Several months ago the Rock Island ran a special train over its road under the title of the "Silo Special." Aboard this train were many experienced stock farmers, besides Mr. Wm. Ganzer, United States Agricultural Agent, with headquarters at Sherman, Texas.

Upon the occasion of the visit of the train to Graham, Mr. Ganzer, among other things, advised the farmers of this section to try "feterita," a new feed crop.

The Reporter published at that time quite a bit in regard to this feed and the article attracted the attention of Mr. W. L. Wheat, at Memphis, Texas, who is a successful raiser of feterita. He sent us some sample heads of the feed and stated in a letter to us that he could furnish the seed in any quantity. To order in small lots would have been costly, so The Reporter stated to its farmer friends that it would take orders for feterita and allow them to order just as little or as much as they desired, and sell the seed to them at actual cost.

We anticipated having to order about two or three hundred pounds, but before many weeks had passed the amount grew to a thousand pounds. This was ordered and most of it has been delivered, but a second order of several hundred pounds has been necessary to accommodate all those who want to try this new feed crop.

The orders varied in amounts from five pounds to a bushel, and in all something near seventy-five farmers of this section will try feterita this year.

We trust the crop will make good. It has been highly recommended, and if it proves to be anything near as good as represented it will beat anything heretofore raised in Young or adjoining counties.

The people of Young county are discussing the question of combining several of the county school districts into one, so as to have larger and better schools over the county. It is an excellent scheme, and if carried out the result will be better service at a reduced cost. It must not be forgotten, though, that to make it work satisfactorily good roads are essential. —Graford Herald.

Drinking When Off Duty.

There is much discussion in several states concerning the need of enacting an employee's liability bill and eventually some suitable measure will be evolved out of the mass of proposed laws. However, there is one liability which employees of transportation companies who are responsible for the safety of human life should be ready to assume, and that is absolute sobriety. When men enter into certain vocations they should be willing to make the sacrifices demanded by the employment. Some time back there was a great deal of fuss made because an English railroad discharged an engineer who had been arrested for being drunk when off duty. It was argued that when off duty the engineer had a perfect right to get drunk. Such arguments are fallacious. Engineers have a responsibility beyond simply putting in so many hours while running so many miles. They have in their care hundreds of lives, and when they go on duty they should not be under the influence of liquor drunk when off duty. The officials of all leading railroads in the United States demand that their train employees be temperate, and they are right in making this requirement. Train men do not drink when on duty, but by over-indulging while off duty they at times go on duty in no condition to be responsible for the safety of others. They may not be drunk, but they may not be in proper mental or physical condition to properly discharge their duties. When men enter the ministry they must make sacrifices. Those who become true physicians must also make many sacrifices, therefore those who are entrusted with the safety of human life should be willing to forego any imaginary joys they might derive from drinking intoxicating liquors. The number of accidents on railroads during a year is something appalling, and many of the accidents can be traced to intemperance—when off duty at that. There is a whole lot of maudlin sentiment about "personal liberty." Common sense and the right of others is paramount to the personal liberty of any individual, and as times change we find more demand for clear-headed men in places of trust and responsibility. So when considering the liability of employer and employee the right of employers to require that their employees shall be sober at all times should be taken into account. Banks discharge clerks who are found to be gamblers. Why, then, should not transportation companies be permitted to demand that at all times those who endanger life and limb by drinking shall be discharged?

PLOW BOY'S WAR CLOUDS vs. SALEMITE'S SOUNDWAVES

Did you all see and hear the sound waves hit my war clouds last week? My! wasn't that a terrific collision?

Rip Vanwinkle slept for 20 years and awoke but Salemite went to sleep in the year 1648 and is still snoozing. He absolutely refuses to open his eyes and take notice of the passing events of the twentieth century but seems familiar with events that transpired 250 to 300 years ago. Salemite that is too far back for me and I've a mind to "take out" right here and wait till you "wake up" and "catch up" and get ready to deal with the present time.

My dear Salemite, if you had told us in the last paragraph of your soundwaves, instead of the second, that you had read about the big guns and little guns I should have been surprised, but as it is I—well I am surprised anyway. I am surprised my dear Salemite that you are so far behind the times, and if it wasn't so serious I would stop right here and s-t-s-nigg... Why, Salemite, I have wished that I might sit at your feet and "learn of you" but "alas! all my fond hopes are vanished." And then you go out of your head and talk about the Rip Saw, the Snag Puller and Appeal to Reason. Aren't those socialist papers Salemite? Look out now or I will catch you in bad company.

For your benefit Salemite, I will state that I get my "Catholic thunder" out of such papers as The Menace, printed at Aurora, Mo., which has only one million circulation, and whose editor, J. F. Coss, denies being a socialist; and the Liberator, printed at Magnolia, Ark., whose editor, J. A. Scarboro, is a Baptist preacher, who wrote the strongest indictment against socialism I ever read. So there is the "mare's nest" you thought you had found. You thought you had made the wonderful discovery that Plow Boy was a socialist; didn't you Salemite?

Funny isn't it, that some people charge all reforms to the socialists? And then I read books on the subject of Catholicism. I have some two or three that I would just love to lend you Salemite, because I sure do feel sorry for you. It seems that the last Salemite heard against the Catholics was in 1648. He seems to think that when the protestants thrashed them and the treaty of Westphalia was signed that Rome was whipped for good. But the truth is, Rome is no more ready today to give up the idea of converting, or rather of compelling, the whole world to bow the knee to Catholicism than she was when the treaty of Angsburg was signed in 1555—beg pardon dear reader for going so far back, but I must refer to these ancient historical periods in order to interest my friend, Salemite.

But my friend Salemite must either forget, purposely overlook or ignore the "Spanish Inquisition" which was established in 1480 and proceeded to carry out the object of their new enterprise. That object was to keep people from thinking.

They began business in 1481 and that year burned 2,000 Moors and Jews in Seville and Cardiffe alone. From the start down to 1808 the Inquisitors burned alive 31,912 human beings and imprisoned 291,450; making a total of 341,021 victims in Spain alone. Thus for 327 years this awful Inquisition existed, and nobody will ever know the full amount of misery caused among men during its existence. This inhuman Inquisition was abolished by Napoleon on December 3, 1808, just 160 years after Salemite went to sleep.

Salemite jumps onto me with both feet because he seems to think me insincere when I advocate freedom in religious worship, and takes me to task for jumping onto Roman Catholics. I will undertake to show that Catholicism is more political than religious, and therefore should be dealt with as a political and money making machine.

Now, come, Salemite, wake up and listen! We are going to deal with nineteenth and twentieth century facts. The first witness I will put on the stand is Salemite's statement: He admits that the German fought the Catholic thirty-eight years in order that he might be allowed to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience. Then he says there was another war in Europe between the Protestants and Catholics, lasting from 1618 to 1648, which is thirty more years of bloodshed to be placed on the ledger of time against Catholicism: A total of sixty-eight years admitted by Salemite, and as Rome boasts that she never changes why should we feel so secure against war with her?

My next witness—the sixth, seventh and eighth clauses of the oath of Salemite's friends, the Jesuits, listen! "I do further promise and declare that I will have no opinion or will of my own or mental reservation, whatsoever, even as a corpse or cadaver (perinde ac cadaver) but will unhesitatingly obey each and every command that I may receive from my superiors in the militia of the Pope and of Jesus Christ.

"That I will go to any part of the world whithersoever I may be sent. To the frozen regions of the north, to the burning sands of the desert of Africa, or the jungles of India. To the centers of civilization of Europe, or to the wild haunts of the barbarous savages of America, without murmuring or repining and will be submissive in all things whatsoever communicated to me.

"I do further promise and declare that I will, when opportunity presents, make and wage relentless war, secretly and openly, against all heretics, Protestants and Liberals, as I am directed to do. To extirpate them from the face of the whole earth; and that I will spare neither age, sex or condition; and that I will hang, burn, waste, boil, flay, strangle and bury alive these infamous heretics; rip open the stomachs and wombs of their women, and crush their infant's heads against the walls in order to annihilate their execrable race. That when the same can not be done openly I will secretly use the poisonous cup, the strangulation cord, the steel of the poinard or the leaden bullet, regardless of the horror, rank dignity or authority of the person. Whatever may be their condition in life, either public or private, as I may at any time be directed so to do, by any agent of the Pope or superior of the Brotherhood of the Holy Father of the Society of Jesus."

The above oath was copied from The Liberator of August 29, 1912.

Thus reads a part of the Jesuitical oath. These are the good Catholic missionaries Salemite tells us about, and the oath they take shows why they endure such hardships. But dear reader, do you think the work of a Christian? And do you think they are entitled to be called the church of a just and righteous God?

The oath of the Knights of Columbus is the same as the Jesuitical oath with the following added: "That I will in voting always vote for a Knight of Columbus in preference to a Protestant—especially a Mason—and that I will leave my party so to do; that if two Catholics are on the ticket I will satisfy myself which is the better supporter of the mother church and vote accordingly.

"That I will not deal with or employ a Protestant if in my power to deal with or employ a Catholic. That I will place Catholic girls in Protestant families of heretics.

"That I will provide myself with arms and ammunition that I may be in readiness when the word is passed, or I am commanded to defend the church, either as an individual or with the militia of the Pope."

See any politics in that Salemite? Do you really think Catholicism deserves the name of "church?"

If Romanism was in complete control of these United States do you really think people would be allowed to worship God according to the dictates of their own conscience? Do you not think any organization calling itself a church and claiming to be the only church that has any part in the true Church of Christ is dangerous. Did you ever hear of a Protestant school of any denomination that was closed to inspection?

As to war, will say it is already on, in a way, and with the editor's permission I will undertake in a subsequent chapter to "show" you. Meanwhile Salemite, let me ask you to read up. Get some unuzzled papers. Do not depend upon the associated press for information. The associated press is controlled by Catholicism. Lay aside old dust covered Roman compiled histories.

HOW I PLANT AND CULTIVATE MAIZE AND KAFIR CORN.

There are no doubt many farmers in this section of the country who have attempted to raise maize and kafir corn, and who, from lack of experience with the crop, have only attained ordinary success in growing it.

In order to help them obtain a better understanding of the planting and growing of these feed crops, we have asked a number of successful farmers over the country to write us their experience with these two crops. We believe this information will be valuable, not only to the man who has made a partial success, but to those who have never planted and would like definite information before attempting it. The information given in these letters will be the best that can be had, as it deals with conditions at home, conditions that every farmer here are familiar with.

We extend an invitation to every farmer who has successfully raised these two feed crops to write his experience with them and send to us for publication. We believe the information will be helpful to your neighbor. Write immediately as planting time is near, and we want to get as many letters as possible before the planting season opens.

To those who have already written us we extend our sincere thanks. The letters will appear each week from now on until all have been printed.

West Texas Reporter,
Graham, Texas.

Kind Sirs:

In compliance with your request I will give the readers a few pointers on planting and cultivating milo maize and kafir corn. The preparation and cultivation of the two plants should be similar but the kafir corn should be planted several times thicker than the milo maize, for reasons given below:

As to preparation of ground, I first break my land as early as convenient, following it up with section harrow and then wait until time to plant, which will depend on the seasons. But will say about the first of April. I then take my riding planter with large sweep or lister to open up the deep furrow about three and one half feet a part in which I plant the seed, covering about an inch in moist earth. I prefer running a press wheel behind the plows if the ground is inclined to be dry. If the ground be reasonably warm the plants will be coming up in about six days. Should it rain and the ground become baked, take some kind of a device that will loosen up the top of the ground over the plants. I use pretty well worn out cotton sweeps, eight or ten inches wide. Have three holes drilled in them, putting steel teeth in the holes, about two or three inches long, fasten them on the back foot pieces of my cultivator, thus taking two rows at a time.

When up large enough to bear a little dirt, harrow if ground is mellow; if ground be run together it is better to use slide cultivator, or as some term it the "go devil." In about fifteen days later plow with cultivator, using four shovels, the front ones being about three inches wide and the back ones about eight inches wide.

Plow again in about fifteen or twenty days with cultivator, using ordinary shovel plows, which will leave the plant on a ridge.

This as a general rule is sufficient cultivation though if the ground becomes baked from rains it will pay to run through between the rows with a large sweep. I sometimes list the ground, instead of breaking, where the ground is loose and mellow from previous cultivation, running a shovel plow in the same furrows on the back feet of a cultivator, two rows at a time. Rebed in a short time, back on these furrows, which makes a loose, mellow seed-bed. Then plant as before using a plate in the planter with small holes in it, made for that purpose, stopping up some of the holes in the plate for maize, so as to drop four to five seed about eighteen inches apart. This gives the plants room to make large heads, as the grain is the only consideration with me in planting maize, the stalk being worthless as a stock feed.

Kafir corn is one of our best forage crops, therefore I plant it several times thicker than I do maize, so that the stalks will not grow so large, thereby increasing the quantity, also the quality of the feed. Stock will eat all of it if properly harvested.

Yours truly,
J. W. COX.

Murray, Texas.
Editor West Texas Reporter,
Dear Sir:

Your recent favor received and contents noted. In reply as to how I plant and cultivate kafir corn or maize. Will say that I have never raised much kafir corn as I find it requires about as much rain as corn but have raised a good deal of the maize.

I prepare the ground as I would for corn putting the seed bed in as good condition as I can. I prefer planting with the lister planter, as it stands the drouth better and is easier cultivated. I always plant dwarf maize. I prefer the brown, for while the white is earlier it has not made as good yield for me. I always want to plant as early as corn planting time and want the season in the ground to bring it up at time of planting for if it doesn't come up in about five days, there is not apt to be a good stand.

I put one or two seed in a place, 12 or 14 inches apart in the row, the rows about the same width as corn. Never cover deep or it wont come up. I cover about like cotton seed. When it is up enough I run the section harrow with the rows once or twice, then use the cultivator two or three times, so as to have the furrow filled up. At the last plowing don't plow too deep, nor when the ground is too dry, in fact one must use his brain as well as his muscle in raising this crop as well as any other in Texas.

Maize will make a fair crop on land that is too dry and thin to bring much corn, but of course it does better on damp rich soil, and should be planted thicker on such land. I always harvest with the row binder as it is cheaper than heading, and I find that if properly handled, the stock eats a larger per cent of the stalks. The heads should be thoroughly ripe before harvesting. It will fatten all kinds of stock if you give them plenty of it, and while there is no feed as good as corn it is the next thing to it and the surest crop we have in this part of Texas.

I have never had it to fail in all the years I have been raising it, and have raised as high as 45 bushels per acre.

In saving your seed it is best to go to the field with a cotton sack before cutting and select the best heads that grow on the stalks of the proper height. By doing so you can greatly increase the yield and keep it dwarfed. Never use seed that have had sorghum grown near it as the hybrid is no good.

Yours respectfully,
THOS. PRICE.

Bitter Creek.

A short time ago the neighborhood boys played the school boys a very interesting game of football. The score stood 2 to 3 in favor of the neighborhood boys.

Messrs. B. J. Booker and H. L. Groner attended a literary in Jack county Friday night, January 23. They report that they had a most enjoyable time, and also report that they carried off the laurels.

We have re-organized our Sunday school, with Mr. J. J. Gray, superintendent, and Miss Ruth Gray, secretary-treasurer. Our attendance and interest are exceedingly good. We will give a box supper February 21st for the purpose of buying an organ for the church and Sunday school. Every body is most cordially invited to attend. Girls, come with many full boxes. Boys, come with a full pocket-book, a free heart and a relishing appetite.

Mr. R. (Rube) Loftin, candidate for county treasurer, made the Sunday school a nice talk Sunday, February 1st. We appreciate Mr. Loftin's presence.

Mr. R. Roberts now occupies the house that was vacated by Mr. J. Parker.

Messrs. Robert Hammond and George Wilborn were in Olney Saturday.

Messrs. G. F. Gray, H. O. Gray, and M. L. Gilmore were in Megargel Saturday.

Miss Ethel Wainscott visited Mrs. M. L. Gilmore Tuesday night.

The singing at Mr. Hampton's last Sunday night was well attended and all reported a nice time.

Miss Laverne Barrie of Olney visited home folks last week.

Master Harvey Gray visited his grandmother, Mrs. R. M. Echols, a few days this week.

Mesdames M. L. Gilmore and G. F. Gray called at Mrs. M. E. Rogers' Wednesday.

Most of the farmers have almost completed their preparations for the 1914 crop.

Mr. B. B. Wainscott planted corn Wednesday.

We are sorry to report Mrs.

J. F. Smith sick this week.

Our literary was well attended Friday, January 30. Our program consisted of several nice readings, an address by Bro. J. L. McCord, and the debate, which reached a lively discussion. The question was, "Resolved that Texas Should Adopt Compulsory Education for Four Consecutive Months in the Scholastic Year and from the Ages of Seven to Fourteen."

We had with us the following teachers: Messrs. Joe Shelton, D. B. Wood, J. F. Kilpatrick, D. K. Lyon, J. W. Vaughan and Superintendent B. W. King.

Superintendent B. W. King visited our school on Friday, January 30. He made a splendid talk to the children and visitors that were present. He gave us much encouragement along school lines. He stated he was well pleased with the progress of our school. We are glad to have Mr. King with us and invite him back at all times.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Wilborn enjoyed a "42" game at Mr. M. E. Rogers' Saturday night.

Messrs. H. O. Gray, H. L. Groner, B. J. Booker and Miss Eustace Driggers enjoyed a very interesting game of Progressive Rook at Mr. Lambert's Saturday night.

Your Cotton Will Come Up Standing Like This When Planted With the LEDBETTER "One Seed" Corn and Cotton Planter

COME in and see the only real cotton planter. The planter with a positive, precise force feed, that will take liny cotton seed, just as it comes from the gin, and plant the seed in a straight, narrow line—one at a time, equal distances apart—as regular as buttons on a card.

Other planters can be set to plant "thick or thin", but this planter will plant thick—a bushel or more of seed to the acre—without bunching, or thin-down to a bushel to six acres—without skips.

Each plant stands alone with its own few inches of growing room—cuts the work of chopping down to one-half and you can take your own time about chopping—plants keep on growing and make stocky, vigorous bushes.

When you plant your cotton with a Ledbetter "One Seed" Corn and Cotton Planter—one seed at a time, evenly spaced—you can plant the best seed that money can buy at no more cost than ordinary seed, because none are wasted in useless bunching. And you get 5 bales of cotton on the same land that grew only 4 before, because there are no skips in the row.

When the Ledbetter "One Seed" Corn and Cotton Planter is set for planting corn, it is strictly a corn planter, without an equal for that purpose—dropping without fail a single grain at any distance desired from 8 to 48 inches. And it plants peas, kafir corn, milo maize and other similar seeds with the same regularity and precision, and with peanut planting attachment, peanuts large or small, shelled or in the shell.

A double guarantee is behind every Ledbetter "One Seed" Lister Planter. That of the manufacturers, The Southern Plow Co., Dallas, Texas, and ourselves. Not only guaranteeing it as a planter, but as a powerful, strong, effective lister.

COME IN TODAY—We want you to see this planter whether you intend buying a planter now or not.

Mid-winter White Sale

Commencing Friday, Feb. 13th and Closing Saturday, Feb. 21st

THESE DATES will mark a special period of buying opportunity for every housewife living in or near Graham. This season is a particularly good one for the selection of undermuslins, linen goods and those materials which enter into the making of useful household equipment and personal apparel.

Our lines carry a freshness that makes it unnecessary to emphasize the fact that the merchandise comes direct from the big market and represents the products of the best manufacturers. We believe that we can safely say that we go further than any other store in the community to obtain merchandise which allows us to tell you—"quality compared with quality our prices are as low or lower than you can secure elsewhere, every article is bought and sold on its merit."

In addition to the satisfying service in such lines as linens, Puritan undermuslins, Zion laces, Constance embroideries, etc., at our prices there will be correspondingly good values throughout the other departments of our store. Read with care all the descriptions and prices of the items mentioned. We can list only a part here. Come in during the first days of the sale and early in the day if possible. Let us show you some of the extra good bargains which we have to offer.

PURITAN UNDERMUSLINS

Our Puritan undermuslin line includes corset covers, petticoats, princess slips, combinations, drawers and night gowns. The Puritan brand for several reasons maintains the lead among popular priced lines. The materials used are durable, pure white soft finished fabrics—the stitching is neatly done—the buttons well sewed on and the garments are cut full, giving always the most satisfactory fit. A feature of special interest to particular buyers is the fact that the laces and embroideries used in Puritan undermuslins are mostly of exclusive designs.

FREE! Absolutely Free! FREE!

A Big Lot of Laces and Embroideries to be Given Away.

We have filled our east show window full with many, many yards of laces and embroideries which will be given away absolutely free. Here is the plan: Every woman and every girl over fifteen years of age, whether they purchase any goods or not, will be allowed to guess at the total number of yards of goods in this window, and register their guess in a book kept inside the store for that purpose.

No one will be allowed more than one guess each day during the sale, or eight guesses in all. On Saturday, Feb. 21st, at 3 o'clock these laces and embroideries will be measured, and the one who first registered the correct number of yards and inches, or the nearest to it, will receive the entire lot, absolutely free.

Be present on Saturday, February 21st, if possible, but if you are not the goods will be kept for you if you are the lucky guesser.

NEW EMBROIDERIES

AT SALE PRICES

Our entire stock of "Constance" Embroideries, in All-overs, Flouncings, Corset Covers, Edges, Beadings and Insertions will be placed on bargain counters at a substantial reduction in price.

These embroideries are the very best on the market, pretty designs, good cloths and very serviceable.

Note the low prices.
