ACTION OF THE SUB-COMMITTEE

This paper is requested by County Chairman Madden to say that the sub-committee appointed by the County Executive Committee to arrange the order of the several candidates from United States Senator to the candidates for the lowest offices on the official ballot, met at the office of the chairman last Monday, the day appointed by law, and discharged that duty. The names were drawn "by lot" as the law provides, and the printing of the ballot was awarded to the Courier, which paper will have the "official ballot" in full in this week's issue.

The ballots will all be printed this week and sent out to the various Presiding Judges early next week. If any judge should fail to get the ballots for his voting box, he is urged to report the same to the chairman at least two days before the primary of the 22nd inst. The election blanks will also be sent out next week and the same request is made with reference to those. The chairman does not want any voting box to be without its ballots and blanks by the time the polls open at 8 o'clock A. M. of the 22nd.

Changes were made in the Presiding Judges at Shiloh and Creath. W. B. Huntsman being appointed for the former and Lee Wilson for the latter, the former appointees, J. W. McMorris, for Creath, and Johnnie Allen for Shiloh, not being able to serve. It is hoped the new appointees will bear this in mind and serve in their respective places.

The committee made a slight change in the personnel of the Executive Committee for the next two years, in that one member of the committee will be elected from each justice precinct instead of each voting precinct as heretofore. The primary election law authorizes the committee to do this, and the almost impossibility of obtaining a quorum of the committee together for the transaction of business under the former system. Under the former plan there were 30 members of the committee, and under the new plan there will be only 8 members. Under the former system Crockett had four members, while under the new plan Crockett will have but one, just as each other precinct will have. The old system was found to be cumbersome and unwieldy, while the change will simplify matters very much, it is thought.

The chairman desires to specially call the attention of the voters at each box to the importance of electing a voting precinct chairman. This can be done by just writing the name of any one in the blank space at the bottom of each ballot, designated by the words: "For Precinct Chairman." The primary election law requires that this be done, and the executive committee could not place any name on the ballots for this position because they did not know who might be induced to serve. If this is not done, the chairman will have to appoint these various chairmen, and he prefers that they be elected by the people at the several boxes, as the law provides. Let all voting boxes not forget this.

In the matter of "absentee voters," the committee agreed that ballots may be sent by the county clerk to any qualified voter who is away from home on election day, the same to be returned to the clerk by the voter, properly sealed, and the clerk then to deliver the ballot to the presiding judge of voter's box, such judge to determine only whether the voter belongs to that voting precinct.

Houston County Students.

The North Texas State Normal College at Denton has just closed the first month's work for the summer term. The enrollment of more than 2440 students puts this school in a class with the largest schools in this country. In addition to that enrollment in the different departments, more than two hundred children are enrolled in the training school maintained by the college. The faculty and administrative force for the summer consists of one hundred fifteen teachers and officers.

In this large student body are the following from this county:

Augusta—J. M. Young.
Crockett—Elizabeth Earle Adams.
Grapeland—Clara Lee Anderson.
Kennard—W. B. Daniel, Mrs. Ola Daniel.

Milner Gives Reasons.

Hon. R. T. Milner, in his editorial on "Mayfield's Platform," states the reasons in the Courier's mind last week for announcing that the Courier editor would vote for Earle Mayfield for the United States senate. Another reason for supporting the present railroad commissioner for the United States senate is that the commissioner and the Courier editor were born and reared in the same county and the editor knows of no reason why he should vote against the commissioner. There are other good men in the race, but, all things considered, Earle Mayfield is the Courier's choice, and the editor will so cast his vote on election day.

Family Reunion.

Mrs. John Arrington had with her the past week her mother, Mrs. J. B. Holland; brothers, Mr. V. M. Holland of Kansas City, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Holland and daughter and Mr. M. G. Holland of Houston and Mr. and Mrs. Hal Holland and children of Palestine. This was a happy family reunion and complete but for the absence of one brother who had to be in Dallas on a business trip.

SOME NEWS OF THE CROCKETT OIL FIELD

The Porter No. 2 well on the Austin farm at Crockett is nearing the 1000 feet depth. Progress has been rapid in this well since drilling was started last Saturday morning. At the present rate of progress the exciting depth will soon be reached when things will begin to happen. The drillers know the formations through which they will have to go, having learned them in the first well, and they know the different stratas to be encountered at every depth. They are taking advantage of this knowledge and making good headway. Here's hoping they find oil.

The Crockett well and the Weldon well are the only wells drilling in Houston county. We have no report as to the depth of the Weldon well. The Porter Springs, the Driskell and the Grapeland wells remain inoperative. It is reported in Crockett that the Weldon well is having water trouble.

JUST A WORD WITH OUR SUBSCRIBERS

Callers at the Courier office during the last week give varying reports of crop prospects. Some are needing rain while others are not. Very little boll weevil depredation is being reported.

Among the number calling to renew or subscribe or sending in their renewals and subscriptions since last report are the following:

Alfred H. Smith, River Forest, Ill.
Mrs. Willis Higginbotham, Stephenville.
Miss Louise Denny, Boulder, Colo.
C. A. Clinton, Cleveland, O.

MAYFIELD DELIVERS HIS 147TH SPEECH

Conroe, Texas, July 7.—Earle B. Mayfield delivered his one hundred and forty-seventh speech on behalf of his campaign for the United States senate here today.

The transportation question, the biggest unsolved problem before the American people, is the paramount issue of the senatorial race, he said. "The very destiny of the American republic is wrapped up in this question, because the proposition of permitting the interstate commerce commission to dominate and control commerce wholly within the state of Texas brings into the issue the whole subject of relative functions of the state and nation in the scheme of government as applied to industrial affairs.

"The right of Texas to regulate and control purely intrastate commerce is of the most vital concern to the welfare and prosperity of every city, town and hamlet in this state. The hands of the Texas commission have been tied by injunctions issued by the federal courts, and it is powerless to reduce rates. Someone must be sent to the senate to repeal the Esch-Cummins law and demand that congress go further in defining clearly what is state commerce and what is interstate commerce, so that it can not destroy the ratemaking power of state commissions as it did in the Shreveport case.

"Rice farmers at Beaumont ship rice to Holland for 25c a hundred, and from Rotterdam to New York for 30c, totaling 55c, while freight rates from Beaumont to New York are $1.04. If you ship a calf from Conroe to Palestine, weighing 100 pounds, you do not pay freight on what the calf actually weighs—you pay freight on 3,000 pounds. Farmers in the Rio Grande Valley plow cabbage under rather than pay exorbitant rates.

"I do not believe in mudslinging and have never mentioned my opponents, but am running on issues vital to the people.

"One-third of our population learned to speak a foreign tongue before our own. God forbid America must fight another war, but if so her enemies should be in the open. A 100 per cent American is one who pledges supreme allegiance to the American constitution and Old Glory. There can not be half-way Americans. I am an American who proclaims he stands first of all for the constitution of the United States, ark of the covenant of our government, which means that our country is to be governed by law, for personal and property rights, for the separation of church and state, for free speech and free press and the right to worship God according to the dictates of one's own conscience, for the protection of our womanhood, for the purity of our homes and the perpetuation of our public schools."

Mr. Mayfield was introduced by Robert J. Sullivan, and was repeatedly applauded during his speech. People rushed up to the stand to meet him following the address. He left here for Navasota.

Fourteen districts have been mapped out by the government commission which is planning to reorganize the entire system of electric distribution for Great Britain.

Fusible plugs are used in South Africa to protect pipe lines and their air compressors from atmospheric heat that would cause dangerous pressures.

A steam driven tractor of the endless tread type has been developed in which oil is the fuel used for its two engines mounted on opposite sides.

Miss May Johnson returned Wednesday evening to Marlin.

C. C. MORTIMER FOR CONSTABLE

In the Courier's announcement column on the fourth page will be found the name of Mr. C. C. Mortimer as a candidate for the office of constable in precinct No. 1, Houston county. Mr. Mortimer's announcement was received after the sixth page had been printed, but his name will be found among the announcements on the fourth page, which was printed afterward. Mr. Mortimer is too well known as a citizen and as a peace officer to need any introduction at the hands of the Courier. He was reared near Crockett and has served as peace officer in some capacity for thirty years or more. He has always been a good democrat and his announcement is now subject to the action of the democratic party. He has always made a fearless and hard working peace officer. He has always striven to do his duty, regardless of consequences, and he proposes to continue to do so. His ambition is to faithfully serve the people in some public capacity and in some modest way, and he has selected the office of constable for this service. He solicits and will appreciate the support of all good, democratic voters, both men and women, in the coming democratic primaries, which are now close at hand.

Boll Weevil Catchers.

The Beasley Drug Company of Crockett has received a shipment of boll weevil machines or traps. These handy boll weevil catchers may be carried in the hand or fastened to a farming implement. They knock the weevil from the stalk and into a receptacle from which there is no escape. The Beasley Drug Company asks the cotton growers of Houston county to call and inspect these traps or machines and pass their opinion on them. You are asked to call and examine them whether you buy one or not. They are believed to be an absolute boll weevil exterminator. Come and see what you think of them.

To Be Married Monday.

Mr. D. H. Charles of Phelps, Ky., will arrive this week to be a guest in the home of Miss Juanita Hatchell. On Monday afternoon of next week, July 17, Mr. Charles and Miss Hatchell will be married at the home of the bride in this city. Houston county friends of the bride are already extending the accustomed felicitations.

Judge and Mrs. A. D. Lipscomb, Miss Anna Lipscomb and other members of the family of Beaumont arrived Wednesday evening by automobile to visit relatives and friends in Crockett.

Norris Shook of Houston is a guest in the home of Judge and Mrs. Nat Patton.

In Memoriam.

In loving memory of Herman Goodrum of Lovelady, Texas. After 10 long months of painful suffering God called him to himself. His suffering may have been termed a blessing, in a way, to his many friends—because of his close relations with his Heavenly Father. His constant prayers and council with his friends of God's blessed assurances seemed to draw each individual who visited him closer to God. He never murmured of his afflictions, but trusted God to the end.

In the stillness of the night July 3, 1922, the death angel called and Herman closed his eyes forever to the scenes of this world—to open them in the blazing splendor of the celestial city.

Herman was laid to rest amidst a bed of beautiful flowers emblematic of the beauty and purity of his soul, and his gentle hands lie motionless in the grave. Death in its icy embrace has claimed him for its own. He has earned the quiet slumber of a dreamless grave. May peace be with his ashes, angels with his Soul.

Herman was an only son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Goodrum of Lovelady, and a mere boy in years. He was married nearly 18 months ago to his little school girl friend, Madge Haddox, also of Lovelady. She was a devoted wife and cheerfully administered to him to the end.

What the Former A. & M. President Writes in the Rusk County News.

THIRTY-FIVE CENT COTTON.

It is the judgment of experts that cotton prices will soar high up in the figures next fall. Hundreds of experts predict an acute famine in cotton. The estimates indicate a yield this year of 8,500,000 bales and those experts say that a yield of 11,000,000 bales will bring 35 cents a pound. A yield of 9,000,000 bales will bring 60 cts. per pound. A yield of 8,000,000 bales will bring 80 cents per pound. A yield of 7,000,000 will bring 90 cents a pound, and a yield of 6,500,000 will bring $1.00 a pound. From any angle of the cotton situation big prices are sure to come in the near future. There never was a greater inducement for using all known means to secure the best possible yield, because the cotton famine is predicted this year to be the worst since 1865. Mr. Arthur Shelton, a prominent statistician and expert, says, "Cotton is not the only fibre that is likely to be scarce during the next 18 months." Jute hemp and flax are all likely to be short.

Sir Charles McCara of Manchester, England, one of the largest cotton manufacturers, and who is recognized as a leading world authority on the cotton industry, having served as president of the International Cotton Spinners Association for eleven years, issues a warning to the world on the cotton situation, and urges that the cotton spinners every where to encourage the south to produce more cotton, saying that the Southern States of America alone can produce the cotton which the world must have. In an earnest letter this man says: "I have for many years, but more especially since the war, carried on a very large propaganda work, and I have never ceased to put before the spinners of the world the absolute necessity of seeing that a price is paid to the growers of cotton that will remunerate him for his labor and enterprise." This wide-awake Englishman plainly sees that the goose that lays the golden egg has almost been killed.

WHAT IS THE BILL OF RIGHTS?

Not long since a prominent lawyer of eastern Texas went out one day to address the plain people. He had an audience that filled the house to its fullest capacity. His subject was the Bill of Rights. In order to have a good start he propounded the question as follows: "Is there any one, male or female, in this large and intelligent audience who can tell me what is the Bill of Rights?" Profound silence reigned over that audience. Not one could tell him what it meant. We might conclude that our study of government in this free American Republic is signally neglected. Among the thousands of readers of this page, how many can tell what the Bill of Rights is? Next fall when our schools open this question should be given to each and every student in school who is able to read, and a correct answer required if it takes the whole term.

The question is often asked: "What has become of all the great men?" They are either unproduced or dead. The truth of the business is, if money is the chief aim and end of man we have very little use for sensible men.

TOO MUCH FUSS.

There is a great deal too much fuss made over the decision of the Supreme Court which declared the child labor law unconstitutional. Every great lawyer in the land already knew the law was entirely beyond the province of congress to interfere with. Nearly all the states have laws regulating child labor in the factories, and those that have no such laws should pass them. It is high time that the people in their sovereign capacity should call a halt on the onward rush to federalize and centralize the powers of government. The tears that are being poured out by the uplifters for the children in the cotton mills should be transferred to the cotton patches. There is where the human race in the south is being dwarfed. There is where poor housing and poor feeding are to be found in the largest abundance. There is where poor incomes are driving thousands of children of tender ages to penury and want. There is where the philanthropic women who weep and moan for human alleviation should spend their sympathy and beg for mercy. The children of the south who work in the cotton mills are the best fed, the best housed, the best clothed and the best educated of any working children in the world. They need none of the wailings that reverberate through the halls of congress that one hears for down trodden humanity.

That which we want our lawmakers at Washington to do is to lighten the burdens of taxation upon the backs of the great masses of our people. It is easy for the state to protect the children of the cotton mills and other factories where they work. But congress has all it can do to simplify and cheapen the administration of national affairs. Congress can pass just tariff laws. It can take off of the pay roll thousands of employees who found places in Washington during the world war, but are no longer needed. It can cease to create bureaus and cut out many that are useless. It can eliminate extravagance which, since the beginning of the war, has grown to be a certain menace to the existence of the republic itself. It can in a thousand ways without encroaching upon the prerogative of the states assist the American people to restore hope and confidence in their institutions and to halt socialism, bolshevism and other dangerous isms that are taking root in the minds of dissatisfied voters.

A VALUABLE BULLETIN.

The department of agriculture at Austin has published a bulletin containing much valuable information pertaining to all branches of agriculture in Texas. It gives in a very brief way the production of crops by counties, farm acreage, values of farms, ownership, tenancy, the indebtedness of farms, expenditures, number and value of livestock, resident and non-resident ownership and large holdings of land. The bulletin was compiled by Hon. R. E. Yantis, statistician of the department, and required no small amount of patient labor and tedious delving into statistics as given by the United States census reports, comptroller's reports and other public and official documents. It will be found a convenient source of the most vital statistics pertaining to Texas.

IS CULBERSON SICK?

The strangest arguments known to human philosophy occur in political campaigns. No greater cruelty can be inflicted upon human flesh than to require a sick person to toil on and on and on, day after day, week after week, month after month, and year after year, without even a vacation. A business concern that would attempt to require its employes to work while sick would be legislated out of existence. We remember distinctly the deep solicitude which Mr. Culberson expressed for the immortal Reagan in the campaign when the two were opposing candidates for governor of Texas. Reagan was certainly a very much more robust man, at that time, than Mr. Culberson has been for several years. Judge Reagan was able to travel over the state without any sort of assistance. He was able to make speeches of great length, to mix and mingle with the voters as he traveled over the state. And yet Mr. Culberson would say in every speech that the democratic voters should not impose any more burdens on this grand old man; that he had served them long enough; that in his feeble condition he should have the rest which he had so nobly earned; that his name was enshrined forever in the hearts and affections of a grateful people; that no marble shaft, no human device could add glory to the name and fame of Reagan. "Old and infirm, a whole life consecrated to the service of his country, grand and noble in every deed of his long and eventful life, there is in store for this noblest Roman of them all a sweet repose, free of the cares of state and the anxieties of official life. It is cruel to ask him to serve us longer." That was in substance the gallant tribute Senator Culberson paid Reagan on the stump in that campaign.

And now Senator Culberson is a much sicker man by far than Reagan was in that, his last campaign. Culberson has not been able to cast his once entrancing eyes upon the hills and valleys of the state to which his noble brilliant life was dedicated so many long years ago during the last ten years. For years the cruel destroyer of all that is strong and comely to look upon in man, has deprived him of the associations of friends of his young manhood, of whom no man had more nor loved them with greater ardor.

History will take care of Charlie Culberson, but history can not record to his credit any more heroic deeds. In justice to a noble, sick man, too willing to work and serve, let us pass the honor to a younger and more vigorous man, and no one will ever claim that this republic ever treated Charlie Culberson with ingratitude.

It seems that Rev. Mr. Norris of Fort Worth is in danger of being shot at since he has authority to carry a pistol. We desire to go on record right now

MAYFIELD'S PLATFORM.

Mayfield's platform appeals to the voters simply because it is the burning issue of the day. Railroad freight rates are so high that the people cannot pay them. That is the whole question. Railroad freight rates affect all the people, and the farmers more, perhaps, than any other group of citizens, because Jones, he pays the freight. The toll is levied on the products of the farm, orchard and truck patch at one end of the haul, and on every piece of manufactured stuff at the other end, and farmer Jones, he pays the freight. Regulation of railroad freight rates is the one great big, outstanding issue before the American people. If railroad employees are charging the railroads exorbitant wages, it is the business of the railroad managers to reduce the wages. One thing is certain beyond dispute and that is the fact that the farmers should not be impoverished to pay excessive wages to anybody. It is the opinion of those who have given the railroad freight rate question the most thorough study that a complete overhauling and proper adjusting of railroad management from the highest official to the section hand would result in a radical reduction of freight rates. That, however, cannot be done without repealing the present law and restoring the state railroad commission to their former status, and Mr. Mayfield is pledged to that task.

Parachute Fails to Open, Stunt Flyer Is Killed.

Joplin, Mo., July 4.—William Spain, a "stunt" flyer, fell 2,000 feet to his death at Seneca, Mo., twenty miles south of here Tuesday afternoon when a parachute with which he leaped from an airplane failed to open.

A crowd of nearly 5,000 persons witnessed the exhibition and saw him fall to the earth a few hundred feet away. According to Blaine Blizzard, undertaker at Seneca, nearly every bone in Spain's body was broken.

Harding's 4th of July Message to His "Home Folks" at Marion.

Marion, O., July 4.—With an emphatic declaration that the constitution and laws sponsored by the majority must be enforced, President Harding, addressing his "friends and neighbors," who assembled at the fair grounds here Tuesday to celebrate his homecoming, declared that menaces do arise, which must be suppressed by the government pending their effacement by public opinion.

Coupled with this assertion was the prediction that "America will go on" and that the "fundamentals of the republic and all its liberties will be preserved."

During his address the president touched on prohibition, discussed the right of a "free America" not only to labor "without any other's leave," but "to bargain collectively," reviewed the history of Marion, which is celebrating its one hundredth birthday anniversary, and told a number of incidents of his earlier life. He spoke from a grandstand filled with "home folks" and visitors from surrounding territory. Massed in front of him were at least 25,000 persons. The weather was unusually cool.

General Pershing, who also delivered an address, was loudly applauded when he advocated "fearless" use of "the strong arm of the law" in communities which openly sympathize with murder of inoffensive people in the exercise of the right to earn a livelihood." President Harding joined in the hand-clapping which followed this statement.

Departing frequently from the prepared text of his speech, Mr. Harding, with a smile, told how he, "a green village youth," once rode into Marion from the nearby town of Caledonia, his former home, on a "stubborn mule." At another juncture he remarked that "back in 1895" he dropped into the "express office" to see "some of the fellows" there about a civic celebration.

There was a burst of applause when the president said he would welcome the day when I can come back to stay with you permanently.

"Some of you may think it is a fine thing to be president," Mr. Harding remarked. "Keep on thinking it—you'll find the situation very different when you wake up."

Shortly before noon the president strolled down to the Marion Star building from the home of his father, Dr. G. T. Harding. Climbing the stairs to his father's office on the second floor, the president made a long-hand draft of his address. Across the hall was the room which he occupied for years as editor of the Star—his old desk still in its customary place.

Before leaving the building the president went into every department, greeting each employe by name as he shook hands.

Hughes Says American Ideals Must Survive.

Boston, Mass., July 4.—The blessing of democracy will flow only "insofar as it represents the rule of an intelligent and cultured people," Secretary Hughes declared in a paper on the "Aims in American Education," read here Tuesday night before the National Education association.

"The American ideal," the secretary said, "and it must be maintained if we are to mitigate disappointment and unrest, is the ideal of equal educational opportunity, not merely for the purpose of enabling one to know how to earn a living, and to fit into an economic status more or less fixed, but of giving play to talent and aspiration and the development of mental and spiritual powers."

the District Court of Houston County to be holden at the Court-House thereof in Crockett, on the second Monday in October, A. D. 1922, the same being the 9th day of October, A. D. 1922, then and there to answer a petition filed in said cause on the 22nd day of June, A. D. 1922, in a suit numbered on the Docket of said Court, No. 6001, wherein W. L. Moody, Jr., and Sealy Hutchings, executors of the estate of W. L. Moody, deceased, are plaintiffs, and the unknown heirs of A. E. Gossett, deceased, Josie Newton and husband, Allen Newton, of Galveston County, Texas, and Tony Gossett of Harris County, Texas, are defendants, said petition alleging that the plaintiffs are the owners in fee-simple of 100 acres out of the A. E. Gossett League of land, situated in Houston County, Texas, about 3/4 miles northeast from the town of Crockett on the Rusk Road, and described by field notes.

That plaintiffs, and those under whom they claim, have had and held the peaceable, continuous, and adverse possession of the land claimed and described in their petition, claiming the same under deed and deeds duly recorded, cultivating, using and enjoying the same each and every year continuously, and paying the taxes thereon for a period of more than five years after defendants' cause of action accrued, if any ever accrued, and before the commencement of this suit.

That the plaintiffs, and those under whom they claim, have had and held the peaceable, continuous and adverse possession of the land claimed and described in their petition, using, cultivating, and enjoying the same each and every year for a period of more than ten years continuously, after defendants' cause of action accrued, if any ever accrued, and before the commencement of this suit.

That the defendants are asserting and claiming an interest in and to said land which clouds the title of plaintiff, and praying that on proof being heard they have judgment for the land sued for, quieting the title thereto, and removing all clouds therefrom.

Herein fail not, but have before said court on said first day of next term thereof, this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same.

HUSBAND KILLED; WIFE IS ARRESTED

Dan W. Ryan Dies of Wounds Received Near City of Houston.

Houston, Texas, July 6.—Shot at a lonely spot on the Clinton road, near Houston, some time around midnight last night, Dan W. Ryan, 45 years old, operator of a sand shell barge line, died at 3:45 o'clock this morning in a Houston hospital.

Mrs. Martha Hazel Ryan, 30, his wife, was arrested and charged with the killing.

Ryan was president of the Buffalo Bayou Company, which dredged sand and shell in Galveston Bay, transported it by barge up the Houston ship channel and sold it.

Mrs. Ryan made no statement and would not talk to newspaper men.

Her attorney, General Jacob F. Wolters, issued this statement, in part:

"Mrs. Ryan stated that proceedings were under way for the institution of divorce action.

"She said that Wednesday night she followed his car down the Clinton road. She was in a car driven by a professional chauffeur, and occupied also by O. A. Swift, who had been employed by her to get evidence with reference to probable divorce proceedings.

"She said Mr. Ryan was in his car with a woman.

"She came upon him, she continued, and saw him stop just off the Clinton road.

"Mrs. Ryan then said she got out of the car. She could see Ryan and his companion because of the bright moonlight, but she flashed a light on the two, she stated.

"She said that she ran about three hundred feet; that he overtook her, and that she then began to fire."

After the shooting, according to information gathered by officers, Mrs. Ryan appeared to be hysterical, but she gave the gun, a 32-caliber Colt's revolver, to Swift, and was taken by him to headquarters.

Her chauffeur, it was stated, took Ryan to a store at Clinton and called for an ambulance. Ryan was rushed to the Baptist sanitarium, where he died.

GALVESTON SURF CLAIMS 2 LIVES

Galveston, Texas, July 4.—Before the eyes of several thousand bathers, two men were drowned in the surf at Galveston Tuesday within an hour of each other.

They were R. M. Gannon, 65, of Eagle Pass, and John D. Wiley, 49, of Dallas, Texas.

Gannon entered the water about 6 p. m. and inside of 15 minutes was discovered in difficulty near the ropes which skirt the Murdock bath house. He was pulled from the water by life guards, but efforts at resuscitation failed.

Wiley was drowned only a few rods distant. He was pulled to the beach by guards shortly after 7 p. m. and all efforts to revive him were in vain.

Both bodies were taken in charge by the Malloy Undertaking company.

COUNTY CHAIRMAN ISSUES STATEMENT

To the Officers of the Primary Election:

I am adopting this method of reaching you in regard to the primary elections to be held in this county on July 22nd and August 12th, respectively, and in connection therewith I beg to submit to you the following suggestions and instructions, viz:

First. It is important for us to know that a primary election is now a legal election and is controlled by the primary election laws and not by the general election laws. These laws intend that a primary election shall have equally as much moral sanctity and legal force as any other election, and it has legal safeguards and limitations thrown around it for that purpose. The fundamental purpose of this law is to secure to the voters that protection which will insure to the voters therein a "free ballot and a fair count," so that the nominee thereof may reflect the real choice of the democrats of the county.

Second. To the accomplishment of the foregoing objects, the law requires the county executive committee to appoint a presiding judge at each voting precinct, and this has been done. These judges then select an associate judge and two clerks. Two more clerks may be appointed if found necessary, and if over one hundred votes may be cast. No one can serve as judge or clerk who has not paid his or her poll tax.

Third. Judges have authority, and it is their duty, to administer oaths, preserve order, appoint special officers to enforce order and make arrests if necessary, and loitering or electioneering within 100 feet of the entrance of the polling places is expressly forbidden.

Fourth. The polls are to open at 8 o'clock in the morning and close at 7 o'clock in the evening of the same day.

Fifth. No one can vote in a primary election unless he or she has paid his or her poll tax or obtained the required certificate of exemption from its payment.

Sixth. The vote shall be by official ballot only, which ballot will be furnished the officers of election by the county executive committee.

Seventh. A certified list of the poll tax payers should be in the hands of the election officers at least five days before the day of election, this list to be supplied by the executive committee on receipt of the same from the county tax collector, alphabetically arranged and by precincts. The law is strict on this point and reads thus: "No primary election shall be legal unless such list is obtained and used for reference during the election."

Eighth. The same secrecy of the ballot is to be observed as in general elections, the ballot boxes to be locked and sealed and closely watched, and returned to the county chairman within four days after the election, together with tally sheets, return sheets, ballots mutilated and defaced, and ballots not voted, the returns to be properly certified to by the judges and clerks and showing the vote cast for each candidate.

Ninth. The county chairman of the county executive committee will exert all reasonable effort to have the election supplies, the ballots, and the ballot boxes in the hands of the election officers, but if, for any reason, this should not be done at least twenty-four hours before the day of election, then the presiding judge of such voting precinct who has not received the same, will please notify the county chairman at Crockett, and arrangements will be made for the delivery thereof to such judges before the polls are open. This is important, and it is hoped all presiding judges will bear it in mind and be governed accordingly.

Very respectfully yours,
J. W. Madden,
County Chairman.

The new Goodyear
Cross-Rib Tread Cord

A Remarkable New Cord Tire at a Popular Price

Here is a big, sturdy, long-wearing new tire built to satisfy the buyer on every point of mileage, quality and price.

It is designed especially for the man who wants the essential advantages of cord tire performance at the lowest possible price.

It is designed to offer the buyer a quality product at a price even lower than he has formerly paid for a "long discount" tire. It has a different tread from the famous Goodyear All-Weather Tread Cord—a new tread with a deep, clean-cut, cog-like pattern—and its selling price ranges from 20 to 25% less.

This new tire is the Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord.

Like the All-Weather Tread Cord it is liberally oversize in all straight-side sizes, the 4½-inch tire, for example, actually measuring nearly 5 inches.

Like the All-Weather Tread Cord, its foundation is genuine high-grade long-staple cotton.

Like the All-Weather Tread Cord, it embodies the efficient group-ply construction, a Goodyear patent.

Like the All-Weather Tread Cord, it is the product of an experienced company which has a world-wide reputation to safeguard

A PLEDGE OF FRIENDSHIP.

Not every address of welcome to a visitor is to be taken seriously. Much must be allowed, usually for the orator's desire to be complimentary to the visitor and for the tendency of the speaker upon formal occasions to soar into the ideal, without the necessary basis of facts to support his assertions.

But Viscount Uchida, foreign minister of Japan, in his address of welcome to Secretary Denby of the American navy department the other day at Tokio, expressed what appears so clearly to be the attitude of Japan toward America, that Americans may well receive his words as an official declaration for peace and friendship between these two countries and feel a new sense of security from the danger of friction.

"As a result of the Washington conference a new spirit rests on the Pacific, and whatever suspicion might have existed before, has disappeared, leaving a cloudless horizon," the premier declared. "We consider your visit seals with the stamp of friendship the treaties recently concluded and the accord reached as the result of your country's worthy and far seeing initiative."

The Japanese have given every evidence that they were genuinely pleased with the agreement reached at the conference. Their delegates came to Washington with misgivings. They felt that their position would be the most difficult of any of the powers. Others felt the same way about it. Here in America the greatest fear that the conference would fail was based on the uncertainty of securing the co-operation of Japan. Throughout the conference the Japanese problem occupied much attention.

The Japanese delegates yielded much, and yielded gracefully. In striking contrast to one of the Chinese delegates who withdrew, the Japanese set through and played the game like men. Their delegation proved to be one of the strongest in attendance, and it earned the admiration and confidence of their colleagues, and of the American public. While firm in their contentions, they never once failed to exhibit a conciliatory spirit, or appeared to be out of harmony with the spirit in which the conference had been held.

When the commission sailed for Japan, its members declared they were satisfied. And when they arrived home they stood by their work. When opposition developed, Baron Kato himself assumed the premiership to insure the ratification of the treaties and the continuance of the policy of co-operation and conciliation Japan had promised at Washington.

Events support the declarations in Viscount Uchida's speech welcoming Secretary Denby. The Japanese are going as far as they can to convince us of their honest intention to live peaceably with us. Apparently, a far-reaching step has been taken in promoting peace and good will between Japan and the United States. There is hope that these cordial relations will not be disturbed, if we can hold in check our jingoes and blatherskite racial agitators.—Houston Post.

THE WAY OF THE TRANSGRESSOR.

It is worth while to note that the processes of human justice are not perfect. But harm can come of centering one's whole attention upon defects in the system of justice. The system is grinding out results. And the results, on the whole, are of the sort for the achievement of which the system was instituted. Criminals are being convicted in our courts. More of them are being convicted now than ever before in the history of our station and nation. Says Judge W. S. Morrow of the Texas court of criminal appeals:

During the last year the persons imprisoned for felonies numbered 1,600, exceeding by 40 per cent all previous records. For the current year no prison figures are at hand, but if we may judge by the number and character of the cases appealed, the prison reports will show a marked excess over the previous year. The appeals in felony cases for the term of the court of criminal appeals recently ended are practically 50 per cent in excess of those filed during the previous year. Not in number alone, but in the severity of the verdicts, these convictions are without precedents. One-fourth of the appeals in the current year are for convictions for homicide. In more than thirty cases the death penalty was assessed, and against two-thirds of the remainder the punishment amounts to life imprisonment, considering the age of the accused.

Facts of this sort ought to be known to all citizens. They are indications that the courts can deal sternly with the transgressor, and that they are dealing sternly with him. And the strengthening of the effectiveness of the courts has come—not from the bench, although the bench has encouraged it—but from the jury box. As Judge Morrow says, "the courts are as good as the citizens make them." They can be no better.—Galveston News.

WHO MAY ESCAPE FROM WORK?

Where is there escape from work? The farmer says not on the farm; the city man says not in town. All who amount to anything, rich or poor, have to work, and work hard. It requires just as much effort for the child of a millionaire to go through school and get ready for life as it does for the child of the poorest parents in the neighborhood. Idle people perish. Those who work at some wholesome and useful tasks survive.

It is true that farming is hard work, but the farmer has no monopoly of this privilege of punishment. The farm boy or girl who goes to the city with the hope of escaping the necessity of working hard is certain to meet with disappointment or failure. Work hours in the city are actually longer than on the farm; the work days in the year are more numerous and the reward on the average is less.

It is not the amount of work any of us do that is painful; it is the fact that we look upon our tasks as toilsome. It is drudgery that kills. We should endeavor, therefore, to drive drudgery out of our lives rather than attempt the impossible task of escaping from work and responsibility.—Kansas City Star.

"AUTOMOBOOB."

Automoboob! It is a name of a new coinage. It is applied to a party who doesn't know how to drive a car without anything like due respect to the rights of others, and who does not care to learn. And there is a proposition to pin the word "automoboob" in big letters upon the car of any person convicted of reckless driving, or other unseemly behavior. Possibly some such procedure, in addition to a big fine would be the most effective remedy that could be applied. There are few people who can stand ridicule, and to be ridiculed before the whole world so that all who run may read, might be the greatest punishment possible to inflict on this class of individuals. It would

GUM-DIPPED CORDS

-and Their High Mileage Records

The high mileage records of Firestone Cords continue to emphasize the fact that Firestone methods are different and better. These records, steadily increasing in number and in mileage totals, justify the Firestone contention that there is one best way to build tires.

Among the primary sources of Firestone extra mileage is double gum-dipping—the saturation of the cord plies in a vat of liquid gum—thus coating each cord and virtually eliminating internal heat and friction.

Another is Firestone air bag curing, with its 200 pound pressure, which places every cord accurately and equalizes the tension.

By blending the rubbers of different plantations and types, and by tempering it before mixing, Firestone men add still more mileage.

Many cord tires are good—a few are better—Firestone users say one is best.

Those who have already experienced Firestone mileage, have stopped shopping and experimenting—they have made these cords standard equipment. Investigate your friends' success with Firestone Cords—and buy your next tire accordingly. Come in and get your share of extra mileage.

Housewives Are Saying Nice Things About Our High Grade Flour

"Sad" biscuits and "soggy" bread will put any stomach out of business in time.

The best remedy—or preventative—is to use only a pure and high grade flour, such as the wonderful American Maid brand that we are now selling at a very close price.

And you will find all of our foodstuffs on a par with this flour that is causing so much favorable comment.

WHY NOT YOU?

Notice to Voters.

Due to the epidemic of sickness in the northeastern part of this county all of the speaking dates and picnics have been called off and it has not been possible for me to see and talk with each and every voter in the district, but I wish to assure you that I will appreciate your vote and support, and if re-elected your county commissioner will endeavor to discharge the duties of the office to the best of my ability, rendering the greatest good at the least possible expense to the people of precinct one. Thanking you for past favors, and trusting you will return me as your commissioner, I am,

Yours for re-election,

Radio Messages.

Brightman Sharp and others of Crockett strung up a radio station in this city Sunday morning and listened in Sunday afternoon on a concert and some messages broadcasted from Houston. The instrument was not working well Sunday afternoon, but worked better Monday afternoon and the sounds were distinctly heard. Some corrections in the apparatus are being made each day and it is expected to receive distinct radio messages before the week is out. The receiving wire was stretched between the tops of the court house and the Pickwick hotel and the instrument placed in the drug store of the Beasley Drug Company.

Lost Mule.

A small, mouse-colored mare mule, no brand, 5 years old, about six weeks since roached. Reward for information leading to recovery. Address B. F. Woelfley, Rt. 2, Crockett, Tex. 3t*
