FEDERAL BUILDING BILL IN DECEMBER

Washington, D. C.,
June 5, 1924.

Mr. D. A. Nunn,
Attorney at Law,
Crockett, Texas.

My Dear Mr. Nunn:

"Permit me to acknowledge with appreciation yours of the 1st instant, and for the cordial assurances of interest and support which it contains.

"Relative to the Federal building for Crockett, I beg to say that the necessity for such a building has been pressed by me upon the attention of the congressional leaders and on the committee on Public Buildings and Grounds ever since I was first elected, and I have left nothing undone to bring about authorization for the building desired and needed.

"No bills, however, for new post office construction have been passed by congress since 1913 and the situation has become such that the administration has realized that something must be done to relieve the urgent need for a proper and necessary building program, and I am informed by the acting chairman of the House Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, and also by a prominent member of the House Committee on Appropriations, that it has been decided to report out and adopt a public buildings bill at the December session of congress. I am sure that this will be pleasing news to yourself and all others interested.

"It will probably also be a matter of interest and satisfaction to you to hear that I have finally succeeded in having the congress pass the bill introduced by me for the flood control survey of the Trinity river. This measure has only recently been approved by the president.

"I hope to have the pleasure of seeing you and my many other friends in Crockett and Houston county a little later on after my return home.

"With renewed appreciation of your offer of service and realizing how much a good word from friends will count in my behalf whenever opportunity offers, I beg to remain, with best wishes,

Sincerely yours,
Clay Stone Briggs."

GIRLS SUE DALLAS BOY FOR DAMAGES

Houston, June 10.—Thomas Wharton, Dallas youth, who will be given a preliminary hearing Wednesday on a charge of driving a car while intoxicated, was made defendant in two damage suits for $15,000 each filed in district court Monday by Misses Anna D. Mims and Ethel Lake Odell.

The girls were with young Wharton and Clifford Reinlander en route from Dallas to Galveston for the bathing girl revue when the car in which they were riding overturned on the Dallas pike near Hot Wells, May 17.

Wharton was at the wheel and, according to the petitions, was driving the car at a high rate of speed. Both girls allege permanent injury as the result of the accident.

In addition to the $15,000 damages, Miss Odell asks $1300 for medical attention and property loss. She claims she lost wearing apparel valued at $250. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Mims, parents of Anna D., brought the suit on behalf of their daughter and ask damages for themselves totaling $4050 in addition to the $15,000 for the daughter. Miss Mims lost a suit case with clothing in it valued at $400, according to the petition.

The girls allege they received injuries which left scars about their faces and disfigured them.

CROCKETT BOY WINS FOUNDER'S MEDAL

A Crockett-reared boy, the son of Mr. Sol Bromberg of Galveston and a grandson of Mrs. M. Bromberg of this city, has recently succeeded in winning the Founder's Medal in medicine at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., as the following telegram to his father in Galveston will explain:

"Nashville, June 8.—Just learned that I won Founders' Medal in medicine, the highest award of the university. My average was 96, and I was only member of my class to make general honor roll. I thought you would want to know right away and am wiring no one else. "Leon."

The young man is Leon Bromberg, who was born in Galveston, but reared in Crockett, beginning his education in the kindergarten of Miss Amelia Collins. His grammar and high school work was done in the public schools of this city. His academic work was in Rice Institute, Houston, where his degree was conferred with honors. He made highest record in his class each of the four years in Vanderbilt Medical University, and for this was not only given an internship in the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., but was permitted to select from those in his class ranking highest a student to go with him to Rochester. It having been only a few years since Leon was a student in Crockett and his having been a frequent visitor here since that time, he has numerous friends who will rejoice with him in his success.

OKLAHOMA YOUTHS GET DEATH PENALTY

Ardmore, Ok., June 9.—George Mullens and Esteel Perkins, each 20 years old, who admitted in court having slain W. M. Cox, aged Hoxbar postmaster and storekeeper, were given the death penalty by Judge W. F. Freeman in the Carter County District Court Wednesday.

In their pleas Mullens admitted firing the shot which killed Cox, while Perkins said he stood by and witnessed the shooting. Both men gave robbery as the motive for the slaying, stating that the shot was fired after Cox had refused to hold up his hands when commanded and had slammed the door shut. The shot-gun used in the attack was discharged through the closed door.

Mullens sobbed intermittently while receiving the sentence, his face covered with his hands, and apparently was in a semiconscious condition. Perkins stood erect with folded arms and stared at the Judge. After sentence had been pronounced Mullens had to be held up while leaving the courtroom.

LIEUTENANT HAIL KILLED IN AIRPLANE

Crockett was saddened Tuesday morning by the telegraphic announcement that Lieutenant Harold Hail had been killed by an airplane fall in Virginia at 10 o'clock that morning. Lieutenant Hail was well known in Crockett, where he was reared and where his parents reside, and was popular with all classes. He was a graduate of the United States naval academy at Annapolis. Transferring to the marines, he was stationed as a lieutenant at Pensacola, Fla., before going to Quantico, Va., where he became engaged in the air service. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hail of this city, were advised of his tragic death by telegram Tuesday morning. None of the particulars have been obtainable. The body is being forwarded by the government to Crockett and will arrive toward the end of this week. His sudden death is deeply deplored by the entire citizenship. It was Lieutenant Hail's last flight before making a visit to his parents here, soon after which he was to have been married, it is said.

ANDERSON CO. TO PAVE MORE ROAD

Palestine, Texas, June 10.—According to Lewis Henderson, contractor for 20 miles of the $2,000,000 road program that Anderson county is now engaged upon, the road from Palestine to Montalba will represent the highest type of permanent road ever built in this State under the direction of the State highway department.

Mr. Henderson, who has personally superintended the dirt excavation and fills, further states that the State highway department has been exceptionally particular in the minutest details as several radical departures are being made in both the dirt grading and concrete topping that is to come later.

Pouring of concrete is to start on this road within the next 10 days pending the arrival of machinery. E. A. Davis, county engineer by direction of the State highway department, supports Henderson in his statements, and adds that another feature of the 96 miles of good roads that are to be built is that not a single road will cross a railway. Safety of automobilists, as well as their comfort, has been looked after in the construction of the roads.

Attention, Confederate Veterans.

The annual reunion of Crockett Camp No. 143, U. C. V., will be held at Crockett next Tuesday morning at ten o'clock, June 17th. Every Confederate veteran in Houston County is urged to attend this meeting as there is some important business to transact. Come and bring your wife.

J. J. Brooks, Commander.

Negro Killed at Grapeland.

A middle-aged negro named Willie B. Smith was shot and killed in a warehouse at the rear of a store in Grapeland Saturday morning. An inquest was held by the justice of the peace, who found that the negro had come to his death at the hands of unknown parties. The negro had attempted to assault a white woman near Grapeland Friday evening and, after being hunted all night, was found in the warehouse at Grapeland Saturday morning by the parties or party who did the shooting. Sheriff Hale and other officers were out from Grapeland hunting for the negro when they heard that he had been found and killed.

Meeting of Candidates Called.

To All the Candidates in the Democratic Primary:

Gentlemen—You are hereby respectfully requested to meet with the county democratic executive committee at Crockett on June 16, 1924, to aid the committee in determining whether to have one or two primaries in the county, to be advised of the assessment against each of you for defraying the expenses of the primary elections, and to make arrangements for the campaign you expect to make before the election.

J. W. Madden,
County Chairman.

New Fire Truck.

The city has received its new fire truck, shipped some time since from Minneapolis. This truck, which is a beauty, was unloaded Friday and driven over the city for exhibition and inspection. It was built by the Reo Company, builders of automobiles and trucks. Crockett is now well-equipped for fire-fighting, the new truck being modern in every particular. The old truck will be kept for emergency use.

CHICAGO BOYS TO DENY GUILT IN FRANKS CASE

Chicago, June 9.—Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb, heirs to millions, who have confessed the kidnaping for ransom and murder of Robert Franks, school boy, will plead not guilty.

This statement came today from Clarence Darrow of the defense counsel, while State's Attorney Robert E. Crowde was contemplating what his aides call "the perfect hanging case."

The prisoners, whose confessions have been published with notes made by each while the confession of the other was being read to him, are to be arraigned Wednesday before Chief Justice Cavalry of the criminal court on the indictments charging murder and kidnaping for ransom, both capital offenses in Illinois.

Aside from the decision on the defendants' plea the case today was marked chiefly by the State's attorney's efforts to combat an insanity defense. A half hundred young men and women, fellow students of Loeb and Leopold at the University of Chicago, were being rounded up and questioned. Through them Mr. Crowde expects to prove that Loeb and Leopold led normal lives as students.

COTTON CHOPPERS ARE BADLY NEEDED

Labor Bureau Gets Many Calls—
Harvest Hands In Demand.

Fort Worth, Texas, June 9.—Harvest hands in considerable numbers each day are being sent out from the United States Farm Labor Bureau although the heavy demand will not begin until June 15, according to C. W. Woodman, superintendent of the bureau. It lasts approximately forty-five days each year.

During 1923 the Fort Worth office of the United States Farm Labor Bureau and its various temporary branches in other Texas cities sent 6,157 hands to the harvest fields, Mr. Woodman states. Of this number, 1,755 went to the Panhandle and Plains country and 4,402 to other parts of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Calls for cotton choppers are still in excess of the supply, in spite of the fact that the bureau has sent out approximately 1,500 within the last two weeks, according to the bureau superintendent.

Coolidge Urges Loyalty in Commencement Address.

Washington, June 9.—Loyalty based on a reverence for constituted authority was urged by President Coolidge today as the need of the country from its educated men and women. Speaking at the annual commencement exercises at Georgetown University here, the president said there must be "loyalty to the family, loyalty to the various civic organizations of society; loyalty to the government, which means first of all the observances of its laws, and loyalty to religion."

Mr. Coolidge expressed the belief that the college graduate of this year will find the world ready to give them a warmer welcome, a larger share in its tasks than ever before.

He warned, however, that a reception, perhaps "a bit cold," awaits those who insist on "tall and stiff collars as part of the working uniform—whether such collars are of the intellectual type for the mind or of the linen type for the neck."

There is little room, the president said, for those who are "too nice to work."

"The market for trained intelligence," he continued, "will never be overstocked. We hear of a possible saturation point in the demand for particular products; but there will never be a saturation point, a danger of over-production, in good, working, capable brains."

"It may be that our educational methods are not so far perfected as to give up full returns on all our investments in them. No doubt some expensive college educations are invested in people incapable of making them return a going rate of interest. But that need not greatly worry us. The world keeps on increasing its wealth despite a deal of bad investments and sheer waste."

"The young people who this year step out of college into the world of affairs will be participants in a most engrossing epoch of history. Men and women are in demand who can prove themselves capable of playing in a big and useful way the different parts. There will not be applause or recognition for all—not even for all who do their part well.

"The advancement of intelligence has been marked by a continual elimination or amelioration of the more undesirable tasks.

"Just about the time when found that there is a shortage of workers willing to do unpleasant things, somebody with a trained intelligence discovers a process or invents a machine that performs the tasks more efficiently, or makes its performance unnecessary. This has happened so many times that it seems safe to assume it will keep on happening.

"If there remain some undesirable tasks that neither science nor invention can eliminate, a more productive society will at least be able to pay more liberally—in fact is now doing so—and thus get them done."

Circus Day

Do you remember how you, as a child, were always on hand bright and early to see the circus unloaded, and waited at the show grounds for the big parade?

Remember how you thrilled as the lions, tigers, and the big lumbering elephants passed in review? How the horses, the blare of the bands, the antics of the clowns, and the glitter of it all inspired you with a fervid determination to see the real show—the main performance in the big tent?

You probably didn't realize it then, but you were getting a lot out of an attractive advertisement.

Perhaps you don't realize it now, but other advertisements, just as attractive, just as interesting, and far more valuable to you, parade weekly before you in the columns of this paper.

The merchants and makers of everything you want or need here display before you their most attractive wares. It is truly "the greatest show on earth."

The whole purpose of any advertisement is to excite your curiosity, gain your interest, arouse your desire; to tell you something you didn't know; to remind you of something over which you have been hesitating.

In short, the purpose of an advertisement is, in one way or another, to make you happier.

AN ESTIMATE OF THE KU KLUX KLAN

Editor Courier:

I submit for your readers some extracts from a late book by one of the prominent preachers of New York. After giving the Klan credit for having in it many good men, and good intentions he says:

"What then ought your attitude to be toward the Klan? If you will take my advice you will keep out of it. I say to every man, keep away from it. Have nothing to do with it. I speak to you as an American citizen. I urge you to keep out of it. If any of you are in it I urge you to get out of it. It is a dangerous movement. It stirs up the very worst passions. It is always dangerous to work in the dark against your fellowmen. The Klan is an organization that works in the dark. Bad men of the Klan take advantage of the darkness to do lawless things. This is the result in every state in which the Klan has enrolled a great membership.

"Moreover the movement will come to nothing. It seems to be prosperous today, but it will some day burst like a bubble. There was a Native American movement in the thirties and forties; there was a Know Nothing movement in the fifties. All came to nothing. They had a few temporary successes and then they collapsed. That will be the fate of the Ku Klux Klan.

"Let me now speak to you as Christians. Have nothing to do with the Ku Klux Klan. It is not a Christian thing to fight in the dark. Jesus of Nazareth never wore a hood, nor did any of his apostles, nor did Martin Luther, nor John Calvin, nor John Knox.

"From the beginning of our government to the present hour, Roman Catholics have been as loyal as Protestants. In 1776 they fought side by side for the deliverance of their country. In 1861 they fought side by side for the preservation of the Union. In 1898 Protestants and Catholics sailed together for the liberation of Cuba. In 1917 Roman Catholic boys and Protestant boys crossed the Atlantic together, fought on French soil together, and died on the battlefield together. I have seen the graves of the Protestant boys and the graves of the Catholic boys side by side, with the Star Spangled Banner floating over them all.

"It is asserted that Roman Catholics are getting possession of our government. When it comes to the national government the Catholics are not in possession yet. There are ninety-six members of the senate and only seven of them are Catholics. The Methodists have twenty-three senators, the Presbyterians have fourteen. There are four hundred and thirty-five members of the house of representatives. Only thirty-eight of these are Catholics. When you come to the cabinet there is not a single Catholic. There has never been a Catholic in the White House. Why then talk about the Catholics taking possession of Washington?

"The Christian thing to do is to think of Catholicism at its best. Think of the late Chief Justice White, one of the best judges that ever adorned that position. Think of Mayor Dever, one of the best mayors Chicago has had. Think of General O'Ryan one of the greatest peace workers of our generation. Think of Dr. John S. Coyle, a Knight of Columbus, and one of the strongest defenders of the Eighteenth amendment."

I submit the above from my reading of a lately published book.

OIL MAN FOUND GUILTY; APPEALS

Texarkana, Texas, June 7.—Otto L. Morris, oil field operator, found guilty of conspiracy to use the mails to defraud, was sentenced in United States district court here today to two years' imprisonment and was fined $10,000.

Morris gave notice of appeal. His appeal bond was fixed at $20,000, which he furnished.

Morris was found guilty of a conspiracy count on an indictment late yesterday after a trial lasting more than a week, but not guilty on 18 other counts.

The sentence and fine imposed today was the maximum penalty for the charge on which he was convicted.

George M. Ferrell and the Mid-continent Brokerage company, of which Ferrell was the sole trustee, each were fined $250 on each of two charges. Ferrell pleaded guilty.

The "Ever-Ready" Club.

Tuesday evening, June 2, the ladies of the demonstration club, directed by Miss Gladys Mitchell, met at the house of Mrs. W. A. Parker, and a pleasant afternoon was enjoyed by all in the dainty, new home.

On account of rain, all the ladies couldn't attend. Mrs. Oscar Maxwell of Crockett came with Miss Mitchell.

We had a demonstration on making willow flower boxes. After the box was completed, the guests were taken to the dining room, where they were served cake and ice tea.

They departed to their homes at a late hour, all wishing Mrs. Parker would have the next meeting at her home.

COMBINATION AND SALAD DRESSINGS

Green fruits and vegetables, with the aid of salad dressing, can be used in numerous ways to make a delicious and attractive salad. The following are easily prepared:

Cabbage—Cabbage and eggs; cabbage and beets; cabbage and raisins; cabbage and pimientos or peppers; cabbage and tomatoes; cabbage and cheese.

Peas may be used with carrots, beets, pimientos, asparagus, cheese, tomatoes, or celery.

Beans may be used with beets, onions and chopped cabbage, peppers or pimientos, chopped celery and onions; dried pinto, lima and navy beans may be used.

Potatoes may be used with beets and onions, cucumbers cut into cubes.

Tomatoes may be used with cucumber, celery, peas, asparagus, cheese or nuts.

Pears with raisins, nuts, cheese or cottage cheese.

Apples with celery; nuts; cabbage; dates sprinkled with powdered sugar.

Oranges with grapes and bananas; pineapple and marshmallow; dates.

Bananas with peanuts; pineapple; cherries.

Peaches and nuts with a dressing.

Meats—Chicken, turkey, veal, or mild cold meats with cabbage and nuts; pimientos or peppers add to these.

Tuna and Salmon—Cabbage, celery, nuts and hard cooked eggs make excellent combinations.

Salad Dressings.

Salad dressings should be kept covered in a cool place in glass, enamel or crockery containers. It should not be mixed with fresh fruits and vegetables until just ready to serve, otherwise the crispness of the salad will be affected. All materials should be fresh, crisp and cold.

Sour Cream Dressing (for Slaw).

1/3 cup vinegar, 2 tsp. salt, 3 th. sugar, white pepper, 1 cup sour cream.

Stir sugar and salt into vinegar until dissolved; then add cream gradually, stirring until mixture thickens. Pour over finely shaved or shredded cabbage and sprinkle with pepper.

Boiled Dressing.

2 tb. flour, 2 eggs, 2 tb. sugar, 1 cup weak vinegar, 1 tsp. mustard, 2 tb. butter, 1 tsp. salt, dash paprika or white pepper.

Mix dry ingredients well by putting through a sieve into a small mixing bowl. Beat the whole eggs together and thoroughly mix with the dry ingredients. Have the vinegar heating in a double boiler, add the butter vinegar slowly to the egg mixture and put all in the double boiler to cook. When it thickens, beat with a Dover egg beater. When cooked and fluffy, add the butter. Stir well and remove from the fire. Cool before serving. 1-2 tsp. celery seed may be added before cooling. When cold, whipped cream may be folded in just before serving, if desired.

Practical Nurse Tells

Mrs. N. E. Snow, of Route 1, near Paris, Tenn., tells the story of her experience as follows:

"I am 62 years old and I have been a practical nurse for more than 20 years, taking mostly maternity cases. One of my daughters suffered from cramping at . . . She would just bend double and have to go to bed.

CARDUI

was recommended to her and she only had to take about two bottles, when she hardly knew that it was . . . she suffered so little pain.

"My youngest daughter was run-down, weak and nervous, and looked like she didn't have a bit of blood left—just a walking skeleton, no appetite and tired all the time. I gave her two bottles of Cardui. It built her up and she began eating and soon gained in weight and has been so well since."

Cardui, the Woman's Tonic, has helped suffering women for over forty years. Try it. At all druggists. E-100

THE HOME CANNING OF VEGETABLES

There are three great reasons why we can fruits and vegetables. (1) To make ourselves healthier and better nourished; (2) to provide a pleasing variety of fruits and vegetables throughout the winter, instead of having them only during the few days or weeks when they are in season and (3) to save food which otherwise would go to waste.

Foods spoil because of the growth of very small plants of various kinds, such as yeasts, molds and bacteria. These are found to a greater or less extent in the air, in water, on our skin and on all animal bodies in the soil and in the dust. If we are canning food which we expect to keep for a period of weeks, months, or even years, we must make every effort to see that we do not allow any bacteria, yeasts, or molds to remain in the jar or can, to grow on the food in the sealed container and spoil it. All utensils and materials must be kept clean and carefully handled to prevent the entrance of bacteria, so that the chances of spoilage will be greatly lessened.

The safest way to preserve all vegetables is by canning under a high pressure of steam. This method will insure thorough sterilization, if the materials canned are fresh and sound, and are kept in a cool place.

Always sort fruits or vegetables before packing in the jars, putting small sizes together, medium together and large together, thus giving uniformity to each can. The cold pack method of canning is much better than the open kettle method, even for fruits that are easily kept, in that it insures a firmer product in the can, and there is less danger of bacteria getting in the jar from the hands.

Berries—For dewberries, blackberries, strawberries, huckleberries, grapes and currants practically the same methods of canning can be used. Glass jars or enamel-lined cans are needed. The condition of the fruit will have much to do with the quality of the product. Berries should be gathered in shallow trays or baskets, and not in deep vessels which will allow them to be bruised or crushed. They should be uniformly ripe and sound and as large as possible. Sort the berries carefully, removing stems or hulls. Place a shallow layer of the fruit in a large colander or strainer and wash carefully by pouring water over them or dipping the colander in and out of the water. Pack in hot jars as closely as possible without crushing. This may be done by putting a few berries at a time into the jar and pressing them into place gently. Proceed layer by layer until the jar is full. Fill the jars with the hot sirup given below. Process pint jars in water bath or water seal for 10 to 15 minutes; quart jars for 15 to 20 minutes. Remove the jars from the canner and seal at once. Tin cans should be plunged immediately into cold water and cooled as quickly as possible. When cool, store in a dark, dry, cool place.

Syrup for Berries—For a medium syrup use 3 lb. 9 oz. (3 pints) of sugar to 1 gal. of water. No allowance is made for evaporation of the water during cooking, but if the syrup be merely brought to the boiling point and then taken at once from the fire, very little will evaporate.

For a thicker syrup use 5 to 8 pts. sugar to 1 gal. of water.

Plums—Select firm, uniform fruit. Pack as firmly in jars or enamel-lined cans as possible without crushing. If the skins of the plums have been pricked in several places it may help to keep them from bursting. Fill the jars with a medium syrup or if they are quite acid, use a thicker syrup; use same proportions as for berries. Process in water bath or water seal for 20 to 30 minutes. Remove the jars from the canner and seal at once. Tin cans should be plunged immediately into cold water and cooled as quickly as possible. When cool store in a cool, dry, dark place.

Beans, String—Either the green string bean or the wax bean may be used. The beans should be tender and fresh. When the beans in the pod have grown to any considerable size canning is more difficult and the product of poorer quality. Only well sorted, small, tender beans should be used. String the beans and cut them into 2-inch lengths. Cutting diagonally or "on the bias" gives an attractive product. Very small tender beans may be canned whole. Blanch 3 to 5 minutes in live steam. Drain well and pack immediately into hot glass jars or in tin cans. Add boiling water to cover and 1 level teaspoonful of salt per quart. Paddle or stir to remove all air bubbles. Process under 10 lbs. steam pressure for 40 to 50 minutes. In some localities beans are kept successfully by the water bath or water seal, but if there are spores present, it is practically impossible to be successful except by canning under

CYCLONE HURTS 3 IN OKLAHOMA

Fort Worth, Texas, June 7.—Three persons were injured in a cyclone, which struck Tipton, Tillman county, Oklahoma, yesterday, according to messages received here today. Much property damage also was done, especially in the business section. The injured were Grover and Joe Ammons and Miss Juanita Ammons.

The Cicero Smith lumber yard was wrecked and lumber blown for considerable distance. The roof of a lumber shed was blown 200 yards and fell upon the rooming house of Mrs. M. S. Cornelius, badly damaging her property. The Simmons gin also suffered severe damage.

The home of J. S. Burton was partly unroofed.

North and west of town the storm is said to have been even more severe, several houses being blown down. No loss of life was reported, people taking refuge in their storm cellars.

pressure. When the water bath is used, remove from the canner and seal at once. Tin cans should be plunged into cold water and cooled as quickly as possible. When cool store in a dark, dry, cool place.

Beets—Only young, tender beets should be canned; they should be graded according to size and color. In preparing beets for blanching, be careful to leave them with at least 1 inch of stem and all of the root. This will help to prevent loss of juice, color and flavor. Wash thoroughly and blanch 5 to 10 minutes, or until skins will slip easily. Did for only an instant into cold water, if this is desired in order that they may be more easily handled. Drain and peel by slipping the skin from the beets. Pack the whole beet if possible, in layers of three or four, fitting the second layer into the spaces left by the first, and repeat until the jar is full (if cans are used, be sure to get the enamel-lined as the plain cans are affected by the acid). Cover with boiling water, and process in water bath or water seal for 180 minutes or under 5 lb. steam pressure for 66 minutes, or under 10 lbs. pressure for 40 minutes. Remove from the canner and seal at once. Tin cans should be plunged immediately into cold water and cooled as quickly as possible. When cool store in a cool, dry, dark place.

Well canned beets may show a slight loss of color when first removed from the canner, but often brighten up within a few days.

Peas—Use fresh, young peas. They are best when gathered in the early morning or when cool. Work should be done rapidly, and the peas should not stand either before or after being shelled. Wash, shell, and sort, putting the peas of the same size and degree of maturity together. Be sure not to use the harder or nearly ripe peas among tender ones.

Blanching is very important. If well done, it helps to prevent cloudy liquor, makes the peas more tender, and removes some of the gluey substance which may coat them. Blanch 3 to 8 minutes, depending upon the maturity of the peas. If starchy, plunge for an instant only, into cold water. Drain and pack to within one-half inch of the top of the jar. If the container is filled too full, some of the peas may burst and make the liquor cloudy. Fill the jar with boiling water and paddle or stir well to remove air bubbles. Add 1 teaspoonful of salt and 2 teaspoonfuls of sugar to each quart and process under 10 lbs. steam pressure for 40 to 50 minutes. Remove from the canner and seal at once. Tin cans should be plunged into cold water immediately and cooled as soon as possible. When cool, store in a cool, dark, dry place.

A cloudy or hazy appearance of the liquid of peas which are keeping well indicates that the product was roughly handled in blanching, or that split or broken peas were not removed before packing. Peas which are too mature or too much cooked in the blanch may burst, allowing the starch to escape into the surrounding liquid. Then, too, some waters of high mineral content have a tendency to harden the peas.

THE COTTON BELT AREA EXTENDED

Boundary of Producing Region
Is Moved 200 Miles
Northward.

Amarillo, Texas, June 8.—The nation's cotton belt will move 200 miles northward this year as a result of a wholesale experiment being conducted in the northern panhandle of Texas and adjoining sections of New Mexico and Oklahoma. Figures, compiled by the Amarillo board of city development and based upon the amount of seed actually sold to farmers, show that 200,000 acres, distributed over 18 counties, have been planted to cotton for the first time. A successful crop will establish the southern line of Kansas as cotton's northern boundary.

Although this is the first attempt at a commercial cotton crop throughout this territory, there are good grounds for belief that it will be a success, and the venture is not regarded as foolhardy on the part of farmers. Most of them are conservative, few planting more than 50 acres.

A good crop, however, will be of far-reaching importance to the cotton world, as it will add 8,000,000 acres to the proven cotton belt, and will make the great plains region as a whole capable of producing 6,000,000 bales annually if the demand justifies it. This is in a territory where cotton raising a few years ago was believed impossible. Cotton, however, has been sweeping northward across the region for several years. The southern portion is already a distinct factor as a cotton producer, and on that account has been transformed from cattle ranches into farms within the last three years.

The great plains is an elevated plateau covering the northwest part of Texas, 300 miles long and averaging 150 miles in width. This plateau, averaging 3500 feet above sea level, for years had been condemned without trial for cotton because of the cool nights which accompany altitude and a shorter growing season.

Experiments established that cotton would grow in the southern portions, however, and twin disasters made extensive planting desirable and possible.

One of these disasters was the sweep of the boll weevil over the older cotton regions, which caused high prices and made new cotton lands imperative.

The other disaster was the

CHINESE HOLD TEXAN, ASKING HEAVY RANSOM

Canton, June 9.—Their clothes torn and their hats lost, Dr. H. G. Miller and the Rev. Robert A. Jaffray returned to Wuchow, released by bandits, that they might arrange ransom for their fellow-prisoners, according to word received here.

Rex Ray of Bonham, Texas, and E. H. Carne, the other white men held, will be permitted to depart in exchange for $200,000 gold, 100 pistols, 1,000 rifles, and a large quantity of ammunition, was the word they brought.

Miller and Jaffray endured hardships in making their way back to Wuchow from the mountain stronghold of the bandits, who, ten days ago, swooped down upon the motorboat Roanoke, owned by the American Southern Baptist Mission at Wuchow, and carried off the four white and twenty Chinese prisoners. The Roanoke was engaged on a relief expedition to aid other missionaries at Kweilin, who were reported in danger from bandits.

collapse of the cattle market, which virtually bankrupted hundreds of cattlemen.

Seeing no hope for a return of prosperous conditions in the cattle industry, these ranchmen broke up their places into farms, offering them for sale on long terms.

With the opportunity to acquire low priced lands, thousands of cotton farmers migrated to the region. There were no boll weevils. It is not believed there ever will be any, as they have not progressed northwestward in the last 10 years. With no boll weevil to contend with and high prices for their product, many of those first comers paid for their farms in two years, some in one year. Those who followed them did likewise. For that reason, whole counties in the south plains region became populated within the span of months. Last year the crop jumped 75 miles southward. This year it hurdled 200 miles further.

This latter jump is not altogether founded on hope and expectations. The north plains has for years been the banner wheat producing section of Texas. But wheat hasn't been profitable for several years. During that period north plains farmers have looked with envious eyes upon the prosperity cotton brought to the sections only a short distance further south.

COOLIDGE VETO PUT ON POSTAL PAY HIKE BILL

Declares Government Extravagance Must Stop in Message.

Washington, June 7.—The postal salary increase bill was vetoed by President Coolidge today with the declaration that "government extravagance must stop."

It was returned to the senate with a message objecting to the legislation because it made no provision for raising the approximately $68,000,000 from the postal revenues.

The president returned the measure to the senate, in which it originated, before final adjournment tonight with a message declaring that it would impose an unwarranted drain on the public treasury.

Delay in the revision of postal salaries, conceded to be inequitable in certain cases, until the post office department is able to complete its inquiry into cost ascertainment, was advised by the president.

"When the results of this inquiry are available," the president said, "they will form the basis for an intelligent consideration by the postmaster general, and by congress of all questions relating to the adequacy or inadequacy of postage rates. They will afford a proper basis for consideration of relation of the cost of the postal service and revenue derived therefrom. The time has arrived to consider putting the postal service on a sound basis, so far as expenditures and revenues are concerned."

Boy Gets Back Broken in Jacksonville Wreck.

Jacksonville, Texas, June 9.—Lee Bailey, son of Joe Bailey of Ponta, this county, is in a local hospital with a broken back which he received Sunday afternoon when an automobile in which he and another boy were riding turned over on the road near Redlawn. The other boy escaped without serious injury.

Another car in which Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Dennis of Ennis were riding turned over four miles north of Jacksonville, but neither of them were seriously hurt and they continued their journey after the car had been righted.

CONGRESS FINISHES SESSION IN TURMOIL

Many Important Measures Fail
In Last Crush of Legislation.

Washington, June 7.—Congress ended its six months' session tonight in an atmosphere of controversy and turmoil characteristic of the bitter dissension which has marked its proceedings from the start.

Western senators and representatives in the final hours of the session fought and lost a desperate fight for legislation to relieve the farmer and reform the reclamation policy of the government.

Many other measures, including the bill authorizing the construction of eight new cruisers and modernization of battle-ships, and the deficiency appropriation bill, carrying funds to begin operation of the bonus law and for many other purposes, failed in the final crush of legislation when the session ended automatically at 7 p. m.

Bonus Appropriation Fails.

Not only did the deficiency bill go down in defeat in the race against time, but a special resolution passed in the last five minutes by the house to make the bonus appropriation available regardless was lost in the senate.

Republican leaders declared that only a special session of congress would provide the necessary funds for the initial costs of the compensation measure.

The deficiency bill itself was blocked at the last minute by Senator Pittman, democrat, Nevada, because of the omission of a reclamation appropriation proposed by him and action on the emergency bonus resolution was prevented by objections by Senators Borah, republican, Idaho, and King, democrat, Utah.

Postal Salaries Vetoed.

The postal salaries increase bill passed by both senate and house by almost unanimous vote also went by the board when President Coolidge vetoed it on the ground that it was "extravagant." No effort to call it up for passage was made in the short time remaining.

A renewal of the Teapot Dome debate in the senate, growing out of a futile effort by Senator Walsh of Montana to secure approval of the majority report of the committee, tied up business at that end of the capitol most of the afternoon.

The house cleaned up many minor bills but spent most of the day quarrelling over the reclamation legislation which had been attached by the senate to the deficiency bill. The principal feature of the administration reclamation plan finally were accomplished, but other changes were made to which the senate could not agree.

DEMOCRATIC EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE CALLED

To the Democratic Executive Committee of Houston County:

Gentlemen—By virtue of the authority vested in me by law, I hereby call a meeting of your committee to meet at the court house at Crockett at 10 o'clock a. m. on Monday, the 16th day of June, A. D. 1924, for the following purposes:

First: To determine whether nominations for county and precinct offices shall be made by a majority vote or a minority vote; that is, whether one or two primary elections shall be held.

Second: To determine the order in which the names of all candidates for each office in the county or precinct shall be printed on the official ballot, the same to be ascertained "by lot."

Third: To estimate the cost of holding the primary election, or elections, as the case may be, and of printing the official ballots, and to apportion such cost and expenses among various candidates for nomination for county and precinct offices.

Fourth: To name the presiding judges of the several voting precincts in the county.

Fifth: To assist the county chairman in the selection and appointment of sub-committee of five members, to be known as the "primary committee," to make up the official ballot for the general primary election, and to provide for the printing and distribution of the same to the several voting precincts.

Sixth: To transact any other and further business that may properly come before the committee.

Members of the Committee.

As at present constituted, the committee is composed of one member from each justice precinct in the county, as follows:

Precinct No. 1, G. Q. King, Crockett.

Precinct No. 2, J. M. Sheridan, Augusta, who takes the place of W. H. Holcomb, who is ill and not able to serve.

Precinct No. 3, J. M. Creasy, Kennard.

Precinct No. 4, H. M. Barbee, Lovelady.

Precinct No. 5, W. G. Darsey, Grapeland.

Precinct No. 6, A. B. Mulligan, Porter's Springs.

Precinct No. 7, H. D. Clanton, Weches.

Precinct No. 8, J. A. Hanner, Weldon.

I earnestly request that each and all the members of the committee be on hand promptly at the time and place above mentioned without further notice.

Crockett, Texas, June 3, 1924.
J. W. Madden, Chairman Democratic Executive Committee of Houston County.

Busiest Phone Hours.

More telephone receivers come off their hooks between 9 and 10 o'clock in the morning than any other time of the day in the typical city. This "peak of the load" is due to the opening of business houses and orders being placed with the butcher, grocer and baker by housewives.

Between 12 and 1 o'clock the telephone traffic again rises while lunch engagements are made, then drops off until between 3 and 4 p. m., which is the busy period in the shopping districts.

Another peak is reached between 4 and 5 p. m. when the offices begin closing and again at 7 o'clock when evening "dates" are made. After that the traffic dwindles away and at midnight the switchboard is practically idle.

EVIDENCE IS HELD INSUFFICIENT FOR UNSEATING TEXAN

Peddy Counsel in Strenuous Effort to Obtain Continuation.

Washington, June 7.—The senate committee investigating the election contest against Senator Mayfield, democrat, Texas, today upheld his right to a seat in the senate.

The evidence presented by his republican opponent, George E. B. Peddy, was held to be insufficient to support charges that excessive campaign funds had been spent in his behalf by the Ku Klux Klan or any other organization or individual, in 1922.

The decision was announced after counsel for Peddy, who have been presenting testimony for several weeks, had argued in an executive session of the committee for a continuation of the hearings during the recess of congress. Senator Mayfield's attorneys had urged action, declaring sufficient evidence already had been produced to enable the committee to decide.

Chairman Spencer in announcing the view of the committee explained that the full elections committee still must act on the contest, and that it would be necessary then to obtain action by the senate itself.

At the request of counsel for Peddy, the committee agreed to make a further examination before it drafts its report into the charges of intimidation and unfair practices in the election. Briefs will be filed by counsel on those two phases of the case.

OIL SCANDAL FLARES ANEW

WALSH SEEKS SENATE OK ON REPORT OF INQUIRY.

Washington, June 7.—The bitter issues of the oil scandal, quiescent for weeks, suddenly were brought to life again today when Senator Walsh of Montana, prosecutor of the inquiry, sought senate approval for the report written by him and approved by a majority of the oil committee.

Senator Spencer, republican, Missouri, who consistently had opposed Senator Walsh's position, objected to consideration of the report which charges serious irregularities in connection with negotiation of the Sinclair and Doheny leases by Albert B. Fall.

Declaring his views were shared by five republican members of the committee, including Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, the former chairman, Senator Spencer, declared the majority report contained no recommendation requiring immediate action.

"The senate is being asked to adopt a report so recently submitted that even five members of the committee which presumed to make the report are not familiar with it," he said.

Before he could agree to the senate acting upon the majority report, Senator Spencer said, he thought he should present his views and give a complete review of the investigation.

Senator Curtis of Kansas, the republican whip, suggested that in the interest of disposing of other business, Senator Walsh agrees that the report go over without action. Senator Walsh retorted that Senator Spencer and the other minority members of the committee had been given three days to prepare its views and said he would not agree to adjourning the session without a vote.

DOCTORS WANT MORE ALCOHOL

REPEAL OF SECTIONS IN PROHIBITION LAW IS REQUESTED.

Chicago, June 10.—The house of delegates of the American Medical association in convention today adopted a resolution calling for the repeal of "those sections of the national prohibition act which interfere with the proper relation between the physician and his patient in prescribing alcohol medicinally."

Only governmental intervention will prevent a possible catastrophe due to malarial conditions in the lower Mississippi valley, Dr. Oscar Dowling of New Orleans declared before the American society of tropical medicine.

There has been a constant increase in malarial incidents, he said. He urged that the federal government build levees and set up pumps to drain the swamps and wipe out the malarial breeding places.

"Has the government of the United States the right to question the good faith of the medical profession?" asked Dr. Wendell Phillips of New York, in the discussion of the question.

The measure as adopted, which was introduced yesterday by Dr. Thos. Clark Chalmers of New York, also instructed the board of trustees of the association to use its best endeavors to have such sections repealed and to work to have the commissioner of internal revenue and the prohibition commissioner to issue revised instructions for the use of alcohol for medicinal purposes by physicians.

The resolution on the Volstead act held that "alcohol is a drug necessary in the treatment of certain diseases in the opinion of Bowie Woman, Hurt In Auto Wreck, Dies.

Bowie, Texas, June 9.—Mrs. W. T. Ball, wife of a local cattle man, died last night from injuries sustained in an automobile wreck four miles out of St. Joseph yesterday morning.

DOES EDUCATION PAY?

David Crockett wrote his now famous autobiography in 1834. In his preface he says, "I don't know of anything in my book to be criticised by honorable men. Is it on my spelling?—that's not my trade. Is it on my grammar?—I hadn't time to learn it, and make no pretensions to it. Is it on the order and arrangement of my book?—I never wrote one before and never read very many; and, of course, know mighty little about that. Will it be on the authorship of the book?—this I claim, and I'll hang onto it, like a wax plaster. I have had it hastily run over by a friend or so, and some little alterations have been made in the spelling and grammar; and I am not so sure that it is not the worse of even that, for I despise this way of spelling contrary to nature. And as for grammar, it's pretty much a thing of nothing at last, after all the fuss that's made about it." Though the point of discussion here is that of book writing, the reader knows that the immortal Crockett was tersely defiant of education. Crockett was a howling success. David Crockett went from Tennessee to Massachusetts by wagon and on foot. We don't do that now. Crockett spent the better part of his life hunting bears, driving back the Indians, and fighting for Texas independence. We can't do that now. Crockett canvassed for votes with a twist of tobacco in one pocket and a bottle of liquor in the other. We don't do that now. Crockett ignored an education. Can we afford to do that now?

One of the presidents of the United States, Johnson, perhaps, did not know his letters until his wife taught them to him. Abraham Lincoln is said to have had a meager education, having read what he could in youth by the light of an open fire. It is a simple matter to point back to these men and say, "Here are men who were eminently successful, but who had no education to speak of." In fact, we can point to many great men who have become great without an education, but most of them lived in unheaven times. There are hundreds of living men who say that they are successful and uneducated. I know one man who with complacent self-assurance boasts of the personal discovery that the earth is flat. The world is about half full of self-made men, and most of them worship their maker. In other words, without pursuing the thought, the simplest way for one to be contented and happy and therefore successful, is to argue himself into believing that he is so already. That is the policy of letting well enough alone. It is the policy that the Chinese are said to have followed successfully for four thousand years, or more.

All sorts of figures have been compiled to prove that an education pays in dollars and cents. Everybody feels reasonably sure that it pays. We do not need to be told; we merely need to be reminded. But it should not be the dollar and cents idea to concern us first. If that were the first concern, then an education, especially a higher education, would not pay. It costs too much. If an education were worth nothing but money, a man with money could buy his education and have it delivered by the drayman. But he cannot do that, and luckily; for thus education would be cheapened. An education of the first class, no matter what provision we make for it, is after all for the elect—men and women who have much intellect, energy, and aspiration. They must have the intellect to master the work; they must have energy to bear up under persistent effort; they must have aspiration to enjoy the thing itself.

For the general, as Shakespeare would say, an education means capacity for living. It means expansion; mental and spiritual, always; moral and physical, if properly pursued. For professional men and women of today, and even more surely of tomorrow, education means more than capacity for living. It means opportunity to get on in the world. Educated men and women stand at the top in all the professions; in law, medicine, teaching, and so on. And they are rapidly taking the lead in industry. These are facts which no figures are needed for proof. Everybody can see it for himself.—The Pine Log.

WATCHING THE PARADE.

By John Pilgrim.

It looks to me as though Barber Brown is mighty near being a heretic. He is talking the most reactionary and out-dated sort of talk. Actually says that he thinks whoever it was who wrote the Bible knows more about how to bring up children than does Mrs. Polly Prattle, the president of the Make Your Home Softer league.

"Spare the rod," says Barber

Brown, "and you'll ruin a child. You sure will."

On Brown's street there are nine houses in which there are children, he says. In eight of them there are radios, automatic pianos, talking machines and mortgages. The girls wear about as much clothes as the South Sea Islanders did after they learned from the missionaries just how funny clothes can be. The boys drive red runabouts, which are for the most part elaborate superstructures on Ford foundations.

"There is only one mother in the nine houses who is called 'Mother,'" says Brown. "The rest of 'em are Mamma or Matter or Old Dear or The Ancestress. In some of the eight houses the kids call their fathers and mothers by their first names, as though they were friends instead of progenitors."

Brown is a sad, disheartened, cynical old man. He says the only children on the street that are worth the powder to blow them to —, well, to blow them — are those in the ninth house where there is a mother. In that house, likewise, is a father who upon occasion has used his gad. The girls in that house do not stay out too late at night. They do not wooze around on the front porch after midnight in petting parties with half-baked youngsters from the other side of town. The boys in that house are making good.

"In the eight houses," says Brown, "there has been one suicide, one hasty and unwelcome marriage, one mysterious runaway, one shortage, a good deal of synthetic gin and no happy parents."

"Don't tell me the Bible man didn't know his business. That line about the rod is just as true today as it was B. C."

When a man feels the need of some one who thinks more of him than he thinks of himself he proceeds to make love to some silly woman.

To Merit the Good Will

We have gained among the people of this community, we must keep our quality and prices right. Such has always been our policy.

Foodstuffs that satisfy the needs of any family. If you bake your own bread, you will want the right kind of flour. It can be found in our grocery department. Our goods never grow stale because we don't keep them long enough.

In our hardware department, we carry everything that the average housewife needs. Also light hardware for the farm and home.

Bride-Elect Honored.

Mesdames E. T. Ozier and B. L. Satterwhite entertained with Mah Jongg and 42 at the home of Mrs. E. T. Ozier Wednesday, June 5th, honoring Miss Mary Spence, a bride-elect of the June season. Pink and lavender sweet peas and ferns in crystal baskets, topped with bows of pink mahlonia, were in graceful arrangement.

The game accessories and table adornments reflected the same color scheme, giving an airy touch of summer time to the hospitality.

Following the games, a delicious salad course was served by Misses Emily Essie Kennedy, Catherine and Nell Ozier and Julia E. Satterwhite.

At the close of the hospitality the honoree was showered with many handsome and useful gifts, expressing the love of the friends gathered.

Assisting the charming hostesses were Mesdames Collin Lockfield, Robert Stokes and Wilson Gossett, and Miss Archie Mae Satterwhite.

A Guest.
