McMorries Completes County Evaluation

Speaker at Rotary Tuesday was J.W. McMorries, ad valorem tax consultant from Hereford.

McMorries started his company in 1958 and has worked all over the state as well as appraising approximately 60 percent of all the property in New Mexico.

McMorries was employed by Bailey County last July. His contract called for the complete re-appraisal of all real estate and commercial personal property within the county.

The Bailey County Commissioners Court instructed to get equal and uniform values on all property covered under the contract.

"Based on the information obtained," McMorries said, "the schedule as approved will reflect approximately 75 percent of the actual market value of the property under contract." From those totals, the commissioners will take a uniform assessment ratio and tax rate. It will be equal on all taxable property.

McMorries stated that residential property will be divided into 50 grades. Each house in the county will be included in one grade, no matter where it is located.

Rural land has been set up after a study using a grading system similar to what the soil conservation uses. There will be six grades of irrigated farm land, dry farm land and grass land.

They are trying to determine the amount of water wells on the property produce and apply this information to the soil type. All land will be treated equally.

McMorries also commented that commercial personal property was also evaluated and he asked businessmen for inventory. McMorries stated that he has been pleased in most instances, but in a few cases, they have recommended a change in value.

All work has been completed now and he is trying to determine the total value of the county.

As soon as these totals are completed every property holder in the county will be invited to come by and check their appraisals and compare it with their neighbors if they desire to. Any errors will be corrected after checking into them.

If dissatisfied with the appraisals, anyone will have the opportunity to meet with the board of equalization where the final determination of value will be made.

Library Meeting Held In Lubbock

The Lubbock Area Library System held its annual meeting of representatives on Wednesday, May 7, at the Mahon Library in Lubbock.

Going from Muleshoe as the Muleshoe Area Public Library representative was Mrs. Cecil Cole.

This meeting is held annually and is to discuss problems, legislation and budgets for the libraries of this area.

Both state and national budgets were discussed as was the importance of getting state funding for the system of Texas Libraries since federal funds are uncertain.

Mrs. Cole reported an enjoyable time at the meeting as she met with other representatives of the area.

FIRST LADY OF THE YEAR . . . Mrs. Elizabeth Black, local artist and teacher at Muleshoe High School, was named "First Lady of the Year" by the Beta Sigma Phi Chapters of Muleshoe. Mrs. Black is shown receiving a plaque for the outstanding contributions she has made to Muleshoe.

Mrs. Black Named First Lady Of Year

Mrs. Elizabeth Black was honored Friday night by the Beta Sigma Phi Chapters of Muleshoe as the "First Lady of the Year." The selection is to recognize a woman of the community who has made an outstanding contribution in her respective field. Mrs. Black was introduced by Mrs. Joe King and presented a corsage and a plaque of recognition. Mrs. King also gave a tribute to Mrs. Black relating some of her many contributions to Muleshoe.

Mrs. Black was selected for this honor not only because of the outstanding contributions she has made in her respective field but because she has given unselfishly and untiringly of her time, energy, talents, and love to the citizens of Muleshoe. Many of her contributions are known only by herself.

Elizabeth Black has studied art since she was 13 years old. She received her Bachelor of Arts from West Texas State University and her Master of Arts from Eastern New Mexico University. She has been an art teacher of Muleshoe High School for 12 years. In addition to her teaching duties, she has often served as sponsor of the Junior and Senior classes, has designed the covers and done art work for the annual staff, has helped with banquet decorations, stage planning for graduation, stage props and sets for plays, and has sponsored the Art Club and donated paintings to the club to help with fund raising for the Fine Arts Department. A painting, a gift of Mrs. Black, hangs in the Muleshoe High School Library. A floral was a gift to the Home-making Department in memory of the teachers who were killed in the plane crash. The 1970 Muletrain was dedicated to Mrs. Black, and she was named teacher of the year by the Future Teachers of America in 1965 and again in 1966.

Muleshoe artists have taken private art lessons from Mrs. Black, and she teaches the night art classes in Muleshoe for South Plains College. Mrs. Black has donated paintings to

Varied Reports Of Rain, Hail Received

Spring thunderstorms roamed across Bailey County Saturday, Sunday and Monday, bringing various amounts of rain, hail, and wind.

Saturday morning a thunderstorm moved across the South Plains dropping about .75 of an inch of rain over most of the area. Some parts of Bailey County received only a small amount while other isolated spots received over an inch Saturday.

Baseball and golfball size hail was reported in neighboring Cochran County Saturday afternoon as well as in the Clovis, N.M. area. Some crop damage was reported in these areas from the storm. Some hail was also reported in parts of Bailey County on Saturday.

Another thunderstorm hit Muleshoe late Sunday night and early Monday morning bringing more rain and hail.

Most of the rain was recorded north and east of Muleshoe with less than an inch being recorded in Muleshoe. South of town only a quarter to a half inch of rain was reported during the spring thunderstorms.

Monday evening another storm built up southwest and west of Muleshoe moving across the northern portion of the county.

An inch of rain was reported in some areas and small hail was also reported. Muleshoe itself received only a shower Monday afternoon.

Around the South Plains and the Panhandle, numerous reports of severe weather were reported including funnels, tornados, hail and high winds.

The rains were very beneficial to farmers who have just finished planting their crops and to those dryland farmers waiting for a "planting rain." Wheat farmers were also proud of the additional moisture that fell on the wheat crops right when they needed it.

Dimmitt got off to a fast start with three runs in the first inning and one in the second inning leaving Muleshoe behind until Carey Suduth scored in the third after getting on with a base hit. Muleshoe led Dimmitt scoreless during the third and allowed them only one in the fourth matching Muleshoe's one run in the fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Toombs were involved in an accident Sunday about 8:20 p.m. on Farm Road 54, .5 miles west of Goodland.

They were traveling east on Farm Road 54 on a motorcycle when a dog ran in front of them.

Former Muleshoe Resident Is Victim Of Rare Disease

What is Friedreich's Ataxia? Wayne Alexander of Richmond, Texas is one person who knows all about it.

Alexander is a former Muleshoe resident and is a nephew of Mrs. J.V. Peeler of Muleshoe.

Friedreich's Ataxia is a genetic disorder affecting about 5,000 people and its results are devastating and incurable.

The disease is not new, being identified in 1863 by Nikolaus Friedreich, of Germany. It results in the progressive deterioration of the nervous system, causing a failure of muscular coordination or an irregularity of muscular action which results in abnormal body movements, ataxia.

Alexander, 34, discovered he had the disease when he was 15 years old. It was at first diagnosed as muscular dystrophy, but in 1955, he was told it was Friedreich's Ataxia.

Alexander said, "I don't know of anyone else in this area who has F.A. A group of us, about 600, have formed the Friedreich's Ataxia Group in America and I am the representative

The board heard the current financial report and heard the current tax collection report which showed that 92.29 percent of all current taxes have been collected.

This is 59 less students than at the corresponding dates last year.

The board also heard the Average Daily Attendance Report and Withdrawal and Re-entry Report as of April 18, 1975, and of the fifth six weeks period.

The current library circulation report as of April 30, showed Senior High, 20,794; Junior High, 10,321; Mary DeShazo Elementary, 14,591; and Richland Hills, 9,097; for a total of 54,803.

The board approved putting two old school buses up for bid sale. Bids will be opened at the next regular meeting of the board, June 9.

The Student Accident Insurance policies for 1975-76 was discussed and was tabled until JUDGES ATTEND STATE-WIDE SEMINAR . . . About 144 justices of the peace from across the state of Texas attended a basic 40-hour Texas Justice of the Peace Training Center seminar recently in San Antonio. The training center is based at Southwest Texas State University. Among the judges attending were Judge Lena B. Gipson of Precinct 1, Morton, Cochran County; and Judge Melvin Berry of Precinct 1, Muleshoe, Bailey County.

May 15 and 16 are dates of great significance for High Plains users of natural gas as fuel for irrigation motors, says Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President, Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock.

On these days the Federal Power Commission will have a hearing examiner at the Federal Building's District Court Room, 1205 Texas Avenue, Lubbock, beginning at 9:00 a.m. each day, to hear testimony concerning whether the limited supply of natural gas will be used in the future to pump irrigation water or will be allocated to some other use.

"The examiner has expressed his desire to get opinions straight from the farmers themselves," Johnson notes, "and whether farmers stay at home or come to town on one or both of these days can well affect their future operations for years to come."

The FPC has held hearings in Washington and is conducting field hearings at the request of Plains Gas Users Association, PCG and others who recognize the pending danger to irrigated agriculture.

Last December, without prior notice to affected parties, the federal agency issued an opinion lowering irrigation natural gas from a No. 2 to a No. 3 priority, a decision branded as "intolerable" by Lubbock's 19th District Congressman George Mahon.

Expert witnesses testified, and were cross examined, in the Washington hearings. From the Plains they included Dr. James Osborn, Chairman of Texas Tech's Agricultural Economics Division; Frank Rayner, Manager of Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1; John Akin, attorney for Plains Gas Users, and Jim Valliant, Irrigation Specialist for the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway. Chief among the cross-examiners were attorneys for General Motors and the San Diego Gas & Electric Company.

"These witnesses in Washington made strong, sustainable cases for assuring the continuous availability of natural gas for irrigation," Johnson commented, "and now it is imperative that farmers themselves overflow the hearing room and the hearing record with evidence that thousands of individual cases do, in fact, back up the experts' testimony."

Osborn's statement, supported by a 30-page exhibit of detailed, carefully researched figures, reached the firm conclusion that "it is not economically feasible to convert High Plains irrigation wells from natural gas to alternative fuels; at today's fuel prices and today's farm commodity prices, conversion to gasoline, diesel or electricity over the long term would result in a negative return to producers."

Irrigation gas users wishing to make a statement at the Lubbock hearings will only need to fill out a card on entering the hearing room. A prepared statement will be permitted, but not required.

Emphasizing the importance of farmer testimony, Johnson said every High Plains irrigator who is on natural gas should ask to be heard.

Wheat Harvest Underway... Carryover To Be Up Substantially In 1976... Crops Progressing... How Many Sunflower? ... Texas In Top Ten... Rice Planting

The 1975 wheat harvest is underway in South Texas; less than five per cent of the bountiful crop has been harvested to date. And while that is going on in the southern portion of the state, wheat is making excellent progress across the rest of Texas with the crop now headed out.

Nationwide prospects for the 1975-76 season range from slightly more than two billion bushels to around two and a quarter billion bushels.

Projected production for the 1975-76 marketing year for all wheat ranges from two to two and a quarter million bushels. Total supply ranges around 2.5 million bushels. Carryover as of June 30, 1975, is expected to be around 450 million bushels; this year's carryover as of June 30 is anticipated to be around 230 million bushels.

MEANWHILE, CROP PROSPECTS throughout the state continue to brighten. Cotton planting is about 20 per cent completed, which is slightly behind 1975 plants at this time. Planting is virtually completed, except for some replanting in the Blacklands and Trans-Pecos areas. Seedbed preparation is about finished on the High and Low Plains, and the first of the 1975 crop is now in the ground in that area.

Sorghum planting is more than 60 per cent finished; sorghum in the Rio Grande Valley is headed out. A few early stands have been planted in the High and Low Plains.

Peanut seeding for the state is about a fourth completed. Corn planting is about two-thirds completed compared with about 90 per cent at this time a year ago.

HOW MANY ACRES are planted to sunflowers in Texas this year? That's one of the questions the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service is going to find out in its crop questionnaire.

About 24,000 crop questionnaires go in the mail this week to producers throughout the state. If you receive one of them, you are requested to fill it out as accurately as possible and return it promptly. Information in the questionnaire will be the basis for crop reports to come out later this year.

IF YOU LIKE WATERMELONS--and who doesn't--you'll be happy to learn that watermelon season will come a little early this year--about a month earlier, to be exact. The Texas watermelon producers are planning on a big season. Texas, in case you didn't realize it, is first in the nation in production of watermelons.

TEXAS CONTINUES IN THE TOP 10 in dairy states in the nation. It is also in the top 10 in numbers of milk cows that have calved.

Hopkins County continues as the top dairy county in Texas in both production and in numbers. Other counties in the top 10 in Texas in milk production are Erath, Wise, Johnson, Grimes, Comanche, Cooke, Franklin, Archer, and Wood.

Other counties in the top 10 in Texas in numbers of milk cows that have calved are Erath, Wise, Grimes, Johnson, Comanche, Cooke, McLennan, Wood, and Franklin.

Texas is ninth in the nation in milk production and cows that have calved.

ROUGH RICE STOCKS in Texas are up 23 per cent above a year earlier; milled rice stocks are seven per cent above a year earlier in the state.

Nationwide, rough rice stocks are 29 per cent higher than last year; milled rice stocks are 19 per cent below a year ago.

Throughout the rice belt in Texas, seeding is in its final stages. Planting had made good progress until interrupted by rains recently.

"Different people are affected in different ways," said Alexander. "My hearing has been slightly impaired."

Although his coordination and hearing have been reduced, he nevertheless is a very busy person, wasting none of his time feeling sorry for himself and doing all he can to help others. He enjoys many hobbies such as stamp and coin collecting, rock collecting and he draws geometric serigraphs.

Alexander didn't go to college even though he passed the entrance exams to the School of Mines in Denver. The school didn't have facilities for wheelchair patients then, but he took several home study courses including a year of drafting.

Friedrich's Ataxia is not in itself a fatal disease, but complications like the degeneration of the heart muscle may cause the disorder to be fatal. Three-quarters of the fatal cases are attributed to heart failure. The average age of death is 36 years but even without treatment, some victims have a normal life span.

The school finance legislation that is being debated in the state legislature was discussed. There is not much budget planning that can be done by local districts for 1975-76 school year until the state Legislature makes some decisions.

The possibility of obtaining School Board Liability Insurance as a result of recent court decisions was discussed. It was tabled until more legal information can be obtained from the Texas Association of School Boards and the Texas Education Agency. The State Board of Education has submitted a proposal to the State Legislature, but is is doubtful if any action will be taken.

McMorries also discussed two bills now before the state legislature concerning evaluation.

House Bill 1463, McMorries stated, places all authority in the state comptroller to see that the market value figures are used throughout the state for cities, schools and counties.

This bill places the assessment of properties entirely in the hands of the county assessor. McMorries said that "except for the tremendous control in Austin, this is the best bill yet because of the market value aspects of all properties."

House Bill 1535 is an agriculture income tax bill and as far as McMorries is concerned, this bill provides that agriculture lands will be valued based upon the income approach. This simply means that farmers would have to determine the net income per acre value each year for each type of soil and for irrigated and dry farm lands, and for grazing lands in this area.

The bill has been amended to read that the land has to be considered under natural conditions without the use of fertilizer, irrigation water or any synthetic or additive.

What most farmers do not understand, said McMorries, is the fact that in figuring the net income on agriculture lands, the land payment or the loan on land cannot be considered.

McMorries concluded by saying that the bill has already passed the house and is now in the senate.

Most humans could improve their minds by doing more listening and less talking.

Bill Will Provide Ambulance Standards

Senator Jack Ogg of Houston passed legislation in the Senate that establishes minimum statewide standards for ambulance services and personnel. The Ogg proposal charges the State Health Department with the responsibility of training ambulance attendants in emergency first aid techniques. The Ogg bill was amended on the Senate floor to allow local communities to opt out of the bill's provisions.

"Starting January 1, 1976, all ambulance personnel will be required to complete a 120 hour first aid course before starting to work. People presently working on an ambulance will have until January, 1978, to pass the test for certification," Sen. Ogg stated.

At the present time, the Health Department trains attendants, but only on a voluntary basis. Only in the larger cities are ambulance personnel required to have any training.

"Texas requires training and certification for barbers and beauticians, but requires no training at all for ambulance attendants," Sen. Ogg said.

The bill also provides that all ambulances carry certain basic equipment and meet specific design and construction standards. Cities, towns, counties and hospital districts will be allowed to continue operation under their guidelines, but will not be able to enforce their standards on ambulance services outside their jurisdiction. "Statewide uniformity is the goal of this legislation. Everyone has the right to expect qualified personnel on ambulances, but presently only 35 percent of the State's personnel have had the emergency medical technician's course. This proposal will change the ambulance attendants' field into a profession, instead of a part-time, unskilled job," Senator Ogg concluded.

The Ogg bill now goes to the House of Representatives for further consideration.

Then in the fifth inning, Muleshoe made a comeback with three runs made by Gary Parker, Kyle Kimbrough and Jimmy Wisian compared to Dimmitt's one. With the score tied 6-6, the game appeared to level off. Then Dimmitt seemed to get a second wind and made another run in the sixth inning.

Muleshoe just couldn't keep it together and the game ended Dimmitt 7, and Muleshoe 6. The next game was scheduled Saturday, May 10, but was cancelled due to inclement weather. The next game will be played Friday night in Cotton Center at 8 p.m.

Some serious talk about West Texas gas

By K. B. "Tex" Watson, Pioneer president

Living in the middle of an area known for its abundant gas deposits, it's hard to imagine West Texans threatened by a shortage of natural gas. However, there is the possibility that governmental regulations could create a shortage here. If we are not vigilant, we could see much of our gas supply allocated to other areas. Or we could see price controls make it impractical for producers to drill additional wells in this area. What can the average citizen do to prevent that from happening? I would suggest that he be aware of the problem and support Pioneer's efforts to maintain our gas reserves.

Use standard Mason jars, with appropriate lids and screw bands for home canning. Mayonnaise and other jars are not made to withstand the high temperatures of canning -- and they're not safe to use, notes Sally Springer, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Add Lace For Fashionable Summerwear

COLLEGE STATION -- Romantic, feminine lace looks are inexpensive, easy and fun to add to existing wardrobe items, Mrs. Becky Culp, area clothing specialist noted this week. "Lace details and trims are leading fashion items for the warm weather season this year," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, reported.

Add lace to highlight top or undersides of cuffs, pockets, yokes, collars, bands or flaps. Stitch on lace appliques and ruffles or insert lace edgings into seams to accent blouses, skirts, dresses and sportswear separates, she suggested.

"Lace fabrics and trims range widely in fiber content, recommended care, texture, price and width. Lace dollies, tablecloths, scraps or trim from garments are excellent sources for trims.

"When adding lace, choose one that compliments and is compatible with the fabric, design lines and mood of the original garment," she advised. To achieve a permanent beige or antique lacy look, dip cotton -- or a blend of at least 50 percent cotton -- lace in a strong tea solution and simmer 20 minutes. Rinse and dry thoroughly, Mrs. Culp directed.

The specialist reminded that a little lace goes a long way. Motifs can be cut apart and separated by clipping away from the mesh background. Don't cut the heavier motif threads she warned.

"Due to the mesh and knotted background, the design motif and pattern is the prime consideration in planning placement. The grainline isn't that important," she said.

Lace with finished edges or motifs should be stitched on top of the garment to show off shaped and scalloped edges. Unfinished edges should be inserted into seams or hemmed. "The design of the lace can be used to camouflage seams. Cut seams to lap so that the bottom edge is cut straight and the top follows the design motif. Top stitch following the outline of the motif. Trim excess fabric from the underside.

"Narrow zigzag stitches are ideal for stitching and appliqueing laces. For a sheer look underneath, fabrics may be cut away or supported with organdy or other sheer fabrics," the specialist suggested.

Cook Vegetables On Outdoor Grill

COLLEGE STATION - Cooking meat outdoors is a great way to keep the house cool in summer -- but don't forget that vegetables can be cooked on the grill too, Marilyn Haggard, foods and nutrition specialist, said this week.

"Skewer raw vegetables and cook on the coals, turning slowly until done. Raw vegetables such as potatoes, carrots and onions may be parboiled a few minutes before placing on the skewer to hasten cooking time," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, pointed out.

Frozen vegetables can be cooked on the grill in aluminum foil folded into a package, using the frozen vegetable in the center of a piece of heavy duty aluminum foil. Dot with about 2 tablespoons of margarine or butter, 2 teaspoons of water and 1/4 teaspoon of salt for each 10-ounce package.

"Close the package carefully to keep moisture inside. Place it on the grill and cook 15 or 20 minutes, turning once or twice," she said.

Study Club Has Play

The Muleshoe Study Club met Thursday, May 8, with Mrs. Ed Johnson. Mrs. Marguerite Partain introduced Mrs. J.E. McVickers, who gave a report on the progress of the hospial fund drive. Mrs. Walter Bartholf, director, presented an inspiring religious play, titled, "Growing up -- or only Growing Older?" Mrs. Vera Nell Arm was the artist who was painting a portrait of Christians for Mrs. Jewel Griffiths who was seeking a model to follow. Each model was surrounded by a picture frame as she gave her part. Mrs. Levina Pitts - Infant In Faith; Mrs. Joylene Costen - Childlike Christian; Mrs. Mildred Neely - Adolescent Christian; Mrs. Fern Gilbreath - Mature Christian.

Mrs. Partain conducted a business session in which some changes were made in club officers. The following members answered roll call: Mrs. J. G. Arm, Mrs. Walter Bartholf, Mrs. Joe Costen, Mrs. Lewis Embry, Mrs. Rufus Gilbreath, Mrs. Harold Griffiths, Mrs. Ed Johnson, Mrs. George Johnson, Mrs. T.L. Kent, Mrs. A.C. Neely, Mrs. Luther Pitton, Mrs. Doyle Turner, Mrs. Mervin Wiltdering, and Mrs. C.T. Partain.

Club will meet in the home of Mrs. T.R. White May 22. In a called meeting Monday afternoon members voted to donate $100.00 to the Hospital Action Fund.

Ryan Leon

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Fithen of Claude, Texas, wish to announce the arrival of a new son weighing seven pounds and three ounces and 19 inches long. Ryan Leon was born at 6:00 p.m., May 8, 1975 in High Plains Hospital in Amarillo.

They have two other sons, Royce, 3 and Robby, 2. Mrs. Fithen is the former Phyllis Stratton. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Stratton of Muleshoe. This is their seventh grandchild. Also, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fithen of Claude.

Washed mascara brushes and short leftover lengths of seam or bias tape are excellent cleaning aids for sewing machines. Use these "recycled" items to remove build-up lint from thread guides, tension discs and/or the bobbin case, advises Mrs. Becky Culp, area clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Hostess gifts of Town House cookware and a matching green electric percolator were presented by the hostesses; Mesdames Mark Grimley, John Smith, Randy Johnson, Clifton Finley, Lee Pool, Alex Williams, Barry Lewis, W.G. Harlan, Frank Wuerflein, Eldon Page, Kenneth Precure, Aileen Stewart, Paul Wood, and Elbert Hamilton.

Murphy, of Pampa, and Mrs. Ben Davis, of Littlefield, grandmothers of the groom; Mrs. Gaylord Stone, of Pampa, and Mrs. Melvin Dutton, of Petersburg, aunts of the groom; and Mrs. James Tompkins, of Plainview, cousin of the groom.

The couple will marry July 5 in the Coker United Methodist Church of San Antonio.

Food prices will increase 15 percent in 1975, according to recent estimates. This means that families with incomes under $20,000 may have to spend from 25-50 percent of their incomes for food, Frances Reagonover, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, explains.

Mature Women Join Book Brigade

COLLEGE STATION -- Many women between 25 and 35 are joining the book brigade by returning to school this summer, according to Dorothy Taylor, family life education specialist.

The specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, noted that many view a college degree as a means of "keeping up" intellectually, as a means of getting a better job, improving their life style or filling leisure hours.

"Most colleges and universities in Texas welcome the mature woman and are offering new courses that are more relevant for them.

"Flexible schedules, personal counseling, career planning or job placement, removal or age restriction of scholarships and other grants-in-aid, or less rigid residence and time requirements for earning degrees are a few of the ser-

May Weddings

Many people may not know it, but May was formerly considered an unlucky month for marriage. In fact, the way the month of June became the month of marriages is connected with the superstition that May was the month in which young people should not marry. Therefore, when June came around, a backlog of engaged couples had been created, thus producing a two-month crop of marriages for June.

Because June is an accepted month of marriages in the United States, and because so many graduations, both high school and college, occur in late May or early June, June is--for the merchant--a month to sell gifts. We're strongly opposed to this over-commercialization, although wedding gifts are a wonderful thing for the newly-married couple, especially if they have practical value.

RECIPE

Devil's Food Cake

- 1/2 c butter
- 1/2 c sugar
- 2 sq. chocolate
- 3 eggs
- 2 c cake flour
- 1 t baking soda
- pinch salt
- 1 c sweet milk
- 1 t vanilla

Cream butter and sugar. Add melted chocolate, then beaten egg yolks. Sift together 4 times, flour, soda and salt. Add to first mixture alternately with milk, beginning and ending with addition of flour. Fold in beaten egg whites last and vanilla. Bake at 350 degrees for approximately 35 minutes.

Seven Minute Icing

- 2 egg whites
- 1/4 c sugar
- 5 T water
- 1/8 t cream of tartar
- 1 T white Karo syrup
- 1 t vanilla

Combine ingredients (except vanilla) in top of double boiler and mix until blended. Place over boiling water, and beat with electric beater until mixture is fluffy and will hold its shape, about 7 minutes. Remove and add flavoring.

vice offered by most schools." She said that some colleges offer child care services, parking or credit card charging for tuition. All these services attract mature women, the specialist noted.

"Many adult women returning to the classroom are concerned about being young enough to learn, finding time to study with family responsibilities, acceptance in the classroom by professors and younger students, and spending so much money on themselves.

"The most difficult step is the first one -- mustering the courage to write or personally visit the school and make a commitment to return to campus," Miss Taylor said.

She suggested some considerations before returning to the classroom.

--Share your idea with your family and get their support.

--Go easy the first quarter or semester so you can adjust to the new drain on your time.

--If you're not sure about school, try an adult education course or non-credit course.

After that, work seriously toward credit and a degree.

--Consider national trends and job opportunities if you plan to enter the job market after getting the degree. If there are job openings, you'll feel better about your educational expense, the specialist noted.

"Classrooms are competitive. This is a new environment for many adult students. Being shy and withdrawn won't help the mature woman meet other students with whom she can exchange ideas or seek help.

"But planning ahead and using her head will start the mature woman on the road to a degree of success," Miss Taylor said.

Consumers with the Bicentennial spirit who collect coins, political memorabilia and other symbols from the past need to remember to look for the word "copy" on the item and in the advertising. Items not original must be marked "copy" and consumers who may feel they have bought an item that was not what they expected may report their problem to HOBBY, Division of Special Statutes, Federal Trade Commission, Washington, D.C. 20580, Lynn Bourland, family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, reports.

How To Treat A New Pupil In School

by Adam Loredo
When you find out that someone has just checked in, you are to tell him your name and ask him if he knows anyone here at school.
If he is in one of your classes ask him what he wants to know about our school, you should tell him everything you can.
You should show him the rooms or in other words tell him about what the teachers teach everyone. If he does not know where a certain room is, you should show him where it is. If he is lost show him the right way.
When it comes to lunch, show him where the good places to eat are, you should at least take him to eat with you.
You should be nice and mannerly like. Show him around, introduce him to your friends and teachers.
If he has just joined a certain class that you have, for example, if he has band and plays the same instrument as you do teach him what he doesn't know.

If he is scared of school, tell him there is nothing to be scared of.
If school has ended for the day, show him where his bus is. Show him where to put his things, like his locker.
That is how I think you should treat a new student.
by Kanetha Hysinger
When a new person moves to town and is going to a new school, he feels very uneasy. He is often afraid of what the people will think of him. He does not know how to act, dress, or talk to other people. The new pupil wants a friend, but does not know how he should act to get one.
The other pupils of the school need to help him out, be his friend, and just be nice. If the new pupil has someone who he can talk to, and ask for help or guidance, he feels fairly safe.
People have to accept that new pupil as he is. They need to help him as much as they can and make the first move towards being friends with that person. It makes you feel better and him feel better when he's been accepted as a person.

by Sherrie Seaton
When a new person comes to your school how do you think he feels? Well, he probably feels lonely and frightened. But you say what can I do about it. Well, what I would do about it is try to treat him nicely. Maybe you could ask him to sit with you at lunch. Try to make him feel wanted or needed. Show him that you care. If other people laughed, ask them how they'd feel if they moved to a new place. Some people think they have everything if they're popular. But do they really? Are their friends real, true friends or are they just people trying to get attention? I know just how a person feels when he moves. I moved and when I did I was scared and couldn't do anything right. At first I thought I would never make it. But then this nice girl came to me and helped me. Now things are better and I have lots of friends. So if a person moves to your school, treat him with care, for all you know he may be your real friend.

What To Do After Making A Low Grade

by Jo Ronda Rhodes
It's report card day, and I just can't wait. First period just fine. Second fair. Third you're kidding! A 75 that's the first 70 in my life! I walk to the teacher's desk and ask her to explain to me, how I could possibly obtain a 75. She explains to me that I might look at my paper and see why it was low. First mistake, I didn't have my papers, I had thrown them all away.
The bell rang for school to come to an end, I went running out to the bus. Second mistake I didn't have a single book in my hand, and we have a test the following day. I run back to my locker and get my books.
Well, I've finally reached home. Mom and Dad haven't made it home yet from work. I flip on the T.V. and relax. What a day, I'm pooped! Third mistake I turned on the T.V. instead of studying. I turn the T.V. off and get my books, I study for 30 minutes.
Mom and Dad come home, I show them my report cards. They are disappointed in me. I'll try harder I tell them. They both agree that I had better.
Bright and shiny, I run for the bus with my books in my hand.
For six weeks, I studied hard. Report card day came and I had brought that grade up from 75 to 88, I felt that there was a job well done.

Eighth Grade Day

On May 15, 1975, the eighth graders will have their Eighth Grade Day. Each student will dress up in some sort of costume. There will be three best dressed students awarded at the party. The students will stay in the building for the first three classes. The students will then go to the old city park at 11:00 and play some organized games. Some mothers were selected to bring different foods to eat such as; hot dogs, home made ice cream cake, and chips. The students will eat at 12:30. They are allowed to eat all they want and then go play some more games. At 3:00 the students that ride busses will return to catch the busses. The students are to follow the dress code. We wish them a WHOLE LOT OF FUN!!!

Periwinkles For Summer

COLLEGE STATION -- "If you've got an empty spot in your garden and want flowers that will bloom throughout the summer, try Madagascar periwinkles.
That recommendation comes from Everett Janne, landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Madagascar periwinkles, commonly called Vinca rosea at nurseries, begin flowering when only a few inches tall and continue to bloom until the first heavy frost, says the Texas A & M University System specialist. They thrive on hot weather.
Most varieties of periwinkles are from 18 to 30 inches tall, and the flowers are usually rose colored although they can be white, pink or lavender rose.
"Dwarf varieties make excellent flower and shrub borders," says Janne. "They can be from 8 to 10 inches high and may spread out two feet. Some of the best varieties are Coquette, Little Pinkie and Bright-Eyes."
Trailing or spreading varieties such as Polka Dot and Rose Carpet are good as a ground cover or in hanging baskets or window boxes.
"Periwinkles can be planted in full sun or partial shade and will grow in almost any soil," points out Janne. "They grow best, however, in soil with plenty of organic material."
The horticulturist recommends applying a complete fertilizer before the flowers are planted and then reapplying every four weeks.
"If leaves turn yellow, the soil may be too alkaline. So add iron chelates or iron sulfate," advises Janne.
Periwinkles are usually free of insect and disease problems and can add color to the home landscape during those hot summer days when other plants tend to suffer, adds the horticulturist.

The man who squanders much of his money seldom stops to wonder why his wife tries to save spare pennies.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—When most people hear the term "consumer protection" they realize that it usually refers to the elimination of fraud in the marketplace, sometimes by legal action.

Our Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division, for example, has a mandate from the Legislature to enforce the Texas Deceptive Trade Practices-Consumer Protection Act, which makes an; false, misleading, or deceptive business practice illegal.

But there is another type of consumer protection, too, one that deals not with protection from fraud, but protection from danger—danger from unsafe products. And this type of consumer protection is the responsibility of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission.

Of course, our Consumer Protection Division also has the power to take action to stop the sale of unsafe products if they were marketed knowingly. For instance, if a furniture dealer had reason to believe that a particular type of chair was likely to break and cause injury to someone sitting in it, yet sold it anyway without mentioning this, our attorneys could take action because of the deception involved.

Or if a toy manufacturer had noticed that a certain toy contained defective parts that might injure a child, yet sold the toy, he or she might be the object of a consumer protection suit.

Consumer protection in all its forms is important. And consumer protection from unsafe products is a major concern at present. Spokesmen for the Consumer Product Safety Commission estimate that unsafe products cause 20 million personal injuries each year, with 110,000 injuries resulting in permanent disability and 30,000 in death.

While much of the Commission's work centers around eliminating product hazards, it also provides information to help consumers decide which products may be safer, works to develop product safety standards, and promotes research into causes and prevention of product-related deaths, illnesses, and injuries.

The Commission also can issue and enforce safety standards on design, construction, contents, performance, packaging, and labeling of more than 10,000 consumer products ranging from architectural glass, stairs, and power tools, to stoves, ladders, and lawnmowers.

A Texas consumer who has a complaint about an unsafe product or who has been injured by a product, should call the agency's Dallas office at 214-353-8260.

Once the agency gets a consumer complaint about product safety, it begins to test and evaluate the product. If a safety problem is confirmed, the agency informs the manufacturer who may be expected to notify all purchasers, to repair or replace the product, to refund the purchase price, or even to remove it from sale. Almost all manufacturers are cooperative, but if not, the agency can take legal steps when a hazardous product is involved.

Any consumer can petition the Commission to start proceedings on issuing, amending, or revoking a consumer product safety rule, and the petition need not be a formal document. The agency says "even if the petition is handwritten on flowered stationery" it will look into the merits of the request.

So, for information about product safety, call the Consumer Product Safety Commission. For assistance with a consumer complaint, contact the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division.

Consumer Food News

COLLEGE STATION -- Overall beef prices are generally about the same with some indication of slight increases, one observer reported this week.

"But this is still an ideal time to put extra cuts into the freezer," according to Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Pork features are available but they're scattered, she added. Choices are Boston butt roasts, end chops, rib end roasts and quarter-loin cut into chops.

"Good values include smoked picnics, frankfurters and liver."

Mrs. Clyatt termed fryer chicken economical and noted that egg prices have dropped since Easter, making them an "excellent protein value" with Grade A, large size the best buy.

"Frozen items to watch are straw berries and orange juice."

Fresh fruits in good supply at economical prices are Navel and Valencia oranges, pears, strawberries and bananas.

Artichokes spotlight the vegetable counter -- they're seasonally plentiful.

Other vegetables include potatoes, celery, cabbage, carrots, turnips and dry yellow onions.

Also, dairy products are in good supply, Mrs. Clyatt said. CONSUMER WATCHWORDS: Look for store specials on processed foods -- this is a good time to stock up.

62% Of Agriculture Census Returned

Sixty-two percent of the report forms mailed to Texas residents in the 1974 Census of Agriculture have been returned so far, the Bureau of Census says. Bureau officials, trying to complete the gathering of census data, are mailing follow-up appeals to persons who received the forms but have not returned them. In January, 323,706 forms were sent to persons in Texas associated with farming. Some forms may have been mailed to persons who no longer are farming or who are not actively farming such as landlords and others. These people are urged along with farmers to return the forms so that the Census Bureau can correct its mailing list. The addressee can indicate on the form that he does not have any agricultural production operations.

John W. Scott, Master of the National Grange, has this to say about the census: "The National Grange is concerned about the needs of our rural people. The 1974 Census of Agriculture is designed to provide much of the information we need. And we are impressed and pleased with the step taken in the Census Bureau to insure complete confidentiality for each respondent's report. It is reassuring to know that the individual operator's report will, by law, be used only to provide totals for each county and State."

Carl T. Curtis, Ranking Minority Member of the Senate Committee on Agriculture, says: "When our committee works on legislation, we look to the agriculture census for basic truths. It is vitally important for every farmer to report so the census figures can show the correct picture of American agriculture."

And Kenneth D. Naden, President of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives, states: "Farmer cooperatives have a major stake in the census of agriculture. Each of the Nation's nearly 7,800 farmer-owned and farmer-controlled cooperatives is a user of data collected through census channels. From planning for farm supply inputs to evaluating county and State cropping trends, cooperatives depend on the 5-year censuses of agriculture."

Going to church regularly may not be your habit, but it would be a good habit for you to have.

'Texas First' Program Governor Announces

Governor Dolph Briscoe today revealed plans for an in-depth job creation campaign to offset the recession and curb a climbing unemployment rate across Texas.

The Governor announced plans for his new "TEXAS FIRST" program, and set forth a goal to create 4,000 new jobs during the next 12 months.

"I'm sure you all remember when I took office I made a pledge to make Texas first in agriculture," Governor Briscoe said. "We are gaining ground on that goal."

"Now, I am asking my fellow Texans to join me in the second phase of my pledge, I want to make TEXAS FIRST in business and industrial development, and more important during these troubled times, in job creation."

He said the goal of the program is to identify and generate more than 4,000 new, permanent and unsubsidized jobs in Texas.

"We estimate the program will cause the expansion of approximately 160 companies in the next 12 months," he said.

prehensive Employment Training Act (C.E.T.A.) funds through local manpower development sponsors. The Texas Department of Community Affairs through its rural community development services, will work to bring jobs to rural areas.

"As companies hire the workers, we will recognize their contribution to helping Texas grow, and helping Texas combat a recession that is crippling other parts of the nation," he said.

"The program will help our rural areas. It will help every Texan who works to make it the success I know it can be."

The Governor said the symbol of the new job creation program is an outstretched hand in the colors of the Texas State Flag with the words "TEXAS FIRST" preceding the emblem.

He said a total marketing program is planned to reach all Texans.

"We want to make TEXAS FIRST the program that took the slack out of the economic rope," he said. "We want to find jobs for Texans. We want to train Texans for better jobs. We want to make TEXAS FIRST."

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm takes a last look at the Viet Nam war this week.

I know President Ford has said we ought to forget about the Viet Nam war and turn our thoughts to other things here at home, and I intend to, but there's one last thing I'd like to say.

As I understand it, one of the stated reasons for our being over there was the domino theory, that if South Viet Nam fell to the Communists then another country would, then another and another like dominoes do when you stand them on end in a row and push the first one over.

I have thought this over and while I haven't figured out who stood those countries on end in the first place and who set them up in a row, I followed the war in the newspapers and on television, noticing that the more we bombed the less we won, that the Generals who kept saying they could see the light at the end of the tunnel didn't seem to know the war wasn't in a tunnel, it was out in the jungles. In fact, we went through countless tunnels, only to find they led to nowhere. Therefore I've come to the conclusion that the game over there wasn't dominoes, it was checkers.

But it wasn't played by the rules of checkers used here in Muleshoe. The Viet Cong played like all its checkers were kings from the start of the game and you could move them forward or backward any time you pleased and jump in any direction you wanted and over as many spaces as you liked. If it looked like they were losing they'd grab their checkers and move to another board in another part of the jungle.

I don't know why it never occurred to our leaders that you can't play dominoes on a checker board.

And the thing I guess we'd better be thinking about is that the Generals who kept saying we've got the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese mortally weakened and on the run, all we need is a few hundred thousand more men and a few more billion dollars and we'll have victory by Christmas, are the same Generals who will be in charge if the U.S. ever gets into a really genuine war of survival.

President Ford is right, we ought to turn our thoughts to something else, and that may be one of them.
Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Highlights
AND Sidelights

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — The Legislature is racing toward its closing date with most of its major assignments unfinished but with reasonable hopes of finishing many of them. School finance debate began this week in the House, while the Senate Education Committee wrestled with its version of how to help equalize educational opportunity. When all is said and done, a bill in the $600 million range seems likely to emerge, with school teachers assured of a starting pay of $7,600 to $8,000 a year. The Senate has passed a bill to establish a three-member statewide utilities regulatory commission, and the action this week switches to the House where a rival measure is pending. Conference committees will get the job of working out differences between the two houses over both school finance and utilities regulation. Final agreement on a utilities bill is a reasonable expectation. Two-year budgets have now been drawn by both the Senate Finance and House Appropriations Committees. Both are expected to leave close to $600 million in unobligated revenues—most of which will go into the schools. Some expect Comptroller Bob Bullock to revise his income forecasts to show $677 million in unspent revenues over and above the budget.

REDISTRICTING APPROVED

A prolonged fight over single-member House of Representatives districts has been settled in the House — but with minority groups still unhappy.

The House agreed on an omnibus redistricting measure for Travis, Jefferson, McLennan, Tarrant, Lubbock, Nueces, El Paso, Galveston and Hidalgo counties. Senate approval is still required. Jefferson, Tarrant and Nueces county spokesmen threatened a challenge in federal court.

PENSIONS SWEETENED

Legislators, with few knowing what they were doing, approved substantial improvements in their retirement benefits.

House amendment, never debated before adoption, altered a state employee and officials' retirement system overhaul to gear elected officers pensions to pay of district judges. That would mean legislators with 30 years' service could get $18,600 a year in retirement pay, instead of the present $10,800 maximum.

After newspaper criticism of the undebated action, both House and Senate went back and passed a resolution endorsing their decision and urging the governor to sign the bill.

PARK BUY URGED

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong is seeking $8 million to buy 220,000 acres west of Big Bend National Park for about $36 an acre.

Armstrong has advised legislative committees the area has mineral production possibilities as well as vast tourist attraction potential. There are 700,000 acres in Big Bend Park.

COURTS SPEAK

The State Supreme Court reversed itself and concluded in a 6-3 decision that San Marcos has authority to turn down a Lower Colorado River Authority electrical rate hike.

The High Court affirmed a $358,180 judgment against Ford Motor Company as the result of a defective car which overturned near Waco, seriously injuring the owner.

In still another case, the Supreme Court agreed to dismiss a motion to review a $25 million divorce settlement against F. Lutch Brown at Houston.

A Houston man won reversal of a 15-year sentence for murder because the prosecutor raised questions about his juvenile record.

AG OPINIONS

Allocation provisions of a proposed refinery tax do not violate the constitution, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

• The Department of Public Safety can ask information on a person's race and sex on the driver's confidential accident report.

• Present composition of The University of Texas System board of regents is not illegally constituted.

• Where a part of a county's federal revenue sharing funds can be identified as solely attributable to taxing efforts of a hospital district, the money can be transferred to the hospital.

• A commissioners court may select a bank as county depository when members of the court collectively do not own more than 10 per cent of its stock.

APPOINTMENTS

Gov. Dolph Briscoe appointed Dr. George J. Beto of El Paso to the Board of Control.

The Governor appointed Joseph Connolly of Odessa chairman of the Texas Board of Private Investigators and Private Security Agencies.

Sunflowers Show Promise For Texas High Plains

BUSHLAND, Tex. -- Sunflowers -- the source of a superior edible vegetable oil -- appear to be adapted to the Texas High Plains where good yields were recorded in a one-year study conducted by researchers of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Research Service (ARS).

Total world production of sunflowers is about 3.7 million metric tons annually, making it the world's second most plentiful edible vegetable oil after soybean oil. The oil is very high in polyunsaturates and is comparable in some ways to corn oil. It is stable in storage, but not as stable as cottonseed oil. The meal is about 40 percent protein and is valuable for use in animal feeds. In the Texas study, ARS soil scientists Paul W. Unger and Ordie R. Jones and agricultural engineer Ronald R. Allen, working at the ARS Southwestern Great Plains Research Center here, conducted three experiments with five cultivars -- a variety named Peredovik (66), one commercial hybrid, and three experimental hybrids -- under various irrigation and dryland management systems.

The scientists report that seed yield generally increased as the number of irrigations increased. Based on averages for all cultivars, a single irrigation at flowering resulted in a 247 pound per acre yield increase over those irrigated only for emergence. Three growing-season irrigations increased yields by 549 pounds per acre over seeds that received the emergence irrigation only.

Seeding rates and irrigation levels had slight but significant effects on total oil content of the seeds, with amounts ranging from as low as 38.6 percent for one hybrid to as much as 48.5 percent for another hybrid.

In the dryland management experiment, there were yield variations between sunflowers grown on plots established on summer-fallow land and those grown on a conservation bench. Yields on the summer-fallow plot ranged from a low of 680 pounds per acre to a high of 1,010 pounds per acre. Yields on the conservation bench ranged from a low of 350 pounds per acre to 1,020 pounds per acre.

The wide range in yields among the four cultivars under dryland conditions can be attributed primarily to differences in plant populations and irregular seed emergence. The latter caused problems at harvest and reduced yield because seeds were lost from older plants while younger plants were not mature. Since the price per pound for sunflower seed was about three times that for sorghum, the high yield of 1,020 pounds of seed per acre compared favorably with grain sorghum yields of 1,800 pounds per acre on similar plots.

Sunflowers have a relatively short growing season of about 100 days, so they have potential for producing good yields following irrigated wheat in a double cropping system. This potential was studied in the third experiment using two tillage treatments -- clean tillage and no tillage.

The sunflower plants emerged within 10 days. Despite a high population of volunteer wheat following an estimated 20 percent hail damage to the preceding wheat crop, the fast growing sunflowers competed well.

Yields of the two cultivars tested in the experiment were considered good. Peredovik (66) yielded 1,160 pounds of seed per acre in a clean tillage plot. The commercial
