Fresh Concrete Hot Weather Care

COLLEGE STATION-- Concrete is poured in hot weather, but special care is needed to cure it properly under high temperatures. Proper curing is the prevention of moisture loss from concrete during the early stages of hardening.

W.S. Allen, agricultural engineer for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M University, "Strong winds intensify evaporation, so great care is especially necessary on hot, windy days." When concrete is first placed, it is plastic and workable for a short time. However, the mix begins to stiffen or set as a chemical reaction called hydration takes place with the water. This reaction continues as long as the concrete is moist. "By retaining water in the mix, the concrete can be properly cured, giving it increased strength and resistance to freezing and thawing, water and wear," points out Allen. "A curing time of about seven days is recommended." Rapid drying sometimes reduces the strength of concrete or causes cracking. Allen suggests several methods for retaining moisture in newly placed concrete. A common way is to cover the concrete with burlap, sand or some other material that can be kept wet for the required time. "Ponding" water on a slab also works if care is used to keep the water from evaporating. Or the concrete can be covered with plastic film, water proof kraft paper or other watertight cover to seal in the mixing water. Commercial curing compounds are often used, adds the engineer. These are sprayed on fresh concrete and form a plastic film which seals in the water. The film eventually wears off. "Although curing is one of the most important steps in making strong, durable concrete around the farm or home, it is probably the most overlooked step in construction," notes Mr. Allen.

Lt. Governor's Report

By Bill Hobby

AUSTIN -- We have heard a great many words in recent months about this nation and our problems. Most of these words have been pessimistic--about crisis and governmental inefficiency and citizen despair.

I take exception to the doomsday prophets. I think our governmental institutions and our people will work together to solve the problems of the present and to forge a future marked by the absence of crisis.

I am not going to tell you our problems are not serious because they are. For an automobile trip, you wonder if you will be able to find enough gasoline. When planning a meal, you wonder how much more you will have to cut back because of rising food prices.

The fact that you and I have child is placed in the program. The child's parent or guardian shall be notified of the child's enrollment in a bilingual education program no later than 10 days after the enrollment of the child; and such written notification shall be in English and in the language in which the parents or guardian of the child possess a primary speaking ability.

The board then approved the employment of Mary Helen Gutierrez for the position of Bilingual teacher at Richland Hills Primary School.

Miss Gutierrez is a graduate of Muleshoe High School and Degree at West Texas State University, Dec. 21, 1973. Her major field is elementary education and she has worked several summers in the Muleshoe Summer Migrant Program as a teachers aide.

The board studied and approved the Fund Contract for the Texas Association of School Board, Workman's Compensation Self Insurance Fund. This is another law passed by the State legislature that requires the public schools our size and larger to participate in Workman's Compensation, effective, July 1, 1974. This will cost the Muleshoe schools approximately $7,500 annually and comes from local tax money.

The board reviewed and discussed the preliminary estimates of revenues and expenditures for the 1974-75 school budget.

The preliminary estimates show that there will have to be a minimum tax rate increase of .05 cents per $100 of assessed values, unless the governor calls a special session of the Legislature for the purpose of producing more state aid for the public schools.

This increase was caused by a 10 percent increase in State Minimum Salaries for teachers, and inflation. The board also approved giving the Auxiliary Employees a cost of living increase of 10 percent. This 10 percent increase will not keep up with the inflationary cost of living that has been developed during the past three years.

The next regular School Board meeting will be June 10, 1974, at 8:30 p.m.

decade, giving us a ranking with the top three states.

We have one of the best junior college systems in the country with 50 institutions enrolling 166,300 students. Our Colleges and universities now enroll another 500,000.

We are the only major industrial state which still does not have a personal or corporate income tax. We are one of only a few states operating without a deficit.

Texas progress and success has not been won by accident.

Our government and our people have sacrificed again and again to make Texas fulfill its promise.

Our people are not in despair. They are not about to throw up their hands and turn their faces to the wall. Texans are naturally optimistic. But they also are realistic. They realize Texas is more fortunate than many of her sister states.

Texas is one of the leading oil producers in the world. While we must share, we do not have to rely on places far away to provide us with this basic resource.

Texas is fortunate in another important way. Her state government is close to the people, responsive to their needs. It has overcome its own crisis and become anything but ineffectual. A study of our Legislature will indicate the tremendous volume of work and the many good pieces of legislation which have been achieved, often under difficult conditions with very limited resources.

I believe it is time for us to stop centering our thoughts on our problems and begin emphasizing our assets. Then, we can go on adding to the continuing history of accomplishment made by this state and her people.

First For Muleshoe, Girls In Several Ways

It was a first for Muleshoe in two ways when a young lady rode a bull in the Muleshoe Junior Rodeo. It was the first time that Muleshoe has ever received bulls for a rodeo, in the past it was always steers or cows and it was also the first time for a female to ride a bull in Muleshoe.

The young woman was Miss Marilyn Eagle, 17 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Eagle of Route 1, Dimmitt.

This was Miss Eagle's second rodeo in which she rode a bull. And even when she did not place, she stated "Mark one up for experience."

Both times that Miss Eagle has ridden bad luck has set in. In the Earth Junior Rodeo just as her bull left the shoot her bull rope broke. In the Muleshoe Junior rodeo just as she was about to say "Let him out" her rope snapped. Her bull was then moved to another shoot and a new rope put on and she was able to try it one more time.

Miss Eagle, a senior at Springlake-Earth High School, said "I have always enjoyed rodeos and anything to do with ranch work so I decided to try bull riding. I liked it so I have decided to keep trying, for a while at least."

When asked how it felt to lower yourself on a bull she grinned and stated bluntly, "Plenty scary". "It doesn't bother me to fall off, it's just hitting the ground that bothers me," she said. One young man, who also rode a bull said, "I really don't mind her riding. If she has the nerve let her do it. It takes a lot of nerve, I know. Some of the boys didn't feel the same though. One young man was heard to say "She must be crazy. If she wants to kill herself let her, it is nothing to me."

Miss Melinda Presley, ten year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Presley also believes that she can do as well as boys. She won "All round Cowgirl" at the Groover Little Britches Rodeo on May 12.

Melinda, a fourth grader at Mary DeShazo has been riding since she was three years old. This was her first time to ride a bare back and to ride in a "Little Britches Rodeo."

She participated in barrels, pools, goat tying, Shetland bare back riding and steer riding. She received first place buckle in goat tying, second place buckle in bareback riding and third place buckle in poles.

Melinda rode in the five to ten year old age group and won the buckle for the overall best cowgirl of the entire rodeo.

Farmer Children Place In Shows

Mr and Mrs. Charles Farmer of Muleshoe, parents of Casey, 11; Kim, 9; and Sharla, 13; are proud of their children and their participation in rodeos, and horse shows. The children are members of the Progress 4 H Club and the Progress Horse Club.

In the Earth Jr. Rodeo, April 27, Casey won first place trophy buckle in the 12 and under breakaway roping and third in the pole bending, Sharla Farmer placed third in the 13-15 age group for barrels, fifth in pole bending and fifth in flag race. She won ribbons in all three events. Kim Farmer won fourth place in 12 and under barrel race.

At Lovington, New Mexico, May 4, in the Lea County 4-H Horse Show, Sharla Farmer placed fourth in barrels and eighth in polebending. Casey placed seventh in barrels and tenth in polebending. Kim won third place trophy buckle in 12 and under barrel race.

Sharla won second place trophy for barrel race, and placed fifth in Halter Division at the Deaf Smith County 4-H Horse Show in Hereford, May 11.

In the Muleshoe Jr. Rodeo held this last weekend Casey placed fourth in the rescue race, Sharla placed third in the 13-15 age group in barrel race, third in polebending and second in flag race.

Presley Places In Two Events

Several members of the Muleshoe Rodeo Team attended the Groover High School Rodeo at Groover last weekend.

Sherman Presley won fourth in bull riding and received four points, he also placed fifth in bull dogging and received two points.

Others participating were Connie Floyd, Jimmy Henderson and Joe Pate, Ross McKillip, Durk Green, Billy Milburn, and Jerry Hodge.

The team will attend the Dumas Rodeo this weekend.

Alternatives Aired To Insecticide Use

College Station - "Through the wise use of cultural practices available to today's farmers, the heavy use of insecticides could be drastically reduced."

That's the contention of Dr. Perry Adkisson, professor and head of the Department of Entomology at Texas A&M University. Adkisson also holds a joint appointment with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Our farmers today have become too dependent on chemicals to control insects in their crops. They have forsaken the more traditional methods of pest control such as crop rotation, timing of plantings, early production and stalk destruction because these practices are more preventive in nature and do not offer immediate relief to the pest infestation," points out Adkisson.

The entomologist notes that about 270 million pounds of insecticide are being applied each year to cropland in the U.S. However, only about 5 percent of the cropland is treated, with cotton, corn, tobacco, and peanuts receiving almost 90 percent of the insecticides applied. Cotton is the big leader in insecticide usage, receiving 47 percent of the total volume. About 33 percent of the corn crop receives insecticidal treatment.

"This heavy insecticide use has led to resistant pest strains, undesirable residues in the harvested crop, insecticidal drift on adjoining crops, undesirable effects on fish and wildlife, hazards to applicators and farm workers, and accumulation in the ecosystem.

"With present technology, non-chemical methods of pest control can be effective when used in an integrated program, with insecticides used only to suppress insect outbreaks," believes Adkisson. "The principle behind the use of non-chemical means of pest control is to change the environment so that it is unfavorable for insects."

The entomologist cites early production and disposal of crop residue as an excellent means of reducing the number of overwintering boll weevils and pink bollworms in cotton. Use of early maturing varieties are important to this program, and with mechanical strippers, fewer insect larvae and crop material are left in the field to bring on reinfestation the following year.

"Several new cotton varieties being developed by the Experiment Station offer some resistance to such cotton pests as the fleahopper, bollworm, and tobacco budworm. Certain new varieties also mature three to four weeks earlier than present commercial types. One new type fruits so rapidly that only about half of the fruit set is vulnerable to attack from the boll weevil," points out the entomologist.

Where lygus bugs are a problem in cotton, interplanting strips of alfalfa at 500 feet intervals has proved effective, as the pests will migrate from the cotton to the alfalfa.

In peanuts, the selective placement of insecticide granules in the soil or the use of a directed spray have been effective in controlling the lesser cornstalk borer, the crop's most damaging pest. This directed placement of insecticides has greatly reduced the damage caused by this pest as well as the quantities of insecticides formerly used for its control, notes Adkisson.

"The old cultural practices such as crop rotation, timing of planting, clean tillage and use of insect resistant varieties to suppress corn insect pests are just as effective as ever," contends the entomologist. "In many cases these practices may be even more effective because the machinery presently used for stalk destruction and tillage is much improved."

He advises plowing at least three weeks before planting and maintaining clean tillage to keep down southern corn rootworm populations. Rotating corn with cotton or soybeans plus deep plowing and clean tillage will help control white grubs.

As far as sorghum is concerned, Adkisson suggests early uniform planting of the crop on an areawide basis to avoid damage from the sorghum midge, the most serious pest. Limited insecticide applications may be necessary to control greenbugs if they reach damaging levels. However, the crop can tolerate heavy numbers of the pests, and there are numerous parasites and predators that feed on the tiny green aphids. Sorghum breeding lines have been released by the Experiment Station that are resistant to greenbugs, and a midge resistant line is in an advanced breeding program.

"All in all, the effective control of insect pests in crops involves using the right control measure at the right time and in the right way," believes Adkisson. "Today's farmer must use all the technology that is available to him, old and new, to produce his crops without loss of yield or quality due to insect infestations. Through an integrated pest management program that involves time-proven cultural practices plus the limited, selective use of insecticides, he can increase his profits while at the same time protecting the environment."

Delegates Tentatively Approve Articles

AUSTIN . . . . Delegates to the Constitutional Convention of 1974 have given tentative approval to Articles dealing with duties and powers of the Legislature and with separation of powers of the three branches of state government.

The one paragraph long Article II, Separation of Powers, closely tracks wording of the present 1876-model constitution. The article says in effect there shall be three distinct branches of state government (Legislative, Executive and Judicial) and that none of the three shall exercise any power of any of the other branches of government.

The Separation of Powers Article gained tentative approval on second reading by a vote of 139-4.

The more complicated Article III, The Legislature, gained second reading approval by a vote of 117-26.

During the course of debate on the Legislature Article, delegates reversed themselves on an earlier decision to include in the 1974 Constitution an $8,700 annual salary for legislators.

Instead delegates voted to submit the $8,700 salary figure to Texas voters as an item separate from the new Constitution.

Delegates replaced the salary figure in the proposed 1974 document with provision for creation of a new Salary Commission.

The nine member commission would be appointed by a panel of state officials--the governor, lieutenant governor, speaker of the House, attorney-general and the chief justice of the Supreme Court of Texas.

The selection panel would have to take into consideration fair and non-partisan representation of the sexes, ethnic groups and geographical regions of the state in appointing members of the Salary Commission.

Salary Commission members would be limited to a single six-year term and barred from holding any other public office or an office of a political party while serving on the commission.

The section provides that "Members of the Legislature receive compensation and allowances as ordered by the commission. The commission shall review the compensation and allowances annually."

Delegates also voted to place on the ballot a separate item providing for four-year terms for House members. Under the present constitution House members serve two year terms.

Also included among provisions in the Legislature Article is language giving future Legislatures authority to place limits on the number of terms a Speaker of the House may serve.

Another new provision would allow future Legislatures to hold "pre-sessions" prior to regular Legislative sessions to elect officers, Pre-file bills and adopt rules.

Theory is the "pre-session" would enable the Legislature to get an immediate start on its work without the usual delay of several days while administrative matters, such as adoption of rules, are attended to.

Delegates also added to the Legislature Article new language to open up to public view Senate confirmation hearings on gubernatorial appointments.

Choosing to stick with an earlier decision to require all legislative proceedings to be open to the public, delegates ended long standing tradition in the Senate of closed-door hearings on confirmation proceedings.

John Tower United States Senate

This week the Senate began consideration of S.1539, the Education Amendments of 1974. This 250 page bill affects every American in one way or another. It principally relates to elementary and secondary education programs, federal assistance to areas in school districts whose financial base is impacted by federal civilian and military installations, adult and vocational education and educational programs affecting our citizens with limited English-speaking ability.

Because of its importance, I intend to discuss this bill with you during this report and during one of my reports in the upcoming weeks. In the future report I intend to discuss the congressional proposals restricting the forced busing of students in our schools.

During this report, I would like to highlight some of the other important issues in the Senate bill. This bill extends the Elementary and Secondary Education Act for five years; Title I of that Act provides federal funds to local educational agencies for compensatory education programs. However, the Senate Bill's formula for the distribution of these funds does not effectively allocate funds to those states and districts where the poor children actually live. Rather, the Senate Bill's formula very definitely benefits the northern industrial states to the disadvantage of Texas and many other states by defining a poor child primarily in terms of whether the child's family receives welfare benefits, something I think is unrelated to education. Because there are not as many people receiving public assistance in Texas as there are in New York and because our state's payments are much lower, the Senate bill discriminates against Texas children.

Consequently, I am sponsoring an amendment to be offered by Senator McClellan and others which will emphasize the nationwide poverty-index as the tool to distribute funds rather than the existence and level of welfare payments.

The Senate bill also extends the impacted aid program for five years. There has been no argument to fully reimburse those school districts for children whose parents both live and work on federal installations. There has been some controversy over what the federal responsibility should be for federal employees who live outside the federal installation. Since I believe that the school district's overall tax base is detrimentally affected, I am pleased that the bill continues this second aspect of the program. The bill provides somewhat of a higher funding level for military connected families and this is reasonable, in my opinion, since their impact has been demonstrated to be more severe than their civilian counterparts.

Another subject are covered by the bill is bilingual education. Besides extending the basic federal program, the Bilingual Education Act, and expanding its scope and better defining its goals and activities, the bill extends the basic principle to the area of vocational education. Specifically, it incorporates my bill, the Bilingual Vocational Education Act, which will establish programs to better train those individuals with limited English ability who have left school and who may already be working but are desirous of improving their skills.

The Texas legislature has recently passed a state bilingual program and I can envision the federal-state partnership producing much better results in increasing the educational and economic opportunities of our Spanish-speaking population.

On a related matter, the Senate bill contains a change similar to a bill I proposed which will relax the eligibility requirements for federal assistance to junior and community colleges primarily serving Spanish-speaking students. For too long, these developing institutions have not received their fair share of funding.

Time limits my discussing many more specific issues. However, because I remain committed to limited federal involvement in certain specified areas, I must state my disappointment with the Senate bill's failure to consolidate much of our federal program activity and to yield a much greater amount of a priority setting to state and local units where the need can be better ascertained and where the accountability for the tax dollar is superior.

Local control of our schools must be maintained, and beyond that the interests of parents must be protected.

New warnings issued on antibiotic overuse.

Russians Will Play Flying Queens

When the Russian National Team comes to Plainview May 28 for an 8 p.m. game in Hutcherson Center, the starting lineup could stand 6-9, 6-6, 6-4 and 6-2.

And that's women, not men. The Russians will be taking on the Hutcherson Flying Queens in the Tuesday night event. Tickets are priced at $2 per person with children under 12 admitted for $1. All seats are general admission.

Brenda Moeller, a junior All-American for the Queens, not only will play in that game but also with the U.S. All-stars in games against Russia at Madison Square Garden in New York City, Des Moines, Ia., Nashville, Tenn., Kansas City, Mo., Albuquerque, N.M. and San Antonio.

Another familiar name in the All-Stars lineup will be Cheri Rapp, three-time All-American from Eselline who played for the Queens from 1968-72.

Russia won the 1972 Womens World Basketball Jamboree in Lima, Peru and last August captured the World University Games in Moscow, blitzing the United States Team 92-53 and 81-44. The Soviets also defeated France, Mexico, Bulgaria, Romania and Cuba.

Veteran of the Russian contingent is 29-year-old Nadezhda Zakharov who has played 104 games with the national team. The 6-9, 240-pound player, Ulyama Semenov, has played 70 games in national competition.

The Queens hope their emphasis on speed will help ward off the bigger Russians. The Queens were 37-4 and won two national titles in 1973-74. Tickets will be available at the door the night of the game.

Mock Trials Held In Classes

By Vicki Williams

Something different went on in Mr. Rogers' classes, Thursday. The students held mock trials. Each class selected their own clerk, judge, attorney, witnesses, records and jury. Every class had the same trial. It was about a man accused of stealing a horse in 1847. The jurors left the room and voted on guilty or not guilty. One class found him guilty and 6 classes found him not guilty. The judge either sentenced him or let the jury sentence him, if he was found guilty. Next, the whole class voted to see if he was guilty.

These eighth grade students have really enjoyed studying the law of our state and country. They've seen films, listened to tapes, had discussions, and have text books on American Civics, and half of them have visited the court house to see a trial, and now this...the mock trials. They've learned a lot from this. Thanks Mrs. Rogers!

If you can't get PIONEER Brand 8311

here are some excellent alternative hybrids for High Plains farmers.

Pioneer Brand 8311, the "Golden Bronze Yield Leader," has been our most popular hybrid this year — so popular, in fact, that it may be in short supply in some areas. One reason is that the demand has been so great downstate where 8311's disease tolerance is so important. Fortunately, there are several other Pioneer Brand hybrids that are proven top performers on the High Plains. If you can't get 8311, ask your dealer about these.

PIONEER Brand 8417

This versatile yellow endosperm sorghum is a champion yielder in the medium-late maturity class, for irrigated or non-irrigated land. It has large open heads, uniform head height, strong stalks for easy threshing, good tolerance to smut and anthracnose.

PIONEER Brand 820

This top-notch full-season hybrid, is a consistently high yielder. Excellent drought resistance and standability plus good roots and stalks make it a good choice for irrigated or non-irrigated farming on the plains.

PIONEER Brand 828

One of the highest yielding sorghums you can plant, this full-season hybrid responds well to good management on good land with plenty of water. Plains growers like it because it holds its quality and threshes well even after an early freeze. It produces sturdy stalks with semi-compact heads of dark red grain.

PIONEER Brand 846

Famous for its versatility and adaptability, this medium maturity hybrid yields along with the full-season varieties. Resistant to smut, rust and MDM, its outstanding hybrid vigor and excellent drought resistance help it turn in consistently high yields even under stress.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

AUSTIN, Tex. — With the primary elections out of the way, the race for House Speaker is getting hotter by the day.

At least three candidates for the speakership claimed legislative races May 4 turned out in their favor, and they are now in the lead.

One, Rep. Fred Head of Troup, contended he already has the speakership won with 80 votes. During the last week, he released names of 19 representatives backing him.

Rep. Carl Parker of Port Arthur laid claim to having gained seven votes in the primaries — enough to give him a total of about 55.

Rep. Bill Clayton said his pickup in the primaries "clearly established" him as the leader.

Rep. David Finney of Fort Worth hit all the claims as "phony bandwagon publicity," and urged support of his candidacy as a modern compromise.

Rep. Jim Nugent of Kerrville said he doubts outcome of the first primary appreciably changed the order of the candidates, and he maintained the race remains wide open.

The big four candidates — Head, Parker, Clayton and Finney — already have received more than $100,000 in contributions and spent about $62,000 on their campaigns.

Head raised and spent the most, $38,875 in contributions and $22,045 in expenditures. Clayton is second with $30,000 in donations and $10,208 in expenditures. Parker has raised about $20,000 and spent about $10,000. Finney $13,000 and $10,000.

INCUMBENTS FAVORED

The May 4 Democratic primary was a great day for incumbents. Not only did Gov. Dolph Briscoe win a landslide victory over Frances "Sissy" Farenthold (by nearly 70 per cent of the disappointingly-light vote of 1.5 million), but there were no upsets of any officials in statewide or congressional primaries.

Further, only three state representatives and a single state senator were defeated in 77 House and eight Senate contests.

Republicans will make their most-determined statewide bids in the governor's race, with Dr. Jim Granberry, 41, of Lubbock as the nominee. Ex-Prisoner of War Nick Rowe is the GOP nominee for comptroller who will take on Democrat Bob Bullock.

CRIME FIGHT PLANNED — Gov. Briscoe announced a public information campaign to draw neighborhoods together to prevent burglary and other crimes.

The project is part of a continuing crime prevention program in Abilene, Amarillo, Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Odessa and Waco.

Goal of the pilot program is to reduce incidence of burglary by 18 per cent in each of six participating cities.

Publicity used in the campaign suggests that police crime-prevention specialists be invited into citizen's homes to demonstrate crime-prevention techniques and teach them to recognize potential criminal activities and report them to police. Texas ranks second in the nation in the number of trained crime prevention officers, with 57 graduates of the National Crime Prevention Institute.

About 220 officers will be trained in new preventive techniques about the end of the summer.

AG OPINIONS — Atty. Gen. John Hill held state funds can be spent to publicize the proposed new state constitution.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

* The Parks and Wildlife Department can spend money to feed and house young people working in parks and contract for reimbursement with the Department of Community Affairs.

* The Board of Pardons and Paroles has authority to recommend a prisoner for an indefinite medical reprieve, emergency reprieve or parole, though the conviction has not been reviewed by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

* A second cousin of a La Joya School District trustee may not be reappointed migrant director for the district (though paid from federal funds)

* Counties and incorporated cities may be considered multi-purpose human resource delivery organizations for purposes of distributing appropriations to the Texas Department of Community Affairs. But a requirement of compliance with guidelines established by the governor is invalid.

* An act of the legislature creating Harris County Village Independent School District is an unconstitutional local law.

* Community Centers for Mental Health and Mental Retardation Services must provide workmen's compensation benefits for employees, when a new law becomes effective, and may do so earlier.

* The only sanction available to a county tax collector for failure to pay the motor vehicle sales tax is to refuse registration.

* American Revolution Bicentennial Commission members may receive 10 cents a mile reimbursement for auto use on official business.

* County judges, county commissioners, county attorneys and general managers of conservation districts created under the state constitution do not have to register under the lobby control act to communicate directly with lawmakers on legislation.

* Henderson County junior college must allow a dismissed teacher to see personnel records giving reasons for firing.

COURTS SPEAK — The State Supreme Court turned down a damage suit arising from the electrocution death of a Navarro High School football coach during goal post raising.

The Supreme Court directed a Wichita County company which does not do engineering work to stop using "engineering" in its firm name.

A mother is entitled to collect on death insurance policies covering her son who drowned in a bathtub after an epileptic seizure, the high court held.

A paint fume sniffer didn't violate terms of probation in a theft conviction, the Court of Criminal Appeals held.

APPOINTMENTS — Cloyd D. Young of Dallas was appointed to the board of regents of East Texas State University, succeeding the late E.G. Pharr of Lubbock. Briscoe appointed Kenneth Decker of Austin and reappointed Dr. Bobby Gene Smith of Arlington to the Crime and Narcotics Advisory Commission.

B. L. Parker of Bastrop has been named chairman of the arrangements committee for the Texas delegation to the national Democratic mini-convention in Kansas City, Missouri, next December.

State Rep. Pike Powers of Beaumont has been picked as president-elect of the Texas Junior Bar. WHEAT CROP OFF — Texas wheat production will drop off 29.3 million bushels from 1973. Agriculture Commissioner John White predicts.

White said most of the decrease is due to failure of the dry-land wheat crop in the Texas High Plains. Recent rains came too late to help much, White said. Production estimates have been revised downward from 78.4 million bushels to 69.3 million. Texas produced 98.6 bushels in 1973.

SP Petroleum Engineers Establish Scholarships

Lubbock — The South Plains section of the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME has established two scholarship funds to be used by the Texas Tech University Department of Petroleum Engineering.

One fund is for $1,000 a year to cover a varying number of individual scholarships, the other a $500 scholarship in the name of petroleum engineering Prof. Philip Johnson.

Announcement of establishment of the annual scholarship funds was made by Charles Miller, chairman of the Scholarship Committee of the chapter, and John Lee, section chairman. Miller and Lee are will the Lubbock offices of Amoco.

"Purpose of the awards is to generate interest in petroleum engineering as a course of study and as a career," Miller said. "The scholarships are further designed to give tangible recognition to the academic achievements of the deserving recipients."

The scholarship funds will be administered by Dr. Herald W. Winkler, chairman of the Texas Tech Department of Petroleum Engineering, who also will select the recipients in accordance with guidelines set by the donor.

The minimum scholarship will be $250 a year and the maximum $500. Recipients must now live or have lived prior to enrolling in college in the South Plains section area which consists of Bailey, Lubbock, Crosby, Dawson, Dickens, Floyd, Cochran, Cottle, Hale, Hockley, King, Lynn, Motley, and Terry counties.

Recipients must have high moral character and sincerity of purpose. Indications of leadership, extracurricular participation and work initiative will be considered in making the awards.

Recipients must rank or have ranked high in their high school graduating class, and above average grades must be maintained by students presently in a college or university.

Recipients must also be U.S. citizens and enrolled in the Petroleum Engineering Department of Texas Tech.

Senate Passage Of Federal No-Fault Standards Praised

"Texas lawmakers should take a long hard look at the U.S. Senate's passage of the national standards no-fault auto insurance measure and realize that the time of 'foot dragging' has come to an end."

Frank G. Tucker, regional vice president of the American Insurance Association, added that not only Texas, but all states without a meaningful no-fault law must recognize that "S. 354 could well be the beginning of uniform, equitable and comprehensive auto insurance reform for the residents of every state."

The no-fault auto insurance concept provides that a person be reimbursed by his own insurance company for such as medical expenses, wage loss, funeral expenses, and death benefits no matter who was at fault in the accident.

By a 53 to 42 vote, the Senate Wednesday, May 1, passed S. 354 which would require all states to meet minimum federal no-fault standards. The measure now goes to the House.

The federal proposal calls for full payment of all medical costs reimbursement of lost wages up to $15,000, a maximum payment of $1,000 for funeral expenses and up to $5,000 for death benefits paid to members of the victim's family.

"When meaningful no-fault reform was discussed during the last Texas legislative session, it was blocked by trial lawyers. They also attempted to block the passage of S. 354 in Washington.

"While the trial lawyers were unsuccessful in their attempts in the U.S. Senate, they were able, however, to stop the good faith efforts in Texas and bring about the enactment of a phony no-fault law modest both in benefits and scope," Mr. Tucker added.

"S. 354 would require Texas as well as all other states to offer a mobile society such as ours well-constructed no-fault laws with a high degree of uniformity. The no-fault laws to date unfortunately do not fit that description. National standards as outlined in S. 354 would eliminate the inadequate, hodgepodge collection of laws developing at the state level," he added.

"During the last session in Texas, a meaningful no-fault measure was blocked. In its place was passed an 'add-on' law which only forces motorists to pay for second insurance policy without correcting any of the inequities, abuse and waste of the present law suit system. On many auto insurance policies this added a cost of approximately $23 to the consumer. These 'add-on' plans increase the cost to the motoring public and do not offer the protection that genuine no-fault plan can at less cost.

"However, with the Senate passage of S. 354, the public may soon realize a sound, comprehensive no-fault program not only in Texas, but in every state," concluded Mr. Tucker.

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News
Compiled From Sources Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

IT'S ANYBODY'S guess what farming in Texas will be like by the year 2000. One thing that may be expected is that satellites may be helping, because they already are. Earth Resources Technology Satellite-1 (ERTS-1) circling the earth now, is sending back photo-like images that make it possible to identify different crops, acreage, and even crop growth. It is expected that satellites will help track down water supplies—a talent West Texans, especially, could use now—and will be able to give early warning on crop diseases. And United States satellites probably will be able to tell Americans what neighboring farmers are doing. Oldtimers use to say they "planted by the moon." The future farmer may be farming by satellite.

THE FUEL situation may be easing for most farmers, but it is still tight for others. Very tight gasoline situations were reported in Hall, Foard, Hansford, Llano, Hemphill, Hartley, El Paso, Denton, and Archer Counties; and very tight diesel fuel situations were reported in El Paso and Hartley Counties, according to the U.S. Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

TEXAS CROP and Livestock Reporting Service reports that prices received by the State's farmers and ranchers declined six per cent during the month ending April 15. Livestock and livestock products price index was down four per cent from the month earlier and 10 per cent below a year ago. The all-crops price index fell nine per cent below the previous month. Wheat went from $4.76 to $3.78 a bushel. Sorghum fell from $4.56 to $3.96 during the month ending April 15; upland cotton from 49 cents to 47, broilers from 22.5 cents a pound to 21; eggs from 56.3 cents a dozen to 51.2; and calves from $47.80 to $43.70.

LIKE MOST things Texas farmers use or buy, utility rates have been increasing. There has been debate among candidates and Constitutional Convention delegates about possibilities of creating a commission to regulate utilities. Telephone rates are drawing much attention since one telephone company not regulated now has announced an increase in the "mileage rate." This company has said that its new pricing philosophy tries to place the cost of service on the "cost causer" or the customer using the service.

TEXAS' STOCKS of four feed grains April 1 were estimated at 169 million bushels, the same as a year ago, says Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. (Those four are: sorghum, corn, oats, and barley.) Wheat supply was 41.4 million bushels, down 15 per cent from a year earlier. Sorghum stocks were 127 million bushels, down 13 per cent; corn 29.9 million bushels, up 89 per cent; oats 11.4 million bushels, 51 per cent above a year ago; barley 400,000 bushels, down 39 per cent; soybeans 8.3 million bushels up 41 per cent.

PROCESSING of red meat in Texas' slaughtering plants is increasing a little, but the 546.6 million pounds processed the first three months of the year was one per cent below the same period in 1973. The plants processed 184.7 million pounds of red meat in March, an increase of 15 per cent from February but one per cent lower than the corresponding month of 1973.
