Economy growth slowest for year, report reveals economy grew during the final three months of last year at the slowest rate since the end of the 1974-75 recession, the government reported today. It marked the second consecutive quarter of growth slower than necessary to cut unemployment.

The Commerce Department said the volume of Gross National Product, the total output of goods and services in the economy, grew at an annual rate of 3 per cent for October through December.

That compared to a 3.9 per cent growth rate for the third quarter of the year and was the smallest growth rate since Gross National Product, or GNP, ended five consecutive quarters of decline with a 5.6 per cent rise in the second quarter of 1975.

Most economists consider a growth rate of 4 per cent a year necessary to keep creation of jobs even with growth in the labor force. Measured quarterly, unemployment has now risen from 7.4 per cent in the April-June period to 8 per cent in the final quarter of 1976. Unemployment fell from 8.1 per cent in November to 7.9 per cent in December.

Inflation, as measured in the GNP accounts, was at an annual rate of 6.2 per cent in the fourth quarter. That was up from 4.4 per cent the quarter

The latest unemployment figures, together with the biggest increase in personal income in 18 months for December and the biggest two-month rise in industrial production at yearend since February, indicate Jimmy Carter is inheriting a stronger economy than President Ford had to defend during the election campaign.

The latest increase in GNP left its value at $1,692.4 billion for the year. After adjusting that for inflation, the increase in volume amounted to 6.2 per cent, compared to a 1.8 per cent drop in 1975 and a 1.7 per cent drop in the previous year. The GNP figures on growth for the whole year were precisely what President Ford's economists had predicted this time last year. Most economists are projecting GNP growth in the 5 per cent to 5.5 per cent range for the current year.

Jurek predicts freedom

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) - Jerry Lane Jurek, who once said he would never die in the Texas electric chair, has been granted a stay of execution by the U.S. Supreme Court

Jurek, 26, who was convicted in the slaying of a 10-year-old girl, was scheduled for execution in the early morning hours of Wednesday. The Supreme Court told Texas of ficials on Monday to keep Jurek alive until the high court could consider a formal appeal. The action delayed for at least two months the execution of

If the final appeal for a stay had been denied. Jurek would have been the first person put to death in Texas since 1964. His execution would have been only the second in the United States in almost 10 years, following by two days the death of Gary Gilmore before a Utah firing squad.

The Supreme Court ordered that Jurek's attorneys submit an appeal by Feb. 16 and that Texas authorities file a response to it by March 3.

In a recent interview, Jurek told The AP, "I know I will get a stay. I won't be executed. I'll get out of here someday.

Jurek was convicted in February 1974 for the August 1973 slaying of Wendy Adams, the daughter of a law enforcement officer in the Southeast Texas town of Cuero.

The child's body, clad in a two-piece bathing suit, was found floating face down in the Guadalupe river several days after she disappeared from a city park where she had gone to swim with friends.

During the trial, the prosecution entered as evidence a statement from Jurek saying he had taken the girl from the park to Hell's Gate river bridge, about four miles away. The statement said the girl began to scream and Jurek choked her until she fell to the ground unconscious.

Then he threw her into the river. Jurek, while on death row, filed a lawsuit challenging the Texas death penalty. It was this challenge, along with similar ones in two other states, that the high court used last July to rule that capital punishment is not necessarily cruel and unusual.

Last week attorneys for Jurek asked Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. to postpone the execution. Powell referred the request to the full court.

Justice Thurgood Marshall, while agreeing with the court's granting of an execution delay, criticized his fellow justices for imposing a filing

Technicians save parts of Gilmore

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - In death, Gary Mark Gilmore got what he wanted with a speed denied him in

Within minutes of his execution by firing squad Monday morning, technicians were working on the body to preserve portions for medical use. By night, in compliance with his instructions, Gilmore's body had been cremated at a funeral home in Provo. Family sources said the ashes would be spread by airplane over Provo, where Gilmore lived, and nearby Springville, where his girl friend Nicole Barrett lived before she was confined to a mental hospital.

Gilmore's pituitary gland, eyes, kidneys and liver were removed for possible transplant or study, said a brief statement from the University of Utah Medical Center.

But the kidneys, "because of the nature of Mr. Gilmore's death, are not medically usable for tran-splantation," the statement said. "At least one of them can be used for medical research."

Thus ended the ordeal for the 36-year-old killer who had coldbloodedly executed two young men, then demanded he in turn be put to death for his crimes.

Rummaging in Basin finds poignant prose

Person-to-person tidbits picked up in rum maging around:

To yawn or yell or baaa: "You know." observed Terry Neill, as 4-H Club youngsters were showing their tame but sometimes restless lambs in a livestock judging contest at Stanton, "this is not a real spectators' sport, unless you've got somebody in it. If you've got somebody in it, it can be real exciting.'

Looking on from the sidelines in the show barn were parents and other blood relatives. Ranching and farming "types" with wide-brimmed hats and long-billed caps, too, were curiously watching the judging . and the kids.

Same story, new line: "The earth rotates on its taxes!" said the blinking-light marquee in plugging a banking institution.

Faded fire, rising smoke: "If you need to break some doors, go ahead and break them," Midland Fire Chief Melvin Little advised Deputy Chief

John Bourke over the walkie-talkie. It wasn't necessary, as it turned out. There was no raging fire in the Midland Savings Association building Saturday night. Ceiling tile in the basement of the 14-story building was smouldering; a brief and contained blaze/ apparently had started from a grease fire.

Minutes passed, no water trickled or spurted from the fire hoses, and someone drove up with a key to the locked glass doors

Nothing was shattered, and firemen swept up the ashen debris and fanned the smoke from the savings association building.

noted Paul J. Nicholson, manager of the building. 'Don't play it up too big," he said to reporter covering the story.

'More smoke than anything, huh?"

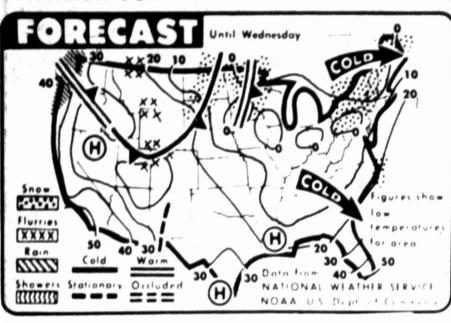

"They'll think all of their money burned up." Eating for a fee: "All of those who

Two earn promotions at Reporter-Telegram

Two executive promotions at The Reporter-Telegram were announced today by Jim Allison Jr., publisher.

Lucien D. "Lou" Lindsey has been promoted to vice president in charge of sales and promotion. He formerly was director of advertising, a position he had held more than 15 years.

Gilbert C. Vetters has been promoted to advertising director. He joined the newspaper in 1975 as retail advertising manager.

Lindsey on Jan. 16 became president of the Texas Newspaper Advertising Managers Association. Before joining the newspaper more than 16 years ago, he had worked many years in newspaper editorial and advertising departments, public relations and with an advertising

Lindsey also has worked in sales management, radio, television, teaching and book publishing.

He is a member of the board of directors of the Midland County Heart Association and the public relations committee of the United Way of Downtown Kiwanis Club, The Museum of the Southwest and The Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity. He resides with his wife at 1513 Community Lane.

Vetters for several years was on the advertising staff of the Corpus Christi Caller-Times, working in classified, retail and national advertising, serving finally as national advertising

In 1968, he joined the Harte-Hanks newspaper group's Dallas office as assistant to the corporate director of advertising sales. He was promoted in 1973 to sales manager for Harte-Hanks Texas Properties in the Dallas office and in 1974 assumed responsibility for all retail accounts at the home office level.

Vetters is a member of the Texas Newspaper Advertising Managers Association and International Newspaper Advertising Executives. He is a member of St. Ann's Catholic Church and is a 4th Degree Knight of Columbus. He resides with his family

Four Carter choices cleared

President-elect Carter's Cabinet nominees were cleared for Senate confirmation today, along with the new administration's chief economic adviser and top tax technician.

Those committee endorsements went swiftly and smoothly, with scant opposition, a day after the withdrawal of Theodore C. Sorensen, embattled nominee to head the Central Intelligence Agency.

Senate committees worked to ratify the balance of the Carter team for final approval after Thursday's inauguration.

The Senate Finance Committee approved W. Michael Blumenthal, who has been chairman of the Bendix Corp., to become secretary of the Treasury, and Joseph Califano, a Washington lawyer, for secretary of health, education and welfare.

In addition, that panel approved the choice of Laurence N. Woodworth, a congressional tax specialist, to become an assistant secretary of the approval. The banking committee unanimously approved Charles L. Schultze to become chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers.

Ray Marshall, a University of Texas economist, was approved by the Senste Labor and Public Welfare Committee to become secretary of labor. The vote was 13 to 2.

Marshall said in a letter to the committee that he will act swiftly to resolve charges of alleged abuses in the Teamsters Union Central States Pension Fund.

The Senate Judiciary Committee

scheduled an open meeting later in the day on the nomination of Griffin B. Bell to be attorney general. The committee eneded five days of hearings on the Bell nomination Monday, but opponents have asked for a chance to hear more testimony and sources said it was uncertain whether the panel would vote on the Bell appointment today.

Despite controversy over Bell's membership in clubs that have no minority members and over his role during Georgia's resistance to school desegregation in Georgia, his confirmation seems assured

Bell, an Atlanta lawyer and former federal judge, told the panel Monday that he would resign his club memberships today. He refused to promise not to rejoin the clubs after returning to private life. But Bell asked the committee to act quickly on his to run the Justice Department."

The full Senate traditionally confirms the Cabinet nominees as a group shortly after/the president is sworn in on inauguration day.

Unlike the criticism of Bell, which started the day Carter nominated him, attacks on Sorensen mounted suddenly in the final days before the confirmation hearing on his nomination to head the CIA

In making his dramatic withdrawal Monday, Sorensen told the Senate Intelligence Committee he did not want to "handicap" the Carter administration with a bitter Senate battle over his nomination

Sorensen, a top aide to President John F. Kennedy, surprised the panel by announcing his withdrawal after defending himself against what he called "scurrilous and unfounded personal attacks.' The attacks included criticism of his registering as a conscientious ob-jector in 1946 and his use of classified information in a book he wrote on the Kennedy administration. In Plains, Ga., Carter expressed regret about Sorensen's decision, but praised him for sparing "the administration and the country the effects of a divisive and emotional controversy. Other Carter nominees who testified Monday met warmer receptions. Lance, the 45-year-old Atlanta banker who was Georgia's transportation secretary when Carter was governor, promised the Senate Government Operations Committee that he would work for a balanced budget by 1981 and try to reduce federal red tape.

W. Michael Blumenthal, treasury-secretary designate. told the Economic Club of Detroit that his first official act will be to prohibit the Treasury Department fron releasing information on citizens' tax returns without his specific consent.

Salute to Jaycees

If all the wonderful civic accomplishments of the Midland Jaycees during their organization's 37-year history were placed end-to-end well it would be a lengthy string, indeed.

The Jaycees through the years have been active in so many areas of community development and betterment that it is impossible to list them all. But the results of their endeavors have made and continue to make of Midland a much better community in which to live, work and enjoy life.

Enthusiasm and a willingness to work and to get things done are the major qualities behind the success of the Jaycee movement here and elsewhere.

But there is something else which goes far deeper than all of this - it is the training and development of young men into roles of community leadership and good citizenship. A large percentage of Midland civic and business leaders of today are products of yesterday's Jaycee training.

It is noteworthy that Howard "Rocky" Ford, who is retiring tonight as president of the Midland Chamber of Commerce. and State Rep. Tom Craddick and W.P. "Bill" Franklin who last week won the Distinguished Service Award and Boss of the Year honors, respectively, all have played important roles in the Jaycee movement here.

Review, if you will, the Jaycee Creed and all of this will be more easily understandable. It reads, as follows: "We Believe:

"That faith in God gives meaning to human life;

"That the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of

"That economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise;

"That government should be of laws rather than of men:

"That the earth's great treasure lies in human personality; "And that service to humanity is the best work of life." Quite a creed, isn't it? And one which every Jaycee takes to

Midlanders are deeply indebted to the Jaycees for their community service through the years, and what better time to express sincere appreciation to the young men involved than during Jaycee Week, which now is being observed here. This also affords an excellent opportunity for young men who are not now members of the Midland Jaycees to affiliate with this young men's organization. which gets things done, "Where the YOUNG Man Steps In."

Congratulations are in order for President Larry Bell and his fellow Midland Jaycees for their many, varied, noteworthy and outstanding achievements which have won for them state and national acclaim.

ART BUCHWALD Newcomers to D. C. get 'helpful' hints

WASHINGTON — It is no secret that many of the people who will work with President Jimmy Carter have never been to Washington before They will have to learn the ropes on how this town oeprates over a period of time. But I think someone should warn Carter appointees about a few of the things to beware of.

When someone offers you a free trip to South Korea and sticks a plain white envelope for expenses in your pocket, do some serious Seoulsearching before accepting it.

If a Washington vice president of Multi-National Co. tells you he knows a nice girl who has nothing to do with her afternoons - or evenings - make certain she is not writing her memoirs.

When the president of a major aircraft company invites you to the corporation's hunting lodge for the weekend he isn't just shooting ducks.

If the Pentagon offers you a ride in their B-1 bomber, it doesn't mean they're trying to save you the air fare

There is no such things as "free lunch" at the Sans Souci.

The first thing to do when you get to Washington is find a literary agent. The second thing is to buy a four-year diary and fill it every day with vignettes about the mistakes made by the people you work with in the Administration. It is never too early to start writing your book.

Now that you are in the Carter Administration you will be known by newspapermen as an "official source." You will be expected to provide a certain number of leaks to avoid getting a bad press. The safest place to leak information to reporters is at PTA meetings. The worst place is the National Press Club.

Don't waste time writing letters to the newspapers protesting a Jack Anderson column. They never get printed.

If you want to get something in the Evans and Novak column, be sure and specify it's "off the record."

If you're invited to play tennis or golf with a Washington lawyer you will be astounded how many times you win. Don't let it go to your head. Washington lawyers are fantastically adept at losing to people in every new administration.

When you're invited to a cocktail or dinner party and your wife is concerned about what to wear, assure her she has nothing to worry about. If she's wearing blue jeans and an apron everyone will still tell her she looks beautiful.

Austra

If an aide asks your permission to tap the home telephone of someone else in the government, be sure you don't put it in writing.

If a superior asks you to tap someone's home telephone, be sure and put it in writing.

If a young lady approaches you on 14th St., and asks if you would like to go with her to a baseball game in Washington for a few hours, don't say yes. Washington doesn't have a baseball team, and an could be a policeman in drag.

If you go out on the town at night and someone suggests you all go for a swim at the Tidal Basin, forget it. It isn't heated and there are no lifeguards on duty at night.

That's about all I can think of for the moment. The thing to remember that no matter how important you are in the Administration you still have to put your pants on the same way as everybody else does in the morning. Unless, of course, you're a female appointee. Then you can put them on any way you want to.

Only a test report

It would be wasted emotion to make too much of the Army's acknowledgement that it conducted simulated germ-warfare tests with "nondisease-causing biological substances" between 1950 and 1966 in eight locations, including military installations. New York's subways and the Pentagon itself.

First, the "substances" -Aspergillus fumigatus mold. Bacillus globigii and Serratia marcescens - are common and camparatively harmless. Aspergillus, a relative of the mold, Bacillus globigii from which penicillin is derived, is frequently found in pigeons, for example.

Second, the tests were apparently carefully controlled, and no serious consequence from them has been established. The substances seem to have been used to track their distribution in air much as a dye might be employed to trace water currents. Defenses against theoretical biological attacks can be worked out in theory, but they need to be checked out on a broader scale.

Third, the United States renounced biological warfare in 1969. There is no reason to disbelieve the Army's statement that since then it has confined its research solely to defense against germ attack.

The public temper was attuned to national defense, back in those early Cold War years. It has focused on personal freedom today. The Army's tests would be unthinkable now but one of the reasons for that might be that the Army made the effort to check its defenses back then

'Fishbait' Miller tells all

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

JACK ANDERSON and LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON - William "Fishbait" Miller, the guardian of many Washington confidences as House Doorkeeper for 24 years, has written a tell-all book. The news should send dozens of notables

The frog-throated Fishbait, who used to proclaim to the House the arrival of presidents and potentates. became one of its most colorful characters. But he lost favor in 1975 and was voted out of office.

He wasted no time brooding over the ignominy. Instead, he got together with ghostwriter Frances Spatz Leighton and began work on his memoirs. He is now hiding out in Atlanta, waiting for the roof to fall in when the book is published later this

Some of Fishbait's recollections are so torrid that Prentice-Hall's lawyers are still debating whether to strike out the names. But here are a few highlights that have been cleared:

- While Richard Nixon occupied the White House, he traveled up to Capitol Hill every year to lunch with key congressmen. Fishbait swears that one luncheon was "bugged" by the president. He wanted to find out what the congressmen out of his earshot were saying about him, alleges Fishbait. (The Secret Service is unaware of any such recordings, a spokesman said.)

 Fishbait even reveals the deepest secret of his idol, the late House

Speaker Sam Rayburn. It was always thought that Rayburn, after a short, disastrous marriage, preferred politics to prefty women. But according to Fishbait, Rayburn was deeply in love for years with a mature, secret mistress. Every time they had a tryst in their love nest off the Capitol grounds, recalls Fishbait, would return positively Rayburn glowing.

- But the champion lovemaker, as Fishbait tells it, was the late, flamboyant Rep. Frank Boykin (D.-Ala.) His campaign motto was "Everything is made for love." and he practiced what he preached Fishbait says Boykin was once caught by a relative in a hotel bed with two beauties. Unabashed, Boykin engaged the ladies in casual conversation as they got dressed.

 Fishbait also confides that a number of homosexual senators and congressmen led clandestine lives without detection on Capitol Hill. But apparently, their names will be removed by the lawyers.

The irrepressible Fishbait drops names on every page of the book. He tells how he served as a tipster for young Jackie Bouvier when she was a photographer-reporter for the defunct Washington Times-Herald But he got in trouble with the man she married. then-Sen. John F. Kennedy (D. Mass.), by introducing him in the middle of a big fundraiser. Kennedy complained that the goof brought the affair to an early climax and cost donations. When Hubert Humphrey was vice president, he once became irritated with Fishbait for introducing him as 'Gabby.'' Earlier, President Harry Truman invited Fishbait to the White House. The bluntspoken Truman took the occasion to berate Gen. Douglas MacArthur

Fishbait tells what he thinks of the congressmen he was obliged to please to keep his job, ranging from ex-Rep Wayne Hays (D.-Ohio) (brutal,insulting) to ex-Rep. Frank Chelf (D.-Ky.) (a decent, kindly man)

Oh yes, we offended Fishbait terribly by reporting that he was collecting a private percentage on the sanitary napkins vended on Capitol Hill. He angrily denies it, but we stick

MITCHELL'S WOES - Ex-Attorney General John Mitchell, who selected "law and order" as the main theme of the 1968 presidential campaign, departed Washington not only with an eight-year prison sentence hanging over his head, but with a $26,093 tax debt at the Treasury. A federal tax lien has been filed against Mitchell in both Washington and New York. The records specify that he owes the government $26,060 for 1973 and an additional $33 for 1974. The Internal Revenue Service slapped Mitchell with an assessment in August, 1975, but couldn't collect the money. The embattled Mitchell is appealing his Waterqate conviction and disputing the tax bill. Through his attorney. Plato Cacheris, the nation's former chief law enforcement officer told us the tax claim is "in dispute." "They think they're right," Cacheris quoted him as saying. "I think I'm right.

OIL POSTSCRIPT - A United States senator played an important backstage role in the decision by some Arab states to hold down oil prices.

James Abourezk (D.-S.D.) visited the Middle East shortly after the November elections for the explicit purpose of asking Arab officials not to increase prices. As the son of Lebanese parents. Abourezk is the only man in the Senate of Arab descent. He exerts considerable influence, therefore, among Arab leaders, most of whom he knows personally.

In Saudi Arabia, Abourezk met with King Khalid and Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani. In the United Arab Emirates, he held discussions with President Shdikh Zayid and Oil Minister Mana Al-Utayba.

The U.S. ambassador to Abu Dhabi. Francis Dickman, was present when Abourezk spoke with them. Afterward, he outlined the details of the senator's entreaties in a confidential cablegram to the State Department.

INSIDE REPORT:

Near financial disaster among inaugural horrors

By ROWLAND EVANS And ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON - Although threatened financial disaster for the Carter inaugural was prevented by an SOS to an Atlanta banker, no such preventive medicine has been applied to the political side of Mr. Carter's first great bureaucratic challenge since his November election.

"It is so bad," one influential Democratic state chairman told us, "that only a blizzard can save Carter's inauguration from hurting him politically during the first few months and maybe longer.

That seems exaggerated, considering the nature of the inauguration as a one-shot, one-day event that will pass into history Jan. 21. Yet, it is by no means a unique view among the scores of top Democratic party operatives who sweated to elect Jimmy Carter and now find their requests for VIP tickets turned down and their calls to Washington unanswered. Only a 20-cent phone call separates neighboring Maryland from inaugural headquarters. Nevertheless, state Sen. James Clark, who ran Carter's primary and general election campaigns in Maryland, has been unable to get tickets for key figures such as state comtroller Louis Goldstein and James Ralph, a major campaign contributor. Clark tries to be philosophic. "It seems to be getting a lot harder to get Carter inaugurated than elected," he told,us.

The threatened financial problem in red-ink spending by the inaugural committee, co-chaired by Bardyl Tirana and Vicki Rogers, was solved when Bert Lance, Mr. Carter's budget director-designate, started worrying early last month. Not known for procrastination. Lance quickly imported A. D. Fraser, vice president of Atlanta's Citizens and Southern Bank. to impose strict accounting and spending procedures

But what Lance had the clout to do in the financial area, no Carter operative has seemed able or willing to do in the political area. Part of the reason goes back to informal tran-sition briefings from former staffers of the 1960 Kennedy transition — the last in which the Democrats took over from Republicans. Carter political aides were warned to steer clear of the inaugural committee by ex-JFK staffers. "You can't win," said one old Kennedy hand.

So, Washington lawyer Tirana, who knows all of Washington's big names but virtually nothing about the state or local side of politics, quickly got in over his head. Tirana's co-chairman, Vicki

Rogers, was the Carter scheduler early last fall and became an undeleted expletive in some of the biggest Midwestern states during the campaign for assigning hopelessly incompetent advance men. Fired from that job early in the campaign, she stayed quietly in Atlanta headquarters but re-emerged as inaugural co-chairman working with many of the same politicians who had feuded with her last fall. This mix has proved explosive.

When Democratic state chairmen met in San Francisco last month, no representative of the inaugural committee was there to hold hands or calm the angry. Instead, Carter was represented by Joel McCleary, a lowlevel aide of Philip Wise (Carter's selection as executive director of the Democratic National Committee). When one state chairman complained about lack of cooperation from the inaugural committee. McCleary replied: "If you had done better by us in the campaign you would find us more friendly to you today.'

Following that December meeting. one important state chairman complained directly to Kurt Moffat, the inaugural committee's chief ticket man, about not sending invitations to Carter national convention delegates. Moffat's answer was demeaning: some Carter delegates weren't really for Carter and, anyway, there weren't that many tickets.

In a Southern state barely held for Carter, the state chairman said he could not get a list of party operatives asked to the inaugural. "There are so many horror stories," he told us, "it is impossible to believe them all, but they are all accurate.

For Mr. Carter, the immediate impact may die out Jan. 21 among most Democrats who made it - or didn't make it — to this "people's inaugural." But for the state chairmen and other party leaders, the inaugural is a test of how well Jimmy Carter handles the first big operation of his administration. As of today most politicians are not merely angry over what has happened but, more important, newly skeptical about the vaunted organizational skills of the Carter camp.

In that sense, what is shaping up as the great fiasco of the people's inaugural is helping to shape Mr. Carter's reputation and image in a way that cannot help and could return to haunt him

Flu shot crisis not alone

By JEFF PRUGH

The Los Angeles Times

ATLANTA - Back when the nation's swine flu program was in robust health, the lines of Americans waiting to be vaccinated in some cities were as long as those at ticket windows for an Eiton John concert

For some, the wait for inoculation was so lengthy that they gave up and went home. "I'll probably catch swine flu." one Atlanta man complained, 'just waiting in line!"

But those moments seem like ancient history

When the federal government recently ordered swine flu shots halted indefinitely fearing a possible link between the vaccine and a sometimes-deadly paralysis, Guillain-Barre syndrome - it was a fitting end to a tumultuous, often frustrating year for authorities at the U.S. Center for Disease Control, which investigates worldwide health problems.

Seldom, if ever, had scientists at the Atlantabased health facility grappled with so many crises - or worked so many overtime hours as in 1976.

It was not enough that they had to shepherd the $135 million swine flu immunization campaign - America's largest ever - through a maze of controversy, only to have to halt it. During the year, CDT epidemiologists also contended

-"Legion Fever," a pneumonia of unknown origin that killed 29 persons and afflicted 149 others at an American Legion convention in Philadelphia.

-A penicillin-resistant form of gonorrhea that has spread to 17 states and remains unchecked. -And a mystery virus that caused fatal hemorrhaging among persons in two African nations and then apparently vanished. In the effort to avert swine flu, an estimated 50 million persons were given the vaccine - far short of the government's goal to immunize everybody by January, the peak month of flu season - before the question of paralysis brought the program to a halt.

The vaccination program was plagued from the first by fears over a handful of heartattack deaths that were quickly proved not to have been caused by the vaccine. Before that, the start of inoculations had been delayed for two months by contractural disputes with vaccine manufacturers over liability insurance. And now the program remains aborted amid an outbreak of the rare paralysis named after the two French doctors, Guillain and Barre, who first described it in 1916. "This has been a public relations nightmare. You can't win," Donald Berreth, a CDC spokesman, said of the swine flu campaign.

"Let's say you immunize 100 million Americans and there's no swine flu. Then you're accused of crying 'wolf.' Or let's say you immunize 100 million people and there's a flu epidemic. Then everybody complains, 'Why didn't you im-munize the rest of us?''' Stacks of leftover "Roll

Up Your Sleeve, America" promotional flyers in Berreth's office now seem as out-of-date as Edsel ads.

At the moment scientists here are trying to decide whether the swine flu program is worth salvaging for this year. If an outbreak should occur, they say, they would offer the vaccination program immediately because the swine flu risks are more severe than those of paralysis. But, they admit, it is questionable how effective that would be, since the vaccine would not have been injected before the traditional January-to-March flu season.

Water rates rise

BIG SPRING - Minor increases in water rates to original member cities of the Colorado River Municipal Water District has been approved by ths district's directors.

District manager O. H Ivie said the increases are so slight, "I see no reason why Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder (the member cities) would have to make any changes in charges to their citizens."

During 1976 Odessa's actual rate came to 36.64 cents per thousand gallons.

Midland, and other cities that came into the district after the three cities formed it, will pay a rate based on those to the members for the previous year.

Midland's rate in 1977 will be 39.867 cents per thousand gallons, which based on last year's Odessa rate plus a differential of 3.227 cents per thousand.

If Odessa uses its calculated 4.801 billion gallons this year, then its rate will be 39.95 cents per thousand.

Actual rates charges decrease if water consumption increases and increase if water consumption for the city actually is less than calculated.

Big Spring has a calculated rate of 29.22 cents for this year and Snyder has a rate of 27.54 cents.

In other business, the board is considering expanding its sources of water.

The board also approved 20 per cent pay increases during the next three years on the maximum levels for various job classifications of district employes The overall adjustment is limited to 7 per cent a

Kenneth Perry, Big Spring, was sworn in as a new board member to replace Dr. Lee Rogers, who died in December.

Finally, the board approved an increase of 200,000 gallons a day for the Chevron-Arco repressuring contract, bringing the delivery to 1,680,000 gallons a day.

Triangle may be dangerous

Agence France-Presse

HAVANA - Today may be a day of great danger for ships or planes venturing into the "Ber-muda Triangle," an area of the Atlantic between Plorida, Puerto Rico and the Bermudas where more than 100 ships and a score of planes have gone down since 1945.

The sun, the moon and the earth will be in the same positions as at the times of the previously recorded disasters in the Warnings of danger were issued here not by some astrologer but in a study made by a Soviet mathematical physicist, A. Yelkin of the Moscow Engineering Institute. He stressed that it was only an hypothesis based on observation, without any scientific proof or explanation.

In an interview with the Soviet news agency Novosti, the scientist said that in going over data, he noticed a certain regularity in the times eraft disappeared "related to the stars, astronomical phenomena and specifically the position of the earth, the moon and the sun."

This pattern suggested that the shipwrecks and plane crashes had something to do with magnetic anomalies caused by the position of the heavenly bodies, he said.

brief career in the office he once called "standby equipment," Nelson A. Rockefeller is ready to bid farewell to public life.

The vice president makes his farewell address to the Senate today. When Rockefeller leaves office on Thursday, it will mark the end of an 18-year period — with one brief interruption - in which he has been a national political figure, first as governor of New York and then, after a few months in private life, as vice president.

During most of that time, the office Rockefeller wanted most was the presidency. He often said he had no desire to be No. 2, but he finally did agree to become the appointed vice president to Gerald Ford.

Rockefeller recalled in a recent

that in 1960, Richard M. Nixon had offered him the vice presidential nomination and he had turned it

He said he told Nixon he considered the job standby equipment "except in a time of crisis.

Why did he accept the job when Ford offered it?

"I did it because we were in a constitutional crisis and I was delighted to help, if I could, in a very small way and, of coarse, the function of the vice president is to have somebody there with the capacity to be president should anything happen to the president, that's the only real

Swimming pool charges may rise this summer

You may have to bring an extra nickle or dime when you go swimming this summer at Midland's Alamo pool. Similar small increases may also be in store at other city-operated swimming pools.

The Parks and Recreation Commission will meet today at 3:30 p.m. in the conference room of Midland City Hall to consider recommending an increase in the swimming pool admission.

The rates, which haven't changed since 1968, may find the Alamo pool admissions jumping from 25 cents, for youths under 19, to 30 cents. Adult admissions of 50 cents may go to 60

Hogan pool is in for no increase, and has rates of 25 cents and 50 cents.

Washington and Halff pools may be in for an increase of their 5-cent youth admission to 25 cents and the adult admission from 10 cents to 50 cents. Ulmer pool is also under con-

City seeks quiet rock

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The city is thinking about spending $8,500 for a device to muffle the sound of San Diego Stadium rock concerts.

Angered residents of one neighborhood near the stadium recently described a concert by the ZZ Top group as a "window-rattling. house-shaking, inescapable ordeal"

The rock group used 32 amplifiers. James Dukes, city noise abatement officer, has invented a gadget that will cut amplifiers when noise outside the stadium exceeds the city's allowable level.

Also, the commission will take up increasing the $2-weekday and $3weekend fees at the municipal golf

Even if the commission recommends the increases, it will still be up to Midland City Council to approve the increases.

In other business, the commission will discuss establishing rules and regulations governing play on public tennis courts. There currently are none to limit playing time and similar potential problems.

MDA seeking more funding

A 42 per cent increase in fund raising is planned by the Midland Muscular Dystrophy Association this year over last year's total which broke previous records.

The strategy for the 1977 increase was outlined during a recent meeting in the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Vernezobre.

A spring project was planned March 12 to be held in conjunction with St. Patrick's Day. The Saturday before, March 5, was named "Tag Day" and is set aside for the sale of shamrocks, with all contributions going to the MDA. The goal of the shamrock sales this year is $1,500.

Extreme cold paralyzes East

By EILEEN ALT POWELL By The Associated Press

The harshest winter in years tightened its freezing grip on the Eastern half of the nation today. choking off power to auto and steel plants and putting more than 60,000 Florida to New York were closed for more than 135,000 students.

The record-breaking cold - minus 1 at Raleigh, N.C., 24 below at Cincinnati - forced utilities to divert electricity and already scarce natural gas supplies from factories to home furnaces.

In hard-hit Pennsylvania, where

CHARLES BROOKS, president of Local 444 of the United Auto Workers, was shot and killed at local headquarters in Windsor, Ont. Monday, a union official said. A man who left the headquarters said Mr. Brooks was killed by a bullet fired through gas shortages Monday caused the closing of some steel-production units, Lt. Gov. Ernest Kline declared a state of emergency when a pressure drop in gas lines threatened western communities with a total loss of fuel. The nation's four major automakers shut a dozen plants and idled 56,000 workers in Ohio, Michigan and New York.

Florida growers kept fires burning through the night to try to protect their citrus crops from temperatures in the teens.

Seventeen Amtrak trains serving Chicago were canceled, and tugs had trouble navigating the Ohio River.

Laborers, school children, travelers - all fell victim to the southwardmoving arctic coldfront that weathermen said could persist through midweek.

One death in Illinois and four in Indiana on Monday were attributed to the weather. Among them was Willard Driscoll, 67, of Muncie, Ind., who was found dead in the unheated school bus in which he had lived for 13

Few states east of the Mississippi were spared, and utility companies were hampered by a combination of weather-induced problems and surging demand for power to heat

Energy was hard to come by as ice on the James River blocked cooling intake values of the Virginia Electric and Power Co. Some families did without heat for up to two hours.

Detroit Edison returned to full voltage Monday night after workers took blowtorches to frozen coal piles to get fuel for a power plant that had been down to one-twelfth of capacity. Niagara Mohawk in upstate New York rescinded a virtual ban on industrial use of natural gas after purchasing an emergency supply of the fuel — at more than double its usual cost - from a Brooklyn supplier.

The East Tennessee Natural Gas Co., like dozens of other U.S. power companies, said it had been informed that its pipeline supplies would be curtailed starting today.

As during the 1973-74 fuel crisis, attention again turned to conservation.

"We're asking them to please cut back thermostats, turn off gas lights, postpone washing and drying - and even bathing." said a spokesman for the South Jersey Gas Co.

In states where voluntary conservation was encouraged, people were quick to respond. In Illinois, for example, the bright lights that generally play on the Tribune Tower and the Wrigley Building on Chicago's North Michigan Avenue were turned

In Alpena in northeastern Michigan, 90 per cent of the businesses closed early at the request of the Alpena Power Co.

But for some people, the decision was not voluntary.

Many of the 1,800 families evacuated in subzero weather from their heatless homes to schools in southern West Virginia Monday were not able to return until early today, and there was fear that natural gas pressure might drop in the area

Stalled cars and traffic snarls continued to be one of the most obvious effects of the freezing temperatures, with spokesmen for the American Automobile Association reporting thousands of calls daily from motorists seeking assistance. The common complaints were dead batteries, oil that was too heavy for the frigid temperatures, and frozen

School closings were announced from Tallahassee, Fla., to Buffalo,

-Eastern Illinois University at Charleston called off classes for its 9,200 students until next Monday; Ohio State University in Columbus called off classes Tuesday for its 45,000 enrollment.

-The Indianapolis school system, with nearly 80,000 students, will remain closed at least through Wednesday.

-School closings were announced in seven Maryland counties, some because of heating problems, and the Dayton (Ohio) Power & Light Co. urged officials not to open schools.

Problem agencies Fiascoblamed on CIA to make requests

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)-Several of Texas' more troubled or controversial state agencies carry their money requests to House subcommittees for the first time today.

The alcoholic beverage commission, banking department. treasury, good neighbor commission, Texas Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations and the board of pardons and paroles were set for hearing.

Senators also planned budget hearings, with the Senate as a whole expected to adjourn until after Jimmy Carter's inauguration

The House, however, planned to work because few of its members expected to journey to Washington for the presidential swearing in

Budget hearings in the House were to be held before the "appropriative matters" subcommittees of the elections, liquor regulation,financial institutions, intergovernmental relations, criminal jurisprudence and regions, compacts and districts committees

The subcommittee recommendations will be reviewed by the full committees and passed on to the House Appropriations Committee, which then will hold its own hearings.

Rep. Bill Presnal, D-Bryan, chairman of the appropriations committee, introduced a maverick version of the Legislative Budget Board's $15.3 billion general spending bill for 1978-79. Presnal's version.

however, is $125 million smaller. It provides less money for state employe salaries, eliminates funds for courses taught offcampus by junior colleges and state universities and funds organized research by the universities at only half the amount recommended by the LBB.

"I don't think we cut them with the intention of penalizing anyone who can come in and justify these funds." Presnal said

The banking department has been criticized frequently in the past year for not examining banks often enough and not getting tough enough with those who have made soft loans.

in Sorensen book

WASHINGTON (AP) - The book Theodore Sorensen says he wrote with the help of classified documents placed a large share of blame for the disastrous 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion on the CIA.

Sorensen withdrew from consideration as chief of the CIA on Monday because of criticism aimed partly at his use of the classified material in writing the book, "Kennedy. President-elect Carter agreed to the withdrawal.

There is nothing in the book to indicate what parts came from classified data.

Sorensen said in the book that he was offering no excuses for President John F. Kennedy, who authorized the Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba. But he said Kennedy was misled by CIA and Pentagon officials.

Sorensen said Kennedy laid down a condition before approving the Cuban operation that no U.S. armed forces would be directly involved, then learned later that the 1,400 American-trained Cuban exiles who made the landing on April 17, 1961, could not have succeeded without such help.

"Yet no one in the CIA Pentagon or Cuban exile movement raised any objection to the President's basic condition," Sorensen wrote. "On the contrary, they were so intent on action that they were either blind to danger or willing to assume that the President could be pressured into reversing his decision

'Most members of the brigade were in fact under the mistaken impression, apparently from their CIA contacts, that American armed forces would openly and directly assist them if necessary to neutralize the air (presumably with jets), make certain of their ammunition and prevent their defeat," Sorensen wrote.

Sorensen also said Kennedy was led to believe by U.S. intelligence that quick action was needed before Cuban Premier Fidel Castro attained sufficient military capability to repel an attack.

"Castro, in fact, already possessed that capability, Sorensen said. "Kennedy was told that Castro had only an obsolete, ineffective air force not in combat condition.

Sorensen said Kennedy also was misled about the nature of the operation, saying "The President thought he was approving a plan whereby the exiles, should they fail to hold and expand a beachhead, could take up guerrilla warfare with other rebels in the mountains.

Lawyers taking ad ban case before high court

need a lawyer? Legal services at very reasonable fees.'

That advertisement headline and the information that followed on legal rates charged by a Phoenix law clinic could shake an entire profession.

The Supreme Court was to hear arguments today that the legal profession's traditional taboo against advertising violates both the First Amendment right of free speech and federal antitrust laws.

The taboo was shaken Monday in Lansing, Michigan, where the state supreme court approved a state bar association plan that substantially expands lawyers' rights to advertise. The Michigan plan allows lawyers to put their fees for an initial conference, age, experience, office hours, fluency in foreign lanugages, and areas of specialization in the telephone directory, providing the local phone companies agree.

That plan applies only to Michigan, however. In other states, bar association rules, backed by the courts, limit lawyers to putting their names, addresses and telephone numbers in the phone book.

Two Phoenix attorneys, John R. Bates and Van O'Steen, knew perfectly well the controversy they were about to stir when they placed their ad in the Arizona Republic's Feb. 22, 1976 editions. They objected to the professional bans against advertising and thought the time was right for a headon assault.

The two lawyers run a legal clinic

WASHINGTON (AP) - "Do you "conciously designed to serve persons of low or moderate income - those now served least," their appeal of a censure by the Arizona Supreme Court stated. Widespread information concerning beir clinic was essential, they felt, and advertising thus was necessary. The Arizona Bar, relying on canons of ethics backed by the American Bar Association, filed charges against the attorneys.

The state bar said the two had violated the Arizona Supreme Court's disciplinary rule against advertising by lawyers in media of general public circulation. The bar urged suspension for six months, but the state court reduced the penalty to a censure.

The Justice Department, long a foe of such an advertising ban, has intervened on the side of Bates and O'Steen.

"Such a ban ... is fundamentally incompatible with a system of free expression," Solicitor General Robert H. Bork told the high court.

"The free flow of information about legal services is no less important than the free flow of information about abortion referral services or the prices of prescription drugs,' Bork argued in briefs filed for the government.

The court previously has outlawed bans on both types of advertising. Last summer the justices said state laws cannot ban prescription drug price ads because consumers have the right to receive such information.

Mother, daughter show no tact when inviting students to party

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My heart aches, not for me, but for my 11-year-old daughter.

Here's what happened: She came home from school with tears in her eyes, saying that a classmate had gone up and down the aisles passing out invitations to the birthday party she was having at home next week. Abby, there were 34 kids in the class. Twenty-nine were invited and five were not. (My daughter was not.)

She said everyone knew who was left out. Two girls and one boy cried, and another girl went home "sick" at recess and never came back.

Group canvassed tor new members

NEW YORK (AP) - Back in 1945, Bernice Salpeter Tannenbaum and the handful of women who belonged to the new Hadassah group in New York City's Kew Gardens section canvassed the neighborhoods for new members - ringing doorbells with one hand and pushing strollers with the other.

'We only had 12 members in the chapter then. Mrs. Tannenbaum explains. "But I told the others that we could grow to hundreds. And we did. As soon as a new family moved in, we'd wait until the moving van unloaded. When it pulled out of the driveway, we

She looks ahead to the future and says "there won't be enough hours or years to do everything."

She stepped in as national president at the end of August and since then, appointments, meetings and conferences with visiting celebrities from Israel have been running back to back.

'But this is what I thrive on," Mrs. Tannenbaum says. "Work, challenge and the unraveling of problems gives me great satisfaction."

She admits to a great sense of drive, and adds. "I'm always geared to a specific goal, and for the last 30-some years, it's been Hadassah and the benefits it can bring to others.

Seafood attracts visitors

AP Newsfeatures Writer

From the college kids who swarm over the place every spring to staid British couples perched on hotel verandas, people flock to Bermuda the year round to enjoy its charms, one of which is the delicious fish.

A dazzling variety of seafood is the chief attraction in the dining rooms of the luxury hotels. English-style pubs and quaint tea shops of this lush little cluster of islands 570 miles off the North Carolina coast.

There is a dish for every taste, from the famed Bermuda fish chowder laced with sherry, hot peppers and black rum to huge broiled shrimp or refreshing conch salad. For the more adventurous there is a spiced hash made from shark meat - something we passed up during our stay there several years ago.

Blount's bandits lead AFC past NFC, 24-14

his merciless band of bandits simply stole the show.

The Pittsburgh Steelers' cornerback intercepted two Jim Hart passes in the final period Monday night, one of them killing a National Football Conference scoring threat and the other setting up Ken Anderson's game-clinching touchdown pass, helping the American Football Conference to a 24-14 victory in the 27th Pro Bowl game.

But the bald Blount, one of eight Pittsburgh players on the AFC squad coached by Chuck Noll, was not the only Steelers player who made things miserable for Hart and robbed the NFC blind.

Linebacker Jack Lambert picked off a Hart pass intended for Minnesota rookie Sammy White in the fourth period, and safety Mike Wagner intercepted Hart again just 10 seconds later on a toss aimed at Dallas' Drew Pearson.

And Pittsburgh safety Glen Edwards intercepted a pass by NFC starting quarterback Roger Staubach, also intended for Pearson, stopping a drive late in the first period.

"It's a good feeling." said Blount, who was named the Player of the Game in a contest he once thought he

"I hurt my ankle in the first day of practice and really had my mind set on going home. I didn't want to ruin my career in one game," said Blount, the first defensive player since Kansas City's Willie Lanier in 1972 to be named the game's most valuable

"The guys (his Pittsburgh teammates and coaches) wanted me to hang around, especially Joe Greene.' he said. "I think that was one of the reasons I stayed. I told my teammates before the game, 'I'm gonna go out and get the MVP, and it just happened.

In all, the AFC intercepted six NFC passes, five of them off St. Louis' Hart in the second half. The six thefts were a Pro Bowl record, as was the twoteam total of seven.

"I don't know how I can smile after that performance," said Hart, who completed only six of 17 passes for 53

Lee Rebs seek first half tie

Coach Paul Stueckler's Midland. Lee Rebels can take a giant step toward winning the first half of the torrid District 5-4A basketball race with a victory over Odessa Permian's Panthers tonight.

Tip-off is set for 8 p.m. in the Lee Gymnasium and the Rebels. currently in first place with a 4-0 record, face a team that has a 3-1 loop reading, the same as Abilene Cooper.

A victory will clinch a tie for the Rebs. who have Abilene and Midland left in the first half of the race.

Should Permian pull off a victory then Lee, Permian and Cooper would all be tied for first with 4-1 marks. that is if the Cougars dispose of Big Spring in Abilene.

Lee has a 21-4 season record while Permian stands 15-6, and while these two arch-rivals are squaring off. Midland faces the Odessa High Bronchos in the OHS Fieldhouse.

Midland is only 6-16 on the year, but has a 2-2 league record, having beaten Big Spring and San Angelo.

Dodger owner O'Malley denies owning Kuhn before a federal judge in Chicago, owner Walter O'Malley of the Los Angeles Dodgers baseball team saw fit to say: "I'm not the commissioner. But it's up to the commissioner to do it. I would have done precisely what he did.

The comment, elicited last week during the case of Oakland owner Charles O. Finley against baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, came in response to a question by Finley's lawyer about how to determine what's in the best interests of baseball.

THAT PHRASE, "best interests of baseball," has come up in two controversial decisions made by Kuhn in the past seven months. One was the voiding of Finley's $3.5 million sale of three players; the other was the suspension of Atlanta owner Ted Turner for violating the commissioner's directive about pursuing free-agent players.

Kuhn didn't say his actions were in the best interests of O'Malley, the powerful and persuasive long-time owner. But they were.

O'Malley testified that he agreed with Kuhn's action in the Finley case. He also said he supports Kuhn's authority to act as he did in the Turner case.

There are those who say that without O'Malley's support, the Finley sales would have gone through and Turner would not have been

(THE FINLEY case wound up its testimony last week, and a decision is expected by early spring. The date for the start of the Turner suspension has not yet been set. Kuhn was to meet with Turner in Washington today.)

"Do you know who's behind both the Finley and Turner decisions?" asked a baseball source who has had many dealings with both Kuhn and O'Malley and who asked not to be identified.

"O'Malley didn't like Finley setting a market value of $1 million and $1.5 million for his players. And O'Malley didn't like Turner making the bid on (Andy) Messersmith." Messersmith played out his option with the Dodgers and was signed by Turner last spring.

O'MALLEY IS the same man who strongly supported Kuhn when he was elevated from National League counsel to commissioner in 1969. And he was the same man who flew from the West Coast to Milwaukee in July 1975 to thwart a dumpKuhn movement, led mainly by Finley.

O'Malley denies that he controls the commissioner, an odd disclaimer to have to make. No one, for example, contends that Commissioner Pete Rozelle doesn't rule the National Football League on his own.

"I've been very careful over the years, especially with Commissioner Kuhn, not to recommend anything."

O'Malley testified last week. "If he wants my opinion. I don't hesitate to give it to him, but he's not the type of commissioner you should tell what to KUHN TESTIFIED last Wednesday that he reached "the general outline of my thinking" to void Finley's sales 30 minutes after hearing about them.

While contemplating what action to take, if any, Kuhn initiated a conference call to solicit the opinions of his six-man executive council, composed of four team executives and the two league presidents.

"It was not a vote," said a member of the executive council. "We were acting as a sounding board. Kuhn asked for opinions.

THE LEAGUE presidents. although voicing concern about the sales, recommended that he take no action. John Fetzer, owner of the Detroit Tigers, testified that he recommended that if the commissioner allowed the sales, he should issue a strong statement against these type of sales happening again.

Then O'Malley spoke. "I was one of the last to talk," he testified. "And I said that we no longer have a reserve clause and this could be a travesty to baseball.'

Ed Fitzgerald, chairman of the board of the Milwaukee Brewers. favored taking action against the sales and John McHale, president of the Montreal Expos, was not in on the call, a member of the executive coun-

When the commissioner saw he had two people on his side, he had reason to go ahead," said the source on the council. "The fact that he had two guys supportive encouraged him. But he made it clear that he wanted just our opinions. In no way was that a

THE SOURCE, said O'Malley is probably the most influential member of the executive council. The source added that this situation is viewed favorably by much of the baseball community since many of the owners accept O'Malle y's judgments.

The notion that O'Malley runs the council and Kuhn is not unanimous,

"Walter is very intelligent. He makes good arguments. He's very persuasive," the council member said. "He can influence any group he's in. Politically, he's very good. He knows how to sell his point of view. In that regard, he has more influence than other owners.

"But in the executive council, many times Walter is on the opposite side of the commissioner.

A National League general manager said O'Malley's powers of persuasion pervade baseball from top

Owners give Rozelle no cut, no trade pact

SEATTLE (AP) - What Chuck Foreman and some other National Football League players would like. Commissioner Pete Rozelle has-a longer, richer, rengotiated contract. Foreman, the Minnesota running back, said recently that he would not play for the Vikings next season unless his contract was torn up and a more lucrative one offered.

Rozelle never put the league's 28 club owners on the spot-but on Monday they said they had given him a new contract anyway. His 10-year pact, worth nearly $200,000 per year. had seven years left when the owners tore it up and gave him the new contract with an unidisclosed pay raise

"It's a no-cut, no-trade contract," joked Eugene Klein, president of the San Diego Chargers and one-third of the committee which evaluated Rozelle's previous contract and decided unanimously that the commissioner deserved a new one. The other two members were Philadelphia Eagles President Leonard Tose ane Seattle Seahawks Managing General Partner Herman Sarkowsky.

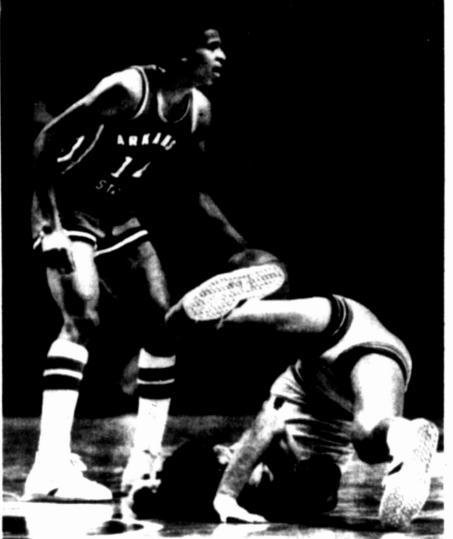

"He is the most important commissio er in sports, the most powerful commissioner and, in our judgment, has done the most for any sport," Klein said.

Earlier at the league's meeting, held in conjunction with the Pro Bowl game, the owners gave further consideration to expanding the regular season from 14 to 16 games (by cutting the exhibition schedule from six games to four) and to increasing the number of playoff teams from eight to 10 by adding another wild-card club in each conference. Neither change would be made before the 1978 season.

The expanded regular season is attractive to some teams, who draw poor preseason crowds. But other teams, unable to get home dates early in the season because of conflicts with baseball clubs in their cities, have opposed the idea since they might have to play as many as eight road games before opening at home.

The addition of two more playoff teams appears to be receiving generally favorable responses from the league owners since more clubs competing for more postseason spots would most likely result in larger crowds late in the season.

Under the proposal, the two wildcard teams in each conference would play in a first postseason weekend and the winner then would become one of four in second and third-round playoffs prior to the Super Bowl. This would lengthen the NFL season by one week, unless the two-week period between the conference championships and the Super Bowl was cut

Former ABA players shake NBA

NEW YORK (AP) — Not long ago they were bouncing those red, white and blue balls in places like Memphis. Salt Lake City and San Diego. Now they're in the National Basketball Association, and they're making their presence felt.

"The ABA clubs, and the ABA players, have something to prove this season—that they belong," said Tiny Archibald of the New York Nets.

And in one-half season, they've proven it beyond a shadow of a doubt. Six of the NBA's top 13 scorers played in the American Basketball

Former ABA players also feature prominently in the other statistical categories, too.

Bobby Jones of Denver leads the NBA in field goal percentage at .588. Artis Girmore of Chicago and Maurice Lucas of Portland are among the top five rebounders, six of the top 10 in blocked shots are exABAers and Don Buse of Indiana leads the league in both blocked shots and assists.

Why are they doing so well? The extra incentive of wanting to prove themselves to NBA diehards is unqestionably the major factor, but Indiana Coach Bobby Leonard says the very instability of the ABA helped the league's players.

"There was a tremendous amount of insecurity connected with the ABA operation last year." Leonard said "The players didn't even know if they would have jobs from one day to the next. Now that the uncertainty is over and they're in the NBA, they are a lot more relaxed-and that makes them better basketball players."

The ex-ABAers are having their effect on the team standings as well as the individual lists.

Philadelphia leads the Eastern Division, thanks largely to forwards McGinnis and Erving, who shared ABA Most Valuable Player honors in 1975. Center Caldwell Jones has also helped, although not as much as the 76ers had hoped before the season started

The Houston Rockets and Cleveland Cavaliers, in a virtual tie for first place in the Central Division, both have pivotmen who started pro life in the ABA. Jim Chones spent two disappointing years in the nowdefunct league before asserting himself at Cleveland, while Moses Malone, who signed with the ABA directly out of high school and spent two seasons there, is being counted on by Rockets Coach Tom Nissalke as the hub of Houston's building program.

The Denver Nuggets, who had the best record in pro basketball the past two years when they were in the ABA. are on top of the Midwest Division with a 29-12 mark, best in the 22-team

And the Portland Trail Blazers, who replaced long-time stars Sidney Wicks and Geoff Petrie with ex-ABAers Lucas and Dave Twardzik in the offseason, lead the Pacific Division with a 29-15 record, secondbest in the league.

Among the other former ABA teams, San Antonio is at .500 and Indiana is just one game below, both still in playoff contention. But a 10game losing streak has dropped the troubled New York Nets deep in the cellar of the Atlantic Division

Ironically, while so many ABA players have helped turn teams into winners, the first player chosen in the ABA dispersal draft has not. Even though Gilmore is among the league leaders in rebounding and blocked shots, the Chicago Bulls have just a 17-23 record- due largely to the preseason illness of rookie star Scott

Michigan State thumps Indiana

By The Associated Press

Bobby Knight, were you listening when Abe Lemons, Texas' wisecracking basketball coach, said he would rather be a football coach because that way you can only lose 11 games a year?

In five previous seasons at Indiana, Knight's record was 125-20, with a glittering 63-1 mark over the last two years and the 1976 national championship. In those five seasons, Indiana's football team played only 55 games and lost 41.

BUT THINGS have changed at Indiana. The football team is improving, while troubled times have beset Knight's basketball team. Unheralded Michigan State, only 5-8, was the latest team to turn on the Hoosiers, edging them 61-60 Monday night—at Bloomington, Ind. no less—on two free throws by Edgar Wilson with nine seconds left.

"I wasn't thinking about the crowd," said Wilson. "I was thinking about the ball going in. I had missed a couple of free throws earlier, but I went up there with a lot of confidence and they just went in.

Then Wilson delivered the unkindest cut of all.

"Indiana's just like we are." he said. "We're both rebuilding."

THE SETBACK dropped Indiana's record to 8-6. One more defeat would mark the first time Knight's teams ever has lost more games than the football team.

Meanwhile, 18th-ranked Memphis State also lost Monday night, bowing 89-82 to Georgia Tech.

However, second-ranked Kentucky posted a 73-71 Southeastern Conference victory over Florida and sixth-rated Michigan whipped Iowa

Although Wilson's free throws proved decisive against Indiana, Robert Chapman and Greg Kelser paced Michigan State with 21 and 20 points, respectively. Chapman, held to six points in the first half, sparked a comeback after Indiana built a 10-point lead early in the second half.

INDIANA MISSED three of its last four free throws and turned the ball over on a traveling violation with 30 seconds left. Freshman Mike Woodson topped the Hoosiers with 26 points, but All-American center Kent Benson was held to 11.

"I think Michigan State did an excellent job of doing what they wanted to and keeping us from getting it inside to Benson." Knight said. "We were never able to stick it in from the outside and we weren't able to get it inside the way they jammed it up. We had opportunities, but we didn't take advantage of them and they did.

Kentucky needed two free throws by freshman Jay Shidler with four seconds left to edge Florida in the Gators' cozy snake pit gym. Shidler converted his free throws after intercepting an inbounds pass and being fouled by Don Bostic. Kentucky, 11-2 over-all, was paced by Jack Givens' 19 points.

Bostic's layup had put Florida ahead 71-69 with 50 seconds left, but Larry Johnson's jump shot tied it with 32 seconds to go.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) - The judge who sentenced Detroit Piston forward Marvin Barnes to a year in prison says he evaluated Barnes' past and tried to anticipate the future, before reaching a decision about the former All American.

In issuing his ruling Monday, Judge Anthony A. Giannini of Providence Superior Court said he denied Barnes' request for a work-release program with disadvantaged youths because he did not see Barnes as a good exam-

Barnes, who was sentenced for violating probation, was allowed to remain free pending an agreement between defense and prosecuting attorneys on a date the sentence will begin. Giannini said he would let Barnes finish this basketball season.

THE JUDGE had agreed last month to give Barnes' attorneys until Monday to draft a plan under which the basketball player could help voungsters who had run afoul of the plans offered by the lawyers, saying he did not think Barnes would be a very good example for such youth either here or in Detroit "In reaching its decision on this motion for reduction of sentence, the court has evaluated the past and sought to perceive the future," Giannini said

"It is important to recall that the defendant has been convicted of a crime of violence and that he avoided imprisonment by a simple promise ... that he would be of good behavior for a specified period.

"It is a promise he knowingly undertook and it is a promise he knowingly breached.

In 1974, Barnes was given three years' probation and a one-year suspended sentence after he pleaded guilty to assaulting Providence College teammate Larry Ketvirtis with a

BARNES, WHO declined comment on Monday's decision, was arrested last year after being found at a Detroit airport with an unloaded pistol in his luggage.

Under separate work-release proposals, Barnes would have either worked with the Opportunities Industrialization Center here or with two youth-oriented groups in Detroit.

The Michigan program suggested that Barnes spend 40 hours a week during the offseason and five hours a week during the season by assisting However, Giannini turned down two officers at the 15th police precinct in Detroit.

"It is suggested that he (Barnes) amend that breach (of the law) by lending his fame, his time and his talents to divert young people from criminal behavior," Giannini said. 'The need for such diversion is clear to the court.

"What is not so clear is that the defendant's participation in either one of the programs submitted to the court would have a salutary effect upon those his presence may in-

GIANNINI ALSO pointed out that if Barnes had been arrested in Rhode Island instead of Michigan for carrying a concealed weapon, he would have been subject to an additional prison sentence of two years.

Since appearing before Giannini last month, Barnes has pleaded guilty in Michigain to carrying a concealed weapon. Sentencing was delayed pending the outcome of the Rhode Island

Meanwhile, Piston General Manager Oscar Feldman said he was disappointed with the decision. However, Feldman added: "I accept the judge's conclusion. I think he tried to be fair.

Feldman added that he understood that Barnes would be eligible for parole from the Adult Correctional Institutions in Cranston, R.I., within four months.

DURING LAST month's hearing before Giannini, Feldman and Barnes' Detroit attorney, Neal Fink, told the court that the former All American was having trouble handling his fame and money.

"There is more than a spark of human decency in Marvin Barnes." Fink said. "But he's had it tough growing up. Then you get superstar status and everyone's doing things for you.

Canadiens fall as Boston extends streak

BOSTON (AP) - The hustling Boston Bruins own three consecutive victories over Montreal's mighty Canadiens during this National Hockey League season, but they are not gloating. "They're the class of the league, no doubt about that," Boston Coach Don Cherry said Monday night after the Bruins whipped the defending Stanley Cup champions 7-3 in the NHL's Game of the Week. 'There's the Canadiens and then there's the rest of the league," Cherry

To beat the Canadiens, you have to have luck, a lot of luck. 'I'm not saying that we won because we were lucky. We skated pretty hard, we checked pretty hard.

said. "I'm not gloating, I'm humble.

But you still have to have some luck to beat them.

"There's no question the Canadiens are the best hockey team in the world," Boston center Peter McNab said after collecting his 28th and 29th goals of the season. "It's a great thrill to score against them because they're the best, the very best.'

"They outworked us again," said Montreal Coach Scotty Bowman. 'They're the one club that's been able to do it. The Bruins are a pretty good hockey team, but we became careless. Then when they were up 4-3, they got that goal (by McNab) with 19 seconds left in the second period. That really hurt. We played pretty good in the third period, but we couldn't put

Asked about the luck factor, Bowman said: "Luck is part of the game. We've had our share of breaks this year. When you lose only seven games, you've got to get a few breaks along the way

"I'd like to say I gave our guys a magic potion, but I didn't," Cherry said. "They just get sky high when they see the Canadiens' emblem. I'm happy with the win, but 'If they can play like that tonight, there's no reason they can't play like that all the time. They don't get up as high for other teams ... and that upsets me. It makes me took bad. Let's hope they're as high for the next game. They had better be.'

The Canadiens, beaten 4-3 and 5-3 in two previous meetings against the Bruins, took a 1-0 lead on a power play goal, the club's 39th in 46 games, just 2:38 into the first period. Rick Middleton tied the score at 18:32, then Boston took charge on goals by Don Marcotte, Jean Ratelle, Brad Park and McNab in the second period.

Boston goalie Gerry Cheevers extended his unbeaten streak to five games as the Bruins regained a share of the Adams Division lead with the idle Buffalo Sabres.

Cheevers was acrobatic in robbing the Canadiens with 24 saves, then collected an assist on the final Boston goal, by Bobby Schmautz. One of the Montreal goals was scored by Boston defenseman Dallas Smith, who put an errant clearing pass past his goalie.

In Barrow, the lure of trips to such faraway places has made the town basketball-crazy. 'If it weren't for basketball, most of my Eskimo kids would never get to Fairbanks," says Dale Schwebel, the 29-year-old head coach. "Thirty-three boys are out for varsity and JV this year. And the 'Eskimo kids are strong. They have stamina you wouldn't believe. No team we played last year could run with us in the fourth quarter. It has to be their diet. Whale meat and caribou are high-protein foods.

And they dip everything they eat into seal oil." What's a young, ambitious basketball coach doing 376 miles north of the Arctic Circle?

Olympic heroine Dorothy Hamill goes 'Hollywood' in big way

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Hey, what are they doing to our Dorothy? What is happening to the little figure-skating miss who was everybody's sweetheart in the Olympic Games? They've turned her into a piece of delicate China. Don't touch. Don't speak to her. She might break. She is golden ice princess in a gilded cage.

She is no longer the outgoing, effervescent, easily accessible personality who stole the hearts at Innsbruck. They're trying to give her the Hollywood image. She has even become the subject of the gossip columnists- the sweet young thing now smoking two packs of cigarettes a day and swinging with Dino Martin Jr., and the movie jet set.

That's okay. Little girls have to grow up. But why try to turn our Dorothy into a Greta "I Vant To Be Alone' Garbo?

DOROTHY MADE her Madison Square Garden debut in the Ice Capades Tuesday night with what critics called an exhibition of "power and precision" but when newspaper friends sought to learn first hand how a professional career has changed her life the scene shifted from the sublime to the ridiculous.

The first call was made to Solters and Roskin, a Manhattan public relations firm handling accounts for both the Ice Capades and Miss Hamill.

"I am sure an interview can be arranged." a representative said. "I will call back.

NBA snickering stops as Walton cuts loose

By TED GREEN The Los Angeles Times

When Bill Walton strained his knee last month, those with no stomach for vegetables, beards and left-wing politics may have snickered Aha, they figured. Hurt again...or faking it.

WELL, THE kind of thinking which typecast Walton as some kind of injury-prone malingerer who'd rather hike in the woods, eat rice and spout radical manifestos is outdated. The Portland Trail Blazers center, captain and cheerleader quickly shook off his latest injury and continued his winning ways for a team that has togetherness, one of pro basketball's best records and a real shot at the Pacific Division championship. The knee strain kept Walton out of only two games, which must mean his luck has changed. And so, too, in some ways, has he.

He hasn't cut his hair, packed away his lumberjack ensembles or extinguished his incense, but all around the National Basketball Assn. people are noticing that he is finally healthy and playing up to his promise. And, the once shy, naive, self-conscious, enigmatic superstar at UCLA now is more outgoing and clearly happy in

Orioles take loss in 1976

BALTIMORE (AP)-The Baltimore Baseball Club, Inc., sustained a net loss of $102,531 for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, it was announced Monday by Executive Vice President and General Manager Hank Peters. The monetary loss, the third by the American League club in five years, continued the trend started when divisional play was instituted in 1969. Since then, the company has earned a profit in each of the five years the Orioles won a division championship and suffered a loss when the team failed to finish first in the American League East. The latest loss occurred, Peters noted, "despite the Orioles highest home attendance in seven years-1.058.609 "Though costs were generally higher in nearly all categories," he said, "the most significant increase was in the area of major league playing expense, which jumped $308,000 over its 1975 level. "That figure included, among other things, increases of $183,000 in our player payroll, $85,000 in Orioles contribution to the player pension fund, and $26,000 in the cost of transporting the ball club from city to

RRC again sets 98 per cent allowable

Railroad Commission held the statewide o l allowable today at 98 per cent of potential for February, and commissioner Mack Wallace illustrated how much foreign oil is costing working Americans.

The commission noted that crude imports into the United States totaled 5,864,000 barrels a day for the fourweek average of Jan. 7, an increase of 1,142,000 barrels over a year ago.

Wallace, the new chairman, said the United States paid $35 billion for foreign oil in 1976, which is the equivalent of $400 for each of the 88 million workers in America.

He said the high cost is the result of natural resources being "improperly managed in Washington, There can be no other reason.

Commissioner Jim Langdon said in 1971 Texas had 49 fields with an allowable of 10,000 barrels a day or more, and 88 per cent of those fields produced the allowable. By 1976, he said, the number of fields that could produce that much had declined to 28. 'We aim to try to slow down that rate of decline," he said. Major buyers of Texas crude oil asked for 3,965,829 barrels a dah next month, a decrease of 5,211 from January.

Amoco Production Co. and Phillips Petroleum Co. lowered their nominations for February, with the AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Amoco spokesman saying it was merely an effort to get nominations more in line with actual production.

Gulf raised its nomination, and a spokesman said it was the result of new production in Terry and Hockley Counties of West Texas.

As usual, the commission restricted the allowable for the huge East Texas field and the Kelly-Snyder field in West Texas to 86 per cent.

It was the first statewide allowable hearing for Jon Newton, who said in succeeding Ben Ramsey he was being called upon to fill "huge shoes." He said Ramsey had been in public life "more years than I've been alive."

The Tonto, North (Strawn) field of Scurry County gained its fifth well and a location south extension with completion of Lario Oil & Gas Co., Midland, No. 3 Schuler.

It was finaled for a 24-hour flowing potential of 252 barrels of oil.

Potential was based on an actual eight-hour flow of 84 barrels of oil, through a 16-64-inch choke and perforations at 7,012-7,018 feet, which had been acidized with 750 gallons. Gravity of the oil and gas-oil ratio were not reported.

Floating nuclear power plant possible for Atlantic Ocean

By HAL WILLARD The Washington Post

A floating nuclear power plant does not exist yet, but a New Jersey utility company wants to locate one about 3 miles offshore in the Atlantic Ocean within sight of Atlantic City.

It wouldsit on barges moored inside an artificial breakwater, and from the beach would look like a small town that had been cast adrift. It would be connected to shore by a huge highpowered submerged cable: an umbilical cord for "floating nuke."

Objections have been raised and technical problems remain, but federal government officials and the nuclear industry feel the floating plants are a strong possibility. Should they come to pass, the move by New Jersey could spawn 50 or so similar plants in America's coastal waters by the year 2000, a congressional study

The "floating nukes" are just one aspect of the spectacular proliferation of activities planned or already underway in the ocean along the East Coast, providing substance to Commerce Secretary Elliot Richardson's call last June for increased "sound commercial development of the seas.'

Although the offshore area has been fished extensively for scores of years and freighters, tankers and pleasure craft have made the Atlantic sea lanes among the busiest in the world. now full-scale oil and natural gas exploration is about to start.

Some ocean-floor mining is planned, and Transportation Secretary William T. Coleman recently said he would approve licenses for two deepwater ports to unload supertankers in the Gulf of Mexico, and the Corps of Engineers believes others will be needed off the Atlantic Coast.

The threat to the environment of any accident involving the giant oil tankers was shown recently when 7.5 million gallons of oil poured into the Atlantic from a grounded tanker off Nantucket Island.

One activity of the recent past seems to be slowly fading out, however — the disposal of shiploads of human-sewage sludge and other wastes in ocean dumping grounds.

Ever-tightening federal regulations by the Environmental Protection Agency and others are slowing down dumping that contributes to ocean pollution even as scientists and environmentalists voice increasing concern about effects of increasing commercial development.

So as America wades inexorably into the sea, scientists are striving to learn about the dangers and difficulties of ocean exploitation before it is too late.

No one knows for certain now what will happen when ocean development is intensified. Marine scientists have been investigating the East Coast's offshore continental shelf for 50 years and more, but their studies have been localized and restricted in scope.

Val Verde site staked

Texland. Rector & Schumacher. Fort Worth, has made plans to drill four 4,000-foot exploratory tests in North Val Verde County, four miles north of Pandale and two miles south and slightly west of the J-M (Ellenburger) gas field.

Bunger is 467 feet from south and 2,150 feet from east lines of section 19, block Q-3, TCRR have begun or are being planned, but as enviornmentalists see it, the nation is rushing into development without knowing the consequences. A report by Congress's Office of Technology Assessment agrees.

The Office of Technology Assessment report, however, points out that the existing plans for oil exploration, floating nuclear plants and deepwater ports are not "likely to impose intolerable burdens on the ocean or coastal zone" of New Jersey and Delaware, "but future use of ocean technologies on a larger scale in this area or possibly elsewhere could create serious conflicts.'

So, despite protests by environmentalists, among them sea explorer Jacques Cousteau, and demands for more restrained and better planned usage of the ocean, government agencies and private industry are pushing for development from different and uncoordinated directions.

They say the need for energy is overwhelming, and that experience with ocean use and existing scientific data justifies such a commercial push while research continues.

Both the development and the scientific research are occurring on the ocntinental shelf, the area of gradually sloping ocean bottom that starts at the shoreline and continues to the point where the bottom drops off sharply into what is known as the 'deep ocean.

Until 1974, there was little or no coordination of scientific probes into

Massive new scientific programs the continental shelf area — and there still isn't much. Then the Interior Department's Bureau of Land Management held several conferences around the country so marine scientists could suggest specific studies. Some of those studies are now under way and more are planned. Many other studies are being done independently. The only hope that all of the diversified information collected in those studies will become available to those who work in the ocean is the Commerce Department's Environmental Data Service. charged with the job of collecting the information. The service's director, Thomas S.

Austin, says arrangements have been made to obtain most of the significant information turned up by the various scientific expeditions.

But even so, amid the efforts of scores of public and private organizations and the work of hundreds of scientists, some activities go on ignorant of others - and in the same departments Some of the individual projects seem to have considerably less than spectacular objectives, but when put together, the information they produce has great significance. For example, detailed data is needed about currents and other movements of water within the ocean so that scientists might predict with accuracy what will happen to oil spilled from tankers or pipes in the process of drilling or transporting it. Two such projects are being conducted by the Energy Research and Development Administration at the University System of Georgia's Skidaway Institute of OCeanography on Skidaway Island near Savannah. and by Johns Hopkins University's Chesapeake Bay Institute off the coasts of Delaware, Maryland and

Virginia. At first glance it appears that information is alrady contained in the set of maps accompanying the threevolume, final environmental statement issued in May by the Interior Department preparatory to offering ocean oil-exploration leases. However, the report says, "The sub-surface and bottom circulation in the mid-Atlantic ... (area) is even less well defined and less understood than that of the surface circulation.

The draft environmental statement issued by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission in April for the proposed floating nuclear power plant off New Jersey contains somewhat more detailed water movement data - but only about the site of the proposed plant, 2.8 miles offshore and 11 miles northeast of Atlantic City.

Hopkins Professor Peter Hacker and a colleague, William Boicourt, are producing the most detailed information about currents off the mid-Atlantic coast.

Mitchell to dig deep explorer in Terrell

A discovery finaled in Fisher County, Terrell drew site for a deep prospector, an outpost site was staked in Stonewall and a pool was extended in Runnels.

Southland Petroleum Co., Abilene, No. 1 W. F. Martin has been finished as a Strawn lime oil strike in Fisher, nine miles northwest of Hamlin.

It had a 24-hour pumping potential of 54 barrels of 39-gravity oil and eight barrels of water. Potential test was taken through perforations at 5,348-5,354 feet.

Drilled to 5,416 feet, it has 41/2-inch casing set on bottom. Top of the Strawn lime was picked at 2,325 feet, under kelly bushing elevation of 1,883

It is 1.980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 112, block 1, H&TC survey, 14 mile west of the one-well Ida (Strawn) field, but separated by depleted producers. TERRELL VENTURE

Mitchell Energy Corp. of Houston, has scheduled No. 1-5 Childress, a 12,600-foot wildcat in Terrell County, 71/2 miles southwest of Sheffield It spots nine miles north and slightly east of Wolfcamp gas production in the field and about 1/2 mile north of the depleted Schuler, South (Leonard) oil pool. Location is 4,053 feet from north and 670 feet from west lines of section 5.

Ward strike completed

C&K Petroleum, Inc., Midland, has announced the completion of its No. 1 Bennett as a Wolfcamp gas pay opener in Ward County, five miles northwest of Royalty and % mile northeast of a recent Mississippian discovery It had a calculated, absolute open flow potential of 6.935 million cubic feet of gas per day, with estimated condensate volume of 20 barrels per million cubic feet of gas. Gravity of the condensate is 63 degrees. Completion was effected through perforations at 7,838-7,896 feet. No treatment was reported. Drilled to 14,580 feet, it is plugged back to 9,064 feet, in 7%-inch casing set at 9,700 feet. Wellsite is 1,980 feet from northwest and southwest lines of section 16, block 34, H&TC survey.

Market losses spotty

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market showed some spotty losses today on the news of a smaller-thanexpected growth rate for the economy in the final quarter of 1976.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down 2.24 at 965.01, on top of a 37.48-point drop in the first 11 sessions of the new year.

Gainers and losers were evenly balanced in the overall tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The government reported that the Gross National Product rose at a 3 per cent annual rate, after adjustment for inflation, in the fourth quarter. The figure came up short of many analysts' expectations.

But there were various projections from Washington of a better showing by the broad measure of economic activity in the months ahead.

Heublein topped the active list, off 2% at 30% after a 6% point slide Monday, when the company said its fourth quarter earnings were down about 13 per cent.
The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks slipped .07 to 56.16. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .18 at 111.48.

Volume on the Big Board picked up a bit to 9.58 million shares over the first two hours from 8.17 million in the comparable period on Monday.

Lee Youth Center chatter

By MICA CASTOR, JANIS SANDERS and DEEHONA WISE

Count down! Only five more days until the BIG DAY. Guys in case you don't have your dates for Cornation, you have until Saturday night. But don't wait until the last minute or you will find yourself very dateless! Coronation will start at 8 p.m. in the auditorium. The cost to see everyone (and what they won) will be $1. for adults and 50 cents for students. But that's not all because then there is a dance at the Youth Center. It starts at 9 o.m. and lasts till 1 a.m. It's $4 per couple and the band is Directory. This is a big night so don't forget to come!

Golf: Our Girls Golf Team will be traveling to Big Spring tomorrow. Good Luck girls, we know you'll do

Roundballers: Last Tuesday, our Reble Roundballers really put it to the Cooper Cougars with the score of 59-54. This was our toughest clash in the District but of course our Rebs came out on top. Way to go Big Rebs! To keep things going Our round-ballers went to Big Spring to bring back another Rebel victory defeating them 71-69. Now our Rebel men are 4-0 and number one in the district. Keep it up because we know that the Rebs will be district champs once more! Tonight there will be an exciting game in the Lee gym between the Rebels and the Permian Panthers. The time is 8 p.m. so don't be late cuz the Rebs are going to run all over 'em!! No Mo Mojo! After the Rebs get through running all over the Panthers they will show those Abilene eagles they better start their flight on Back to Abilene if they plan to have any feathers left. It's in our gym Friday night, so, let's have a great Rebel turn out!

We support the basketball sport. Rebelettes: Tonight is the night! We need to see ALL Rebeleties at the game at 7:45 in full uniform, except hats. All girls who want to be an officer or the Honor Squad need to be there. This is a very important game so please come. Also we would like to see some people painting signs on Sunday. Then Friday we will again Rebelette at the Abilene High game here. Go by the library and sign up for the bus trip to Odessa High on January 28. Points Points! Don't forget SQUAD MEETINGS!

Social Committee: We are finishing up our decorations this week. We will work Wednesday, Thursday, Friday nights and Saturday morning. Anyone who would like to help can! The more the better.

The Fantastic Senior Class of 77 has picked their flower, song and colors. The flower is the Forget-Me-Not so no one will forget the Seniors of 77. The song is "Old Days" reminding us of all the good times we have had things to be remembered. And last but not least our class colors are Royal Blue and Silver. Special colors to go beside Maroon and White!

The senior girls will meet on Sunday, January 23 to get started on the "Senior Girls Party." Be in the senior room (in the YC) at 2 p.m. sharp. Be sure and bring all your good ideas. Girls Basketball: Over the weekend our girls were dribbling and passing up and down the court in the Snyder basketball tournament. In the finals Saturday Lee fought a hard battle but lost to Midland High, 37-32. Our Lee B team advanced to the consola tion finals with a 29-20 win over Colorado City, but fell in the finals to Abilene High's A team 25-35. Swimming: Our Rebels travel to El Paso Friday to take part in the El Paso Invitational. Good Luck Rebs! Bring back some wins.

National Honor Society: Are all of you getting your vocal cords in shape? Keep in contact with your group leaders. The time and place will be given for the meetings having to do with the other committees. All you Rebs better start thinking now who and what you are goin to be sending to everyone.

Tennis Report: Over the weekend, our Mighty Netters traveled to San Angelo, butwere defeated 14-4. Jeff Edger, David Stiles, and Mike Francis posted wins in the Boys Singles. In the girls singles, Karen Broe posted a win. This weekend our netters will play Abilene here at 11 a.m. Saturday morning. Good Luck Netters!

Speech and Debate! This past weekend Midland and Lee hosted The Tall City Tournament. Well it turned out to be a great success. R.L. Turner High took first in Sweepstakes and Richfield took second. In Cross Ex. Waco Richfield took first and San Angelo, Second and San Antonio Mac Arthur took third. In Standard Debate, Mulshoe took first and Big Spring second. Thanks goes to everyone for helping make this tournament such a big sccess!

Junior Council Meeting: Thursday Morning, 7:30 a.m., Jan. 20. Aunt Sara says "if you want to work BE THERE!!" Workers scheduled will change next Monday. The list will be posted Friday so if your name is on the list you better remember to go by Mr. Woods office and get your pass. A pat on the back is only a few vertebrae removed from a kick in the pants, but is miles ahead in

Have a good week gang! Mica, Janis, and

Archie's happy collecting dolls MEYERSVILLE, N.J. (AP) — Archie Stiles thinks

just about everyone is interested in toys. 'There's an awful lot of love and affection involved with toys," said Stiles, 66, who runs a resale shop at his home here. "They intrigue people.

Stiles began building a big collection of old, valuable toys 20 years ago. Eventually, the toys overwhelmed the house and shop and about 6,000 pieces, including 300 to 400 dolls, were auctioned in

"Basically, the real dollar toys were sold," he said. "Only the penny toys are left, but there's a lot of them.

Stiles, a grandfather, and his wife, Emma, started the resale shop — "it's not really an antique store" — 24 years ago.

He had been doing some reselling in the luncheonette he owned when he met his wife over the counter. She suggested he could make a living buying and reselling various items, including furniture and collectibles. The rest is history.

'The wife and I, we decided to work together and that's the way we accomplished an awful lot in life."

Stiles said collecting toys became one of his major interests because "I didn't have them as a child.

"A lot of people were better off than us and I could always envy the toys some kids had," he said. Stiles said he bought some of his collection from people whose children had lost interest in the toys. "But sometimes a grandmother calls. She's lonely; her kids don't visit her much anymore but she's got their toys. Well, she's heard about Archie so I'll go over and talk to her," he said. "Sometimes she wants to sell the toys and sometimes she'll just want

Visitors stroll through the shop for hours just looking, Stiles said. He said it doesn't matter if a person wants to buy -- browsing is permitted.

Ford sees woman veep by 1992

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford thinks a woman will be vice president and maybe president by

"I think it will happen this way," he said, feeling relaxed and prophetic three days away from departure. "I think you will have a woman nominated for vice president and she will succeed a president who will pass away in office.

"That's your prediction?" Ford was asked. "Yes. I think that is how it (a female presidency) will first hap-"...You mean, she will cook his last supper?" "You said that!" said Gerald Ford, roaring with laughter. He went on to add, seriously, he thought the election of a woman president would be "too big a step" in the next 16 years.

But I think there will be a woman

College trustees to hear reports

Midfand College trustees today will hear reports on enrollment for the spring semester and construction pro-

The board's regular January meeting is at 4 p.m. today in the administration building.

Other items of business facing the trustees include appointing four board members to the Midland College Foundation board, acting on a recommendatin for an honorary degree in law enforcement, annual evaluation of the president's contract, and appointing a board member to attend the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission general meeting. In personal matters, the board is scheduled to approve the resignations of former athletic director Chester Story and two other coaches who resigned under fire last week. They also are to approve the hiring of four coaches to fill the vacant positions.

nominated and elected vice president in the next four presidential elections," he said. For a moment, he seemed to backtrack on how she would become president.

Ford thinks the Republicans are more likely to put the first woman on a national ticket than the Democrats. We came reasonably close," he said, to nominating Anne Armstrong, ambassador to Britain, for vice president last year.

'How close?' "She was in the last three, four actively, honestly considered.'

The outgoing President made these observations in a last interview Monday with The Associated Press in an Oval Office largely denuded of his personal things, his books and mementoes.

On a corner of his desk, which once belonged to John Kennedy, someone had placed several volumes of the papers of Woodrow Wilson and Alexander Hamilton. They aren't Ford's. No one knew what they were doing there unless it was thought by someone deep in the White House bureaucracy that they might make light reading for the next president.

Three large vans were pulled up outside the White House. In the residence. Betty Ford was directing the disposition of packed boxes and crates. "That one to California," she was saying. "This to Michigan. This for storage. In the Oval Office, the 38th President puffed serenely on his pipe, taking questions large and small.

After the inaugural Thursday, the Fords head for the Bing Crosby golf tournament at Pebble Beach and then on to Palm Springs where they will

"Mr. President, can you tell me about your feelings here these last few days? Do you find yourself looking out at the inaugural stands?"

"No, no." He said the pace of his work has 'slowed down." What remains are "three or four things that will go up to Congress' or be his last executive orders. "The work is done on them

.. So, instead of spending a lot of time planning future relations with the Congress or negotiations with foreign countries ... we are tying up tag ends."

"What do you want out of life now, Mr. President?" "I would like to be, in the short range, a constructive private citizen in relation to government policy, domestic and international." Additionally, he said, he expects to visit a "number of campuses, from one to five days a semester," talking to and answering the questions of students and faculty

He also plans "a book or two" about his presidency and life before that. "As the inauguration comes only hours away, do you find that Mr. Carter's positions and yours are less distant than before the election?"

"I have refrained from being critical because he deserves, and the American people deserve, to get off on the best foot possible. Some of the statements of his appointees seem to getting closer and closer to positions we have taken. I (read) that Burt Lance (appointed director of the Office of Management and Budget) said the Carter budget will be the Ford budget with minor modifications. "Back in 1974, when you were six weeks in the job, I asked you how you liked it. You said, 'I love it.' Did you, as it turned out, always love it?"

'Yes. It was a tremendous challenge. I really looked forward to coming to the office every day for 21/2 years ... As long as I thought I was contributing - and I did - it was stimulating. "You never expected or wanted to be president. You became president and ran for your own election and lost. In that context, were you ever sorry you became president in the first

"Not at all ... It is the greatest experience a person can have .. "What I had in mind was that look of profound hurt you had the morning after you lost ... Was that look related to the fact that you go down in history as the only man to occupy this office without ever having been elected on a national ticket?'

"No. I wouldn't say that ever really had an impact ... I wanted to be elected on my own. But the fact that I came in under the 25th Amendment didn't affect judgments, didn't affect plans and I wasn't thinking about it. What I was really thinking (of) was the shock to the family as a whole. Here Gerald Ford was reminded that every president before him went into retirement with a sort of comfortable annuity, the reassurance that at one time or another the majority of his country haid voted for him.

"I was very pleased with the 48-plus per cent, bearing in mind where we were in August ... We came as close as you can wit hout winning.' Would another week have done

"I think we had the momentum going. Yes. I would say no more than

"Is 21/2 month s too long between the election and the inauguration of a new president?"

"I don't think so. It has taken Gov. Carter that long to put a Cabinet together. And it is the right amount of time for somebody in this office to wind things down.

..It wasn't a particularly awkward or painful time for you?"

"Thank you, Mr. President, and good luck. Gerald Ford smiled, as he did in the beginning.

NERI 100s.

Enriched Flavor process applied to new low tar 100mm cigarette with striking success.

Only MERIT has the 'Enriched Flavor' process. A way of packing tobacco with extra flavor without the usual increase in tar.

MERIT created a whole new taste standard in low tar smoking.

Now that same taste science has produced a 100mm cigarette.

MERIT 100's. Only 12 mg. tar.

Yet smokers actually like the taste of MERIT 100's as much as higher tar 100mm brands.

Kings: 9 mg | tar | 0.7 mg, nicotine -- 100's: 12 mg | tar | 0.9 mg | nicotine av | per cigarette by FTC Method

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

MERIT & MERIT MENTHOL. KINGS & 1008

Test Data Conclusive

New 12 mg. tar MERIT 100's were taste-tested against a number of major 100mm brands ranging from 17 mg. to 19 mg. tar.

Thousands of smokers were tested. The results: overall, they liked the taste of MERIT 100's as much as the higher tar 100mm brands tested.

MERIT and MERIT MENTHOL. King Size and new 100's.

The taste barrier for low tar smoking has been broken again.

Economy growth slowest for year, report reveals

WASHINGTON (AP) - The economy grew during the final three months of last year at the slowest rate since the end of the 1974-75 recession. the government reported today. It marked the second consecutive quarter of growth slower than necessary to cut unemployment.

The Commerce Department said the volume of Gross National Product, the total output of goods and services in the economy, grew at an annual rate of 3 per cent for October through December.

That compared to a 3.9 per cent growth rate for the third quarter of the year and was the smallest growth rate since Gross National Product, or GNP, ended five consecutive quarters of decline with a 5.6 per cent rise in the second quarter of 1975.

Most economists consider a growth rate of 4 per cent a year necessary to keep creation of jobs even with growth in the labor force. Measured quarterly, unemployment has now risen from 7.4 per cent in the April-June period to 8 per cent in the final quarter of 1976. Unemployment fell from 8.1 per cent in November to 7.9 per cent in December.

Inflation, as measured in the GNP accounts, was at an annual rate of 6.2 per cent in the fourth quarter. That was up from 4.4 per cent the quarter

-GNP constitutes the government's broadest gauge of economic performance. But by measuring three months of activity together, it can mask shifts which occur during the

The latest unemployment figures. together with the biggest increase in personal income in 18 months for December and the biggest two-month rise in industrial production at yearend since February, indicate Jimmy Carter is inheriting a stronger economy than President Ford had to defend during the election campaign. The latest increase in GNP left its value at $1,692.4 billion for the year. After adjusting that for inflation, the increase in volume amounted to 6.2

per cent, compared to a 1.8 per cent drop in 1975 and a 1.7 per cent drop in

Inflation over the year measured 5.1 per cent, down from 9.3 per cent

the previous year. The GNP figures on growth for the whole year were precisely what President Ford's economists had predicted this time last year. Most economists are projecting GNP growth in the 5 per cent to 5.5 per cent range for the current year.

Per capita disposal income for 1976 stood at $5,494 - up $432 over 1975. After adjusting that for inflation the increase amounted to 3.3 per cent

The signal of increased demand during the fourth quarter was the growth in the volume of final sales in the economy at an annual rate of 4.8 per cent. That compared to 4.3 per cent in the previous quarter. Commerce explained that the slower growth rate in spite of stepped up final demand was largely the result of a slower accumulation of inventories

When the election was held last November, government statistics showed unemployment at 7.8 per cent after rising for three out of four mon-

Industrial output had flattened out after 17 months of steady increases and eventually showed a two-month decline. Growth in personal income had slowed to a rate which just kept people even with price increases.

The GNP had grown just 4 per cent in the July-September quarter, barely the level needed to keep job creation even with population growtt. And that figure later was revised downward to 3.8 per cent.

Jurek predicts freedom

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Jerry Lane Jurek, who once said he would never die in the Texas electric chair, has been granted a stay of execution by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Jurek, 26, who was convicted in the slaying of a 10-year-old girl, was scheduled for execution in the early morning hours of Wednesday.

The Supreme Court told Texas officials on Monday to keep Jurek alive until the high court could consider a formal appeal. The action delayed for at least two months the execution of

If the final appeal for a stay had been denied. Jurek would have been the first perion put to death in Texas since 1964. His execution would have been only the second in the United States in almost 10 years, following by two days the death of Gary Gilmore before a Utah firing squad.

The Supreme Court ordered that Jurek's attorneys submit an appeal by Feb. 16 and that Texas authorities file a response to it by March 3.

In a recent interview, Jurek told The AP, "I know I will get a stay. I won't be executed. I'll get out of here someday

Jurek was convicted in February 1974 for the August 1973 slaying of Wendy Adams, the daughter of a law enforcement officer in the Southeast Texas town of Cuero

The child's body, clad in a two-piece bathing suit, was found floating face down in the Guadalupe river several days after she disappeared from a city park where she had gone to swim with friends.

During the trial, the prosecution entered as evidence a statement from

Jurek saying he had taken the girl from the park to Hell's Gate river bridge, about four miles away. The statement said the girl began to scream and Jurek choked her until she fell to the ground unconscious. Then he threw her into the river.

Jurek, while on death row, filed a lawsuit challenging the Texas death penalty. It was this challenge, along with similar ones in two other states. that the high court used last July to rule that capital punishment is not necessarily cruel and unusual.

Last week attorneys for Jurek asked Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. to postpone the execution. Powell referred the request to the full court.

Justice Thurgood Marshall, while agreeing with the court's granting of an execution delay, criticized his fellow justices for imposing a filing deadline.

NEWSMEN EXAMINE the sandbagged chair where Gary Gilmore sat to face a firing squad shortly after dawn at the Utah State Prison.

Technicians save parts of Gilmore

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - In death, Gary Mark Gilmore got what he wanted with a speed denied him in

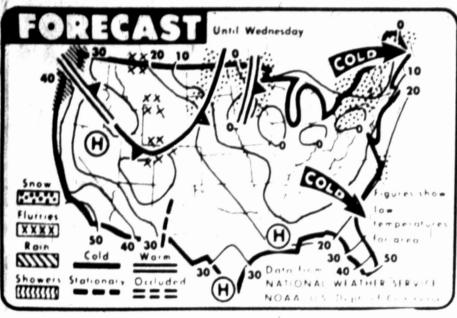

Within minutes of his execution by firing squad Monday morning, technicians were working on the body to preserve portions for medical use. By night, in compliance with his instructions, Gilmore's body had been cremated at a funeral home in Provo. Family sources said the ashes

would be spread by airplane over Provo, where Gilmore lived, and nearby Springville, where his girl friend Nicole Barrett lived before she was confined to a mental hospital.

Gilmore's pituitary gland, eyes, kidneys and liver were removed for possible transplant or study, said a brief statement from the University of Utah Medical Center.

But the kidneys, "because of the nature of Mr. Gilmore's death, are not medically usable for tran-splantation," the statement said. "At least one of them can be used for medical research.

Thus ended the ordeal for the 36year-old killer who had coldbloodedly executed two young men, then demanded he in turn be put to death for his crimes.

VERY COLD WEATHER is forecast for the East. Mild weather is expected from Washington state into the northern Plains. Warm weather is forecast on the Pacific coast. Snow flurries and snow are forecast in the northern states from the Plains to the Northeast.

County livestock show provides dusty, woolly entertainment fare

By JIM STEINBERG

It was the dream of a lifetime come true for some, a touch of disappointment for others, but wild, woolly and dusty entertainment for everyone Monday during the Midland County Livestock Show. There local 4-H and Future Farmers of America paraded their best before judges in the Conty Exhibit Building on East Highway 80.

There were 206 lambs, 68 swine, 5 heifers and 70 steers that were judged by the critical eyes of county agents. who at times found their task tougher than did an 8-year-old girl tugging a 1.100-pound steer to the arena.

At one point Monday, as contestants gave their prize cattle last minute tail permanents and brushed down their coats with lanolin and hair spray, livestock judge Billy Reagor of Ozona wrestled with a tough decision in the contest for medium weight exotic. Charolais and all other steer crosses.

'That third one is the straightest animal I've seen all day. The second one has the most muscle on it. But it has just a little too much arch in it. The first one is straight, and it looks like it will dress real good. The third one is really perfect though. Not a hole in it. But it just isn't near big enough. That's the way I see it. Somebody else might see it another way." Reagor, who is a Crockett County farm agent, said.

"A judge has to call things the way he sees them. He's got to go home at night feeling like he did the best job he could," Preston Faris, a county agent from Stanton visiting the livestock show, said.

"What a judge looks for is an animal that will dress as choice beef with as little waste as possible."

In the close call for top medium weight exotic steer. Reagor chose the bull shown by Andrea Graham for top honors, with Denise Looper's entry pulling down second, and Michalene Barnes' third

Bitter winter chill to slacken throughout Permian Basin region

That bitterly cold wind from the north which made Midlanders miserable Monday should stop this afternoon, the weatherman said.

Judge Billy Reagor, former Martin County

Winds were expected to be from the northeast at 15 to 25 mph this morning, changing to southerly at 5 to 10 mph this afternoon and southwesterly at 5 to 10 mph tonight, said a spokesman at the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Air Terminal.

Conditions were expected to remain partly cloudy through Wednesday and become warmer Wednesday. The low tonight should be in the low 20s. The high Wednesday should be in the upper 50s.

Not all the cities in the Midland feeling the unseasonal chill, as still another norther barrelled through the rest of the state today. The new front reinforces predictions by some oldtimers who claim that this winter season will on into the records as one of the roughest in years.

Bitter winds propelled arctic air southward. Dallas police reported gusts up to 60 miles per hour as the weather front raced downstate, the Associated Press said.

There was even some light snow in East Texas from around Henderson and Longview into Louisiana.

Near dawn the forward edge of the frontal system stretched along an east-west line linking Lufkin, San Antonio and El Paso. Low clouds moved in a band immediately behind it and skies were clearing quickly in its

Democrats 'itching' to convert budget

Idaho Gov. Cecil Andrus

WASHINGTON (AP) -Democratic leaders of Congress say they are eager to convert President Ford's $440 billion budget into a Jimmy Carter model. But they can't really start for about a month that's how long it will take the incoming administration to study Ford's proposals.

And they concede the conversion can't be complete

The budget that Ford submitted to Congress on Monday would raise government spending by $29 billion. or 7 per cent, over the current year's levels. But it would cut back some social programs with strong support in the incoming Democratic administration and Congress.

Carter and his allies on Capitol Hill agree that they will be able to draft mendments to Ford's proposals only in selected areas. There is simply not enough time for a new administration to review the workings of scores of federal agencies and prepare a whole new budget that could be put into effect by Oct. 1, when fiscal 1978

'We must remember there is a limit to what a new administration can do," House Budget Committee Chairman Robert N. Giaimo, D-Conn., told reporters Monday. "Much of what is in (Ford's) budget must remain and become a base of the budget adopted.' While Giaimo said he expects Congress and the Carter administration to move "toward faster economic growth and substantially different budget priorities," he predicted it would take at least one year and perhaps two for the outgoing Republican administration's budget emphasis to be reversed totally, or even substantially Senate Budget Committee Chairman Edmund S. Muskie, D-Me., said Congress and the Carter administration "now have our work cut

But he said that Congress' new budget procedures provide for more orderly review of the fiscal plan and, if necessary, changes.

"More than previous firstyear Presidents, Mr. Carter will have an opportunity to make a substantial impact on the fiscal 1978 plan which is finally adopted," Muskie said.

Ford's budget contained recommendations for some $12 billion reductions in programs. A Carter spokesman said perhaps $3 billion of these cuts could be reconsidered by the new administration.

Giaimo singled out as "unrealistic" several of Ford's proposed cutbacks. including proposals to cut the food stamp program by $900 million and child nutrition programs by $1.1

Defense was "the one budget area for which Ford provided real economic growth," Giaimo said. The proposed budget contemplates a $12 billion increase in spending in this category to a record $112 billion.

Giaimo indicated he expects Congress to go along with a defense increase, but "in some areas, the rate of growth could be slowed down without damage to national

Texas Rangers enter probe

PORT ARANSAS, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Rangers have entered an investigation into the disappearance of North Aexas grain dealer Robert Johnson, who reportedly fell into the Gulf of Mexico from a pleasure boat earlier this month.

Jim Peters of the Rangers' Corpus Christi office

Remainder of nominees to pass

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite the withdrawal of Theodore Sorensen as Presidentelect Carter's nominee for CIA director. Senate confirmation remains a virtual certainty for the other men and women Carter chose to run the government.

Three Cabinet nominees won committee backing last week, and at least five more were expected to win approval handily today.

Committees scheduled votes on Idaho Gov. Cecil Andrus to be interior secretary; Ray Marshall as labor secretary; Joseph Califano as secretary of health, education and welfare; W. Michael Blumenthal as treasury secretary, and Patricia Roberts Harris as secretary of housing and urban development.

Nomination of Thomas B. Lance to the Cabinet-level post of director of the Office of Management and Budget also was up for a vote.

The Senate Judiciary Committee finished hearings Monday on Griffin B. Bell's nomination to be attorney general after five days of testimony. There was no indication when members would vote.

Despite controversy over Bell's membership in clubs that have no minority members and over his role during Georgia's resistance to school desegregation in Georgia, his confirmation seems assured

Bell, an Atlanta lawyer and former federal judge, told the panel Monday that he would resign his club memberships today. He refused to promise not to rejoin the clubs after returning to private life. But Bell asked the committee to act quickly on his nomination because "somebody's got to run the Justice Department.

The full Senate traditionally confirms the Cabinet nominees as a group shortly after the president is sworn in on inauguration day. Unlike the criticism of Bell, which started the day Carter nominated

Monk becomes icon painter

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - The Rev. John Walsted in one of only a handful of people who are still practicing the ancient art of painting icons.

Walsted, a monk in the Episcopal Order of the Holy Cross, began painting icons — religious images painted on wooden panels with egg tempura paint - about 15 years ago. Since that time he has painted about 200 icons for both private collectors and religious institutions

Walsted, with a master's degree in divinity, was an abstract painter before he became an icon painter.

The monk, who lives at the Order's Mount Calvary Retreat House in Santa Barbara, Calif., recently exhibited some of his icons at the General Convention of the Episcopal Church here.

him, attacks on Sorensen mounted suddenly in the final days before the confirmation hearing on his nomination to head the CIA. In making his dramatic withdrawal Monday, Sorensen told the Senate Intelligence Committee he did not want to "handicap" the Carter administration with a bitter Senate battle over his nomination.

Sorensen, a top aide to President John F. Kennedy, surprised the panel by announcing his withdrawal after defending himself against what he called "scurrilous and unfounded personal attacks."

The attacks included criticism of his registering as a conscientious objector in 1946 and his use of classified information in a book he wrote on the Kennedy administration.

In Plains, Ga., Carter expressed regret about Sorensen's decision, but praised him for sparing "the administration and the country the effects of a divisive and emotional controversy.

Other Carter nominees who testified Monday met warmer receptions

Lance, the 45-year-old Atlanta banker who was Georgia's transportation secretary when Carter was governor, promised the Senate Government Operations Committee that he would work for a balanced budget by 1981 and try to reduce federal red tape

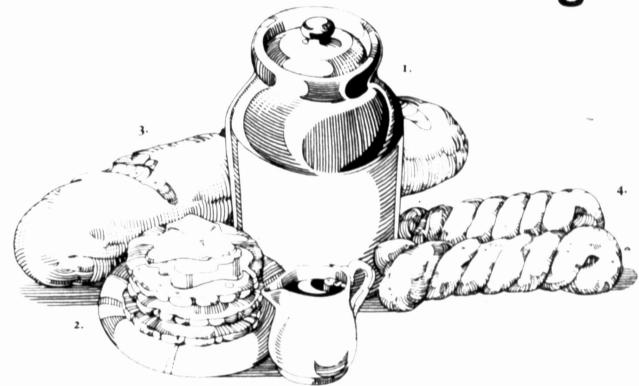

Andrus, 45, told the Senate Interior

Committee that he and the Carter administration would support a strict strip mining bill that twice was vetoed by President Ford.

Michael Blumenthal treasury-secretary designate, told the Economic Club of Detroit that his first official act will be to prohibit the Treasury Department fron releasing information on citizens' tax returns without his specific consent.

Salute to Jaycees

If all the wonderful civic accomplishments of the Midland Jaycees during their organization's 37-year history were placed end-to-end well it would be a lengthy string, indeed.

The Jaycees through the years have been active in so many areas of community development and betterment that it is impossible to list them all. But the results of their endeavors have made and continue to make of Midland a much better community in which to live, work and enjoy life.

Enthusiasm and a willingness to work and to get things done are the major qualities behind the success of the Jaycee movement here and elsewhere.

But there is something else which goes far deeper than all of this - it is the training and development of young men into roles of community leadership and good citizenship. A large percentage of Midland civic and business leaders of today are products of yesterday's Jaycee training.

It is noteworthy that Howard "Rocky" Ford, who is retiring tonight as president of the Midland Chamber of Commerce. and State Rep. Tom Craddick and W.P. "Bill" Franklin who last week won the Distinguished Service Award and Boss of the Year honors, respectively, all have played important roles in the Jaycee movement here.

Review, if you will, the Jaycee Creed and all of this will be more easily understandable. It reads, as follows:

"We Believe:

"That faith in God gives meaning to human life;

"That the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations;

"That economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise;

"That government should be of laws rather than of men:

"That the earth's great treasure lies in human personality;

"And that service to humanity is the best work of life.'

Quite a creed, isn't it? And one which every Jaycee takes to Midlanders are deeply indebted to the Jaycees for their community service through the years. and what better time to express sincere appreciation to the young men involved than during Jaycee Week, which now is being observed here.

This also affords an excellent opportunity for young men who are not now members of the Midland Jaycees to affiliate with this young men's organization. which gets things done, "Where the YOUNG Man Steps In."

Congratulations are in order for President Larry Bell and his fellow Midland Jaycees for their many, varied, noteworthy and outstanding achievements which have won for them state and national acclaim.

Only a test report

It would be wasted emotion to make too much of the Army's acknowledgement that it conducted simulated germ-warfare tests with "nondisease-causing biological substances" between 1950 and 1966 in eight locations, including military installations. New York's subways and the Pentagon itself.

First, the "substances" -Aspergillus fumigatus mold. Bacillus globigii and Serratia marcescens - are common and camparatively harmless. Aspergillus, a relative of the mold, Bacillus globigii from which penicillin is derived, is frequently found in pigeons, for example.

Second, the tests were apparently carefully controlled, and no serious consequence from them has been established. The

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

'Fishbait' Miller tells all

By JACK ANDERSON and LES Speaker Sam Rayburn. It was always WHITTEN

WASHINGTON - William "Fishbait" Miller, the guardian of many Washington confidences as House Doorkeeper for 24 years, has written a tell-all book. The news should send dozens of notables scurrying for the storm cellars.

The frog-throated Fishbait, who used to proclaim to the House the arrival of presidents and potentates. became one of its most colorful characters. But he lost favor in 1975 and was voted out of office He wasted no time brooding over the ignominy. Instead, he got together with ghostwriter Frances Spatz Leighton and began work on his memoirs. He is now hiding out in Atlanta, waiting for the roof to fall in when the book is published later this

Some of Fishbait's recollections are so torrid that Prentice-Hall's lawyers are still debating whether to strike out the names. But here are a few highlights that have been cleared:

While Richard Nixon occupied the White House, he traveled up to Capitol Hill every year to lunch with key congressmen. Fishbait swears that one luncheon was "bugged" by the president. He wanted to find out what the congressmen out of his earshot were saying about him. alleges Fishbait. (The Secret Service is unaware of any such recordings, a spokesman said.)

- Fishbait even reveals the deepest secret of his idol, the late House

thought that Rayburn, after a short, disastrous marriage, preferred politics to pretty women. But according to Fishbait, Rayburn was deeply in love for years with a mature, secret mistress. Every time they had a tryst in their love nest off the Capitol grounds, recalls Fishbait. Rayburn would return positively glowing

- But the champion lovemaker, as Fishbait tells it, was the late, flamboyant Rep. Frank Boykin (D.-Ala.). His campaign motto was "Everything is made for love." and he practiced what he preached. Fishbait says Boykin was once caught by a relative in a hotel bed with two beauties. Unabashed, Boykin engaged the ladies in casual conversation as they got dressed.

 Fishbait also confides that a number of homosexual senators and congressmen led clandestine lives without detection on Capitol Hill. But apparently, their names will be removed by the lawyers.

The irrepressible Fishbait drops names on every page of the book. He tells how he served as a tipster for young Jackie Bouvier when she was a photographer-reporter for the defunct Washington Times-Herald. But he got in trouble with the man she married, then-Sen. John F. Kennedy (D.-Mass.), by introducing him in the middle of a big fundraiser. Kennedy complained that the goof brought the affair to an early climax and cost donations.

When Hubert Humphrey was vice president, he once became irritated with Fishbait for introducing him as "Gabby." Earlier, President Harry Truman invited Fishbait to the White House. The bluntspoken Truman took the occasion to berate Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

MITCHELL'S WOES - Ex-Attorney General John Mitchell, who selected 'law and order' as the main theme of the 1968 presidential campaign. departed Washington not only with an eight-year prison sentence hanging over his head, but with a $26,093 tax debt at the Treasury. A federal tax lien has been filed against Mitchell in both Washington and New York. The records specify that he owes the government $26,060 for 1973 and an additional $33 for 1974. The Internal Revenue Service slapped Mitchell with an assessment in August, 1975, but couldn't collect the money. The embattled Mitchell is appealing his Waterquie conviction and disputing the tax bill. Through his attorney, Plato Cacheris, the nation's former chief law enforcement officer told us the tax claim is "in dispute." "They think they're right," Cacheris quoted him as saying. OIL POSTSCRIPT - A United States senator played an important backstage role in the decision by some Arab states to hold down oil

James Abourezk (D.-S.D.) visited the Middle East shortly after the November elections for the explicit purpose of asking Arab officials not to increase prices.

As the son of Lebanese parents, Abourezk is the only man in the Senate of Arab descent. He exerts considerable influence, therefore, among Arab leaders, most of whom he knows personally.

In Saudi Arabia, Abourezk met with King Khalid and Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani. In the United Arab Emirates, he held discussions with President Shdikh Zayid and Oil Minister Mana Al-Utayba.

The U.S. ambassador to Abu Dhabi. Francis Dickman, was present when Abourezk spoke with them. Afterward, he outlined the details of the senator's entreaties in a confidential cablegram to the State Department.

met in San Francisco last month, no representative of the inaugural committee was there to hold hands or calm the angry. Instead, Carter was represented by Joel McCleary, a lowlevel aide of Philip Wise (Carter's selection as executive director of the Democratic National Committee). When one state chairman complained about lack of cooperation from the inaugural committee, McCleary replied: "If you had done better by us in the campaign you would find us more friendly to you today." Following that December meeting.

In a Southern state barely held for Carter, the state chairman said he could not get a list of party operatives asked to the inaugural. "There are so many horror stories," he told us, "it is impossible to believe them all, but they are all accurate.'

For Mr. Carter, the immediate impact may die out Jan. 21 among most Democrats who made it - or didn't make it - to this 'people's inaugural." But for the state chairmen and other party leaders, the inaugural is a test of how well Jimmy Carter handles the first big operation of his administration. As of today most politicians are not merely angry over what has happened but, more important, newly skeptical about the vaunted organizational skills of the Carter camp.

In that sense, what is shaping up as the great fiasco of the people's inaugural is helping to shape Mr. Carter's reputation and image in a way that cannot help and could return to haunt him.

Flu shot crisis

The Los Angeles Times

ATLANTA - Back when the nation's swine flu program was in robust health, the lines of Americans waiting to be vaccinated in some cities were as long as those at ticket windows for an Elton John concert.

For some, the wait for inoculation was so lengthy that they gave up and went home. "I'll probably catch swine flu," one Atlanta man complained, ''just waiting in line!"

But those moments seem like ancient history

When the federal government recently ordered swine flu shots halted indefinitely fearing a possible link between the vaccine and a sometimes-deadly paralysis, Guillain-Barre syndrome — it was a fitting end to a tumultuous, often frustrating year for authorities at the U.S. Center for Disease Control, which investigates worldwide health problems.

Seldom, if ever, had scientists at the Atlantabased health facility grappled with so many crises - or worked so many overtime hours as in 1976

It was not enough that they had to shepherd the $135 million swine flu immunization campaign - America's largest ever - through a maze of controversy, only to have to halt it. During the year, CDT epidemiologists also contended

- "Legion Fever," a pneumonia of unknown origin that killed 29 persons and afflicted 149 others at an American Legion convention in Philadelphia.

-A penicillin-resistant form of gonorrhea that has spread to 17 states and remains unchecked.

-And a mystery virus that caused fatal hemorrhaging among persons in two African nations and then apparently vanished.

In the effort to avert swine flu, an estimated 50 million persons were given the vaccine - far short of the government's goal to immunize everybody by January. the peak month of flu season - before the question of paralysis brought the program to a halt.

The vaccination program was plagued from the first by fears over a handful of heartattack deaths that were quickly proved not to have been caused by the vaccine. Before that, the start of inoculations had been delayed for two months by contractural disputes with vaccine manufacturers over liability insurance. And now the program remains aborted amid an outbreak of the rare paralysis named after the two French doctors, Guillain and Barre, who first described it in 1916. 'This has been a public relations nightmare. You can't win," Donald Berreth, a CDC spokesman, said of the swine flu campaign.

"Let's say you im-munize 100 million Americans and there's no swine flu. Then you're accused of crying 'wolf.' Or let's say you immunize 100 million people and there's a flu epidemic. Then everybody complains, Why didn't you immunize the rest of us?""

Stacks of leftover "Roll Up Your Sleeve, America' promotional flyers in Berreth's office now seem as out-of-date as Edsel ads.

At the moment, scientists here are trying to decide whether the swine flu program is worth salvaging for this year. If an outbreak should occur, they say, they would offer the vaccination program immediately because the swine flu risks are more severe than those of paralysis. But, they admit, it, is questionable how effective that would be, since the vaccine would not have been injected before the traditional January-to-March flu season.

Water rates rise

BIG SPRING — Minor increases in water rates to original member cities of the Colorado River Municipal Water District has been approved by the district's directors.

District manager O. H. Ivie said the increases are so slight, "I see no reason why Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder (the member cities) would have to make any changes in charges to their citizens."

During 1976 Odessa's actual rate came to 36.64 cents per thousand gallons.

Midland, and other cities that came into the district after the three cities formed it, will pay a rate based on those to the members for the previous year.

Midland's rate in 1977 will be 39.867 cents per thousand gallons, which is based on last year's Odessa rate plus a differential of 3.227 cents per thousand.

If Odessa uses its calculated 4.801 billion gallons this year, then its rate will be 39.95 cents per thousand.

Actual rates charges decrease if water consumption increases and increase if water consumption for the city actually is less than calculated.

Big Spring has a calculated rate of 29.22 cents for this year and Snyder has a rate of 27.54 cents.

In other business, the board is considering expanding its sources of water.

The board also approved 20 per cent pay increases during the next three years on the maximum levels for various job classifications of district employes. The overall adjustment is limited to 7 per cent a year.

Kenneth Perry, Big Spring, was sworn in as a new board member to replace Dr. Lee Rogers, who died in December.

Finally, the board approved an increase of 200,000 gallons a day for the Chevron-Arco repressuring contract, bringing the delivery to 1,680,000 gallons a day.

In an interview with the Soviet news agency Novosti, the scientist said that in going over data, he noticed a certain regularity in the times craft disappeared "related to the stars, astronomical phenomena and specifically the position of the earth, the moon and the sun."

This pattern suggested that the shipwrecks and plane crashes had something to do with magnetic anomalies caused by the position of the heavenly bodies, he said.

Rockefeller gives his last address today

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a brief career in the office he once called "standby equipment," Nelson A. Rockefeller is ready to bid farewell

The vice president makes his farewell address to the Senate today.

When Rockefeller leaves office on Thursday, it will mark the end of an 18-year period - with one brief interruption — in which he has been a national political figure, first as governor of New York and then, after a few months in private life, as vice

During most of that time, the office Rockefeller wanted most was the presidency. He often said he had no desire to be No. 2, but he finally did agree to become the appointed vice president to Gerald Ford.

Rockefeller recalled in a recent interview with The Associated Press that in 1960. Richard M. Nixon had offered him the vice presidential nomination and he had turned it

He said he told Nixon he considered the job standby equipment "except in a time of crisis. Why did he accept the job when Ford offered it?

"I did it because we were in a constitutional crisis and I was delighted to help, if I could, in a very small way and, of coarse, the function of the vice president is to have somebody there with the capacity to be president should anything happen to the president, that's the only real

You may have to bring an extra nickle or dime when you go swimming this summer at Midland's Alamo pool. Similar small increases may also be in store at other city-operated swimming pools.

The Parks and Recreation Commission will meet today at 3:30 p.m. in the conference room of Midland City Hall to consider recommending an increase in the swimming pool

The rates, which haven't changed since 1968, may find the Alamo pool admissions jumping from 25 cents, for youths under 19, to 30 cents. Adult admissions of 50 cents may go to 60

Hogan pool is in for no increase, and has rates of 25 cents and 50 cents.

Washington and Halff pools may be in for an increase of their 5-cent youth admission to 25 cents and the adult admission from 10 cents to 50 cents. Ulmer pool is also under con-

Also, the commission will take up increasing the $2-weekday and $3weekend fees at the municipal golf

Even if the commission recommends the increases, it will still be up to Midland City Council to approve the increases.

In other business, the commission will discuss establishing rules and regulations governing play on public tennis courts. There currently are none to limit playing time and similar potential problems

MDA seeking more funding

A 42 per cent increase in fund raising is planned by the Midland Muscular Dystrophy Association this year over last year's total which broke previous records.

The strategy for the 1977 increase was outlined during a recent meeting in the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Vernezobre.

A spring project was planned March 12 to be held in conjunction with St. Patrick's Day. The Saturday before, March 5, was named "Tag Day" and is set aside for the sale of shamrocks, with all contributions going to the MDA. The goal of the shamrock sales this year is $1,500.

Jim Galvean, president of the loca MDA chapter, said that the 1976 telethon produced more than twice the revenue as did the previous year.

There are 19 patients in the Midland chapter's district which was recently expanded to include Fort Stockton

Extreme cold paralyzes East

BY EILEEN ALT POWELL By The Associated Press

The harshest winter in years tightened its freezing grip on the Eastern half of the nation today, choking off power to auto and steel plants and putting more than 60,000 laborers out of work. Schools from Florida to New York were closed for more than 135,000 students. The record-breaking cold - minus 1 at Raleigh, N.C., 24 below at Cincinnati - forced utilities to divert electricity and already scarce natural gas supplies from factories to home

In hard-hit Pennsylvania, where

CHARLES BROOKS, president of Local 444 of the United Auto

Workers, was shot and killed at local headquarters in Windsor, Ont. Monday, a union official said. A man who left the headquarters said Mr. Brooks was killed by a bullet fired through a window. Police say one man has been arrested.

gas shortages Monday caused the closing of some steel-production units, Lt. Gov. Ernest Kline declared a state of emergency when a pressure drop in gas lines threatened western communities with a total loss of fuel.

The nation's four major automakers shut a dozen plants and idled 56,000 workers in Ohio, Michigan and New York

Florida growers kept fires burning through the night to try to protect their citrus crops from temperatures in the teens

Seventeen Amtrak trains serving Chicago were canceled, and tugs had trouble navigating the Ohio River.

Laborers, school children, travelers - all fell victim to the southwardmoving arctic coldfront that weathermen said could persist through midweek. One death in Illinois and four in

Indiana on Monday were attributed to the weather. Among them was Willard Driscoll, 67, of Muncie, Ind. who was found dead in the unheated school bus in which he had lived for 15 Few states east of the Mississippi the South Jersey Gas Co. In states where voluntary conservation was encouraged, people were quick to respond. In Illinois, for example, the bright lights that generally play on the Tribune Tower and the Wrigley Building on Chicago's North Michigan Avenue were turned

In Alpena in northeastern Michigan, 90 per cent of the businesses closed early at the request of the Alpena Power Co.

But for some people, the decision was not voluntary.

Many of the 1,800 families evacuated in subzero weather from their heatless homes to schools in southern West Virginia Monday were not able to return until early today, and there was fear that natural gas pressure might drop in the area

Stalled cars and traffic snarls continued to be one of the most obvious effects of the freezing temperatures, with spokesmen for the American Automobile Association reporting thousands of calls daily from motorists seeking assistance. The common complaints were dead batteries, oil that was too heavy for the frigid temperatures, and frozen

-Eastern Illinois University at Charleston called off classes for its 9,200 students until next Monday; Ohio State University in Columbus called off classes Tuesday for its 45,000 enrollment

 The Indianapolis school system, with nearly 80,000 students, will remain closed at least through Wednesday.

-School closings were announced in seven Maryland counties, some because of heating problems, and the Dayton (Ohio) Power & Light Co. urged officials not to open schools.

The subcommittee recommendations will be reviewed by the full committees and passed on to the House Appropriations Committee. which then will hold its own hearings.

in Sorensen book

WASHINGTON (AP) - The book Theodore Sorensen says he wrote with the help of classified documents placed a large share of blame for the disastrous 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion on the CIA.

Sorensen withdrew from consideration as chief of the CIA on Monday because of criticism aimed partly at his use of the classified material in writing the book. "Kennedy. President-elect Carter agreed to the withdrawal.

There is nothing in the book to indicate what parts came from classified data

Sorensen said in the book that he was offering no excuses for President John F. Kennedy, who authorized the Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba. But he said Kennedy was misled by CIA and Pentagon officials.

Sorensen said Kennedy laid down a condition before approving the Cuban operation that no U.S. armed forces would be directly involved, then learned later that the 1,400 American-trained Cuban exiles who made the landing on April 17. 1961, could not have succeeded without such help.

"Yet no one in the CIA Pentagon or Cuban exile movement raised any objection to the President's basic condition," Sorensen wrote. "On the

'Most members of the brigade were in fact under the mistaken impression, apparently from their CIA contacts, that American armed forces would openly and directly assist them if necessary to neutralize the air (presumably with jets), make certain of their ammunition and prevent their defeat," Sorensen wrote.

Sorensen also said Kennedy was led to believe by U.S. intelligence that quick action was needed before Cuban Premier Fidel Castro attained sufficient military capability to repel an attack

"Castro, in fact, already possessed that capability,' Sorensen said. "Kennedy was told that Castro had only an obsolete, ineffective air force not in combat condition.

Sorensen said Kennedy also was misled about the nature of the operation, saying "The President thought he was approving a plan whereby the exiles, should they fail to hold and expand a beachhead, could take up guerrilla warfare with other rebels in the mountains

need a lawyer? Legal services at very reasonable fees.

That advertisement headline and the information that followed on legal rates charged by a Phoenix law clinic could shake an entire profession.

The Supreme Court was to hear arguments today that the legal profession's traditional taboo against advertising violates both the First Amendment right of free speech and federal antitrust laws.

The taboo was shaken Monday in Lansing, Michigan, where the state supreme court approved a state bar association plan that substantially expands lawyers' rights to advertise.

The Michigan plan allows lawyers to put their fees for an initial conference, age, experience, office hours, fluency in foreign lanugages, and areas of specialization in the telephone directory, providing the local phone companies agree.

That plan applies only to Michigan. however. In other states, bar association rule's, backed by the courts, limit lawyers to putting their names, addresses and telephone numbers in the phone book

Two Phoenix attorneys, John R. Bates and Van O'Steen, knew perfectly well the controversy they were about to stir when they placed their ad in the Arizona Republic's Feb. 22, 1976 editions. They objected to the professional bans against advertising and thought the time was right for a head-

The Arizona Bar, relying on canons of ethics backed by the American Bar Association, filed charges against the attorneys.

The state bar said the two had violated the Arizona Supreme Court's disciplinary rule against advertising by lawyers in media of general public circulation. The bar urged suspension for six months, but the state court reduced the penalty to a censure.

The Justice Department, long a foe of such an advertising ban, has intervened on the side of Bates and O'Steen.

Such a ban .. is fundamentally incompatible with a system of free expression." Solicitor General Robert H. Bork told the high court.

'The free flow of information about legal services is no less important than the free flow of information about abortion referral services or the prices of prescription drugs,' Bork argued in briefs filed for the government

The court previously has outlawed bans on both types of advertising. Last summer the justices said state laws cannot ban prescription drug price ads because consumers have the right to receive such information.

Mother, daughter show no tact when inviting students to party

DEAR ABBY: My heart aches, not for me, but for my 11-year-old

Here's what happened: She came home from school with tears in her eyes, saying that a classmate had gone up and down the aisles passing out invitations to the birthday party she was having at home next week. Abby, there were 34 kids in the class. Twenty-nine were invited and five were not. (My daughter was not.)

She said everyone knew who was left out. Two girls and one boy cried, and another girl went home "sick" at recess and never came back.

Abby. I hope you'll put this in your column, so youngsters will realize how cruel something like this is. - A MOTHER

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — There was a lot of hoopla in 1968 when Penny Ann Early wanted to ride racehorses. She was the second woman in the country to be licensed as a jockey and enter that sanctum of man's sport. A lot of things have happened in those eight years, but Early will still say horse racing is a man's world. The year 1968 is when the Maryland court overruled a racing commission decision and insisted Kathy Kusner be given a jockey's license

Thus Maryland became the first state to issue a female jockey's license and Kusner the first woman in the country to legally enter the world of horse racing.

As more females stepped up to take their licenses the public fanfare grew. But when it cooled, female jockeys found themselves facing owners and trainers lead set against them on the track The obvious truth became all too clear: you can't be an outstanding jockey without an outstanding horse And few owners were going to let a 'girl' on their horses.

In 1968 rocks were hurled at women jockeys. Races were boycotted because of them. In 1977 that doesn't happen much. Male jockeys tend to tolerate the women, facilities accommodate them and fans less frequently tell them "to go home and

Yet some female jockeys are still disenchanted. Earlier in 1976 in Florida jockey Donna Hillman quit the sport, saying she was expected to give sexual favors in exchange for rides. A couple of months before, rookie rider Karin Yarosh took a bad fall in Baltimore and intimated that it was not an accident

Early heard about her cohorts a long way from the highbrow horses and big purses of Hollywood Park, Santa Anita and Del Mar where she had ridden before. Two years ago she left to ride at Agua Caliente in Tijuana, Mexico, a track generally considered at least a furlong behind the big names in racetracks.

Today, in her early 30s, Early wears blue jeans and T-shirts and tennis shoes without the laces.

She is pretty with a Doris Day trilling laugh and blonde hair she pulls back away from her face. She lives in a mobile-home park off the freeway in Imperial Beach near here.

Like many young girls, when Early was growing up in Chicago, she wanted a horse in the worst way. She used to fantasize about an old bum horse that pulled a junk wagon around her neighborhood.

Her parents didn't have much money, so she worked in a neighborhood stable so she could ride a couple of hours after school. "It was my obsession. Penny married when she was 17, and found out two weeks later that marriage wasn't all roses. The two separated a year later, but the divorce wasn't final for five years. since her husband was in the service.

Lisa, now 16, was born of that marriage. When the marriage began to go downhill Early began looking for a job. She became a receptionist, later toyed with the idea of becoming a court reporter or a professional ice skater.

In 1962, a friend took her for the first time to the paddock area at the races and something clicked. "I knew from that moment that that was where I

"Lisa was 2 years old when I announced I was leaving and going to the racetrack. My family thought I was crazy. I had just bought a lot of furniture. I had a 2-year-old child...

Early was just getting established as a rider at Caliente when she fell during a race, was run over by four or five other horses and suffered two broken ribs, a broken wrist, a sprained ankle and two lacerated and swollen arms

Two years later she has had four wins as a trainer, but she admits she still gets that urge to ride.

Penny Ann Early, the second woman to be licensed a jockey in 1968, has found a new home away from the big purses. She has turned in her silks to train horses, which she finds a tough job. "It's still a man's world," she says.

Group canvassed for new members

By CONNIE GRZELKA

NEW YORK (AP) - Back in 1945. Bernice Salpeter Tannenbaum and the handful of women who belonged to the new Hadassah group in New York City's Kew Gardens section canvassed the neighborhoods for new members - ringing doorbells with one hand and pushing strollers with the other

We only had 12 members in the chapter then." Mrs Tannenbaum explains. "But I told the others that we could grow to hundreds. And we did. As soon as a new family moved in, we'd wait until the moving van unloaded. When it pulled out of the driveway, we

Soon, we had practically every Jewish woman in the neighborhood as a member," she said proudly. Mrs Tannenbaum, now president of the 350,000 member Hadassah, the national women's Zionist organization which claims the largest voluntary membership of women in the country, took a few moments recently from her crowded schedule to discuss her work with the group over the past 35 years She looks ahead to the future and says "there won't be enough hours or years to do everything.

She stepped in as national president at the end of August and since then, appointments, meetings and conferences with visiting celebrities from Israel have been running back to back

'But this is what I thrive on," Mrs. Tannenbaum says "Work, challenge and the unraveling of problems gives me great satisfaction

She admits to a great sense of drive, and adds, 'I'm always geared to a specific goal, and for the last 30-some years, it's been Hadassah and the benefits it can bring to others.

Floating nuclear power plant possible for Atlantic Ocean

By HAL WILLARD

The Washington Post

A floating nuclear power plant does not exist yet, but a New Jersey utility company wants to locate one about 3 miles offshore in the Atlantic Ocean within sight of Atlantic City.

This is an artist's conception of two floating nuclear power plants built of rock and concrete within breakwater on the Atlantic coast. Such in-

It wouldsit on barges moored inside an artificial breakwater, and from the beach would look like a small town that had been cast adrift. It would be connected to shore by a huge highpowered submerged cable: an umbilical cord for "floating nuke."

Objections have been raised and technical problems remain, but federal government officials and the nuclear industry feel the floating plants are a strong possibility. Should they come to pass, the move by New Jersey could spawn 50 or so similar plants in America's coastal waters by the year 2000, a congressional study

The "floating nukes" are just one aspect of the spectacular proliferation of activities planned or already underway in the ocean along the East Coast, providing substance to Commerce Secretary Elliot Richardson's call last June for increased "sound commercial

opment of the seas Although the offshore area has been fished extensively for scores of years and freighters, tankers and pleasure craft have made the Atlantic sea lanes among the busiest in the world. now full-scale oil and natural gas exploration is about to start. Some ocean-floor mining is planned, and Transportation Secretary William T. Coleman recently said he would approve licenses for two deepwater ports to unload supertankers in the Gulf of Mexico, and the Corps of Engineers believes others will be needed off the Atlantic Coast. The threat to the environment of any accident involving the giant oil tankers was shown recently when 7.5 million gallons of oil poured into the Atlantic from a grounded tanker off

Nantucket Island One activity of the recent past seems to be slowly fading out. however - the disposal of shiploads of human-sewage sludge and other wastes in ocean dumping grounds.

Ever-tightening federal regulations by the Environmental Protection Agency and others are slowing down dumping that contributes to ocean pollution even as scientists and environmentalists voice increasing concern about effects of increasing commercial development. So as America wades inexorably into the sea, scientists are striving to learn about the dangers and difficulties of ocean exploitation before it is too late.

No one knows for certain now what will happen when ocean development is intensified. Marine scientists have been investigating the East Coast's offshore continental shelf for 50 years and more, but their studies have been localized and restricted in scope.

Massive new scientific programs have begun or are being planned, but as enviornmentalists see it, the nation is rushing into development without knowing the consequences. A report by Congress's Office of Technology Assessment agrees.

The Office of Technology Assessment report, however, points out that the existing plans for oil exploration, floating nuclear plants and deepwater ports are not "likely to impose intolerable burdens on the ocean or coastal zone" of New Jersey and Delaware, "but future use of ocean technologies on a larger scale in this area or possibly elsewhere could create serious conflicts." So, despite protests by environmentalists, among them sea explorer Jacques Cousteau, and demands for more restrained and better planned usage of the ocean. government agencies and private industry are pushing for development from different and uncoordinated

They say the need for energy is overwhelming, and that experience with ocean use and existing scientific data justifies such a commercial push

while research continues. Both the development and the scientific research are occurring on the ocntinental shelf, the area of gradually sloping ocean bottom that starts at the shoreline and continues to the point where the bottom drops off sharply into what is known as the "deep ocean.

Until 1974, there was little or no coordination of scientific probes into the continental shelf area — and there still isn't much. Then the Interior Department's Bureau of Land Management held several conferences around the country so marine scientists could suggest specific studies. Some of those studies are now under way and more are planned

Many other studies are being done independently. The only hope that all of the diversified information collected in those studies will become available to those who work in the ocean is the Commerce Department's Environmental Data Service, charged with the job of collecting the information.

The service's director, Thomas S Austin, says arrangements have been made to obtain most of the significant information turned up by the various scientific expeditions

But even so, amid the efforts of scores of public and private organizations and the work of hundreds of scientists, some activities go on ignorant of others — and in the same departments.

Some of the individual projects seem to have considerably less than spectacular objectives, but when put together, the information they produce has great significance.

For example, detailed data is needed about currents and other movements of water within the ocean so that scientists might predict with accuracy what will happen to oil spilled from tankers or pipes in the process of drilling or transporting it. Two such projects are being conducted by the Energy Research and Development Administration at the University System of Georgia's Skidaway Institute of OCeanography on Skidaway Island near Savannah, and by Johns Hopkins University's Chesapeake Bay Institute off the coasts of Delaware, Maryland and

At first glance it appears that information is alrady contained in the set of maps accompanying the threevolume, final environmental statement issued in May by the Interior Department preparatory to offering ocean oil-exploration leases. However, the report says, "The sub-surface and bottom circulation in the mid-Atlantic ... (area) is even less well defined and less understood than that of the surface circulation.

The draft environmental statement issued by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission in April for the proposed floating nuclear power plant off New Jersey contains somewhat more detailed water movement data - but only about the site of the proposed plant, 2.8 miles offshore and 11 miles northeast of Atlantic City Hopkins Professor Peter Hacker

and a colleague, William Boicourt, are producing the most detailed information about currents off the mid-Atlantic coast. Scientists at Skidaway are doing the same thing for the southern part of the shelf area. When complete, their studies will show. with as much precision as humans now can measure and predict the actions of nature, just where oil spills and other pollution could be borne by the moving water.

The configuration of the bottom the water flows over is important because of the effects it has on currents. The depth of the ocean on the continental shelf from the pounding surf to the drop-off area increases steadily to about 300 feet. The drop from the clifflike shelf to the absolute bottom is not sheer, but it is steeply sloping so that sizable sinking objects slide and roll until they hit bottom, three miles

One of the most important features is the Gulf Stream, a mass of warmish water that flows steadily out of the Gulf of Mexico and north along the edge of the shelf until it veers east at Newfoundland.

Larry P. Atkinson, an associate professor at Skidaway, said the Gulf Stream is about 9,000 feet deep and 60 miles wide as it flows north. Below it, farther down the slope toward the bottom, colder water is flowing south.

The Gulf Stream overflows the shelf and seeps into coastal waters all along the way. This force, and the forces of tides and the wind, push the coastal water ever which way.

At Hopkins, Boicourt and Hacker, with the assistance of a technician, Robert Kravis, have devised a system to measure the speed, salinity, temperature and direction of the water at various depths from the surface to the bottom

Sophisticated instruments in efficiently designed chains are attached to an anchor, such as a railroad car wheel, and dangle beneath a float at predetermined locations and for specified lengths of time, collecting data automatically

One such measurement system there are many others — is anchored semi-permanently in 115 feet of water 45 miles in the ocean from Virginia

Once, in an effort to retrieve the anchor for the chain of instruments. two divers were donning wet suits when the dive was abruptly called off by the captain of the Johns Hopkins research vessel on grounds the mission wasn't worth the potential

Minutes later two hammerhead sharks sliced through the water off the ship's stern (Next: The "floating nukes.")

HOUSTON - Weatherford International Inc., has announced that its wholly-owned subsidiary, DRIL Petroleum (Belize) Ltd., has been advised by Esso Ventures, Inc., a subsidiary of Exxon Corp., that Esso has signed a contract for the drillship "Chancellorsville," owned by Atwood Oceanics, Inc., to drill a test well offshore to the Central American country of Belize.

The well will be drilled on one of nine oil prospecting licenses that cover a total of about one million acres held by DRIL. Ajax Petroleum Co., Ltd., a subsidiary of INCO, Ltd., and Canadian Superior Oil, Ltd. By the drilling of the test well, Esso will earn a majority interest in all of the nine prospecting licenses granted by the Belize government in 1976.

The Irenes Challenger incident was in the same general area where the Panamanian freighter Crown Pea 1 was abandoned by its 25 crewmen Sunday after the ship, with a cargo of logs, began taking on water. Those crewmen were rescued by a Swiss freighter.

At least segen Liberian-registered oil tankers have been involved in accidents in or near U.S. waters since

Mitchell to dig deep explorer in Terrell

A discovery finaled in Fisher County, Terrell drew site for a deep prospector, an outpost site was staked in Stonewall and a pool was extended in Runnels.

Southland Petroleum Co., Abilene, No. 1 W. F. Martin has been finished as a Strawn lime oil strike in Fisher. nine miles northwest of Hamlin.

It had a 24-hour pumping potential of 54 barrels of 39-gravity oil and eight barrels of water. Potential test was taken through perforations at 5,348-5,354 feet.

Drilled to 5,416 feet, it has 41/2-inch casing set on bottom. Top of the Strawn lime was picked at 2,325 feet, under kelly bushing elevation of 1,883

It is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 112, block 1, H&TC survey, 14 mile west of the one-well Ida (Strawn) field, but separated by depleted producers.

TERRELL VENTURE

Mitchell Energy Corp. of Houston. has scheduled No. 1-5 Childress, a 12,600-foot wildcat in Terrell County. 71/2 miles southwest of Sheffield townsite

It spots nine miles north and slightly east of Wolfcamp gas production in the field and about 1/2 mile north of the depleted Schuler, South (Leonard) oil pool.

Location is 4,053 feet from north and 670 feet from west lines of section 5, block 162, B. p. Allen survey, abstract 3, bordering on the north side of section 21, block 37, ULS.

STONEWALL SITE Fisher-Webb, Inc., Abilene, intends to drill No. 1 L. C. Young as a one-mile southwest outpost to Ellenburger production in the prankirk field of

It spots 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 9, block U. T&P survey, eight miles southwest of Aspermont and separated from the field by a failure and depleted wells.

RUNNELS EXTENDER The Loco Rico pool of Runnels gained a third Gardner well and location northwest extension with completion of John W. Barbee of Abilene, No. 2-C Byers, nine miles northeast of Ballinger. The well had a 24-hour flowing potential of 82 barrels of 41-gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio measuring 1,976-1. producing through a 14-64-inch choke and perforations at 3,6491/2-

3,6551/2 feet, following a 500-gallon acid treatment. It was scheduled to drill as a wildcat. Total depth is 3,662 feet, and 41/2-inch casing is set two feet off bottom. The plugged-back depth is

3,657 feet. Location is 1,400 feet from south and 3.531 feet from east lines of Austin & Williams survey 262.

Lee Youth Center chatter

By MICA CASTOR JANIS SANDERS and DEEHONA WISE

Count down! Only five more days until the BIG DAY. Guys in case you don't have your dates for Cornation, you have until Saturday night. But don't wait until the last minute or you will find yourself very dateless! Coronation will start at 8 p.m. in the auditorium. The cost to see everyone (and what they won) will be $1. for adults and 50 cents for students. But that's not all because then there is a dance at the Youth Center. It starts at 9 o.m. and lasts till 1 a.m. It's $4 per couple and the band is Directory. This is a big night so don't forget to come!

Golf: Our Girls Golf Team will be traveling to Big Spring tomorrow. Good Luck girls, we know you'll do

Roundballers: Last Tuesday, our Reble Roundballers really put it to the Cooper Cougars with the score of 59-54. This was our toughest clash in the District but of course our Rebs came out on top. Way to go Big Rebs! To keep things going Our round ballers went to Big Spring to bring back another Rebel victory defeating them 71-69. Now our Rebel men are 4-0 and number one in the district. Keep it up because we know that the Rebs will be district champs once more! Tonight there will be an exciting game in the Lee gym between the Rebels and the Permian Panthers. The time is 8 p.m. so don't be late cuz the Rebs are going to run all over 'em!! No Mo Mojo! After the Rebs get through running all over the Panthers they will show those Abilene eagles they better start their flight on Back to Abilene if they plan to have any feathers left. It's in our gym Friday night, so, let's have a great Rebel turn out! We support the basketball sport.

Rebelettes: Tonight is the night! We need to see ALL Rebeleties at the game at 7:45 in full uniform. except hats. All girls who want to be an officer or the Honor Squad need to be there. This is a very important game so please come. Also we would like to see some people painting signs on Sunday. Then Friday we will again Rebelette at the Abilene High game here. Go by the library and sign up for the bus trip to Odessa High on January 28. Points Points! Don't forget SQUAD MEETINGS!

Key Clubbers; Turn in your money, or calendars or face the penalty.

Social Committee: We are finishing up our decorations this week. We will work Wednesday, Thursday, Friday nights and Saturday morning. Anyone who would like to help can! The more the better.

The Fantastic Senior Class of 77 has picked their flower, song and colors. The flower is the Forget-Me-Not so no one will forget the Seniors of 77. The song is 'Old Days' reminding us of all the good times we have had things to be remembered. And last but not least our class colors are Royal Blue and Silver. Special colors to go beside Maroon and White!

The senior girls will meet on Sunday, January 23 to get started on the "Senior Girls Party." Be in the senior room (in the YC) at 2 p.m. sharp. Be sure and bring all your good ideas.

Girls Basketball: Over the weekend our girls were dribbling and passing up and down the court in the Snyder basketball tournament. In the finals Saturday Lee fought a hard battle but lost to Midland High, 37-32. Our Lee B team advanced to the consolation finals with a 29-20 win over Colorado City, but fell in the finals to Abilene High's A team 25-35.

Swimming: Our Rebels travel to El Paso Friday to take part in the El Paso Invitational. Good Luck Rebs! Bring back some wins

National Honor Society: Are all of you getting your vocal cords in shape? Keep in contact with your group leaders. The time and place will be given for the meetings having to do with the other committees. All you Rebs better start thinking now who and what you are goin to be sending to everyone.

Tennis Report: Over the weekend, our Mighty Net ters traveled to San Angelo, butwere defeated 14-4. Jeff Edger, David Stiles, and Mike Francis posted wins in the Boys Singles. In the girls singles. Karen Broe posted a win. This weekend our netters will play Abilene here at 11 a.m. Saturday morning. Good Luck Netters!

Speech and Debate! This past weekend Midland and Lee hosted The Tall City Tournament. Well it turned out to be a great success. R.L. Turner High took first in Sweepstakes and Richfield took second, In Cross Ex, Waco Richfield took first and San Angelo, Second and San Antonio Mac Arthur took third. In Standard Debate, Mulshoe took first and Big Spring second. Thanks goes to everyone for helping make this tournament such a big sccess!

Junior Council Meeting: Thursday Morning, 7:30 a.m., Jan. 20: Aunt Sara says "if you want to work BE THERE!!" Workers scheduled will change next Monday. The list will be posted Friday so if your name is on the list you better remember to go by Mr. Woods office and get your pass.

Archie's happy collecting dolls

MEYERSVILLE, N.J. (AP) - Archie Stiles thinks just about everyone is interested in toys. "There's an awful lot of love and affection involved with toys," said Stiles, 66, who runs a resale shop at his home here. "They intrigue people. Stiles began building a big collection of old.

valuable toys 20 years ago. Eventually, the toys overwhelmed the house and shop and about 6,000 pieces, including 300 to 400 dolls, were auctioned in New York "Basically, the real dollar toys were sold," he said

"Only the penny toys are left, but there's a lot of them. Stiles, a grandfather, and his wife, Emma, started the resale shop — "it's not really an antique store" — 24 years ago. He had been doing some reselling in the lun-cheonette he owned when he met his wife over the counter. She suggested he could make a living buying and reselling various items, including furniture and collectibles. The rest is history.

"The wife and I, we decided to work together and that's the way we accomplished an awful lot in life." Stiles said collecting toys became one of his major interests because "I didn't have them as a child. "A lot of people were better off than us and I could always envy the toys some kids had," he said. Stiles said he bought some of his collection from people whose children had lost interest in the toys. "But sometimes a grandmother calls. She's lonely; her kids don't visit her much anymore but she's got their toys. Well, she's heard about Archie so I'll go over and talk to her." he said. "Sometimes she wants to sell the toys and sometimes she'll just want

Visitors stroll through the shop for hours just looking. Stiles said. He said it doesn't matter if a person wants to buy - browsing is permitted.

Ford sees woman veep by 1992

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford thinks a woman will be vice president and maybe president by

"I think it will happen this way," he said, feeling relaxed and prophetic three days away from departure. "I think you will have a woman nominated for vice president and she will succeed a president who will pass away in office.

"That's your prediction?" Ford wasasked Yes. I think that is how it (a female presidency) will first hap-You mean, she will cook his last supper? "You said that!" said Gerald Ford, roaring with laughter. He went on to add, secously, he thought the election of a woman president would be "too big a step" in the next 16 years.

But I think there will be a woman College trustees to hear reports

Midland College trustees today will hear reports on enrollment for the spring semester and construction pro-

The board's regular January meeting is at 4 p.m. today in the administration building.

Other items of business facing the trustees include appointing four board members to the Midland College Foundation board, acting on a recommendatin for an honorary degree in law enforcement, annual evaluation of the president's contract, and appointing a board member to attend the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission general meeting. In personal matters, the board is scheduled to approve the resignations of former athletic director Chester Story and two other coaches who resigned under fire last week. They also are to approve the hiring of four coaches to fill the vacant positions.

nominated and elected vice president in the next four presidential elections," he said. For a moment, he seemed to backtrack on how she would become president.

Ford thinks the Republicans are more likely to put the first woman on a national ticket than the Democrats. 'We came reasonably close," he said. to nominating Anne Armstrong, ambassador to Britain, for vice president last year.

'How close? 'She was in the last three, four actively, honestly considered."

The outgoing President made these observations in a last interview Monday with The Associated Press in an Oval Office largely denuded of his personal things, his books and mementoes.

On a corner of his desk, which once belonged to John Kennedy, someone had placed several volumes of the papers of Woodrow Wilson and Alexander Hamilton. They aren't Ford's No one knew what they were doing there unless it was thought by someone deep in the White House bureaucracy that they might make light reading for the next president.

Three large vans were pulled up outside the White House. In the residence. Betty Ford was directing the disposition of packed boxes and crates. "That one to California," she was saying. "This to Michigan. This for storage.

In the Oval Office, the 38th President puffed serenely on his pipe. taking questions large and small.

After the inaugural Thursday, the Fords head for the Bing Crosby golf tournament at Pebble Beach and then on to Palm Springs where they will

"Mr. President, can you tell me about your feelings here these last few days? Do you find yourself looking out at the inaugural stands?"

"No, no. He said the pace of his work has 'slowed down." What remains are three or four things that will go up to Congress" or be his last executive orders. "The work is done on them

.So, instead of spending a lot of time planning future relations with the Congress or negotiations with foreign countries ... we are tying up tag ends.'

"What do you want out of life now, Mr. President?'

"I would like to be, in the short range, a constructive private citizen in relation to government policy, domestic and international." Additionally, he said, he expects to visit a "number of campuses, from one to five days a semester," talking to and answering the questions of students and faculty

He also plans "a book or two" about his presidency and life before that.

"As the inauguration comes only hours away, do you find that Mr. Carter's positions and yours are less distant than before the election?"

"I have refrained from being critical because he deserves, and the American people deserve, to get off on the best foot possible. Some of the statements of his appointees seem to getting closer and closer to positions we have taken. I (read) that Burt Lance (appointed director of the Office of Management and Budget) said the Carter budget will be the Ford budget with minor modifications.

"Back in 1974, when you were six weeks in the job. I asked you how you liked it. You said, 'I love it.' Did you, as it turned out, always love it?'

'Yes. It was a tremendous challenge. I really looked forward to coming to the office every day for 21/2 years ... As long as I thought I was contributing - and I did - it was stimulating.

"You never expected or wanted to be president. You became president and ran for your own election and lost. In that context, were you ever sorry you became president in the first

"Not at all ... It is the greatest experience a person can have... 'What I had in mind was that look of profound hurt you had the morning after you lost ... Was that look related to the fact that you go down in history as the only man to occupy this office without ever having been elected on a national ticket?

"No. I wouldn't say that ever really had an impact ... I wanted to be elected on my own. But the fact that I came in under the 25th Amendment didn't affect judgments, didn't affect plans and I wasn't thinking about it. What I was really thinking (of) was the shock to the family as a whole.

Here Gerald Ford was reminded that every president before him went into retirement with a sort of comfortable annuity, the reassurance that at one time or another the majority of his country had voted for him.

"I was very pleased with the 48-plus per cent, bearing in mind where we were in August ... We came as close going. Yes. I would say no more than
