ALL NAMES GO ON PRIMARY TICKET

The Houston county democratic executive committee met in Crockett Monday, June 19, with sixteen members present. The proceedings have been furnished the Courier by Mr. C. L. Edmiston, secretary, as follows:

A motion was made and carried to reconsider the proceedings of former meeting wherein it was ordered that no name of any prospective candidate be put on the ticket who was known to have affiliated with other parties at the last general election.

A motion was then made and carried that all candidates, who file their applications in the manner prescribed by the Terrell election law, shall have their names put on the ticket.

Following the discussion of a test, the following motion was made and carried:

In addition to the usual legal test printed on the ticket, the judges shall have the voter, where necessary, subscribe to the further test: "I am a white democrat and agree to support the nominees of this primary in the general election from United States senator to constable."

On motion, the secretary was instructed to remit to the secretary of the state committee $20 to help defray general expenses.

A committee was then appointed to figure out the assessments against all candidates and notify them, also to meet on July 1 to prepare the ballot, as follows: G. Q. King, I. A. Daniel, J. W. Howard, W. B. Cochran and C. L. Edmiston, with the chairman, Hon. J. W. Madden, as ex-officio member.

Managers of the various voting boxes were appointed by the chairman and elected by the committee as follows: Augusta, J. M. Sheridan; Antioch, B. A. Speer; Ash, Henry Wedemeyer; Arbor, R. K. Smith; Belott, Dan Dear; Crockett No. 1, F. G. Edmiston; Crockett No. 2, T. C. LeMay; Crockett No. 3, Hampden Wilson; Crockett No. 4, J. E. Bynum; Creek, Dudley Hester; Dodson, W. H. Threadgill; Daly's, J. L. Chiles; Daniel, T. L. Glenn; Freeman, Hose Holly; Grapeland No. 1, W. F. Murchison; Grapeland No. 2, Henry Richards; Holly, Ezra Driskell; Kennard, J. M. Creasy; Lovelady, C. B. Moore; Percilla, R. R. Sullivan; Porter Springs, Walter Patrick; Ratcliff, William Bumgarner; Shiloh, John Allen; Tadmor, W. K. Connor; Tyler's Store, Floyd Tunstall; Volga, T. J. Maples; Weches, H. A. Vaught; Weldon, J. R. Morrow; Creath, J. W. McMorris; Latexo, J. K. Jones.

The W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Cora Belle Megrail, national lecturer for the W. C. T. U., had a splendid crowd at the Baptist church Sunday night. She spoke of law enforcement, Americanization, child welfare, Bible in public schools, medical, temperance, citizenship and scientific temperance in public schools as some of the departments by means of which the W. C. T. U. does her educational work.

"The organization stands first of all for the protection of the home and all its interests; the prohibition of the beverage liquor traffic in all its forms and the triumph of Christ's Golden Rule in custom and in law; a single standard of morals, "A white life for two."

The work is applied Christianity, aims to touch humanity with a remedy in every place that sin touches it. The W. C. T. U. is the pioneer woman's club and is the largest body of organized women in the world, being organized in 52 countries besides our own.

Mrs. Megrail said "America's Gibraltar is Christian citizenship, not standing armies; not great navies, or vast wealth, nor territorial expansion, but intelligence, the integrity and honor of her citizenship. We are facing the most crucial period of the temperance reform—31 organizations of men are fighting prohibition and now the women are organizing. Their slogan is, "Since by women came the 18th Amendment by women it must go." All the talk about light wine and beer is but an entering wedge. Where will the wine and beer be sold? The antis are doing their best to elect "liberal" congressmen and legislators—be careful how you vote. No use to expect men to stand hitched amid all kinds of temptation who do not believe in and practice prohibition." Reporter.

NOW FOR A SYRUP BLENDING PLANT

Messrs. S. M. Monzingo and R. R. Morrison should have the solid cooperation and backing of our people in their efforts to locate a sugarcane blending plant for east Texas syrup at Crockett. The plan of the East Texas Cane Growers' Association is for all marketable sugarcane syrup to be shipped to a blending plant at some central point for blending, grading and labeling. Crockett is centrally located for such point of concentration, and Houston county is said to be the largest producer of sugarcane syrup in east Texas. Crockett is the logical point for the blending plant, but other towns are after the plant and are offering strong inducements to locate it. Simply being the logical point will not land the enterprise. Therefore the necessity for both moral and financial cooperation with Messrs. Monzingo and Morrison in their efforts to locate the plant at Crockett. Our enterprising neighbor on the east, Lufkin, is after this syrup blending plant, and Crockett stands a chance to lose it if the right kind of cooperation is not forthcoming. Let's help Messrs. Monzingo and Morrison to locate the blending plant.

JUST A WORD WITH OUR SUBSCRIBERS

The Courier has about the same number of subscription renewals this week that it had last week. Callers report that the people are working hard to clean their crops of the grass and that crop prospects are much more promising than a while back.

Among the number calling to renew or subscribe or sending in their renewals and subscriptions since last issue are the following:

Dr. T. M. Sherman, Kennard.

The Moon Shines on the Moonshine.

Sheriff Deb Hale drove his flivver off down the San Antonio road, southwest from Crockett, Friday night and returned with two colored moonshiners, Jim and Joe Williams by name. Saturday morning he made an excursion further down the same road and brought back another colored gentleman, Doc Reese, also charged with moonshining. The sheriff captured the stills in both instances and brought them in with the prisoners. Illicit distilleries are usually located on some creek branch in the woods, but these were found in the houses of the negroes arrested. These negroes were no doubt making "just a little spirits" for the 19th of June, but there was sufficient evidence that they had been selling some, also.

New Oil Mill Company.

The Courier understands that a new company of Crockett business people is in process of formation and organization for the purpose of taking over the Houston County Oil Mill and Manufacturing Company. The new company, which will soon complete organization, will get ready to operate the mill the coming season and will have sufficient capital to carry out any plans undertaken. This mill was recently bought at public sale by Mr. H. F. Moore, president of and representing the First National bank of Crockett, the bank foreclosing a deed of trust given to secure indebtedness. It was understood at the time that the mill would be offered for sale by the purchaser.

SOME NEWS OF THE CROCKETT OIL FIELD

The Porter well at Crockett was cleaned out on Tuesday of this week and bailing was again started on Wednesday. The operators are hopeful that they have the water under control this time and that they will bring in the oil in a few days. The well had been closed since last Friday on account of pouring more cement in a further endeavor to shut off the water.

The Weldon well is drilling somewhere below 1700 feet, but the Porter Springs, the Driskill and the Grapeland wells remain shut down. The Augusta well, which has the derrick up, has not begun drilling.

Party at Country Club.

Mrs. E. B. Stokes entertained with a swimming party and supper at the Crockett Country Club Thursday evening of last week. The affair was in honor of her daughter, Miss Hattie Stokes, who has just returned from the Southern Methodist University at Dallas. Boat-riding and swimming, followed by an elegantly served luncheon, were the features of entertainment. More than twenty couples shared in the pleasures of the evening. The party was in the nature of a surprise to the honoree and was in celebration of the joyous attainment of another birthday.

Fine Tomatoes.

J. H. Scarborough of Augusta was in Crockett Friday with a very fine automobile load of tomatoes, which he succeeded in disposing of readily to the retail trade. The tomatoes were grown under improved agricultural instruction by the school children of Augusta.

Triangular trays, four of which fit together to cover a table, have been patented for carrying food in cafeterias.

SENATE ORDERS THAT FERTILIZER PROBE BE MADE

FIXED POLICY FOR MUSCLE SHOALS DEVELOPMENT IS ASKED.

Washington, June 17.—A resolution directing the federal trade commission to investigate and report "whether the production or sale of fertilizers is controlled by a combination, monopoly, or trust, and whether dealers or manufacturers are in any unlawful conspiracy by which the price of fertilizers is enhanced," was adopted Saturday by the senate.

Washington, June 17.—A determination of a fixed policy for the development of the government's projects at Muscle Shoals, Ala., before congress adjourns, was asked Saturday by Senator Underwood of Alabama, democratic leader, during a discussion in the senate of Henry Ford's offer for the properties and the propaganda campaign, alleged to be in progress both for and against acceptance.

Senator Underwood said he believed there would be an opportunity for the senate to act on the Muscle Shoals matter in the period intervening between the passage of the tariff bill and the report of the conferees on that measure, adding that inasmuch as the government invited Mr. Ford to make his proposal, the Detroit manufacturer and the country were entitled to know what disposition congress would make of it.

Senator Norris of Nebraska, chairman of the agriculture committee, which has been investigating the various Muscle Shoals proposals, declared he was willing to displace the tariff bill and consider the Ford offer or any other.

The discussion was precipitated by Senator McKinney, republican, Illinois, who read a letter from James E. Smith of St. Louis, president of the Mississippi Valley association, urging acceptance of the Ford offer. Senator McKinley said the letter was received by a South Dakota merchant and was a part of the propaganda being conducted throughout the country in behalf of the Ford proposal.

CONFEDERATES FLOCKING INTO OLD CAPITOL

Richmond, Va., June 17.—Confederate Veterans, Sons of Confederate Veterans, United Daughters of the Confederacy and members of the Southern Confederate Memorial association, began arriving Saturday at the old capitol for the Confederate States to attend the annual reunion next week of the wearers of the gray.

The delegation from Atlanta, which arrived late Saturday on a special train, was the first of the larger contingents to reach here. Other smaller bodies, however, trickled in from all sections of the south, and the north, too, sent many followers of Jefferson Davis and General Robert E. Lee.

More than 5000 of the survivors of the 600,000 men that comprised the armies of the confederacy are expected to attend the reunion. Special trains are being run for the benefit of the reunion crowds on all southern railroads and from early Saturday until the opening of the reunion Monday the reception and entertainment committee expected to be kept continuously busy in welcoming the visitors.

The first official session of the veterans will be held Tuesday morning, and the reunion will end Thursday.

Knew His Grandfather.

Editor Courier:

I was very much disappointed in not knowing that Hon. Earle B. Mayfield was to speak Friday. I had been watching the dailies to see his appointment for our town. It is not often I get to vote for a state or national candidate whom I know of his breeding, and I believe in the breeding of people as I do in stock.

General Mayfield, the great grandfather of Earle B. Mayfield, was my father's friend and neighbor when I was a baby. His grandfather was a neighbor and his father was my playmate when we were children and my chum when we were young men living in the same town. Earle B's grand parents on his mother's side were old friends and neighbors of ours and his mother was a young lady when I was a young man. His ancestors were as fine people as ever lived in Texas and I have watched closely his career and speeches, and I think he has the breeding and brains to make us one of the best representatives we have ever had in the United States senate. I am getting to be more particular about who I vote for, as I see one of the men I voted for two years ago for a state office is now in the pen.

Yours respectfully,
R. C. Spinks.

THE SCHEDULE OF SPEAKING DATES FOR CANDIDATES

The following dates have been selected by the candidates at their meeting at Crockett on June 19, 1922:

Weldon—Friday, July 7.
Lovely—Monday, July 10.
Porter Springs—Tuesday, July 11.

Ratcliff (afternoon)—Monday, July 17.
Crockett—Tuesday, July 18.

Upon recommendation of Dr. R. E. Dillard, county health officer, no speaking dates for the northern end of the county were arranged on account of a small pox epidemic in some sections, mainly around Percilla, but dates from 18th down through the 21st were left open subject to agreement between the candidates and it is hoped that conditions in this section of the county will be such that dates can be arranged before the primary on the 22nd, provided, of course, it would meet with the approval of the county health officer and the citizens of this section.

A committee of three, viz: W. D. Collins, Earle P. Adams and Will McLean, was named to reserve, consider and transmit to the other candidates invitations to speak at places which do not appear on the regular schedule. Those places in the county desiring to have the candidates on an off day or at night will confer with this committee and dates will be arranged if possible. Joe Green, Chairman.

UNIONS APPROVE PLANS FOR STRIKE

Cincinnati, June 17.—Withdrawal of wage reductions ordered by the railroad board and the taking back by railroads of contracts farming out shop work only can prevent the threatened strike of approximately 1,000,000 workers July 1, rail union executives said Saturday night.

Union leaders declared complete strike plans have been approved and unless the railroad labor board revokes its decision cutting wages and altering working conditions, the threatened strike will go into effect as scheduled.

The triple barreled strike vote of seven unions so far returned was announced by union leaders as being 98 per cent in favor of a walkout. However, leaders said that this percentage is high and they did not expect the final vote to reach more than 95 per cent.

Tuesday the rail and miners' union officials will meet to discuss "co-operative action" between members of these organizations. John L. Lewis, president of the miners, formally announced Saturday that the meeting would discuss "the industrial situation affecting the strike of organized mine workers and the outrageous action of the United States railroad labor board by imposing unwarrantable and unjustifiable reductions upon the railroad employees."

In accepting the invitation extended by B. M. Jewell of the railway employes for the meeting, Mr. Lewis stated that the mine workers would seek to prescribe "a course of action which will afford that essential degree of justice which is necessary to the men working in these industries and at the same time give every proper consideration to the welfare of the organized men and women."

It was announced Saturday night that E. F. Grable, president of the maintenance of railway employes, who can not enter Ohio without fear of being served with subpoenas in injunction proceedings against his union now pending in the United States district court at Toledo, is in Covington, Ky., across the river from Cincinnati.

ORIENT RAILROAD FACING SALE AS JUNK BY JULY 1

Wichita, Kans., June 17.—Declaring that the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railway must be offered for sale as junk by July 1, unless financial assistance is obtained, William E. Kemper of Kansas City, Mo., receiver, Saturday appealed to the employees of the road to accept voluntarily a reduction in wages. His appeal was made at a conference attended by representatives and state officials of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Mr. Kemper said that the Orient had sustained a deficit of $450,000 for the first five months of this year and has a remaining bank credit of only $16,000. He declared he would be more than glad to sell the road to another company if employees could be guaranteed their seniority rights but that no company would buy on such conditions.

Among the representatives here from the three states in which the road operates were Governor H. J. Allen of Kansas, with H. A. Russell, member of the public utilities commission; Governor Robertson of Oklahoma, with George Short, attorney general, and J. A. Whitehurst, president of the Oklahoma board of agriculture, and Allison Mayfield, chairman of the Texas railroad commission. Governor Pat M. Neff sent word he would be unable to attend.

William T. Kemper of Kansas City, Mo., receiver of the Orient and Mr. Debernardi presented figures showing that the road is Missouri Lady Suffered Until She Tried Cardui.—Says "Result Was Surprising."—Got Along Fine, Became Normal and Healthy.

Springfield Mo.—"My back was so weak I could hardly stand up, and I would have bearing-down pains and was not well at any time," says Mrs. B. V. Williams, wife of a well-known farmer on Route 6, this place. "I kept getting headaches and having to go to bed," continues Mrs. Williams describing the troubles from which she obtained relief through the use of Cardui. "My husband, having heard of Cardui, proposed getting it for me. I saw after taking some Cardui . . . that I was improving. The result was surprising. I felt like a different person."

"Later I suffered from weakness and weak back, and felt all run-down. I did not rest well at night, I was so nervous and cross. My husband said he would get me some Cardui, which he did. It strengthened me . . . My doctor said I got along fine. I was in good healthy condition. I cannot say too much for it."

Thousands of women have suffered as Mrs. Williams describes, until they found relief from the use of Cardui. Since it has helped so many, you should not hesitate to try Cardui if troubled with womanly ailments.

operating at a heavy monthly loss. Dith a fast dwindling surplus, they said, curtailment of expenses is necessary if the road is to continue operations.

Voluntary acceptance of a reduction in wages by employees of the road was the chief method suggested to curtail expenses. Orient employees have so far refused to accept a schedule lower than that authorized by the United States railroad labor board. Other proposals for reduction of expenses include substitution of mixed passenger and freight service, and the operation of two or three times a week instead of daily.

SENATE IN CLASH OVER BONUS BILL

Washington, June 17.—The soldiers' bonus fight broke unexpectedly in the senate Saturday when democratic senators attacked the reported compromise agreement of republican leaders not to call up the measure next Monday, but to have it follow the tariff bill.

For two hours the party leaders clashed, but with no effect except for additional indications that the republican plan would prevail. It was openly declared that an effort would be made in any event to call up the bill next week and the situation was further complicated by failure of the senate Saturday to dispose of the naval bill, which went over until Monday largely because of Saturday's protracted discussion of the bonus.

The senate fray followed conferences between President Harding and republican leaders, at which the president was assured that Monday's conference of the republican senators would result in holding the tariff before the senate, but with a declaration the bonus bill should be passed before congress adjourns.

That the president would sign the bill if passed, and that it undoubtedly would be passed before adjournment, was stated during the senate debate by Chairman McCumber of the senate finance committee in charge of both the tariff and bonus measures.

The senate debate was enlivened by a charge from Senator Walsh, democrat of Massachusetts, that an honest majority of the senate was not behind the bonus bill, and that a group of senators professing to favor it were "ducking and dodging" and seeking to avoid going on record.

CALIFORNIA COMMISSION INDORSES ADVERTISING

San Francisco, Cal.—Describing newspaper advertising as the most effective and cheapest form of salesmanship, President Harley W. Brundige of the California Railroad Commission gave his unqualified approval in a recent rate hearing to a reasonable use of newspaper advertising space by power and other public utility concerns to promote and extend their business. The statement by President Brundige is contained in a letter to Franklin Hichborn, who had questioned the right of power companies to charge advertising to operating account, especially in territory where competition is not a serious factor.

In the course of his letter President Brundige says:

"In stimulating additional uses of electricity through advertising, the company by increasing volume decreases the cost to each consumer. Electricity that goes to waste for want of customers is necessarily paid for by somebody. The more of it that can be put to use the cheaper it will be to everybody. Even if the direct cost of the advertising is reflected in the rates the indirect savings are bound also to reflect themselves in the ultimate rates, and the final saving will be greater than the immediate cost."

There hasn't been any news in your paper from "the most wonderful place in the world," Imperial Valley, in quite a while, so I'm sending in a few "dots" from Brawley.

In 1900 the place where Brawley now stands was a desolate desert waste of sage brush and sand, without a living human soul. In 1920 it was a thriving city with a population of 5492, and has the distinction of being the largest produce shipping center in the world. In 1920 there were 5492 car loads of produce shipped from Brawley, or a car for every man, woman and child in the city.

Everybody is looking forward to the great celebration of the Valley's 21st birthday, June 24 being 21 years ago since the first water was turned into the irrigation canals from the Colorado river. There is going to be a free barbecue at noon, and a watermelon and cantaloupe feast in the evening at the Plaza, Brawley. These feasts are annual events coming off at the height of the cantaloupe season. Everybody is welcome. There will be eats for all.

The first two car loads of Imperial Valley cantaloupes of the 1922 crop were shipped from Brawley last Wednesday, May 31—one to Chicago and one to New York. The great cantaloupe season has opened up in earnest. At its peak Brawley will be shipping around 200 cars daily. This will be the greatest crop in the history of the Valley.

$365 IN PRIZES FOR BEST RHYMES

A new contest is just being started which will interest everyone who reads this paper. Anyone can enter this Contest—anyone can win! All it is necessary to do is to write a 4-line rhyme on Dr. Price's Phosphate Baking Powder, using only the words which appear on the label of the Dr. Price can (front and back).

Isn't that easy? Everyone likes to make rhymes and here is a chance to spend a fascinating hour or two writing rhymes on this popular Baking Powder and perhaps winning a substantial prize for your efforts.

97 CASH PRIZES

For the rhyme selected as best a prize of $100 will be given; for the second, third and fourth best rhymes prizes of $75, $50, and $25, respectively will be given. And besides these prizes there will be 23 prizes of $5 each for the next 23 best rhymes. With such a long list of prizes as these, it would be a pity not to try your hand. Here's a 4-line rhyme as an example:

Biscuits, muffins, pie or cake,
With Dr. Price's Powder bake,
The Price's Co., guarantees
No alum in the cans to be.

As Dr. Price's Phosphate Baking Powder sells for only 25 cents a 12 oz. can, some rhymes could play up the great economy of this pure and wholesome baking powder.

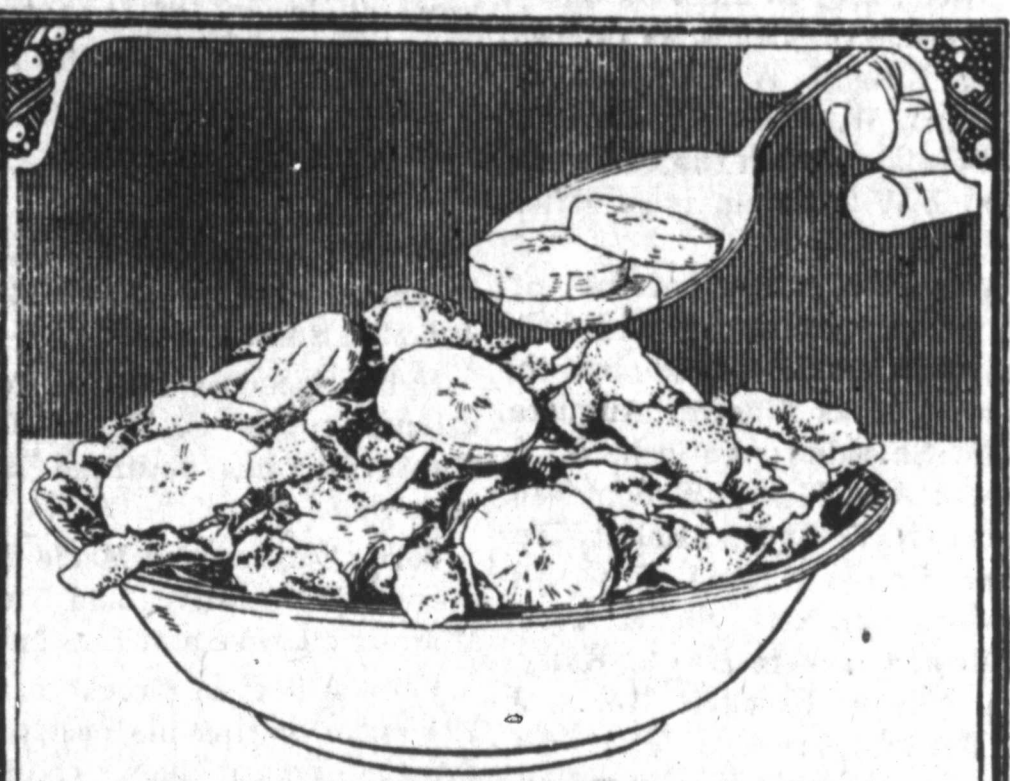

All rhymes must be received by July 1, 1922. Only words appearing on the label of the Dr. Price can (front and back) may be used. These words may be used as often as desired, but no other words will be allowed. If you haven't a can of Dr. Price's, you can see one free at almost any grocer's. It is not a requirement that you purchase a can in order to be eligible in this Contest.

Anyone may enter the Contest, but only one rhyme from each person will be considered. In case of ties, the full amount of the prize will be given to each tying contestant. Write plainly on only one side of a sheet of paper and be sure to give your name and address. Send your rhyme before July 1st to Price Baking Powder Factory, 1005 Independence Blvd., Chicago, Ill.

GREAT THRONG CHEERS SHERIFF

OVER 10,000 TAKE PART IN SPECTACULAR DEMON-STRATION.

Beaumont, Tex., June 14.—Exceeding the reception given news of the signing of the armistice in 1918, the demonstration staged here Wednesday night favoring the re-election of Sheriff Tom Garner and protesting against what was termed an "unfair trial," which resulted in his being ordered ousted, caused virtually the entire city to turn out. A parade, headed by Sheriff Garner, received a tremendous ovation all along the line, taken part in by approximately 7,000 men, women and children, marching through the business section.

As the parade neared the Magnolia baseball park its line was swollen by almost 2,000 additional persons. As the marchers passed through the gates of the park a thousand or more persons joined them. George O'Brien, prominent attorney and leading counsel in the impeachment proceeding, which comes up Monday in the appellate court, addressed the gathering of 10,000 persons, explaining to them phases of the Garner case that he was not permitted, he stated, to bring out in court during the ouster proceedings.

As he progressed loud cheering interrupted him. Shouts of praise for Sheriff Garner rent the air as the speaker outlined the career of Garner and told of his work during the six years he was sheriff of Jefferson county. He brought out the rebuttal testimony that he said could not be brought out at the hearing. He told also of the formation of the Ku Klux Klan in Beaumont in January, 1921. Loud cheering interrupted his narration of the work of the klan. He briefly outlined the efforts to exterminate the klan through formation of an anti organization.

The speaker told of the theft of the Ku Klux Klan seal and the subsequent appearance of a letter, bearing the seal, in which the klan was represented as admitting tarring and feathering and otherwise administering punishment to certain well known citizens.

"Three grand juries have never found where that letter came from," he said. "Garner never was permitted to come before the committee of citizens, organized by six men, to explain the dirty, underhand charges that were being brought against him. That committee filed charges against Tom Garner on its own information and published it. They charged that Garner had conspired with a band of Ku Klux criminals and taken men out and tarred and feathered them. Garner never was given an opportunity to have a voice in this matter before the committee."

Mr. O'Brien spoke at length on the selection of jurors in the impeachment proceeding, charging that "good men were taken from the jury because they believed in public schools, white supremacy and pure womanhood."

"I saw the klorod of the Ku Klux Klan," he said. "In it I never saw anything about a person taking the law into their own hands. I saw the Ku Klux list. It contained the names of leading ministers and business men—all good citizens.

"We didn't get a fair trial in this case, did we?" Mr. O'Brien shouted as he directed his gaze at the audience. From 10,000 throats came the roar, "No."

OUSLEY TELLS OF RAILWAY AFFAIRS

To The Galveston News.

The courteous dissent of the News from one point in my statement concerning the railway situation calls for no reply, since it merely presents an opposing opinion. Still it affords occasion for emphasizing a thought which I fear the News has not duly considered.

Granting for the sake of the argument, all the News says about the conditional discretion of the state commission in making intrastate rates, the fact that I wish to stress is the interstate commission's state of mind which I have described as "a vast conceit of national power and responsibility."

To one who has had no contact with Washington departments, boards, bureaus and commissions this may seem more or less fanciful. But I testify from experience and rather intimate association that it is a portentous fact. Most elective officers at Washington exhibit a due regard—many a servile regard—for public opinion and local welfare. Many appointive officers, on the other hand, exhibit either a sense of superior wisdom or a feeling of downright contempt toward any local interest or opinion. Even the most considerate are prone to view the national welfare in exaggerated proportions and to be impatient, if not intolerant, of any interest except the national interest.

It is this rather subtle and perhaps unconscious state of mind that persuades the interstate commerce commission to hold the welfare of interstate carriers superior to the welfare of an intrastate shipper, to maintain the policy that the earnings of our great railway systems are more important than the earnings of a Texas merchant or farmer, that it is better to sacrifice the merchant or farmer than to cause a railroad to haul a single shipment without a profit of 5.75 per cent.

I do not mean to imply that railroads may be denied fair average returns. I am only making the point that local industry must be conserved, but that in the present situation of railway law and its administration local industry is subordinated to national industry. The consequence of the national viewpoint, with the national authority to enforce it, is that rates are sometimes prohibitive and frequently burdensome.

If the state were permitted to exercise jurisdiction over rates within the state, subject to review by the courts when challenged as unjust to the roads or discriminatory against the interstate rates, no property right would be jeopardized, the state or local point of view would have due weight and the national point of view would be challenged or held in check until its wisdom and expedience could be vindicated.

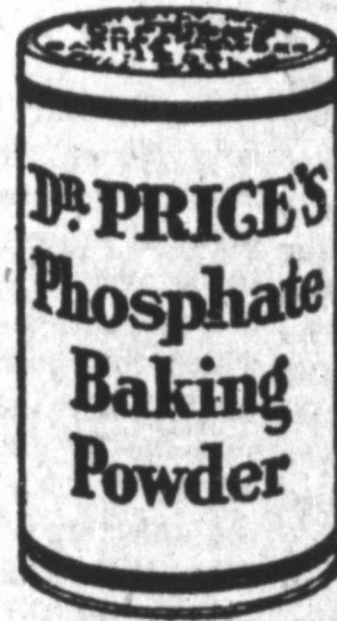

As the News well says, a political campaign is not the season for an extended consideration of the large question presented. I add that the only place for the consideration of details is in legislative halls and committee rooms. In a political campaign we can do no more than to consider fundamental principles and broad policies. I am merely insisting that the exercise of national authority tends irresistibly to create a conceit of national greatness, with a corresponding disregard of state or local welfare, and that conceit is easily translated into tyranny.

New York, June 17.—United States Attorney William Hayward sailed Saturday on the Majestic for Paris to take depositions in the government's case to recover from the National City bank $3,500,000 deposited by the Kerensky government of Russia in 1919, to the account of the United States for purchases in this country. The bank contends, Colonel Hayward said, that because of the change of governments in Russia it has no authority to turn the money over to the United States government. He expressed confidence that the United States would win his court fight with the bank.

JOSEPH W. BAILEY SUPPORTS OUSLEY

Fort Worth, June 17.—Before leaving on his present speaking tour, Clarence Ousley, candidate for United States senator, made the following statement:

"I have just read an article contributed by Mr. Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald to the Wichita Falls News Record and several other papers in which this sentence appears: 'It was also stated that Joseph Weldon Bailey was ready to make speeches for Clarence Ousley, but some few of the leaders thought it would be unwise.'

"Senator Bailey told me several weeks ago that he intended to support me, as I had confidently expected that he would. I had not seen him or communicated with him since then until his letter endorsing me was published, and then I called him on the telephone to thank him. He did not need to ask me whether I wished his support to be made known by public writing or public address; he knew it. I would not insult him by asking his secret support.

"We have been intimate friends for thirty-odd years. We have not always agreed upon policies of method or expediency; we disagreed in some respects two years ago, as we had disagreed in some respects before; we are not now entirely agreed in all matters of policy. Each of us does his own thinking and each respects the other's intelligence and sincerity.

"I have supporters who formerly favored and who formerly opposed Mr. Bailey. They will vote for me, not for Mr. Bailey, because he is not a candidate and he has no proper part in this contest except the part of a brave and patriotic citizen in expressing his opinion and using his influence for the candidate of his choice. If any man expected me to seek preferment by either open or covert repudiation of a great and worthy friend he now knows his mistake."

THEY COULD NOT SEE 100 YEARS AHEAD.

Back in 1818 the greatest newspaper of the day declared that the world had reached the limit of human expansion. It even went further, saying that there wasn't enough supplies in the world to support further growth of population.

The mind of 1818 couldn't conceive of the miracles that human ingenuity would perform during the twentieth century. It couldn't imagine the wonders that would be wrought by new agricultural methods and modern manufacturing genius. It was ignorant of transportation as we know it, or the progressive sales methods of today. It couldn't see the vital part that would be played by advertising.

Even today there are some who fail to realize what an important factor advertising has become to the life of the world. Advertising is as much a part of today's life as electricity, anti-septic surgery or automobiles. It keeps us up-to-date on the many things that we need in order to live profitable, happy and useful lives. It presents for our approval articles of all kinds and for all purposes. The requirements of each member of the family are met by advertised offers of good merchandise of proved value.

The advertisements save time, money and effort for those who read them and follow their guidance. They are practical guarantees of lasting satisfaction. Don't lay aside this paper without reading the advertisements.

CULBERSON OF TEXAS.

Mr. Culberson is rounding out 24 years in the senate and desires re-election. His health is not robust. It was not robust six years ago when he offered for the fourth term. But with great pluck he entered the canvass, and to the extent of his physical ability has been diligent since in his office.

This man has had extraordinary success in Texas politics. He was serving as attorney general of the State at 35, and as governor before attaining his fortieth year. Upon reaching the senate he made an excellent impression, and some 15 years ago received much complimentary mention when, before Mr. Bryan showed his wonderful comebackativeness, the democratic party was under canvass for a presidential candidate.

Mr. Culberson inherits his ability, and in some measure his unusual personal popularity. His father served for 20 years in the house, and was much admired there and at home for his legal learning and strong character.

EDITORIALS BY COL. R. T. MILNER

What the Former A. & M. President Writes in the Rusk County News.

Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, a democrat, is of the opinion that the democratic party is in a happy position with reference to the tariff question. In a debate on the question of a tariff a few days ago he said:

"The democratic party is in a situation today that it never was in before in this country.

"The greatest service that has been rendered—unintentionally, however—to the manufacturing interests of this country has been rendered by the agricultural farm bloc. They have taught the ridiculousness and the absurdity of the high protective system. While these manufacturers were getting protection themselves, they were happy and contented; but when other industries, like agriculture, appeared and asked for protection, they realized how false their position was, and how absurd and ridiculous it was to be contending for high protective duties for their industries alone. The argument of the agricultural bloc is, 'Because you, in the manufacturing centers of this country, have become prosperous by protection, we believe we ought to have a share of it; we ought to have a part of it and ought to participate in it.' I repeat that, in my opinion, the democratic party, as a result of this tariff legislation, is going to have many, many republican protectionists accepts its theory on the tariff question of a tariff for revenue only and support the democratic party in the next campaign."

Senator Borah, however, a republican, says there is no difference between the two parties on the tariff question, or any other question except that some are in and some are out. Those who have kept themselves well informed upon the issues for the last several years and observed the record of the parties in congress during that time will be forced to agree with Senator Borah. The minority party acts as a check upon the majority party—those who are in wanting to stay in, and those who are out wanting to get in—but it is utterly misleading to contend that there is any material difference beyond that fact. The farmers bloc is the strogest evidence we have had in a long time that common interests draw men together in politics as well as in business.

Senator Walsh knows that and power among the southern men in national life. Even in impaired health he retains his place in that company.

This race will be more warmly contested than that of six years ago. Then, Mr. Culberson had an easy triumph. Now he faces a larger field, and some of the entrants are politicians of considerable experience and no inconsiderable success.

In the senate Texas has been well to the front for many years. Reagan in his day, Mills in his, Bailey in his, and more recently Culberson, may be mentioned among the southern men who since the civil war have made reputation in that body, and served their section and the country with an ability and broadmindedness worthy of the admiration they generally excited.—Washington Star.

his New England manufacturer the subject of tariff so far as party is concerned."

THE TAXES ON OUR GOOD ROADS.

Our good roads, counting the taxes want a tariff for protection only. They want it for selfish reasons. They have never, in modern times, cared very much for "American labor," as they term it. In the early days no doubt, there were manufacturers who felt a human interest in their employees, and favored protection on that ground. But they soon discovered that foreign labor could be imported and worked much cheaper than American labor, and if there were a few manufacturers who preferred to employ American labor, they were forced to adopt the selfish policy of their rivals in business and go to Europe for cheap labor. Under the policy of importation of cheap European labor, the American were forced to adopt the low standard of living required by low wages, or leave the field entirely to their European competitors. So it was that long ago American laborers were crowded from the New England factories of all kinds, not only in New England, but throughout the north, and cheap foreign labor took their places.

When a man mentions the tariff now he means protection and nothing but protection, whether he lives in Massachusetts or California, Maine or Texas, Rhode Island or Arkansas. And as Senator Borah says, "there is no difference between democrats and republicans on taxes required to build them and to keep them up, must bring about a change in our agricultural programme. We must place on these roads a greater tonnage of eggs, chickens, hogs, berries and other marketable farm grown things in order to make the roads pay. If our use of those roads is to be limited to the hauling of farm produce, such as chops, bran, shorts, maize heads, bacon, and other feeds, and foods, from the towns out to our farms, the taxes on our roads will continue to be burdensome, very burdensome. We sometimes doubt that our cotton crops will be able to bear this great burden. There is very little hope in a country—an agriculture country—that builds roads at a cost of from $5,000 to $10,000 per mile for the purpose of hauling over them from the towns to the farms such costly articles as alfalfa hay, corn chops, maize heads, corn meal, bacon and lard. We will admit that this is a great country where credit is cheap and mortgages are handy, but the whole burden should not be laid upon the backs of the poor children and women who toil in sun and heat and cold and dew and rain and drouth all the year round to make the cotton that must pay the taxes on our good roads, as well as the things mentioned above which are hauled on them.

Mineola to Make Bid for Syrup Factory.

Mineola, Texas, June 18.—Mineola is making plans to offer a bid for the big ribbon cane syrup factory proposed by the East Texas Ribbon Cane Growers. It is argued that Mineola's location, being on three of the most important railroads in the south, the abundance of timber and the near-by lignite mines, offers greater advantages than do the other towns in east Texas. Then again, Mineola is in the center of a great ribbon cane section, hundreds of acres being planted in this section.

THE FUNERAL OF A CITY.

A city that had once been lively, progressive and prosperous suffered an attack of civic anemia and declined until it reached that condition where it was generally referred to as a "dead one."

It was on its way to the cemetery.

Hiram Hogital, whose motto, "Get it While the Gettin's Good," is sufficient introduction, dug the city's grave.

The firm of Pinhead, Pessimist & Grape Hanger embalmed the remains.

The firm of Selfishness & Swinesnout, who had always been so busy feathering their own nest that they never had any time for the city's affairs, donated the city's shroud.

Pinchem & Pennysqueezer, who never believed in advertising, furnished the coffin.

Old Pompous Purseproud, who never gave a penny to a public enterprise, drove the hearse.

A select quartette from the Clique Club sang the doxology. The Rev. Mr. Mossback preached the funeral sermon.

Mr. Home Town Knocker donated the tombstone and old Billy Bellyacher carved the epitaph.

Messrs. Doolittle, Croaker, Puttyhead, Rearback, What's-the-Use acted as pallbearers.

The only person who had no official part in the obsequies was Mr. Live Wire, who got off the train by mistake and attended the funeral because there was nothing else to do between the trains.—Editorial in The Corpus Christi Evening News.

HOUSTON COUNTY SHOULD GO AFTER THE SYRUP PLANT

Last week the Messenger carried the news item about the establishment of a plant for mixing and blending east Texas ribbon cane syrup into uniform grade and packing same in standard packages for shipment.

The plant in prospect will have a capacity of one million gallons, and the government bureau of chemistry, through its representative, has promised to superintend the installation of the proper machinery and put it in operation.

Mr. S. M. Monzingo of Crockett is chairman of the organization committee, and will use his influence in having the plant located in Houston county. He should have the enthusiastic and undivided support of the cane growers and all business and professional men of Houston county. It was developed at the meeting recently held at Longview that Houston county produced more ribbon cane syrup than any county in Texas, which is a strong argument within itself that the plant should be located here.

Let us get in behind this proposition and land it. Other towns are after it, and if we sit supinely by, some other community more enterprising than ours will get it. What do you say?—Grapeland Messenger.

POISONING BOLL WEEVILS.

A calm atmosphere is the most important thing to be considered when applying calcium arsenate to cotton to control the boll weevil—more important than dew or other moisture on the cotton plants. This statement is made by the specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture who, at the Delta Laboratory, Tallulah, La., worked out the calcium arsenate system of control. Success depends, they point out, on getting all the plant surfaces thoroughly covered with the fine particles of poison dust. The dust comes out of the machine in a cloud and hangs in the air for some time before settling. If the wind blows during this time, much of it never settles where it is wanted, but it drifts beyond the cotton to other crops or to weed patches or is dissipated by the wind. It is not always possible, of course, to get a perfectly calm atmosphere at the time the dusting must be done, but the specialists urge that the absence of wind be made a primary consideration.

NATIONAL CAREFUL CROSSING CAMPAIGN.

"The startling increase in the number of accidents on railroad crossings has made it necessary to make a nation-wide effort to educate the public in becoming more cautious through a careful crossing campaign, carried out by the safety section of the American Railway Association," said the general manager of one of the principal railroads in this region.

"People hurry along and often fail to notice signals and warnings when approaching railroad crossings," he said. He also cites a recent case in his territory to illustrate this.

"On June 2nd, two days after the campaign started, a Ford car struck the forward end of a tender of the first locomotive on a double header special Shriners' train for California, at a crossing in a town in Colorado. The wig-wag signal at the crossing was operating, the train whistled for the crossing and the bell was ringing, but the driver of the Ford car gave no heed and hit the tender on the crossing. Of the three men in the car, one was instantly killed, another died later and the third was seriously injured. The coroner held an inquest and rendered the verdict: "Accidental death by striking train."

"Precautions taken by the railroad to protect this crossing were of no avail, because the driver of the car took no notice of the signals or warnings."

Railroads give the up-keep of their track careful attention and maintain the crossings in good condition. Numerous automatic crossing signals have been installed for the protection of people using the public highways and by co-operation the public can aid in reducing crossing accidents materially.

PLAY FAIR.

The idler is a cheat. The shirk is dishonest. Neither pays the debt with which he was saddled when he came into the world, and to which he has continued to run up since his existence began.

No idler can live but for the labor of other men.

He therefore is not playing fair when he refuses to do his own share of the work.

The food he eats comes from the soil, or from the herds and flocks of poultry yards and fruit orchards and tea and coffee plantations.

Only by severe toil does it become fit for his table.

The clothes he wears must be taken from the sheep or from the cotton fields, or from the mulberry trees which are the pastures of the silk worm.

Railroad trains and ships must move on their course, the spindles and looms must turn, trucks must lumber through the streets and salesmen and sales-women toil behind counters in order that he may be clad.

His education, his amusement and his very health depend upon the hard, unceasing labor of others.

He can only repay this debt by doing his own work and by doing it as well as he can.

If he neglects it, gets through with it with as little effort as possible he has not done it well, and he is to just the extent of his neglect the thief of the labor of other men.

If he idles altogether, either by reason of inherited wealth, or by ability to live on the product of others, returning not even superintendence himself, he is still a thief.

The employer who finds work for many men in the production of materials often does more than his share. Most of what the socialists call parasites really do work—the lawyer, the actor, the orator—all contribute to human happiness and human progress.

But the man who idles even a part of his working time is a cheat, and a cheat has no place in the world.

Of all human qualities, laziness is the most common. It is only the man who yields to it who is a shirk. And he ought to be ashamed to look honest and industrious men in the face.

—John Blake.

TEST OF A GENTLEMAN.

The forbearing use of power does not only form a touchstone but the manner in which an individual enjoys certain advantages over others is the test of a true gentleman. The power which the strong have over the weak, the magistrate over the citizen, the employer over the employed, the educated over the unlettered, the experienced over the confiding, even the clever over the silly—the forbearing or inoffensive use of all this power or authority, or a total absence of it when the case admits it, will show the gentleman in plain light. A true gentleman feels humbled himself when he cannot help humbling others.—General Robert E. Lee.

OUSLEY DISCUSSES NEEDS OF INDUSTRY

San Angelo, Texas, June 20.—Clarence Ousley of Fort Worth spoke here tonight in the interest of his candidacy for the United States senate. Colonel C. C. Walsh, president of the Central National bank, introduced Mr. Ousley. Mr. Ousley's next address will be Thursday afternoon at Belton. He said in part tonight.

"I need not say in this important center of the cattle and sheep industry that many a man has lost the savings of a lifetime and the business of the whole region has been impaired. Nor do I come here merely to lament the misfortunes of the last two years. I have come rather to discuss constructive measures of national legislation that will tend to prevent or to ameliorate such disaster hereafter.

"The live stock industry contributes meat for the table and clothing for the back. It is not to be coddled as the ward of the government, but it should be respected by those in power. I believe that policies of the government have operated unfairly against it. I do not affirm a purpose to oppose or to injure, but I assert that governmental action in law or in administration has been grievously unjust to live stock interests.

"There has been no economic reason why cattle should drop in a few months from 15c to 4c. The supply and the demand for cattle do not fluctuate so violently. The demand for beef does not increase within a year in any such proportion.

"I confess to a desire to participate in the constructive legislation which this credit problem requires, and I hope it does not seem immodest of me to profess some knowledge of the subject."

Mr. Ousley also discussed the tariff.

Apparently any combustible animal, vegetable or mineral oil can be used for fuel in a French engineer's automobile engine that has passed the experimental stage.

Examine Our Goods Closely

The closer you examine them the better it will please us, because we know their worth. We want you to know their worth, too—hence our request that you examine them very closely.

After all, it is the quality and the price that sells goods, not what the merchant or the newspaper ad says. Our one object in advertising is to get you into our store, where you can see these goods and compare our prices with those of others.

Take this as an invitation to come into our store and look around. We like to have people do that. They become familiar with our goods and our prices, and the courtesy we always endeavor to extend to every caller.
