the AFL-CIO, who supported President-elect Carter's election bid. charge he has retreated from his campaign promises to reduce unemployment.

They said his two-year plan for a $23 billion to $30 billion economic program of economic stimulus "is too small, takes too long and is too illadvised to give the economy the stimulus it needs.'

The labor federation, in a statement Monday, said it would push instead for a $30 billion plan emphasizing direct job creation rather than tax

The policy dispute is the second time since Carter won the November election that labor leaders have ex-John T. Dunlop as labor secretary. Carter chose F. Ray Marshall for the

The AFL-CIO criticism of Carter's economic program was directed at his announcement last week, with the support of the Democratic leadership of Congress, of a $23 billion to $30 billion, two-year program that would include up to $11 billion in tax rebates on 1976 federal income taxes for individuals.

The package would also involve $7 billion to $10 billion in new government spending for job and public works programs over the 1977 and 1978 fiscal years, permanent tax cuts for low-and middle-income taxpayers and a small but permanent cut in business taxes

The AFL-CIO leaders called it a "retreat from the goals we understood President-elect Carter to have set during last year's campaign.'

Meanwhile, the Congressional Budget Office today said an economic package roughly comparable to Carter's could generate 610,000 jobs this year and 905,000 new jobs by the

The report by the nonpartisan office had been prepared before Carter disclosed his proposals last week.

ment intervention, the economy will continue to grow slowly - 3.5 per cent to 5 per cent - and there will still be up to 7.5 million persons unemployed by the end of this year.

The AFL-CIO said the key to the nation's economic problem is unemployment and the solution is jobs, adding that reliance on tax cuts and rebates instead of job-creating legislation was the least effective method of solving the problem.

Bentsen proposes election that labor leaders have expressed disappointment with him. The other grumbling came when Carter rejected their urgings to name labor. To Durkon as labor respectation.

providing a special tax credit for firms that expand their hiring during periods of high unemployment was being introduced today by Sen. Lloyd

In effect, the government would pay 5 per cent of the wages of persons hired above a base level. The tax credit would phase out as national unemployment drops.

"What we are talking about here is a solid, workable program to combat cycles of unemployment in this country and to do this by providing incentives through our free-enterprise system," Bentsen, D-Tex., said in a statement.

Under the Bentsen proposal, when national unemployment rises to 7 per cent of the labor force, an employer would get the tax credit for each worker he hires over a base of 90 per cent. At 6 per cent the base would be 95 per cent; at 5 per cent the base would be 100 per cent.

For example, if the national unemployment rate were 7 per cent, an employer with 100 persons on his payroll during the previous 12 months would get the special credit for each employe above 90 currently working. If the business kept its payroll at 100 and workers averaged $10,000 a year, the firm's income taxes would be cut by $5,000 - or 5 per cent of the total wages paid 10 workers.

Odessan about limit

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Rep. John Hoestenbach, D-Odessa, said today he again will crusade to wipe out insurance surcharges for Texans convicted of driving between 55 and 70 miles per hour on rural highways.

He said his bill would apply only to highways that were zoned 70 miles per hour before the federal government compelled Texas to drop its maximum speed to 55 m.p.h. in January 1974.

Legislature returns to 112 economy ideas to crusade

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Legislators who returned to work today had no less than 112 economy-in-government proposals to mull over, ranging from admission fees at state museums to merger of the three state water agen-

The "Hobby Commission" on government expenditures submitted its final report Monday.

"Implementation of these recommendations will not necessarily provide a less expensive state government, but will provide the means for controlling future growth and the opportunity for major changes," the

The 1975 Legislature created the Joint Advisory Committee on Government Operations and instructed it to seek ways of cutting costs of state government.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby chaired the 18member panel, and House Speaker Bill Clayton was vice-chairman.

The 112 recommendations included merger of the Texas Water Rights Commission, Texas Water Quality Board and Texas Water Development Board into a single water agency.

The commission said the cost of the three agencies had grown from $7.8 million in 1965 to $20.7 million because of new state programs, federal requirements and the growth of administrative and technical expenses. Also recommended was creation of a new Texas Department of Aging

Department of Child and Family Resources. The department on aging would consolidate services for the elderly now performed by the Governor's and Special Assistance and a Texas

Committee on Aging and the welfare department Services performed for children and young people by the welfare department, the Texas Youth Council and two divisions of the Texas Department of Community Affairs would be combined in the department of child and family resources.

Ceilings were recommended on expenditures for medical care of the needy and on state agency employ-

The commission recommended that the legislature petition Congress to remove from each state employe's taxable income base his or her contributions to the state retirement

If this were done, the commission said, "state employes' take home pay could be increased with no cost to the state. Another recommendation would halt the creation of new state colleges and expansion of "upper level" institutions to full four-year college

Other proposals would: -Increase the amount of idle state funds that are invested.

-Require state mental hospitals and community mental health and mental retardation centers to design joint follow-up plans before a patient is released.

-Halt the construction of new state schools for the retarded until "excess capacity has been exhausted."

Nominees likely to pass hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) - There may be a few tough questions waiting for some of President-elect Carter's Cabinet nominees, but all are expected to win Senate confirmation.

Senate committees opened hearings today on four of Carter's nominees to Cabinet posts and on Charles L. Schultze, tapped for the Cabinet-level job of heading the Council of Economic Advisers.

Testifying on Capitol Hill were Griffin B. Bell, nominated for attorney general; Harold Brown. nominated for defense secretary; Cyrus R. Vance, nominated for secretary of state, and Bob Bergland, nominated for secretary of agriculture.

Of the four Cabinet nominees, Bell and Brown were the two most likely to face tough questions. Vance pledged to make concern for human rights a fundamental part of U.S. foreign policy. We must have policies based on fundamental values," Vance told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. "We must stand for human rights without intervention' in other nations' affairs."

Vance stressed a commitment to maintaining peace and to conducting an open foreign policy. "All that can be disclosed in open session shall be disclosed," he promised.

Bergland told the Senate Agriculture Committee that he favors development of a global strategy for the world's food needs, with restraints if necessary on U.S. food sales

Bergland said he has discussed with Carter, Vance and Treasury secretary-designate Michael Blumenthal "the need to involve Agriculture in the highest parts of government and the need for the development of a global strategy for the world's food needs.'

Asked by Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan.,

if the Carter administration would put embargoes on food exports, Bergland avoided the use of the word embargo but said, "we need to use restraints. We have gone through devastating droughts in Minnesota last year, for instance, and if this should spread to other states we could be in trouble."

Bell, an Atlanta lawyer, is a onetime federal judge, longtime Carter friend and so far the most controversial of Carter's nominees.

The Senate Judiciary Committee scheduled hearings on Bell that could last several days. And while a number of black leaders and civil rights and liberal groups have requested time to speak out against Bell, there appeared to be little opposition to him from committee members.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., one of the committee's liberals, predicted on Monday that the panel will approve Bell "unless there is something we don't know now" that is revealed during the hearings.

French let prisoner go

PARIS (AP) - A French court today freed Abu Daoud, who allegedly commanded the slaying of Israeli athletes at the 1972 Munich Olympics, and within hours the Palestinian boarded a plane for Algiers.

The court rejected West German and Israeli requests that Daoud be extradited to their countries, saying there were no legal grounds for Daoud was whisked from the court to collect his belonginges at a Paris prison and was then rushed in a highspeed, sevencar official convoy to Orly airport for the flight.

When he was arrested last Friday, Daoud was carrying an Iraqi passport under another name. He maintained in court that this was his real identity.

Family gets bad start in beginning new year

The New Year was into its very first week, and a ranching family at the Midkiff community just across the county line ran into some bad luck.

But no one's the blame - only circumstances. (The family name used in the recounting of the eposide is Charity, a cover-up for the real one.)

Now for the tale: The family's pet horse, a 10-year-old mare affectionately called Josie, had taken ill. Bob Charity, the rancher, drove the ailing mare to Midland to be wormed by her vet "one day, and the next day she died" at home, the spouse, Ann, said.

Good-bye forever, fair Josie. Then came along an unnamed cow.

"Oh," dear Mrs. Charity recalled, "...we bought a cow (for $115) to feed out for meat, and she ran off, and we had no horse to go get her. But we did find her in the other people's Authority schedules project discussion

The status of Midland's first public housing project will be discussed Wednesday at the monthly meeting of the Midland Housing Authority's Board of Commissioners.

Also on the agenda will be a multifaceted discussion of the authority's housing rehabilitation program.

Death ruled accidental

ELDORADO — A coroner's inquest held by Schleicher County Justice of the Peace Frank Bradley ruled that the Jan. 2 shooting death of Midland resident Jay Franklin Halbert was accidental.

Halbert, 27, was killed instantly when struck by a single shot from a hunting rifle while deer hunting on an ranch near Eldorado.

Bradley said Halbert was standing in a tree, obscured from view. He was shot by Darryl Moody of Eldorado, who thought Halbert was an eagle, Brady said.

268 sign up at university

ODESSA — Registration for the upring semester at The University of Texas of the Permian Basin began Monday, with 268 persons signing up for classes.

Registration will continue from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. today and from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Wednesday. The Wednesday hours have been extended to accommodate students who work during the day.

City policemen checking thefts

The theft from a truck of a CB radio, clothing and brief case, all valued at $250, was reported to Midland city police Monday night.

The theft of the items belonging to Bernice Hopkins while the truck was parked next to the Mardi Gras Lounge, 2105 E. Front St. Entry was gained by breaking the right window, according to the police report.

Eugene Abbott will present the report on the status of construction on the project, Hillcrest Manor, which is located at Scharbauer Drive and Pecos Street. The 100-unit project will serve Midland's elderly and handicapped people.

Fred Kester, housing autority executive secretary, said the project is now about 25 per cent complete. The $1.85 million construction cost is being paid by the sale of project notes. The authority will hear from chairman Harry Clark on whether the Midland City Council gave its approval on an agreement for the rehabilitation of low-income homes in the city. That approval is expected at the council's meeting today. The city's financial obligation will be $160,000 through the end of September for the rehabilitation program, and this will cover the rehabilitation project itself, inspection services of the houses and whatever administrative expenses may occur The eligibility requirements of homeowners participating in the project will be evaluated, and an inspector will also likely be picked by the directors, Kester said. Unlike the housing project, the rehabilitation program will be open to all low-income homeowners who have an income limit within that set by the

No firm figures were provided on what this income limit will be, but it will be the same as that to be established for the occupants of the housing project, Kester said.

Commissioners soliciting bids for patrol cars

Midland County will advertise for bids on two cars for the sheriff's department and a depository for county funds, the county commissioners authorized Monday. The commissioners authorized the advertisement for bids on two chaseeguipped patrol cars requested by Sheriff Dallas Smith, asking Smith to work with auditor Erma White on the cars' specifications. Every two years the county must advertise for a depository for its available funds, Judge Barbara Culver said. Bids for the depository will be opened during a February through Midland. The wife was at the wheel and was barreling down the "He (the hubby) was reading the road map to see where they were going," and they ran right into the Charity pickup. No injuries. And both vehicles moved on. The crash threw the Midkiff couple behind schedule, so they drove directly to the livestock barn. "We came into town to buy (30) sheep, and this was not the time to buy sheep, so we ended up with three goats," Mrs. Charity said. They were affectionate goats, pet goats, not bound for the barbecue pit.

In other action Monday afternoon, the commissioners approved a resolution supporting the proposed SOHIO pipeline through Midland.

The friendly fellas wouldn't replace Josie, but they would help fill the void left in her passing into eternal "rest." Next, the couple drove to the bank, which was closed, but knocked on a side door and got in. Payment on the $16 check was ordered stopped. The ranching couple headed back to the livestock barn, loaded the three goats into the cattle trailer behind the pickup truck, and returned to Midkiff and to family life.

Now, for the story's end: Someone up at school found the lost check, which would surely "bounce" on the stop-the-payment command.

But the unwary school officials wanted the bad one. The good one came home.

1977 Legislature commences with $3 billion extra

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - The legislature convened today for the first time in 11/2 years, facing the temptation of spending a record $3 billion windfall resulting from Texas' booming economy.

Secretary of State Mark White gaveled the House into session, pending the expected re-election of Speaker Bill Clayton, and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby presided over the Senate.

The last legislature adjourned June 2, 1975, and Gov. Dolph Briscoe has steadfastly refused to call a special session despite pleas to deal with public school financing and rising utility bills as emergencies.

Managing the windfall revenue, crime control, property tax reform and school finance are considered the top issues of the 140-day session. Hobby says the state owes a joint committee on propertyttaxation a "debt of gratitude" for the presession work it has done.

The election of a speaker and housekeeping chores were expected to keep the House in session until late afternoon. The Senate scheduled an afternoon committee hearing on a new procedural rule that would require lawmakers to tell how much the bills they are sponsoring will cost local taxpayers.

Hobby indicated that it may be Jan. 24 before lawmakers settle into a routine because of preliminaries and the inauguration of President-elect Jimmy Carter on Jan. 20.

Executive director Bob Johnson of the Legislative Council told Clayton and Hobby that the council has received requests to draft more than 2.100 bills and 500-600 already have been filed.

One filed Monday by Sen. Bill

Meier, D-Fort Worth, would create a personnel board to develop guidelines for hiring state employes, who now number more than 130,000.

Hobby said his main legislative program would be the 50-60 bills recommended by the "Hobby Commission," which was formed by the legislature to make state government more economical.

"That and an appropriation bill is enough legislative program for me,' Hobby told reporters.

Asked if he had a school finance proposal, Hobby said he "would do well to find one by the end of the session.

He announced that Camilla Bordie of the Legislative Council would serve as Senate parliamentarian.

Clayton is expected to name House committees Thursday, and Hobby said he would release his appointments Thursday or Monday. The only major change, he said, will be the naming of Sen. Peyton McKnight, D-Tyler, as chairman of the subcommittee on nominations. McKnight will replace Mike McKinnon of Corpus Christi, who was defeated for re-election by Carlos Truan, also of Corpus Christi. Truan is one of two new senators.

In a two-hour closed-door caucus, Betty Andujar of Fort Worth, the first Republican woman to be elected to the Senate, won a drawing among six senators to become assistant presiding officer. The job is primarily ceremonial but will give Mrs. Andujar, a 64-year-old housewife with three grandchildren, a chance to serve as governor-for-a-day. Senators chose journal clerk Betty King to succeed Charles Schnabel as Senate secretary at a salary of

SW Bell in court to change order

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. has gone to court in an attempt to keep the Public Utilities Commission from cutting Bell's revenue request by 80 per cent.

Bell filed a suit Monday in Judge James Meyers' 126th district court seeking an injunction to block the PUC's amended order that cut additional revenue from long distance calls. The telephone company also asked Judge Meyers to allow Bell to place into effect, under court supervision, rates which would "produce a fair return on the company's investment.' Earlier Monday, the commission rejected a rehearing motion and ordered WATS (wide area telephone service) rates doubled to make up for long distance cuts, leaving Bell's total additional revenue The Bell petition charged that the commission's action confiscates the company's property and assets by failing to allow an adequate rate of return on the company's investment in Texas. The suit also alleged the commission's rate order violated the Public Utility Regulatory Act by failing to recognize the fair value rate base. The petition said the PUC "arbitrarily refused" to recognize some of Bell's operating expenses and erroneously excluded legitimate and reasonable investment from the company's rate base.

The company offered to file a bond guaranteeing refunds to customers if rates should be found too high

When I first saw this car, I knew it was the one I had been looking for. Everything about it was just right ... it was in perfect shape and I could afford it! I had saved enough at First Savings and Loan to make the down payment, and I was making enough part-time for the payments. I was unsure about what my dad would say, but I had all the answers for the questions I figured he's ask. And you know what? He said OK! He said I'd shown good judgement! This is about the best day of my life! Just look how much you could save for what you want!

Ulster's hope cited

The Women's Peace Movement in Northern Ireland provides a ray of hope that 1977 will bring some concrete progress toward reconciliation of Catholics and Protestants in Ulster.

Queen Elizabeth II found it fitting to praise the crusade in her annual Christmas message. A Norweigan "People's Peace Prize" of $280,000 was awarded to the Belfast housewives leading the movement after the Nobel committee decided not to award a Nobel peace prize for 1976.

This encouragement from outside of Northern Ireland will not change the minds of terrorists who are refusing to brook any compromise in the long political struggle over Catholic and Protestant power. But it would surely keep the movement alive and give Betty Williams and Mairean Corrigan a reason to keep hammering at their theme.

There are not many parallels between the Irish movement and the antiwar movement seen in the United States during the 1960s. One of them, however, is that the demonstrations in this country were inspired by conviction that incessant bloodshed in Vietnam was not accomplishing anything. The Belfast housewives are trying to persuade the Irish, both Catholic and Protestant, that murder and terrorism by illegal partisans on both sides are not accomplishing anything.

The antiwar demonstrations here were aimed at getting the government to change its Vietnam policy. The target in Northern Ireland is less concentrated. It is the people as a whole who must be convinced that their massive tolerance of terrorism should be turned to active rejection, and to cooperation with Bristish efforts to arrest and hold extremists who are perperuating street warfare.

That's a big order when many Irish people sympathize with the aims of the extremists if, not their tactics, and are motivated by deep-seated religious differences. But the housewives are appealing to an emotion which surely runs as deep as religious rivalry.

It was the death of three children on the streets of Belfast during a terrorist raid that galvanized their movement last summer.

Should innocent children be sacrificed to an adult quarrel over religion and politics?

That's the question the Irish women are asking, and there is only one way to answer it. They should keep right on raising it

Most people of other nations around the world are hoping and praying that the Women's Peace Movement will lead to peace in Northern Ireland.

MOUNTAIN GROWN

ART BUCHWALD: Effects of the great coffee shortage told

WASHINGTON — The first in ling that the price of coffee had gotten out of hand was in early 1977 when the IRS announced you could deduct the price of the first cup of coffee, when discussing business, but you could not deduct the second cup. Also, you could no longer buy your wife a cup of coffee unless you could prove it was necessary for her to be there when the business conversation was held.

In a few months coffee had become a luxury item and was only served in the finest restaurants. At $20 a cup, some eating places offered to give you a free meal if you bought a cup of coffee to go with it (cream and sugar were extra).

But soon the idea of serving coffee after a meal was reserved for special occasions such as weddings, anniversaries, Bar Mitzvahs and New Year's Eve. It wasn't enough to just serve the coffee. People began to toast each other with thier cups, and waiters showed the can the coffee came from, before they poured it from a pot wrapped in a white napkin.

The coffeemakers started to put vintage years on the cans and connoisseurs emerged who could comment on the quality of each brand. They would say such things as "It's an unassuming little Maxwell House, but I think you'll be amused by its presumption" or "This 'Chock Full o' Nuts' has a nobility to it that you rarely find in any of the domestic brands. I would put it up against a 1975 Chase and Sanborn anytime.'

Buchwald

The hostess or host would say rather proudly, "My grocer recommended this 'Instant Brand' over Nescafe. But it has to be drunk young when it's at its peak.

People started keeping "Coffee Cellars" which they showed off to their friends. There, gathering dust, lying on their sides, could be found Medaglio 1974, Wilkins 1976, Safeway All-Purpose Grind 1970 and A-and-P's Perculator Ground which came from beans picked from a special plantation outside of Rio de Janiero.

It became such a luxury that voters accused their congressmen and senators of only being interested in "coffee, women and song."

Lockheed lobbyists gave away cases of coffee instead of money, and Arab middlemen insisted on being paid off in Italian espresso instead of Swiss francs.

Dictators and generals opened secret numbered coffee accounts in Geneva and Zurich, where multinationals deposited bags of coffee beans in vaults. The Soviet Union sold gold to buy coffee.

The Shah of Iran canceled his order for F-16 jets from the United States and ordered six shiploads of Yuban Brazil took the F-16s to defend its coffee plantations from Ecuador.

But the worst thing that happened is that employees all over the country could no longer have a "coffee" break. Instead they were given "wine breaks," which were much cheaper but caused a tremendous amount of accidents and mistakes in produc-

Things became so desperate that President Carter asked James Schlesinger to drop his energy projects, and find a way of making coffee out of coal.

Just as World War III looked as if it would erupt over the coffee shortage. Brazil, Colombia, Kenya and Angola had bumper coffee crops, and the price dropped back to one dollar a pound

Once again signs started to appear in diners which read "Second Cup of Coffee Free." People turend their coffee cellars into air raid shelters. and the coffee break in offices all over America was restored

When Joe Di Maggio was called out of retirement to sell "Mr. Coffee" machines again, he called it "The greatest day of my life.

Sino-Soviet border disputes

By JACK ANDERSON

HONG KONG - It was a map of an obscure stretch of the Chinese-Russian border that finally persuaded Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to open the door to China

Although then-President Richard Nixon had raised the idea, Kissinger didn't think seriously about a detente with China until shooting broke out between Chinese and Russian border troops back in March, 1969.

The incident occurred on Chennao Island in the Ussuri River, which flows between Soviet Siberia and Chinese Manchuria. Kissinger called for a map of the area. He noticed that the clash had occurred five miles from a Soviet railhead but 50 miles from a Chinese terminal, he told us.

Kissinger inmediately concluded that the Chinese would never heve provoked an incident so far from their supply line. He decided, therefore, that the Russians had started the shooting and that the Chinese would welcome a U.S. approach.

Today, the 5,000-mile border is quiet but tense. The intelligence reports are conflicting about the degree of hostility between Chinese and Russian border troops. Apparently, this depends largely upon the local commanders. But no serious incidents have been reported in the past large and enthusiastic The best U.S. estimate is that the enrollments, and the 1977 event is Soviets have 45 divisions, seven of them armored, on their Chinese Midland is fortunate in having frontier. Several menacing air and such a school made available to missile units are also deployed along the border. The total Soviet force facing China is estimated at 800,000.

According to our sources, the Chinese don't consider this to be a large enough force to invade China. They believe the Soviets would have to transfer troops from the European front. This could be detected by satellites, the Chinese believe, in time for them to strengthen their defenses.

In the opinion of U.S. experts, the Chinese would be no match for the Russians on the battlefield. The Chinese would be forced to fight largely with obsolescent weapons recoilles rifles against tanks, inferior fighter planes against modern. MIG-23s, masses of infantry against machines

The Chinese have tested nuclear devices, with a four-megaton bang. But the ballistic missiles available to deliver the nuclear warheads are a decade behind the Soviet models.

Nevertheless, the Chinese commanders reportedly believe that the old strategies, which Mao Tse-tung used to win the mainland, would defeat an invading force. Mao looked upon the Chinese populace as a sea which, in the end, would drown the invaders. By his book, the Chinese would draw the enemy forces deep into the sea and then overwhelm them with humanity.

Mao summed up his battlefield tactics succinctly in these words: "Enemy advances, we retreat. Enemy halts, we harass. Enemy tires, we attack. Eneny retreats, we would mount the kind of invasion the Chinese are anticipating. In any war between the two Communist titans, it is more likely that the Soviets would use their superior missile power to wipe out China's nuclear capability.

The only possible invasion, in the opinion of these experts, would be e 'surgical strike' against specific targets. Under an umbreila of planes and behind a spearhead of tanks, the Soviets might drive against Sinkiang's nucleer facilities or Manchuria's industrial centers.

A confidential intelligence analysis suggests, neanwhile, that the Chinese commanders hope to avoid a military confrontation with Russia. This attitude could lead eventually to a Sino-Soviet detente. For it is now clear that the new government in Peking is backed by the army.

In fact, our sources contend that the real power in Peking is held by the senior military commanders. They played a pivotal part in the arrest of Chiang Ching, the widow of Meo Tsetung, and three other Maoists in the Politburo. Our sources have gone so far as to describe the event as a military coup. It was executed by Che'n Hsi-lien, the commander of the Peking garrison, who is now regarded by our sources as the most powerful man in China. His superior. Defense Minister Yeh Chien-ying, is in poor health and, therefore, is more of a front man.

The army anticipated a possible uprising after the October 6 move against the "gang of four," as Madame Chiang and her three cohorts are now called. They controlled the militia, which could have been called into the streets.

The most dangerous spot was Shanghai, the stronghold of the Maoists. So Shanghai party leader Me Tien-shui and Shanghai garrison commander Chou Chun-lin were summoned to Peking. They suspected foul play and arranged a code to alert their colleagues. A telephone call from Peking, complaining of a 'stomach ache" would mean the pragmatists had taken control. A call about a "heart attack" would mean the Maoist leaders were in serious trouble

According to clandestine reports reaching Hong Kong both calls were made. The Shanghai leaders called a secret meeting after midnight on October 8. Orders went out to mobilize 30,000 militiamen and arm them with guns instead of their customary truncheons. They also planned to go on the air to announce that Shanghai was in revolt against a "revisionist" takeover in Peking.

But the leaders couldn't agree on the final plans. Then their colleagues returned from Peking to report that it was too late. So the immediate danger in Shanghai was averted.

NICK THIMMESCH Let honeymoon last until peaches bloom in South

WASHINGTON - Jimmy Carter works hard to put his government together at the same time he enjoys a pre-inaugural honeymoon which will be followed by a post-inaugural honeymoon of unknown duration. It's best this way. Carter deserves a honeymoon. The republic suffered too much acrimony in the past decade. and no doubt the bile will flow again. For the moment, it's good that the nation be decent to the first Southern President in a century, and let him make his best effort. Carter enjoyed the benefits of timing on several occasions in 1976, and perhaps his string will continue. He blitzed his way through the early primaries, and thus caught the pecksniffs and fussbudgets off guard. By the time anyone was of a mood to catch up with him and his record, he had the nomination locked up.

He had the same kind of good for-tune in the general election. The Republicans scheduled the latest convention - for them - on record. that mid-August gethering in Kansas City. So while Carter made lazy circles in the sky all summer propelled by that 33-point lead in the polls - Reagan and Ford had at each other like two superannuated members of the Union League Club.

Other than the overblown fuss over his Playboy interview, Carter made the best of a prosaic campaign and limped across the finish line ahead of Ford. The press, especially its investigative corps, somehow didn't have time to poke around his Georgia record or fully study his present and past campaign financing or that of Mondale's either. The fact that his

no exception

Nick Thim mesch

1976 success was largely based on the Wallace vote, and an unusually ardent expression of affirmation by blacks, seemed lost on readers until after the election. Carter was truly blessed by chronikos.

No matter. The man is now learning what it is like inside versus outside. It is fit and proper that Carter's campaign rhetoric, especially the pledges, must now be put aside. If the press felt vindictive, Carter could be cut.

His promises on creating jobs and reducing unemployment were quickly shrunk in the weeks after the election.

It's the same story on welfare reform and defense budget cuts. Shovel the Carterian pronouncements of 1976-77 on these perplexing matters into one vast hopper, shake for one hour, and you will be presented with a delightful mosaic - and not a clear signal. No one really knows what the Carter Administration will get in 1977 on jobs, the economy, tax reform and a defense budget.

And if it weren't for the honeymoon, Carter's thoughts on the Vice Presidency would invite the sort of acerbic criticism, say, a Nixon or

Agnew would get. At one point, Carter saw Mondale as his chief administrator - a powerful functionary. Then an aide repudiated this job description for Mondale, and a few days later Mondale himself proclaimed that he might differ publicly with his President, thus leaving us with the notion that Mondale might be a policy-maker, not an administrator.

But all this washes down to nothing, too. It is honeymoon time. Pay no attention. No President-elect has ever performed brilliantly in the transitition period, and people understand

True, there have been murmurings of ingratitude from some blacks. Chicanos, women and party faithful over Carter's post-election deportment. But they are trivial. And while the press has raised a few questions about the cronyism factor at work in some of Carter's Cabinet appointments, that little wind has

The best illustration of how one on a honeymoon fares compared with one in the harness is a look at the furore over President Ford's badly timed recommendation for Puerto Rican statehood. Seldom has the press gone into such hysterics (probably because of improper briefing) over such an inconsequential story.

An advisory commission and a Gallup Poll pushed Ford toward his announcement. The status issue has been debated on the small island for many years. The statehood process would take several years anyway, so what was the big deal? The big deal was that we had the opportunity to not on a honeymoon.

Right now, with Nixon, Agnew et al departed, there is no one to kick around. Moreover, it would be despicable to harass a President-elect and his Mrs. So the honeymoon is proper, meek and just. Let it continue until the snow thaws in the North, and the peaches blossom in the South. Carter and the American people deserve it.

I talked with Sen. Hubert Humphrey the other day about why he didn't play hardball politics in his quest for the majority leader's post.

"Oh, I was told to," he said. "They told me to be tough and mean. But there are too many toughies and meanies around, and I just decided I wouldn't try for it that way.

Whatever the reasons for this Happy Warrior's demurring mood, I was glad to hear what he said

No serious injuries were reported, but several dozen of the 1.300 residents were evacuated Monday night to a nursing home on a hill above the town as winds up to 30 miles per hour sent the flames leaping across Main Street

Two apartment buildings, two stores and a barbershop also were

The four-story 19th century brick mill building that housed the factory still smoldered early today, casting a haze over the entire town, which is located in hilly terrain about 30 miles southeast of Albany, near the Massachusetts and Connecticut

Plan could give employers break

WASHINGTON - One of the smallest elements of President-elect Jimmy Carter's proposed package of tax cuts and spending programs could prove the most significant in the long run: Carter's novel plan for a 5 per cent Social Security tax credit for employers.

The plan would divert into the hands of business $2 billion a year that would otherwise come into the Treasury as revenue. It would do so by giving employers a tax reduction amounting to as much as $48.26 a year for each worker on their payroll.

Backers of the plan say it represents a first step in attacking a problem that has become increasingly serious in recent years the rising cost to employers of Social Security and unemployment insurance taxes. This cost amounts to an excise tax on new hiring and contributes to reluctance on the part of businesses to bring new workers on board, these analysts argue.

At the same time, backers of the plan contend, it offers a way of stimulating the economy without producing inflation, since it would reduce employers' payroll costs per worker.

Despite such arguments on its behalf, the Carter Social Security tax credit is by no means certain of enactment by Congress.

For one thing, the plan is the lone element directly benefiting business in Carter's $23-32 billion, two-year package of proposed measures for stimulating the economy - and some segments of business, particularly big industrial firms, would prefer to get their tax relief in a different form.

"My preference would be first for an increase in the investment tax credit, second for liberalization of depreciation and third for a lowering of (corporate) tax rates," said Jack Carlson, chief economist of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Measures for reforming Social Security and the payroll tax system, Carlson said in an interview, should be treated more deliberately as part of a broad overhaul program and not be made part of a hurry-up package of legislation aimed at giving a quick boost to the economy.

Carter's chief economic adviser. Charles L. Schultze, said last week that Carter was not finally committed to the Social Security tax credit plan and could decide instead to increase the investment tax credit to 12 per cent from the current 10 per cent. Each move would have roughly the same $2-billion-a-year cost.

"This is business' piece of the package," one key congressional staff aide said. "If that is what they want, and they agree on it, they can probably have the investment tax credit instead.'

Nevertheless, Carter's proposal for a Social Security tax credit is certain to fuel already mounting interest in similar devices among economists and members of Congress, whether or not this particular proposal is enacted as part of Carter's initial package of stimulation measures.

Rep. Al Ullman (D-Ore.), chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, and Sen. Lloyd Bentsen (D-Tex.), a member of the joint House-Senate economic committee, are working on bills that would provide business with tax credits based on the number of people they hire

In each case, the tax benefits per worker would be more generous than those offered by Carter, but they would be provided only for additional workers hired above a certain base employment level by each company, Bentsen, for example, proposes reducing employers' taxes by a full 5 per cent of the wages paid each additional worker the employer put on the payroll beyond 95 per cent of the previous year's work force.

Thus, if an employer had 100 workers last year, he would get a tax reduction this year for each employe on his payroll after the first 95. He would get some benefit if he kept employment constant at 100 workers and rapidly mounting benefits for each additional worker after that.

Depending on the rates of pay in the industry, the tax benefits could amount to $700 or more for each new

"She repeated, 'I shot him. I didn't mean to. It was an accident," said former sheriff's deputy George Ackerman as tesimony got under way in this Rocky Mountain ski village Monday. "She was talking to herself. She was upset.'

Prosecutors said they hoped to close their case against the ex-showgirl and former wife of singer Andy Williams with a handful of witnesses today after calling 11 persons to the stand Monday. In his opening statement, Deputy Dist. Atty

Ashley Anderson said Miss Longet "raised the gun, pointed it at (professional skier Vladimir) Spider Sabich, jokingly said 'bang-bang', at which point Spider Sabich fell to the floor, dying. As she heard details of Sabich's death, Miss County sheriff's officer about Miss Longet: "Now watch it, this gal is ringy today.

Neither the defense nor the prosecution asked Griffith to define "ringy." Anderson told reporters, Let the jurors decide.

Griffith described his entry into the home. "All at once. Miss Longet appeared in the hallway," he said. "She was holding her hand to her chest, and for an instant, I said, she had been shot ... I said, Claudine, who shot who?' and she said, 'I shot Spider

If convicted of the reckless manslaughter charge, Miss Longet could receive a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison and a $30,000 fine. She contends Sabich was teaching her to use the pistol before going out of town when the gun fired accidentally. Lt. Robert Nicoletti, a ballistics expert for the Denver police, underwent the longest crossexamination, especially on his estimate that Miss Longet was "between four and six feet" from Sabich when he was shot. Nicoletti also said Sabich was wearing a short and who is expected to become the new chairman of the committee, said Monday night that he may even seek to withdraw the resolution reviving the committee. The decision will depend on a final head count at the Democratic caucus in the morning:

Gonzalez acknowledged that the resolution might not have the needed two-thirds majority on the House floor because of "erroneous impressions" that have built up about the committee's investigations in recent weeks.

If the resolution does come up as scheduled, Rep. Don Edwards (D-Calif.), chairman of the House subcommittee on constitutional rights, said he intends to press for detailed assurances that the civil liberties of those who come under investigation or who are sought as witnesses by the Assassinations Committee will be properly safeguarded.

Richard Sprague

"I'm just trying to make sure we're not creating a monster here." Ed-

After a meeting with Edwards Monday afternoon, Gonzalez specifically disavowed some of the plans announcby the chief counsel of the Assassinations Committee, Ricahrd A. Sprague. Gonzalez indicated he would have vetoed them if he had been chairman from the outset.

Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez

"My own feeling is that many questions have been raised concerning issues I had nothing to do with," Gonzalez told a reporter. The committee was created last September to investigate the assassinations of President Kennedy and Martin Luther King Jr. Rep. Thomas N. Downing (D-Va.), who has now retired from the House, was appointed chairman.

Since then, sharp objections have been raised to a number of the Assassinations Committee's proposed purchases and investigating techniques. With Downing still chairman, the committee staff recently sought approval to buy five suction cup devices that are used to tape-record telephone conversations. In another letter submitted under Downing's name, the committee sought authority to install "transmitter cutoff arrangements for listening in purposes on two of the committee telephones."

House Administration Committee Chairman Frank Thompson Jr. (D- N.J.) rejected both of those requests, which apparently originated with the Assassinations Committee's office manager, former Downing aide Rick Feeney. Thompson said he was "unalterably opposed to the utilization of wiretap and other devices to intrude upon a citizen's right of privacy by congressional committees for investigative purposes."

Such criticisms were expected to come up on the House floor Tuesday in connection with the new resolution reestablishing the assassinations panel for the next two years. The resolution was scheduled for action under suspension-of-the-rules procedures, which prohibit any amendments but also require two-thirds approval for passage.

If the resolution is pulled off the calendar, it will have to wait for clearance by the House Rules Committee, presumably sometime later in the month, and then floor action under normal rules requiring only a simple majority. Even this would only revive the committee on a temporary basis, pending an even more spirited debate over its projected $6.5 million-a-year

"As we've said before, we've been wrongfully branded as wiretappers," said C.L. Todd, head of Bell operations in San Antonio.

A jury last month awarded the $1 million to James Ashley and his wife. Ashley had filed a $4 million suit, also charging that Bell executives conspired to invade his privacy and that the firm improperly used his long distanced telephone records. Spears dismissed all counts except the one dealing with

Bell attorneys had filed a motion that the jury verdict be set aside. Lawyer Hubert Green contended before Spears that the verdict was reached by "piling inference upon inference."

In his ruling Monday, Spears said Ashley's evidence was slim, but Green failed to prove his contention of "inference upon inference.

Ashley and his wife contended that Bell invaded their privacy after they joined the family of the late T.O. Gravitt in a $29 million suit against Bell. Gravitt was a former head of Bell operations in

LOS ANGELES - When Pam Christensen gets an itch to create a piece of art, she scratches with the tip

The technique, called scratchboard art, involves a series of large and small dots and lines flicked on a white board covered with black ink. The result produces a soft, graded shadow image.

"Everyone thinks scratchboard is something new and I'm the discoverer. It's not," says Christensen. She learned the technique while she was a student attending art school in Chicago. Although she wasn't impressed with scratchboard art at first, Christensen later chose it as her primary medium. 'I like things with a lot of texture. They're more of a challenge," she says.

From a tiny studio inside her nearby Manhattan Beach apartment, the artist wiles away the hours scratching drawings from photographs taken by her husband, Chris, a photographer and copywriter. While she works, classical music plays in the background, supplying her with inspiration. She never copies the photograph exactly and depending on the subject she may spend a week completing a picture.

"Scratchboard art is a very time-consuming medium. It takes hours and hours of concentration to get the details I want. I constantly have to take breaks. I have to be in the right frame of mind."

While the idea of scratching tiny dots and lines on a piece of board may sound simple. Christensen says it "You have to learn to work in the negative and you hearings today aimed at making oil tankers more safe.

Fifteen tankers were lost last year. Since Dec. 15 when the Argo Merchant hit a shoal off Nantucket, nine oil carriers have either run aground. sank, or were lost at sea. The latest sinking occurred Monday when the empty American tanker Chester A. Poling broke up in a winter storm off Massachusetts.

Scheduled witnesses include top Coast Guard officers and federal transportation and environmental protection officials.

The hearings are set to explore what safety standards may be set for foreign-registered vessels which carry 95 per cent of the oil to the United States. Eight of the 10 tanker incidents since Dec. 15 have involved vessels of foreign registry.

Maritime specialists say several foreign nations have relatively loose shipping regulations and that some vessels are registered in those countries to avoid complying with stiffer rules elsewhere.

Another aim of the hearings is to gather testimony on prospective legislation to increase the liability of ship owners for oil spill damage. Essentially, damage liability is currently limited to the value of the vessel itself after the accident.

Wichita Falls region's short supply continues

The crippling storms and the in-terstate gas link are two major reasons why Lone Star Gas Co.'s 100 per cent curtailment of gas to the city's industrial users, including schools, entered its third day today.

It was the second such curtailment for the Wichita Falls area in the last

Over the rest of North Texas, gas service that was cartailed because of the icy steamroller that began moving through the area Saturday night was resumed to most customers Monday as temperatures inched above freezing.

Warren Fulks, spokesman for Lone Star Gas Co. in Dallas, said the curtailment, partially responsible for the closing of schools all over North Texas Monday, was expected to continue at least through today in the Wichita Falls area.

Fulks said the area around Wichita Falls and southwestern portions of Oklahoma receive gas on Lone Star's interstate system, rather than the intrastate system that serves about

1,000,000 Texas customers. A company official said the federally-regulated interstate wellhead prices are lower than prices producers realize from selling gas at unregulated prices on the intrastate

"Producers are reluctant to sell to interstate distributors," said Fulks, who added that Lone Star's gas supplies in the interstate lines were easily depleted during peak demand periods.

They can get far more for their gas on the unregulated intrastate market, so they prefer to sell there.' said Fulks.

The crippling weekend storm brought one of those peak demand periods, as the temperature dipped to one below zero in Wichita Falls Sunday night.

'Qur maximum capacity is about 2.6 billion cubic feet of gas," Fulks said. "We don't know for sure yet, but...we must have moved two billion plus cubic feet Sunday, even with the curtailment

'That may be a record,' said Fulks, who added the decision to

Reports do little to market

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market recorded a very small gain today, getting little mileage out of some favorable government statistics on the economy.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up .25 at 987.12, after a rise of 8.81 in the three preceding sessions.

Advancing issues outnumbered declines by about a 7-6 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues. Government figures issued Monday afternoon and this morning showed a big jump in retail sales last month and an estimate of stepped-up capital spending by businesses this year. But investors seemed a little uneasy over the market's sluggish response

Carter's code may encourage service-minded

NEW YORK (AP) - One immediate effect of Presidentelect Carter's new code of ethics might be to make government service more like service - a service to be performed rather than an opportunity

And because often there is a perverse side to the general rule, it might also discourage some of the nation's best talent from offering their services in Washington

In regard to the former, it has been widely recognized among the smart men on the move that a good degree, important contacts and a spell in Washington is a formula for success in the commercial world Law offices are loaded with attorneys who spent just enough time near the seat of government to learn the pressure points, the personnel and endless maze of corridors. To the corporations that more and more are being regulated, advised and even dictated to from Washington, an experienced hand - especially if he dealt with the company's specific problems while in government — is invaluable.

In some instances the individual continues in almost the same work but from the opposite side of the desk once he joins a corporation. The examples are numerous.

Graduates of the great governmental university have moved rapidly into top jobs in transportation. utilities, philanthropy, consumer affairs, financial institutions and securities. Recent heads of both the New York and American stock exchanges, for example, once were Securities and Exchange Commission officials, whose job it was to regulate the institutions they later joined.

Under the new code, many appointees in policymaking roles will be barred for one year from representing for pay anyone before their former department or agency. This regulation immediately would make it less attractive for an administration official to succumb to the lure of cash, retire from government and switch allegiance to support a special interest.

At the same time, another regulation - that individuals must divest themselves of financial holdings likely to be affected by their official acts could very well rule out acceptance of a job by accomplished people.

Such individuals, quite naturally, often are possessed of various financial holdings, some of which they built up slowly and painfully. For them to divest these holdings could be tantamount to scrapping a lifetime effort.

Already some of the most accomplished businessmen in the country shy away from government service because of the loss of privacy and what they feel is the sometimes savage grilling to which they are exposed.

Asked why he never considered government service, a top officer of a very large bank, wealthy, nearing retirement and clearly with experience and knowledge that could benefit the government, stepped back in shock and replied: "Me? And expose my family to all the questioning and criticism that goes

JANIS SANDERS & DEEHONA WISE

Strike up the 19th victory for our Rebel Roundballers! You can say that our Roundballers are the 5-4A kings. They have started district action with two wins. First, last Tuesday night, the Rebels branded the Odessa Bronchos 88-57. Then they went into action Friday night and beat the San Angelo Bobcats 84-59. The Rebels are ranked ONE in the district and are showing that they really are! We are the REBELS and we are GREAT! Our roundballers will travel to Abilene tonight to play the Cooper Cougars. Boy are those Cougs in for it. Then Friday night our guys play Big Spring there. Everyone try to go to the games and back our Rebs all the way. They are doing a SUPER job. Congratulations go to Coach Stueckler and Team!

Our JV Cagers romped to another easy win taking a 67-45 victory over the San Angelo JV. Our Rebel JV is now 15-6 on the season. Keep up the good work,

Last Thursday, our girls basketball team crushed Abilene Cooper 56-37 in 5-4A basketball matchup. The Lee B Team won 28-21. Lee will host Big Spring Thursday night in the Lee gym at 7:30. Our girls now 10-1 for the year! They are really FANTASTIC! We're behind you 100 per cent.

Rebelettes: You're lookin good! Let's keep up the spirit and show how outstanding the rebelette organization is. Remember, Juniors, if you want to be in the Honor Squad or an officer next year, you need to keep as busy as possible. We won't Rebelette at either of the games this week, but come next Tuesday night we want to see everyone in full uniform except hats, for the game against Odessa Permian. That's all for now. See ya at the squad meetings at 7:45, BUT we need to see all of the JUNIORS at 7:30 a.m. in the library for a short meeting. Swimmers over the past weekend, were involved in the Texas Tech Invitational Swim Meet. The Lee boys team finished eighth in the competition. The Lee girls finished fifth in their competition Saturday. Our red-eye swimmers will splash off at 7 p.m Wednesday in the Permian pool in a dual-meet against Permian. Splish-splash straight on to another Victory! Our Rebel netters will travel to San Angelo

Saturday to play in a dual-meet against San Angelo at 10:30 a.m. Ace your way past the Bobcats!

This weekend is the big event for our speech and debate teams. Both Lee High and Midland High will run the Tall-City Invitational Speech and Debate Tournament. Students from both schools will serve as timekeepers and tournament officials. Teachers and citizens of the community will serve as judges. There will be 40 schools from Texas and New Mexico entered, and a total of 600 students. We will give you the results in next week's chatter. NOTE: "100 Club" members who serve as timekeepers will get 3 points per hour. So, let Mr. Collins know you will help. The social committee will meet tonight and Wednesday at 7 p.m. in Mr. Cooper's room. We will be working on coronation decorations. We need everyone's help, so this will be the best year ever!

Fellars: Remember Coronation isn't far away. The date is January 22, so be sure and get your date early! Don't wait until the last minute! There is no folly equal to that of throwing away friendship in a world where friendship is so rare.-

E. R. Bulwer-Lytton. Mica, Janis, and Deehona Attention Aviation Explorers - We will reorganize at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Basin Flying Services office at Midland Air Park. Old members and those who are interested - please be there with $3.50 or be out!!

Chaps succumb to Western Texas in double overtime thriller

SNYDER - Wester Texas College's Westerners blew open a nipand-tuck game Monday night to down the Midland College Chaparrals, 92-82, in double overtime.

The two Western Junior College Conference teams battled to a 35-35 tie at intermission and it was all tied up at 76-all going into the second over-

Western Texas got the tip at the offset of the second overtime and score on a layup by Lawrence Butler and MC came back to tie it on a bucket by Jackson Pace, but the Westerners started holding on to the ball and the Chaps began to foul and this is where the winners broke open the close game.

With the victory, Western Texas stands 16-2 on the season and is 3-2 in WJCC action while Midland College is now 12-4 on the year and also 3-2 in league play.

Spinks hired as Abilene coach

ABILENE-Louie Spinks, an assistant under forner Abilene High School football Coach DeWitt Jones was hired Monday night by the Abilene School Board to succeed

Jones had resigned his post three weeks ago to accept a similar head coaching position at Abilene Christian Spinks, 31, signed a two-year contract with the school district for a reported $18,500 a year. The pact will go into affect beginning July 1, but Spinks will begin work Tuesday at that salary.

The contract will give Spinks $1500 less per annum than was paid Jones. when he held the post

Spinks was backed by Abilene Athletic Director Shorty Lawson, who strongly recommended his name to

After the signing was confirmed officially, Lawson explained why he recommended Spinks. "We wanted somebody who would stay at Abilene High for a long time," he said. "This gives us stability and continuity, rather than changing coaches every year."

Spinks expressed the sentiment that he will not "shake up things" in the Abilene grid program now that he is

Razorbacks paste Tech, 60-53

By The Associated Press

Arkansas celebrated its brandspanking new 16th national ranking Monday night with a 60-53 victory over Texas Tech that Razorback Coach Eddie Sutton said could be the "springboard" to a Southwest Conference basketball title.

Both Southern Methodist and Baylor captured victories on the road to stay tied atop the SWC ladder with Arkansas with 3-0 records and Texas Coach Abe Lemons was presented with his first league victory and celebrated by scathing the officials.

Arkansas has now beaten Tech twice and Houston once early in the SWC race and Sutton said "It was a good win for us because Texas Tech probably can't go on after losing two games in the first week and win the conference championship.

"But we know Tech will go on this season and beat the Houstons and the Baylors, and we'll be rooting for them. This is a springboard for us. We're off and running, but we're still not in the driver's seat. We have 13 games to go.' Arkansas sophomore guard Sidney

Moncrief scored 23 points, including five points in four seconds. After a three-point play he intercepted a Tech pass and put in another basket in the second half to demoralize the Red Raiders, the SWC post-season champions last year. Pete Lodwick canned 23 points to pace SMU to a 72-61 victory over Rice, Larry Spicer poured home 31 points as Baylor bombed Texas Christian 90-74, and Texas whipped Texas A&M Sutton said "We did well at the free throw line (seven of eight). I guess the 100 free throws a day I've been making them shoot helped their confidence."

Lemons fumed after the victory in Austin about the officiating of Arlan Straub and Paul Galvan "I'm trying postman will start in the middle, with forwards Billy Ray Ennis and Bobby Alexander covering him on both sides. Outside will be the fastbreaking Rebel guard combination of Mike Wallace and Roy Lee Smith.

Ennis, the 6-3 senior scoring machine will no doubt draw quite a bit of attention from the Cougar defense inside. In the opening night win over Odessa, Ennis poured in 21 points and followed that up with an 18 point display in the Rebels' second district

But Case's team cannot afford to linit their concentration to stopping Ennis. Smith and Wallace, who had been relatively quiet during the predistrict campaign, have come on the past week, hitting with uncanny accuracy from the outside, and leading the Rebs' explosive fast break. In the first two 5-4A victories, the pair have racked up a total of 67 points.

Cooper will be led by 6-5 postman Tim Orr and Dennis Bradford, who are both averaging 19 points a con-

While Lee will be on the road, Midland will attempt to put together their longest win streak of the season tonight, when they entertain Abilene. Coach Don Humphrey's Bulldogs are coming off an impressive 72-67 win at Big Spring, and would surely like to make it two in a row

The Pack succumbed to Permian in a 49-43 heartbreaker last Tuesday in their 5-4A opener, but bounced back against the Steers to remain in contention for the first half title.

Craig Dunn will attempt to duplicate his outstanding 34-point performance against Big Spring, and will headline a starting five that will probably include James Hicks (post), Phillip Ward (wing), Brentley Jackson (wing), and John Magness (point)

Guard Steve Brittain, who came off the bench Friday night and clicked on a three-point third quarter play that turned the contest around, will see a great deal of action as well.

Other district games on tap tonight include Odessa at San Angelo and Big Spring at Permian.

Expos get first pick in today's draft

Odessa High quarterback Darrell Shepard received yet another honor Monday, vhen the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce named him the outstanding Texas High School football player of 1976. It was the 14th annual presentation of the award.

Shepard, who is being sought by almost every major college in the country, has narrowed his choices down to Texas, Nebraska and UCLA. There had been rumors that Shepard was considering Texas Tech very strongly, but Monday's announcement killed any hope of the allamerican signal caller heading for Lubbock..

Baseball's winter free agent draft will be held today in Miami Beach, Fla., and according to the scouts, there is hardly a worth while pick available.

The Montreal Expos will get the first pick at the proceedings, which get underway at 12:40 EST, and the words of Danny Menendez, the director of scouting for the Expos sets the general tone of the draft.

"I, for one, question the wisdom of having a winter draft," he said. The talent in the winter draft just doesn't compare with the June draft. I think we would save a lot of time and effort if we just combined the two drafts into one June draft." There will also be a secondary phase of today's draft, where the teams will be allowed to draft players that were already selected last June, but didn't sign. Wiles Hallock, the Executive Director of the Pac-8 Conference announced Monday that Arizona and Arizona State have been officially accepted into the organization effective July, 1, 1978.

AFL-CIO chieftains say Carter reneging

WASHINGTON (AP) - Leaders of the AFL-CIO, who supported President-elect Carter's election bid. charge he has retreated from his campaign promises to reduce unemployment

They said his two-year plan for a $23 billion to $30 billion economic program of economic stimulus "is too small, takes too long and is too illadvised to give the economy the stimulus it needs."

The labor federation, in a statement Monday, said it would push instead for a $30 billion plan emphasizing direct job creation rather than tax

The policy dispute is the second time since Carter won the November election that labor leaders have expressed disappointment with him. The other grumbling came when Carter rejected their urgings to name John T. Dunlop as labor secretary. Carter chose F. Ray Marshall for the

The AFL-CIO criticism of Carter's economic program was directed at his announcement last week, with the support of the Democratic leadership of Congress, of a $23 billion to $30 billion, two-year program that would include up to $11 billion in tax rebates on 1976 federal income taxes for individuals.

The package would also involve $7 billion to $10 billion in new government spending for job and public works programs over the 1977 and 1978 fiscal years, permanent tax cuts for low-and middle-income taxpayers and a small but permanent cut in

The AFL-CIO leaders called it a "retreat from the goals we understood President-elect Carter to have set during last year's campaign."

Meanwhile, the Congressional Budget Office today said an economic package roughly comparable to Carter's could generate 610,000 jobs this year and 905,000 new jobs by the end of 1978.

The report by the nonpartisan office had been prepared before Carter disclosed his proposals last week.

It concluded that without government intervention, the economy will continue to grow slowly - 3.5 per cent to 5 per cent — and there will still be up to 7.5 million persons unemployed by the end of this year.

The AFL-CIO said the key to the nation's economic problem is unemployment and the solution is jobs, adding that reliance on tax cuts and rebates instead of job-creating legislation was the least effective method of solving the problem.

The labor leaders said they were "especially disturbed" by the new administration's proposal to reduce corporate taxes. "Corporations need customers, not tax gifts," they said.

The AFL-CIO said the stimulus from these tax cuts and rebates "is far more costly and moves at a much slower pace than the program we recommended and which we intend to push in the Congress."

The statement was issued by the legislative subcommittee of the AFL-CIO's executive council.

It urged an expansion of public works projects by at least $10 billion to provide 600,000 new jobs; expansion of current public service jobs programs by $8 billion to provide an additional 800,000 jobs.

Bentsen proposes special tax credit

providing a special tax credit for firms that expand their hiring during periods of high unemployment was being introduced today by Sen. Lloyd

In effect, the government would pay 5 per cent of the wages of persons hired above a base level. The tax unemployment drops.

"What we are talking about here is a solid, workable program to combat cycles of unemployment in this country and to do this by providing incentives through our free-enterprise system," Bentsen, D-Tex., said in a statement.

Under the Bentsen proposal, when national unemployment rises to 7 per cent of the labor force, an employer would get the tax credit for each worker he hires over a base of 90 per cent. At 6 per cent the base would be 95 per cent; at 5 per cent the base halt the creation of new state colleges would be 100 per cent.

For example, if the national and expansion of "upper level" in-stitutions to full four-year college unemployment rate were 7 per cent, an employer with 100 persons on his payroll during the previous 12 months would get the special credit for each employe above 90 currently working. -Increase the amount of idle state If the business kept its payroll at 100 and workers averaged $10,000 a year, -Require state mental hospitals the firm's income taxes would be cut by $5,000 - or 5 per cent of the total

> When unemployment dropped to 5 per cent, the credit would be available only for each new job created.

Legislature returns to 112 economy ideas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Legislators who returned to work today had no less than 112 economy-in-government proposals to mull over, ranging from admission fees at state museums to merger of the three state water agen-

"Hobby Commission" on The government expenditures submitted its final report Monday. "Implementation of these recommendations will not necessarily provide a less expensive state government, but will provide the means for controlling future growth and the opportunity for major changes," the

The 1975 Legislature created the Joint Advisory Committee on Government Operations and instructed it to seek ways of cutting costs of state government.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby chaired the 18member panel, and House Speaker Bill Clayton was vice-chairman.

The 112 recommendations included merger of the Texas Water Rights Commission, Texas Water Quality Board and Texas Water Development Board into a single water agency. 8

The commission said the cost of the three agencies had grown from $7.8 million in 1965 to $20.7 million because of new state programs, federal requirements and the growth of administrative and technical expenses.

Also recommended was creation of a new Texas Department of Aging and Special Assistance and a Texas Department of Child and Family Resources.

The department on aging would consolidate services for the elderly now performed by the Governor's Committee on Aging and the welfare department.

Services performed for children and young people by the welfare department, the Texas Youth Council and two divisions of the Texas Department of Community Affairs would be combined in the department of child and family resources.

Ceilings were recommended on expenditures for medical care of the needy and on state agency employ-

Nominees likely to pass hearings

be a few tough questions waiting for some of President-elect Carter's Cabinet nominees, but all are expected to win Senate confirmation.

Senate committees scheduled hearings today on four of Carter's nominees to Cabinet posts and on Charles L. Schultze, tapped for the Cabinet-level job of heading the Council of Economic Advisers.

Scheduled for hearings today were Griffin B. Bell, nominated for attorney general; Harold Brown. nominated for defense secretary; Cyrus R. Vance, nominated for secretary of state, and Bob Bergland,

WASHINGTON (AP) - An

economic package roughly com-

nominated for secretary of agriculture.

Of the four Cabinet nominees, Bell and Brown were the two most likely to face tough questions.

Bell, an Atlanta lawyer, is a onetime federal judge, longtime Carter friend and so far the most controversial of Carter's nominees.

The Senate Judiciary Committee scheduled hearings on Bell that could last several days. And while a number of black leaders and civil rights and liberal groups have requested time to speak out against Bell, there appeared to be little opposition to him

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., one of the committee's liberals, predicted on Monday that the panel will approve Bell "unless there is something we don't know now" that is revealed during the hearings.

But opponents such as the Congressional Black Caucus and the NAACP have vowed to fight Bell's confirmation. Bell served 15 years on the 5th U.S.

Circuit Court of Appeals and Carter views his nominee's civil rights record as "superb."

But Bell's opponents have criticized his judicial opinions in school desegregation cases, his membership in racially exclusive private clubs and his support of Richard Nixon's nomination of G. Harold Carswell for the Supreme Court. Brown was scheduled to testify before the Senate Armed Services Committee where some Senate hawks reportedly intended to ask pointed questions about his views on nuclear arms limitation

Brown, a Defense Department official during the Vietnam war years, is not necessarily known either as a hawk or a dove. But some of the hawks on the committee reportedly are concerned about his performance as a member of the U.S. team that negotiated the 1972 Strategic Arms Limitation pact with the Soviets.

At the same time, there is concern among some Senate doves about Brown's support of the bombing campaign against North Vietnam when he served as Lyndon Johnson's secretary of the Air Force.

Family gets bad start in beginning new year

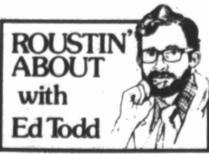

905,000 new jobs by the end of 1978, the Congressional Budget Office reported The New Year was into its very first week, and a ranching family at the Midkiff community just across the county line ran into some bad luck. But no one's the blame - only

The family's pet horse, a 10-year-old mare affectionately called Josie, Bob Charity, the rancher, drove the ailing mare to Midland to be wormed by her vet "one day, and the next day she died" at home, the spouse, Ann,

Good-bye forever, fair Josie. Then came along an unnamed cow. "Oh." dear Mrs. Charity recalled, .. we bought a cow (for $115) to feed out for meat, and she ran off, and we had no horse to go get her. But we did find her in the other people's is now about 25 per cent complete. The $1.85 million construction cost is being paid by the sale of project notes. The authority will hear from chairman Harry Clark on whether the Midland City Council gave its approval on an agreement for the rehabilitation of low-income homes in the city. That approval is expected at the council's meeting today. The city's financial obligation will be $160,000 through the end of September for the rehabilitation program, and this will cover the rehabilitation project itself, inspection services of the houses and whatever administrative expenses may occur.

The eligibility requirements of homeowners participating in the project will be evaluated, and an inspector will also likely be picked by the directors, Kester said.

Unlike the housing project, the rehabilitation program will be open to all low-income homeowners who have an income limit within that set by the

No firm figures were provided on what this income limit will be, but it will be the same as that to be established for the occupants of the housing project, Kester said.

Baker won't be candidate for position

HOUSTON (AP) - James A. Baker III, President Ford's choice for chairman of the Republican National Committee, says he's withdrawing from the race because the field already is too crowded.

Baker, in a prepared statement released Monday, said "My entry as a candidate into an already over-crowded field, would not, in my opinion, contribute to the unification of our party, which to me, is the overriding goal. I stand ready to do my part in achieving that goal and therefore have taken this action as proof of my conviction."

The Houston attorney said last week the party's image had been tarnished by the Democratic victory in November and it would be his goal to unify and strengthen the GOP.

Others mentioned for the national chairmanship include Utah Chairman Richard Richards, Indiana chairman Thomas Milligan, Arthur Fletcher of the White House staff, and Buehl Berentsen, a former executive director of the party's Senate campaign committee.

In Wichita Falls, however, the curtailment by Lone Star Gas Co. continued into a third day because it draws gas from the company's overtaxed interstate system instead of the intrastate like other Texas points.

"We came into town to buy (30) sheep, and this was not the time to buy sheep, so we ended up with three goats," Mrs. Charity said.

They were affectionate goats, pet goats, not bound for the barbecue pit. The friendly fellas wouldn't replace Josie, but they would help fill the void left in her passing into eternal "rest."

Next, the couple drove to the bank, which was closed, but knocked on a side door and got in. Payment on the $16 check was ordered stopped.

The ranching couple headed back to the livestock barn, loaded the three goats in cattle trailer behind the pickup truck, and returned to Midkiff and to family life.

Now, for the story's end: Someone up at school found the lost check, which would surely "bounce" on the stop-the-payment command. But the unwary school officials wanted the bad one. The good one came home.

DALLAS - A public hearing on proposed cotton dust standards that would reduce worker exposure to cotton dust has been announced by the U.S. Department of Labor's Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA).

The proposal would reduce the present OSHA standard of 1,000 micrograms of total dust per cubic meter of air to 200 micrograms of respirable dust per cubic meter. Respirable dust is proposed as the measure since larger, nonrespirable dust particles are not thought to be

The proposal envisions a phased reduction of workplace cotton dust levels to no more than 500 micrograms per cubic meter 90 days after the standard becomes effective; to 350 micrograms within four years; and 200 micrograms per cubic meter within seven years.

Respirators and work practice controls to supplement require engineering controls would have to be used immediately to reach the 200 microgram level

The proposed standards would apply to all industries covered by the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970, including general industry, construction, maritime and agriculture except harvesting.

Exposure to cotton dust has long. been recognized to cause byssinosis. also called "brown lung," which is a chronic repiratory disease, often seriously disabling.

The public hearing will be at 9:30 a.m. April 5 in the Departmental Auditorium, Constitution Avenue between 12th and 14th streets, N.W., in Washington, D.C.

OSHA is seeking written comment, data and views on the proposal by March 4, 1977. Such comments should be sent to the Docket Officer, Docket No. H-052, Room N3620, OSHA, U.S. Department of Labor, 3rd Street and Constitution Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C., 20210.

Hobby also said that property tax proposals-including one that would set up a single taxing authority in each county- would be forwarded to Sen. Tom Creighton's Committee on Economic Development because the finance committee "will be loaded with the appropriation bill."

Hobby indicated that it may be Jan. 24 before lawmakers settle into a routine because of preliminaries and the inauguration of President-elect Jimmy Carter on Jan. 20. Executive director Bob Johnson of

SW Bell in court to change order

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. has gone to court in an attempt to keep the Public Utilities Commission from cutting Bell's revenue request by 80 per cent.

Bell filed a suit Monday in Judge James Meyers' 126th district court seeking an injunction to block the 1973. PUC's amended order that cut additional revenue from long distance calls.

The telephone company also asked Judge Meyers to allow Bell to place into effect, under court supervision, rates which would "produce a fair return on the company's investment."

Earlier Monday, the commission rejected a rehearing motion and ordered WATS (wide area telephone service) rates doubled to make up for long distance cuts, leaving Bell's total additional revenue the same. The Bell petition charged that the commission's new car?

When I first saw this car, I knew it was the one I had been looking for. Everything about it was just right ... it was in perfect shape and I could afford it! I had saved enough at First Savings and Loan to make the down payment, and I was making enough part-time for the payments. I was unsure about what my dad would say, but I had all the answers for the questions I figured he's ask. And you know what? He said OK! He said I'd shown good judgement! This is about the best day of my life! Just look how much you could save for what you want!

Ulster's hope cited

The Women's Peace Movement in Northern Ireland provides a ray of hope that 1977 will bring some concrete progress toward reconciliation of Catholics and Protestants in Ulster.

Queen Elizabeth II found it fitting to praise the crusade in her annual Christmas message. A Norweigan "People's Peace Prize" of $280,000 was awarded to the Belfast housewives leading the movement after the Nobel committee decided not to award a Nobel peace prize for 1976.

This encouragement from outside of Northern Ireland will not change the minds of terrorists who are refusing to brook any compromise in the long political struggle over Catholic and Protestant power. But it would surely keep the movement alive and give Betty Williams and Mairean Corrigan a reason to keep hammering at their theme.

There are not many parallels between the Irish movement and the antiwar movement seen in the United States during the 1960s. One of them, however, is that the demonstrations in this country were inspired by conviction that incessant bloodshed in Vietnam was not accomplishing anything. The Belfast housewives are trying to persuade the Irish, both Catholic and Protestant, that murder and terrorism by illegal partisans on both sides are not accomplishing anything.

The antiwar demonstrations here were aimed at getting the government to change its Vietnam policy. The target in Northern Ireland is less concentrated. It is the people as a whole who must be convinced that their massive tolerance of terrorism should be turned to active rejection, and to cooperation with Bristish efforts to arrest and hold extremists who are perperuating street warfare.

That's a big order when many Irish people sympathize with the aims of the extremists if not their tactics, and are motivated by deep-seated religious differences. But the housewives are appealing to an emotion which surely runs as deep as religious rivalry.

It was the death of three children on the streets of Belfast during a terrorist raid that galvanized their movement last summer.

Should innocent children be sacrificed to an adult quarrel over religion and politics?

That's the question the Irish women are asking, and there is only one way to answer it. They should keep right on raising it insistently.

Most people of other nations around the world are hoping and praying that the Women's Peace Movement will lead to peace in Northern Ireland

Christian Living '77

One of the most popular religious events held here annually is the School of Christian Living, the 1977 edition of which opened Sunday night in St. Luke's United Methodist Church. Classes will continue at 9:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. through Thursday.

The school is sponsored by The Midland Association of Churches, which includes 19 member churches.

Five distinguished churchmeneducators from various fields are conducting the courses, which include "Secular Existence and the Possibility of Prayer." "Sixties Hopes and Seventies Theology," "Couriers of God's Messages," and "Creative Life and Spirit."

Dr. Leroy T. Howe of Perkins School of Theology, Southern Methodist University; James A. Rurak, AddRan College of Arts and Sciences. The School of Christian Living through the years has enjoyed large and enthusiastic enrollments, and the 1977 event is no exception.

Midland is fortunate in having such a school made available to them.

ART BUCHWALD:

Effects of the great coffee shortage told

WASHINGTON - The first inkling that the price of coffee had gotten out of hand was in early 1977 when the IRS announced you could deduct the price of the first cup of coffee, when discussing business, but you could not deduct the second cup. Also, you could no longer buy your wife a cup of coffee unless you could prove it was necessary for her to be there when the business conversation was held.

In a few-months coffee had become a luxury item and was only served in the finest restaurants. At $20 a cup, some eating places offered to give you a free meal if you bought a cup of coffee to go with it (cream and sugar were extra)

But soon the idea of serving coffee after a meal was reserved for special occasions such as weddings, anniversaries, Bar Mitzvahs and New Year's Eve. It wasn't enough to just serve the coffee. People began to toast each other with thier cups, and waiters showed the can the coffee came from, before they poured it from a pot wrapped in a white napkin.

The coffeemakers started to put vintage years on the cans and connoisseurs emerged who could comment on the quality of each brand. They would say such things as "It's an unassuming little Maxwell House, but I think you'll be amused by its presumption" or "This 'Chock Full o' Nuts' has a nobility to it that you rarely find in any of the domestic brands. I would put it up against a 1975 Chase and Sanborn anytime."

Sino-Soviet border disputes

By JACK ANDERSON

HONG KONG — It was a map of an obscure stretch of the Chinese-Russian border that finally persuaded Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to open the door to China

Although then-President Richard Nixon had raised the idea, Kissinger didn't think seriously about a detente with China until shooting broke out between Chinese and Russian border back in March, 1969

The incident occurred on Chenpao Island in the Ussuri River, which flows between Soviet Siberia and Chinese Manchuria. Kissinger called for a map of the area. He noticed that the clash had occurred five miles from a Soviet railhead but 50 miles from a Chinese terminal, he told us.

Kissinger inmediately concluded that the Chinese would never heve provoked an incident so far from their supply line. He decided, therefore, that the Russians had started the shooting and that the Chinese would welcome a U.S. approach.

Today, the 5,000-mile border is quiet but tense. The intelligence reports are conflicting about the degree of hostility between Chinese and Russian border troops. Apparently, this depends largely upon the local commanders. But no serious incidents have been reported in the past few months

The best U.S. estimate is that the Soviets have 45 divisions, seven of them armored, on their Chinese frontier. Several menacing air and missile units are also deployed along the border. The total Soviet force facing China is estimated at 800,000.

Chinese would be no match for the Chinese would be forced to fight largely with obsolescent weapons recoilles rifles against tanks, inferior fighter planes against modern MIG-23s, masses of infantry against machines.

NICK THIMMESCH Let honeymoon last until peaches bloom in South

WASHINGTON - Jimmy Carter works hard to put his government together at the same time he enjoys a pre-inaugural honeymoon which will be followed by a post-inaugural honeymoon of unknown duration. It's best this way. Carter deserves a honeymoon. The republic suffered too much acrimony in the past decade, and no doubt the bile will flow again.

For the moment, it's good that the nation be decent to the first Southern President in a century, and let him make his best effort. Carter enjoyed the benefits of timing on several occasions in 1976, and perhaps his string will continue. He blitzed his way through the early primaries, and thus caught the pecksniffs and fussbudgets off guard.

catch up with him and his record, he had the nomination locked up. He had the same kind of good for-tune in the general election. The Republicans scheduled the latest convention - for them - on record, that mid-August gethering in Kansas City. So while Carter made lazy circles in the sky all summer — propelled by that 33-point lead in the polls — Reagan and Ford had at each

By the time anyone was of a mood to other like two superannuated members of the Union League Club. Other than the overblown fuss over his Playboy interview, Carter made the best of a prosaic campaign and limped across the finish line ahead of Ford. The press, especially its investigative corps, somehow didn't-have time to poke around his Georgia record or fully study his present and past campaign financing or that of Mondale's either. The fact that his 1976 success was largely based on the Wallace vote, and an unusually ardent expression of affirmation by blacks, seemed lost on readers until after the election. Carter was truly blessed by chronikos.

Nick Thimmesch

No matter. The man is now learning what it is like inside versus outside. It is fit and proper that Carter's campaign rhetoric, especially the pledges, must now be put aside. If the press felt vindictive, Carter could be cut.

His promises on creating jobs and reducing unemployment were quickly shrunk in the weeks after the election.

It's the same story on welfare reform and defense budget cuts. Shovel the Carterian pronouncements of 1976-77 on these perplexing matters into one vast hopper, shake for one hour, and you will be presented with a delightful mosaic - and not a clear signal. No one really knows what the Carter Administration will get in 1977 on jobs, the economy, tax reform and a defense budget.

And if it weren't for the honeymoon, Carter's thoughts on the Vice Presidency would invite the sort of acerbic criticism, say, a Nixon or

Agnew would get. At one point, Carter saw Mondale as his chief administrator - a powerful functionary. Then an aide repudiated this job description for Mondale, and a few days later Mondale himself proclaimed that he might differ publicly with his President, thus leaving us with the notion that Mondale might be a policy-maker, not an administrator.

But all this washes down to nothing. too. It is honeymoon time. Pay no attention. No President-elect has ever performed brilliantly in the transitition period, and people understand that.

True, there have been murmurings of ingratitude from some blacks, Chicanos, women and party faithful over Carter's post-election deportment. But they are trivial. And while the press has raised a few questions about the cronyism factor at work in some of Carter's Cabinet appointments, that little wind has

The best illustration of how one on a honeymoon fares compared with one in the harness is a look at the furore over President Ford's badly timed recommendation for Puerto Rican statehood. Seldom has the press gone into such hysterics (probably because of improper briefing) over such an inconsequential story.

An advisory commission and a Gallup Poll pushed Ford toward his announcement. The status issue has been debated on the small island for many years. The statehood process would take several years anyway, so what was the big deal? The big deal was that we had the opportunity to take a crack at a public figure who is not on a honeymoon.

Right now, with Nixon, Agnew et al departed, there is no one to kick around. Moreover, it would be despicable to harass a President-elect and his Mrs. So the honeymoon is proper, meek and just. Let it continue until the snow thaws in the North, and the peaches blossom in the South. Carter and the American people deserve it.

I talked with Sen. Hubert Humphrey the other day about why he didn't play hardball politics in his quest for the majority leader's post.

'Oh, I was told to," he said. "They told me to be tough and mean. But there are too many toughies and meanies around, and I just decided I wouldn't try for it that way.

Whatever the reasons for this Happy Warrior's demurring mood, I was glad to hear what he said

" 'Goodbye, Harry' I said to myself. In warm water, you can stay afloat for a long time, but in cold water, that's it." he said.

"When the bow began to sink. I hit the water and began to swim for the cutter," Selleck said. "Most of the time, I just floated and went with the swells to save energy. The cutter missed me the first time, and I was in the water 15 to 20 minutes before the second pass."

The Poling, based in New York, was headed from Boston to Newington, N.H., when the storm struck.

It was the 12th oil carrier involved in an accident in or near U.S. waters in the past month. Only one of the others was an American ship, and the rash of accidents has prompted calls for greater American regulation of foreign shipping.

Wichita Falls region's short supply continues

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — Wichita Falls perches on the Texas side of the Red River, bared to bitter winter storms and tied to Oklahoma by an umbilical cord of interstate natural gas lines.

The crippling storms and the interstate gas link are two major reasons why Lone Star Gas Co.'s 100 per cent curtailment of gas to the city's industrial users, including schools, entered its third day today.

It was the second such curtailment for the Wichita Falls area in the last month.

Over the rest of North Texas, gas service that was cartailed because of the icy steamroller that began moving through the area Saturday night was resumed to most customers Monday as temperatures inched above freezing.

Warren Fulks, spokesman for Lone Star Gas Co. in Dallas, said the curtailment, partially responsible for the closing of schools all over North Texas Monday, was expected to continue at least through today in the Wichita Falls area.

A company official said the federally-regulated interstate wellhead prices are lower than prices producers realize from selling gas at unregulated prices on the intrastate "Producers are reluctant to sell to interstate distributors," said Fulks, who added that Lone Star's gas supplies in the interstate lines were easily depleted during peak demand brought one of those peak demand periods, as the temperature dipped to one below zero in Wichita Falls Sunday night.

"They can get far more for their gas on the unregulated intrastate market, so they prefer to sell there,' said Fulks. The crippling weekend storm

'Our maximum capacity is about 2.6 billion cubic feet of gas," Fulks said. "We don't know for sure yet, but...we must have moved two billion plus cubic feet Sunday, even with the curtailment.

"That may be a record," said Fulks, who added the decision to

Board asks Texaco suit

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Air Control Board has asked Atty. Gen. John Hill to sue Texaco Inc. for allegedly violating anti-pollution standards at its Port Arthur plant.

Hill to sue Tompkins Coatings, Inc., of Houston for alleged violations of the Texas Clean Air Act.

Texaco allegedly violated a rule which prohibits a company from storing a volatile carbon compound in a stationary tank with a capacity of more than 25,000 gallons unless vapor loss can be prevented.

The board said it issued an order July 23, 1973, and gave Texaco until May 31, 1975, to comply with the order but the company failed to do

The board said Tompkins had constructed or modified a "potential air pollution source" without obtaining a permit and had on three occasions ceased sandblasting operations when state investigators tried to take a sample.

curtail was prompted by the subfreezing temperatures, chill factors below zero and the company's inability to receive gas from some Southeast Texas producers crippled by the same arctic cold wave.

The company's residential and commercial customers, who pay higher gas rates than industrial users, were unaffected by the curtailment. Lone Star has an application pending before the Federal Power Commission to include Wichita Falls and the surrounding area in the intrastate

Those North Texas areas were placed on the interstate lines when the system was first established.

"If suppliers had been able to deliver at full volume, the curtailment would not have been as deep," said Fulks of the curtailment that shut down schools and some industries in Lone Star's North Texas coverage area. "It still would have

Carter's code may encourage service-minded

NEW YORK (AP) - One immediate effect of Presidentelect Carter's new code of ethics might be to make government service more like service - a service to be performed rather than an opportunity to be seized.

And because often there is a perverse side to the general rule, it might also discourage some of the nation's best talent from offering their services in In regard to the former, it has been widely

just enough time near the seat of government to learn the pressure points, the personnel and endless To the corporations that more and more are being regulated, advised and even dictated to from Washington, an experienced hand — especially if he dealt with the company's specific problems while in government - is invaluable. In some instances the individual continues in almost the same work but from the opposite side of the desk once he joins a corporation. The examples Graduates of the great governmental university have moved rapidly into top jobs in transportation, utilities, philanthropy, consumer affairs, financial institutions and securities. Recent heads of both the New York and American stock exchanges, for example, once were Securities and Exchange Commission officials, whose job it was to regulate the institutions they later joined.

Under the new code, many appointees in policymaking roles will be barred for one year from representing for pay anyone before their former department or agency. This regulation immediately would make it less attractive for an administration official to succumb to the lure of cash, retire from government and switch allegiance to support a special interest.

At the same time, another regulation - that individuals must divest themselves of financial holdings likely to be affected by their official acts could very well rule out acceptance of a job by accomplished people

Such individuals, quite naturally, often are possessed of various financial holdings, some of which they built up slowly and painfully. For them to divest these holdings could be tantamount to scrapping a lifetime effort.

Already some of the most accomplished businessmen in the country shy away from government service because of the loss of privacy and what they feel is the sometimes savage grilling to which they are exposed.

Asked why he never considered government service, a top officer of a very large bank, wealthy, nearing retirement and clearly with experience and knowledge that could benefit the government, stepped back in shock and replied: "Me? And expose my family to all the questioning and criticism that goes

Strike up the 19th victory for our Rebel Roundballers! You can say that our Roundballers are the 5-4A kings. They have started district action with two wins. First, last Tuesday night, the Rebels branded the Odessa Bronchos 88-57. Then they went into action Friday night and beat the San Angelo Bobcats 84-59. The Rebels are ranked ONE in the district and are showing that they really are! We are the REBELS and we are GREAT! Our roundballers will travel to Abilene tonight to play the Cooper Cougars. Boy are those Cougs in for it. Then Friday night our guys play Big Spring there. Everyone try to go to the games and back our Rebs all the way. They are doing a SUPER job. Congratulations go to Coach Stueckler

Our JV Cagers romped to another easy win taking a 67-45 victory over the San Angelo JV. Our Rebel JV is now 15-6 on the season. Keep up the good work, guys!

Last Thursday, our girls basketball team crushed Abilene Cooper 56-37 in 5-4A basketball matchup. The Lee B Team won 28-21. Lee will host Big Spring Thursday night in the Lee gym at 7:30. Our girls now 10-1 for the year! They are really FANTASTIC! We're behind you 100 per cent.

Rebelettes: You're lookin good! Let's keep up the spirit and show how outstanding the rebelette organization is. Remember, Juniors, if you want to be in the Honor Squad or an officer next year, you need to keep as busy as possible. We won't Rebelette at either of the games this week, but come next Tuesday night we want to see everyone in full uniform except hats, for the game against Odessa Permian. That's all for now. See ya at the squad meetings at 7:45, BUT we need to see all of the JUNIORS at 7:30 a.m. in the library for a short Swimmers over the past weekend, were involved in the Texas Tech Invitational Swim Meet. The Lee boys team finished eighth in the competition. The Lee girls finished fifth in their competition Saturday. Our red-eye swimmers will splash off at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Permian pool in a dual-meet against Permian. Splish-splash straight on to another Victory! Our Rebel netters will travel to San Angelo

Saturday to play in a dual-meet against San Angelo at 10:30 a.m. Ace your way past the Bobcats!

This weekend is the big event for our speech and debate teams. Both Lee High and Midland High will run the Tall-City Invitational Speech and Debate Tournament. Students from both schools will serve as timekeepers and tournament officials. Teachers and citizens of the community will serve as judges. There will be 40 schools from Texas and New Mexico entered, and a total of 600 students. We will give you the results in next week's chatter. NOTE: "100 Club" members who serve as timekeepers will get 3 points per hour. So, let Mr. Collins know you will help.

The social committee will meet tonight and Wednesday at 7 p.m. in Mr. Cooper's room. We will be working on coronation decorations. We need everyone's help, so this will be the best year ever! Fellars: Remember Coronation isn't far away.

The date is January 22, so be sure and get your date early! Don't wait until the last minute! There is no folly equal to that of throwing away friendship in a world where friendship is so rare.—

parade for MC with 27 points while

Reorganization was one of the key items on the agenda for the 71st NCAA

A steering committee spent a full year creating the plan, but it took the 247 Division I members only 10 minutes to kill it.

Butler ripped the cords for 29 points

Peter A. Carlesimo, athletic director at Fordham University, presented the motion to table, saying, "I think we are wrong...that some form of reorganization is necessary. I would like to see the steering committee go back to the drawing board."

A motion for a roll-call vote was turned down, and the proposal was

Razorbacks paste Tech, 60-53

By The Associated Press

Arkansas celebrated its brandspanking new 16th national ranking Monday night with a 60-53 victory over Texas Tech that Razorback Coach Eddie Sutton said could be the "springboard" to a Southwest Conference basketball title.

Both Southern Methodist and Baylor captured victories on the road to stay tied atop the SWC ladder with Arkansas with 3-0 records and Texas Coach Abe Lemons was presented with his first league victory and celebrated by scathing the officials.

Arkansas has now beaten Tech twice and Houston once early in the SWC race and Sutton said "It was a good win for us because Texas Tech probably can't go on after losing two games in the first week and win the conference championship.

"But we know Tech will go on this season and beat the Houstons and the Baylors, and we'll be rooting for them. This is a springboard for us. We're off and running, but we're still not in the driver's seat. We have 13 games to go.

Moncrief scored 23 points, including five points in four seconds. After a three-point play he intercepted a Tech pass and put in another basket in the second half to demoralize the Red Raiders, the SWC post-season champions last year.

Arkansas sophomore guard Sidney

Pete Lodwick canned 23 points to pace SMU to a 72-61 victory over Rice, Larry Spicer poured home 31 points as Baylor bombed Texas Christian 90-74, and Texas whipped Texas A&M

Sutton said "We did well at the free throw line (seven of eight). I guess the 100 free throws a day I've been making them shoot helped their confidence."

Lemons fumed after the victory in Austin about the officiating of Arlan Straub and Paul Galvan "I'm trying to think of a break we got and we didn't get any.

"That one guy was just making things up...he has got to be a rookie. And the little guy (Galvan) won't talk to you. I said 'Can I talk? The guy said

John Moore scored 22 points and Jim Krivacs had 21 as the Aggies dropped to a 1-1 SWC mark. Texas is Baylor Coach Carroll Dawson said "We could have lost this one easy. TCU was a lot more organized than they were last week. They really came after us."

SMU Coach Sonny Allen was delighted with Lodwick's performance, saying "He's played four or five great games for me in the last two years but tonight was his best."

Connors

top seed

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Defending champion Jimmy Connors drew the top seed Monday in the U.S. Pro Indoor Tennis Championship, to be played here Jan. 24-30.

Bjorn Borg of Sweden was seeded second and Ilie Nastase of Rumania was seeded third in the $200,000 event.

Lee, Cooper clash in key

The coaches would tell you it's just another game they have to win. But there's more to it than that.

The first half crown of the District 5-4A basketball season will more than likely be on the line tonight in Abilene. when Coach Marc Case's Cooper Cougars play host to the red hot Robert E. Lee Rebeis.

With the 5-4A campaign only two games old, Cooper, Lee, and Permian are the only teams still maintaining unblemished district states. By tonight's end, that number will diminish to at least two, and the survivor of the Key City battle will be an odds-on favorite to go all the way.

In the 5-4A pre-season poll, which involved voting by the district sports writers and coaches, Lee and Cooper finished one-two respectively in it.

The Rebels of Coach Paul Stueckler have barely worked up a sweat in the their initial two district games. overwhelming hapless Odessa at hone on opening night, and following that up with an 84-59 drubbing of San Angelo Friday in the Lee gymnasium. as they upped their overall record to breaking Rebel guard combination of Mike Wallace and Roy Lee Smith. Ennis, the 6-3 senior scoring machine will no doubt draw quite a bit of attention from the Cougar defense SPORTS SCOREBOARD inside. In the opening night win over Odessa, Ennis poured in 21 points and followed that up with an 18 point display in the Rebels' second district win.

But Case's team cannot afford to linit their concentration to stopping Ennis. Smith and Wallace, who had been relatively quiet during the predistrict campaign, have come on the past week, hitting with uncanny accuracy from the outside, and leading the Rebs' explosive fast break. In the first two 5-4A victories, the pair have racked up a total of 67 points.

Cooper will be led by 6-5 postman Tim Orr and Dennis Bradford, who are both averaging 19 points a con-

While Lee will be on the road, Midland will attempt to put together their longest win streak of the season tonight, when they entertain Abilene. Coach Don Humphrey's Bulldogs are coming off an impressive 72-67 win at Big Spring, and would surely like to make it two in a row.

The Pack succumbed to Permian in a 49-43 heartbreaker last Tuesday in their 5-4A opener, but bounced back against the Steers to remain in contention-for the first half title.

Craig Dunn will attempt to duplicate his outstanding 34-point performance against Big Spring, and will headline a starting five that will Phillip Ward (wing), Brentley Jackson (wing), and John Magness (point)

Guard Steve Brittain, who came off the bench Friday night and clicked on a three-point third quarter play that turned the contest around, will see a great deal of action as well.

Other district games on tap tonight include Odessa at San Angelo and Big Spring at Permian.

Wade captures tourney opener

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. Second-seeded Virginia Wade of England made quick game and officials said it work of a younger, less experienced opponent in advancing in a $100,000 professionnal women's tennis tournament. It took Miss Wade less than a half-hour Monday of Daytona Beach, Fla., 6-0, 6-1.

Earlier in the day, sixth-seeded Sue Barker 6-4, 4-6, 7-6. of England rallied and defeated Brigitte Cuypers of South Africa 6-4, 6-7, 63.

In a match of unseeded players, Kathy May of Beverly Hills, Calif., overcame an ankle injury in the final minutes and upset Francoise Durr of breaker sets. Miss May injured her ankle during the final was doubtful she would be able to continue in the tournament. In other matches

Kathy Kuykendall of Miami beat Czechoslovakia's Regina night to beat Zenda Leiss Marsikova 6-2, 1-6, 7-6. and Joanne Russell of Miami stopped Marise Krueger of South Africa

Expos get first pick in today's draft

Odessa High quarterback Darrell Shepard received yet another honor Monday, vhen the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce named him the outstanding Texas High School football player of 1976. It was the 14th annual presentation of the award.

Shepard, who is being sought by almost every major college in the country, has narrowed his choices down to Texas, Nebraska and UCLA. There had been rumors that Shepard was considering Texas Tech very strongly, but Monday's announcement killed any hope of the allamerican signal caller heading for

Baseball's winter free agent draft will be held today in Miami Beach, Fla., and according to the scouts, there is hardly a worth while pick available.

The Montreal Expos will get the first pick at the proceedings, which get underway at 12:40 EST, and the words of Danny Menendez, the director of scouting for the Expos sets the general tone of the draft.

"I, for one, question the wisdom of having a winter draft," he said. The talent in the winter draft just doesn't compare with the June draft. I think we would save a lot of time and effort if we just combined the two drafts into one June draft."

There will also be a secondary phase of today's draft, where the teams will be allowed to draft players that were already selected last June, but didn't sign. Wiles Hallock, the Executive Director of the Pac-8 Conference announced Monday that Arizona and Arizona State have been officially accepted into the organization effective July, 1, 1978. . .
