FmHA Guarantees Emergency Loans

Financial assistance to livestock and poultry producers under the Emergency Livestock Credit Act is now available through a new loan guarantee authority of the Farmers Home Administration, a rural credit service of the USDA.

John C. Kennedy, FmHA County Supervisor, said the agency guarantees up to 80 percent of possible loss on loans made by legally organized lenders to livestock and poultry producers.

Under terms of the act, the loan guarantee program went into effect recently and will be in effect through July 25, 1975. It may be extended for six months beyond that date if the Secretary of Agriculture determines that it is needed to help the livestock industry obtain sufficient credit.

Hospital Has New Fire Protection, New Doctor

The installation of a fire alarm system at West Plains Memorial Hospital and Muleshoe Nursing Home was completed on August 15, 1974 according to Hospital Administrator, Marshall Cook. Cook said, "The system is a requirement of the Life Safety Code applicable to hospitals and nursing homes. Our hospital had to have this in order to stay in operation. The system is set up so that smoke sensors and heat detectors are located throughout the building. If smoke is detected or if the temperature rises above normal limits, an alarm is activated and a signal light at the main control panel will indicate the area of the fire or smoke. "On the off-set of this alarm," Cook stated, "smoke barrier doors are closed automatically to seal off the endangered zones."

Also, according to the Administrator, "Sixty-five solid core wood doors have been received and work is expected to start soon on the replacement of the doors in the Nursing Home. This also is a Life Safety Code Requirement."

1974-75 School Taxes Increased

In a special meeting held August 19, the Board of Trustees of the Muleshoe Independent School District, approved a total budget for 1974-75 school year of $1,744,652. This will increase the local tax rate by .05¢ over the 1973-74 Budget.

The $85,000 increase, school officials reported, is due to the 'Non-funded State Legislative Programs, inflation, and ten percent increase in salaries for school employees.'

According to the Board, "The assessed valuation of the district is $43,670,000. This was increased $2,783,520 due to the addition of new buildings, installations, etc. to the tax roll."

In summary, the overall expenditures increase over five per cent and the local taxes increased four per cent.

DR. GARY ALBERTSON

final plans for the new hospital will be presented to the Citizen's Committee and the Board of Trustees for approval or revision within a few days.

Dr. Gary Albertson will join our staff here and assume his duties on August 26, Monday," said Cook.

Feedgrains To Be Down

When the latest crop report was issued by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the word became official that feedgrains would be short this year. Yet, despite drought conditions throughout much of the Midwest, the estimates for feedgrain crops were surprisingly low, contends a grain marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"The short crop conditions will put the pressure on prices through much of 1975," points out Roland Smith. "Feedgrain prices have moved up some in recent weeks in anticipation of the short crop outlook, so I don't expect a drastic jump in prices unless the demand picture changes. Total usage of feedgrains should be off sharply from last year due to the drop in cattle feeding from poor economic conditions and a better feedgrain balance abroad that may reduce our exports."

The national corn crop is

Muleshoe Has New Doctor

Dr. and Mrs. Gary Albertson have recently moved to Muleshoe from Ashley, Michigan.

Dr. Albertson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Albertson of Muleshoe. Mrs. Albertson is the former Twilla Galiman of Lazbuddie. The new doctor and his wife have two children, Darren, five and Kristyl, eighteen months.

Gary Albertson graduated from Muleshoe High School in 1963 and entered Southwestern State College at Weatherford, Oklahoma, graduating from there in 1966.

From Southwestern State he went to medical school at Kirksville College of Osteopathy and Surgery where he graduated in 1970. He spent his internship at Carson City, Michigan from 1970 to 1971. From 1971 to 1973 Dr. Albertson served in the United States Army at Fort Hood, Texas. After his discharge from the service, he practiced in Ashley, Michigan until moving to Muleshoe.

Dr. Albertson is expected to assume his practice at the West Plains Hospital on August 26.

expected to be less than five billion bushels, down more than 25 per cent from March estimates. This would make the 1974 crop less than the two previous crops and also less than last year's total corn usage figure, points out Smith. In contrast the Texas corn crop should be up almost nine million bushels.

As far as sorghum is concerned, national production is expected to be only about two billion bushels. "The proceeds from the car are being donated to the Hospital Action Fund, which will go to help build a new hospital in Muleshoe, Project Chairman. Te

GSPA Official Speaks Against Export Control

WASHINGTON - Restrictions on the export of U.S. agricultural products would have detrimental results "economically, morally and politically," according to Elbert Harp, executive director of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association, headquartered in Lubbock, Texas.

Harp testified today before the Senate Agriculture Committee which is considering export restrictions after a severe drought throughout the High Plains reduced grain supplies.

The CSPA official acknowledged there will be a tight grain supply this year and that the livestock industry will curtail its feeding because of inadequate supplies. "But let me hasten to point out that within the U.S., Asia and Europe, there is a surplus of livestock. Because of this surplus, we don't believe there is or will soon be any real scarcity of food in this country," he said.

Harp added that to impose export controls on grain would "destroy the credibility of the United States to our trading partners around the world."

The GSPA, the U.S. Feed Grains Council (of which Harp is currently serving as chairman and the U.S. government have been developing grain markets overseas for more than a decade.

Nine Entered In Little Miss Muleshoe

Thirteen entries are scheduled to compete for the title of 'Miss Muleshoe' on Saturday, August 24 at 8:00 p.m.

The Master of Ceremonies for the occasion will be Paul Beane of Radio Station KEND, Lubbock, Texas. The judges selected as of this date are Dian Korvas, Fashion Consultant for Latham's of Lubbock, and Barbara Measles of Tulsa who is a former Miss Texas and Miss America contestant.

Entrants will be judged on talent, formal and swimsuit competition and a personal interview with the judges. The personal interview will be conducted on Friday, August 23.

The young ladies who have entered the contest are: Pamela Gayle Vinson, 17 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L.D. Vinson; Tonia Belinda Nickels, 17 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman White; Sharon Kay Kelton, 18 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kelton.

Also entered is Prisca Lynn Young, 17 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack D. Young; Sharon Wrinkle, 18 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wrinkle; Debbie Purcell, 16 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vennie Purcell; Teresa Hamilton, 16 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hamilton; and Beverly McCamish, 17 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCamish.

Along with the ones above, others entered in the pageant are: Sherrill Rasco, 16 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Odell Rasco; Kelly Cihak, 16 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Don Cihak; Susan Murray, 17 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lindal Murray; and Anna Maria Castorena, 18 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Castorena.

The 1974 Miss Muleshoe will be crowned Saturday night by the current Miss Muleshoe, Gayla Hooten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hooten.

There are nine Little Misses entered in the Little Miss Muleshoe pageant, which will be held in conjunction with the Miss Muleshoe event.

BAC Raises Reward Fund

The BAC regular meeting was held Tuesday at 10:00 a.m. Prior minutes were read and approved.

The BAC raised the reward fund to $275.00. This fund is a direct result from the windows which were shot out on Main Street sometime in early May of this year.

The BAC is also planning a Farm Tour the first part of September. "This will be a half a day affair and will consist of a visit to the Muleshoe Paint Horse Farm, Allen Dairy and other points of interest," said Tommy Black.

Judge Glen Williams brought a program on the subject of "Wills" to the group, giving several pointers and things to look for when writing a will. The meeting was adjourned by President Ted Barnhill.

Project HELP Car Drawing Saturday

The largest project ever sponsored by the Muleshoe Jaycees will climax Saturday night, August 24.

The new 1974 Ford automobile will be drawn for in conjunction with the Miss Muleshoe Pageant that night.

The proceeds from the tickets on the car are being donated to the Hospital Action Fund, which will go to help build a new hospital in Muleshoe, Project Chairman. Te Barnhill stated that "the proceeds from the HELP project plus the $500.00 previously donated this year by the Jaycees will make a total of $2,240.00 added to the Hospital Action Fund by the Jaycees." He further added, "The Muleshoe Jaycees and their wives have worked hard the past six weeks to bring this project off; and they can be proud of a job well done."

Can Water Supplies Be Stretched To Grow Enough Food

Can salty water be used to extend our supply of fresh water and grow more food? Research scientists with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station are working on methods to use high saline (salty) water for irrigation.

Households, industry and agriculture are all making increasing demands on our available supplies of fresh water.

And agriculture, as quantity of water diminishes, increasingly turns to poorer quality well and river water. It's well known by agricultural producers that irrigation water over a certain salt content will cause problems and hurt yields. But TAES researchers seek to combine use of salty water with a known water saver, trickle irrigation. This type irrigation does water out in a miserly way, just a spot by each plant, and it really does save water. Or using the same amount of water, it can boost yields by 50 per cent over furrow and sprinkler irrigated land.

So, research during 1972 and 1973 studied the effects of trickle irrigating with high-salinity water on medium-to-heavy-textured soils. "The primary objective of this research," says Dr. Ed Hiller, professor of agricultural engineering with the Experiment Station, "was to determine the effects of trickle irrigation with three different concentrations of saline water.

We want to know the effects on sorghum growth and yield and on the environment of a silt loam soil!"

An additional objective was to compare the effects on sorghum of irrigation water at one level of salinity, using both surface and trickle irrigation. Salts were purposely not leached between seasons so that salinity buildup effects could be evaluated, explains Hiller.

"For purposes of comparison you should know that tap water often contains 450 ppm (parts per million, salt to water) and Rio Grande irrigation water in the Valley has 1600 ppm. A comparison of five different types of irrigation levels or methods were made," he points out.

The study showed:

1. At the 1600 ppm salt level, trickle irrigation gave significantly higher yields than surface irrigation.
2. Even with trickle irrigation, in the second season the very salty water (2400 ppm) caused significant reductions in growth. This indicates the need for leaching between seasons when using high-salinity water.
3. For irrigation water with 1600 ppm salt, the soil directly beneath and between the double rows had lower salinity levels for the trickle irrigation treatment than for the surface irrigation.

"More research is needed in the area of trickle irrigation with high-salinity water," contends Hiller. "Consideration of irrigation amount as a variable (in addition to salinity level) is a logical next step. And work is needed to find practical leaching approaches when trickle irrigating high-salinity water. Only through such research can we discover the best means to make full use of all of our salts, including that high in water."

AUSTIN — Investigations of the Huntsville prison siege and shootout and of right to privacy issues moved into the spotlight this week.

A joint legislative committee on prison reform slated a Friday (August 23) meeting to discuss the Huntsville tragedy.

The prison violence, which followed convict Fred Gomez Carrasco's seizure of 13 hostages, is also being probed by the Department of Public Safety and a Walker County grand jury.

Meanwhile, a select senate sub-committee is moving out with a broad study of invasion of privacy issues. Public hearings will follow initial staff inquiries into alleged improper surveillance by state agencies and non-governmental groups as well.

The sub-committee was appointed after Robert Pomeroy of Farmers Branch complained he was made the subject of a DPS intelligence agent's inquiry because he led opposition to a nuclear power plant at Glen Rose.

Many other rumors followed — including one that DPS had made checks on staff aides and some members of the joint committee on prison reform, and another that the agency had investigated job applications for private businesses.

DPS denied improper use of its investigation procedures and said its intelligence information is available only to local, state and federal law enforcement personnel.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe asked for a full report on why and how DPS conducts intelligence investigations and assurances that practices comply with state and federal law.

ALLOWABLE STANDS — The Texas oil production allowable was retained at 100 per cent of potential for the 30th straight month.

Railroad Commission Chairman Jim Langdon said all states must "maximize" efforts to solve energy needs.

"Texas is continuing to strain to do its best for the state and the nation to meet the demands for energy," said Langdon. "We need the total cooperation of the entire nation to meet goals."

The commission chairman suggested states which have oil offshore should drill for it and those which can build offshore facilities to handle supertankers should be willing to do so.

CONVENTION ON — A U. S. district judge in San Antonio rejected a suit by Jewish delegates to delay the State Democratic Convention here September 17.

The long-standing controversy over postponing the convention arose from the fact the meeting date falls this year on a high Jewish holy day, Rosh Hashana.

Judge Adrian A. Spears said he saw no violation of constitutional rights in refusal of the State Democratic Executive Committee to alter the date.

Plaintiffs, however, moved to continue their fight with an appeal to the Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans. Convention planning, meanwhile, moved on.

AUDIT ORDERED — Texas Water Rights Commission ordered Duval County Conservation and Reclamation District to prepare an audit of its affairs through a certified public accountant.

Chairman Joe D. Carter said federal court cases had raised questions of propriety of fund use. The district was directed to submit the name of a qualified CPA by September 15.

AG OPINIONS — Texas has no more enforceable laws regulating abortion, but may regulate facilities and services in hospitals performing abortions, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

- Physicians do not have to be physically present at all times to supervise employees performing physical therapy services without a license from the board of physical therapy examiners.
- Information on Menard school employees' salaries is public and is covered by the open records act.

CONTROLS FEARED — Air control officials are concerned that federal land use planning controls may be applied based on air quality considerations.

They think Environmental Protection Agency permits for highway modification, airports and parking lots may have a major effect on economic growth and development of Texas.

The new regulation, effective January 1, launches a permit system with applications requiring information on indirect air pollution effect of proposed facilities.

Charles Barden, executive director of Texas Air Control Board, said the state cannot enforce federal regulations without parallel state authority.

DISTRICT HEARING SET — Texas Water Rights Commission will hold a public hearing October 2 here to consider dissolving 29 inactive water districts.

The commission can dissolve any district which is not active for five consecutive years and which has no bond debt.

Districts involved in the hearing reach from East Texas to the Texas Panhandle and from South Texas and the Gulf Coast to the northern boundary of the state.

CROPS DAMAGED — Drought already has taken a heavy toll on Texas' 1974 wheat, cotton and sorghum crops, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White reported last week.

Wheat yields have been on the decline since January — to the present total of 52.8 million bushels, a 45.8 million bushel dropoff from the 1973 record yield.

Cotton production is off 1.6 million bales from 1973, and the grain sorghum production is projected at 265 million bushels, a 122 million bushel decrease from 1973.

ENERGY CRISIS DOUBTED — A Houston and Colorado County survey by the governor's energy advisory council showed Texans think the energy crisis of recent months was phony.

The questionnaires indicated citizens doubt truth of information from both the government and oil companies on energy supplies and judge the situation largely on availability of oil and gas products.

SHORT SNORTS

Exxon spokesmen claimed Houston Ship Channel pollution rules are unfair.

Dr. L. Harlan Fort of Georgetown is new Texas Education Agency deputy commissioner for educational programs and personnel development.

August 31 is the deadline for cotton stalk destruction under the pink bollworm control act for Cameron County and lower portions of Willacy, Hidalgo and Starr Counties.

Nineteen applications for permits to sell $6.7 million worth of securities in Texas were filed with State Securities Board during the last two weeks.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission approved regulatory plan for fishing in Corpus Christi and Nueces Bays, including an off-limits weekend ban.

John Tower United States Senate Last Chapter Of Watergate

Although we will hear continuing reports of the aftermath of Watergate for months to come, the resignation last week of President Nixon and the succession of President Ford for all practical purposes have written the final chapter of what has become known as the Watergate Scandal. The momentum for impeachment swelled to such an extent that President Nixon had no viable alternative to retirement from office. He faced almost certain impeachment by the House and probable conviction by the Senate.

The end of this trauma was late in coming and overdue. It is out of the political arena now and rightfully consigned to the courts. I know that a vast majority of my fellow Texans feel as I do -- that we have had more than enough of Watergate, and that it should be put behind us once and for all. I do think it appropriate, through, that we look at the historical aspects of what we have just experienced, and take considerable pride in the American system of government.

First and foremost, it is important to recognize that our democracy is institutionalized to the degree that it can survive these recent events that were so unpleasant for us all -- that the American institutions are such that they survive the foibles, the failings and the daily comings and goings of mere men.

This is something that the rest of the world notes about us. They are amazed that we are able to function in an orderly way in spite of wrenching experiences such as the one we have just experienced. There are not too many countries around the world where the military sits passively on the sidelines while there is a change in the top leadership. Under our system, this is taken for granted.

I think it is important -- and I believe that history will so record -- that we take note of the accomplishments of the Nixon Administration. The President was a positive achiever in the field of foreign policy, which is the most critical field of endeavor for a President. He ended our long involvement in Vietnam, and brought home our half million servicemen and the prisoners of war, thus healing a bitter division among our people. He ended the draft, to the eternal gratitude of the youth of our nation, and instituted a successful all-volunteer armed forces.

During one single year -- in 1972 -- President Nixon's visits to China and Russia led the way to a new era of openness among these nations. By 1974, a summit in Moscow seemed almost the normal thing to do. Then came the end of the Middle East war last year through the skillful negotiations of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

When the momentum of Watergate continued to swirl around the Nixon Administration, erosion threatened his foreign policy successes. Yet the basic easing of world tensions remains a legacy to the succeeding Administration. It is to the credit of our new President that he has immediately assured the world of his intentions to continue on this course.

Our new President has shown a desire to consult frequently and in depth with members of the Congress. He has a fresh, new approach to solving our problems. He is a creature of the Congress and his friends are here on Capitol Hill. I do not feel that President Nixon ever fully appreciated the resources that he had in the Congress, but I believe that President Ford does. Jerry Ford is a warm and human man and he is easy to talk with. He openly seeks advice and, from all appearances, weighs this advice seriously before taking action.

One of the most disturbing aspects of the whole Watergate affair was its corrosive effects on our American two-party system. I do not refer to our two-party system in a strict partisan sense, but in the sense that it offers us a stable and orderly instrument for popular consultation. Anything that is destructive of the two-party system to me is not in the national interest. So I think that virtually all of us, regardless of our political leanings, can equate the national interest with having two strong and viable political parties.

This week in Washington there is an air of new hope. The nation's capital has emerged from a grueling experience of many months. Only the passage of time and the benefit of reflection removed from the close proximity of events will permit an accurate and unemotional retelling of the Watergate saga. History will be the final judge and jury. However, there are immediate lessons to be learned from our mistakes, and a recognition of those mistakes coupled with a resolve to cleanse the political processes from their recurring will build a stronger nation and a better world.

We have experienced historic events in recent days. Such events will probably not occur again in our lifetime -- and, hopefully, they will never occur again.

ASCS Reports Corn Acreage

John Fuston head of the ASCS office in Muleshoe has announced that Bailey county is up on corn acreage for the year of 1974. This year, the expected harvest acreage is 29,500; in 1973 the harvested acres was 21,000.

"In feed grain comparison, last year (1973) harvested acres was 79,000; this year the estimated acreage planted is 52,604, out of the 52,604 acres of milo planted there will probably not be more than 45,000 acres harvested," Fuston said.

The ASCS officer also reported that approximately one thousand acres of cotton was hailed out in the Bula area last week.

Fuston said, "Bailey county farmers may expect their disaster program payments sometime in the middle of September, as the ASCS office will begin mailing out that approximate date. A more definite time will be given in the future."

GOLF

BY PETE FRITCHE

WASHINGTON, D.C.--Lee Trevino, winner of the recent PGA tournament, says he will play in next year's Masters--as if he is doing the golf world a favor. In the past Trevino has made ugly remarks about those who run the Masters.

The truth is that the Super-Mex encountered people and manners he did not completely understand at Augusta.

The reflection is not on the atmosphere and customs of the Masters but on Trevino.

Trevino has made much of his Mexican background, at times seeming to demagogue about the majority race in this country. While this makes him popular with agitators and anti-establishment people, it is due to the cheap publicity stunt by others.

The Masters will welcome Trevino like any other great golfer; but Masters personnel should not be abused by any competitor, nor are bad manners in order, and one hopes next year Trevino can refrain from any behavior in poor taste.

thirds of last year's crop, down some 318 million bushels. That same outlook echoes the Texas sorghum picture, where production is expected to reach only 295 million bushels, just over 70 per cent of last year's crop. The nation's wheat crop is estimated as 129 million bushels short of last year's production, with the Texas crop almost 47 million bushels short of the 1973 crop, or down 47 per cent, points out Smith.

The U.S. Soybean crop is also estimated as some 252 million bushels short of last year's production.

"The USDA estimates appeared to be below those expected by a majority of the grain trade despite the fact that much of the country's mid-section has been hard hit by drought," notes Smith. "Recent rains in some parts should help late crops, but for the most part the moisture came too late."

According to the Texas A&M University System specialist, the short-run price situation for feedgrains is weather-oriented while the late-season price picture depends on the ultimate demand.

Showers Dot Area

Showers spotted the general county area Tuesday night. One half inch was the most reported and the location was four miles west of Stegall on the J. T. Lemons farm. North of town only reported a trace as well as south towards Bula and Circleback. Harold Allison, eight miles east reported three-tenths of an inch Muleshoe proper reported less than four-tenths of an inch of rain. On the Leldon Phillips farm about 12 miles west of Muleshoe, approximately one-half inch reported.

Laney Clan Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Laney of Muleshoe, and their son, Tom, of Duncanville, Texas attended the Laney Clan Reunion, August 10th and 11th. This is a national organization which was organized last year at Pageland, South Carolina. The reunion this year was at Monroe, N.C., which is right in the area where the first Laney from Ireland settled in America. Two brothers, Titus and Joseph, were the progenitors of all Laney in the eastern part of the United States.

However, the offsprings have spread to every state in the Union. Representatives were present from twenty states, from Washington, D.C., to California. There are many Laney's living in that area.

There are fifty two Laney's listed in the Monroe telephone directory, fifty-five in the Charlotte directory; these towns are about twenty miles apart Registration was Friday afternoon and Saturday morning. A tour was conducted by Dr. Guy B. Funderburk to the Laney points of interest. Dr. Funderburk's ancestors were Laney and Funderburk. He has just published a book 'Laney Lineage and Legacy.' Places visited were old Laney homesites, Churches, and cemeteries. One of the most interesting places visited was the third and last home of George Laney, son of Titus, built in 1776, the date is inscribed in the basement. This was a two-room log house, but is modern now in every respect, sealed inside, composition siding, no logs exposed, several rooms added with an upper story, original flooring and doors. The eighth Laney generation now living in the house. This family took great pride in showing and relating facts as handed down from past generations.

Other features of the program, golf, open house of old homes, dance Saturday night, Church services Sunday morning, luncheon Sunday, short remarks by several including ex-governor of Arkansas, Ben Laney, business and election of officers Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Laney report a most enjoyable time.

Market Report

COLLEGE STATION -- Although prices are up, eggs should be high on "budget-minded" lists, Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt said this week.

The consumer marketing information specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, listed ground beef, pot roasts, picnics, luncheon meats, franks and liver as "good standbys" for menus during days ahead.

Admitting uncertainty in predicting meat prices, she said upcoming weeks promise higher prices and fewer specials. Look for best beef values on chuch roasts and steaks, round steaks and roasts, and ground beef.

"Pork values will be picnics, hams, shoulder roasts and steaks, and pork liver. Fryers continue as one of the more popular summer cook-out items, and turkeys are still economical."

At produce counters, Mrs. Clyatt reported watermelon and cantaloupe among current best buys -- "they're abundant and show good quality."

Other economical vegetables include cabbage, carrots, red potatoes, dry yellow onions, squash, radishes, green onions, okra and purplehull peas.

Fruits in good supply at the most economical prices are nectarines, plums of several varieties, bananas, grapes and pears.

CONSUMER WATCHWORDS: Ice cream is a boon to summer menus.

Between meals, this tempting frozen dessert can supply small fry with varied snacks and extra milk nutrients -- don't forget cones to make the treat 'portable.'

In quarreling the truth is always lost. -Publius Syrus.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,

Recently I married a widower with three children. I love these children and we get along fine except for one thing. The problem is this: the children are lazy and careless. They come from school and throw their books and wraps all over the living room and when I tell them to pick them up they say "In a minute" while they go on eating sandwiches and getting themselves something to drink. What must I do? My husband doesn't think it matters because he is careless, also.

Worried--N.C.

Answer: Why not have a regular place for the children to put their wraps and books and stop them before they go into the kitchen. Example is a good teacher and if your husband hangs his coat up as he arrives it will help some.

I am not one of these perfectionist who thinks everything should always be in its place but books and wraps covering up chairs or on the floor is another matter. Children are not necessarily lazy when they throw things around. They need to take care of their things.

You might start by telling them, in a pleasant tone, that there will be no refreshments until things are in their places.

Louisa.

Exchange Students Visited Muleshoe

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Winn hosted two exchange students from New Zealand this past weekend. Beverly McCracken, 18 years old, is going to attend one semester of college in Lakeland, Florida; and Mike Elliott, 17 years old, is going to attend one semester of high school in Lakeland, Florida.

They have been traveling the United States and so far have enjoyed the sites of Washington, D.C.; Philadelphia, Chicago, Great Falls, Montana; Bakersfield, California; Phoenix, Houston, New Orleans, Birmingham and Lakeland, Florida.

The arrived in Muleshoe, Friday, August 16 and left Sunday, August 18. While staying with Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Winn they went to the Hayloft in Lubbock and Clovis. They commented that they were impressed how friendly Muleshoe is.

They will return home to New Zealand in February.

City Without Cigarettes?

Members of the city council in a midwestern community became so worried about the cigarette problem that they decided to "go all the way." They passed an ordinance forbidding the smoking of cigarettes anywhere, any time, within the city limits. In short order, a man was arrested for smoking on a downtown sidewalk. But instead of paying the fine, he chose to make a test case out of it. And after due deliberation, the court ruled that the ordinance was unconstitutional—"an unreasonable interference with the private rights of the citizen."

The decision illustrates that even in the field of public health, there are limits to the power of government. Nevertheless, more moderate regulation of cigarette smoking has been upheld repeatedly. Thus, another court sustained a city ordinance against smoking in street cars. Finding this a reasonable approach to the cigarette problem, the court commented: "Smoking is agreeable to those who have the habit. But it is distasteful, and sometimes hurtful, to those compelled to breathe the atmosphere impregnated with tobacco in close and confined places."

What about the regulation of cigarette vending machines? A city ordinance sought to ban all such machines from public places. A vending company promptly challenged the ordinance in court, arguing that it was aimed at the "lawful business" of selling cigarettes.

But the city replied that its purpose was simply to prevent the sale of cigarettes to minors. This was a matter of legitimate public concern, said the court, upholding the ordinance.

"The automatic vendor," the court pointed out, "must sell to any and all who insert coins. It has no powers of discrimination. Hence it is condemned."

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

The views of Texas cotton farmers with regard to proposed Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) requirements for protective devices on farm machinery and equipment will be voiced September 4 at a hearing in Oklahoma City by Woodrow Hart of Sinton, Texas, cotton producer and Executive Vice President of the South Texas Cotton and Grain Association.

The decision that Texas cotton producers would speak with a united voice on the issue was made August 14 at a Dallas meeting of the Texas Association of Cotton Producer Organizations, TACPO is composed of seven cotton commodity groups in Texas representing growers of over 80 percent of the state's production.

It is also planned that a qualified, experienced agricultural engineer will accompany Hart at the hearings to back up TACPO's contention that some of the proposals, especially as they would apply to machinery already in existence, are both economically and physically impractical.

The requirements proposed OSHA in the February 8 Federal Register would call for protective devices on power transmission, electrical and other farm machinery components, to be installed on all tractors, harvesters and other farm equipment, whether existing or yet to be manufactured.

Hart's testimony before the hearing examiners will reflect and expand upon sentiments already expressed to OSHA by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. of Lubbock, TACPO's largest member organization. The PCG Board of Directors resolved on April 18 of this year that OSHA's final regulations for agricultural machinery should not be adopted until each requirement was determined beyond all doubt to be effective and practical and "that new protective devices be required only on new machinery manufactured after the publication of such final requirements."

PCG was among the many agricultural organizations and individuals requesting that hearings be held to determine the desirability and practicality of OSHA farm regulations. In addition to the Oklahoma City hearing, a hearing is scheduled August 22 in Washington, D.C., August 26 in Madison, Wisconsin, and August 29 at Phoenix, Arizona.

"Many of the measures proposed by OSHA would require customized protective equipment on each of the many makes and models of all types of machinery in existence," notes Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of PCG, "which makes compliance with the proposed regulations impractical if not impossible. And we hope OSHA officials can be made to recognize that fact before issuing their regulations."

The most recent guidelines for appraising weather-damaged cotton crops, received the week of August 12 by county offices of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), "are considerably improved and should permit more reasonable application of the disaster provisions in the present government program for cotton," according to Don Marble of South Plains, President of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

PCG has been seeking changes in the "formula" used for appraising hail and drought-damaged cotton since early in the Spring when farmers complained that appraisals were not reflecting realistic yield potentials, and the criteria for judging drought-stricken crops have now been changed for the second time.

Currently ASCS has authority to appraise at "zero" potential fields where plants are no more than eight inches tall with only one or two blooms. Previously it was required in addition that plants be gray in color and remain in a curled or wilted condition overnight.

The latest regulations state also that where only a small percentage of the field has healthy plants, such as on the high side of terraces, the entire field can be appraised at zero yield if the farmer so desires.

To some extent the new guidelines are retroactive in that farmers who are dissatisfied with appraisals made earlier under the old rules can now request a reassessment even though the existing plants may have been destroyed.

"These changes were made to a large extent as a result of efforts by our Texas Congressmen and Senators," Marble stated, "and we are grateful to them for those efforts."

By Mrs. Wayne Doty

Mr. and Mrs. Noble Dudgeon, Roy and Ray have returned home after a vacation to Tres Ritos, N.M.

Mr. and Mrs. Blackie Seymour attended the Seymour family reunion, in Abilene, recently. Their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McAndrews and children, of Angleton, met them there and returned home with them for a few days visit. Others attending the Seymour reunion were Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Bond and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Thornton and children.

Rev. and Mrs. O.L. Turner, of Temple, are visiting here with their daughter and family, the Jimmy Carpenters.

Visiting Mrs. Eva Doty last week were her brother, Tom Nettles, and a sister, Mrs. Con Darling, both of Grass Valley, Calif.

Filling the pulpit Sunday, in First Baptist Church was Dr. Roy McClung, of Wayland Baptist College, Plainview. The pastor, Rev. Eddie Freeman was conducting revival services in Albuquerque, N.M., during the week, and was scheduled to return home for Sunday night services.

Mr. and Mrs. B.A. Beauchamp, Jr. and Derwin and their daughter, Mrs. John Capers, vacationed recently at Port Aransas and in Iraan, with Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Sorrells and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Rasco and children vacationed recently at Red River, N.M.

The home of Mrs. Bob Nelson was the scene of a bridal shower honoring Leslie Coldiron and bride-elect, Michelle, on Friday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Wells were in Pampa recently, at the home of his sister, Mrs. Ruth Crossman, and his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Wells, for a visit. His other sisters, Mrs. Con Caraway of Lubbock, Mrs. Belle Ogden of El Paso, and Mrs. Aileen Lackey of Ft. Worth were also visiting there.

Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Hobbs and Tana, of Plains, visited recently, with his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Cardwell, Susan and Glenda. Susan and Glenda returned home with the Hobbs family for several days. However, they are now back at home in Sudan with their parents.

Visiting here recently, with his mother, Mrs. Gladys Terry were Dr. and Mrs. Bill Terry and daughters of Hot Springs, Ark. They all visited in Roswell, N.M. with another son, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Terry and the group went to Red River, Taos and Santa Fe, N.M. on a 10-day vacation.

Registration at Sudan Schools got underway Monday, August 19. The first day of school will be on August 21, with several new teachers and coaches; a new band director, Bob Bryant; and a new high school principal, Tommy Laceywell, who is a former coach of the local school. He returns to Sudan from Hale Center. Mrs. Laceywell, is also a member of the faculty for 1974-75 school year.

PVT. Terry Drake is here on leave after completing six weeks basic training in the U.S. Army.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Jordan and Renay of Clovis, N.M., were here to attend the wedding of Jana West and James Sunatsch on Saturday, August 10.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhill Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm tackles inflation this week, but it seems to be still here.

No double about it, President Ford hit the nail on the head when he said inflation is Public Enemy No. 1.

At a rate of 10 per cent increase a year, inflation anybody can see, doubles the price of everything every 10 years, which means that in 100 years a $3,000 car will cost $30,000 a $25,000 house will cost $250,000, and a millionaire will be just above the poverty level.

Obviously this can't go on, but how to stop it is not only a horse of a different color but a breed that hasn't been captured, if it exists at all.

Some $60,000-a-year economists are saying the way to stop inflation is to cut back on everything and everybody except $60,000-a-year economists. Others say cut down on Federal spending, except in the Muleshoe area. Unfortunately the Constitution fails to mention inflation but you couldn't expect the Founding Fathers to think of everything. Therefore, I have an idea. We've got to have an Amendment to the Constitution controlling inflation.

Pick out a time when everything is about right, when everybody is making about what he thinks he ought to have; when interest rates are about right - not as high as a man can't afford to buy on time and not so low bankers will close up and try farming; when groceries are priced about right, including potato chips and soda water; when meat is fairly low in the market and high on the hoof; when the military budget is about at the right level to scare Russia and China without bankrupting the U.S.; I say, all we have to do is pick out a time when everything seems to be just about right, and immediately freeze it all into the Constitution. From that date on nothing can go up or come down.

This of course will require a commission to decide when the exact, right moment has arrived. I do not wish to serve on that commission.
Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Farm-facts

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Compiled From Sources Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

Pecans in Trouble . . . Greenbugs Immune . . . Price Index Up . . . Cotton Harvest Speeding

ALMOST ALL of Texas was feeling the effects of hot dry weather before the rains came in many parts of the State recently. Even pecan trees were showing the stress of drought, and, additionally, walnut caterpillars and honeydew aphids were adding threats to Texas pecan crops. Walnut caterpillars were reported stripping trees in the Central Texas area early in the summer, and Farm Editor Nelson Antosh reported they were in the Houston area in late July. The caterpillars stripped many trees last year, destroying two or more crops of pecans. They usually produce three generations a year, depending on the weather to some extent, but usually reach epidemic proportions only every 15 or 20 years. They can be controlled with some sprays. Texas pecan crops vary widely in amount of production and in returns to growers. In 1972-the year before the walnut caterpillars-Texas produced 65 million pounds of pecans which added $25,500,000 to the economy. The 1971 production was 24,000,000 pounds, which brought in $8,010,000.

GREENBUGS are a problem on the grain sorghum crop. The "Grain Sorghum News" reports that greenbugs on the High Plains crops evidently have built up an immunity against insecticides that have always assured control in past crops. One recommendation is that producers change brands of insecticide when making a second application. Meanwhile researchers are busy trying to find out the cause of the greenbugs' new behavior and to find a solution. About 40 per cent of the 1974 grain sorghum crop has been harvested, compared to 21 per cent at the same time last year. The hot, dry weather speeded up sorghum's maturity and probably affected the amount of production.

FOR THE FIRST time this year the prices-received index for all Texas farm products was up in July. Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said that the price index was six per cent higher in July than it was in June, 1974. The price index had gone down each month since last December. The July index was 475 per cent of the January, 1910-December, 1914 base period used for comparison of farm prices. That 475 per cent is only one per cent above the price index in July, 1973. Livestock and livestock products showed a five per cent increase over the June, 1974 index but was 27 per cent below the index announced at the same time in 1973. Field crop prices showed an increase over the same period in 1973.

COTTON HARVEST in the Valley is reported past its peak. Through August 2, a total of 95,000 samples had been classed in the Harlingen office of USDA, compared to only 1,776 samples at the same time last year. The Corpus Christi office had classed 17,900 samples August 2, compared to 200 at the same time last season. Many farmers were reported refusing offered prices for cotton in South Texas. Some uncontracted cotton was reported bringing from 53.50 to 56.40 cents a pound on the Harlingen market, but Valley farmers were reported reluctant to sell for less than 60 cents a pound. Cotton contracting also is reported at a standstill. Cottonseed prices in the Valley were reported ranging from $120 to $130 and from $110 to $120 in the Coastal Bend.

PRIVATE AND licensed citrus nurserymen in the Valley have reported 246,000 citrus trees moved to groves during the year ending June 30, 1974, an increase of seven per cent in transplanting over the previous year. Almost all of the trees moved from nurseries to groves were grapefruit, and less than one per cent were oranges and other citrus.

ATTENTION ALL FARMERS, CREW CHIEFS AND PARENTS:

Every Child between the ages of 7 and 17 inclusive residing in Bailey County must attend regularly either public or parochial school. The parents of such children not requiring them to attend school may be subject to heavy fines. Crew Chiefs may not work school age children during school hours. Farmers may be subject to heavy fines if they permit school age children to work on their land during school hours without a permit.

USDA Warns Cattlemen To Watch For Scabies

Cattlemen today were warned by U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) animal health officials to step-up inspection of their livestock for psoroptic scabies, despite a recent decline in the number of cases.

Officials of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) said that although no cases were reported in July--usually the lowest month for scabies outbreaks--this could be due to factors other than the regular federal control program of inspection, treatment and quarantines.

"For instance, there has been a marked decrease in the number of cattle reaching the market this season," said Dr. J.M. Hejl, APHIS Deputy Administrator of Veterinary Services. "Of course, the more cattle the more likelihood of finding diseases."

"Further, due to economic conditions, cattlemen have been holding feeder cattle on their ranches rather than moving them to market. Naturally, this in turn affects the degree to which the disease can spread. But this situation could change at any time," Dr. Hejl warned, "due to the drought or other reasons and large numbers of cattle could reach the market."

Although the wholesomeness of the meat is not affected, the disease causes financial losses because the cattle gain weight more slowly and at the same time, require more feed.

Animal health officials also emphasized that the trend toward larger feedlots has increased the likelihood of finding more causes, for scabies is spread from animal to animal by contact. Many feedlots today contain more than 100,000 head.

The largest number of infested cattle found on one premise -- 34,000, occurred in 1972, officials said, indicating the need for constant vigilance on the part of feedlot operators as well as cattlemen.

APHIS officials noted that the number of scabies cases has been declining since 1972, when 91 cases involving 370,000 cattle were reported. This compares with only 53 cases and 355,000 cattle from July 1972 to July 1973, and 39 cases and 245,000 cattle from July 1973 to July 1974.

APHIS officials said they are encouraged by these figures, but urge cattlemen to continue their vigilance.

Still under federal quarantine for scabies are areas in Otoe and Saline counties, Nebraska, and in Bailey and Castro counties, Texas.

Scabies is caused by tiny, parasitic mites that puncture the skin of cattle and feed on the body fluids released from the wounds -- causing infested animals to lick, rub and scratch themselves to relieve the intense itching. Heavy infestations cause large, crusty "scabs" to form on the skin -- hence the name "scabies."

Treatment for scabies consists of dipping infested cattle twice at an interval of 10 to 14 days, and of dipping exposed cattle one. The USDA - permitted dips used are toxaphene and lime sulphur. A number of states require precautionary dipping as a condition for accepting cattle from scabies-infested areas.

DES Meetings Set August 22-23

AMARILLO -- Briefings which will outline the new Canadian livestock and meat import requirements will be held Thursday and Friday (August 22 and 23) in five major livestock producing areas of Texas. Officials will explain to producers how to certify that their cattle and sheep are diethylstilbestrol (DES) - free and eligible for exports to Canada.

Attendance at one of these meetings is mandatory if producers plan to sell cattle or sheep now or in the future to Canada. These are the only meetings scheduled.

Because of their involvement in carrying out functions under this agreement, accredited veterinarians, local packers and market representatives are encouraged to attend, as well as producers and feeders. Those meetings will be as follows:

- * Plainview -- Thursday, August 22 - 2:00 p.m., Chamber of Commerce Board Room 710 W. 5th Street;
  - * San Angelo-Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center, Highway 87, 10:00 a.m., August 22;
  - * Hereford - Friday, August 23, 10:00 a.m., Bull Barn;
  - * Dumas - Friday, August 23, 3:00 p.m., Moore County Community Building (located at 16th and Maddox);
  - * Uvalde - Friday, August 23, 2:00 p.m., Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center.
- Texas Agricultural Extension Service is charged with the responsibility of conducting the educational meetings in association with officials of the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) of the USDA.

USDA officials explain that in order to export sheep, cattle, or any meat products thereof, to Canada, an owner must certify to the best of his knowledge and judgement that the meat or livestock identified on the certificate have never been fed or implanted with DES and that he has had the livestock in his possession for at least 120 days. Livestock cannot be exported to Canada without this certification. Producers must attend a USDA certification briefing.

U.S. meat plants exporting to Canada must identify and certify specific lots delivered for slaughter as being DES - free. Arrangements must be made by the plant to have written certification from the producer or feeder accompany slaughter animals to be used for export of meat to Canada.

In addition, an accredited veterinarian adds his verification to the owner's certification. In the case of meat, the owner certification will be delivered to the inspector-charge at a slaughter establishment before ante-mortem inspection. The inspector must be satisfied that the identity and integrity of lots of livestock are maintained until export shipment arrangements are made.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN -- If you're looking through the classified section of your newspaper, sooner or later you're sure to run across an ad that reads something like this:

"Business opportunity! New firm expanding into this area needs distributor for national product. No selling required. Earn $20,000 a year working part-time! Proven investment returns. Call Mr. Wonder."

If you respond to this or similar ads, there's a chance you could become the object of a misleading sales pitch for a less-than-profitable distributorship. The sales routine for such a deceptive offer generally follows this pattern:

Mr. Wonder comes to your house or sends a sales representative to explain the distributorship investment opportunity. The product to be distributed may be anything from film to children's books to vending machines that dispense freeze-dried coffee or soup.

Very likely, you will be shown lavish colored photographs and brochures of the product designed to impress you with the fact that large amounts of money can be made with little effort. The salesman of such a product as vending machines may get you to agree that such a machine will sell at least 15 units of the product a day.

"But let's be conservative," he may say. "Suppose it sells only 10 units a day. Even at that, you can make $1400 a month if you purchase 10 machines and they earn 50 cents on each sale."

After describing the profitable machine locations provided by the company, the salesman will urge you to sign a contract immediately to take advantage of the "fantastic" offer for only $2000.

When you sign, you may be told that a "locator" will call a few days after your machines are delivered to tell you the spots at which they will be placed.

So your machines are de-

Graham Rites Held Tuesday

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 4 p.m. for Fred A. Graham, 69, a resident of the Lazbuddie Community since 1958.

Graham was killed as a result of a car-truck accident at Clay's Corner late Friday afternoon. He died at 4:30 a.m. Sunday in Methodist Hospital at Lubbock.

The deceased was a native of Indian Territory in Oklahoma. He is survived by his wife Francis; two sons, Gerry of Longview and Tommy Hall of Utiaca, New York; three daughters Mrs. John Damron of Hereford, Mrs. Jack Young of Muleshoe and Mrs. Francis Hill of San Antonio. He is also survived by three sisters, Mrs. Ruth Thornton of Phoenix, Mrs. Hubert Rhodes of Ash-tola and Mrs. Mary Rush of Portales; three brothers; Doyle of Clarendon, Robert of Plainview and Bill of Garland; also twelve grandchildren.

Rites were held in the Singleton - Ellis Chapel of the Chimes, conducted by Reverend E.L. Manning, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Muleshoe. Burial was in Bailey County Memorial Park.

Rural Accidents Reported

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated five accidents on rural highways in Bailey County during the month of July, 1974, according to Sergeant Thurman Keffer, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in no persons killed and one person injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first seven months of 1974 shows a total of 27 accidents resulting in three persons killed and nine persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for the 60 counties of the Lubbock Department of Public Safety Region for July, 1974, shows a total of 485 accidents resulting in 18 persons killed and 280 persons injured as compared to June, 1973, with 658 accidents resulting in 21 persons killed and 366 persons injured. This was 173 less accidents, three less killed, and 86 less injured in 1974 at the same period of time.

The 18 traffic deaths for the month of July, 1974 occurred in the following counties: four in Deaf Smith; two each in Garza and Haskell; one each in Oldham, Wilbarger, King, Palo Pinto, Dallam, Montague, Parker, Terry, Wise and Roberts.

100 years of wheat Santa Fe all the way

Back in the 1870's when the Mennonites began their migration from Europe to America--Santa Fe was there! A representative of the railroad traveled abroad in those early days to influence homeseekers to settle along the pioneer rail routes being built westward across Kansas. The Mennonites were seeking freedoms of a new country and liked what they learned about America.

Santa Fe helped with their transportation, even chartering a special ship for the Atlantic crossing. Santa Fe built special housing facilities in the settlement areas of Kansas and sold land, much below actual values, to the new homeseekers.

Santa Fe moved supplies for the home builders at reduced prices, sometimes for free. Developing this new land back in the 1870's was not without hardships for the early Mennonites or for Santa Fe's pioneer rail builders. At that time, hardly anyone realized that their efforts would be rewarded through a few sacks of wheat seed which thrived in Kansas and spread to help make mid-America the breadbasket of the World.

100 years of moving wheat
Wheat is usually moved in a short period of time to meet harvest deadlines, export schedules and marketing requirements. These conditions make great demands on the railroads and it takes Santa Fe's modern facilities, an up-to-date car fleet and skillful employees to get the wheat job done year after year.

During the past century many things have been done to move wheat efficiently. Two examples stand out in Santa Fe's history:

- (1) The giant 100-ton covered hopper car first introduced for moving wheat in 1963. Today, Santa Fe has 12,000 of these cars in service, the largest fleet in the rail industry, and 1,000 additional are now on order. Altogether these 13,000 hoppers have a capacity equivalent to approximately 21,000 conventional box cars.
- (2) One of Santa Fe's greatest achievements in handling grain was completed earlier this year when we moved a record-breaking billion bushels, a total of 350,000 carloads, in just twenty months.

Those few sacks of seed of Turkey Red hard winter wheat carried to America by early Mennonite homeseekers started one of the greatest agricultural developments in the nation. It's history the Santa Fe has been proud to be a part of the past 100 years--all the way!

Mrs. Artie M. Luttrell

Mrs. Luttrell Held Rites Wednesday

Mrs. Artie Mishie Luttrell, 79, a former Muleshoe resident died early Monday, August 19 in Vivian's Nursing Home in Amarillo. Funeral services were held for Mrs. Luttrell in the Trinity Baptist Church of Muleshoe on August 21, Wednesday at 2:00 p.m., with Reverend Troy Walker, Eastridge Baptist Church officiating.

Burial was in Bailey County Memorial Park.

Mrs. Luttrell was born in Laurel County, Kentucky and was a member of the Trinity Baptist Church of Muleshoe.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Lee Roy Moore of Amarillo, Mrs. George Skates of Hot Springs, Arkansas; a son, Earl of Hacienda Heights, California, five grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

RETEAM NEWMAN, REDFORD IN FILM ABOUT CON GAME

Paul Newman reteams with Robert Redford, and Robert Shaw is added, to make the stellar trio which brings to the screen the Bill Phillips production of a George Roy Hill film, "The Sting," a Universal picture which comes Aug. 23-28 to the XIT Drive In. The exciting suspense-packed story of The Big Con by David S. Ward, a Richard D. Zanuck/David Brown presentation in Technicolor, is set in Chicago in the mid 1930's.

Newman considers his role in "The Sting," in which he plays the main Con man, a complete original. He has played lawbreakers and non-conformists before in such films as "Hud," "The Hustler," "Cool Hand Luke" and "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid." Like every memorable character in his gallery of screen portraits, his portrayal in "The Sting" is unique to the picture, to his peers and to himself.

Redford in the picture becomes a protege of Newman's playing the "Roper" to Newman's "Insiderman." A youthful success on the Broadway stage, Redford recreated his Broadway starring role in the film version of "Barefoot in the Park" opposite Jane Fonda. "Tell Them Willie Boy is Here" followed in 1969, but it was "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" that bolted him into stardom. He soon will return to Universal to star with Bo Svenson for producer-director Hill in "The Great Waldo Pepper," the story of a post-World War I Barnstorming pilot.

In an intriguing change of image, England's sophisticated Shaw emerges in "The Sting" as an American racketseer -- a far cry from his Sir Randolph Churchill in "Young Winston." He has been seen, among others, in "A Man For All Seasons," "From Russia With Love" and "The Battle of the Bulge." He is the author of five novels and three produced plays.

"The Sting" is the second original screenplay by 27-year-old Ward to reach the camera under Bill Phillips Productions. The first was "Steelyard Blues." Bill Phillips Productions is made up of Tony Bill, 33, Michael Phillips, 30, and his wife, Julia, 29. Hill's previous credits include besides 20th-Century Fox's "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid," "Thoroughly Modern Millie" and "Slaughterhouse Five" for Universal. He will be in his own element in "The Great Waldo Pepper," his next Universal production, since he has been a flying aficionado for years, having been taught how to fly in World War II.

"The Sting" is rated "PG. Parental guidance suggested. Some material may not be suitable for pre-teenagers."

Universal's "The Sting," a George Roy Hill film starring Paul Newman, Robert Redford and Robert Shaw in a story by David Ward about the Big Con in Chicago of the 1930's, comes Aug. 23-28 to the XIT Drive In.

 basic training.

During his six weeks at the Air Training Command's Lack-land AFB, Texas, he studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

The airman has been assigned to the Technical Training Center at Keesler for specialized training in the administrative field.

Airman Murrah, a 1969 graduate of Muleshoe High School, attended South Plains College and Texas Tech University.

His wife, Debbie, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd
 Landers of Route 2, Muleshoe.

GARY MURRAH

Never underestimate people of small stature.

A good loafer is an artist at his profession.

A pretty girl makes a lot of men feel younger.

Facts are better than dreams, if pleasant.

Where Is The Sting?
 The woman visitor dashed angrily up to the bee-keeper and complained,
 "One of your bees stung
 me, I want you to do something about it."

"Certainly, madam," said
 the beekeeper soothingly.
 "Just show me which bee
 it was and I'll have it punished."
