EGG-LAYING CONTEST AT STATE FAIR POULTRY SHOW

One of the novelties afforded by the State Fair of Texas season for 1920 will be the Egg-Laying Contest conducted on the grounds by the Poultry Department. It promises to be the center of interest for that section of the big exposition.

The plans for this event include the entry of fifteen pens of six females each. These will be brought into the department the opening day of the Fair, October 9, and placed judges only, and decisions made on the final day of the State Fair season, October 24. The contest is expected to bring into competition some of the finest laying breeds known to American fanciers.

In addition to this event, the regular program for the poultry and pet stock department of the Fair promises much. The premiums are very liberal, and entries are already coming in at a rapid rate. S. T. Morgay is director in charge, and Walte. Burton is superintendent.

ON TRAIL OF MISBRANDERS OF INFERIOR PEST POISON

Calcium arsenate is the best poison to control the cotton boll weevil-and it must be just right or it will kill the cotton. Last year a great deal of poor calcium arsenate was on the market. Some of it contained so much watersoluble arsenic that it would kill the cotton and some of it contained so little arsenic that it would not kill the weevils. This year the United States Department of Agriculture, acting of 1910, is bending every effort tocheck up all shipments of calcium arsenate for use in control of the boll weevil. The Insecticide and Fungicide Board has sent into the South all inspectors who can reasonably be spared from other work, and it is in the seizure of all shipments that are found by the board to be injurious but he is also subject to criminal prosare seized, and the criminal prosecution at the point from which the goods are shipped.

TELEPHONE FACTS

It Costs More to Furnish Telephone Service Today Than It Did a Few Years Ago.

The cost of all materials and labor has increased in the past few years, but telephone rates have remained fixed.

It is now imperative that telephone rates be slightly increased in order to meet the changed conditions.

We have not been earning anything like a reasonable return and we must increase the rate to our patrons to a point where we can earn a small return on the investment.

The new rate will not yield a reasonable return, but it is imperative that we increase the rate to a point where we will not suffer a loss. The readjustment of telephone rates, however, is nothing like that in other lines, proportionately, but they will enable us to survive and properly fulfill our obligations to the public.

Increases in cost of materials, increases in cost of operation, increases in cost of all labor must increase the cost of telephone service.

Facts About Corn Culture. The tribes of North America saw the possibilities of corn and hastened its evolution. There has been crossnoticed in the air for more than breeding by white farmers, yet, as a matter of fact, the corn culture of the present day is practically as it came from the hand of the Indian. He has adapted and modified it to various sections of the country by a process of careful selection.

Recently it occurred to some scientists that despite the drawback of the weather the Mandan Indians of the North were raising corn. An expedition made a study of the agricultural methods of the Mandans, and it developed that for centuries the farmers of the tribes had been developing a hardy corn. The seed had been selected from year to year from stalks which showed no effect from frost.

Was Here Before Columbus.

On a farm near Rosewell, N. M., is an irrigation ditch, or rather a raised irrigation ditch, which is one of the oldest evidences of man's inventive powers on this continent. It was built centuries before Columbus learned navigation. The walls of the canal are believed to have been made of sediment taken from a nearby spring, a claylike material that exposure to the air has made as hard as stone.

The making of two blades of grass to grow where but one grew before through irrigation is a very ancient practice. It was carried on crudely by the Egyptians at least as early as 2,000 B. C .- Popular Science Monthly.
