R. V. Tidwell Receives Shipment from Burbank to Experiment With.

Tidwell returned from a trip to ing. the Panama Exposition. While there Mr. Tidwell became interested in an exhibit of Burbank's perimenting with its growth in this country.

It is said that it will produce from 25 to 50 tons per acre, and has a feeding value equal to half the tonnage of alfalfa. In other words alfalfa is twice as good as the cactus, but does not produce in tonnage anything near the possible tonnage of the cactus.

The leaves weigh from two to five pounds each, and are absolutely free from thorns. Mr. Burbank was sixteen years getting the thorns off, perfecting the plant only a little over a year ago.

Very little moisture is required for the plant, as it has thrived with only six inches annual rainfall, but will not do well where the rainfall exceeds forty inches, nor where the temperature goes below fifteen degrees Fahrenheit.

Mr. Tidwell is deeply interested in the future of Young Bert Anderson, and her friend, county, and made the purchase Miss Imma Lee Peck, of Bryan of this new plant solely for the Texas. purpose of finding out whether or not its continued growth in this country could be had. it can, the feed problem for cattle, hogs and chickens will be permanently solved, and here's hoping Mr. Tidwell's experiments will prove successful.

Record Crop of Feterita.

More than two and a half tons of feterita heads to the acre will be gathered from sixty acres of land near Carlsbad, Texas, owned by Reed & Thornton. This, it is believed, will be a record-breaking crop. The land on which the feterita was planted was-plowed a depth of eighteen inches with a specially constructed plow. It is a clear demonstration that it pays to plow deep.-Dallas News.

Teaching Agriculture.

Some definite plan whereby elementary agriculture could be taught in the common and high schools should be decided upon. It is discouraging to note the little that has been accomplished in teaching agriculture. Although there is a law on the statute books in every state of the Southwest requiring the elements of agriculture to be taught in the public schools, in many schools it is not taught at all, in others the interest is lacking.

Most school boards and patrons have failed to provide facilities for teaching agriculture. There is need of land where to save the cotton crop, and school gardens may be planted that crop will be immense and cultivated, where the pupils the weevils don't get it. may have a chance to observe the growth of plants, the tillage of the soil and occasionally to judge livestock. Kid, you wanted to hear my experience and verdict on feterita. I will say that I think prevented. Will we give our feterita is about the best feed crop we can plant. It is of the sorghum family, but not more than half the sweetness of the regular sorghum. It is a good grain producer, as well as a forage producer. A good sized machine-bound bundle will make a good feed for a work horse, and is just about as good feed as you can feed your horse. In raising a feed crop we want to raise something that will pro duce both forage and grain. Maize will not do it, millet, sorghum, Sudan and but very few other kinds of feed will furnish both grain and forage, except feterita, and kafir. Kafir is next to feterita, in my judgment as an economic feed, but feterita is best of all. Feterita is used here in this section almost exclusively for ensilage, feed to fill the silo. Other kinds are used but feterita is said to be the best. Correspondent.

SALEM

Dago, the good old dust mulch is sure enough gone and at its departure the Storm King raged and howled, and in his fury destroyed many million dollars worth of property and besides claimed a toll of many uman lives. And so it goes, id proves that weather conditions are too big a proposition for mortal man to cope with. And, as you say through it all, both wet and dry, the boll weevils are still here. They are fully mobilized and out on the firing line in full force. We examined the cotton here yesterday and found plenty of weevils on it, and if they destroy the forms that are now forming, the cotton crop here will make less than one-fourth bale per acre. Many thanks, Correspondent, for your kind wishes, and rest assured we are going to stay with our friends, the enemy, as long as they have anything to impart on the science of socialism. At least they term it a science but we don't believe that they can prove that it is a true science. What do you think about it? Can deductions be made and proof furnished that will give socialism a place among the true sciences? At another time we are going to give a plain statement of facts showing the wretched failure socialism has made in its boasted

I have one of these Big Bull Tractors at work on my farm near Loving, also one at work on the Timmons farm near Elbert, Texas. These engines are pulling four-plow discs, and breaking from 8 to 10 acres per day, using on an average of 1 1-2 gallons of gasoline to the acre.

I am now pulling a 22-inch Nichols and Shepherd Separator, with wind stacker, threshing oats.

These tractors are now running on the Timmons' and W. C. Collins' farms near Elbert, A.C. Watson's farm near True, and O. L. Anderson's farm near Padgett.
