EDITORIALS BY COL. R. T. MILNER

What the Former A. & M. President Writes in the Rusk County News.

From a large fire place a cheerful fire was blazing, and a lamp of another century was on the center table. On the walls were pictures of George Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Lee and Jeff Davis. The furniture was not antique, but it was ancient, and when it was new it was the style. It was made of solid walnut and mahogany. They had not invented machinery to cut veneer, back in the days when a gentleman was a gentleman, and no method was known by which a scrub could be polished and rubbed up and painted into a gentleman.

Supper was announced by the time I had thawed up good, and no coaxing was required in establishing the most cordial relations between the traveler and that which was set before him. The meal consisted of several courses of biscuits, two or three courses of fried ham, two courses of fried eggs, one course of hot coffee, two of milk, and other things of a substantial nature, such as one would expect at such a place.

There was much talking during the meal, as Mrs. Trueman, not inconsistent with the natural inclinations of her sex, desired to know some things relating to my past life. So in order to remove all suspicions that might lead to error and create a situation of doubt and uneasiness, I related in the most appropriate and disinterested way that I could the things that lay heavily upon her mind. I soon discovered that my frank and open way of relating events which she and her husband would like to know, and talking over matters of common interest, had made a favorable impression, and had prepared the way for me to enter into their lives and ascertain what of interest was contained therein.

They had seated me in a comfortable, old rocking chair immediately before the fire, with Mrs. Trueman on the left and the master of the household on the right. He had lit his pipe and was relining in an easy fashion, placing much weight upon the back of his chair, when I opened up on what proved to be the most interesting story of this long trip.

"Mr. Trueman," said I, "this trip to me is the most interesting of all my outings. The country through which I have passed today is one continual story of a people who lived, and wrought, and passed away, leaving an entirely different race behind. Their children have passed bodily into another life.

"I see, Mrs. Trueman, (turning to her) a group of fine looking boys and girls in that picture over there, on the wall, and will you please excuse me if I may ask if they are your children? I would like to know if your experience in bringing up a family is similar to the other pioneers of a large section of country through which I have been traveling. I trust that my inquisitiveness may be pardoned, since something far deeper than curiosity prompts me to ask you these questions. Mr. Trueman told me while out feeding my horse that he has lived here sixty years. Surely there have been interesting changes since you came here. My purpose is to reproduce for publication the true story of your long residence here. I have heard from those I met on the road today something of it, and my trip is one of education. The lives now passing in this section mark a peculiar change in civilization, or the end of a peculiar civilization, whichever way you want to look at it."

A sad face it was now that confronted me. From a happy, smiling countenance, beaming, in the cultivated face of a once beautiful young woman, there came heavy sighs, and in a voice that trembled with emotion, she turned to her husband and asked him to tell the story.

So Mr. Trueman, placing his pipe upon the mantel and drawing his chair a little closer to the fire, proceeded to tell me the story which I am copying word for word:

"I was," he said, "brought up here on this plantation. I was fourteen years of age when the Civil War broke out. At sixteen I enlisted and remained in the service of the Confederacy until Lee surrendered. I came back home, and took charge of my father's farm. The war left my father poor and heart-broken. He soon died, and in a few years my mother followed him. Mary and I were married in 1870. We reared seven children—four boys and three girls—all are now living. We gave them a pretty fair education. Farming conditions grew worse and worse. Labor, such as we needed on the farm, could not be had. My oldest boy was offered a position in town. He left and succeeded. He made more money and did it with less drudgery than his three brothers put together were making on the farm. Conditions on the farm contrary to our expectations grew still worse. Then the second left, then the third, and last year our youngest son took his leave. It was hard to give him up, but he was offered more at the beginning of his engagement in town than he could possibly make on the farm.

"The girls have married and gone out of the country. I offered my sons-in-law every inducement to stay on the farm that I was able to offer. Their excuse for leaving was that this is a cotton-cursed country. They are now in the sheep and goat business in the West, and while they have been hard hit by drouths, they have made a far better showing than they could by raising cotton, and much easier.

"This large place upon which we have lived all these years doesn't make two per cent on the investment. I am forced to rent it, and the rent amounts to but little over the taxes. Not a cent is left to put in improvements. It used to be a fine farm, and the land is as good now as it ever was. Of course some of it is badly washed, but it could be easily built up again. It was our desire and greatest ambition to see our children settled around us, living in comfortable homes, and enjoying the fruits of their labor and industry, out of debt and independent. But a realization of that kind is absolutely impossible under the conditions that exist in cotton farming."

"AT EVENING TIME."

By Wm. C. Allen.

Days of my age,
Ye will shortly be past;
Pains of my age,
Yet awhile ye can last;
Joys of my age,
In true wisdom delight;

Eyes of my age,
Be religion your light;
Thought of my age,
Dread ye not the cold sod;
Hopes of my age,
Be ye fixed on your God.

—St. George Tucker.

I came across the following a few years ago: "When John Quincy Adams was eighty years of age, he met in the streets of Boston an old friend, who shook his trembling hand and said: 'Good morning, and how is John Quincy Adams today?'

"Thank you," was the ex-president's answer. 'John Quincy Adams himself is well, quite well, I thank you. But the house in which he lives is becoming dilapidated. It is tottering upon its foundation. Time and seasons have nearly destroyed it. Its roof is pretty well worn out. Its walls are much shattered, and it trembles with every wind. The old tenement is becoming almost uninhabitable, and I think John Quincy Adams will have to move out of it soon. But he, himself, is quite well, quite well!'

It is good to see old people with an unconquerable spirit. When their earthly course is almost run how often they fearlessly look into the future. It is well when they have such vital faith in God that they think of the worn body, shaken by every wind, as only becoming "uninhabitable," that soon they must "move out of it" as expressed by the venerable ex-president of the United States.

Sunday School Picnic.

In response to an invitation from their honored and worthy teacher, Mrs. A. W. Phillips, the children with their mothers met at the Methodist church Friday evening, September 8, 1922.

The object of the occasion was to celebrate the sixty-first birthday of their teacher and to have a class picnic.

After all had assembled they were taken out to the school campus where they enjoyed all kinds of children's games and frolics.

Then Mrs. Alice Norris in her own charming way entertained them with story telling and a splendid Sunday School talk in which she told the mothers of the wonderful work done by this noble teacher. This little class has an enviable record, having received the banner seventeen times.

A delightful picnic lunch was served after which all returned to their homes wishing for a speedy return of the day when they could have another picnic.

Missouri Lady Suffered Until She Tried Cardui.—Says "Result Was Surprising."—Got Along Fine, Became Normal and Healthy.

Springfield Mo.—"My back was so weak I could hardly stand up, and I would have bearing-down pains and was not well at any time," says Mrs. E. V. Williams, wife of a well-known farmer on Route 6, this place. "I kept getting headaches and having to go to bed," continues Mrs. Williams describing the troubles from which she obtained relief through the use of Cardui. "My husband, having heard of Cardui, proposed getting it for me. "I saw after taking some Cardui . . . that I was improving. The result was surprising. I felt like a different person."
"Later I suffered from weakness and weak back, and felt all run-down. I did not rest well at night, I was so nervous and cross. My husband said he would get me some Cardui, which he did. It strengthened me . . . My doctor said I got along fine. I was in good healthy condition. I cannot say too much for it."
Thousands of women have suffered as Mrs. Williams describes, until they found relief from the use of Cardui. Since it has helped so many, you should not hesitate to try Cardui if troubled with womanly ailments.

"A reason for Better Baking"

"Ladies and gentlemen, you will see something fine when Willie Jones eats a whole great big box of Kellogg's Corn Flakes because that's the only kind he will eat a whole box of!"

It's a joyous treat to sit down to a bowl of Kellogg's Corn Flakes

You'll agree that you never ate such delicious, such satisfying cereal as Kellogg's Corn Flakes! Those big, sunny-brown "sweet-hearts-of-the-corn" are so fascinating in flavor and so crispy and crunchy that you don't wonder the children are thrilled to eat them!

Compare Kellogg's with imitations to realize their quality, their appetizing appeal, their wonder-crispness! Unlike imitations, Kellogg's are never tough or leathery or hard to eat! Each heaping spoonful of Kellogg's is even more joyous than the last—there is no end to the happiness that is yours eating Kellogg's Corn Flakes!

ASK FOR KELLOGG'S! Be sure that you get Kellogg's—the delicious Corn Flakes in the RED and GREEN package that bears the signature of W. K. Kellogg, the originator of Toasted Corn Flakes. NONE ARE GENUINE WITHOUT IT!

holden at the Court House thereof, in Crockett, Texas, on the 2nd Monday in October, A. D. 1922, the same being the 9th day of October, A. D. 1922, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 4th day of September, A. D. 1922, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court as No. 6015, wherein T. W. Thompson is Plaintiff, and G. W. Benedict and wife, Mrs. G. W. Benedict, are Defendants and the cause of action being alleged as follows:

That plaintiff was on January 1st, 1922, in the peaceable possession of that certain tract or parcel of land, situated in Houston County, Texas, consisting of 82 acres of land, the J. H. Griffin survey, fully described in deed from O. W. Davis to G. W. Benedict of record in Book 100 page 143 of the Houston County, Texas, deed records, to which reference is made for a particular description of said land, as well as to plaintiff's petition filed in this cause; that on said last named date the said defendants entered upon said premises and ejected the plaintiff therefrom, and have ever since withheld the possession thereof from plaintiff to his damage in the sum of $650.00, and that the reasonable rental value of said land is $250.00.

That plaintiff is the owner of four notes for $120.00 each, dated December 1st, 1917, due respectively on December 1st, 1918, 1919, 1920, and 1921, executed by J. I. McCarter for said land, secured by the vendor's lien thereon in deed from J. V. Marsh and wife to said McCarter; that B. E. Vickery bought said land from J. I. McCarter and assumed the payment of said notes, then sold said land to O. W. Davis who assumed the payment thereof, and said O. W. Davis sold said land to G. W. Benedict who assumed the payment thereof; that said notes have been duly sold and conveyed to plaintiff, and no part thereof paid except the interest to December 1st, 1919, and $28.00 paid January 1st, 1921, said notes attached to plaintiff's petition.

Plaintiff sues for the title and possession of said land, and prays in the alternative for the amount due on said notes, interest, attorneys fees, costs, and on said land.

Herein Fail Not, and have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given Under My Hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Crockett, Texas, this the 4th day of September, A. D. 1922. (Seal) V. B. Tunstall, Clerk, District Court, Houston County.

At. By J. B. Stanton, Deputy.

SHERIFF'S SALE.
The State of Texas, County of Houston.
Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a certain execution issued out of the Honorable County Court of

Anderson County, on the 24th day of August, 1922, by W. C. Quick, County Clerk of said Anderson County, Texas, for the sum of Five Hundred and Thirty-eight and 80-100 Dollars and interest and costs of suit, under a certain judgment, in favor of United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company, in a certain cause in said Court, No. 2034, and styled United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company vs. H. H. Adams, placed in my hands for service, I, O. B. Hale, Sheriff of Houston County, Texas, did, on the 26th day of August, 1922, levy on certain Real Estate situated in Houston County, Texas, described as follows, to-wit:

102 63-100 acres on the Frank Johnson league about 2 1/2 miles west from the town of Crockett in said Houston County, and generally known as the "Terbell Place," and now owned or claimed by the said defendant, H. H. Adams, and said land more fully described in the said Execution and to which reference is here made for a better description thereof, and it being the same land described in a deed from J. C. Brewton and others to the said H. H. Adams, dated on or about April 1, 1913, and recorded in Book 65 on page 546 of the deed records of said Houston County, and to which said deed and the said record thereof reference is here made for a better description of said land, and levied upon as the property of the said H. H. Adams, and that on the first Tuesday in November, 1922, the same being the 6th day of said month, at the Court House door of Houston County, in the City of Crockett, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., by virtue of said levy and said judgment and execution, I will sell above described Real Estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said H. H. Adams.

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks, immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Crockett Courier, a newspaper published in Houston County.

Witness my hand, this 29th day of August, 1922. O. B. Hale, St. Sheriff, Houston County, Texas.

HAD GIVEN UP HOPE FOR HER BABY

Ware's Baby Powder Relieved Bowel Trouble Over night. Baby Soon Fat and Healthy.

Mrs. John Webb, 7115 Avenue E., Magnolia Park, Houston, Tex., writes as follows: "My baby was sick two weeks ago with stomach and bowel trouble. I gave her everything I could hear of and everything the doctor sent her, but nothing would do her any good. I had almost given up all hope when one of my neighbors told me about Ware's Baby Powder. So I sent for the powder and gave the first dose about 11:30 that night, and the next morning her bowels were regulated. Now my baby eats like a little pig and is fat and healthy."

Ware's Baby Powder is harmless and babies and children love to take it. Given in liquid form mixed with sugar and water. Prescription of famous old doctor; in use over 40 years. At drug stores, 50c and $1.00. Prepared by The Ware Chemical Co., Dallas, Texas. Adv. 2

SOME NEWS OF THE CROCKETT OIL FIELD

Mr. George L. Porter, operator of the Austin No. 2 well of the Porter Oil Company at Crockett, has not yet returned on account of pressing business engagements elsewhere, but a big stack of mail awaits him in Crockett and his return is expected daily. Operations at the Crockett well will be resumed upon his arrival.

Drilling at the Driskell well continues and good progress is being made toward the 2500-foot depth. The operators of this well are well-pleased with the indications.

The Courier has no report from the Porter Springs or the Weldon wells, and the Grapeland well remains shut down for an indefinite period.

Expressions of Sympathy.

It was Tupper who said: "A babe in a home is a well-spring of pleasure." and Dickinson paid children this beautiful tribute: "They are idols of hearts and of households, they are angels of God in disguise." But the greatest tribute ever paid to little children was uttered by the God-man when he said: "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven." Answering to this call, little James Carl Ellis, two years old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ellis of this city, only recently left the home of his father and mother, and his lovely spirit took its flight into the other world in answer to the summon: "Come unto Me."

"Behold a seraph soaring,
From out our weary world;
In robes of white,
One starlit night,
With spirit-wings unfurled,
He took up his flight,
To the gates of light,
To make his dwelling there,
Seraphic songs outpouring
Upon the silent air."

Oh, how he loved thee, mother,
Thy bosom was his bed;
'Twas sweet to rest,
On thy soft breast
The little weary head;
To feel the press
With fond caress
The bright and radiant brow,
But the blessed "Elder Brother"
Will cherish "baby" now."

"In His moral tillage, God cultivates many flowers seemingly only for their exquisite beauty and fragrance. For when bathed in soft sunshine they have burst into blossom, then the Divine hand gathers them from the earthly fields to be kept in crystal vases in the deathless mansions above. Thus little children die—some in the sweet bud, some in the fuller blossom; but never too early to make heaven fairer and sweeter with their immortal bloom." James Carl was a beautiful and lovely child. The Methodist church in Crockett and its Sunday school will share with his parents in their saddest bereavement, and our hearts go out to them with feelings of tenderest sympathy. Like the home, the church and Sunday school will miss his childish prattle, for scarcely a Sunday passed when he was not there, looking on and wondering what it all meant. In the Sunday school he could not understand that he was "in God's kindergarten," but the parents well understood the well-recognized truth that "early impressions are the best," and were following the Divine injunction to "bring him up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord."

The great heart of Crockett's entire people beats in solemn but genuine feeling of deepest condolence towards the sorrowing parents, and would gladly offer any balm that would heal their broken hearts if it were in their power. But it is here that human weakness fails, and we can but commend them to that higher Source for solace and comfort in their most trying ordeal.

Therefore, we, the undersigned committees, representing the Men's Bible Class and the Ladies' Bible Class of the Methodist church of Crockett, in profoundest love and tenderest sympathy assure the weeping parents that we share with them in the affliction that has overtaken them, and trust they will find the highest and truest comfort in the beautiful and soothing sentiments expressed in the following words:

"Dear weeping father, mother,
How could he longer wait
When Jesus calls,
From Jasper walls
Swung wide the golden gate.

But he will stand
At God's right hand,
To wait and watch for you;
And there will be another
To bid you "welcome," too!

Through countless years
No bitter tears
Shall dim those lustrous eyes;
No sighs shall mar the singing,
Beneath those cloudless skies.

Pennington Parson Predicted Wireless Long Ago.

The installation of radio or wireless telephones called to the minds of some of our older citizens this week a statement made about half a century ago by a Pennington preacher, when in the course of his sermon he said that some day the descendants of his congregation would be able to hear the sermons of the great city preachers right in their homes, with the aid of the then new telephone. The Pennington divine went so far as to say that according to his belief all things were possible, and that this being so, future generations would hear and talk over a wireless telephone, fly through the air and go under the sea in a submarine boat.

Probably at the time this preacher made these statements some of his thinking congregation shifted their tobacco, changed positions and went back to sleep, but the brother either knew what he was talking about or was a good guesser. The wireless telephone is a fact, people fly through the air—not The News Man, however—and we have with us the submarine.—Groveton News.

POLITICS BANNED ON EVE OF LEGION MEETING AT WACO

Waco, Texas, Sept. 10.—There will be no political speeches on the floor of the State convention of the American Legion, which convenes in Waco Monday, according to State Commander Wayne Davis, who arrived here Sunday with the State executive committee.

Mr. Davis issued the following statement over his signature: "Upon the eve of the American Legion State convention the Legion desires to recall to the public mind the promise made to the citizens of Texas one year ago at the last State convention, which was that the American Legion, as an organization, would take no part in the politics of Texas. We know that this promise has been faithfully kept and that the faith is unbroken."

"This promise was made by the American Legion because by its constitution it is made a non-political, non-sectarian organization, and was organized for the sole purpose of mutual helpfulness to ex-service men and women, to reflect the glories and memories of the great war and to inculcate obligations of real and constructive service to the community, State and nation."

"One of the cornerstones of the American Legion from its very birth has been the promise to the public that the organization would not further the political interests of any individual or organization. Any attempt by anyone to promote or injure the political fortunes of any individual or organization will not be tolerated by the members of the American Legion on the floor of the present convention."

Every train coming into Waco today and tonight is bringing hundreds of world war boys and by Monday morning the grounds of the Waco Cotton Palace will have become a veritable United States government cantonment.

There will be everything to make it real except discipline—this being one time when Mr. Buck Private will have as big dish in the affairs of the meeting as any of the major generals, lieutenant colonels or company commanders, and certainly as much as "It will be one hot time in the old town," says Adjutant W. S. Foster of the local post. "I have received literature and letters from many of the leading cities of the State, including Dallas, Fort Worth, Galveston, Sherman and many others, and each one of the letters is in regard to next year's convention. All the cities from which I have heard say that their delegation is coming to Waco to cop the convention for next year, and to look out for their smoke. With this in mind, the convention headquarters will be "red hot," so to speak, with each of the cities contending with each other for the place of the convention next year. But we are prepared for them, and we expect to give them the right place in which to hold their arguments."
