make about one-half bale of cotton, worth something like $50," exclaimed the town man in a manner that showed great emotion.

The substance of the above dialogue actually took place between a prominent business man of Eastern Texas and well known all over this country, and a farmer of his county, several years ago."

Hitt The Boll Weevil Before He Hits You!

The Machine With the Pans and Brushes
DON'T BUY A SUBSTITUTE

Which To Invest $15 NOW in a Hitt Boll Weevil Catcher—Or to Run is Best? the Risk of Pasturing Weevils on High Priced 1922 Cotton?

We make the Hitt Boll Weevil Catcher and over 5,000 in successful use in Texas alone proves that this machine with the pans and brushes—EASILY ATTACHED TO ANY CULTIVATOR—will stop the boll weevil.

Why? Because as you work your every cultivator RIGHT NOW, and IN-SURE against the boll weevil rather than HOPE he won't show up. Start using the machine as soon as the cotton begins to square. Then you'll KEEP IT CLEAN until laid by—and all without any extra labor cost.

We believe in economy. But do not take unnecessary chances with your whole crop investment to save a few dollars—so we say, Mr. Farmer, don't gamble with the boll weevil. Use our machines and be safe instead of sorry.

Price Only $15.00 F.O.B. DALLAS HITT BOLL WEEVIL MACHINE CO., 802 Cadiz St., Dallas, Texas

GOT TWELVE MORE BALES
Hitt Boll Weevil Machine Co., Dallas, Texas.
I wish to advise you that I have used three of your Boll Weevil Catchers and have found them satisfactory, in the way I used them, and they can be used profitably by any man that will constantly use them. I made, on the average land, 12 bales more cotton as a result of the use of these machines. In my opinion, a man can make more cotton by using these machines in any year than he can without, for they stimulate the growth of the cotton.—(Signed) FRANK DOHERTY, Austin, Texas, Feb. 23, 1922.

Marvin Ellis Announces.

Editor Courier:

I beg to hand you herewith my announcement as a candidate for the legislature, subject to the action of the democratic primaries.

In making my announcement I have no long list of things I wish to go to the legislature to have done, nor do I have any new ideas of democracy. I only have a desire to represent Houston county in the next legislature, feeling that my service may be of mutual benefit to myself and to the county.

From my experience in the practice of law, my association with men and with government departments, I believe that I am competent to meet and cope with the issues that will arise there. Many problems that will come up for consideration are as large as the state itself and I would not feel justified in saying that I would support or oppose any specific measure until I had had an opportunity to study it carefully and determine its effect upon the welfare, happiness and fortunes of our people.

If elected I can only promise faithful service and give my constituents the benefit of the very best that I can render.

I do feel, however, that while business is in its present nervous condition, it is to the best interest of all that as little disturbance be created as possible; that the tax burden should be reduced as much as possible, and since our county is one almost solely devoted to agriculture, the interests of the farmer should have my special study.

I will not have time to make a close canvass of the county, but shall be glad, in fact am anxious, to meet and confer with every voter, both ladies and men, between this and the day of the election, and will appreciate a call from any and all voters and be glad to confer with them. Make me YOUR candidate and I will be YOUR representative.

Respectfully yours,
C. M. Ellis.

Presbyterian Meeting.

Editor Courier:

Please let me say through your paper that I am expecting my church to have a protracted meeting beginning on the last Sunday in September. The evangelist who is to help me is Rev. Ernest Thacker, D. D., who has had large experience in revival meetings. He will have a singer with him. They held a meeting in Huntsville in April, which was participated in by the other denominations. I heard very favorable reports of the preaching, and the large attendance in Huntsville. We will hope to have the co-operation of the brethren of the other churches.

Life Member.

At a stated communication of Trinity Chapter No. 4, Royal Arch Masons, held Tuesday night, June 13, Judge John Spence of this city was made a life member and exempted from payment of all dues. Judge Spence has filled every office in the chapter, both appointive and elective, with one exception, that of treasurer. He has been a member twenty-nine years.

Stubblefield Church Burns.

Stubblefield church, six miles southeast of Kennard, burned last Sunday night after services. Sheriff Hale went to Stubblefield community Monday and, after conferring with some of the citizens living there, arrested three young men and brought them to Crockett, where they made bond. The sheriff says there are two other young men who live over the line of Trinity county whom he has asked to be arrested and delivered to him. It is said there has been considerable rowdyism in that community lately.

Potato Organization Chartered.

A meeting of the Houston County Sweet Potato Growers' Association was held at the court house Saturday, June 7, for the purpose of selecting directors and officers to handle the affairs for the year.

W. E. Bennett was chosen president and S. M. Monzingo was selected secretary. B. E. Goodrum of Weldon, J. W. Spence and R. L. Vandeventer of Latexo, J. N. Richards of Wesley Chapel and J. W. Arledge compose the directors.

An application for charter was made and S. M. Monzingo was elected to represent this county at the state meeting to be held in Dallas June 15.

Members will still be received in the association till further notice. Every bushel of marketable sweet potatoes should be sold through this co-operative plan this year.

S. M. Monzingo.

Married at Palestine.

Miss Marian Dupree of this city and Mr. Calvin Reitch of Palestine were married at Palestine Monday afternoon, the pastor of the Palestine Christian church performing the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Reitch left immediately for a bridal trip to New Orleans, after which they will return to Palestine to make their home. As stenographer and bookkeeper in the office of County Superintendent Rosser, the bride has made her home in Crockett for the last two or more years and has endeared herself to the people of Crockett in an enduring manner. Her home was formerly in Rusk, where her parents reside. Mr. Reitch has been a frequent visitor in Crockett and has impressed himself with our people as a young man of sterling qualities. He is connected in an auditing capacity with the claim department of the I. & G. N. railway. He is to be congratulated, and both himself and his bride have the best wishes of all our people for their future happiness and success in life.

TAKES ISSUE ON EVOLUTION

To The Courier:

A writer in Harper's lately tries to pursue the unusual tactics of evolutionists—of making free use of bold assertion. It used to be said of some politicians that their policy after an election was to claim everything in sight—and sometimes they claimed much that was not in sight. When the votes were counted, and the election was pronounced against the political candidate, he shut his eyes and asserted there had been fraud in counting the votes. The evolutionists seem to me to be very much of that type. This late writer in Harper's continues the same policy of persistent and bold claims, especially assuming that scholarly men accept evolution. I am sometimes asked who are the great scholars who do not accept evolution. A little pamphlet by Professor Townsend gives some statements (in his treatise called "The Collapse of Evolution") that he would hardly dare to make unless the statements are true. He quotes Dr. Shaler, professor of geology of Harvard, as saying the hypothesis of Darwin "is still essentially verified." Professor Everett of Harvard quotes to the same effect. He also shows that in the earlier days Agassiz, Joseph Henry, Sir William Dawson and Arnold Guyot pronounced evolution false and unscientific.

Dr. Etheridge of the British Museum, a very high authority, says, "in all this great museum there is not a particle of evidence of transmutation of species. Nine-tenths of the talk of evolutionists is sheer nonsense. This museum is full of proofs of the utter falsity of their views." And if any other museum in the world has any true specimen of evolution, why do not the Darwinians tell us about it? Why do not the Smithsonian Institution, the Metropolitan Museum of New York, the museum of Egypt, the relics that the excavations have brought to light from Ninevah, Babylon, the island of Cyprus, the ancient city of Troy that was excavated three stories down below the earth's surface and pronounced many relics—why not draw on all these sources of ancient treasures to show us one true, clear distinct specimen of evolution? Echo answers "why?"

Professor Townsend quotes from Lionel S. Beale, who is said to be with Lord Kelvin at the head of English scientists, as saying: "The idea of any relation having been established between the nonliving and living by a gradual advance from lifeless matter to the lowest forms of life and so onward to the higher and more complex, has not the slightest evidence from the fact of any section of living nature of which anything is known. There is no evidence that man is descended from, or is, or was, in anyway specially related to any other organism in nature through evolution or by any other process. In support of all naturalistic conjectures concerning man's origin, there is not at this time a shadow of scientific evidence."

It is stated that Professor Virchow of Berlin, the highest German authority, who at one time advocated Darwin's and Haeckel's views afterward stated: "It is all nonsense. It can not be proved by science that man descends from the ape or from any other animal."

Haeckel, Germany's greatest biologist and a rank evolutionist, laments that he stands most alone, and bewails the fact that "most modern investigators of science have come to the conclusion that the doctrine of evolution is an error and can not be maintained."

Professor Paulsen of Berlin, in criticizing evolution, declared Haeckel's theory "is a disgrace to the philosophy of Germany."

These quotations and others can be found in Professor Townsend's pamphlet, "Collapse of Evolution," published by the National Magazine Company, Boston, Mass.

The writer in Harper's, as evolutionists often do, casts a sneer at the biblical account of the creation of man, and claims that there are two conflicting accounts in the first and second chapters of Genesis. He betrays his prejudice and his anti-Christian spirit, and does not allow himself to take the common sense interpretation, or he would see that the first statement is general that God created man in his own image, while the next statement is in detail as to how God formed the body of Adam, and breathed into him the breath of life. Give me the plain common sense statement of Moses, the inspired writer of Genesis. As it was said of Jesus, "He spake as one having authority, and not as the scribes." So Moses in his account of the origin of man wrote as one having authority, and not as the evolutionary scribes.

OUSLEY SCORES
CULLEN THOMAS

Athens, Texas, June 10.—After discussing measures for agricultural betterment by national legislation, as he has done elsewhere, Clarence Ousley, candidate for United States senator, today paid his respects to the proposal of Mr. Cullen Thomas for the government in emergencies to buy the surplus of certain staple crops, such as cotton, corn and wheat.

"I mean no personal disrespect to Mr. Thomas," he said, "but I am compelled to express the utmost disrespect for his proposal. It is the most arrogant nonsense I have heard since the populist party proposed to issue currency on farm products under what was called the sub-treasury plan. But there is so much economic fallacy entertained since the Russian soviet was set up that this particular croquet may deceive somebody if it is not analyzed."

"Let us suppose that we produced 15,000,000 bales of cotton and the world could use only 12,000,000. I understand that Mr. Thomas would have the government buy 3,000,000 bales. At what price would the government buy? At the market price? If so it would be a low price and the purchase would give no immediate price relief. Perhaps he will say at cost of production plus a profit. Passing over the complex problem of determining cost of production and of equalizing cost between economical production and extravagant production, between a bale yield and a fifth of a bale yield, I ask what the government would do with the 3,000,000 bales it bought. The government might buy at its own price but it would be compelled to sell at the world's price. If the government should buy at a price profitable to the farmer, the government would be compelled to protect tax payers against another surplus next year by limiting the farmers acreage. Those of us who live in the south perfectly understand that if we were sure of a profitable price we would plant the face of the earth in cotton. If the government did not limit production by law it would soon have a volume of cotton that would break the market in spite of all human effort and all the resources of the nation. We might compel domestic manufacturers to pay the government's price, but we could not compel European manufacturers."

"Clearly the scheme would necessitate government regulation of farming. American farmers would not tolerate such tyranny. If they did they would require guaranteed profits, and with guaranteed profits they would pay little attention to the boll weevil or grass.

"Of course, there is no warrant in the federal constitution for such sovietism. Of course, the American people would never permit such a monstrous piece of underwriting for a particular class of citizens. The scheme is more preposterous than the adventure of the Brazilian state of Sao Paulo in the valorization of coffee a few years ago.

"If Mr. Thomas were senator he would have no more chance to get such a measure through than he would have to adopt any other idea of Lenin or Karl Marx. The agricultural bloc would smash it. But I submit that a man with such notions of economic statesmanship is apt to be misled by some less obvious and equally pernicious scheme of destructive socialism. I feel like apologizing to the intelligence of the state for discussing so wild a fancy. I do it only in the hope of persuading the people to give serious thought to other more plausible but not less dangerous proposals for subverting true government and Russianizing the United States."

Forrest Russell, the gentleman who is responsible for the Trinity County News at Groveton, is a candidate for the legislature from Trinity and Polk counties. A member of the fair sex has also announced for the same office, and Russell's friends are now watching and waiting with interest to see if he is a gentleman enough to let the lady have his seat in the legislature.—Alto Herald.

JAPAN ASSURES
U. S. SHE WILL RATIFY TREATIES

NAVAL PACT REGARDED AS HIGHLY IMPORTANT TO COUNTRY.

Washington, June 11.—Closely following the announcement that the British government would introduce in the House of Lords Wednesday a bill providing for the carrying out of the naval treaty negotiated at the Washington conference came a statement Saturday from the Japanese embassy that there would be no delay on the part of the Japanese government in ratifying the Washington conference treaties.

The naval treaty, which is regarded as of first importance to Japan, will precede the others in consideration with the exception of the Shantung treaty which already has been ratified by Japan and ratification exchanged with China, the other signatory power.

The naval treaty is now under study by a committee appointed for the purpose. This study will be finished by the end of the present month, and the report of the committee will be taken under consideration at once by the privy council, it was said at the embassy.

As this body was kept well informed of the working of the Washington conference at every stage and gave its approval to separate features of the treaties as they were negotiated, there is felt no doubt of the acceptance of the reports of the committee at its hands in view of the fact that already it is known that this report will be favorable to ratification.

The next step will be the submission of the naval treaty followed in quick order by the others of the Washington treaties to the regent for his signature and it is said that these conditions can and will be met within a very few weeks time.
