Ford decides to delay gasoline proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Ford today postponed announcing his proposal for lifting price controls on gasoline until later this week. The move will set the stage for one more Ford battle with Congress before he leaves office.

Aides had said the announcement was expected today, but Deputy Press Secretary John Carlson told reporters: "The President has not made a final decision as to the time of transmitting the proposal to Congress."

Carlson said the announcement could come Thursday or later in the week

Congress then will have 15 days in which to veto Ford's proposal. If Congress does not act, the lid will be off gas prices on Jan. 19, the day before Ford leaves office.

Gasoline is the last major oil product remaining under price control at the retail level. The ceilings were imposed in 1973 when petroleum shortages following the Arab oil boycott caused prices to rise.

Administration officials admit that avoiding a congressional veto may be a close call for Ford because of increasing sentiment among the lawmakers for leaving this issue to incoming Democratic President Carter.

There is wide disagreement about the impact of any end to price lids.

Administration spokesmen contend that ending controls on gasoline will have little immediate effect on prices at the gas pump. And they say in the

Oil companies now are charging less than they are allowed for gasoline, a White House spokesman pointed out, because of competition and lack of demand.

The Federal Energy Administration estimates the price of unleaded gas could go up two cents a gallon. The FEA estimates the average price nationally for regular gasoline now is 60 cents a gallon. Congressional critics, however,

claim consumers could see much higher price boosts and that there would be increased inflation and higher unemployment as a result. They estimate that lifting price controls, coupled with recent price boosts by the oil exporting countries, could cost consumers as much as $8.9 billion

A study by the Congressional Research Service asserts that the end of controls would add up to eight cents to the price of a gallon of gas. The study was released Monday by Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., who predicted Ford's decontrol plan will be defeated in Congress.

Carter 'regrets'

Carter pledged today to free himself of any possible conflict of interest by turning over his prosperous peanut business to trustees who will lease or sell it

Talking to reporters outside the headquarters office of his peanut marketing partnership operation, Carter said he felt he had to "bend over backwards" because "I don't want to have any decision I make as president have an effect on my income.

The President-elect made his comments as aides unveiled a tough ethics code for top government officials. Carter's own action in trying to build a wall between himself and the family business was in line with the measures he is requiring of

ter's interest in Carter Farms Inc., which consists of agricultural real estate in this area, and Carter's Warehouse, a partnership that buys peanuts from area farmers for subsequent marketing, will be transferred to a special trust.

It was not immediately clear what would happen to $25,781 in common stocks owned by Carter's wife, Rosalynn. A Carter aide had said last September that Carter would sell his stock holdings if elected.

Carter's interest in Carter Farms was valued at $348,444 on Dec. 31. 1975, and his interest in Carter's Warehouse was valued at $330,062. The land owned by Carter Farms will be retained in the trust so long as he is president and will be rented for an annual fixed amount.

It was a hard decision for me to make," Carter said, adding: "I don't have any regrets about it." After a pause he continued, "There are some regrets." He said he plans to remove himself so completely from the Carter's Warehouse partnership, which is the basis of the family fortune, that he will instruct its trustees "not to even inform me" if they sell the business

At the same time, Carter expressed concern about the minority interests in the partnership of his brother Billy and mother, "Miss Lillian." But he said he felt certain the trustees would act in a way that would not "upset their lives too much."

The ethics code requires presidential nominees, starting with Cabinet members, to divest themselves of any holdings that could conflict with their government duties and to submit detailed statements of their personal wealth.

In addition, for the first time, they must sign a pledge to remain in government for their full appointed term, unless dismissed sooner. They also must agree that for two years after leaving government they will avoid any private job that would cause them to deal with their old departments or agencies on matters that concerned them as federal officials.

"It is the objective of the new administration to avoid any conflict which could in any way influence any government officer except in the even interest of all the people," said the written guidelines.

Byrd, Baker capture Senate leaderships

WASHINGTON (AP) - With the Democrats firmly in control, the 95th Congress today established two-year residence in the Capitol with new leadership and an avowed determination to start work on Presidentelect Carter's economic program. Senate sources reported shortly before the formal opening of the session that the Democrats elected Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia as majority leader to succeed Sen.

In something of an upset, Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee was elected Senate minority leader by the Republicans.

Baker defeated Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan by a vote of 19 to 18. Griffin had been assistant minority leader. Baker succeeds Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania who retired from the Senate.

Byrd was elected by acclamation after Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota withdrew from the contest.

Sources also said that Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., was named majority whip, the post Byrd has held for the past six years, and that Sen. Daniel Inouye, D-Hawaii, was chosen chairman of the Democratic Party Conference, the thirdhighest leadership post. Mansfield served as majority leader since 1961 but did not run for re-election to the Senate last year. Byrd is regarded as a skilled technician at moving legislation through the Senate. His views on economic issues are close to Carter's. and Byrd is expected to work closely with the new president.

At the Republican caucus, Sen. Ted Stevens of Alaska was elected assistant minority leader. He was unopposed.

Sen. Carl Curtis of Nebraska was re-elected chairman of the Republican Conference and Sen. John Tower of Texas was re-elected chairman of the GOP Policy Committee.

After the caucus, Baker said, "I don't know how it happened, but when the final count was made, it was 19 for Baker, It could have come out 18."

Referring to Carter, Baker said, "I wish the President well. I hope he prospers and succeeds. I know I speak for Republicans when I say we intend to cooperate with him."

Baker added that the Republicans would "exercise our constitutional responsibility to offer alternatives."

Baker was thrust into the public consciousness as the ranking Republican on the Senate Watergate committee

In the House, backers of a massive public works jobs plan were ready to introduce at the opening session a $4billion expansion of the current program. The plan has been cleared with Carter for inclusion in his overall economic stimulus plan.

When Carter takes office Jan. 20. Democrats will have solid control of both the legislative and executive branches of government and apparently will have the kind of power they have not had since Lyndon Johnson's landslide victory in 1964.

The contests for leadership posts in the House were decided last month. Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., with solid Democratic backing, will succeed Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma as speaker. Rep. Jim Wright of Texas was the choice to succeed O'Neill as majority leader.

The only holdover among congressional leaders will be Rep. John Rhodes of Arizona as House minority leader.

If you must get sick, try to be in Midland

Should you chance to fall ill, Midland Memorial Hospital's Pat Dishman suggests that "you had better get sick out here" where the high cost of hospitalization is, well, less than exorbitant.

. As high as we are, we are not as high as New York or Los Angeles." Miss Dishman said. She's director of the hospital's public relations and development programs. Of course, if she has got an ounce of the Good Samaritan in her soul, and she does, she wouldn't wish that anybody would be visited by any disease or man-caused or "natural" injury. Oh, no.

But people naturally and, sometimes, unnaturally do get out of sorts, and hospitals are set up to help the ailing get reconstituted.

And lying around in a sick man's hotel, where physicians and surgeons make room calls, can be depressingly expensive and, at the same time, physically uplifting.

The hospital, at an average cost of $71 per day per patient, provides "just, quote, 'the hotel services.' " On top of that are the doctors' fees, drug costs, and other expenses, such as those for therapy, x-rays, tests and untold things the layman couldn't imagine.

Up at New York or across the way to LA, those "hotel services" well exceed $100 per patient per day, she said.

That's little enough consolation. however, when you're figuring out how to square with the hospital when it's time to check out. Gracious, you can thank the stars or some clever risk-taking enterprise for insurance, which has become the financial "lifesaver" for both patient and hospital.

And the hospital, like most families on a "limited" budget, has problems of its own. Administrator Wayne E. Ulrich, for instance, has a payroll to meet for some 450 employes - from nurses, therapists and technicians to dishwashers, grounds keepers and bill collectors.

To do that and to try to keep the 180bed hospital abreast of technological developments in medicine and health care on a $6 million budget takes a bit of doing and, probably, some honest compromising. (No juggling

Ford suggests tax cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Ford today proposed a $10 billion personal income tax cut along with corporate tax reductions and an increase in personal Social Security taxes. The package is nearly a carbon copy of tax cut proposals Congress rejected last year.

Like last year's package, the new proposal includes $2.5 billion in corporate tax reductions. It also calls for a $5.1 billion increase in personal Social Security taxes over a two-year period. Last year's proposal called for a $1.65 billion increase in personal Social Security taxes.

The administration proposal last year was linked to compensating cuts in spending. But this time, Ford's proposal was initially unclear on whether he would seek compensating spending cuts. Ford noted in a message to Congress that he will be sending up his spending proposals with his budget later this month. Ford estimated his tax proposals would save $227-a-year for a family of four with an income of $15,000.

The Democratic-controlled Congress is expected to await the economic stimulus plan of Presidentelect Carter rather than act on Ford's proposal.

Carter has indicated his program would focus on job creation, Ford's tax proposals were targeted at what the President called middle-income taxpayers.

focused tax relief on the lower income taxpayer," Ford said. "However, it is high time to focus substantial tax relief on middle-income taxpayers."

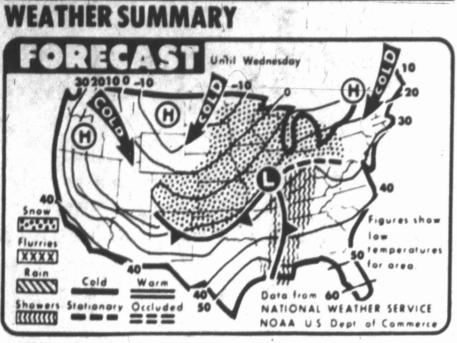

increase the individual income tax exemption from the present $750 to $1,000, said L. William Seidman, the President's economic adviser.

Ford's proposed tax saving for individuals would be effective with the current year. It would be offset to some degree by increases in Social Security taxes effective next Jan. 1.

Try to be in Midland while sick

THE MIDLAND REPORTER TELEGRAM, TUE., JAN. 4, 1977

Of the $71 it costs the hospital to room and board one patient for one day, the hospital takes in about $67 from the patient (or his insurance agent).

To make the hospital a paying proposition, Miss Dishman said, the difference is made up by donations and contributions to the this nonprofit, private (not tax-supported) venture

The hospital, like every human on earth, is far from complete; it's not perfect. "We haven't done everything right," Miss Dishman, without conceding anything, said.

In an upgrading program, the hospital is seeking $10 million in a capital fund drive.

And though the Midland hospital doesn't have the ready services of a neurosurgeon, it does have "all of the equipment" to put a brain doctor in business, so to speak.

Because of that deficiency, the hospital has to transfer elsewhere, such as to Medical Center Hospital in Odessa, patients who have suffered head injuries, Miss Dishman said.

While doctors and nurses take care of the ailing, Miss Dishman's task is to help create and maintain a favorable public image of the hospital.

"It's not boring." she said of her PR work. "It's a real challenge; it's very rewarding."

One of her chores is taking an opinion survey of ex-patients. The response is about 30 per cent, which Miss Dishman terms as excellent.

"We get both (favorable and unfavorable comments)," she said. 'They are very helpful. If we get one back and it's got a complaint on it, we try to solve the problem.

More complaints are returned about the quality of food there than just about anything else, she indicated

Nobody likes hospital food," she said. "(But) I don't think it's quite that bad.

Occasionally, someone will complain about the seeming rudeness or abruptness of a nurse or aide. Overall, Miss Dishman's task is "to improve the public awareness" of the hotel's health-care services.

"Of course," she said, "you have public relations whether you have a rogram or not

Ofer, a strong supporter of Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin, was the first cabinet minister implicated in the government companies.

Others brought down by the scandals include financier Michael Tzur, former controller of foreign exchange, serving a 15-year prison sentence for fraud, bribery and illegal currency deals; Asher Yadlin, a Labor party leader nominated to be governor of the Bank of Israel last fall, indicted on fraud and bribery charges; Customs Director David Peled, charged last Friday with taking bribes from a financier who committed suicide, and Zvi Rechter, chairman of a government building company who resigned last year under fire.

"People are wondering what sort of a party this is, with Yadlin under arrest and Ofer a suicide." a wellplaced political source commented.

Rabin resigned two weeks ago, advancing the election date five months in the belief that an earlier vote would improve his chances against the right-wing Likud bloc. But he already faces one of the toughest campaign fights in the Labor party's 28 years of unbroken rule, and Ofer's suicide was certain to heighten opposition charges of government corruption.

Rabin and his cabinet are serving as a caretaker government until after the election in May. The cabinet issued a terse statement expressing sorrow over Ofer's death but made no mention of suicide, in accordance with a Jewish custom of playing down self-inflicted death.

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) - With prosecutors saying they might call singer Andy Williams to the stand, six jurors were tentatively seated in the trial of his ex-wife Claudine Longet on charges of killing her lover.

Williams excorted the 35-year-old singer-actress to the Pitkin County Courthouse on Monday in this posh ski resort community where she faces up to 10 years in jail and a $30,000 fine if convicted.

Jury selection was to resume today for the manslaughter trial in the March 21, 1976, shooting of 31-year-old professional skier Vladimir "Spider" Sabich in the $250,000 home he shared with Miss Longet.

During a recess Monday, Williams said he was uncertain why prosecutors subpoenaed him to testify. Dist. Atty. Frank Tucker refused to discuss why Williams was summoned. The singer left for Los Angeles after the noon break, saying he expects to return next week.

Wearing no makeup, Miss Longet sat quietly through about six hours of proceedings. She occasionally brushed back her straight brown hair, held by barrettes, and glanced at the press section, filled with about 30 reporters and artists.

Few residents of this celebrityfilled town showed up in the secondfloor courtroom, but dozens lined up in the first-floor lobby to get new auto license plates which became available Monday. Low numbers - a status symbol in Aspen - are given out to first comers.

Tucker, wearing blue jeans and cowboy boots along with a jacket and tie, said the fame of both victim and defendant was making it difficult to find impartial jurors.

Any of the four men and two women tentatively seated Monday may be disqualified later through further challenges from defense or prosecution. Jury selection is expected to take about one week.

One of three prospects dismissed the first day, Aspen Mayor Stacy Standley, admitted, "I felt the defendant was guilty, based on the information I had received" from a police officer.

Tucker said he had decided that Miss Longet's 13-year-old daughter Noel, who was reportedly at home when the shooting occurred, was "too young" to be called as a witness.

Miss Longet says the gun fired accidentally while Sabich was teaching her how to use it.

Noel is one of Miss Longet's three children by Williams, from whom she was divorced two years ago.

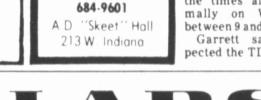

Colorado's two-year-old manslaughter law requires prosecutors to show that Miss Longet "consciously disregarded a substantial and unjustfiable" risk to Sabich when he was shot. Minimum sentence upon conviction would be either one year imprisonment or a $2,000 fine.

particularly if one is on the receiving end.

But it is becoming more and more expensive for persons on the paying end.

Yes sir, millions of Americans will pay as much as $70.20 more in Social Security in this brand new year, continuing the upward spiral registered in recent decades.

By law, the maximum annual tax payment increases from $895.05 in 1976 to $965.25 in 1977. Forty years ago, in 1937, the maximum tax was $30 a year.

But only the approximately 19 million Americans who earn more than $15,300 will pay a higher tax in 1977. It is explained that the tax rate on a worker's income will remain at 5.85 per cent. Thus, persons who earn less than $15,300 will not pay any more than they did on the same amount of earnings last year.

Just in case you might not be familiar with Social Security regulations, a worker in 1976 had paid all Social Security tax obligations by the time he reached the $15,300 salary level, and income over this was not subject to additional tax. This, of course, means that persons for whom tax deductions stopped in 1976 after they reached the cutoff point will experience the tax being deducted from their checks for longer period.

benefit payments over income which amounted to approximately $4.3 billion last year.

The SS tax bite has been rising sharply for almost two decades. but it still has not kept pace with the flow of benefits.

This has caused widespread concern, and justifiably so, that the system's reserves will be eroded and that it may have to turn to general tax revenues to keep going.

This was not the plan in the beginning. Somewhere along the way the entire program was derailed in federal government maneuvering.

Think back, if you will, to the period between 1937 and 1949 when the maximum tax was just $30 a year. It rose slowly then to $174 in 1963, and to $277.20 in 1966. Even steeper increases have occurred in subsequent years, rising to the maximum $965.25 this year.

Will the increases continue in the future? Your guess is as good as any ... but chances are the tax hikes will continue upward in the years immediately ahead

And on the first day of January this year, out-of-pocket payments for Medicare hospital insurance increased 19 per cent. This means that elderly or disabled persons entering a hospital will be responsible for the first $124 of their initial bill for a WASHINGTON - Leroy Simpkin entered the psychiatrist's office and went directly to the couch.

"What seems to be the trouble?" Dr. Heinrich Applebaum asked.

"I just discovered I have a low Jimmy Carter Threshold," Simpkin said nervously "Could you explain exactly what you mean?'

"He isn't even in the White House yet and I can't stand reading about him any more. I don't know how I'm going to get through the next four years.

Dr. Applebaum started to take notes. "When did you discover you had a low Carter Threshold?' "I saw him on the cover of Time last week as 'Man of the Year' and I decided not to buy that magazine."

"I don't think that's too peculiar," Dr. Applebaum said. "There have been many weeks I haven't bought Time magazine.

"It isn't just Time magazine, Doctor. I can't stand reading about Carter in Newsweek either - or in the newspapers. I'm sick and tired of seeing him on television. I've never admitted this to anyone, Doctor, but I'd rather read about an oil spill in Delaware than Jimmy Carter in Sea Island, Ga.

"Why do you think you feel this way?'

Simpkin stared at the ceiling. "I believe I know everything I want to know about Jimmy Carter. I know about his family, I know about the public school his kid is going to, I know about his brother Billy, I know about his mother Lillian, I know what Rosalynn eats for breakfast and what Amy eats for lunch.

"I know what Carter thinks of God, and what God thinks of Carter. I know what's in his heart. I know about his finances. I know where he stands on the issues. I know everything about his peanut business. I can't take it any more. I've had it up to here.

"You seem overwrought with Carter stories," Dr. Applebaum said, 'but this is quite normal. The press has nothing to write about until January 20th and they're giving everyone large doses of Carter. But it won't last forever. After the swearing-in you may find your Carter Threshold is higher than you thought and you'll start wanting to read about him again.

"I wish it was true, Doctor, but it's hard to believe. Do you know if I have the choice of reading about Carter or Richard Nixon, I read about Nixon?" 'That's very interesting

"What's even worse is that I'll read a story about Mayor Beame before I'll read one about Carter.

Applebaum whistled. "Beame before Carter!

"The other day I found myself choosing an article on Howard Hughes' will over one on Jimmy Carter's plans for a tax cut. Am I sick, Doctor?

'No, you're not sick. You're the twelfth patient I've had today who said he can't take one more story about Jimmy Carter. You all seem to be suffering from what we doctors call a 'Carter Syndrome' or, to put it in layman's terms, 'an overdose of Plains, Ga.

"Is there a cure?" Simpkin asked plaintively

"We haven't got one yet," Dr. Applebaum said. "Our only hope is that Congress will pass legislation that you can't get a story about Jimmy Carter or any member of his family without a prescription. The trouble now is that all the Jimmy Carter stories are sold over the counter, and many people like yourself with a low Carter Threshold have become allergic to them. "Help me. Doctor." Simpkin begged. "If I see one more magazine cover with Jimmy Carter on it I'm going to do somehting drastic. "Let me ask you something." Dr. Applebaum said. "Didn't you have the same feelings reading about Jerry Ford?' Simpkin looked puzzled "Ford? Who's Jerry Ford?"

IRS checks 50 large companies letter, which was dated September 21. So on December 13. Vanik followed up with another letter. There still has been no reply. We have learned that the IRS, meanwhile, tried to get a ruling from the Justice Dept., forbidding the release of the information that Vanik requested.

Some of the nation's most prominent and prestigious cordeducting the payments as business expenses.

Alexander told us the IRS is cracking down on the big corporations. He has ordered his auditors to ask 11 questions of corporate executives, questions that are calculated to expose bribery, kickbacks and secret foreign bank accounts. If the executives give false answers, they would be subject to criminal prosecution.

Yet the IRS intelligence agents confided to us that the crackdown has

This year, the cutoff for wages and salaries has been increased to $16,500, above which no additional SS tax will be collected. It is said that approximately 16 million workers earn more than $16,500.

And just in case you are interested, the hike in the tax is automatic in the year after which there has been an increase in Social Security benefits, which rose 6.4 per cent in 1976.

According to an Associated Press dispatch, the increases which, incidentally have to be matched by employers, will produce an estimated $2.3 billion for the Social Security system. But the startling, frightening fact is that this will not close the gap of two-month period, up from $104 in 1976

Monthly premiums for supplementary medical insurance will be increased by 50 cents for 25.4 million Medicare beneficiaries beginning in July This will raise the monthly premium to $7.70.

Another change becomes effective this year, in which persons receiving SS benefits can gain. The limit on earnings they can make without losing the retirement benefits has been increased from $2,760 to $3,000. After earning $3,000, however, a person loses $1 in SS benefits for every $2 outside income.

And there you have the SS picture for 1977. Beyond this, however, the guess is yours.

Evidence of fraudulent activities by these corporations was uncovered, Alexander said, by his "large case audit program." Under th1s program. the IRS automatically audits the nation's 1,230 corporations which have assets of more than $250 million each

Our IRS sources contend, however, that the tax agency should be catching even more corporate tax evaders. One source estimated there could be 200, maybe more, additional corporations filing phony tax returns. In fact, the IRS auditors may not deserve all the credit for catching the 50 corporations under investigation. In one case involving the Fruehauf Trailer Company, according to Rep. Charles Vanik, D.-Ohio, it wasn't the auditors but a confidential informant who supplied the infornation leading to the indictment of company officials on tax fraud charges.

Vanik heads the House Ways and Means Oversight Subcommittee, which keeps a sharp eye on the IRS. He fired off a private letter to porations have resorted to shabby, if ingenious, schemes to evade taxes. Of course, the taxes they escaped paying had to be made up by the honest taxpayers. Here are just a few of the tax evasion schemes, with the names omitted in order not to jeopardize the investigation:

- One large corporation paid $2.5 million to a public relations firm, which was used solely for political lobbying under the direction of corporate officers. The corporation wrote off the money as a bad debt.

- Another big firm bribed state officials and then deducted the bribes as salesmen's expenses. - A multinational corporation deducted the expenses of a foreign subsidiary from its U.S. tax return, thereby illegally decreasing the amount of taxes it paid. - Still another corporation used a public relations outfit to distribute political payoffs, which would have been illegal if the firm had made the contributions directly. The company then compounded the offense by

The oil boom causes a renaissance in Persian Gulf

DUBAI, United Arab Emirates -The sinking sun reddens the western horizon, silhouetting giant construction cranes which reach like fingers for the sky. Traffic whirls through the British-built roundabouts. Pakistani laborers, wrapped in mufti, peer from the back ends of brand-new Mercedes-Benz trucks. Another big workday is finished in the Persian-Arabian Gulf.

It has been this way all day, from Oman through the U.A.E., Qatar, the Saudi coastline, on the island of Bahrain, Kuwait, the tip of Iraq and around the coastline of Iran. Billions from the oil have authorized this frenetic building of the gulf world. almost from the ground up. The region sleeps no more.

What is happening here, with the clouds of dust, the litter, the piled up docks, amounts to a renaissance. There is an intensification of pride, a rush to nation building, and a great social and cultural change which, unfortunately, most Americans don't yet appreciate.

For a generation, much of the world, especially backward nations, looked to the United States as a story of hope and promise. Immigrants came to America, built a nation, established freedom, and created the opportunity for a good life for the common man. The United States became powerful, prosperous and even feared, in the process.

The American story is terribly ap pealing. That thin layer of the population here which understands and is inspired by the story, draws on it as an outline for what should happen in this great burst of nation building.

Jet planes, including the mammoth wide-bodied arks, land at new airports up and down the gulf, disgorging masses of humanity, just as the steerage ships unloaded their tattered but hopeful cargoes at New York's Ellis Island during our great immigration period.

The difference is that migrants in the gulf are nearly all male workers

Baluchis, Pakistanis, Indians, Yeminites, Omanis, Koreans, even Filipinos. They come to earn wages unheard of in their native countries and to send money home to their families. It is inevitable that many will remain. Kuwait and the U.A.E. now have at least as many guest workers as native citizens.

Bahrain, the gulf's island nation, is like Chicago or Atlanta in that it is the great transfer station for travelers. Accordingly, Bahrain has an inflation unsurpassed in the world. Hotel rooms are $90 and up per night, Western-style dinners, $30 a person.

The Bahrain airport offers Con-corde flights to London, nonstop 747s to New York City, alcoholic drinks and an absolute mix of people. Oil-field "roughnecks" and skilled construction workers from the British isles and the United States rub elbows with gnarled Baluchis off to sweep up construction sites.

A well-dressed Lebanese changes planes for Abu Dhabi where he will attend a dinner party rivaling any held in Washington or in New York.

At one such party, given by a wealthy Palestinian businessman. Lebanese with a touch of European breeding in their blue eyes conversed in French with well-educated Iraqis forced from their land by the Revolutionary Command Council. British and American diplomats, an architect, a child-psychologist, Arab women who never knew veils but know Paris' best boutiques - had somehow come together in Abu Dhabi to help shape this once primitive tribal state into a modern nation and be well paid for their efforts.

"This makes the difference here." said an Iraqi, schooled in England, but now serving in the sheik's palace, as he lifted a martini glass. "It is being able to enjoy amenities while working hard.

Only hours before, the defense minister. Sheik bin Mohammad Rashid, held a Washington-style press conference for a small group of Western newsmen, and twitted them by asking that if they saw any Soviet influence in the gulf would they report it to him? Is he an incipient Henry Kissinger?

In striving to achieve part of the American-style dream, the rulers do not relinquish power, for they know that the masses are mostly transient and that their own citizens are not yet schooled enough to cope with democracy.

The culture shock is already visible. Camel carcasses lie sadly by the side of the road, struck down by speeding new cars paid for by the oil underneath the sands which the camels crossed for centuries. Workers prostrate themselves as daylight dies and the faithful are called to prayer by tape-recorded chants from freshly built mosque.

It is regrettable that the notables of

CBS-News, Morley Safer and John Tiffin, showed a lack of understanding of all this in their Abu Dhabi report on 60 Minutes. In reporting, for example, that the average annual income of every native Abu Dhabian is $70,000, the CBS talent ignored the other 650,000 people in the Emirates, and that total oil income must be divided among them to get a proper per-capita figure. There is a bit of bias in suggesting that Sheik Zayed builds a tree-lined highway to Al-Ain, or that a communication satellite links the U.A.E. with London and New York stock markets just to satisfy his ego. Those accomplishments are also a pride to the people here.

At this point, Sheik Zayed is only an instrument of the great historical change in this long downtrodden part of the world. He will pass, and younger men will fashion different governments. The only way to judge him is on what he does for the 700,000 people who sleep in the U.A.E. every night, and on that score he performs as well as many a self-proclaimed champion of the common man.

been less effective than it should be They contended that Alexander is relying on auditors who are well intentioned but lack the investigatory skills of the intelligence agents.

Securities and Exchange Commission forms, reporting unusual payments such as bribes and kickbacks, are referred to the auditors. They, have the power to inspect corporate books. But the corporations isolate the auditors and prevent them from questioning corporate personnel.

The intelligence agents argued that the corporate books alone seldom reveal the tax evasion. It takes the testimony of witnesses to nail down the fraud, they told us.

FISHY STORY: Thieves have been stealing fish food out of the mouths of the resident fish at the National Aquarium

The thieves have been discriminating; they have filched only jumbo shrimp and crab meat from the Aquarium freezer. Some $200 worth of these delectables have disappeared during the past eight months.

Untouched, however, were 200 pounds of smelt and 60 pounds of squid, which the gourmet thieves left for the fish.

Officially, this great aquatic. mystery remains unsolved. But amateur sleuths became suspicious when they noticed Aquarium personnel at a Christmas party feasting on the same grade shrimp as the heisted jumbos.

The shrimp-eating celebrants insisted that they purchased their jumbos from R.W. Claxton Seafood, Inc. But Claxton's refused to talk about the Aquarium purchases.

Moving expenses incurred through job change may be tax deductible

If you have moved to a new residence because of a change in your principal place of work, the expenses you have incurred may be tax deductible. Moreover, such "moving expenses" are deductible whether you itemize deductions or take the standard deduction because they are subtracted from gross income in computing "adjusted gross income," says the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants.

What are the requirements which you must meet in order to qualify for the deduction? The following is a summarization of the rules:

1 — The distance from the old residence to the new place of work must be at least 50 miles farther than from the old residence to the old place of work.

2 — You must be a full time employe in the general location of your new place of employment for at least 39 weeks of the 12-month period immediately following your new employment. If you are self-employed, you must, during the 24-month period following arrival at your new principal place of work perform services on a full time basis during at least 78 weeks. At least 39 of these 78 weeks must fall within the 12-month period following your arrival. If the 39 or 78-week requirement has not been met by the time you file your tax return,

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) -

you may take the deduction anyway provided you reasonably expect to satisfy the test. Or you may wait until the requirement is met and file an amended tax return.

Deductible moving expenses in-clude: (1) the cost of transporting members of the household, and their household goods and effects to the new restdence; (2) the cost of meals and lodging en route; (3) temporary living expenses (for up to thirty days and not to exceed $1,000) at a new job location; and (4) expenses incident to the sale, purchase, or lease of a residence, such as attorney's fees and real estate commissions; (5) expenses of traveling, after obtaining employment, from the former residence to the new job location and return for the purpose of finding a new residence. The deduction for items (3) - (5) is limited to an overall amount of $2,500.

Deduction of moving expenses should be shown on Form 3903 which is filed with your federal income tax return.

Many more items will be covered at the two-night course "You and Your Income Taxes'' sponsored as a public service by the Permian Basin Chapter of the Texas Society of

Certified Public Accountants, the Internal Revenue Service and

Midland College.

Classes will be held on Jan. 11 and 13, 1977, between 7 and 10 p.m. in the Learning Resource Center of Midland College

Instructors are certified public accountants who are experienced in tax return preparation. The Internal Revenue Service furnishes the course material including the informative booklet, "Your Federal Income Tax." One dollar per person or $1.50 per couple is charged for this course.

Four seek top party posts

WASHINGTON (AP) - With the opening of the 95th Congress, members of the Senate are selecting their new party leaders. House leaders already have been chosen.

Sens. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota were rival contenders for Senate Democratic leader.

Competing for the top GOP post were Sens. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan and Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee

Here is a look at the candidates for the top party leadership posts in the Senate, followed by profiles of the new leaders in the House of Representatives.

SENATE DEMOCRATS

-Robert C. Byrd, 59, was elected last November to a fourth term in the Senate. He is known as a hard worker and a master of Senate rules and procedures.

Byrd has been the party whip, or deputy leader, since 1971 when he wrested the post away from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass. He is more conservative than many of his Democratic colleagues and not well known nationally.

-Hubert H. Humphrey, 65, was the Democratic candidate for president in 1968 after serving as vice president under Lyndon Johnson. A man of energy, he previously was a leading battler in the Senate for civil rights measures and liberal social and economic legislation. Last fall he underwent surgery for removal of a cancerous bladder

SENATE REPUBLICANS

-Robert Griffin, 53, a member of the Senate for 10 years, has been GOP whip since 1969. Previously, as a member of the House, he helped engineer the election of Gerald Ford as the Republican leader and the two have long been fast friends. He generally has steered a middle course between party conservatives and liberals.

-Howard Baker, 51, the keynote speaker at last summer's GOP convention, is in his second Senate term. He received national attention earlier as vice chairman of the special Watergate investigating committee. In 1969 and again in 1971 he ran for Senate GOP leader, losing narrowly each time to Hugh Scott, who has retired

HOUSE DEMOCRATS -Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill, 64, a bulky 6-foot-3 Boston Irishman, is the new speaker of the House.

He advanced to the top House post without opposition in his party after Speaker Carl Albert of Oklahoma announced his retirement. O'Neill had served in the second post, majority leader, since 1972.

Gregarious, partisan and schooled by a lifetime in politics, O'Neill has promised to be a strong speaker, saying "Vacillation is always a problem in leadership, but it's not going to be mine."

O'Neill came to Congress in 1952 by winning the seat John F. Kennedy left for the Senate.

-Rep. Jim Wright of Texas comes to the post of House majority leader by winning the closest party election in recent memory. Democrats elected him by one vote over Rep. Phillip Burton of California, who had been expected to win.

Wright, 55, had held no previous party post in the House higher than deputy whip. He came to Congress in 1955.

He is a fluent speaker with a touch of old-time oratory.

HOUSE REPUBLICANS -House Republican leader John J. Rhodes took over a divided and embittered GOP minority during the height of Watergate tensions in December 1973.

He has twice won unanimous reelection to that ladership post since then.

Rhodes, 60, is an attorney from Arizona and was the first Republican congressman elected to represent the state

He was considered a conservative during his 24-year career in Congress. As minority leader, he found himself on the defensive from House members critical of President Ford in the presidential primaries. Rhodes succeeded Ford in the House job and has been close to him personally. He has evolved into more of a moderate, thoughtful leader who is committed to finding ways to resuscitate the Republican party's fortunes.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Jurors have began deliberation in the fraud trial of a transsexual auto company president who promised to produce a revolutionary three-wheeled car.

Governor-elect Carlos Romero Barcelo, a strong advocate of statehood who was inaugurated the next day, said he did not learn of Ford's plans until a telephone call a few minutes before the public announcement

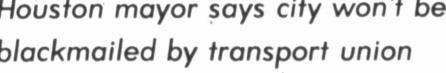

He said the call came from presidential aide James Cannon, who told him he had been trying to get him all morning.

"I was surprised to say the least," Romero said.

"This was an inauguration present from Ford to Romero," said one highranking foe of statehood who wants Puerto Rico's present commonwealth status to continue. HOUSTON (AP) - Mayor Fred Hofheinz says the city will not be blackmailed into agreeing to union terms in a strike by the city's bus drivers.

The mayor said cities such as New York are in financial trouble because they yielded to strikes by public employes. "Houston will not become another

New York as long as I am mayor." Hofheinz said Monday, adding he expects no quick end to the six week old bus strike.

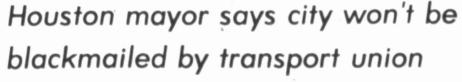

N. O. Hendrix, president of Transport Workers Union Local 260, said the union is not trying to blackmail the city. He said the union is merely trying to get a pay boost equivalent to the cost of living increases.

Hendrix said the union doesn't want Houston to have New York's financial difficulties "but we do think we are entitled to at least the seven per cent cost of living escalation.'

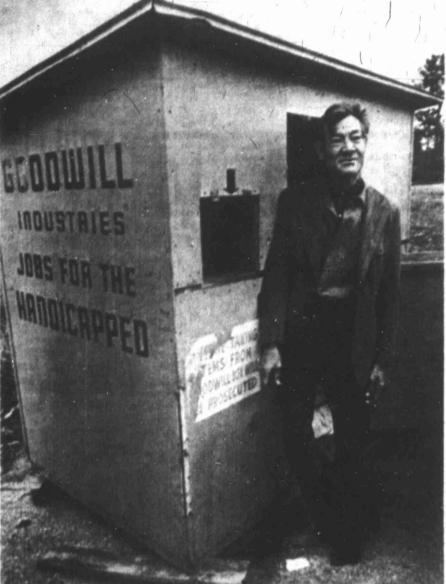

Hofheinz said the strike won't end until the bus drivers realize they can't get more money by striking.

"The people of Houston understand that we, as a city government, are not going to allow public employes to earn money simply because they have the right to strike," Hofheinz said.

Pitt Panthers new national champions

NEBRASKA'S BRIAN Banks leaps in the air, barely getting by Stu Klitenic, 34, of the University of South Carolina for a two pointer during one of Monday night's college basketball clashes. Roundup story is on page 4-B.

The Steelers failed to bring a football title to Pittsburgh this season but the Pitt Panthers did.

Barely one week after the defending pro champion Steelers were eliminated from the National Football League playoffs, the unbeaten and untied University of Pittsburgh Panthers were named today as winners of college football's national championship.

Pitt, which wrapped up its first allwinning season in 58 years Saturday by routing Georgia 27-3 in the Sugar Bowl for a 12-0 record, was an overwhelming and near-perfect winner in

Pitt, ninth in the preseason poll, moved up to third place by winning its opener handily against Notre Dame on the road 31-10. The Panthers then climbed into second place behind Michigan on the third weekend of the season and took over the top spot when the Wolverines were upset by Southern California, which won 11 games in a row, including a 14-6 triumph over Michigan in the Rose Bowl, after dropping its opener to Missouri 46-25, finished second in the final rankings. The Trojans received the other three first-place votes and 1.118 points in moving up from third in the final regular-season poll.

Michigan, which was No. 1 for the first eight weeks of the campaign, slipped from second to third with 847 points. Houston's Cinderella Cougars, unranked before the season, jumped from sixth to fourth with 804 points by upending previously unbeaten Maryland 30-21 in the Cotton Bowl.

Then came defending champion Oklahoma, up from eighth place to fifth with 638 points following a 41-7 Fiesta Bowl rout of Wyoming. The two-time champion Sooners, who got as high as third place early in the season, fell short in their bid for an unprecedented third consecutive national title.

Rounding out the Top Ten were Ohio State, 11th in the previous poll but a 27-10 winner over Colorado in the Orange Bowl; Texas A&M, up from 10th to seventh by walloping Florida 37-14 in the Sun Bowl; Maryland, down from fourth to eighth; Nebraska, the preseason leader, which jumped from 13th to ninth by downing Texas Tech 27-24 in the AstroBluebonnet Bowl; and Georgia, which was fifth in the previous ratings and had an outside shot at the national championship until losing to Pitt.

"That's great, great news," Pitt Coach Johnny Majors said in Honolulu when he was informed that the Panthers officially had been declared national champions. "I hope I get another one in the next 25 years.

Majors, who is leaving Pitt to become head coach at the University of Tennessee, pointed out that Tennessee has not won a national championship in 25 years.

"The bowl game made it overwhelming," Majors added. "I felt if we beat Georgia by a point we could have won it, but after we beat them by so much I felt very comfortable about our chances.

"On the way to Hawaii, we stopped in Los Angeles and people at the airport there, people I didn't even know, came up to me and said Pitt was the best team in all the bow games. And some of the players in the Hula Bowl said the same thing."

The AP's Second Ten consisted of Alabama, Notre Dame, Texas Tech, Oklahoma State, UCLA, Colorado, Rutgers, Kentucky, Iowa State and Mississippi State.

Notre Dame drops another one; unranked Princeton dumps Irish

By The Associated Press

It's back to the drawing board to work on fundamentals today for Notre Dame's slumping basketball team and dejected Coach Digger Phelps.

Notre Dame, No. 8 in this week's Associated Press poll, absorbed its second straight setback Monday night, losing on the road to unranked Princeton 76-62.

The Tigers utilized a tenacious defense and had little trouble solving Notre Dame's full-court press. The Fighting Irish failed to rattle Princeton, which worked the ball around for good shots and hit with consistency.

"Believe it or not." said Phelps, "we're a pressing team."

Bill Omeltchenko and Tim Olah, the Tigers' guards, displayed sound ballhandling ability. They dribbled around the Irish to kill time and consistently hit the open man, passing off with precision to set up the shots.

"But the other thing that beat us was turnovers," added Phelps. "I can't overemphasize this, both in our loss to Kentucky and tonight-they killed us.'

Notre Dame gave away the ball 26 times and also sent Princeton foul shooters to the free throw line 34 times

The Fighting Irish had won their first seven games, including victories over Maryland and UCLA, and had been ranked second nationally last week. But last Thursday night, Notre Dame traveled to Kentucky and was beaten by the Wildcats 102-78.

Princeton's success against the press also surprised Tigers Coach Pete Carril, still smarting from a recent setback by a pressing Rutgers club.

"We put in some different things against the press," Carril said. "It still can be trouble for us, but I thought Rutgers was a better pressing team than they were.

Notre Dame hit on only 39 per cent of its shots against Princeton's tough defense, the stingiest in the country. Don "Duck" Williams, the leading scorer for the Irish, connected on only three of 13 shots. The Tigers, in raising their record to 7-2, have allowed only 55 points per game.

Bob Slaughter topped Princeton with 19 points and Frank Sowinski hit six-for-six from both the floor and foul line and scored 18 points for the Tigers, who led 35-25 at halftime. Bill Paterno topped the Irish with 15.

James Lee powered Kentucky past Georgia, hitting a layup and two free throws for a rare four-point play with 1:22 left in overtime. With the Wildcats holding a one-point lead. Lee scored a basket after a steal, then made both of his free throws after an intentional foul had been called.

Jack Givens topped Kentucky, 8-1, with 17 points and Rick Robey, who scored the Wildcats' last eight points in regulation, added 16. Walter Daniels was high for Georgia with 20. Coach Joe Hall of Kentucky said,

"This was a key game for us because it was the first time we have played

AT WIT'S END Wearing robe for evening dress won't generate family's approval

By ERMA BOMBECK

Barbara Walters once related how she was invited to a state dinner in the Philippines. The dinner was to begin in ten minutes and Barbara had not brought along a long dress. She was about to decline the invitation when she had a flash. She would wear her red bathrobe, thus saving the day.

I have two acquaintances who have worn nightgowns to dinner parties. One was on the campaign trail and also didn't have a long dress and the other just thought her nightgown too pretty to waste in bed.

Don't those stories just turn your stomach

I don't have a nightgown in my drawer that would get me through an eighth grade prom - or a house call from my doctor, for that matter. Somehow. I cannot imagine myself showing up for a state dinner in the Philippines in a pair of blue scuffies, a flannel robe with a stomach button missing, spit-up on the shoulder (the baby is 18 years old) and pockets bulging from nose tissue that smells like vapor-rub. I took a turn the other day through the lingerie department and frankly. I can see how they got away with it. I've never seen so many beautiful gowns and robes in my entire life. "Here's one that's a luy," said the salesperson. She held up a satin gown. (The last time I saw anything that narrow, there was toothpaste in it.) "I'm afraid not. I have made it a rule of thumb that I do not wear anything to bed I have to wear a girdle under. "What about this one?" she asked, holding up a transparent bit of nylon. "I have also promised myself that I would never wear anything in bed that you had to wear a coat over. "What did you have in mind?" she asked. "Something with sleeves, a turtleneck . . . and a zip-in floor.' Then she held up a robe that was a knockout. Let me put it another way. If I had worn it to the ball when my husband was elected Governor, it's wear again to his eyes were upon me when my husband looked up and said, "Hurry up and get dressed. We're leaving in ten minutes.

Whatya wanta bet? Barbara Walters could have worn the same thing and looked like a million dollars.

Attorney General-designate Griffin Bell waves as he arrives at the Supreme Court Monday, where he visited with Chief Justice Warren E. Burger.

Bell for busing only as 'last resort'

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - Attorney General-designate Griffin Bell said Monday that he favors assigning pupils to neighborhood schools and believes that busing should be used to achieve school desegregation only as "a last resort."

THE MIDLAND REPORTER-TELEGRAM, TUE., JAN. 4, 1977

"We're going to try to improve the educational process, while at the same time according everyone their constitutional rights." Bell told reporters during a brief meeting at the Justice Department.

His nomination has come under fire from black groups that dialike some of his decisions in civil rights cases during his 15-year career as a federal appeals judge.

This opposition has made Bell perhaps the most controversial of President-elect Jimmy Carter's cabinet choices. In an effort to defuse the criticism, Bell has told black leaders that he will name a black as either deputy attorney general or solicitor general, the Justice Department's second-and thirdranking jobs.

Monday he said that he has "someone in mind" for solicitor general. Although he refused to divulge the name, his remarks left the impression that it is Wade H. McCree, 56, a black and a judge of the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals

Bell conceded that McCree was on his list for the solicitor general post. But Bell added that since McCree is an active judge, it would be inappropriate at this time to discuss whether he will leave the federal bench to join the Justice Department.

Bell said he also had given considerable thought to the deputy attorney general appointment but had not yet made any decision. As to other key posts such as director of the FBI, he said: "I haven't gotten that far yet. I've only focused on the deputy attorney general and solicitor general so far

In any case, Bell said, he does not plan to announce his choices for subordinate posts until he is confirmed as attorney general. Sources on the Senate Judiciary Committee said Monday that the committee probably would begin confirmation herings on Bell sometime next week.

They said the date probably will be fixed later this week when Bell meets with the committee chairman, Sen. James Eastland (D-Miss.), and other committee members. Bell is in Washington for four days of courtesy calls on congressional leaders and briefings at the Justice Department.

In his meeting with reporters Bell said he had only just started the briefing process and thus was not yet sufficiently informed to discuss such problems as whether the Justice Department, under his direction, would pursue investigations inot abuses of power by the FBI and the Central Intelligence Agency.

The one policy area where he did answer questions in some detail involved school desegregation. On that subject he outlined a point of view that sounded basically in accord with his own past statements, those made by Carter during the presidential campaign and the present policies of the Justice Department.

Bell noted that the Supreme Court has endorsed busing as a remedy for situations where schools have been segregated through deliberate official acts, such as pupil assignment or the drawing of school-district boundaries. In such cases, he said, the Justice Department would continue to press for the use of busing as a corrective. Under outgoing Attorney General Edward H. Levi, the department generally has opposed busing as a remedy in cases of so-called de facto segregation - those created by racial population concentrations. Last summer the department, at President Ford's order, drew up proposed legislation that would limit busing to situations of officially created school segregation. Although Bell said nothing about legislation, the thrust of his remarks indicated that he agreed with the general outlines of this approach.

He noted that busing "doesn't amount to much of a problem in small, rural school districts, where children always have been bused and where it's simply a question of reconstituting the bus routes.'

The big problem, he added, occurs in cities. He added: "I think it upsets most Americans to take children away from their neighborhoods.

Bell stressed several times that there would be situations where other measures would prove unworkable, and where as a last resort busing might be required.

However, he said, "I think neighborhood schools are preferable, all things being equal. And I think that almost all other Americans think the same way.'

Dear Dr. Solomon: Several people have suggested that, as I wear contact lenses, I probably should not wear eye makeup-at least, not mascara and eyeliner. Do you think I should stop using it?-Ginny B.

Dear Ginny: If you put your eye makeup on after your contact lenses are inserted, and if you are careful not to let your makeup get inside your lashes or in your eyes or lenses, there shouldn't be any problem.

In using eyeliner, take care to rim only the outer edge of the lid. Do not use it inside the lashes. As a matter of fact, this caution applies whether or not you are wearing lenses.

As to mascara, if you use the ordinary waterproof or cake varieties, not the long-lash kind, I don't think you will have any trouble-provided,* of course, you are careful in applying

There has been some question lately as to whether mascara is safe if it has been sitting around in your bathroom cabinet or on store shelves for more than six months. One researcher has recommended that all mascaras be discarded after four to six months of use because of the danger of bacterial contamination. The major cosmetic companies, however, clain that their precautions against this hazard are fully adequate.

However, one point I would like to make is this: Do not lend or borrow any kind of eye makeup. And always keep your mascara, shadow, liner,

- Members of Congress violate the Constitution when they discriminate against women in their employment practices, the Fifth U.S. Circuit Court of Passman, unlike most employers in sex bias disputes, wrote Davis a letter of dismissal that praised her work but flatly stated his preference for a male flicting interests must be harmonized. not dichotomized. Finding that our Constitution protects individual rights, even against the mighty, we remand this case for trial."

The court branded as "patently ridiculous" Passman's suggestion in Legislators enjoy immunity for legislative acts, the court noted, but not when they act outside the sphere of legitimate legislative activity. The assumption that legislators could not be held liable for sex discrimination has been widespread despite angry reactions to last year's congressional sex scandals and charges that women had been cajoled into performing sexual favors in order to keep their jobs. About 50 House members agreed voluntarily last year to arbitrate employe civil rights complaints. The Senate passed a resolution denouncing employment bias but provided no mechanism to handle complaints.

The

eals ruled Monday

Unless overturned by the Supreme Court, the ruling will expose senators and representatives to personal liability and payment of damages for job discrimination for which they had been considered immune from any redress.

"Our Constitution protects individual rights, even against the mighty." the court said in ruling that former Rep. Otto E. Passman (D-La.), must defend against bias charges brought by Shirley Davis, whom he dismissed in 1974 as his administrative assistant in Monroe, La

A U.S. district judge had dismissed the Davis suit but the appellate court, splitting 2 to 1, reinstated it, holding that if she proved her case, Passman violated her right, grounded in the Fifth Amendment, to equal protection under the law.

Most experts on sex discrimination had considered such a sweeping constitutional victory highly unlikely. They conceded - and complained bitterly - that federal laws against sex discrimination did not bind Congress or its members.

in the job

Passman, who served for 30 years before his primary defeat last year, could not restore Davis to her $18,000a-year job even if he wanted to, but the court held that her claim for damages and lost wages kept the case alive.

"Rep. Passman was free, within constitutional limits, to dismiss Davis at any time," the majority said, "but if the actual dismissal is found at trial to have been unconstitutional, then lost salary should be taken into account in assessing damages."

Passman's claim of immunity and his denial of discriminatory motive were both rejected by Chief Judge John R. Brown and Judge Irving L. Goldberg. Senior judge Warren L. Jones dissented, accusing the majority of invading the exclusive domain of Congress.

"In this case," the majority said, "a member of the United States Congress unflinchingly asserts that the Constitution allows him openly to discriminate against women. Although representatives admittedly have some insulation not wrapped around ordinary mortals, the con-his letter that the job called for a man because of its "diversity" and 'unusually heavy workload." It said the qualifications for an administrative assistant's post "simply have nothing to do with gender."

The court continued 'Rep. Passman's contention that the constitutional ban on unjustified sex discrimination does not restrict the actions of members of Congress is equally untenable. He argues, in effect, that his congressional status endows him with an open-ended right to discriminate irrespective of time, place and condition of the discrimination A representative is

Police checking pair of thefts

Police are investigating the theft of nearly $600 worth of goods from two residences Monday.

Graham enters not to buy.

(AP) — The Rev. Billy Graham has entered the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., for treatment of phlebitis, an aide said.

T. W. Wilson, an official with Graham's evangelistic association, said the gospel evangelist will undergo tests Mon-day. He did not disclose any details concerning Graham's condition.

Graham has suffered from phlebitis in the past. The disease is an inflammation and clogging of a periodicals.

That trick is the end of South. There are several ways for him to continue the play, but none of them will birng him happiness.

For example, suppose South takes two rounds of trumps and starts on the diamonds. He discards a heart on the third diamond, but West ruffs and takes two more heart tricks now that dummy is out of trumps. West gets a trump and three hearts.

MUST NOT GOBBLE A bridge player does not gobble up that queen of spades at the second trick. He sees that he must surely lose one trump trick but is safe if he loses that trick immediately.

Now it is West who cannot find happiness. If West leads another trump, South can draw trumps and run the diamonds safely. If West, instead, leads hearts, dummy can ruff the third heart. Life is much easier for the bridge player than for poor fish.

Constable discovered

KERMIT, Tex. (AP) - A peace officer who was said to have been carrying at least $9,000 cash was found slain today and the money was missing

He was Constable S.A. Weaver of Kermit, in his late 60s and a well-to-do water well driller in addition to his official duties.

Sheriff Bill Adams said Weaver was shot nine times, apparently with a small caliber weapon, but there were no empty cartridges or gun near the body. It was found before dawn two miles west of Kermit beside the constable's car, which was halted with a door open at the roadside.

Adams said Weaver customarily carried large amounts of money and had planned to buy a new car for his wife.

FEA report to provide gas debate ammunition

WASHINGTON (AP) - A federal energy official saidMonday that a soon-to-be released report on federal controls is likely to provide ammunition for both sides in the debate over whether or not to deregulate the price of gasoline.

BOSTON (AP) - American and Canadian planes were ordered out over the North Atlantic today to search for a Panamanian tanker missing with 8 million gallons of heavy oil aboard.

A limited search Monday failed to turn up any sign of the Grand Zenith, which had been expected to arrive at Providence, R.I., on Sunday.

The 18,717-ton, 644-foot vessel left Teesport, England, on Dec. 19, and was last heard from Thursday in a position about 30 miles southsoutheast of Cape Sable, Nova Scotia, the U.S. Coast Guard said.

"People have been trying to raise her by radio for several days with no luck," said Coast Guard Lt. Michael Calabro.

On Monday, a Canadian plane searched the northern part of the lifting the gasoline controls. "Philosophically, the report favors decontrol," Hardy said. "But it will

CHICAGO III - Standard Oil Co. of Indiana this morning announced a new Iranian oil field in which it holds 45.4 per cent interest has gone on production.

The Ardeshir field, in the Persian Gulf, is producing about 30,000 barrels of oil daily from 10 wells. Additional drilling, which will increase producing rates, currently is under way from two offshore platforms.

Iran Pan American Oil Co. is operator in the Gulf for the partners. National Iranian Oil Co. and Amoco Iran Oil Co., which is owned by Standard Oil Co. of Indiana.

Ardeshir is the fourth field in the gulf for Iran Pan American, the largest offshore operator in Iran.

Fields placed in production earlier are Darius, Cyrus, and Fereidoon.

The Ardeshir field is located in water depths of about 130 feet approximately 52 miles from the Kharg Island export terminal

A spokesman for Standard in Chicago said the first entry of Ardishir crude into the international market took place last weekend when the tanker Amoco Europa loaded for Amoco (U.K) Ltd.'s Milford Haven, Wales, refinery.

ship's expected course from Cape Sable to Providence. A U.S. Coast Guard helicopter searched to the south from Nantucket to Narragansett Bay

The U.S. cutter Dallas, searching the middle part of the course, remained at sea overnight. A spokesman said ports where the Grand Zenith might have put in had been checked without success. Ships in the North Atlantic were asked to be on the tookout for the vessel

In Providence, a spokesman for the ship's agent said he was not worried. 'This is not unusual for something like this. I went through it the other day with another vessel and she's in port now. It's probably a breakdown in communication," said Patrick Marcello of J.bf. Moran Co.

Tom Sullivan of the same firm said he understood the Grand Zenith had encountered "heavy weather.

The Grand Zenith's cargo was the same kind of oil carried by the Argo Merchant, the Liberian vessel that ran aground off Nantucket and spilled 7.6 million gallons into the ocean when it broke up under the pounding of heavy seas five days later.

The Grand Zenith flew the American flag until about two years Elcor Chemical; drilling below ago. Its home port was listed now as Panama City.

Panama, like Liberia, is used to register ships by owners who want to avoid paying high American or European wages.

Expert says beaches face future problems

NANTUCKET, Mass. (AP) -Pollution cleanup crews have left Cape Cod, but a marine expert says southern Atlantir beaches could have future problems with the oil that spilled from the Argo Merchant.

Dr. Jerry Galt of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration said if the spill gets caught in the Gulf Stream it probably will head northeast toward Iceland and Great Britain. It then could be swirled around in the current's clockwise direction and head southwest toward Bermuda, he said.

"But we're talking about a long time," he said. "And we're not talking about a massive slick, but a slight increase in the amount of tar balls that will wash up on shore."

A Coast Guard spokesman said cleanup crews that had been in the Chatham-Orleans area of Cape Cod since the tanker ran aground Dec. 15 were released Monday. The crews could be called back within three hours if needed, he said.

The crews were sent home after weather forecasts and an analysis of the spill's movement indicated it would take two to three days for any oil to reach the Chatham area if winds became easterly.

an area 215 miles long and about 100 miles wide and is about 90 miles off Nantucket Island at its closest, the spokesman said. Most of the oil is contained in a teardrop shape 120 miles long and 40 miles wide at its broadest point.

The Coast Guard said oil still leaked from the tanker's bow section, which was sunk Friday by 12 rounds of 20mm cannon fire.

Galt said much of the oil was caught in an eddy on the north edge of the warm Gulf Stream, about 150 to 200 miles eastsoutheast of the wrecked tanker. 3

"The oil appears to be going around and around in this loop," said Galt, who has been helping map the slick. 'The loop is not a permanent feature: it moves along. But we can be fairly certain the oil is getting into warmer water.'

He said the warmer water could make some difference in the way the oil disperses, perhaps by stepping up the process.

Oceanographers and wildlife scientists are trying to determine how the rich fishing grounds off the New England coast will be affected by the spill, the largest ever off the U.S. coast.

IRA, Tex. (AP) - An inland oil spill on the Colorado River got prompt attention Tuesday, as state police and others worked through the predawn hours to clean up the mess.

The 150 barrels of Texas crude spilled from a tank truck which rolled over on Texas 350, patrolman Jim Grenato said.

The driver of the truck, which belonged to a Midland company, was not injured, Grenato reported.

The slick spread towards the E.V. Spence Reservoir, which supplies water to Big Spring, San Angelo, Midland and Odessa, the officer said.

However, the clean-up was said to have been successful, and the oil will not pollute the reservoir, according to Owen Ivy, director of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Tag switchers make own 'sales'

SONOMA, Calif. (AP) - You see a lot of sales in stores after Christmas, and a college professor says some shoppers make their own markdowns by switching price tags on merchandise.

Unlike shoplifters, switchers pay for whatever they select, says Dr. John Steiner, a Sonoma State College sociologist who has interviewed scores of switchers in California. By substituting a $79.95 price tag for a $99.95 price tag, they are able to knock 20 per cent off an item they want.

Steiner, who says he has switched tags himself many times as an experiment without getting caught, became interested in switching as a criminal activity about which little is known. He found that unlike shoptifters, switchers tend to come from fairly affluent, religious and well-educated families.

Steiner puts the annual loss to business from switchers in the millions, with the phenomenon occurring primarily in supermarkets, department stores and, to a lesser extent, drug and discount outlets.

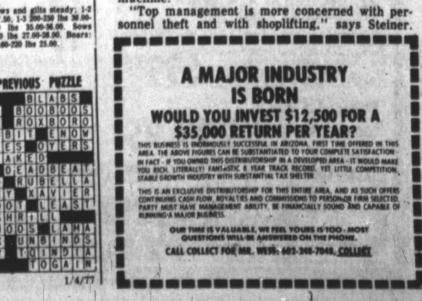

Switchers usually don't get caught, he says, because cashiers who have to cope with the constantly changing prices of their store's sales simply ring up whatever they read on the price tag.

Even if a switcher is stopped at a checkout stand, it's often difficult to prove he or she was the one who switched the tags, and many simply walk away, Steiner notes.

"Stores tend to be lenient because switchers are some of their best customers," Steiner said. 'Switchers are usually intelligent, middle class whites responding to a spontaneous desire. Most of those I interviewed claimed they feel 'ripped off' by business They resent what they see as excessive profits and price tag switching is their way to correct inequities by a spontaneous act of self-serving justice."

Retailers are reluctant to discuss switchers but concede they have taken steps against them. Most common is the use of adhesive price labels that have to be torn off or plastic tags that must be removed by machine.

"Top management is more concerned with personnel theft and with shoplifting." says Steiner.

Ford to ask for gasoline price lift today

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Ford is setting the stage for one more battle with Congress in his last 16 days in office as he moves to lift federal price controls on gasoline.

The President was to announce his proposal today as the new 95th Congress opened.

Congress then will have 15 days in which to veto Ford's proposal. If Congress does not act, the lid will be off gas prices on Jan. 19, the day before Ford leaves office.

Gasoline is the last major oil product remaining under price control at the retail level. The ceilings were imposed in 1973 when petroleum shortages following the Arab oil boycott caused prices to rise.

Administration officials admit that avoiding a congressional veto may be a close call for Ford because of increasing sentiment among the lawmakers for leaving this issue to incoming Democratic President Carter.

There is wide disagreement about the impact of any end to price lids.

Administration spokesmen contend that ending controls on gasoline will have little immediate effect on prices at the gas pump. And they say in the long range it will provide incentives for the industry to increase exploration and refinery capacity.

Oil companies now are charging less than they are allowed for gasoline, a White House spokesman pointed out, because of competition and lack of demand.

The Federal Energy Administration estimates the price of unleaded gas could go up two cents a gallon. The FEA estimates the average price nationally for regular gasoline now is 60 cents a gallon.

Congressional critics, however, claim consumers could see much higher price boosts and that there would be increased inflation and higher unemployment as a result. They estimate that lifting price controls, coupled with recent price boosts by the oil exporting countries, could cost consumers as much as $8.9

A study by the Congressional Research Service asserts that the end of controls would add up to eight cents to the price of a gallon of gas.

The study was released Monday by Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., who predicted Ford's decontrol plan will be defeated in Congress.

Jackson said Ford's bid was timed so that the end of controls would result in no immediate price hike bcause winter demand is traditionally slack and storage tanks are full. Instead, Jackson said, the increase would come in June when vacations start.

Carter dictates code for aides

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) - Presidentelect Carter today made public a tough ethics code for top government officials and pledged to free himself of any possible conflict of interest by turning over his prosperous peanut business to trustees who will lease or sell it.

The ethics code requires presidential nominees, starting with Cabinet members, to divest themselves of any holdings that could conflict with their government duties and to submit detailed statements of their personal wealth.

In addition, for the first time, they must sign a pledge to remain in government for their full appointed term, unless dismissed sooner. They also must agree that for two years after leaving government they will avoid any private job that would cause them to deal with their old departments or agencies on matters that concerned them as federal officials. "It is the objective of the new administration to avoid any conflict which could in any way influence any government officer except in the even interest of all the people," said the written guidelines. Another announcement said Carter's interest in Carter Farms Inc., which consists of agricultural real estate in this area, and Carter's Warehouse, a partnership that buys peanuts from area farmers for subsequent marketing, will be transferred to a special trust It was not immediately clear what would happen to $25,781 in common stocks owned by Carter's wife, Rosalynn. A Carter aide had said last September that Carter would sell his stock holdings if elected.

the discretion of the trustee." the announcement said.

In either event, it said, "neither Jimmy Carter, his wife nor children will be affected financially from profits or losses of any of the warehouse operations.

Under the guidelines applying to appointees, those named to the two highest federal pay levels will have to divest themselves of any interests that would "more than rarely" cause them to disqualify themselves because of possible conflicts.

Those named to lower-paying jobs would be required to divest themselves of private holdings only if "disqualification will seriously impair the capability of the officer to perform the duties of the office to which nominated

Carter's interest in Carter Farms was valued at $348,444 on Dec. 31. 1975, and his interest in Carter's Warehouse was valued at $330,062.

The land owned by Carter Farms will be retained in the trust so long as he is president and will be rented for an annual fixed amount.

"Thus," the announcement said, "the Carter family will not be affected financially from profits or losses of any of the farm operations."

Carter's Warehouse, in which the President-elect is the principal partner, while brother Billy and mother Lillian have minority interests, "will be either leased for four years for a fixed amount, or sold, at

95th Congress opens with Senate elections

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter's economic program by in-Democratic controlled 95th Congress is opening its two-year residence in the Capitol with new leadership and an avowed eagerness to work with the first Democrat to occupy the White House in eight years.

President-elect Carter takes over the White House from President Ford on Jan. 20, but congressional Democrats plan to get a quick start on troducing a $4 billion public works jobs bill.

When Carter does take office. Democrats will have solid control of both the legislative and executive branches of government and apparently will have the kind of power they have not had since Lyndon Johnson's landslide victory in 1964. But before embarking on any legislative programs. Democratic and Republican senators today scheduled selection of new leaders at closed party caucuses.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., was expected to defeat Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., in the contest to succeed retiring Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., as majority leader. Byrd served as assistant majority leader for the past six years.

On the Republican side, Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan and Sen. Howard H. Baker of Tennessee were competing for minority leader, to succeed retiring Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania.

The contests for leadership posts in the House were decided last month. Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., with solid Democratic backing, will succeed Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma as speaker. Rep. Jim Wright of Texas was the choice to succeed O'Neil] as majority leader.

The only holdover among congressional leaders will be Rep. John Rhodes of Arizona as House minority leader.

Democrats have controlled Congress since 1955. But for the past eight years, Republicans held the White House and used the presidential veto power to thwart many Democratic sponsored programs.

Rep. Robert A. Roe, D-N.J. chairman of the public works subcommittee that handled the jobs bills. said Monday a bill potentially adding another $4 billion to the jobs program would be introduced at the opening session with the support of the Democratic leadership and the President-elect.

The expanded jobs program is a critical element of Carter's program to stimulate the economy.

Going by the numbers, Democrats have enough power to do pretty much what they want. They hold a 62 to 38 margin in the Senate and control the House 292 to 143.

Wright says if Carter follows through on his promise to seek close cooperation with Congress "the opportunity exists for the closest relationship between the executive and Congress since I have been here.' And Wright has "been here" for 22 years.

Although Carter takes office in just over two weeks, the federal budget Congress will receive on Jan. 17, will come from Ford. The outgoing President also will give Congress his final view of the state of the union as well as an economic message.

If you must get sick, try to be in Midland

Should you chance to fall ill, Midland Memorial Hospital's Pat Dishman suggests that "you had better get sick out here" where the high cost of hospitalization is, well, less than exorbitant.

. As high as we are, we are not as high as New York or Los Angeles," Miss Dishman said. She's director of the hospital's public relations and development programs.

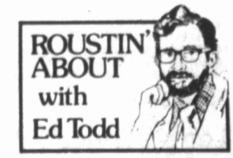

Of course, if she has got an ounce of the Good Samaritan in her soul, and she does, she wouldn't wish that anybody would be visited by any disease or man-caused or "natural" injury. Oh, no.

But people naturally and, sometimes, unnaturally do get out of sorts, and hospitals are set up to help the ailing get reconstituted.

And lying around in a sick man's hotel, where physicians and surgeons make room calls, can be depressingly expensive and, at the same time, physically uplifting.

The hospital, at an average cost of $71 per day per patient, provides "just, quote, 'the hotel services.'" On top of that are the doctors' fees, drug costs, and other expenses, such as those for therapy, x-rays, tests and untold things the layman couldn't imagine

Up at New York or across the way to LA, those "hotel services" well exceed $100 per patient per day, she said.

That's little enough consolation, however, when you're figuring out how to square with the hospital when it's time to check out. Gracious, you can thank the stars or some clever risk-taking enterprise for insurance, which has become the financial "lifesaver" for both patient and hospital.

And the hospital, like most families on a "limited" budget, has problems of its own. Administrator, Wayne E. Ulrich, for instance, has a payroll to meet for some 450 employes - from nurses, therapists and technicians to dishwashers, grounds keepers and bill collectors.

To do that and to try to keep the 180bed hospital abreast of technological developments in medicine and health care on a $6 million budget takes a bit of doing and, probably, some honest compromising. (No juggling

The executive board will meet Jan. 11 to select a consensus candidate to put before the UAW's convention in Los Angeles. That choice is virtually assured formal election by voting delegates.

Union Vice Presidents Irving Bluestone, 59, and Duane "Pat' Greathouse, 61, had indicated they would challenge Fraser for the $47,000-a-year post, but only if they felt they had enough votes.

Several union sources, including both supporters and detractors of Fraser, had said he could count on support of as many as two-thirds of the board members.

Woodcock, who is stepping down in May at the mandatory retirement age of 65, said both Bluestone and Greathouse had "informed me they are not pressing their candidacies" and were supporting Fraser.

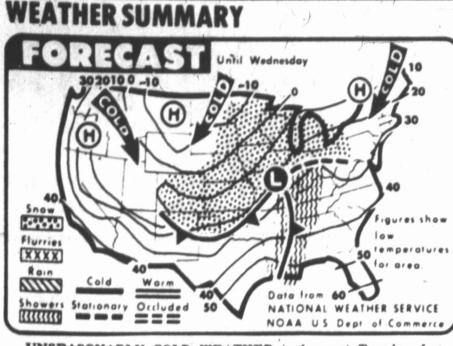

Fraser is director of the UAW's Chrysler Corp. and skilled trades departments. He also is in charge of white collar organizing and the union's political arm in Michigan, Community Action Program (CAP).

Bluestone succeeded Woodcock as head of the General Motors Corp. department. Greathouse heads the American Motors Corp. farm implement and organizing departments.

allowed.) The hospital "made" $3,380 in its last fiscal year.

Of the $71 it costs the hospital to room and board one patient for one day, the hospital takes in about $67 from the patient (or his insurance agent).

To make the hospital a paying proposition. Miss Dishman said, the difference is made up by donations and contributions to the this nonprofit, private (not tax-supported) venture

The hospital, like every human on earth, is far from complete; it's not perfect. "We haven't done everything right," Miss Dishman, without conceding anything, said.

In an upgrading program, the hospital is seeking $10 million in a capital fund drive.

And though the Midland hospital doesn't have the ready services of a neurosurgeon, it does have "all of the equipment" to put a brain doctor in business, so to speak.

Because of that deficiency, the hospital has to transfer elsewhere, such as to Medical Center Hospital in Odessa, patients who have suffered head injuries, Miss Dishman said.

While doctors and nurses take care of the ailing. Miss Dishman's task is to help create and maintain a favorable public image of the hospital.

"It's not boring," she said of her PR work. "It's a real challenge; it's very rewarding.

One of her chores is taking an opinion survey of ex-patients. The response is about 30 per cent, which Miss Dishman terms as excellent.

"We get both (favorable and unfavorable comments)," she said. "They are very helpful. If we get one back and it's got a complaint on it, we try to solve the problem.

More complaints are returned about the quality of food there than just about anything else, she indicated.

Nobody likes hospital food," she said. "(But) I don't think it's quite that bad

Occasionally, someone will complain about the seeming rudeness or abruptness of a nurse or aide. Overall, Miss Dishman's task is "to improve the public awareness" of the hotel's health-care services

"Of course," -she said, "you have public relations whether you have a program or not

Moving expenses incurred through job change may be tax deductible

If you have moved to a new residence because of a change in your principal place of work, the expenses you have incurred may be tax deductible. Moreover, such "moving expenses" are deductible whether you itemize deductions or take the standard deduction because they are subtracted from gross income in computing "adjusted gross income." says the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants.

What are the requirements which you must meet in order to qualify for the deduction? The following is a summarization of the rules:

1 - The distance from the old residence to the new place of work must be at least 50 miles farther than from the old residence to the old place of work.

2 — You must be a full time employe in the general location of your new place of employment for at least 39 weeks of the 12-month period immediately following your new employment. If you are self-employed, you must, during the 24-month period following arrival at your new prinyou may take the deduction anyway provided you reasonably expect to satisfy the test. Or you may wait until the requirement is met and file an amended tax return.

Deductible moving expenses include: (1) the cost of transporting members of the household, and their household goods and effects to the new residence; (2) the cost of meals and lodging en route; (3) temporary living expenses (for up to thirty days and not to exceed $1,000) at a new job location; and (4) expenses incident to the sale, purchase, or lease of a residence, such as attorney's fees and real estate commissions; (5) expenses of traveling, after obtaining employment, from the former residence to the new job location and return for the purpose of finding a new residence. The deduction for items (3) - (5) is limited to an overall amount of $2,500.

Deduction of moving expenses should be shown on Form 3903 which is filed with your federal income tax return.

Many more items will be covered at

Classes will be held on Jan. 11 and 13. 1977, between 7 and 10 p.m. in the Learning Resource Center of Midland College.

Instructors are certified public accountants who are experienced in tax return preparation. The Internal Revenue Service furnishes the course material including the informative booklet, "Your Federal Income Tax." One dollar per person or $1.50 per couple is charged for this course.

Four seek top party posts

WASHINGTON (AP) - With the opening of the 95th Congress, members of the Senate are selecting their new party leaders. House leaders already have been chosen.

Sens. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota were rival contenders for Senate Democratic leader.

Competing for the top GOP post were Sens. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan and Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee Here is a look at the candidates for the top party leadership posts in the Senate, followed by profiles of the new leaders in the House of Representatives. SENATE DEMOCRATS

-Robert C. Byrd, 59, was elected last November to a fourth term in the Senate. He is known as a hard worker and a master of Senate rules and procedures.

Byrd has been the party whip, or deputy leader, since 1971 when he wrested the post away from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass. He is more conservative than many of his Democratic colleagues and not well known nationally.

-Hubert H. Humphrey, 65, was the Democratic candidate for president in 1968 after serving as vice president under Lyndon Johnson. A man of energy, he previously was a leading battler in the Senate for civil rights measures and liberal social and economic legislation. Last fall he underwent surgery for removal of a cancerous bladder

-Robert Griffin, 53, a member of the Senate for 10 years, has been GOP whip since 1969. Previously, as a member of the House, he helped engineer the election of Gerald Ford as the Republican leader and the two have long been fast friends. He generally has steered a middle course between party conservatives and liberals.

-Howard Baker, 51, the keynote speaker at last summer's GOP convention, is in his second Senate term. He received national attention earlier as vice chairman of the special Watergate investigating committee. In 1969 and again in 1971 he ran for Senate GOP leader, losing narrowly each time to Hugh Scott, who has retired

HOUSE DEMOCRATS Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill, 64, a bulky 6-foot-3 Boston Irishman, is the new speaker of the House.

SNAP-HAPPY

He advanced to the top House post without opposition in his party after Speaker Carl Albert of Oklahoma announced his retirement. O'Neill had served in the second post, majority leader, since 1972.

Gregarious, partisan and schooled by a lifetime in politics, O'Neill has promised to be a strong speaker, saying "Vacillation is always a problem in leadership, but it's not going to be mine."

O'Neill came to Congress in 1952 by winning the seat John F. Kennedy left for the Senate.

-Rep. Jim Wright of Texas comes to the post of House majority leader by winning the closest party election in recent memory. Democrats elected him by one vote over Rep. Phillip Burton of California, who had been expected to win.

Wright, 55, had held no previous party post in the House higher than deputy whip. He came to Congress in 1955.

Puerto Ricans amazed by Ford announcement

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) -"Is it a joke, or is it true?" telephone callers demanded of San Juan newspapers after President Ford announced he would propose legislation to make Puerto Rico the 51st state

Samuel del Valle heard the news on a broadcast shortly after 2 p.m. last Friday and nearly lost control of his car. Rene Quinones fell off his chair in a restaurant.

The Puerto Rican version of April Fools' Day is Dec. 28, the Day of the Innocents, and one wag cracked, "In his usual slow way, Ford missed it by three days.'

More than half of those questioned by the San Juan Star newspaper refused to give an opinion. Of those who did, most disapproved of the way Ford handled the matter.

The only political talk on the beaches was about President-elect Carter, and there wasn't much of that. The major concern was the sun and which combination of oils and lotions produced the best tan.

Pitt Panthers new national champions

By The Associated Press

The Steelers failed to bring a football title to Pittsburgh this season but the Pitt Panthers did.

Barely one week after the defending pro champion Steelers were eliminated from the National Football League playoffs, the unbeaten and untied University of Pittsburgh Panthers were named today as winners of college football's national championship.

Pitt, which wrapped up its first allwinning season in 58 years Saturday by routing Georgia 27-3 in the Sugar Bowl for a 12-0 record, was an overwhelming and near-perfect winner in Michigan, which was No. 1 for the first eight weeks of the campaign, slipped from second to third with 847 points. Houston's Cinderella Cougars, unranked before the season, jumped from sixth to fourth with 804 points by upending previously unbeaten Maryland 30-21 in the Cotton Bowl.

Then came defending champion Oklahoma, up from eighth place to fifth with 638 points following a 41-7 Fiesta Bowl rout of Wyoming. The two-time champion Sooners, who got as high as third place early in the season, fell short in their bid for an unprecedented third consecutive national title.

Rounding out the Top Ten were Ohio State, 11th in the previous poll but a 27-10 winner over Colorado in the Orange Bowl; Texas A&M, up from 10th to seventh by walloping Florida 37-14 in the Sun Bowl; Maryland, down from fourth to eighth: Nebraska, the preseason leader, which jumped from 13th to ninth by downing Texas Tech 27-24 in the AstroBluebonnet Bowl; and Georgia, which was fifth in the previous ratings and had an outside shot at the national championship until losing to Pitt.

"That's great, great news," Pitt Coach Johnny Majors said in Honolulu when he was informed that

FEA report to provide gas debate ammunition

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal energy official saidMonday that a soon-to-be released report on federal controls is likely to provide ammunition for both sides in the debate over whether or not to deregulate the price of gasoline.

Randall W. Hardy, a staff aide at the Federal Energy Administration, said the report - due to be released this week — is likely to be cited by both those who favor and oppose lifting the gasoline controls.

BOSTON (AP) - American and Canadian planes were ordered out over the North Atlantic today to search for a Panamanian tanker missing with 8 million gallons of heavy oil aboard.

A limited search Monday failed to turn up any sign of the Grand Zenith, which had been expected to arrive at Providence, R.I., on Sunday.

The 18,717-ton, 644-foot vessel left Teesport, England, on Dec. 19, and was last heard from Thursday in a position about 30 miles southsoutheast of Cape Sable, Nova Scotia, the U.S. Coast Guard said.

"People have been trying to raise her by radio for several days with no luck," said Coast Guard Lt. Michael Calabro.

On Monday, a Canadian plane searched the northern part of the ship's expected course from Cape Sable to Providence. A U.S. Coast Guard helicopter searched to the President Ford is scheduled to formally ask the new Congress, which convenes Tuesday, to eliminate controls on gasoline prices.

Congress then will have 15 days in which to veto Ford's proposal. If Congress does not act, the lid will be off gas prices on Jan. 19, the day before Ford leaves office.

AUSTIN - The Texas Railroad Commission has authorized Wheeler Properties of Fort Worth to initiate a water injection program at the Leeper (Glorieta) field in Hockley County.

The applicant indicated in testimony filed with senior engineering examiner George Fi Singletary of the Commission's Oil and Gas Division that the injection program will result in the recovery of 1,150,000 additional barrels of oil.

The 1,250-acre lease involved in the project has six wells producing from the 6,000-foot horizon. Since the first well was completed last April, the lease has produced some 22,000 barrels of oil as of Nov. 1.

Tom Sullivan of the same firm said he understood the Grand Zenith had encountered "heavy weather."

The Grand Zenith's cargo was the same kind of oil carried by the Argo Merchant, the Liberian vessel that ran aground off Nantucket and spilled 7.6 million gallons into the ocean when it broke up under the pounding of heavy seas five days later.

The Grand Zenith flew the American flag until about two years ago. Its home port was listed now as Panama City.

NANTUCKET, Mass. (AP) Pollution cleanup crews have left Cape Cod. but a marine expert says southern Atlantir beaches could have future problems with the oil that spilled from the Argo Merchant.

Dr. Jerry Galt of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration said if the spill gets caught in the Gulf Stream it probably will head northeast toward Iceland and Great Britain. It then could be swirled around in the current's clockwise direction and head southwest toward Bermuda, he said.

"But we're talking about a long time," he said. "And we're not talking about a massive slick, but a slight increase in the amount of tar balls that will wash up on shore."

A Coast Guard spokesman said cleanup crews that had been in the Chatham-Orleans area of Cape Cod since the tanker ran aground Dec. 15 were released Monday. The crews could be called back within three hours if needed, he said.

The crews were sent home after weather forecasts and an analysis of the spill's movement indicated it. would take two to three days for any oil to reach the Chatham area if winds became easterly.

Tag switchers make own 'sales'

SONOMA, Calif. (AP) - You see a lot of sales in stores after Christmas, and a college professor says some shoppers make their own markdowns by switching price tags on merchandise.

Unlike shoplifters, switchers pay for whatever they select, says Dr. John Steiner, a Sonoma State College sociologist who has interviewed scores of switchers in California. By substituting a $79.95 price tag for a $99.95 price tag, they are able to knock 20 per cent off an item they want.

Steiner, who says he has switched tags himself many times as an experiment without getting caught, became interested in switching as a criminal activity about which little is known. He found that unlike shoptifters, switchers tend to come from fairly affluent, religious and well-educated families.

Steiner puts the annual loss to business from switchers in the millions, with the phenomenon occurring primarily in supermarkets, department stores and, to a lesser extent, drug and discount outlets.

Switchers usually don't get caught, he says, because cashiers who have to cope with the constantly changing prices of their store's sales simply ring up whatever they read on the price tag.

Even if a switcher is stopped at a checkout stand, it's often difficult to prove he or she was the one who switched the tags, and many simply walk away, Steiner notes.

"Stores tend to be lenient because switchers are some of their best customers," Steiner said. "Switchers are usually intelligent, middle class whites responding to a spontaneous desire. Most of those I interviewed claimed they feel 'ripped off' by business They resent what they see as excessive profits and price tag switching is their way to correct inequities by a spontaneous act of self-serving justice."

Retailers are reluctant to discuss switchers but concede they have taken steps against them. Most common is the use of adhesive price labels that have to be torn off or plastic tags that must be removed by machine.

"Top management is more concerned with personnel theft and with shoplifting," says Steiner.

Many want on insurance board

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Lots of people evidently want to be on the State Insurance Board or have people in mind to serve on the powerful board.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe is being flooded with recommendations. Insurance men say they hope he will give them a sympathetic ear on the agency.

Durwood Manford's term on the three-man board expires in four weeks, and board chairman Joe Christie has urged Briscoe to replace him.

Briscoe also has the option of not acting, which would leave Manford on the board but in limbo as far as his future is concerned.

Christie himself plans to resign some time this year to run for the U.S. Senate, so Briscoe will have a chance to fill two of the three positions on the board in 1977

"We've got a fairly large number of people that have been recommended," said George Lowrance, Briscoe's appointments secretary.

One name submitted to the governor is that of former Rep. Don Cavness of Austin, an insurance agent and lobbyist for a banking association. Confirmation by the Senate would be doubtful, though, because of opposition from Sen. Lloyd Doggett, who defeated Cavness in a 1973 special election.

Doggett said he hadn't expressed opposition to anyone yet but objects to "somebody from the insurance industry serving on the insurance board."

Other names reportedly submitted to Briscoe include David Pickett, a Dallas County commissioner; Tom Lukens of Bryan, who works for a firm that computerizes insurance agents' records; and former Sen. H. J. Blanchard of Lubbock. Christie once interviewed Lukens for the job of state insurance commissioner and describes him as "a very impressive guy."

An insurance lobbyist said Briscoe can expect a visit from industry representatives this month before Manford's term expires.

"I don't think anybody in the industry really wants a handmaiden. What they want is somebody who understands and knows how the industry works," he said Christie said he has made no recommendations to the governor but hopes Briscoe appoints "a consumer representative.

"I kind of like Carter's approach, and I hope Briscoe's-name a nonexpert with a wide range of abilities and let him consul the experts. That way you don't start out with a set mind.

40 wheat farmers Dallas worried about dealer citizens

IOWA PARK, Tex. (AP) - About 40 North Texas wheat farmers say they are concerned about their grain stored by an Iowa Park grain dealer who reportedly fell overboard from a cabin cruiser in the Gulf of Mexico early Monday

U.S. Coast Guard officials at Port Aransas said a three-hour air and ground search failed to turn up any trace of Robert Johnson, 43, of Iowa Park

Farmers who gathered at Johnson's grain office here Monday said they were worried because the office had been closed for several weeks and a note on the door said it would be closed until Jan. 6.

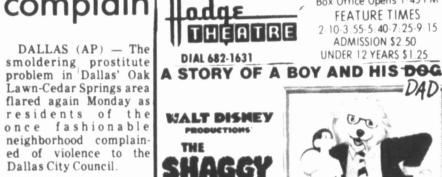

Herbert Cast, chief of storage contracts division of the Prairie revealed the wheat stored there was complain of a lower quality than that indicated by warehouse receipts

H.C. Johnson could not be reached for comment.

A spokesman at the Wichita County county agent's office said she did not know any of the farmers. The manager of a feed store said he also didn't know any of the farmers and refused comment.

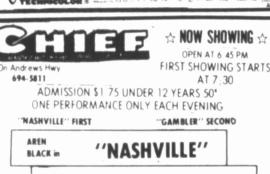

Johnson reportedly fell from the cabin cruiser Honey Beau just inside the Port Aransas jetties about 1:15 a.m. Monday.

Search parties were pessimisstic about Johnson's chances for survival in the 36-degree waters.

Tom Baker said a friend of his was stabbed by "two pimps" at a convenience store in the area because he refused their offer of a prostitute, and
