IS POWERLESS TO SUPPRESS RIOTING

London, June 23.—Five Sinn Feiners were killed by machine gun fire, employed to cover the removal of several protestants from Barrack street to-night, according to a military statement. There is a lull now (10:30) in the fighting.

Scenes of terrible description were enacted here last night and today. Many streets were swept by a murderous fire continuously for sixteen hours. One man was killed and ten wounded in one section. Several bodies are reported lying in Bishop street. Among the wounded was a young girl and those suffering slight injuries cannot be estimated. Sniping was indulged in on a large scale and there was indiscriminate firing of rifles and revolvers throughout the city.

The principal conflict took place in Bishop street, where there was a large concentration of Sinn Feiners in the neighborhood of St. Columba's Catholic college and Nazareth home. Sandbags were thrown up from which a strong fire was directed at the unionists in Barrack street. There was a vigorous exchange of fire and many casualties on both sides.

Trouble also broke out on an extensive scale in the region of Long-tower street and Bishop's gate, where there were fierce, prolonged exchanges. Sinn Feiners on roofs sniped isolated unionists. The soldiers and police were unable to intervene effectively.

The police in Bishop street barracks within the battle zone were virtually besieged. Many passersby were wounded and some were reported killed but it is absolutely impossible to get correct details.

A confectioner named McKenna was killed on Henrietta street. A priest was summoned and while he administered the last rites firing was suspended. Among today's casualties on Bishop street was an elderly man named Whiteside, who was accompanied by his son and daughter. All of them were shot.

During the night there was savage fighting in the waterside district, the rival sections were entrenched in Cross street and Bond street, both of which was barricaded.

Snipers were busy until 1 o'clock this afternoon and contingents of troops had to be moved into various streets, which until then were impasse to citizens.

The streets had the appearance of a battle ground. Sandbags were thrown up with sleepy soldiers almost in a stage of exhaustion after the night's vigil. It is believed troops are coming by road but no reinforcements have yet arrived. There is fighting in the outlying districts from which unionists are pouring into the city.

THE REVIVAL

The revival at the Methodist church continues. The interest is growing in every service. I think we had the best service of the meeting last night. Conversations at practically every service. Dr. York is bringing a series of the sanest, best sermons I have ever heard in a long time on practical Christianity, on what it is, and what it does. Those who have heard him through have been greatly benefited as they will testify. I am anxious for the awakening to continue. Come and be in the morning services. I am praying for a still greater ingathering into the Kingdom of God.

The preaching may not be what we want, but it is what we need.

T. E. BOWMAN.

LITTLE OLETA SINGLETON DIES
Oleta, the three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Singleton, died at the home of her grandparents at Red Top last Saturday morning and was laid to rest Sunday afternoon in Oak Grove cemetery by the side of her little brother, J. B., who died just three weeks ago. She was sick three weeks of cholera infantum.

Little Oleta and J. B. were the only children of their parents and were such bright pretty children.

To the bereaved relatives and parents we extend sincerest sympathy.

Onie Noah, who is now traveling for a produce house in Fort Worth, was talking business with our grocerymen Tuesday. He makes this town twice a month and has become quite well accustomed to the ways of the knights of the grip.

REVIVAL MEETING NOW AT HIGH TIDE

The revival meeting being conducted by Dr. D. V. York and singer, Rev. D. T. McMahon, which began at the Methodist church two weeks ago last Sunday, continues to increase in interest and appears to have just now reached high tide, and, although it has been an extremely successful and interesting meeting from the start, and more than fifty have been converted, it appears now that the greatest gathering of souls is yet to come.

The weather has been bad most of the time since the meeting began, but this has not kept the people away. Many from the country have been in attendance at every service, some of whom have taken an active part in the meeting. Two services a day are being held, one in the morning and another at night and prayermeetings have been held at different residences and in business houses in the evenings. It has, in fact, been a great meeting.

Dr. York is a forceful, eloquent speaker, and his wonderful appeals have brought and are bringing great results. The sermon last night was perhaps the greatest he has yet delivered and has been the source of considerable comment on the streets today.

Graham has never before seen a time when a great religious revival was more needed than at the present. The oil boom has brought to us many worldly ideas and pastimes which threaten to mar Graham's fair name as a church and school town, and Dr. York has done a great work in awakening our people to the grave dangers in prosperous times, and has revived the old time religion in a manner that is both gratifying and surprising to the faithful Christians.

It is quite likely the meeting will close Sunday night and Dr. York will go to another appointment at Mathis, in the southern part of the State, but the great good he has done will remain with us and be of untold benefit in the years to come.

TWO STORMS SWEEP GRAHAM AND VICINITY

Two storms have swept this section during the past week, doing considerable damage to property and crops. The first storm came Thursday night. It was accompanied by a strong north wind which laid uncultivated grain flat to the earth and damaged roofs and out buildings considerably. The new garage being erected by J. H. Henderson on West Fourth street, in which the frame work was up, was blown down and completely destroyed, causing a damage estimated at over $2,000.00.

Thursday night's storm was followed by a rain of over six inches Friday night which caused all streams to rise above banks. In many sections of the country the heavy fall washed farm land badly and carried off whole shocks of grain.

Friday night's heavy rain was accompanied by an electrical storm the equal of which has seldom been seen in these parts. Lightning did quite a bit of damage to telephone lines in the city and in several instances passed into houses on wires. The two storms were the worst we have had this year.

FOUNDER OF MINERAL WELLS DIES IN CITY HE PROMOTED

Mineral Wells, June 21.—At the advanced age of 93 years, J. A. Lynch, founder of Mineral Wells, died here yesterday. On his homestead claim of 160 acres, he laid out the townsite, drilled the first well, and discovered the virtue of the mineral waters and though he lived to see the first development of the townsite into a strictly modern city, one of the famous spas of the continent and see more than a million Texans and hundreds of thousands of others from every quarter of the union attracted here by the waters, the largest drinking pavilion in the world was built, and the erection begun of the world's largest mineral water bottling plant, yet he died in most moderate circumstances, having sold his interests a quarter of a century ago before the value of his discovery was appreciated.

Mrs. W. J. McKinney has announced the engagement and approaching marriage of her sister, Miss Neweta Flint Clifford P. Hart, of Dayton, Ohio. The wedding will take place July 10 in St. Louis.—Dallas Evening Journal.

RUMOR THIRD TERM ENDED AT FRISCO

San Francisco, June 24.—The early arrival of Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, has appreciably strengthened the determination of President Wilson's supporters to construct for the Democratic National Convention a thoroughly Wilson platform.

Senator Glass was busy today conferring with leaders on various platform questions. He gives the impression that the President is far more concerned with the platform than with candidates. His characterization of the report that the President would "demand a complimentary nomination for a third term as absurd" effectively disposes of this matter, following the declaration of Homer S. Cummings, chairman of the national committee to the same effect.

Glass' intimation in view of the silence of the Virginia platform on the liquor question, that the President favors the omission of any plank on this subject in the national platform, has served to stimulate the activities of the wets who are more than ever determined to carry their fight to the convention floor if necessary.

Should the resolutions committee report without at least a near wet plank, there is certain to be a minority report.

Few delegates on the ground share the optimistic prediction of Chairman Cummings of no platform fight in the convention itself, except possibly on the wet and dry issue. Although the majority of the committee on resolutions will likely agree upon a Wilson platform there are almost certain to be minority report on the League of Nations, labor and economic conditions as well as prohibition.

Chairman Cummings indicated to newspaper men today that his keynote speech, which he will deliver as temporary chairman of the convention, will outline the President's views regarding the position for the party to take on the League of Nations issue. It is reported in some quarters that the President is the author of a considerable portion of Cummings' speech.

So far as known here, this will be the President's only message to the convention.

BRECKENRIDGE RAILROAD LINE NOW COMPLETED

Breckenridge, June 24.—Breckenridge is no longer an inland town. For forty years inhabitants have waited for a railroad and Monday night the track laying machine of the Wichita Falls, Ranger & Fort Worth Railroad laid its last rail in front of the depot in Breckenridge. The machine is now laying fourteen miles of switches to accommodate the immense freight shipments consigned to this point.

On the steel mills orders for 2,000 cars for shipment to Breckenridge. Railroad authorities estimate they have at least 1,200 cars of freight ready for shipment to this place.

Passenger service on the line will be installed by Sunday and regular Pullman service from Fort Worth will begin Sunday, July 4.

On the 5th of July a great excursion will be run to Breckenridge. Saturday, July 3, the old timers will have their celebration.

Commencing June 30, Breckenridge and Stephens county will begin their mammoth celebration of the advent of the railroad which will last for several days.

Many attractions will be announced later by the entertainment committee, of which C. M. Caldwell is chairman.

HAS LEG AMPUTATED

Uncle Jack Washburn, one of the early settlers in the Clear Fork Valley, who has been suffering from gangrene in his right foot, had his right leg amputated above the knee last week and his condition now is much improved. Gangrene first appeared in the foot several weeks ago and it became necessary to amputate the leg to save his life.

HEIGHTEN-GEARLEY

Ernest Heighten and Miss Geneva Gearley were united in marriage at the Christian church in this city at 8:30 o'clock yesterday evening.

The Leader joins their many friends in extending best wishes for a long happy and prosperous life.

Toasts were given as follows.

COSDEN-STEWART OVER THE DERRICK

Chicago, June 20.—The Cosden-Stewart well is again creating active interest. The well was swabbed Tuesday and made a fine flow for some time, the oil going over the derrick. In fact, it was a real gusher.

Tuesday afternoon two shots were made with nitroglycerine, 30 and 20 quarts simultaneously, when the well bridged, and now it is being cleaned out. When this is finished it is expected that the well will be a fine producer. This well is the center of interest for many local people who are interested in the oil fields of Jack county. This county has been reported very favorable by many geologists who have made surveys of this district and if the coming in of the well is what is expected it will put new life into the oil development in Jack county in the next few months.—Jacksboro Gazette.

RICKMAN-COON

One of the prettiest weddings of the season occurred at 7:00 p. m. June 17th at the First Baptist church when Mr. J. C. Rickman, of Graham, and Miss Imogene Coon, of Kaufman, were united in marriage.

Banked ferns and baskets of flowers combined with lattice work, formed a very effective setting for the bridal party.

As the procession formed outside the door Mrs. E. A. Carlisle, in her lovely manner sang "At Dawning." Immediately following Mrs. Edna Kindred rendered the gentle strains of Lohengrin's "Wedding March," the doors of the church were thrown open and the wedding party filed down the aisle. Mr. Byron Rickman and Miss Vivian Lewis being the first to enter, she being charmingly attired in a dress of rose taffeta and silver lace, with a hat of tulle. Next came Mr. Eugene Dulane and Miss Claire Galbraith. She was indeed lovely in a creation of green taffeta and organdy with hat to match. Following them were Dr. R. F. Short and Miss Louise Richardson, she being quaintly frocked in blue taffeta and organdy in tone. Alone came the maid of honor, Miss Gladys Johnson, exquisitely dressed in rose pink taffeta, with large picture hat of pink beaded georgette. Each maid carried a large bouquet of sweet peas and pink bride's maid roses.

In dainty, frilly frocks the little flower girls, Louise Coon and Frances Thomas, marched slowly down the aisle scattering rose petals in the path of the bride. Entering at the same time as the flower girls, was the ring bearer, Annie Sam Turney, who carefully carried the ring on a small white satin pillow.

The bride entered on the arm of her father, Judge J. P. Coon, and was met at the altar by the groom, he being attended by his best man, W. J. Walker. The groom and groom's men wore the conventional evening attire.

The bride was radiantly beautiful in her wedding gown in train of white satin Duchesse and lace of silver, worn with the silver slippers. The veil of tulle, which was embroidered in narrow white satin ribbon, was artistically caught up with orange blossoms about her coiffure. She carried a large bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

She was given away by her father and the vows were administered by Rev. W. H. Wynn, of Dallas, the impressive ring ceremony being used. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Charles S. Pierce, and Mrs. Edna Kendrick touchingly played the recessional march from Mendelssohn.

Messrs. Paul Coleman, Ferris French, Jesse Becker, and Olen Colemen acted as ushers for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Rickman left immediately on a wedding tour. They will be at home in Graham, Texas, after July 1st.—Kaufman Daily Post.

WEDDING PARTY ENTERTAINED

Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Alexander entertained last evening honoring Miss Imogene Coon and J. C. Rickman, of Waco, whose marriage takes place this evening at 7:30 at the Baptist church in Kaufman. Present were members of the wedding party and covers were placed for twenty-two.

Among those present were: Dr. Short and Messrs. Dulane, Byron Rickman, Coleman, Becker, French, J. C. Rickman, Walker, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Rickman and Misses Richardson, Galbraith of Waco, Lewis Evans, Pollard, Fox, Coon, and Johnson.

Toasts were given as follows.

THREE ARE DEAD OTHERS INJURED

Chicago, June 20.—Two white men and a negro policeman were killed and several negroes were wounded to-night in a riot in the heart of the south side "black belt" following the reported burning of an American flag by a band of negroes who were said to have paraded in the interests of a "Back to Africa" movement.

The dead are:

R. R. Rose, white, a sailor.

Joseph Hoyt, white, a cigar dealer.

Joseph P. Owens, a negro policeman.

Rose was shot through the heart dying instantly. Owens was taken to a hospital with four bullet wounds in his body, dying soon afterward.

Hoyt's head was split across the brow, leading the police at first to believe he had been killed by a blow from an ax. Later investigations, however, brought the conclusion that his skull had been split by a dum-dum bullet.

The trouble occurred at 35th street and Indiana avenue near the scene of last year's race riot in which more than thirty whites and blacks were killed and hundreds injured. Several hundred policemen were rushed to the district and succeeded in restoring order before the disturbance spread. More than 1,000 negroes had gathered.

THE STEEN WELL NORTH TOWN HAS SHOWING

The Sun Co. Steen No. 1, on Survey No. 1956, about seven miles north of town, is showing considerable oil and gas at 3635 feet. It is reported it will be shot at once to test out this sand which is claimed to be about 30 feet deep. From the fact that this oil is found in a sand, it may prove to be a good and lasting well. This is a deep test and if this sand does not pay the Sun people will go deeper.

The most remarkable fact about the Steen well, is that there has been four distinct producing sands encountered, which goes to prove the existence of a big pool somewhere in that vicinity. In the course of time it is going to be discovered, and we look for Graham to be the center of the greatest oil boom at no distant day. There are too many wells drilling not to open an oil field of immense proportions.

The McCluskey well at South Bend remains an undetermined factor as it has been shut down for nearly ten days, presumably waiting on casing. We are unable to get any reliable report, but it may be something will be done during the coming week.

The Colcord-Scott No. 2, offset to No. 1, is drilling around 1650 feet and will by all means, they report, reach the sand before July 4. It is thought this will make a 500 barrel or better well. Our readers will remember they drilled into the water in the first hole and had trouble in completely cutting this water off.

Bouzier gets two offsets on the south and the Panhandle has a rig up on the west, making five wells soon to be drilling.

The Roxana has the Payne and Goode derricks up and will be drilling the coming week, and Mr. Colcord will start drilling on the river bed the coming week. With some other wells to start these will make nineteen drilling wells and locations within two and one-half miles of South Bend.

The Good No. 1 has the bailed out, is drilling by the tools and running full tower. If nothing prevents this well will be cleaned in a short time.

The North American-Scott is still trying to pull the collapsed casing and hopes to have the hole in good shape in a few days.

The Teras Co.-League well, up the creek, is reaching an interesting depth and should be in the pay sand in a short time.

It is reported the Snowden & McSweeney-Graham well, north of Eliasville, has a showing of oil and gas and is liable to blow in any time. It is also reported that the Sam Hill well is now making 500 barrels on top of the sand and will be drilled in at once. They have pipe line facilities and no delay will be incurred on account of storage. Some ten other wells are nearing the sand in this section and will be in at no distant date.

The Timmons well, six miles southwest of town, is running full tower and will soon have hole cleaned out and will drill deeper.

The Miami Development Co., McKeen well, about seven miles southwest of town on the Wm. Fullerton Survey,

KNOW NOTHING OF DYSPEPSIA

Eskimos Apparently Able to Digest Anything in the Form of Food, Without Cooking It.

There is at least one native race of America that is little troubled with dyspepsia. The Eskimo seems to defy all laws in this relation and to thrive. He eats until he is satisfied, and it takes much to satisfy him. If, indeed, he ever is satisfied. He eats as long as there is a shred of the feast before him. His capacity is limited only by the supply.

The Eskimo, it further appears, can make no mistake in the manner of cooking his food for the very simple reason that he does not cook it. Nor, so far as the blubber or fat of the Arctic is concerned, is he worried about his manner of eating it. Indeed, he may be said not to eat it at all. He cuts it into long strips an inch wide and an inch thick and then lowers the strip down his throat as one might lower a rope into a well. Notwithstanding all this, the Eskimo does not suffer from indigestion. He can make a good meal off the flesh and skin of the walrus, provision so hard and gritty that in cutting up the animal the knife must be continually sharpened.

The teeth of a little Eskimo child will, it is said by those who know, meet in a bit of walrus skin as the teeth of one of our own children would meet in the flesh of an apple, although the hide of the walrus is from half an inch to an inch in thickness and bears considerable resemblance to the hide of an elephant. The child of the Arctic will bite it and digest it and never know what dyspepsia means.

A street carnival, composed mostly of concessions, in which there is a chance to get your money back, is attracting our worldly-minded youngsters this week.

COST $2.15 PER BUSHEL

TO RAISE WHEAT

Washington, June 20.—The average cost to the farmer of producing a bushel of wheat in 1919 was $2.15, the Department of Agriculture has found through a study which included 481 farms.

At this figure half the farers would have lost money on their grain at the Government guaranteed price of $2.26 a bushel in Chicago, since freight and elevator charges must come out of the $2.26.

The department found the cost as low as $1 a bushel on two farms and twenty it was $5 or more. Most of the wheat was produced at a cost somewhat less than midway between these two extremes. The survey included nine winter wheat areas in Kansas, Nebraska and Missouri and five spring wheat areas in Minnesota and North Dakota.

"In the winter wheat areas costs ranged from $1 a bushel for two farms to $8.20 on one farm," said the department's report. "The average cost was $1.87. If the price received had been $1.87 more than half of these winter wheat growers would have produced wheat at a loss."

"In the spring wheat areas the average cost was much higher, $2.65, the range running from $1.10 for one farm to $5 or over for seventeen farms, and the cost per acre $27.80 equaled the average cost, between 50 and 55 per cent of these spring wheat growers would have failed to break even."

"Yields averaged 14.9 bushels per acre for the winter wheat farms and 8.4 bushels for the spring wheat farms, and the cost per acre $27.80 for winter wheat, as against $22.40 for spring wheat."

"Department specialists in cost of production studies point out in this connection that, for the farms covered in this investigation, the so-called 'necessary price'—that is, the price necessary to give the producer a fair degree of certainty of making a profit—would be found at a level considerably above that of the average cost of production.

"For example, to allow a profit on 80 per cent of the wheat produced on the farms covered by this study, the price would have to be about $2.60, as compared with an average cost of $2.15. At a price covering the average cost plus 10 per cent, 75 per cent of the crop would be covered, but 40 per cent of the growers would still fail to break even."

FISH CREEK

Hello, Mr. Editor and correspondents. Will you please move over and let a new scribe write a few items from the oily regions of Murray? We have no real oil wells yet, but of course, we have plenty of locations for them. If our ex-correspondent, the Kid, had done his real duty in the beginning and boosted our oil land as he should have done perhaps we would have plenty of oil wells today. I hope no one will tell the Kid what I said about him. Whenever I want him to know it I'll go tell him.

Wheat and oats are fairly good in most places. Corn is looking good at present, but is a little late. Cotton is real late in this part of the country and it is believed that the grasshoppers will ruin it if there is not something done for them in the next few days.

W. D. Yarbrough and sons, on the B. H. Richards farm in the edge of Throckmorton county, are having a terrible time with the hoppers, but if reports are true, they are ridding the farm of them. They are said to be poisoning them almost daily and are running a hopper pan which is destroying them in large quantities. One man told this writer he saw the hoppers piled up and one pile looked to have some five or six bushels of hoppers in it.

Last Wednesday night R. G. Taylor and son, Wesley, of Graham, and Homer Willis, of east of Graham, spent the night with T. C. Dixon.

R. S. Ray carried wheat to Graham Thursday and was caught in the rain and so far as we know he is still at Graham enjoying life.

E. E. Brockman went to Graham Saturday.

We heard that Mrs. August Robinson was carried to Fort Worth one day last week for an operation.

Mrs. Geo. Mayes is in Graham en route to Murray to visit her parents, G. W. Carmack and wife, and other relatives.

Wheat and oat harvest are about over here.

Mr. Editor, this place needs a correspondent real bad to keep the news sent in and to take subscriptions for The Leader. Please don't think that I am a candidate for this office, for I am not. We would be delighted to see all the correspondents get busy one time more and give us all the country news.

Wishing The Leader and its many readers a prosperous year, I'll close.

To Keep American Ships on the Seas

For the first time since the Civil War we have a real merchant marine. It cost us $3,000,000,000 to get it.

The farmer, manufacturer, laborer—every American is interested in holding our position on the seas.

As a first step in this direction it is necessary to modify those articles of existing commercial treaties which have operated to thwart the upbuilding of our merchant marine.

By giving the notice of termination for which the several treaties provide,

This action is directed in the constructive Shipping Bill now before Congress;

Which declares it to be the policy of the United States "to do whatever may be necessary to develop and encourage" a merchant marine.

This policy deserves the support of every American. Lacking this support the present effort to maintain our merchant marine may suffer the fate of many ineffective attempts of the past.

Send for a copy of "For an American Merchant Marine."

FROM W. E. LYNCH
Bentonville, Ark., May 26, 1920.

The Graham Leader,
Kind Editors: Enclosed you will find $1.00 for The Graham Leader.

Will tell you a few things about this country. It is mountainous but a beautiful country. The farming land seems to be very fertile. Always have seasons enough for anything they put in the ground.

There are more apple orchards than anything else. Strawberries are grown here to a great advantage. They have the best water here I ever tasted anywhere, mostly spring water; many beautiful creeks and smaller streams headed by large springs.

There is a summer resort four miles northeast of Bentonville; a large lake down in the valley for bathing, fishing and other sports. The mountains nearly surround the lake and they are covered with the prettiest cottages made of the oak timber from the mountain and decorated with the bark of the trees, making them very attractive. There is a saw mill on the lake that saws all the lumber. The lake is supplied by a large spring and it has certainly pretty, clear water. This is an enjoyable country to live in, I think. I just thought I would drive over and look at the country; would love to own a home here. However, I haven't lost interest in old Young county. It is a fine country, having some disadvantages with many advantages, but I like this place best for living at home and boarding at the same place. This is not much of a place for the wage-worker, but one doesn't have to wage war as he can raise most anything he wants to. Their surplus money, however, is made from growing apples and strawberries.

I don't know what the subscription price is for The Graham Leader, and if $1.00 isn't the price, kindly let me know and I will send the balance for I can't do without my home paper.

Yours respectively,

W. E. LYNCH.

The new barber shop near the Dolman House is a credit to the city. It is as modern as can be found anywhere. Five chairs, bathrooms and fixtures, all new, in a beautiful new glass front brick make it a most complete and attractive shop.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

EVERY FORD OWNER SHOULD KNOW

Just what Ford Service is, and why it is different from ordinary garage service, and why it is more profitable to patronize the Authorized Ford Dealer?—The Ford Dealer is part of the Big Ford Family. He carries a large stock of genuine Ford parts for repairs and replacements so you don't have to wait while he sends for them, and he uses only genuine parts because he knows the imitation parts aren't dependable and don't wear.

He has a thoroughly equipped up-to-the-minute garage with tools that enable his Ford Mechanics to efficiently and properly make any repair—from a minor adjustment to a complete overhaul. And when the work is finished, his bill represents the reasonable, standard Ford prices.

Now, we are Authorized Ford Dealers—a part of that great Ford Service organization which was formed chiefly to put within each community a dealer who would have more than a passing interest in Ford repairs and adjustments. We will be prepared and equipped to render prompt, careful Ford service within ten days.

REALLY A CHAMELEON CITY

Barcelona Presents an Odd Mixture of the Past and Present—Once Center of Commerce.

Barcelona is the chameleon city of Spain. In some quarters of the city the streets are narrower and more crooked than those of old London, while in others are avenues boulevards, shops and cafes which vie with those of Paris. The city has an aristocracy which lives so far in the past that its scions still deplore the discovery of America, according to a bulletin of the National Geographic Society.

Until 1492 Barcelona was the New York of the Mediterranean. Columbus' voyage was considered a bit of impertinence on the part of the Castilian government to upset the balance of trade in favor of cities in western and southern Spain. As a result a movement swept the Catalan provinces, of which Barcelona is the center, for annexation to France, the revolt against Philip IV in 1640 resulting in the district giving itself over to French protection.

Catalonia's old allegiance, however, was renewed in 1652, four centuries later the resentment ameliorating enough to permit the placing of a statue of Christopher Columbus in the Rambla, Fifth avenue of Barcelona. After the Spanish-American war mobs of Barcelona citizens stoned and egged the explorer's statue "as punishment for having ventured to find so troublesome a new world for Spain."

BELONG TO HOLIDAY SEASON

Christmas Festivities Would Not Be Complete Without the Holly and the Mistletoe.

Several thousand tons of holly as well as hundreds of tons of mistletoe are shipped over the railroads each year before the opening of the holiday season. The mistletoe is placed in small packages because it is easy to break off the tiny white bells, and the plant is more rare and costly.

Holly abounds all over the world, over 100 species having been determined, but only 14 varieties are to be found in the United States. The finest American species of holly is the Flex Opana, but the mountain holly is also a choice variety. The English holly has a sturdier leaf and a more vivid and lustrous green. The wood of the holly is very hard and smooth in the grain, and is almost equal to boxwood for engraving purposes, while its leaves are the emblem of forethought because of the protection given to the buds by the defensive thorns.

The holly, however, is not so highly prized for the Christmas season as the mistletoe, which is rare, delicate and beautiful and the source of many ancient Druidic legends. In the United States mistletoe is chiefly found in the southern states, while that used in England is chiefly produced in the orchards of Normandy. It is also the state flower of Oklahoma.

Orange Blossoms and Brides. Various theories have been given regarding the use of orange blossoms as bridal ornaments. The custom is supposed to have been brought to Europe by the Crusaders from the East, the Saracen brides being accustomed to wear orange wreaths at their marriage. To this objection was raised that although the orange tree was brought to England as early as 1290, it was long before there was any real cultivation of it even in greenhouses. A second theory is that orange blossoms came to be worn by brides on their marriage because they were not only scented—but also were rare and costly, and so within the reach of only the noble and rich, that indicating the bride had to be of high rank. A third is that orange bridal wreaths had their origin in Spain, where oranges have been cultivated for centuries. Thence the fashion passed to France, and by means of French millinery was spread to other lands.

Fish Comfortable Under Ice. By the way, says a writer in the Kansas City Star, the water never gets colder than about 39 degrees, below the ice. So no matter how cold the day, and no matter how thick the ice upon the stream or lake, the fishes are enjoying a temperature of about 39 degrees, and they move about in the water and gather supplies very well at that temperature. Through the clear ice one may see fish with their backs against it, where the temperature must be 32 degrees, and if you strike the ice immediately above them with the back of an ax, or a sledge hammer, you will kill the fish. The concussion does the business and the fish will turn up its white belly against the ice. A dead-fish floats with its belly upward, always. It is a common enough thing in some regions for boys to kill fish through the ice, and then to cut a hole and get them out.

Hysterical Somnolence. A youth of nineteen who since early childhood had been liable to drop off to sleep at any time and without any feeling of fatigue is described by Dr. H. Carrill in the Lancet (London). He was perfectly normal and Doctor Carrill became convinced that the attacks were hysterical and self-suggested; in other words that he hypnotized himself. They told him his attacks were due to a thickened spot on his skull, and cured him by cutting out a tiny piece of bone and letting him handle it.

Applications are now being made by schools for money under the rural aid law. The amount received from this source is determined by the financial condition of the school; if it has more than enough to meet all demands, it cannot obtain aid. With the apportionment per capita increased some $5.00 per pupil, unless salaries are increased, many schools will have enough money on hand to meet demands, and may not be eligible to receive aid. Increases in salary, it is understood, will be considered sufficient ground for granting rural aid to schools.

High school classification is going forward in the High School division of the State Department of Education. As soon as information is available, schools will be notified of their classification. As both length of term and salaries paid teachers determine classification and affect affiliation, all classified and affiliated schools must know what length the term and what salaries will be paid next year within a few days. The high school division holds that effective high school work can not be done where teachers are underpaid.

LETTER "R" NOT POPULAR

Many Writers Would View With Equanimity Its Complete Disappearance From the Language.

In a tract recently issued under the auspices of the Society for Pure English, Dr. Robert Bridges deplores the practical disappearance of the letter R from the speech of southern Englishmen, according to the Manchester Guardian. Yet, some people would be disposed to regard the extinction of this letter with composure or even approval. John Aubrey, for instance, appears to have nursed a prejudice against those who sound it too prominently in their speech. In his "Lives" Aubrey animadverts on the fact that Milton pronounced the letter R (letter canina) very hard—a certain sign of a satirical wit.

In the same the "canine letter" has found many enemies, who maintain that its abounding employment largely accounts for the ruggedness of Teutonic speech. Some writers have gone so far as to produce works from which it is entirely banished—a remarkably difficult feat, seeing that it figures in about 50 per cent of German words.

Two minor luminaries of the eighteenth century, Brookes and Gottlieb Burmann, wrote a number of poems from which the letter is deliberately excluded, so as to produce an atmosphere of "sweetness and light."

These facts were eclipsed by a nineteenth century author, Granville Ritter, who held the letter in aversion, though it appears twice in his own surname. He published two novels, "Die Zwillinge" and "Lisette und Wilhelm," in which no R can be found.

Paul von Schleinitz and Leo Koebe are responsible for similar works on a lesser scale.

KING ALFONSO'S FIRST SMOKE

Experience of Spanish Monarch Very Much Like That of Some American Small Boys.

King Alfonso has been telling the story of his first cigarette.

The incident, it appears, occurred immediately after he had been formally enthroned as king of Spain when attaining his majority on his sixteenth birthday.

Up to that time he had not been allowed to smoke, nor even then was the prohibition withdrawn. Nevertheless, he came to the conclusion that, as a ruling monarch, he might at least do as he liked in this respect.

Accordingly he asked his brother-in-law, the prince of Asturias, for a cigarette.

"I haven't got one," said the prince, faithful to family orders.

Then the king applied to the officer of the guard, who said solemnly:

"I regret that I do not smoke them, your majesty."

At last the young king made his way to the sentry at the palace door, who amiably produced a plug of black tobacco from his trousers pocket and rolled a cigarette for his majesty, who smoked it proudly through the palace.

"It made me violently sick later on," he said in telling the story; "but I enjoyed it at the time. I felt, as I puffed and puffed, that I was really and truly grown up at last."

Supplying Palestine With Water

From the average yearly rainfall of 26 inches enough water could be stored up in Palestine to support a population of 15,000,000, according to James Haines, secretary of the Zionist Society of Engineers, which is laying plans for a water supply system for the Holy Land as part of the restoration work necessary to make the land ready to receive the hundreds of thousands of Jews from all over the world who will emigrate there as soon as the political status of the country is cleared up.

Allowing for a 50 per cent loss through evaporation and running off, Mr. Haines has figured that the yearly rainfall over the 20,000 square miles of Palestine will provide a future population of 6,000,000 with a daily per capita supply of 2,055 gallons. The average daily consumption in New York at present is estimated at about 800 gallons per capita.

Silly Old Fool

Of the stories told by Mr. Pett Ridge, the popular author, one of the best, perhaps, is of an incident which occurred outside a London railway station.

"I wanted a taxicab," says Mr. Ridge. "A small boy ran to fetch one and came back with it, holding the handle of the door as a signal of temporary ownership. As the cab pulled up a bigger lad tried to obtain possession of the handle.

"Out of it!" ordered the young boy, aggrievedly. "I was the one sent to get the taxi for the silly old fool"—he turned to me and touched his cap respectfully—"wasn't I, sir?"—London Tit-Bits.

Among Humorists

"Ever borrow an idea?" asked the young husband.

"Among us professionals it is considered permissible to borrow back and forth," said the old timer. "However, I hope you'll avoid something a friend of mine once did, and has been sorry for ever since."

"What was that?"

"He stole a joke from a religious paper."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

SATISFIED WITH TWO MEALS

Roosevelt Family, While on Vacation, Decided There Should Be No Unnecessary Dish Washing.

"Practical Politics" was but one of many subjects the late Colonel Roosevelt had made his own. His many-sided common sense approached nothing without going straight to the practical heart of it. In his inimitable letters to his children the chapter, "A President as Cook," gives an example of this letter with composure or even approval, John Aubrey, for instance, appears to have nursed a prejudice against those who sound it too prominently in their speech. In his "Lives" Aubrey animadverts on the fact that Milton pronounced the letter R (letter canina) very hard—a certain sign of a satirical wit.

In the same the "canine letter" has found many enemies, who maintain that its abounding employment largely accounts for the ruggedness of Teutonic speech. Some writers have gone so far as to produce works from which it is entirely banished—a remarkably difficult feat, seeing that it figures in about 50 per cent of German words.

Two minor luminaries of the eighteenth century, Brookes and Gottlieb Burmann, wrote a number of poems from which the letter is deliberately excluded, so as to produce an atmosphere of "sweetness and light."

These facts were eclipsed by a nineteenth century author, Granville Ritter, who held the letter in aversion, though it appears twice in his own surname.

He published two novels, "Die Zwillinge" and "Lisette und Wilhelm," in which no R can be found.

Paul von Schleinitz and Leo Koebe are responsible for similar works on a lesser scale.

GOAT ALWAYS GOOD FIGHTER

"Billy" Seldom Looks for a Scrap, but He is Equal to It When Forced on Him.

"Mr. A. B. Fenwick related to me the particulars of a battle of two Indians, fifteen dogs and two horses with a billy goat that had wandered out upon Joseph's prairie, where Cranbrook, B. C., now stands," says

Dr. William T. Hornaday in his article on "The Rocky Mountain Goat at Home," in Boys' Life. "The Indians thought, that with their horses and dogs (but no guns) they could capture the goat alive. The goat thought otherwise.

A little later a squaw saw that they were having a bad mixup and ran out to the Indians with a rifle.

One of them shot the goat. All but two of the dogs were killed on the spot, or died very shortly. It was with the greatest difficulty that the Indians saved their horses from getting punctured by those terrible little horns.

"It is on record that a full-grown grizzly bear was killed by a full-grown billy goat while the bear was killing him.

The dead bodies of the two were found only a few yards apart.

"So you see, although the goat is deliberate in thought and in action, and wise in self-preservation, when the time comes to fight, he is right on the job."

Resigned to Fate.

In the early days of the war a group of optimistic young men assembled at the officers' training camp at Fort Myer, Va., with all the necessary appurtenances of officers, from spurs to an extra pair of field glasses. Later on, as it became necessary for the authorities to hand out little pink slips and one-way tickets home, it grew into a custom for the departing candidates to auction off their equipment.

One Saturday morning Captain Blank said sharply to Candidate Jones of Company X:

"Mr. Jones, drill the company."

Mr. Jones stepped forth. Taking his place before the company, he was suddenly stricken dumb.

"Well?" demanded the captain with a strongly rising inflection.

Jones gulped. "Wh-wh-what am I offered for my truck locker?" he stammered. "Home Sector."

A Wager Lost on Coolidge.

At a reunion '96 man met a classmate on the campus. The latter wore a broad grin.

"What's the joke?"

"I made a wager that I could get Coolidge into a five-minute conversation. I just tried it. Here's the conversation:

"Cal, I understand they're going to knock the tar out of you this election."

"Maybe."

"I hear that a spellbinder is up against you."

"Yes."

"Perhaps that will help you; you may shine by contrast."

"Perhaps so."

"I was stuck for anything more to say. I'm now going to pay the wager."

—George MacAdam in World's Work.

Steel Want General.

All around the globe there is a demand for American steel. Portuguese East Africa has extensive railroad plans, and in Siam there is a call for 32,000 tons of rails. A New York firm has contracts for $5,000,000 for office buildings and other structures in Tokyo and other Japanese cities. In Rome there is a building program for housing government employees. South American requirements are extensive.

Among Humorists.

"Ever borrow an idea?" asked the young husband.

"Among us professionals it is considered permissible to borrow back and forth," said the old timer. "However, I hope you'll avoid something a friend of mine once did, and has been sorry for ever since."

"What was that?"

"He stole a joke from a religious

COMEDY—HOPPING THE BELLS

Giant Crack in Surface Extends Over One-Sixth of the Circumference of the World.

The Great Rift valley, as it is called by Prof. J. W. Gregory, extends over one-sixth of the circumference of the earth, remarks the London Times.

It begins in Lebanon, follows the canyon of the Jordan and the Dead sea and crosses a high "divide" to become the deep fjord of the Gulf of Akaba between the highland of Edom and Sinai. The Red sea, a great trough 11,000 feet deep, measured from the summit of its rocky wall to the sea bottom, continues it between the high deserts of Nubia and Arabia to the narrow neck of Bab-el-Mandeb. It strikes across Abyssinia to Lake Rudolph, runs almost due south through British East Africa and traverses a range 7,000 feet high to Lake Natron, in what was German East Africa. Where it crosses the Uganda railway its walls are so steep that the trains used to be hauled up or lowered by cables. It is continued by the rift which holds Lake Nyasa, an inland ocean, whose surface is 1,600 feet above sea level, with a depth of 700 feet below sea level.

From Nyasa it runs down the Shire valley, crosses the Zambezi and ends in the Indian ocean at the Sabi river in Gazaland. A minor branch forms the lower end and a gigantic arm stretches from the upper end of Nyasa through Tanganyika, the second deepest lake in the world, its bottom 1,600 feet below sea level, to the upper Nile.

We are accustomed to think of valleys as having been formed by erosion, but the Rift valley is clearly the result of some more catastrophic agency. There have been differences of opinion as to the mode of its formation within the historical period. But the discovery of fossil mammals of types long extinct, makes it impossible to regard the foundering of the Dead sea as coincident with the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah.

ARABS SKILLED IN AVIATION

Their Mechanics Said to Have Been Pioneers in the Art in the Second Century.

The Asie Arabe has some interesting sidelights on the early history of aviation, so far as it concerns the Arab race. According to this paper, it was at the end of the second century, and the beginning of the third, that the Arab race began to be influenced by the Greeks and Indians. It was in Bagdad that the mathematical and mechanical arts first began to make their appearance. With the coming of these different studies the horizon of the Arabs became enlarged. It was about this period that the grand Caliph Haroun al-Raschid sent his famous clock to Charlemagne, emperor of the Franks.

Amongst the various crafts from which the Arabs drew their culture was, strange as it may seem today, that of aviation. At the head of this section was the celebrated Arab mechanician Abbas Ben Farasa, the first known pioneer of the art which Bleriot, Farman and Guyenne have since made famous, unless one should include in such the young larvae of Greek legend.

Insect Life in Winter.
In the dead wood of the old snags are many insects that live through the winter regardless of how cold it gets; creatures whose weak bodies seem to defy the frigid temperature. Full of a bit of old bark from a snag and note that there is life beneath it; little people that try to scurry for cover when their home is wrecked. They are not so agile as when the weather is warm, but they are not in a state of torpor.

The fish do not hibernate during the winter. Some species find houses in holes or beneath rocks and roots and get along very well without food during the cold weather, but they are not torpid like the bears and groundhogs that hibernate. Most of the fish swim about in the cold water and gather a living in winter just as they do in summer, but none of them require so much food when the water is cold.

In Praise of Violets.
There are about a hundred different species of violets, of which there are five species in England, and a few subspecies. One of these is the violet tricolor, from which is descended the garden pansy, or Love-in-idleness. But in all the passages in which Shakespeare names the violet, he alludes to the purple sweet-scented violet, of which he was evidently very fond, and which is said to be very abundant in the neighborhood of Stratford-on-Avon. For all the eighteen passages tell of some point of beauty or sweetness that attracted him. And so it is with all the poets from Chaucer downward—the violet is noticed by—and by all with affection.—Christian Science Monitor.

History.

How far history is to be trusted is a question. Victor Hugo says all history is an epic. Epics always are embellished. Shelly calls Herodotus' embellishments the living images which a poet has the right to employ. They make his verse breathe, and history must breathe, too, we suppose. Modern historians, unless they are mere copyists of archives or dismal statisticians, must give us "touches" here and there. They call it anecdote or illustration, but we suspect it is the Herodotus method toned down a little for a less credulous age.

COMEDY--HOPPING THE BELLS

SUGGEST OF EARTH'S VALLEYS

Giant Crack in Surface Extends Over One-Sixth of the Circumference of the World.

The Great Rift valley, as it is called by Prof. J. W. Gregory, extends over one-sixth of the circumference of the earth, remarks the London Times.

It begins in Lebanon, follows the canyon of the Jordan and the Dead sea and crosses a high "divide" to become the deep fjord of the Gulf of Akaba between the highland of Edom and Sinai. The Red sea, a great trough 11,000 feet deep, measured from the summit of its rocky wall to the sea bottom, continues it between the high deserts of Nubia and Arabia to the narrow neck of Bab-el-Mandeb. It strikes across Abyssinia to Lake Rudolph, runs almost due south through British East Africa and traverses a range 7,000 feet high to Lake Natron, in what was German East Africa. Where it crosses the Uganda railway its walls are so steep that the trains used to be hauled up or lowered by cables. It is continued by the rift which holds Lake Nyasa, an inland ocean, whose surface is 1,600 feet above sea level, with a depth of 700 feet below sea level.

From Nyasa it runs down the Shire valley, crosses the Zambezi and ends in the Indian ocean at the Sabi river in Gazaland. A minor branch forms the lower end and a gigantic arm stretches from the upper end of Nyassa through Tanganyika, the second deepest lake in the world, its bottom 1,000 feet below sea level, to the upper Nile.

We are accustomed to think of valleys as having been formed by erosion, but the Rift valley is clearly the result of some more catastrophe agency. There have been differences of opinion as to the mode of its formation within the historical period. But the discovery of fossil mammals, of types long extinct, makes it impossible to regard the founding of the Dead sea as coincident with the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah.

ARABS SKILLED IN AVIATION

Their Mechanics Said to Have Been Pioneers in the Art in the Second Century.

The Asip Arabe has some interesting sidelights on the early history of aviation, so far as it concerns the Arab race. According to this paper, it was at the end of the second century, and the beginning of the third, that the Arab race began to be influenced by the Greeks and Indians. It was in Bagdad that the mathematical and mechanical arts first began to make their appearance. With the coming of these different studies the horizon of the Arabs became enlarged. It was about this period that the grand Caliph Haroun al-Raschid sent his famous clock to Charlemagne, emperor of the Franks.

Amongst the various crafts from which the Arabs drew their culture was, strange as it may seem today, that of aviation. At the head of this section was the celebrated Arab mechanician Abbas Ben Farnas, the first known pioneer of the art which Bleriot, Farman and Gwynne have since made famous, unless one should include in such the young Ioannes of Greek legend.

Insect Life in Winter.
In the dead wood of old snags are many insects that live through the winter regardless of how cold it gets; creatures whose weak bodies seem to defy the frigid temperature. Pull off a bit of old bark from a snag and note that there is life beneath it; little people that try to scurry for cover when their home is wrecked. They are not so agile as when the weaker in winter, but they are not in a state of torpor.

The fish do not hibernate during the winter. Some species find houses in holes or beneath rocks and roots and get along very well without food during the cold weather, but they are not torpid like the bears and groundhogs that hibernate. Most of the fish swim about in the cold water and gather a living in winter just as they do in summer, but none of them require so much food when the water is cold.

In Praise of Violets.
There are about a hundred different species of violets, of which there are five species in England, and a few subspecies. One of these is the violet tri-color, from which is descended the garden pansy, or Love-in-Idleness. But in all the passages in which Shakespeare names the violet, he alludes to the purple sweet-scented violet, of which he was evidently very fond, and which is said to be very abundant in the neighborhood of Stratford-on-Avon. For all the eighteen passages tell of some point of beauty or sweetness that attracted him. And so it is with all the poets from Chaucer downward—the violet is noticed by and by all with affection.—Christian Science Monitor.

History.
How far history is to be trusted is a question. Victor Hugo says all history is an epic. Epics always are embellished. Shelly calls Herodotus' embellishments the living images which a poet has the right to employ. They make his verse breathe, and history must breathe, too, we suppose. Modern historians, unless they are mere copyists of archives or dismal statisticians, must give us "touched" here and there. They call it anecdote or illustration, but we suspect it is the Herodotus method toned down a little for a less credulous age.

Major Robert Warwick, who fought bravely against the Huns during the war, succumbs quite easily to woman's wiles in his new picture, "The Tree of Knowledge," which will be shown at the National Theatre Friday, June 25.

The soldier-star has the role of a young Englishman, studying for the ministry, who falls under the influence of a female adventuress. After she has deserted him for another, he becomes manager of his best friend's estate. Later the friend returns from abroad with the woman as his wife. Some highly dramatic situations follow, but the temptress is finally foiled, and the hero wins his happiness with a girl of quite a different stripe. A beautiful prologue, supposedly laid in the Garden of Eden, precedes the main action and supplies the motif of the story. It is quite effective. Wanda Hawley, Tom Forman, Kathryn Williams, and Irving Cummings are included in the cast supporting Mr. Warwick. The picture, which is a Paramount Artcraft, was directed by William C. DeMille.

Bryant Washburn in an up-to-the-minute screen comedy about Prohibition is the attraction at the National Theatre Saturday June 26. It bears the happy title of "The Six Best Cellars" and easily ranks with the six best photoplays this genial star has ever done. "Wets" and "drys" alike can laugh at this picture without scruple. The locale is a fashionable suburban comedy, and the central figures are six young married couples who are chiefly notable for the stocks of spirits that they have in their cellars. Mr. Washburn, as Henry Carpenter, one of the six, is trying to keep up with the rest, but lacks the alcoholic backing. His efforts to acquire it and the complications that ensue result in a merry farce. The film has a unique ending—in fact, the ending is left to the audience itself. Bryant Washburn is at his side-splitting best and is ably aided and abetted by Wanda Hawley and others in the excellent supporting cast. Holworthy Hall and Hugh Kahler are the authors of the original story, which appeared in a popular magazine. Donald Crisp directed the picture. It is a Paramount Artcraft release.

EVERY-DAY ESSAY "TOBACCO"

By J. M. Burkett.

Tobacco is a whole lot of things—a weed, a habit, a narcotic, a smoke and a chew. This wonderful vegetable has been popular as a nerve solace, and a boon companion for some time past. The American Indian was the first to fall for Lady Nicotine's deadly charms, and when the white man came to take over his real estate the Indians saw there were too many of him to exterminate by the tomahawk process so with his usual cunning and craftiness he taught his conqueror to use tobacco. Thus it happened that Sir Walter Raleigh on his return from his first trip to America carried in his cargo several plugs of Star Navy and a six months' ration of Home Runs. Walter went down to the Royal Court and blew rings for the ladies and before many days the Queen herself was crying for her Milo's. Several weeks later the Anti-Tobacco League was formed and the first Gobboon company received its charter.

Now the use of tobacco is universal among the male population of the earth. One of the first ambitions that enters the sunburnt head of the modern boy is to be an accomplished smoker. And although his first attempt, out in the solitude of the buggy shed, usually ends in that awful indescribable feeling, the lesson is not sufficient and soon the habit is formed. As kids we smoke for fun, in our teens for distinction, and effect; as men force of habit; and as old men to finish the job. Some of us will probably smoke hereafter.

Doctors and reformers have warned and preached against tobacco yet she abides with us. But oh! how expensive she is getting. Tobacco has always been popular as a revenue goat. Every cigar you buy is about 5 per cent tobacco, 20 per cent cabbage and 75 per cent tax. Soon only the idle rich can afford the choice cigars. We underdogs must go back to cedar bark and grapevine of our freckle faced past.

Tobacco is classified into different blends. A good way to judge the blend of a cigar is to count the revolutions of your head after a deep inhalation. Of course no definite table of number of revolutions and corresponding blends can be given, as some phonologies are more easily turned than others.

All smokers have their favorite smoke; all chewers their favorite chew; and likewise the lowly snuff-dipper has his favorite snuff. Chewing tobacco has never been very popular in select circles because of the difficulties attending such operations. Although cigars and cigarettes are used them all, the pipe has its worshippers. Many a confirmed pipe puller would rather part with life itself than with his old juicy corn cob pipe.

Men are often censored for pickling their lungs in nicotine and spending their all on the dreadful narcotic, yet they are more to be pitied than blamed. A good smoke can bring comfort where all else fails. It is a solace and a balm; a stimulant and a refreshment, and always a companion and friend. Trusted friends may desert you and fortune may scorn you but your old pipe will bubble just as sweetly as of yore.

Housewives and mothers are naturally the arch enemies of tobacco. And many a poor husband has been forced to seek a long cool cigar to bring back peace to his tortured soul after listening to a half hour's discourse on tobacco and its slaves.

But after all, it's like Kipling puts it, "A woman is only a woman, but a good cigar is a smoke."

Rites of Mexican Festival Constitute

One of the Strangest Mixtures

Known to History.

Probably the strangest mixture of the ancient and the modern, and of Christian and pagan rites, which can be seen in the world today, is the annual Mexican festival of the "Matachines."

No white man can tell exactly what is the significance of this festival, which is celebrated in all parts of the Mexican republic every spring. Those who take part in it are typical Mexicans of Indian and Spanish blood, with some purebred Indians among them. The dances are much like the war and harvest dances of the Apaches, Comanches and other southwestern Indians, except that many of the dancers flourish swords, and wear by way of decoration, the tin tops of beer bottles.

The dancing is kept up for two or three days, and the ceremony ends with a dance about a great wooden cross which is set on a high hill near the town. This would seem to show a Christian influence, and it probably does, but the cross is known to have been sacred to ancient Aztecs. Indeed, this whole ceremony is undoubtedly one of Aztec origin, with Christian elements added.

This bewildering mixture of pagan and Christian religion is seen throughout the Southwest. The "Penitentes Hermanos" of Mexico and New Mexico are another example. On every Good Friday they whip themselves until the blood comes, as a penance, and crucify one of their number with ropes. These fanatics claim to be Christians, but their practices have been condemned by the church, and like the Matachines can be traced back to Aztec times.

NEWSPAPER HAD SHORT LIFE

"Publick Occurrences" in 1690, Get Out One Issue, and Then the Authorities Suppressed It.

America's first newspaper, the Boston News-Letter, first published in 1704, on exhibition at the Massachusetts Historical society, marked the beginning of continuous journalism in the British colonies. Until 1704 the nearest approach to a newspaper in the everyday life of the colonists was the manuscript "news-letter," which was usually addressed by the writer to a governor or a leading clergyman, and was presumably shown around and the "news" further circulated by word of mouth.

An earlier effort than that of the Boston News-Letter to publish a newspaper in the colonies is on record in the attempt to publish Publick Occurrences, in 1690. The introductory paragraph announced that "It is designed that the country shall be furnished once a month (or if any glut of Occurrences happen, oftener) with an Account of such considerable things as have arrived unto our Notice." The "legislative authorities" of the time, however, found some "reflections of a very high nature" in its columns and the Publick Occurrences made no second appearance.

Trace Pedigree for Centuries.
Speaking of old families and family trees, English and Americans who pride themselves on ancestry have reason to envy the Arabs, many of whom can trace their family line back through many centuries by means of authentic documents. Prof. Talcott Williams, an American who was born and spent his youth in Turkey and has traveled much since in oriental countries, says the descendants of Mohammed are numerous all over the Moslem world—in Arabia, Somaliland and East Africa—and that they prove their line by records, which they value highly. There are also many descendants of Abu Bekr, the immediate successor of Mohammed. The leading Moslem family in Jerusalem are the Khalil, descendants of Kakil, who conquered Syria 1,300 years ago and whose descendants have kept their genealogical records intact for all that period.

Waterspout in the Pacific.
A waterspout formed Sunday afternoon off the Haiku coast. The surface of the ocean was agitated until spray and mist formed into a cuplike smoke. Then a fingerlike extension gradually reached down from the cloud, until the two connected in midair. For several minutes the spout must have been from 10 to 15 feet in diameter. It swayed irregularly back and forth, as though unable to support its own weight fully. Also, it was not solid, but a tube of mist and spray, whirling rapidly. Next to the water it was like smoke or dark spray, at the top dark and less transparent, while most of the length was glassy and plainly showed the hollow center. It formed quite slowly and disappeared the same way. This scene was much the same as the dust whirlwinds on the land, only much higher and made of water.

—Waikiki Times.

Beliefs Concerning Friday.

Americans haven't got around to the point of view of the ancient Scandinavians, who called "Frigg's day" the day of the Goddess Frigga, or Freya, the luckiest day of the week; but they are getting more like the Moslems, whose conviction that the sixth day of the week is a pretty average day, after all, is expressed in their belief that it was on Friday that Adam was created, entered paradise, was expelled, repented and fled, and that on Friday will come the day of resurrection.

BAPTISTS TO ERECT ANOTHER HOSPITAL

Dallas, Aug. 10.—A hospital for the care of women and children will be erected immediately by the Baptists of Texas as a part of the Baptist Memorial Sanitarium at Junius and College streets, according to J. B. Franklin, superintendent. The new building will accommodate 150 beds in addition to laboratories and operating rooms, and will be five stories in height. A dispensary to take care of 300 or 400 patients daily will be erected simultaneously by the Baptists also a part of the hospital. Both buildings will be reinforced concrete, with brick veneer, and will cost about $800,000, according to estimates of the architects. Funds for construction of these buildings have been raised in the great medical center campaign put on last winter and in the Baptist $75,000,000 campaign conducted last spring.

The hospital building for women and children will contain provisions for caring for maternity cases and sick children from the time of their birth until they are 2 years old. Diseases of women and children will be studied in the laboratories and the best research possible made on these questions. The building will be erected between the annex and the nurses' home, where an old brick building used as a store room now stands. Work of tearing down the old building will begin tomorrow, and materials for construction will be placed on the grounds. The hospital building will be built in the form of a "T," the top of the letter being 120 feet and the base 100 feet. It will harmonize with the other buildings both in architecture and materials.

The dispensary will be 64x164 feet and will have five floors. With equipment and medical force the sanitarium expects to care for several hundred dispensary patients each day. Patients sick enough for medical attention but not ill enough to go to bed will be treated at this building. This building will contain also the most modern laboratories for research work. Students of Baylor Medical College will use the laboratories, and the building will be used as an enlargement of the college. Excavation for the dispensary situated next to the new building for women and children will begin tomorrow. It is expected the work will be completed by next summer.

The Baptist Memorial Sanitarium consists of four buildings. The main building occupied in 1909, the annex occupied in 1914 and the nurses' home in 1917. The other building is an old building belonging to the college.

ATTEMPT TO ENJOIN MARTIAL LAW FAILS

Galveston, Aug. 10.—Tenure of the National Guard in control at Galveston was prolonged indefinitely when Judge Robert G. Street today at noon sustained the State's exception to the jurisdiction of the Fifty-Sixth District Court in the City Commissioners' suit to enjoin Brigadier General J. F. Wolters and others from further maintenance of martial law here and dismissed the case.

City Attorney Frank S. Anderson gave notice of appeal and obtained the customary permission from the court to have thirty days in which to perfect the appeal. The City Attorney also declared upon adjournment that he will carry the outer suit to the Supreme Court if necessary. City Recorder Henry O'Dell, who was present, but not actively participating in the conduct of the city's case, volunteered the further information that a different line of procedure will be followed.

Hearing of the case lasted about two hours after being first called at 10 o'clock. Dismissal was based purely on the exception to the jurisdiction of the court, presented by Assistant Attorney General E. F. Smith. Judge Street ruled with the State on every point. The court's decision was given after Mr. Anderson had presented an argument of about an hour's duration and was prefaced by the statement that no argument was necessary from Mr. Smith.

The court's decision was based upon the following four points:

"The Governor has the constitutional right to proclaim martial law when it is required for the enforcement of the law."

"He is the exclusive judge of the existence of such conditions as make this necessary. This is a political and not a judicial question."

"This is in substance and effect a suit against the sovereign State of Texas, without the consent of the State."

"The statute of the State, Art. 5732 R. S., prohibits suits by mandamus, injunction, etc., against the executive departments of the State to order or compel the performance of any duty, which by the laws of this State, they or either of them, are authorized to perform."

3,000,000 BUSHEL CROP THIRD TIME IN HISTORY

Washington, Aug. 9.—A three billion bushel corn crop for the third time in the history of the country was forecast today by the Department of Agriculture on the basis of conditions existing August 1. Inasmuch as August is the critical month for the crop in the great corn belt of the Middle West, it is uncertain whether the enormous ones of 1912 and 1917 will be fulfilled.

Spring wheat was adversely affected during July, principally by rust and the production forecast of the crop was reduced 29,000,000 bushels from a month ago, or to a total of 262,000,000 bushels. The preliminary estimate of winter wheat production was 16,000,000 bushels larger than forecast in July, making the combined crop of winter and spring wheat only 14,000,000 bushels smaller than estimated a month ago. The total of 795,000,000 bushels was predicted in today's report.

Indications are that the potato crop will exceed 400,000,000 bushels for the fourth time in the country's history.

The tobacco crop has shown additional improvement and probabilities are that it will exceed the record crop produced in 1918 by about 200,000,000 pounds. Total production is forecast at 1,544,000,000 pounds.

INTERESTS OF TOWN AND COUNTRY ARE MERGED

The resources of the country have built up the trade of the town and the public improvements resulting from this wealth have largely been applied to the betterment of the town itself. This being true, many farmers have come to feel that the townsman is selfish, that he seeks the major benefit from a transaction by fixing the price both on what the farmer has to sell and on what he has to buy.

It has been well said that the solution is to make the country town a real part of country life and develop one program for the upbuilding of both town and country. The life of the town cannot be separated from the life of the country. The interests of town and country merge and cross. If the farmers are thrifty, the towns are thrifty. If the farmers are unthrifty, the towns are likely to be dead. The prosperity of the farms is the soul of the business life of the towns. The business interests, the banker, the merchant, the manufacturer, and all the rest must become alert to the necessity for creating fair and adequate relations with the farmers in their own trade territory, in the interests of their own greatest ultimate gain.—Progressive Farmer.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Young County—Greeting:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to summon H. S. Keating and L. P. Kidd, who are non-residents of the State of Texas, by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the 30th Judicial District, but if there be no newspaper published in said Judicial District, then in a newspaper in the nearest District to said 30th Judicial District, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Young County, to be held at the Court House thereof, in Graham, on the 1st Monday in September, A. D. 1920, the same being the 6th day of September A. D. 1920, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 16th day of June A. D. 1920, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court No. 6199, wherein A. G. Love is Plaintiff, and O. A. McBrayer, C. A. Keating, H. S. Keating, W. E. McLaren, M. K. Graham, W. J. Peck, B. Y. Love, L. P. Kidd, S. R. Crawford, O. O. Walker, E. T. Kirkley, A. B. Milam, E. Milam, and Walter Long are Defendants and said petition alleging that on the 2nd day of July, 1907, Plaintiffs and Defendants by the articles of Association formed a joint stock company for the purpose of ginning cotton and the operating and maintaining of the cotton seed oil mill at Eliasville, Texas, in Young County, under the name of the Union Gin Company of Eliasville, Texas. That it was the original purpose of Plaintiff and Defendants that said Association would remain in force and effect only a sufficient length of time to bring about a merger of said Association into a corporation under the laws of the State of Texas; That is to say that a corporate charter would be applied for by the Plaintiff and Defendants for the purpose of carrying on said gin and oil business and that Plaintiff and Defendants would become financially interested in said corporation in proportion to their financial interest in said Association. That said charter has not been secured and that Defendants have failed and refused to bring about the incorporation of said Union Gin and Oil Company of Eliasville, Texas. That there are now outstanding large debts, for which said Association is liable and that said Association is unable to pay same. That said Association is indebted to Plaintiff in the sum of Two Hundred and no 100 Dollars for Sixty-five tons of cotton seed at $20.00 per ton, together with interest in amount of $720.00 on said amount from March 1910, to date at rate of 6 per cent per annum. That the only manner of making a division of said partnership assets is by sale of the whole and division of proceeds. That the said B. B. Ward has transferred stock held by him to the Defendants C. A. Keating and H. A. Keeting of Dallas county; and that they are now the owners thereof; that the stock of O. O. Walker has been transferred to S. R. Crawford who is the owner thereof; that the Defendants be cited to appear and answer herein and for a dissolution of said Association, for an order of sale of the assets of same for the purpose of paying the outstanding and unpaid indebtedness and for a division of the remaining proceeds among the parties hereto according to their respective interests, all of which is fully set out in Plaintiff's Original Petition and referred to, and for such other and further relief, special and general, etc., etc.

Herein Fall Not, but have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Witness, Willie Riggs, Clerk of the District Court of Young County.

Given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in (L.S.) Graham, Texas, this the 4th day of August A. D. 1920.

PIERSON GIVES VIEWS ON COURT

Greenville, Aug. 13.—Concerning the second primary, Judge William Pierson, winner in the first primary for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court said today:

"The returns of the State Executive Committee show that, in the first primary I am the plurality candidate for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court by more than 23,000, and the full and more complete tabulated vote as compiled and given out by the Election Bureau shows my plurality to be 24,853. These last figures are in almost exact accord with the full tabulation compiled at my home, personally received from over the State. Just here I want to compliment the Texas Election Bureau in this matter.

"These splendid figures would indicate and foretell that most likely I will be nominated in the second primary August 28.

"Many think and feel that when a candidate wins a substantial plurality in a fair and equal race over so large a State as Texas that he should have the nomination without further expense or effort. Two years ago I acted on this principle myself when I was second. In any event now that I am winner by a large plurality, lacking only 33,000 votes of a clear majority, I indulge the hope of winning the second primary by an overwhelming majority.

"My campaign has been conducted on a high plane. I have now the support of Judge Key, one of my former opponents, and of his campaign manager, D. K. Woodward, Jr., of Austin, and in a public statement given out by Mr. Woodward he says in reference to me: "He has conducted his campaign in such a manner that his success leaves no trace of bitterness, and it will be a pleasure as well a discharge of a public duty to give him my support."

"I believe the people of our great State accord me as being qualified, fitted and worthy, as evidenced by the splendid vote and also by the fact that the attorneys of more than a hundred leading counties of the State have indorsed my candidacy, and I believe I have the approval and confidence of the entire bar and of the people.

"I believe the judiciary should be kept out of politics. I have most persistently avoided any personal or political controversy—in fact, have lived up to my slogan: 'Judicial, not political,' and am in position to see the good will and support of all the people of the State, whatever their creed, or personal affiliations."

FOURTH-CLASS POST
MASTER EXAMINATION

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination to be held at Graham, Texas, on August 28, 1920, as a result of which it is expected to make verification to fill a contemplated vacancy in the position of fourth-class postmaster at South Bend, Texas, and other vacancies as they may occur at that office, unless it shall be decided in the interests of the service to fill any vacancy by reinstatement. The compensation of the postmaster at this office was $200 for the last fiscal year.

Applicants must have reached their twenty-first birthday on the date of the examination.

Applicants must reside within the territory supplied by the post office which the examination is announced.

Application blanks, Form 1753, and full information concerning the requirements of the examination can be secured from the postmaster at the place of vacancy or from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

Applications should be properly executed and filed with the Commission at Washington, D. C., at the earliest practical date.

TEACHERS EXAMINATION

There will be a special examination for teachers' certificates at the court house in Graham August 23 and 24.

There is such a shortage of teachers in the State that the State Superintendent of Public Instruction is giving several special examinations this year in order to give as many as possible the opportunity to take the examinations. It is a violation of the school laws of Texas for any one to teach in the public schools without a valid certificate.

STATE FAIR TO HAVE

Neighboring Republic Already At Work on Plans For This Event

National Exhibit, the great fair is itself that the neighboring republic to the south sends—and only on rare occasions—to visit foreign soil.

The Mexican exhibit will be one of the rarest and most entertaining features ever offered by the State Fair. It will include showings from every state in the Mexican union portraying the industrial and agricultural production of Mexico, and the unbound raw resources of that nation. This exhibit will occupy the entire outer space of the State Fair Coliseum building.

As a part of the guard of honor that will accompany the exhibit, Mexico will send one of her world-famous bands. There are three of these bands in Mexico City, all noted musical organizations.

Senor Luis Lupian, special representative of General Jacinto B. Trevino, secretary of the Department of Industry and Commerce, visited Mr. Stratton and the State Fair recently, and spent two days in going over plans for the event. He returned to Mexico, and his visit and its results met with the entire approval of his superior, as General Trevino's department has already notified each Mexican state of plans made, and giving them their assignments.

WOMEN GIVEN FRANCHISE; ENDS LONG BATTLE

Washington, Aug. 18.—The women's seventy-one years' battle is won!

Approximately 26,883,566 women become full-fledged voters through the act of the Tennessee Legislature today in ratifying the nineteenth amendment to the United States Constitution, and a political factor to disturb the politicians of the country.

Less than one-half of the 26,883,566 voting as a unit, can control the political destinies of the Nation next November. They will decide what part they will play in the Nation's affairs and whether a new era has begun—an era of petticoat political power—remaining to be seen.

Women throughout the world will join their newly franchised sisters of America in celebrating the victory. A great jubilation is planned for October. It will be held in the rotunda of the Capitol and will be the occasion of presenting to the Government marble busts of Susan B. Anthony, Lucretia Mott and Elizabeth Cady Stanton—the three women who began the struggle and died in it.

President Wilson may take part. All the women's organizations of the country will join in making it an historic event.

The amendment added to the Constitution today has been before Congress longer than any other successful amendment. It was in 1875 that Susan B. Anthony made the first draft of it. Three years later it was introduced in the United States Senate by Senator Sargent of California. From 1887 to 1913 it lay in Congress without action or even debate. It was not until June 4, 1919, thirty-one years after it had gone before Congress, that the amendment was finally passed.

FARM BOYS SPECIAL
AGAIN IN DIXIE

Groote, Va., Aug. 18.—The spirits of the Texas Farm Boys and their jaded elders fairly soared today when day break found them in Dixieland after ten days journeying among people living north of the Mason and Dixon line.

Grottoes lies in the heart of the famous Shenandoah Valley, scene of Stonewall Jackson's greatest campaigns, and is near the famous Weyers cave, which the tourists visited.

The party left at 9 o'clock for the Natural Bridge for a four-hour stop.

IN CROWDED QUARTERS

Washington, Aug. 18.—The shortage of houses and apartments in the United States is getting to be a very serious matter, according to Chief Engineer Chase of the United States Housing corporation. A careful investigation of housing conditions in this country reveals that the nation is short five million houses and apartments, resulting in approximately 25,000,000 persons in this country living temporarily in crowded unsanitary quarters. Chief Engineer Chase sees no hope for increased building activity in the coming year because of labor and material shortage and his prediction is that rents will continue to soar this winter.

R. G. Taylor supplied The Leader force with mustard seed last week.
He has a large supply of fresh seed on hand. Mr. Taylor believes in cutting out the H. C. L. by raising as much as possible at home. He has been kind enough to bring samples of his vegetables to The Leader office to demonstrate his and Mrs. Taylor's ability as gardeners.

week one of his famous New Guinea Butter Beans raised in his yard. We

The bean displayed this week is 33 longer than this one but he is saving the best for seed.

E. S. Taylor was in the city this week visiting relatives. He has just returned from overseas where he has been in the service of the government

States into the world war. He returned yesterday to San Antonio where he will resume his place with the army.

Miss White, of Dallas, who is one of the leaders in the educational affairs of Texas, was in the city last week. She said good work has been done in the rural schools of Young county. She further stated that only a few counties in the State had received more State aid than this county. It goes to show that the County Superintendent is alert and that good men are serving as trustees of our rural schools.

R. W. Dooley and E. M. Hall were here from South Bend yesterday.
They said the Graham and South Bend road had been dragged since the rain and is now in excellent condition. The road from South Bend to Eliasville, by way of the Stovall Plantation and the Graham ranch, is not so good. The Clear Fork river has been up for the past several days and all travel to Eliasville must be by the Stovall Plantation.

NOTICE

When Dr. D. V. York was here in the meeting he took quite a number of orders for a book, "All About the Bible," by Sidney Collet. These names were turned over to me, and in some way I got them misplaced.
If those who ordered the books will let me know I shall be glad to get them to you. Sorry that I lost the names of parties buying, but I just did.

T. E. BOWMAN.

SOME FEAT

The Red Cross doctor was examining a doughboy who had been badly wounded in both hands.

The boy surveyed his injured members ruefully.

"Do you think I'll be able to play the piano when I get well?" he asked.

"Certainly you'll be able to play the piano," said the doctor emphatically.

"That's funny," remarked the soldier, "I never could play one before."

DR. L. W. PRICE RETURNS HOME

Dr. Price left five weeks ago to take a post graduate course in medicine in New York City. He went by way of St. Louis, Chicago, Niagara Falls, Canada.

He enjoyed his return trip by water.
He took boat at New York and was on ship six days, landing at New Orleans. He says he did not get seasick but that soon after leaving New York he became "homesick."

He enjoyed his trip but is glad to get back home.

Miss Lillie May Calvin went to Belton today to return with her friend, Miss Mildred Tidwell, who is in school at Belton.

REV. G. W. BLACK CATCHES CAR THIEF

A few nights ago Rev. G. W. Black was awakened by a noise out at his garage. He has heard so much about cars and Fords being stolen that he was sure some one was trying to make away with his Ford. He had some trouble in arousing the members of his family but after some time all were awake and hunting for guns.
A No. 16 shot gun was found and No.
12 shells. His son, John was endeavoring to place the No. 12 shells in the
No. 16 gun, not being able to do so one of the daughters found the proper shells.
Bro. Black and his son both armed with guns by this time made a rush for the garage where the noise was still going on.
On reaching the spot where he supposed he would bring down the thief he found a roll of wire between a corrugated iron shed and a chicken coop.
Fastened in this roll of wire was a calf which was trying to extricate himself by kicking. The movement of the calf caused the wire to rub against the corrugated iron shed which produced a sound that sounded to Brother Black like the sound produced by a thief trying to crank a Ford car.

Bro. Black is now an experienced car thief catcher and offers his services to anyone needing his services along this line.

A GREAT CONFLAGRATION; ORPHANAGE DORMITORY BURNS

About nine o'clock Monday night the fire alarm was sounded, and the news spread like wildfire that the Reynolds Presbyterian Orphanage is on fire, and throngs of people flocked to the scene, but all of no avail, too late to check or stay the mad flames, and the structure went up in smoke. It was almost a total loss, no insurance, and nothing to speak of was saved, only a few chairs and music box. The origin of the fire is unknown, it was first discovered in Mrs. Smith's room, but after discovery it was too late to do anything but get the children out. The larger girls were just preparing to put the smaller children to bed, and this was fortunate, as they had them all in hand, and thus the building was soon cleared of its precious human life. It was a fortunate thing that it occurred at this early hour; had it been midnight or later, in all probability many lives would have been lost. It was a frame structure in which all the girls were domiciled, the dining room and kitchen were attached to this building, and a store room for all provisions. This structure was a total loss, no insurance, and the value of it was about thirty-five thousand dollars. Insurance companies would not issue a policy on the building.

"I had stomach trouble and nervous indigestion for twenty years," he continued. "Five years ago I got in such bad shape that everything I ate caused me terrible suffering from gas and at times I could hardly breathe. I had a stuffy feeling all the time and was so constipated I had to keep taking laxatives. My head ached sometimes like it would simply burst and I became so weak and run-down it looked like I would have to give up my work entirely.

"A friend of mine had tried Tanlac and recommended it so highly I decided to take it, too, and, believe me, I found it to be a real medicine. In three days my appetite began to improve and my stomach got better. I kept on improving and now I eat anything I want, have gained eleven pounds and never have stomach trouble, headaches or constipation any more. I never felt better in my life and it is a real pleasure to recommend Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Graham by Sloan Drug Co., and in Newcastle by Leon Slaughter & Co.

be here soon, all too soon. And in the building of this structure, we must lay the foundation for all future needs of this great institution, yes we must house these children at once, and make preparation for the hundreds of orphan children all over this land who are clamoring for a home, where the minds can be polished, and where they can have the advantages of moral and religious training. It's a duty that we cannot shirk, and let's get busy at the job, and make the Reynolds Presbyterian Orphanage a home and refuge for the unfortunate, as it is a field fraught with great possibilities. The most glorious work on earth is the making of men and women, and this orphanage is our opportunity.

The fire company responded quickly but they got there too late to save the building, as it went up like a powder house. Some one said that Grover Cleveland did a heroic act when he climbed a ladder to kick a window open up stairs, it being so hot that the ladder caught on fire while Grover was going up same. Mother Smith was away on a visit, and we are quite sure that it was a great blow to her, as she is devoted to the children and the home, and all her personal effects were burned up in the fire.

Now, folks, we have got a job on our hands, and it's a job that has to be done at once. The Reynolds Orphanage must have a new dormitory, and we must build one for the present and future needs. And above everything else on earth, it must be fire proof, and so let's all put our shoulders to the wheel and get busy, as fall and winter time is going to

FOREMAN TELLS ABOUT TROUBLE

Had Suffered For Twenty Years—Gains Eleven Pounds and Is Restored to Health

"For two years before I began taking Tanlac my health was so bad I lost two or three hours from work every day, but since taking five bottles of the medicine I am as fine health as I ever was in my life," said C. H. Melton, construction foreman for the Western Union Telegraph Co., living at 8336 Tracy Avenue, Kansas City, Mo.

"I had stomach trouble and nervous indigestion for twenty years," he continued. "Five years ago I got in such bad shape that everything I ate caused me terrible suffering from gas and at times I could hardly breathe. MARGUERITE CLARK LOSES

Don't have your wedding announced in the newspapers until you are really married. That's the moral, if any, of Marguerite Clark's latest photoplay, "All-of-a-Sudden Peggy," which is coming to the National Theatre during the first part of the week. Peggy is anxious to marry her mother to an English lord, who is a bug on science. So is Peggy's widowed mother. But the good lady refuses to consider marriage until her vivacious little daughter is settled for life in double harness.

Peggy thinks it's too good a match to fail through. So she picks upon the scientist's younger brother, an irreproachable and innocent young man, and announces that she has eloped with him. The complications that follow can be imagined. But Irish quick wit helps out and it all ends happily.

Marguerite Clark is, of course, Peggy and Jack Mullhall is the husband drafted for herself. The picture is a Paramount Aircraft and was directed by Walter Edwards.
