ELECTION CONTEST FAVORS LEEDIKER

Successful Candidate Wins Office On the Flip of a Dollar.

The election contest, scheduled for Monday, consumed all of Monday and the most of Tuesday. As previously stated, the contest was instituted by Karl Leediker, candidate for county commissioner in precinct No. 3, against Ed C. Thompson, his highest opponent. The executive committee, after canvassing the returns, had declared Thompson one vote ahead. The county democratic executive committee was the tribunal before which the case was reviewed on Monday and Tuesday of this week. It was charged that the voters living in other precincts had voted in precinct No. 3 and a recount of the vote was asked. A committee was selected to recount the vote in the different boxes in precinct No. 3. The committee found a number of votes that were illegally cast on both sides and these, after much discussion, were eliminated. After the votes that were decided to be illegal, because of residence elsewhere largely, were thrown out, a final recount was made when it was found that the two candidates tied. The law prescribes that where there is a tie the result may be decided by lot. It was proposed that a dollar be flipped to decide the result and the proposal was accepted by both sides. It was further decided that the winning candidate should pay the attorney's fee of the losing candidate. The dollar was flipped and Leediker won. Leediker is the democratic nominee and will pay the attorney's fee of his opponent. It is said the proposal was made by Leediker. It was a good sportman's way of settling the controversy, readily accepted by Thompson, and the best of feeling prevails between the two rival candidates and their friends.

Mrs. Rhodes Dead.

Mrs. America Ann Rhodes, aged 74 years, died at the home of her son, Mr. Ross Cowherd, near Patterson Lake, Friday evening at 5 o'clock. The remains were brought to Crockett Saturday morning and funeral services held at 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the residence of Mr. Thomas L. Hairston. Mrs. Rhodes was a long-time member of the Christian church and the services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. E. S. Allhands, interment following in the Crockett cemetery. Mrs. Rhodes leaves the son at whose home she died and a daughter, Mrs. Burnett, at Palestine, both of whom were present at the funeral. She leaves a granddaughter, Mrs. Butry of Dallas, who, with her husband and children, were also here for the funeral. The Courier joins in extending condolence to those bereft of mother and grandmother. Mrs. Rhodes was well-known for her many acts of kindness and Christian charity.

SOME NEWS OF THE CROCKETT OIL FIELD

Mr. George L. Porter, operator of the Austin No. 2 well of Porter Oil Company, has not yet returned from the north and east, and is not now expected before October 1. The Austin No. 2 will continue at a standstill until he returns.

The Driskell well is drilling around two and a half thousand feet. Indications continue to be of the most encouraging nature.

The Weldon well of unreported depth has been closed down for several weeks and drilling has not yet been resumed in the Porter Springs well. The Grapeland well remains at a standstill.

First Methodist Church.

Sunday is promotion day at the Sunday school in First Methodist church of Crockett. Full attendance is urged at Sunday school. Pastor will baptize any children whose parents desire to have them baptized. Baptism will occur immediately after promotion ceremonies and before preaching.

Preaching at 11:00 a. m. and 7:15 p. m. Public cordially invited to all services.

KILL THE 1923 BOLL WEEVIL IN 1922

Mr. Reppert, entomologist of the extension service of the A. & M. College, advises that the conditions this fall are ideal for the destruction of the boll weevils that will otherwise go into winter quarters, and from which great numbers will develop next spring to attack the 1923 cotton crop. All the cotton has put on the second growth, thereby affording plenty of food and breeding places for large numbers of boll weevil until frost. If their food and breeding place is removed well before frost this fall, most of this year's crop of weevil will starve before they go into winter quarters. The cotton in many sections has already been picked, and in most other sections picking will soon be complete. It is advised then, that the cotton growth be destroyed, by October 1 if possible, by plowing out with a plow set shallow, or by some other equally effective means. Do not burn the crop refuse. It is enough to kill the plant completely. Clipping or running a stalk cutter over the rows will not accomplish the purpose, as new growth will immediately spring from the roots that will make ideal late food for the weevil and thus keep them alive till they can get into winter quarters. Kill the plant early and keep it killed. The best results will follow where co-operation is practiced, and where "everybody is doing it." So kill the 1923 boll weevil in 1922.

County Agent.

Street Paving Near.

The Courier hears talk of a plan to pave the public square in Crockett and also two blocks of Public avenue and the street leading to the railroad station. The plan for paving the public square contemplates the payment of a third of the cost by the county, a third by the city and the remaining third by the abutting property owners, the county paying a third on account of the court house, which belongs to the county. The cost of paving Public avenue and the other streets would be borne one-third by the city and the remaining two-thirds by the abutting property owners on each side. The plan is to be pushed and it is expected that we may have paved streets at no distant day. It will be pushed with the view of lifting Crockett out of the mud and dirt.

Creek Marriage.

Mr. J. W. Goodwin, one of the county's good farmer citizens residing in the Creek community, was married on Wednesday, September 13, to Mrs. Malissa Hester, also of the Creek community. The marriage ceremony was performed by Judge Nat Patton at the home of Mrs. Hester's son, Mr. Dud Hester. The groom is 76 years of age and the bride is 68. Both have many friends who will join the Courier in extending congratulations and best wishes. Both are long-time residents of Houston county and among the county's most respected citizens.

Mrs. Hearne Dead.

Mrs. B. S. Hearne, one of the county's oldest and most respected citizens, died at the home of her son, Mr. R. H. Hearne, Saturday, September 9, in the Belott community. Funeral services were held on Sunday following and interment occurred in the cemetery near Belott. Mrs. Hearne was 81 years old and was preceded in death several years ago by the husband. She is spoken of as a good, Christian woman and charitable neighbor. The Courier joins in extending condolence to the bereaved relatives.

Christian Church.

LEEDIKER DECLARED TO BE THE NOMINEE

This is to certify that the Leediker-Thompson contest was heard by the Democratic Executive Committee of Houston County on the 18th and 19th days of September, A. D. 1922, and as a result thereof it was shown that there was a "tie" between the contestant, Leediker, and the contestee, Thompson, and the committee being required to make the nomination "by lot," which was done, and the contestant, Karl Leediker, was declared the nominee for the office of county commissioner of precinct No. 3 of Houston county of the democratic party of said county.

In testimony whereof, witness our hands at Crockett, Texas, this the 20th day of September, A. D. 1922. J. W. Madden, County Chairman.

MAYFIELD REPLIES TO FUSIONIST TALK

Statement Centered On Reports of Coming Dallas Meeting.

Austin, Tex., Sept. 14.—Earle B. Mayfield, democratic nominee for the United States senate, will "contend on every inch of the ground the attacks of those who would destroy the integrity of the democratic party," he declared today, in giving his views on the attempted fusion of anti-klan democrats with republicans in the nomination Saturday of an independent candidate to oppose him.

"The people are in the saddle this year, and it has been hard on the professional politicians," Mr. Mayfield declared.

Mr. Mayfield centered his statement on reports that the anti-klanmen and republicans will nominate Henry D. Lindsley in the meeting at Dallas Saturday.

"There can be no fusion between the democrats and republicans for the purpose of defeating the democratic nominee for United States senator," Mr. Mayfield said. "Democrats do not fuse with the republican party or with any other party that would destroy democratic principles.

"Those who participate in a democratic primary, pledge themselves to support its nominee and then go back on their word of honor and fuse with republicans to defeat a democratic nominee are not democrats. If those so-called democrats who propose to bolt the democratic party and are dickering with the republicans to embarrass the democratic senatorial nominee will turn their attention toward defeating the only republican congressman from Texas they will render a real service to the democratic party.

"I am now the standard bearer of the democratic party in Texas for the United States senate, and you may be assured that I shall contest on every inch of ground the attacks of those who would destroy the integrity of our party."

CITATION BY PUBLICATION.

THE STATE OF TEXAS, To the Sheriff or any Constable of Houston County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon G. W. Benedict and wife, Mrs. G. W. Benedict, by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Houston County, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Crockett, Texas, on the 2nd Monday in October, A. D. 1922, the same being the 9th day of October, A. D. 1922, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 4th day of September, A. D. 1922, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court as No. 6015, wherein T. W. Thompson is Plaintiff, and G. W. Benedict and wife, Mrs. G. W. Benedict, are Defendants and the cause of action being alleged as follows:

That plaintiff was on January 1st, 1922, in the peaceable possession of that certain tract or parcel of land, situated in Houston County, Texas, consisting of 82 acres of land, the J. H. Griffin survey, fully described in deed from O. W. Davis to G. W. Benedict of record in Book 100 page 143 of the Houston County, Texas, deed records, to which reference is made for a particular description of said land, as well as to plaintiff's petition filed in this cause; that on said last named date the said defendants entered upon said premises and ejected the plaintiff therefrom, and have ever since withheld the possession thereof from plaintiff to his damage in the sum of $650.00, and that the reasonable rental value of said land is $250.00.

That plaintiff is the owner of four notes for $120.00 each, dated December 1st, 1917, due respectively on December 1st, 1918, 1919, 1920, and 1921, executed by J. I. McCarter for said land, secured by the vendor's lien thereon in deed from J. V. Marsh and wife to said McCarter; that B. E. Vickery bought said land from J. I. McCarter and assumed the payment of said notes, then sold said land to O. W. Davis who assumed the payment thereof, and said O. W. Davis sold said land to G. W. Benedict who assumed the pay-

COTTON MAN URGES HOLDING OF BALES

Rush To Market Crop Causing Big Loss in Depreciated Prices.

A statement from W. B. Thompson of New Orleans, urging cotton men, especially farmers, not to sacrifice cotton at present prices, was received by Eustace Taylor of the Galveston Cotton Exchange and Board of Trade, who commented favorably upon the advice it contains. Mr. Thompson is a prominent cotton factor of New Orleans and presided at the convention of cotton growers several years ago, when farmers and cotton men from all territory in the United States were present.

Mr. Thompson's statement in full is as follows:

"The carryover from last season is in no sense a burden.

"The coming crop will hardly amount to more than 10,500,000 bales, and probably will be less.

"The available supply of American cotton for the coming twelve months will be approximately 15,000,000 bales, at the maximum.

"The boll weevil precludes the possibility of any other than short crops for some years to come.

"During the past year the consumption of American cotton, both at home and abroad, has been materially increased. It is true that the European situation is bad and that conditions in this country are somewhat unsettled at the present time, but the foreign problem will be adjusted, as forecast by recent developments, and the domestic disturbances are in a fair way to be composed.

"Reaction is imminent and the signs of the times unquestionably point to a boom in productive and industrial activity, in the United States at least. It is therefore reasonable to suppose that the world consumption of American cotton for the coming year will not be very far from 15,000,000 bales.

Plenty of Money.

"The salient features of the outlook, in so far as the cotton producers are concerned, are therefore:

"1. A shortage in supply. 2. An enlargement of demand. 3. An ample supply of money in this country to finance a sane and orderly marketing and dis-ment thereof; that said notes have been duly sold and conveyed to plaintiff, and no part thereof a foreclosure of said vendor lien of paid except the interest to December 1st, 1919, and $28.00 paid January 1st, 1921, said notes attached to plaintiff's petition.

Plaintiff sues for the title and possession of said land, and prays in the alternative for the amount due on said notes, interest, attorneys fees, costs, and on said land.

Herein Fail Not, and have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given Under My Hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Crockett, Texas, this the 4th day of September, A. D. 1922. (Seal). V. B. Tunstall, Clerk, District Court, Houston County, 4t. By J. B. Stanton, Deputy.

Watch the little folks speed home for Kellogg's Corn Flakes

"Mudder, I always wins the race when I carry home Kellogg's Corn Flakes. I can't hardly wait till I have some quick, mudder!"

It's great to see child-enthusiasm for Kellogg's; great to see every one in the family enjoy their crisp crunchiness and wonderful flavor! To sit down before a heaping bowlful of these joyous oven-browned "sweet-hearts-of-the-corn" and some milk or cream—and fresh fruit, if it's handy—is just about the very last word in appetizing appeal! And, your good taste will prove that!

Kellogg's Corn Flakes ought to be superior—they are the original Corn Flakes! Kellogg's are never tough or leathery; never hard to eat; never a disappointment!

Be certain to get Kellogg's—the delicious kind of Corn Flakes in the RED and GREEN package—because none are genuine without the signature of W. K. Kellogg, the originator of Toasted Corn Flakes.

queer poisons, joint poisons, muscle poisons, acid poisons are formed instead of the healthy flesh and the rich blood you used to have in days gone by? If you hobble in your gait, if pains distort your body, if bending over is an unspeakable agony, if dull pains make you breathe heavily and mean, do not grumble at the roughness of the way—smile sweetly, there is a rainbow ahead. Things are different now than they used to be, in the days of liniments, salves, complicated drugs, and all that—remember? The happy secret today is ironized yeast, one of the greatest body-and-blood builders of all time. Begin taking Ironized Yeast today. Beware of imitations and substitutes, because Ironized Yeast is not a mere combination of yeast and iron, but is yeast ironized, which is a substance all by itself. tribution of the crop and the consequent maximum price justified by the more or less acute supply and demand situation.

"In view of this outlook why should cotton, at the very beginning of the season, be in a panic-stricken haste forced upon a market from which demand has been temporarily withdrawn? And yet, this very thing is being done. Not only are spots being offered at lower and still lower prices, but what is even worse, the future market is being stamped downward by offers to sell future deliveries at lower and still lower prices, in the face of the strongest cotton situation known for many years.

"The owners of cotton presently in hand and in prospective possession, are by their frantic efforts precipitating a radical depreciation in the present and future values of their own property. But this is not all that cotton owners and merchants are doing in the hysterical sacrifice of their present and future holdings. Bear speculators who have too much sense to dare in the face of the supply and demand outlook, to initiate a raid on values, are, by the reckless actions of the owners of cotton, given the very lead and opportunity they desire, and are, by a volume of speculative offers to sell, accelerating and intensifying the decline.

"Commercial Insanity."

"I do not approve the holding of cotton when there is a demand for it, simply for the speculative purpose of advancing prices, but on the other hand I am strongly against the policy of forcing sales upon a stagnant market, either spot or future. In view of the existing outlook the present stampede to sell is little short of commercial insanity. It is not only the worse possible business policy for the individual practicing it, but it is a crime against the great product upon which the prosperity of the South will lose hundreds of millions of dollars and the losers can not shift the responsibility to bear raiders and spinners' combinations. They must bear the burden and ignominy themselves.

"It is hard to believe that the cotton people of the South will, through fear and folly, throw away the golden opportunity which is theirs for the taking, when through a little clear thinking and a little courage, they can, by an orderly marketing of the present short crop in step with demand, insure the exactly opposite result and give to the cotton producer the remuneration he requires, and to the South, its share in the prosperity which is surely on the way to those who by their faith and courage deserve it."

Chairman Appointed.

Miss Winnie Bracy, assistant secretary of the Texas Public Health Association, with headquarters in Austin, was in Crockett Friday and appointed Mr. W. A. R. French chairman of Houston county tuberculosis seal sale for the coming December.

Miss Bracy wishes to publicly thank those who have assisted in the seal sale in past years and thus made the anti-tuberculosis work possible in Texas.

Indigestion

Many persons, otherwise vigorous and healthy, are bothered occasionally with indigestion. The effects of a disordered stomach on the system are dangerous, and prompt treatment of indigestion is important. my to pay them in that time. However, the legislature may have no better sense than to submit an amendment to the Constitution on the subject at any time.

The human race moves in circles round and round. All these notions about the end of time, leagues for keeping peace between nations, the correction of all evils by law, and a thousand more or less vagaries that are now bothering the brains of the curious, have been with us all along down the meanderings of time. They afford themes for talk and break into intellectual fields that would stagnate and become monotonous without something sensational. The time is rapidly approaching, it seems, when one man can preach to all the people in the United States at one time, when one choir can intoxicate a hundred millions of people with heavenly music at the same moment, when one humble follower of the Savior of men can lift up his voice in a prayer that shall move the hearts at one and the same second of a nation of ten thousand and ten thousand souls. Things are on the go, and if the Lord wants the Jews to return to Jerusalem and restore their ancient kingdom to the happy state of affairs that existed as long as they worshipped the true and living God, they will go, and so if things are taking place as foreordained and predestinated from the foundation of the world, as our Hardshell brethren tell us, what is the use to bother? In the meantime, let us get out the cotton, pay the debts, send the children to school, obey all laws, live righteously and watch the procession go by.

CRIME AGAINST THE BOYS AND GIRLS.

While the subject of education is under discussion we should take into consideration the solemn fact that we are paying very large salaries to college professors to teach boys and girls in some of our State institutions who should spend at least one more year in high schools. Hundreds of unprepared boys and girls enter the State institutions of higher learning annually who are unprepared, stay awhile, fail and are sent home. Never again will these delinquents enter college. They are disappointed, heart-broken, all their plans in life thwarted, blasted, torn to pieces. Too proud, many of them, to return home, they drift out into the wide world and become victims of the snares that spell ruin. Take the per cent of those who enter these institutions who graduated, and the number is surprisingly small. The great majority is found among those who have dropped out. Only sickness or some unusual misfortune will ever cause the student who is well up with his work to leave college before graduation. Failure to do the work, behind on this subject, below the passing grade on another, credits falling lower and lower—these constitute the tragedy of college life—and indict our educational system of criminality against the unprepared boys and girls and against the State for permitting it.

Vast numbers and magnificent buildings will never be able to raise the standard of scholarship. The University and the A. & M. College should raise their entrance requirements, or lower the work necessary to graduation, which is unthinkable. It is infinitely cheaper and wiser to keep the students in high schools until they are thoroughly prepared to enter college, and certainly the faculties of the College and University can accomplish this salutary arrangement without a trace of statutory law. It would tend for a time to diminish the enrollment, but it would enhance the character of the schools and hasten the time when the University would reach the "First Class," predestined by the fathers and give to the A. & M. College a rating equal to the best schools of technology in the country.

HIGH TAXES.

The various State departments and institutions are not asking for more than nearly fifty millions of dollars to run them for the next two years. Well, we are so trained to permit matters to run along in a slipshod manner that the consumers of our taxes are encouraged to place the figures at the top. Our Governor in his campaign speeches never at any time intimated that appropriations should be reduced. And worse than that he declared some time ago that he had no suggestions to offer with reference to a platform. Two years ago he informed us that if he failed to reduce the tax rate he would hand in his resignation. As chairman of the tax board he has given us the biggest tax of any administration in the history of Texas. Our Governor is doing well, and now since the people have so abundantly endorsed him through and through, we sincerely trust that he may be able to keep the tax rate within the constitutional limit. It would look bad to submit an amendment to the Constitution to raise the taxes, but we are going that way in a terrible rush. May the Lord help us to bear the burdens patiently which our Governor declared he would resign before he would stand for them. If we line the river banks from their sources to their mouths with levees and turn all the waters of the plains out on the fields we will all be in clover.

"FISH OR CUT BAIT."

The Marshall News, which is a conservative paper, and which is published in a town muchly favored by both the railroads and the employees, winds up a good editorial on the situation as follows:

The injunction should prove whether the railroads or the unions are correct in their contentions. There isn't a question but that the transportation of the country is bad and will grow worse unless there is a radical change. To most of us it looks like the old shopmen will have to get back in those shops before things will move smoothly. The railroads claim all they need is protection and they can man the shops with efficient men. This injunction guarantees them that right. There will be very few who will question the United States government's ability to give this protection. Those who do question it will learn to their sorrow that they are mistaken. The public generally will endorse the government giving protection, not necessarily that they are against the cause of the strikers, but because they believe in fair play.

Then after receiving this protection this same public is going to expect the railroads to give service. If they can't give it without the aid of their old employes, then the railroads must settle with these men and get them back to the machines.

It's folly to say the railroads are giving adequate service. The farmer and manufacturer who are suffering for this lack of transportation will expect the railroads under the injunction to either "fish or cut bait."

"I knew him when he was a boy"

What one is there of us that has not felt the glow of satisfaction over the outstanding success of a life-long friend! Often a surprise—seemingly "all of a sudden." Yet neither surprising nor sudden, when you stop to think back over each step of his progress.

THE United States Rubber Company—makers of U. S. Royal Cords—were first to conceive, make and announce the balanced tire. A tire in which there is such complete unity of action in tread and carcass that neither will give way before the other.

First to conceive, make and announce a complete line of tires—a tire for every need of price and use under one standard of quality.

First to tell the public about the good and bad in tire-retailing. (You remember the phrase "Go to a legitimate dealer and get a legitimate tire.")

First also to arouse industrial and trade minds to the need of a new kind of tire competition. (Competition for better and better values. Greater and greater public confidence.)

THESE high spots along the U. S. road to leadership indicate the intent—the will to win by the quality route in a price market.

Now that so many car-owners have given their verdict for quality tires in general, and U. S. Tires in particular—a number of dealers and car-owners whose vision has been clouded by "discounts," "sales" and what not, are beginning to remember that they "knew him when he was a boy."

WAR CLOUDS IN THE LEVANT.

The possibility of a general war in Europe has been so apparent almost since the closing of the world war that the present situation causes no surprise. It was too much, perhaps, to expect the treaty of Versailles to end the war, even for a considerable length of time, and it was also too much to regard such a thing possible, though it did seem in that day of war-weariness there was a universal willingness to seek other means of adjusting disputes between nations.

It is a habit with some of us to interpret the failure of the United States to ratify the covenant of the League of Nations as a blunder which left the peace of the world in peril, and to many it appears now that is the covenant had been ratified the present situation might not have arisen. But there is much in the view that the smoldering quarrels and hates of centuries could not be so easily disposed of, and few of us would claim that so ancient a hate as that which divides Christian and Moslem was of possible remedy through diplomatic processes.

The announcement that the Turks will demand the return of Constantinople implies a Moslem challenge of all Christian Europe, and an attempt to enforce the demand might lead to a war of the most serious consequences, one that would tax the depleted resources of the nations recently in war.

If there were anything resembling concord in Europe, the prospect would not be alarming, but it must be remembered that England, France and Italy are by no means disengaged, in a military sense. Russia and Germany present complications that keep the entente powers constantly vigilant. Conditions in Poland and other Middle European nations are not stable. It depends much upon circumstances just how prepared the entente nations are to deal with such a situation as is now threatening by a new Moslem invasion from Asia. Perhaps they are not so well prepared in view of the obstinate crisis in Europe, that very fact accounting, no doubt, for the rather arrogant attitude of the Turkish Nationalists.

It reminds us that our own Colonel E. M. House, arriving from Europe several days ago, expressed himself in a vein of pessimism that is not usual for him. He declared the clouds were lowering and that Europe again was upon the brink of war, the end of which, if it came, could not be foreseen.

Americans would do well to study European affairs at present. There is little possibility of this country being embroiled in another European war, but a conflagration there would have its effect upon our economic affairs and profoundly complicate our problems. For one thing it would necessitate our dismissing from consideration for many a year any hope of collecting the war debts about which so much is heard, and the trade some of our more mercenary citizens would expect as a result of it might be disappointing, in view of Europe's dearth of gold. It might be assumed that there would be a severe limit placed upon all European credits.

As for disarmament and other measures of the lasting peace of which we have dreamed, they are apt to be halted if not abandoned. It is possible we may see a sudden cessation of the scrapping of our navy and the reduction of our army.

Wars between Christianity and Islam are nothing new to the world. They have contributed many gory pages to the history of mankind, and there is no reason to suppose they are ended, while there are 230,000,000 Mohammedans in the world, who are just as fanatical as they ever were in ancient times when they invaded Europe and established themselves there.—Houston Post.

SELECT PEDDY AS CANDIDATE TO OPPOSE MAYFIELD

Co-operation of Texas Republicans Is Asked By Anti-Klan Convention at Dallas.

Dallas, Texas, Sept. 16.—George E. B. Paddy of Houston was selected by acclamation to be the independent democratic senatorial nominee to oppose Earl B. Mayfield, regular democratic nominee, late Saturday after a committee caucus had recommended Paddy to the convention of Texas independent democrats.

R. B. Creager of Brownsville, State republican chairman, told the Associated Press following the convention that Paddy would be unqualifiedly indorsed by Texas republicans as their senatorial nominee. A platform prepared by C. F. Greenwood of Dallas also was approved by the convention.

Following the convention the republican State executive committee met at a hotel and nominated Paddy as the republican candidate with the request of the independent democrats.

The afternoon session opened at 3:30 p. m. with the selection of 31 members of the nominating committee, picked from representatives of the State senatorial districts. The committeemen and districts were:

First, Sid Crumpton, Texarkana; second, J. L. James, Delta county; third, J. T. Dixon, Paris; fourth, J. C. B. Reeves, Sherman; fifth, Richard Hudson, Grayson county; sixth, Barry Miller, Dallas; seventh, Dabney White, Tyler; eighth, H. B. Short, Center; ninth, Aaron Ferguson, Corsicana; tenth, Mrs. Beulah E. Sterling, Given; eleventh, George H. Smith, Waco; twelfth, Judge Robert Hannah, Groesbeck; thirteenth, Mrs. B. F. Longley, Dallas; fourteenth, W. D. Gordon, Beaumont; fifteenth, Milton Upchurch, Bedias, Grimes county; sixteenth, R. M. Johnston, Houston; seventeenth, E. M. Owens, Galveston; eighteenth, Mrs. Scott Woodthren, Fort Worth; nineteenth, S. E. Chase, Smithville; twentieth, Mrs. W. P. Sebastian, Breckenridge; twenty-first, Mrs. Barry Miller, Dallas; twenty-second, L. D. Stroud, Beeville; twenty-third, Mrs. Donna Beekman, Dallas; twenty-fourth, Miss Evelyn Miller, Dallas; twenty-fifth, Mrs. W. A. Bonner, Dallas; twenty-sixth, Mrs. Robert Richardson, Beaumont; twenty-seventh, Mrs. Waller Baker, Waco; twenty-eighth, W. P. Sebastian, Breckenridge; twenty-ninth, J. Gouldy, Amarillo; thirtieth, A. V. Dayrumphe, Fort Worth; thirty-third, R. E. Sorsy, Dallas.

Two members of the committee did not vote on the candidates. Barry Miller of Dallas was chairman of the nominating committee and Miss Beulah Sterling of Given, secretary. Joe Laney of Dallas was sergeant at arms.

The independent democrats, just before the close of their convention, passed a resolution in which they "cordially invited the co-operation of the republican party in Texas and its executive committee in the accomplishment of the purposes of this convention."

The resolution pointed out that the republican party "in its platform has declared its unalterable opposition to the Ku Klux Klan as a factor in the politics of this State and that the members of said party are in entire accord with this convention upon that paramount issue."

language his understanding of the shop strike situations as follows:

"If your cook leaves you at 10 a. m. between breakfast and the noon meal, leaving the dishes dirty and the kitchen a mess.

"And you hire to do the work another cook, who qualifies and serves in spite of the brickbats hurled by her predecessor picketing your front gate.

"And after six week's inability to shut off your meals the cook who left wants you to take her back and discharge the other who came to help you, saying that she 'had not quit your service, but merely suspended work, and is still in your employ with rights unimpaired'—

"That explains the issue of today between the railroad management and the striking shopmen. The women can understand if the men, particularly the politicians, can not.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

The State of Texas, County of Houston.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a certain execution issued out of the Honorable County Court of Anderson County, on the 24th day of August, 1922, by W. C. Quick, County Clerk of said Anderson County, Texas, for the sum of Five Hundred and Thirty-eight and 80/100 Dollars and interest and costs of suit, under a certain judgment, in favor of United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company, in a certain cause in said Court, No. 2034, and styled United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company vs. H. H. Adams, placed in my hands for service, I, O. B. Hale, Sheriff of Houston County, Texas, did, on the 26th day of August, 1922, levy on certain Real Estate situated in Houston County, Texas, described as follows, to-wit:

102 63-100 acres on the Frank Johnson league about 2 1/4 miles west from the town of Crockett in said Houston County, and generally known as the "Terbell Place," and now owned or claimed by the said defendant, H. H. Adams, and said land more fully described in the said Execution and to which reference is here made for a better description thereof, and it being the same land described in a deed from J. C. Brewton and others to the said H. H. Adams, dated on or about April 1, 1913, and recorded in Book 65 on page 546 of the deed records of said Houston County, and to which said deed and the said record thereof reference is here made for a better description of said land, and levied upon as the property of the said H. H. Adams, and that on the first Tuesday in November, 1922, the same being the 6th day of said month, at the Court House door of Houston County, in the City of Crockett, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., by virtue of said levy and said judgment and execution, I will sell above described Real Estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said H. H. Adams.

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Crockett Courier, a newspaper published in Houston County.

Witness my hand, this 29th day of August, 1922. O. B. Hale, Sheriff, Houston County, Texas.

BREAK IN THE RAILROAD STRIKE.

The break in the railroad strike has come pretty much as the break in the coal strike came. After holding out for five months against any settlement which did not include all the operators of the central competitive field, the miners entered in an agreement with considerably fewer than half of them, an outcome which marked a retreat from their original stand by both the miners and the operators. Now the shop crafts workers have made a settlement with about one-third of the class 1 railroads, after having declared that they would continue the strike for a settlement which should include all of them. This action marks, on the part of the employees, as much of a retreat as that which the miners executed. Also it marks something of a retreat on the part of the railway executives, though not so great a one since some of them have been ready almost from the beginning to make separate agreements. Whether events will continue the parallelism, the future must disclose. Once a few of the operators in the central competitive field had made peace, all the others quickly followed their example, moved apparently by a feeling that they could not afford to have their mines remain idle while those of their competitors were being operated. The case of operators who were not parties to the settlement made in Chicago is not identical with that of the coal operators who were not parties to the Cleveland agreement with the miners. None of them is idle; some of them have their shop forces recruited almost to normal complement, this being particularly true of some of the Eastern lines, which have been the most intransigent. A further difference is that few of the lines that are not parties to this settlement are in competition with those which are parties to it. The peace that was made at Chicago, therefore, does not work so invidiously against those roads which are not parties to it, as did the peace made at Cleveland against those coal operators who were not originally parties to it. But as between the two strikes there is the great substantive difference, that whereas the miners won virtually everything, these workers have lost virtually everything. The settlement made at Chicago in its every aspect serves to emphasize the disastrousness of the defeat, which after two months and a half of struggle has come upon the shop crafts workers. This is shown most comprehensively by the fact that, on the railroads with which this settlement has been made, they go back to work without having enforced a single one of the demands which they made on striking. Their wages are to be the wages prescribed by the labor board, the same wages which they could have been earning during all of the two and half months they have been under self-enforced idleness.—Galveston News.

NONE OF THE CONVENTION'S BUSINESS.

Invisibility in politics or in any other activity of life is deprecable. Let us admit that and hope that improving conditions everywhere may diminish it, but there can be no sovereign remedy for it until such influences as cause it are treated. The effort to have the San Antonio convention denounce one of the secret groups was ill-conceived for the reason that this group had its genesis in the activity of older rival groups which, apparently, would retain an ancient monopoly on secrecy in political operations.

Obviously, it was no business of the democratic party to align itself as the ally of one group and set itself up as the enemy of another. If the party integrity is threatened by secret group action, then all the groups are noxious and should be regarded in the same light. No one group can hope to operate in politics without sooner or later calling into action other resisting groups, and the effective treatment is not to clear the field of one and permit another organized minority to dominate the whole party.

It seems now that we have sectarian groups, labor groups, fraternal groups and agricultural groups, each of which considers and agrees upon political action in secret, and to a greater or less degree we have always had them.

Surely no one of them enjoys a superior right to exist and operate above another, and just as surely no one is less noxious than the other, taking the well-being of the nation into consideration. The great majority is organized save in the loosest and most public way, and as its units are accustomed to individual initiative and action, wide differences arise among them. This too frequently gives a closely organized group, directed and dominated by its inner councils, a power to dictate far greater than its numbers are entitled to. A closely controlled group in the electorate, a group that asks no questions and argues none, creates masters whom the people do not know and whom they are apt to distrust.

But neither parties nor statutes can ban such groups so long as they obey the laws, as all of them insist they do. Whatever problem their existence creates will have to be reached in some other way, and through the revival of a genuine spirit of democracy among all the people.

Group activity inevitably denotes a craving for power or the prevalence of fear resulting from dangerous symptoms. Very likely, if the craving for power in one group, which excites fear and distrust, could be allayed, the distrust which breeds other groups would be dispelled and all would be serene again.

But the democratic party can not be dragged into the rivalries and hatreds of organized groups. So far as it is permissible for the party to act at all, it can only endeavor to compose and reconcile, for a group committed to what it deems vital principles usually grows as a result of persecution or hostile action.

The San Antonio convention sensed the situation intelligently when it refused to be drawn into a quarrel which was none of its affair. That body would have been quite pusillanimous had it permitted its deliberations to be dominated by a minority under the threat of bolt. Sometimes, a political party is helped much more than it is hurt by a bolt, and sometimes when the tail of the dog assumes to wag the dog, a little twist probably does it good.—Houston Post.

Health Expert Is Opposed to Return Of Longer Skirts.

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, health commissioner of New York City, came out recently against long skirts for women. Dr. Copeland was moved to express himself on the subject by a letter from a New York woman, saying:

"You have done so much for health, why not tackle the long skirt, which is a menace to health?"

"This sensible woman," said the commissioner, "has made what I consider a very wise suggestion. I shall be sorry if the modern woman goes back to the early Victorian period of the mammoth skirt. The woman of that period was weighted down with heavy skirts and robbed of all freedom of body and limbs by her unnatural costumes.

"I was sorry to note this year in Paris the remarkable change that has taken place in so short a time. It must be admitted that the Parisian maidens were formerly a little scant in their attire, but even so they were wearing garments far more sanitary and healthful than the present mode demands.

"I think a woman should be so dressed all the time, so she could walk along at a lively gait, and wearing a corset so made as to fill her lungs with air and permit the functioning of all her vital organs.

"I believe my correspondent is right, and am sorry that these new-fangled ideas of dress must hamper the body and resist the life-giving activities. Let us hope that the dictates of good health will rise above the demands of fashion.

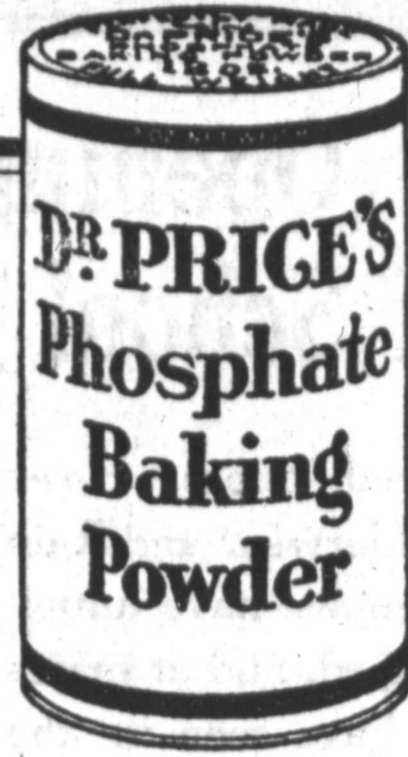

"To my mind woman's dress should be so planned that she has perfect freedom of movement. When a skirt is made so long it drags the ground, it must carry into the home dirt from the street and some of the germs of disease.

"So far as the corset is concerned, I believe that the modern girdle and the newer forms of corset give some support to the body and are healthful in maintaining an upright position and graceful carriage.

"It is apparent that in the early Victorian period woman was intended to be an ornament. She was certainly so dressed that she would have been as capable of locomotion as a Venetian glass model or a china woman.

"Recently a committee was organized in Great Britain consisting of delegates from the medical societies, physical directors, and others, familiar with the physical exercises of young women. It was the unanimous finding of the committee that girls could do everything boys could do, except play football, which an American girl wouldn't undertake anyway.—New York Evening Post.

Making 20 Years of Racing Serve Car Owners Today

IN the early days of automobile contests, Barney Oldfield—out to win every race—studied tires. His consistent success led other drivers to ask for tires constructed to his specifications.

Twenty years of road and track victories—with a steady and increasing demand for tires as he built them—convinced Barney Oldfield that these speed tests pointed the way to a better tire for everyday use.

The enthusiastic reception of Oldfield Cords by the public proved he was right. Scores of the most prominent dealers in the country—and many thousands of car owners, experienced in the use of tires—bear witness by their decided preference that Oldfield is doing a bigger and better job of tire making.

This volume, handled in an effective way in every phase of manufacture and distribution, has resulted in price quotations far below what you'd expect on tires known to be better built and more enduring.

Practically every important race event for three years has been won on Oldfields. The Wichita Test Run in which an entire set of Oldfield Cords covered 34,525 miles on rough roads proves the mettle of the Most Trustworthy Tires Built in everyday driving.

The Master Driver and Tire Builder has given the public a new standard of tire wear and tire cost—a true economy that every car owner should know about.

Your Oldfield dealer has these facts—talk to him.

TO REDUCE TAXES AND EXTRAVAGANCE

Washington, D. C.,
September 14, 1922.

Editor Courier:

I earnestly solicit your help and co-operation in my fights to reduce taxes and to eliminate waste, extravagance and graft, constantly increasing in Washington.

This fight must be carried on by some one. Waste must stop. Taxes must be reduced. The people are over-burdened, yet government expenses are continually growing. Some one must oppose. Some one must obstruct. Some one must force economy. It is an unpleasant duty, but some one must perform it. It brings criticism and attacks. But unmerited criticism harms only temporarily. My good constituents have fully vindicated my record.

If the press will back up this fight, waste can be stopped. Will you back me? I intend to watch all bills carefully, and to vigorously oppose, both in committee and house, every item of appropriation that is not absolutely necessary. May I not have your support? You are a tax-payer. Your readers help to pay the expenses of government. All are vitally concerned. Please help me.

Sincerely your friend,
Thomas L. Blanton.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a certain Order of Sale issued by the Clerk of the County Court of Houston County, on the 8th day of September, 1922, in a certain cause wherein James S. Shivers is plaintiff, and Ed Burleson and J. W. Hogg are defendants, in which cause a judgment was rendered on the 10th day of August, 1922, in favor of the said plaintiff, James S. Shivers, against said defendants, Ed Burleson and J. W. Hogg, for the sum of Two Hundred, Forty-Three & 58-100 Dollars, with interest thereon at the rate of 10 per centum per annum from date of judgment, together with all costs of suit, I have levied upon, and will, on the first Tuesday in October, 1922, it being the 3rd day of said month, at the Court House door in Crockett, Texas, within legal hours, proceed to sell for cash to the highest bidder, all the right, title and interest of Ed Burleson and J. W. Hogg in and to the following described personal property, levied upon as the property of Ed Burleson, to wit:

One black cow and calf; one red cow and calf; one brown cow and calf; one red and white spotted, two-year steer; three yellow and white pied cows; one brown steer yearling; one brown heifer yearling, all of said cattle marked under-bit and over-bit in right ear and split in left ear; one iron grey mare mule about six years old, about fifteen hands high, bought by Ed Burleson from James S. Shivers; one bay horse about fourteen hands high, about ten years old, branded N on left shoulder; one 2 3/4 T. S. narrow-tire Studebaker wagon with bed and seat; one middle buster; one plow stock; two sets harness.

The above sale to be made by me to satisfy the above described judgment for Two Hundred Forty Three & 58-100 Dollars, in favor of James S. Shivers, together with the costs of said suit, and the proceeds applied to the satisfaction thereof.

JUST A WORD WITH OUR SUBSCRIBERS

Callers at this office during the last week report that cotton picking is progressing rapidly and that this crop will soon be gathered. Recent light rains over the county have been an aid to the planting of fall gardens and turnip patches. Some farmers are getting ready to do fall plowing, turning under the vegetation to enrich the land and getting rid of some of the boll weevil.

The Courier has another good list of renewals this week. Among the number calling to renew or subscribe, or sending their renewals and subscriptions, since the last issue are the following:

John Norton, Creek Rt. 1.
J. B. Dawson, Creek.
M. D. Murchison, Grapeland.
J. D. Caskey, Grapeland, Rt. 1.

The Revival.

Editor Courier:
Please allow me through your paper to remind your readers that the protracted meeting at the Presbyterian church is to begin October 11. Dr. Thacker of Norfolk, Va., is to do the preaching. He desires, and so do I, the cooperation of all the churches.

Cotton Receipts.

Cotton weighing at Crockett has passed the 5600 mark. Cotton is being sold and shipped from Crockett as fast as the railroad company can receive it, but the railroad company has not been able to keep up with the receipts, consequently there is an accumulation of unshipped cotton at the loading sheds. The weighing facilities at the warehouse have also been taxed to their fullest capacity. The price remains around 20 cents.
