FEA invokes powers to head off shortages

The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON - Invoking emergency powers unused since the 1973 Arab oil embargo, the Federal Energy Administration has taken steps to head off looming shortages of home heating oil in five Midwestern

At the same time, FEA has issued new regulations permitting diversion of propane from current industrial users to homes, hospitals and other high-priority users if necessary to compensate for shortages of natural

Both actions, approved by special White House energy adviser James Schlesinger, came in response to the fuels crisis facing much of the eastern two-thirds of the nation as a result of apnormally severe winter weather.

In an energy development not directly related to the winter fuel crisis, President Carter Monday ordered the FEA to withdraw a plan for ending federal price controls on gasoline - a plan put forward in the final hours of the Ford Administration but opposed by many congressional Democrats and consumer groups.

Withdrawal of the proposal, which otherwise would have gone into effect automatically on March 1 unless vetoed by at least one house of Congress, was not intended "to imply any position on the ultimate merits or demerits of gasoline decontrol," a

White House statement said Carter will review the decontrol issue, the White House statement said, noting that emergency actions taken now to deal with fuel shortages could affect gasoline supplies and prices next summer and thus could make continuation of federal price controls desirable.

"The Administration recognizes that there are significant problems with the existing control mechanism. but believes that a hastily considered action removing such controls might create far more serious problems, the statement said.

The Ford Administration had said that controls were distorting oil industry operations and that prices would not rise substantially as a result of decontrol.

While officials grappled with the complex federal rules changes they hoped would ease the fuel crisis, members of the Carter family and others in the new Administration got some not altogether pleasant tastes of what life is like with the thermostat set at 65 degrees when outside temperatures remain below freezing. Carter last Friday called on all homeowners to turn the heat down to 65 degrees during the day and lower at night to save fuel. Members of Carter's new Cabinet met in the White House Cabinet room Monday and an aide said afterward "I can assure you it could not have been more than 60 degrees in that room." One wall of the Cabinet Room consists of glass doors fronting on the Rose Garden, which now is wrapped in a blanket of snow and ice.

At the Cabinet meeting, according to a spokesman, Carter said there had been some initial reluctance among members of his family to accept the 65-degree thermostat setting, but by suppertime Sunday night "they said they liked it."

Now "we're wearing sweaters when we'd normally wear shirt sleeves," Carter was quoted as saying.

Carter urged members of the Cabinet to be sure thermostats were being dialed down in their offices here, as well as in federal buildings across the country. Spot checks at several agencies indicated the President's admonition was being heeded.

In its effort to avoid home heating oil shortages in several Midwestern states, the FEA was directing specified refiners in Michigan, Wisconsin, North Dakota, and Minnesota to shift from the production of kerosene-based jet aviation fuel to No. 1 heating oil, which is also a form of kerosene.

Nationwide, the extremely light No. 1 heating oil is used by only a tiny fraction of those heating with oil; most use the heavier, or thicker, No. 2 oil. In the Upper Midwest, however, No. 1 oil is used by fully 10 per cent of all those heating with oil, according to FEA officials - largely because the thinner oil, when used alone or blended with No. 2 oil, will keep flowing in-

Leaders want energy input

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate and House Democratic leaders told President Carter today they should have been brought into discussions on emergency natural gas legislation earlier.

After putting the price lid back on gasoline, Carter is considering taking the lid off natural gas prices in an effort to cope with a shortage that has closed schools and caused layoffs of as many as 500,000 workers.

Carter's top energy adviser, James R. Schlesinger, worked with congressional committee staffs on Monday to draw up possible emergency legislation aimed at easing the natural gas problems, which have been aggravated by this winter's Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D.-W.Va., said he and House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill urged Carter in the future to include the party leadership in legislative discussions at the same time as committee chairmen involved.

Byrd talked with newsmen after a Democratic leadership meeting at the White House with Carter at which Byrd said the current gas shortage and other matters were discussed.

He said the first he knew of administration efforts to develop emergency natural gas legislation was what he read in the newspapers and added that so far as he knew Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., chairman of a Senate Commerce subcommittee, was the only Congress member consulted.

Brown looking for cuts

Mondale, Schmidt confer

BONN, West Germany (AP) - Vice President Walter F. Mondale and West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt began private talks today about economic problems of the Western world and West Germany's controversial sale of nuclear equipment

Mondale drove the long block from his hotel in a 25-car motorcade escorted by 10 motorcycle policemen wearing leather suits. Two members of the federal border guard presented arms as Mondale arrived at the chancellery building and was greeted by Schmidt.

Schmidt at a news conference in London on Monday called for a "concentrated operation" by the United States, West Germany and Japan to stimulate international trade and economic growth.

Schmidt, who had been meeting with British Prime Minister James Callaghan, said a program of joint economic action should be worked out for consideration at the summit conference which President Carter will attend in May with the government chiefs of Britain, West Germany, France, Italy and Japan.

The chancellor, whose country has the strongest economy in Western Europe, said there is no lack of money; the problem is that "it isn't distributed benevolently" among the nations. He said such more prosperous countries as the United States, West Germany and Japan should act together to stimulate their economies so they would help other nations by buying more from them.

Mondale noted during a news conference Monday that the spread of nuclear material and technology would also be one of the topics he would discuss in Bonn. President Carter and his vice president share the Ford administration's opposition to the agreements West Germany and France have made with Brazil and Pakistan, respectively, to sell them reprocessing plants that could convert used nuclear fuel into plutonium usable in atomic bombs.

Both West Germany and France have refused to cancel the agreements with Brazil and Pakistan. Schmidt said last week his government would fullfil its "contractual obligations" with Brazil. But the West German government was reported looking for a way to get out of selling the reprocessing plant without jeopardizing the rest of the $4 billion

'Make the best of it' old Maggie's credo

"Call me Maggie," said the frail little ol' lady, who's living alone in her old age.

"You're doing right," she said, 'when you call old folks by their first name, according to the Bible.' Maggie, this naive and sincere woman from the bygone days of passive acceptance, reckons that she's now entering her second childhood. She's so honest and innocent about it all that you could weep out of pity. But you don't. Old age will claim us all, if time permits. Certainly, death

"Those little children call me Maggie," she said of a friend's toddlers, whom she's so very fond of. "It is sure cute.

and you can't beat it." They were light brown lounging shoes that looked more fitting for a boy than for poor and "leisurely" woman. She said so herself.

"It's been that my feet have been swelling on me," she said, "and I'm sure proud of these shoes."

Maggie doesn't do a whole lot these days. She lives on the near eastside of town and walks, sometimes painfully, to "the store" and wherever else she

$50 for every American?

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter administration hopes to provide a $50 the form of a $50 tax rebate for each exemption claimed by a taxpayer. There also would be a cash payment for persons receiving Social Security benefits and for low-income persons

The total payments this year would be about $11 billion, he said. Congress would first have to approve the program; which still isn't complete in briefing.

He also disclosed that President Carter has decided to propose additional help for business by providing an option between a 2 per cent increase in the investment tax credit to a total of 12 per cent - or a tax deduction equal to 4 per cent of employe Social Security taxes.

Lance said it isn't certain that every American will receive exactly a $50 rebate, but indicated that this is the goal for the moment. He also said it might be too costly from an ad-ministrative standpoint to try to provide a cash payment for all lowincome persons. 'We will try to reach all we can; unfortunately there may be some we can't reach," he said.

Carter earlier had disclosed he would ask Congress to propose bet-ween $7 billion and $11 billion in tax rebates to stimulate the economy this year. Lance said the rebates for taxpayers would be equal to about $50 per exemption. The rebates will extend to upper-income taxpayers, but he said it isn't certain that it would be $50 at all levels.

notified senior military officials of tentative plans to reduce their budgets by a total of about $2.8 billion.

President Carter said frequently during the campaign that $5 billion to $7 billion in waste could be cut from the Pentagon budget. At Armed Services Committee hearings on his nomination, Brown told the panel "it's not going to be easy" to cut the defense budget by that amount. Acting on the basis of studies and recommendations by President Carter's defense transition team, Brown proposed reductions in more than 30 programs, including slowdowns and stretchouts in some major nuclear weapons, programs, cutbacks in some aircraft and Navy shipbuilding plans, and a 10,000-man reduction in Army strength.

Commissioners seek additional courts in county

By JUDY JOHNSTON

The resolutions supporting the creation of another county district court and a county court-at-law were approved Monday by Midland County Commissioners to be sent to the state Legislature.

The state Legislature would have to create both courts, County Judge Barbara Culver said, but the county would fund the county court-at-law. A bill calling for the creation of 24 new district courts, including one in Midland, was introduced Monday in the Texas Senate.

The new district court judgeship would be funded by the state and the court would have the same jurisdiction as the present one, she said. The jurisdiction of the county court-at-law also would be similar to the present county court, except that the dollar amount of civil matters considered could be more than the current $1,000 limit, she said.

Representatives of the Midland County Bar and Junior Bar Association requested the commissioners to make the resolutions. citing large increases in activity in both courts over the past couple of

At the request of Commissioner Charlie Welch, the court also included a resolution that the bill creating the Midland Domestic Relations Court be amended to allow the county to cease providing funds for it if the need for it decreases after the addition of the new district court.

The Domestic Relations Court was created to relieve some of the work load of the 142nd District Court, Judge Culver said, but the Legislature would not make the position a state judgeship, so the county pays the Domestic Relations Court judge's

Judge Culver and Judge Perry Pickett both said Monday that they approve of the resolutions and the creation of the additional courts

Joe Dominey, Midland County Bicentennial Commission chairman, presented county librarian Frances Williams a check for $6,000 during the commission meeting.

The amount was a large part of the funds remaining in the Bicentennial Commission's treasury when it was disbanded after the Bicentennial year, Dominey explained.

The donation will be used mainly for audio-visual materials at the library, Mrs. Williams said.

The commissioners also approved the enactment of a contract with the City of Midland for emergency ambulance service outside the city

For the first year of service, from June 1, 1976, to June 1, 1977, the county agreed to pay the city $10,000.

The city acquired the three ambulances for about $30,000, Judge Culver said. Because the city did not know how to charge for the services this first year, the county and city settled on a figure of $10,000 until information on which to base fees is documented, Judge Culver said.

U.S. won't halt all atomic tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite his expressed desire to ban nuclear weapons from the earth, President Carter will not unilaterally halt U.S. underground atomic tests, White House sources say

In a weekend interview, the President said he wants an end to all nuclear testing, "instantly and completely." as a first step toward banning all nuclear arms.

Cocaine bust said biggest

HOUSTON (AP) — Two men were in custody today and authorities said they were seeking others in what they claim is one of the nation's largest cocaine seizures

A Harris County grand jury indicted Leandro Perez, 26, Monday on charges of possession of 83 pounds of cocaine estimated to be worth $12

Investigators said Perez told them he was a Colombian citizen. Bond was set at $24 million, twice the alleged price of the amount seized.

The cocaine was seized Sunday and two men arrested. The haul was made when traffic officers arrested a man for speeding and found two damp burlap bags on the back seat. The second man was arrested, authorities said, after officers found a slip of paper in the automobile with the name of a downtown motel and a room number.

A Houston police spokesman said a grand jury is expected to consider the case of the second man being held. He said establishment of true identities delayed the formal filing of charges. We feel there are more people involved," he said. The drug haul was being called the second largest cocaine seizure in the United States. Police said the largest was a 100-pound seizure from a ship in Tampa, Fla., last June Carter said he meant the ban to extend even to underground testing. Current U.S. treaties with the Soviets allow underground tests with a limit on the size of explosions.

That prompted queries from Nevada where the United States conducts underground nuclear tests and where a sizeable work force is dependent on the continuation of such

Then White House officials said Carter will not order any unilateral halt to U.S. atomic tests.

The sources said Monday the President is expected to act to stop U.S. nuclear tests only on the basis of an international agreement, noting that Carter said in the interview: "I would like to proceed quickly and aggressively with a comprehensive test ban treaty.

In the interview, Carter said he did not know whether the Soviet Union would agree to a complete test ban, but added, "they have sent an encouraging message back.'

But White House sources said Monday the Soviet leadership has sent no private message to Carter on the subject. They said Carter was referring to recent statements by Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, which have been interpreted here as favoring a broader ban on nuclear

The President also expressed optimism that a new Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty (SALT) can be reached with the Soviets. The talks have been deadlocked over the issue of how to deal with the U.S. cruise missile and the Soviet backfire bomber in a new pact.

In the weekend interview, Carter said of the two weapons: "I can't answer specific questions on cruise missiles or backfire, but I would not let those two items stand in the way of some agreement.

But White House officials said Monday that Carter will insist that any new SALT treaty with the Soviet Union cover both weapons

Srere, 17, has headed students at the school since last May. He said he won the job on a "radical platform," vowing to present all students' ideas to the faculty. A "1950s Day" was one such idea put forward by Srere but voted down by the educators.

Undaunted, Srere and a handful of followers decided to have their own '50s Day last Dec. 17. Srere strolled around hallways in a leather jacket, white socks, jeans and a T-shirt. He said he even forsook his "dry look" to slick his hair back with a fistful of the greasy kid stuff.

The administration saw the action as an outright challenge of their policies and handed out one-day suspensions for five students, including Srere.

The matter came to a head when the student council's executive committee voted to conduct impeachment proceedings, charging the president with plans no abrupt shifts in American foreign policy.

Foreign policy holds

His meeting recently with House and Senate leaders - those whom Sen. Hubert Humphrey called "the movers and shakers" of congressional foreign policy — was convivial. Mr. Carter appeared almost deferential toward a Congress overwhelmingly of his own party. and this is not a bad beginning for relations with an increasingly aggressive branch grown accustomed to fighting "the imperial presidency.

The President's plea that Democrats and Republicans put partisan differences aside and "work together to alleviate the threat to peace" is a happy omen. Politics which do not stop at the water's edge can work great mischief, as did the Senate's illadvised foray into foreign affairs

Mr. Carter told the congressional leaders that high among his foreign policy goals are aid to less-favored nations and "insistence on basic human rights" for all people. Those, of course, have with varying degrees of success been the stated aims of U.S. diplomacy — and military action — since Woodrow Wilson promulgated his 14 points 59 years ago.

Barring some catastrophic development, then, the Carter foreign policy, at least in its opening stages, is likely to differ from that of his predecessors more in style than substance. In truth, the outgoing and incoming helmsmen of U.S. diplomacy -Henry Kissinger and his successor as secretary of State. Cyrus Vance - both spoke of past and future global affairs in terms which would be equally appropriate if their roles had been

Mr. Vance said his priorities for the new administration were. first, peace, followed by openness, then by strengthened cooperation among U.S. allies. He admitted mistakes in Vietnam. He spoke of

It appears now that Mr. Carter further detente with the Soviet Union, but only after better definition of what detente means to both nations.

> Henry Kissinger could subscribe comfortably to the Vance priorities, though he might be challenged on the candor count by some. For his part, Mr. Kissinger reflected on the damage done worldwide by the domestic tragedy of Watergate, the need to maintain military superiority, the improved climate for peace in the Mideast - exactly as Mr. Vance might have done if things had been the other way around.

> The two men are far from interchangeable. Yet Mr. Kissinger in his valedictory foreshadowed Mr. Carter's plea to Congress, saying of nuclear arms control: "It is too important for partisan and doctrinaire political debate." To that also Mr. Carter, and Mr. Vance as well, would agree.

> So there is basic concurrence on the course the ship of state must hold to, at least in the foreseeable future. The practical importance of that continuity lies in the fact that the ship, for all the emphasis on arms, is more and more a cargo vessel than it is a dreadnought.

> As a recent Senate staff report noted exports of U.S. goods and services abroad now account for 10 per cent of our gross national product. If those exports don't maintain their pace, Mr. Carter's hopes for the economy are in

The point is not extraneous. Peace is good business, and the prosperity of the average American is inextricably involved with that of people overseas. Partisan dispute over details and degree aside, that has been the thrust and purpose of U.S. policy. and a good guide.

Mr. Carter's attitude toward Congress and its receptiveness to him are pivotal to that purpose, as is a foreign policy on which there is a broad, non-partisan consensus. The new administration has appealed for that consensus.

BLACK-EYED PEAS AND GRITS WITH BARBEQUE SAUGE IS TOO MUCH

WASHINGTON - Everyone in Washington is still talking about President and Mrs. Carter's walk from the Capitol to the White House, and Carter watchers are still asking, 'Why did he do it?" The obvious answer is, "Because it was there." The President made the walk in 35 minutes and 10 seconds — a new world record for a head of state. He would have probably even broken that if Amy hadn't had to stop and tie her bootlaces along the way.

Walking with Carter

ART BUCHWALD

This, incidentally, was not the first attempt by anyone to walk from the Capitol to the White House. In 1957 Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gerard of Tampa. Fla., started out from the door of the Senate building and were making excellent time until they were mugged at 7th Street and Pennsylvania Avenue.

In 1961 Ezra Beatleman of Racine. Wis. decided to see if he could make it. Following almost exactly the route the Carters took along Pennsylvania Avenue in the middle of the street. Beatleman was almost halfway there until he was hit by a Washington Express Bus and thrown through a window of the Post Office Building. He spent three months at George Washington Hospital and upon his release was given 30 days in jail for jaywalking.

This discouraged people for a little while from walking along Pennsylvania Avenue until 1967 when four Vietnam protesters decided to try it. They were making good time until

In 1970 Gerald Timmons of Chevy Chase, Md., had a few drinks, and when he couldn't find a taxi he decided to walk the famous route taken by the Carters. Unfortunately, he chose to do it during rush hour and it took an hour to get across 14th Street and Pennsylvania. This discouraged him, and though he was within a few blocks of his goal, he said the hell with it, and stopped into Bassin's Bar where he spent the rest of the evening.

Five Cubans hired by the Committee to Re-elect the President were the next people to try the walk. They made it to the White House without incident where they received orders to continue walking on to the Watergate headquarters of the Democratic Party where they were captured.

Had they not stopped at the White House to rest, their walk would have never been traced to President Nixon's staff and Nixon might have been the man last Thursday to turn over the keys of 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. to the Carters.

The most interesting attempt to walk from the Capitol was made by Congressman Wilbur Mills and his party who decided to do it in October, 1974. Mills got off to a good start, but he took a wrong turn at 8th Street and wound up at the Tidal Basin instead. Since it was 2 o'clock in the morning and a dark night he mistakenly thought he was at the White House. He suggested to one of his party that she take a swim in the White House swimming pool. Much to his chagrin he discovered they weren't at the White House, and everyone knows what this simple mistake cost the Arkansas congressman.

When President Carter decided to take the walk, his aides and the Secret Service tried to talk him out of it. But he was adamant and told them, "I have to show the country I can walk and chew gum at the same time.

Signs of worldwide depression

By JACK ANDERSON and LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON - Ex-Treasury Secretary William Simon has left his uccessors with a sober warning about the danger of a worldwide depression

In private briefings, he reported that the current economic pickup may be a false boom, that the financial stability of the Western world is "shaky" and that an economic setback could precipitate a depression within four years. As evidence, he delivered to the new administration a set of grim documents which predict declining economic growth and continuing inflation in most industrial countries The papers are stamped "Confidential" to permit a frank analysis of economic conditions in other nations. The documents, prepared by Treasury Department experts, raise a number of red flags.

FIRST RED FLAG: Several countries have borrowed so heavily to finance their deficits that they have reached their limit. They can no longer go to the private financial institutions, which have been the source of more than 75 per cent of these loans. Yet there is "no realistic prospect" of replacing the private that of 1974, the first year of high oil prices." Even a modest oil increase of 7 or 8 per cent, the document predicts, will send the deficit of the Western industrial countries plunging another $52 billion

This could be a greater debt than the industrial countries can absorb without a financial breakdown, the analysis suggests

SECOND RED FLAG: Despite the lagging economic growth, many countries are unwilling or unable "to resist political pressures" for continuing the rapid improvements in

These countries have relied heavily on external financing "to maintain and increase consumption levels." The documents suggest forcefully that nations cannot go on borrowing to Packwood naturally brought up the right of poor and minority women to have the same rights over their bodies as their more affluent and bourgeois sisters. Javits, with new health programs in mind, pointedly advised Califano, "It's going to be a very hard road for you because of the depths of your feelings.

Califano is dead set against use of federal funds for abortions under Medicaid or under any national health scheme. His opposition is based on his own moral convictions growing out of his Roman Catholic faith.

But even without that personal conviction, Califano, as HEW secretary, would have to follow the stated view of President Carter that federal funding of abortion is wrong. Both the President and Califano are opposed to a constitutional amendment prohibiting abortion, and thus they are not in tune with the consensus thinking of the Right-to-Life peo-

Califano could have taken the line that many other Roman Catholics in public life take on abortion, namely: I am opposed to it, but I will follow the law of the land. Or he could have just stated that, as HEW secretary, he would enforce the law. He will enforce the law, of course, but he went beyond that and declared his opposition to federal funding in specific terms.

Sen. Edward Kennedy, Robert Drinan, the congressman-priest, and many other Catholics in public life usually take the cop-out route on abortion. They sometimes sound as though they are ashamed they are Catholics, and that seems odd in Drinan's case, especially when his Roman collar is so prominent Meanwhile, between 250,000 and 300,000 abortions are performed annually under the Medicaid program, administered by HEW. A major effort to stop that funding succeeded last year, when the Hyde amendment was passed, prohibiting all aboritons under Medicaid.

But a federal judge ruled that the Hyde amendment was unconstitutional, thus causing the antiabortion people in Congress and elsewhere to seek relief in the U.S. Supreme Court. So the federally funded abortions continue, until the Hyde question is settled.

The opposing factions are locked in

Madrid police question extremists, seek killers

questioned right-wing extremists today as they hunted for a pair of gunmen who killed four persons in a machine-gun attack on a leftist labor lawyer's office Monday night.

The raid capped a day of violence in Madrid during which leftists kidnaped a three-star general and a young woman was killed in a clash between police and demonstrating

Some 30,000 workers at the Barcelona SEAT plant, Spain's largest automaker, went on strike today to protest the attack on the lawyer's office. Leftists in Madrid called for a general strike on Wednesday.

Police said two men carrying machine guns opened fire after being admitted to attorney Francisco Javier Sauguillo's office. Lawyers who handle cases for the outlawed Communist-led trade unions were holding a late-night meeting there.

The attackers cut the telephone lines and fled, leaving three dead and has ordered fines totaling $225,000

"It was horrible. The office has been turned into a puddle of blood," an associate of the lawyers said.

There was speculation that the attack was the work of the Guerrillas of Christ the King, a strongarm organization of ultra-rightist supporters of the late Generalissimo

Francisco Franco. The Guerrillas were also suspected of the fatal shooting of a 19-year-old student, Arturo Ruiz Garcia, during demonstrations Sunday demanding amnesty for all political prisoners. A police announcement Monday said a 49-year-old extreme rightist who

Students demonstrated Monday on the Madrid University campus and on the Gran Via, Madrid's Broadway, to protest the killing of the youth. The police battled them with tear gas grenades, rubber bullets and truncheons, and the civil governor's office said 20-year-old Maria Luz Najera was killed when a smoke grenade hit her in the head. Ten persons were reported injured. The university suspended all activities today in mourning for Miss Luz Najera.

Nugent calls TSTA chief con man

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)-The House has heard its first round of namecalling this session. Rep. Jim Nugent. D-Kerrville, pinned the label, "con man" on the executive director of the Texas State Teachers Association.

Nugent also stirred things up by telling reporters the teacher retirement system is actuarially unsound.

System administrator Leonard Prewitt said the Kerrville legislator was "in error" and the system is in excellent shape, earning 6.42 per cent a year on $2 billion in assets and is capable of meeting all its obligations.

Rep. Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, got things going Monday by asking if Nugent would explain his release indicating the system had a $13 million deficit at the close of the 1975 fiscal

"It is my intention to clarify for the House the statement that the con man Callie Smith of the TSTA gave me last session," Nugent said.

He told reporters that during debate on a teacher retirement bill last session he relied on statements by Smith in telling the House the system was actuarially sound.

"And now I find that is not true." Nugent said.

Smith said, "I always try to give the straight facts. . . I really don't know what he was talking about." Smith said the TSTA uses only information from the actuarial firm that advises the system

Nugent claimed, "It is reasonable to state there is not enough money in the retirement system at the present time to fund the existing earned retirement benefits of the teachers of

University sale of leases slated in city April 7

The first public auction sale of oil and gas leases by the Board for Lease of University Lands ever held outside of Austin will be held in Midland April 7.

James B. Zimmerman, geologist in charge of the University Lands office in Midland, said a record number of requests for leases to be sold were received for this sale.

"We didn't end up with a record number of tracts or acreage which will be offered, but we came close," Zimmerman said

The sale will include 451 tracts, totaling 147,000

University sales are big business, Zimmerman pointed out. Since 1936. The University of Texas lands has amassed more than $253 million in lease bonus monies from 65 public auction sales. As much as $16 million have been collected in one day, and individual tracts have sold for as much as $4 million.

"University Lands is one of the few agencies which uses the public auction method wherein a professional auctioneer cries the bids," Zimmerman

The sale here will be held in the Midland Hilton. Zimmerman said that until the law was changed in the last session of the state legislature all sales had to be held in Austin.

"At the urging of members of the Midland Chamber of Commerce under the leadership of former president Ken Jastrow and other interested persons, Sen. Pete Snelson and Rep. Tom Craddick introduced and pushed to a successful conclusion legislation allowing the sales to be held in the Tall City." Zimmerman said

The board for lease is composed of two members of the board of regents and the state land commissioner. Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong is chairman of the board for lease, while Dan C. Williams of Dallas is vice chairman and also vice chairman of the board of regents. Dr. Joe T. Nelson of Weatherford is a member of both boards.

"All board members are highly pleased about having this special sale in Midland," Zimmerman said. "Midland is the logical site for the sales because more than 80 per cent of the lease bonus money is spent by Midlanders, either as individuals or representatives of oil and gas companies."

"And, since 1937, University Lands has maintained its one and only land office in Midland - in the heart of its 2,100,000 acres of land," he added

The Midland headquarters are in the Hal P. Bybee Building, 808 W. Wall St., which was built by The University of Texas in 1968.

The 2,100,000 acres of University land is located in 19 West Texas counties, stretching from Schleicher County on the east to El Paso County to the west.

'More than $500 million worth of minerals are produced from the lands each year," Zimmerman pointed out. "The oil production from the lands daily is more than 90,000 barrels.

Zimmerman said the lands contain more than 5,000 oil and gas wells and 281 oil and gas fields.

Basin, the Big Lake field in Reagan County, was on University Lands in 1923.

Zimmerman said that since 1923, more than 1.2 billion barrels of oil have been produced by the school lands and $850 million in bonus monies and royalties have been accumulated in the University Permanent Fund. The earnings from the Permanent Fund are allocated to Texas A&M University and to The University of Texas.

What are University Lands and where did they come from?

Zimmerman compiled a short history of the lands which answers those questions.

'When the first attempt to establish and endow an institution of higher learning was made in 1839 by the 3rd Congress of the Republic of Texas, 50 leagues (approximately 222,000 acres) were appropriated from the Public Domain for the establishment and endowment of two universities. The 50 leagues were later sold, but 4.057 acres of the minerals are still owned by the University System by reasons of for-

The state constitution, as rewritten in 1876 provided for early establishment of The University of Texas with 'one million acres of the then available Public Domain.' The commissioner of the General Land Office reported in 1883 that approximately 2 million acres of land had been returned to the state by the railroads which considered them too worthless to survey.

"The 1883 legislature divided that acreage equally between University lands and the Free Public School Fund, thus resulting in a total land grant to The University of Texas of more than 2 million acres.

"In 1929, the legislature ordered the formation of the Board for Lease of University Lands. That board, consisting of two members of the Board of Regents and the land commissioner, was given complete authority over oil and gas leasing and development.

"In 1949, the 51st Legislature placed exclusive management and control of all other minerals under the Board of Regents of The University of Texas System "Prior to that, the Board of Regents were granted control over the land surface by the legislature in 1895, and grazing lease provisions were adopted. The lands were leased through a land agent who reported directly to the board. The land agent was headquarted at Texon in the heart of the Big Lake field until 1963, when that office was moved to

NEW YORK (AP) - The following list

Must detect glaucoma early

Dear Dr. Solomon: I have been hearing a lot about glaucoma these days. How would I know if I had this disease? I do have a dull pain in my eyes from time to time. Is this anything? I'm 47.—Norman D.

Dear Norman: Glaucoma is caused by too much pressure in the liquid inside the eyeball. This gradually destroys nerve cells in the retina. Unfortunately, it's a sneak-thief kind of disease, as there are usually no symptoms in the early stages. Later on, the victim may notice colored rings around lights and have blurred vision, poor adaption to the dark, and loss of side vision. It is terribly important to find out about glaucoma early, as the lost eyesight can never be restored. But further damage can, at any rate, be prevented in Special eye drops are used to reduce the pressure and keep it under control. And there is a recent report from the Medical College of Georgia, in

Augusta, that marijuana may provide an effective ingredient for drops. Sometimes, however, surgery is necessary in order to relieve pressure. We should all have our eyes checked regularly for glaucoma. This is done with a very simple test in which a small instrument called a tonometer measures the tension of the eyeball. An eye doctor will do this test as a matter of course when he examines your eyes. And at your age. I'd have my eyes examined once a year if I were you-or even more often if the doctor tells you to. Glaucoma checks are often given in community screening programs. And some general practitioners include them in regular physical examinations. In any event, do look after your eyes. It's the only pair you will ever have Dear Dr. Solomon: I have heard that people who are color blind are more likely to have high blood pressure. Is this true? I'm concerned because our son, who is 12, happens to be color blind.—Elizabeth

Dear Elizabeth: Surveys have shown that hypertension is somewhat nore frequent anong people who are color blind than among those with normal vision. But I don't think this is anything you have to worry about. There is not a very big Statistical difference. Just make sure your son's blood pressure is checked periodically, at least once a year, as it should be, anyway.

WASHINGTON OIL

Energy-related problems await action by nation's new leader

By CLYDE LA MOTTE Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Several energy-related problems requiring immediate attention were awaiting Jimmy Carter when he was sworn in as President Thursday.

One was what to do about the natural gas supply situation created by record-low temperatures in many parts of the nation in recent days.

Another was what to do about the proposal to deregulate the price of gasoline. That proposal was sent to Congress only 24 hours before the Ford Administration left office. Realistically, the current gas supply situation hinges more on the weather than on any possible action by the new President. An end to the cold spell that gripped much of the country would naturally ease the immediate supply crunch; colder weather would worsen it.

Even so, eyes turned to Washington and toward the new President for some action to provide relief for areas where industrial plants and schools were being turned down and where homeowners were being urged to turn back the thermostate. The Carter people were aware of the problem and even before the inaugural they were conferring with congressional leaders and others regarding some plan of action, such as quick passage of legislation aimed at encouraging more short-term, emergency sales of gas to interstate pipeline companies, and authorization for the Federal Power Commission to direct pipeline companies with gas supplies to share with those with critical problems.

The situation also focused some attention on what steps should be taken to increase domestic natural gas supplies so that in the winters ahead the nation would be better able to cope with high demand conditions caused by severe weather.

President Carter said during the campaign that he favors deregulation of new natural gas sales, but it remains to be seen what specific proposals he will send to Capitol Hill and how much emphasis they will get.

Deregulation bills are already pouring into the hopper. Rep. Robert Krueger, D-Tex., who led the fight for a decontrol bill last year only to lose by a vote of 205 to 201, called a press conference last week to plug for the bill he has already proposed this year.

It would deregulate sales of onshore gas but would continue regulation of offshore prices for five years.

To meet emergency situations, such as the current one caused by the weather. Krueger proposed authorization of 180-day purchases of gas by interstate transmission companies at uncontrolled prices

Lo-Vaca lawyer says case should end now

been so cold in 100 years, a negotiator noted Monday in urging acceptance of a settlement of $1.6 billion in lawsuits against the major South Texas suppliers of natural gas to heat homes

"It is my firm conviction that if a final resolution of the 'Lo-Vaca Problem' is ever to be achieved short of years in the courts and bankruptcy. it must be achieved now," Houston lawyer Stan McLelland told the railroad commission

He reported on negotiations to resolve numerous breach of contract lawsuits by customers against Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. and its parent, Coastal States Gas Corp.

To those who might wait for a "better deal," said McLelland, representing United Texas Transmission Co., a customer of Lo-Vaca. "it is the consensus . . . that we have gotten as much as can reasonably be had in a settlement

McLelland said United Texas and other customers who received more than 60 per cent of Lo-Vaca's gas deliveries last year had signed a memorandum agreeing to the proposed out-of-court settlement. These customers, he said, include Coastal, San Antonio, Lone Star Gas Co., Southern Union Gas Co., Brownsville, Corpus Christi, Robstown, Del Rio, Central Power & Light, and Entex.

Austin lawyer Clint Small Jr. representing the Lower Colorado River Authortity, said, however, it appeared the plan would result in 'some sort of windfall' for Lo-Vaca stockholders and "possibly insiders."

He noted that Coastal stock was selling for $9 a share in November and had risen to $16 a share this month, and this period coincided with the 'serious' discussions over a negotiated settlement

Also, Small said, LCRA's more than 50 wholesale customers felt the plan would bring on an immediate increase in gas rates and this "sticks in

Austin, too, has not yet agreed to accept the plan.

Major provisions of the proposal include the formation of a new company that would include Lo-Vaca and Coastal States Gas Producing Co. The new company would be independent of Coastal States Gas Corp.

Robert E. Lee's Rebels, shooting for at least a tie for the first half basketball title in District 5-4A, renew their big Tall City series with the Midland High Bulldogs tonight.

Lee, with a 5-1 league record and sharing first place with Odessa Permian and Abilene Cooper, hopes to nail down victory No. 6 tonight against the pesky Purple Pack which has improved greatly in recent games. Tipoff is set for 8 p.m. in the

MHS Gymnasium. THE REBELS hold a narrow 16-15 edge over the Pack in the overall series and will be after their 23rd triumph of the season compared to only five losses. A Rebel win will assure them of at least a share of the first half crown. Should Permian and Cooper both lose and Lee win, then Coach Paul Stueckler's outfit would win the first half outright, but that isn't very likely since Permian faces Odessa High, which is 0-6 on loop play. Cooper, however, may have its bands full in the Taylor County Coliseum against cross-town rival Abilene

MIDLAND HIGH almost polished off Cooper in Abilene last Friday, losing 47-45 in the final 12 seconds and the Pack, under new Coach Don Humphrey, has a 3-3 league reading and could be a stumbling block for the Last year. Lee won both games between the two city rivals, winning 76-62 in the Lee Gymnasium with the departed Junior Miller ripping the cords for 37 points. Billy Ray Ennis, this year's top Lee scorer, added 13 more in that game that evened the Tall City series at 15-15.

The Rebels had a tough time for three period in the second meeting in the MHS Gym, finally winning, 52-39 with Miller scoring 14.

Craig Dunn, Midland's leading point maker this season, had 16 points in the first meeting last year.

LEE WENT on to win the second half of the title last year and then lost to Abilene, 50-46, in overtime, in the playoff game in San Angelo. Abilene took it on the chin. 78-72 in a double overtime loss to Wichita Falls High in the Class AAAA bi-district playoff game in Irving.

IN OTHER 5-4A action tonight, Big Spring and San Angelo square off in Big Spring to wind up the first half of the evenly-balanced race

Starting tonight for the Bulldogs will be Dunn along with Brently Jackson, a 5-11 junior; John Magness, 6-0 senior; Walter Bryson, 5-10 junior and either James Hicks, a 6-3 senior or Terry Rogers, 6-1 senior. Kiffy Hickey, a 6-1 junior, will also see duty along with Steve Brittain and Michael

Joining Ennis in the Rebel starting lineup will be Roy Lee Smith, 6-1 senior; Mike Denny, 6-5 senior; Bobby Alexander, 6-1 senior and Mike

Brad Wright, a 6-3 senior along with David Pitts, 5-11 senior; Brett Smith, 6-3 senior and 6-5 Dick Lynch, are also

Owl coach to retire this year

HOUSTON (AP) - Rice basketball Coach Bob Polk didn't rebuild the school's program as he did at Vanderbilt, Trinity and St. Louis, but he says he's at least established a solid base for his successor.

Polk, 61, announced his retirement from active coaching Monday, effective at the end of Rice's fiscal year June 30 Polk became the second Southwest Conference basketball coach to resign in two weeks. Baylor's Carroll Dawson stepped down last

"This program will be very representative in the next year or two with the nucleus of this very young but highly competitive team," Polk said. "Obviously, I am disappointed with our won-loss record but we had a major rebuilding program to do here. and I firmly believe we had established a solid base.'

The Owls, who won only three games all last season, won their first six games this season against a small college schedule but then reeled off nine straight losses.

The Owls ended the streak Saturday by defeated Texas Christian 69-66 in Fort Worth, marking the first road victory for the Owls since Polk became coach.

Carl Haas were honored for winning the national Formula 5,000 Series title. The Hall-Haas car won the championship with 132 points and driver Brian Redman also won top honors with the same total. Bobby Hillin's Longhorn Racers,

PHILADELPHIA (AP)

— Ilie Nastase, the temperamental Romanian, has advanced to the second round of the $200,000 U.S. Pro Indoor Tennis Championships, but to hear him talk, it was a miracle he made it.

"I need more practice." Nastase said Monday night after beating Italy's Corrado Barazzutti 4-6, 6-0, 6-3. "I need more rest than money. I am tired and my nerves are gone. Nastase complained about not having enough time to familiarize himself with the court and not having enough time to practice.

"Last week at Birmingham, they were using a heavier ball and the court was different,' he said. "Tennis is the only sport where you have to play every day of the year.

The top two seeds, Jimmy Connors and Sweden's Bjorn Borg, the winner and runner-up last year, drew firstround byes. Connors plays England's Buster Mottram tonight and Borg faces Ray Moore of South Africa Wednesday.

Barazzutti played smartly in winning the first set after trailing 2-4. Nastase, hitting with power and scoring service aces, made a comeback and took nine straight games and led 3-0 in the third set.

Again Barazzutti displayed effective play in the forecourt, tying the set 3-3. But Nastase won the next three games, scoring on the third match point when Barazzutti put a running backhand return into the net. The match lasted 1 hour, 15 minutes.

Earlier action, sixthseeded Harold Solomon of Silver Spring, Md., advanced with a 6-4, 6-4 victory over Jim Delaney of Potomac, Md.

Seventh-seeded Eddie Dibbs of Miami eliminated Australia's Rod Laver 4-6, 6-0, 6-1. Laver had won this title four times. Dibbs won nine straight games after losing the first set.

"You get a little nervous out there in the beginning." said Dibbs. "I used to be a ball boy for him. It was the first win for me over Laver."

Teen gal nabs win in upset

Minn. (AP) - A California teen-ager upset South Africa's No. 1 player Monday, highlighting the first tour stop of the Women's Professional Tennis tournament in Minnesota. Tracy Austin, 14, of Rolling Hills, Calif., celebrated her tournament debut with a 7-5, 6-3 victory over South African Greer Stevens.

Miss Austin, who won several United States girls' tourneys last year, lost her first game but rallied against the more experienced 20-year-old Miss Stevens.

About 2,000 fans watched the eight first-round singles matches, which included two by seeded players.

Sixth-seeded Kerry Melville Reid of Australia topped American Janet Newberry 6-3, 7-6, and seventh-seeded Olga Morozova of the Soviet Union beat Marise Kruger of South Africa 7-

The latter match provided some uneasiness beforehand because tournament officials were curious to see if the Russian woulld play Miss Kruger because of the aparthied policy in South Africa. Many Eastern bloc nations have boycotted matches against South African teams or players.

Four other matches went the maximum three sets. Russia's Natasha Chmyreva overcame Stacy Margolin, an 18year-old left-hander from Beverley Hills, Calif. 4-6, 6-4, 7-6, winning the thirdset tie-breaker 5-4 when Miss Margolin slipped while running for a

"Why are we 14-1?" asked Michigan basketball Coach Johnny

'Darned good coaching," replied Michigan basketball Coach Johnny

Orr's latest effort was a 92-81 Big Ten Conference victory over Ohio State Monday night— at Columbus,

With 2:14 to go in the second half, Orr found his second-ranked Wolverines trailing 81-80. The natives were howling for an upset by the Buckeyes, so it was time for some of that good coaching.

'We showed real poise when the crowd went wild," Orr said. "We brought it right back to them.

Michigan brought it back, thanks to their three-guard offense of Steve Grote, Ricky Green and Dave Baxter.

"Our three-guard offense gave us good defense," said Orr, in an understatment The Wolverines held Ohio State scoreless from that point on while hitting 12 poins themselves-six by Baxter and five by center Phil Hubbard- clinching their seventh straight Big Ten victory. Hubbard finished with 17 points and Baxter, a reserve, had 16

Elsewhere among the Top Ten, No 3 Alabama squeaked past Georgia 78-74 in overtime, No. 6 Kentucky trounced Mississippi 100-73, and No. 7 Tennessee beat Mississippi State 68-59, all in Southeastern Conference

FEA invokes powers to head off shortages

WASHINGTON - Invoking emergency powers unused since the 1973 Arab oil embargo, the Federal Energy Administration has taken steps to head off looming shortages of home heating oil in five Midwestern

At the same time, FEA has issued new regulations permitting diversion of propane from current industrial users to homes, hospitals and other high-priority users if necessary to compensate for shortages of natural

Both actions, approved by special White House energy adviser James Schlesinger, came in response to the fuels crisis facing much of the eastern two-thirds of the nation as a result of abnormally severe winter weather.

In an energy development not directly related to the winter fuel crisis, President Carter Monday ordered the FEA to withdraw a plan for ending federal price controls on gasoline - a plan put forward in the final hours of the Ford Administration but opposed by many congressional Democrats and consumer groups.

Withdrawal of the proposal, which otherwise would have gone into effect automatically on March 1 unless vetoed by at least one house of Congress, was not intended "to imply any position on the ultimate merits or demerits of gasoline decontrol," a

White House statement said. Carter will review the decontrol issue, the White House statement said, noting that emergency actions taken now to deal with fuel shortages could affect gasoline supplies and prices next summer and thus could make continuation of federal price controls desirable.

"The Administration recognizes that there are significant problems with the existing control mechanism, but believes that a hastily considered action removing such controls might create far more serious problems,' the statement said.

The Ford Administration had said that controls were distorting oil industry operations and that prices would not rise substantially as a result of decontrol.

While officials grappled with the complex federal rules changes they hoped would ease the fuel crisis. members of the Carter family and others in the new Administration got some not altogether pleasant tastes of what life is like with the thermostat set at 65 degrees when outside temperatures remain below freezing.

Carter last Friday called on all homeowners to turn the heat down to 65 degrees during the day and lower at night to save fuel.

Members of Carter's new Cabinet met in the White House Cabinet room Monday and an aide said afterward "I can assure you it could not have been more than 60 degrees in that room.' One wall of the Cabinet Room consists of glass doors fronting on the Rose Garden, which now is wrapped in a blanket of snow and ice.

At the Cabinet meeting, according to a spokesman, Carter said there had been some initial reluctance among members of his family to accept the 65-degree thermostat setting, but by suppertime Sunday night "they said they liked it.

Now "we're wearing sweaters when we'd normally wear shirt sleeves,' Carter was quoted as saying.

Carter urged members of the Cabinet to be sure thermostats were being dialed down in their offices here, as well as in federal buildings across the country. Spot checks at several agencies indicated the President's admonition was being heeded. In its effort to avoid home heating oil shortages in several Midwestern states, the FEA was directing specified refiners in Michigan, Wisconsin, North Dakota, and Minnesota to shift from the production of kerosene-based jet aviation fuel to No. 1 heating oil, which is also a form of kerosene

Nationwide, the extremely light No. 1 heating oil is used by only a tiny fraction of those heating with oil; most use the heavier, or thicker, No. 2 oil. In the Upper Midwest, however, No. 1 oil is used by fully 10 per cent of all those heating with oil, according to FEA officials - largely because the thinner oil, when used alone or blended with No. 2 oil, will keep flowing instead of congealing in cold weather.

No. 1 oil is especially important in rural areas and small towns, where many people have outside aboveground fuel tanks that are affected by

"Shortages have been developing and threatening to cause severe hardships" in parts of the five states. Gorman Smith, acting head of FEA, said Monday. "In the absence of some special action, we could expect to have serious local shortages in some communities by early next week," he

Worldwide, oil and petroleum products are plentiful, but sustained periods of exceptionally cold weather have disrupted parts of the U.S. distribution system and it is these disruptions, coupled with unusually heavy demand for fuel during the cold weather, which have brought on the

For the five states faced with No. 1 heating oil shortages, the delivery problem centers on abnormal ice conditions on the Ohio River, Lake Michigan, and the Mississippi River above St. Louis, Smith said, Normally, fuel moves over these waterways to the five states on barges.

By shifting refinery operations inside the affected states from jet fuel to heating oil, FEA analysts estimate that available supplies can be increased by about 8 per cent, or 10,000 barrels a day, if local transportation bottlenecks can be avoided.

To facilitate movement of fuel. Smith said, the Interstate Commerce Commission is acting to let intrastate truckers begin hauling fuel across state lines and to speed up the recycling of railroad tank cars.

The impact on airlines of reduced et fuel production in the five Midwestern states will be minimal, Smith said, because most airlines can meet their fuel needs outside the troubled area.

With regard to propane, the new FEA rule would allow supplies of the fuel to be shifted away from present users to interstate pipelines that could not otherwise meet the needs of

As damage estimates mounted Monday, Gov. Reubin Askew asked the federal government to declare the state an agriculture disaster area.

The rest of the East, thawing but threatened by further cold and snow today, struggled with crippling natural gas shortages and frozen waterways blocking transport of fuel and supplies.

President Carter was reported considering removing federal price controls on natural gas in has closed schools to 40,000 students and caused layoffs of more than 500,000 workers.

U.S. Agriculture Secretary Robert Bergland said he would visit Florida this week to review the damages. A disaster declaration from Bergland would make growers eligible for special low-cost loans.

Chancellor Helmut Schmidt at a news conference in London Monday called for a "concentrated operation" by the United States, West Germany and Japan to stimulate international trade and economic growth.

Schmidt, who had been meeting with British Prime Minister James Callaghan, said a program of joint economic action should be worked out for consideration at the summit conference which President Carter will attend in May with the government chiefs of Britain, West Germany, France, Italy and Japan.

The chancellor, whose country has the strongest economy in Western Europe, said there is no lack of money; the problem is that "it isn't distributed benevolently" among the nations. He said such more prosperous countries as the United States, West Germany and Japan should act together to stimulate their economies so they would help other nations by buying more from them.

Mondale noted during a news conference Monday that the spread of nuclear material and technology would also be one of the topics he would discuss in Bonn.

President Carter and his vice president share the Ford administration's opposition to the agreements West Germany and France have made with Brazil and Pakistan, respectively, to sell them reprocessing plants that could convert used nuclear fuel into plutonium usable in atomic bombs.

Both West Germany and France have refused to cancel the agreements with Brazil and Pakistan.

Brown to tell committee how he will cut budget

WASHINGTON (AP) - After telling Pentagon officials that he tentatively plans to cut their budgets by about $2.8 billion, Defense Secretary Harold Brown is to tell the Senate Armed Services Committee how he plans to do it.

Brown was scheduled to appear before the committee today and members of the panel were expected to question him on how the Carter administration hopes to reduce military spending while maintaining a U.S. defense posture second to none.

Two weeks ago Brown told the panel "it's not going to be easy" to squeeze $5 billion to $7 billion from the final Ford administration defense budget. He said such cuts might not be made until the new administration's first full budget year, 1979, but that such a saving is the administration's goal.

Since Brown's confirmation hearing, the Ford administration submitted its record defense budget for fiscal 1978, totalling $123 billion in spending authority. And, before surrendering power, the Ford administration told Congress the United States must steadily strengthen its forces in coming years to prevent Russia from becoming the worlddominant military power.

It was learned Monday that Brown moved toward budget cuts last Friday, the same day he was sworn in as defense secretary.

Acting on the basis of studies and recommendations by President Carter's defense transition team, Brown proposed reductions in more than 30 programs, including slowdowns and stretchouts in some major nuclear weapons programs, cutbacks in some aircraft and Navy shipbuilding plans, and a 10,000-man reduction in Army strength.

opportunity to argue against the proposed cuts, which would hit some of their most cherished programs.

Pentagon sources said the reductions outlined by Brown would come principally from the final Ford administration budget, but also from the current fiscal year's $112.8 billion budget. To the surprise of the Air Force.

Brown did not list cancellation of the controversial B1 bomber, although he proposed reducing the number of advance bombers to be built next year from eight to five.

However, Brown would delay for at least a year full scale development of the big MX missile, intended to replace the present generation Minuteman missiles in the mid-1980s.

Under the Brown proposal, research would be pushed on ways of making the MX mobile to guard it against a surprise Soviet knockout strike.

The Air Force's new F15 fighter, which showed a big cost jump last year, would be cut 25 per cent cut or about $430 million next year.

The Army was notified that Brown believes about 10,000 men can be trimmed from a projected strength of 790,000. This met immediate Army opposition. The generals contend Army troop strength is now close to its lower limits if it is to be able to handle its assigned mission.

"I bought these shoes for 50 cents. and you can't beat it." They were light brown lounging shoes that looked more fitting for a boy than for poor and "leisurely" woman. She said so herself.

"It's been that my feet have been swelling on me," she said, "and I'm sure proud of these shoes.

Commissioners seek additional courts in county

By JUDY JOHNSTON

The resolutions supporting the creation of another county district court and a county court-at-law were approved Monday by Midland County Commissioners to be sent to the state Legislature

The state Legislature would have to create both courts, County Judge Barbara Culver said, but the county would fund the county court-at-law. A bill calling for the creation of 24 new district courts, including one in Midland, was introduced Monday in the Texas Senate.

The new district court judgeship would be funded by the state and the court would have the same jurisdiction as the present one, she said. The jurisdiction of the county court-at-law also would be similar to the present county court, except that the dollar amount of civil matters considered could be more than the current $1,000 limit, she said.

Representatives of the Midland County Bar and Junior Bar Association requested the commissioners to make the resolutions. citing large increases in activity in both courts over the past couple of

At the request of Commissioner Charlie Welch, the court also included a resolution that the bill creating the Midland Domestic Relations Court be amended to allow the county to cease providing funds for it if the need for it decreases after the addition of the new district court

The Domestic Relations Court was created to relieve some of the work load of the 142nd District Court, Judge Culver said, but the Legislature would not make the position a state judgeship, so the county pays the Domestic Relations Court judge's

Judge Culver and Judge Pickett both said Monday that they approve of the resolutions and the creation of the additional courts.

Joe Dominey, Midland County Bicentennial Commission chairman, presented county librarian Frances Williams a check for $6,000 during the commission meeting.

The amount was a large part of the funds remaining in the Bicentennial Commission's treasury when it was disbanded after the Bicentennial year, Dominey explained

The donation will be used mainly for audio-visual materials at the library, Mrs. Williams said.

The commissioners also approved the enactment of a contract with the City of Midland for emergency ambulance service outside the city

For the first year of service, from June 1, 1976, to June 1, 1977, the county agreed to pay the city $10,000.

The city acquired the three ambulances for about $30,000, Judge Culver said. Because the city did not know how to charge for the services this first year, the county and city settled on a figure of $10,000 until information on which to base fees is documented, Judge Culver said.

In other action, the commissioners: -Approved on an emergency basis the purchase of $575 worth of shelves for the county library;

 Accepted a Blue Cross health insurance plan which will represent about a $4,000 increase to the county. effective March 1;

BOUNCE, BOUNCE all over the Bulldogs! Tonight, the Rebs will meet up with our cross-town rivals, the Bulldogs. The game is at 8 p.m. in the Midland High Gym. We hope to see the gym packed with REBELS! We are proud of the Roundballers and back them all the way to STATE!

Last week our Rebels lost a heartbreaker to Permian, 79-76. OH soooo close! We'll get 'em next time. Then our Rebs fired up and downed the Abilene Eagles, 75-72, last Friday night. But this Friday night our Rebels will down the Odessa High Bronchos in the Odessa High Gym. Our guys are doing a SUPER job! They have the KEY to a VICTORY!

Thanks go to the social committee for the beautiful decorations at Coronation. The social committee expresses THANKS to Mr. Cooper for helping them so much. You are really terrific! If you missed the ceremonies you missed the great Origin (Tim Scism, Debbie Brotherton, Suzy Graham, and Liz Shrode) and the Lee Stage Band. Both of them did a really super job. It was an occasion to remember.

The SENIORS GIRLS will meet at 2:30 p.m. in the Youth Center. If you want to be a part of the senior girls Party, please be present. The time, place, and theme will be decided.

Thanks goes to the senior girls and the four 100 Club members who cleaned up the YC on Sunday.

Friendship renders prosperity more brilliant, while it lightens adversity by sharing it and makes its burden common.—Cicero—

Clinic on move

BOSTON (AP) — Boston's 53-year-old, world famous Lahey Clinic has begun its move to the suburbs.

A new 20,000-square-foot facility will open its doors in Burlington in what Lahey's board chairman Dr. Robert Wise calls "part of a national trend of urban clinics looking to the suburbs." Burlington is a suburb about 15 miles northwest of Boston.

Must detect glaucoma early

Dear Dr. Solomon: I have been hearing a lot about glaucoma these days. How would I know if I had this disease? I do have a dull pain in my eyes from time to time. Is this anything? I'm 47.—Norman D. Dear Norman: Glaucoma is caused by too much pressure in the liquid inside the eyeball. This gradually destroys nerve cells in the retina. Unfortunately, it's a sneak-thief kind of disease, as there are usually no symptoms in the early stages.

Later on, the victim may notice colored rings around lights and have blurred vision, poor adaption to the dark, and loss of side vision. It is terribly important to find out about glaucoma early, as the lost eyesight can never be restored. But further damage can, at any rate, be prevented in Special eye drops are used to reduce the pressure and keep it under control. And there is a recent report from the Medical College of Georgia, in Augusta, that marijuana may provide an effective ingredient for drops. Sometimes, however, surgery is necessary in order to relieve pressure.

We should all have our eyes checked regularly for glaucoma. This is done with a very simple test in which a small instrument called a tonometer measures the tension of the eyeball. An eye doctor will do this test as a matter of course when he examines your eyes. And at your age, I'd have my eyes examined once a year if I were you-or even more often if the doctor tells you to. Glaucoma checks are often given in community screening programs. And some general practitioners include them in regular physical examinations. In any event, do look after your eyes. It's the only pair

Dear Dr. Solomon: I have heard that people who are color blind are more likely to have high blood pressure. Is this true? I'm concerned because our son, who is 12, happens to be color blind.—Elizabeth

Dear Elizabeth: Surveys have shown that hypertension is somewhat nore frequent anong people who are color blind than among those with normal vision. But I don't think this is anything you have to worry about. There is not a very big Statistical difference. Just make sure your son's blood pressure is checked periodically, at least once a year, as it should be, anyway.

(Dr. Solomon has authored several best-selling books on diet and weight loss. For his booklet, "Plain Talk About Weight Loss," send $1.35 to WEIGHT LOSS BOOKLET, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 654, Port Washington, N.Y. 11050.)

Cold weather combat exercise under way

FT. GREELY, Alaska (AP) — Psychological warfare, as well as cold temperatures and invaders, face the "good guys" in the military's annual cold weather combat exercise now under way on this interior Alaska base

They are being barraged with leaflets seeking their surrender that have a familiar ring - "You Deserve a Break Today" - and questioning the mock fight they are waging against troops from the mythical nation of Mira - "Don't die to line the pockets of the rich war mongers.

The Mirans justify the invasion on which "Jack Frost '77" is based on two points:

The United States unilaterally established a 200mile fisheries zone which included historic Miran fishing grounds and seized two Miran boats which violated it; and the United States seized and refused to return a Miran space capsule which accidentally landed in Alaska.

More than 14,000 Army, Navy, Marine, Air Force, National Guard and reserve personnel are taking part in "Jack Frost.

And a third says:

'Greetings from the people of Mira. Like the people of Alaska we have always been a hardworking. honest, and peace-loving people. Now we have yet another common bond. Energy-related problems await action by nation's new leader

By CLYDE LA MOTTE Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Several energy-related problems requiring immediate attention were awaiting Jimmy Carter when he was sworn in as President Thursday.

One was what to do about the natural gas supply situation created by record-low temperatures in many parts of the nation in recent days.

Another was what to do about the proposal to deregulate the price of gasoline. That proposal was sent to Congress only 24 hours before the Ford Administration left office.

Realistically, the current gas supply situation hinges more on the weather than on any possible action by the new President. An end to the cold spell that gripped much of the country would naturally ease the immediate supply crunch; colder weather would worsen it

Even so, eyes turned to Washington and toward the new President for some action to provide relief for areas where industrial plants and schools were being turned down and where homeowners were being urged to turn back the thermostate.

The Carter people were aware of the problem and even before the inaugural they were conferring with congressional leaders and others regarding some plan of action, such as quick passage of legislation aimed at encouraging more short-term, emergency sales of gas to interstate pipeline companies, and authorization for the Federal Power Commission to direct pipeline companies with gas supplies to share with those with critical problems.

The situation also focused some attention on what steps should be taken to increase domestic natural gas supplies so that in the winters ahead the nation would be better able to cope with high demand conditions caused by severe weather.

President Carter said during the campaign that he favors deregulation of new natural gas sales, but it remains to be seen what specific proposals he will send to Capitol Hill and how much emphasis they will get Deregulation bills are already pouring into the hopper. Rep. Robert Krueger, D-Tex., who led the fight for a decontrol bill last year only to lose by a vote of 205 to 201, called a press conference last week to plug for the bill he has already proposed this year.

It would deregulate sales of onshore gas but would continue regulation of offshore prices for five years.

To meet emergency situations, such as the current one caused by the weather, Krueger proposed authorization of 180-day purchases of gas by interstate transmission companies at uncontrolled prices.

Field activity has been planned for Andrews and Ector County areas.

The Ford Administration action regarding gasoline prices came as no surprise. It had planned to propose the step last year but was unable to do so before Congress adjourned for for the election campaigns.

Federal Energy Administration officials have contended that controls on the pump prices of gasoline are no longer needed because there are ample supplies and because retail prices in most areas are below the draw the proposal because he, and not Ford, is now running the FEA. Or he can let Congress do the deciding. It has 15 days in which to reject the plan by a vote by either house. Otherwise, the plan becomes effective.

Obviously, Congress will be turning to the new President for a signal. As this was being written, the indications were that the plan would be withdrawn for the time being, thereby leaving the controls in effect.

Whatever decision he makes will be interpreted as an indication regarding his view as to whether the marketplace should be trusted or whether regulations should continue

PB center sets course

The Permian Basin Graduate Center announces a four-session course in Assertiveness Training to be offered from 7 to 9 p. m. on Tuesdays beginning next week. The instructor for the course is Marion Kimberly, and the fee is $50.

Mrs. Kimberly received her B.A. from Mt. Holyoke College and her M.A. in Community Counseling from The University of Texas of the Permian Basin. She is in private practice as a career counselor and also teaches career exploration courses. She has participated in and conducted professional training workshops on group leadership, communication skills and assertiveness training.

The course is designed to help people express themselves more effectively and confidently; how to stand up for their rights - say yes and no - without infringing upon the rights of others; and how to be forceful without being hostile.

It also will aid in developing skills that will enable a person to increase self satisfaction, achieve goals and improve relationships with others. The training can be applied to business, family and social situations.

Registrations are limited and are being taken now. For more information, contact the Permian Basin Graduate Center, 104 Gulf Building or by telephining 563-2311 or 683-2831.

Lo-Vaca lawyer says case should end now

been so cold in 100 years, a negotiator noted Monday in urging acceptance of a settlement of $1.6 billion in lawsuits against the major South Texas suppliers of natural gas to heat homes and businesses.

"It is my firm conviction that if a final resolution of the 'Lo-Vaca Problem' is ever to be achieved short of years in the courts and bankruptcy, it must be achieved now." Houston lawyer Stan McLelland told the railroad commission.

He reported on negotiations to resolve numerous breach of contract lawsuits by customers against Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. and its parent, Coastal States Gas Corp.

To those who might wait for a "better deal," said McLelland, representing United Texas Transmission Co., a customer of Lo-Vaca. "it is the consensus . . . that we have gotten as much as can reasonably be had in a settlement

McLelland said United Texas and other customers who received more than 60 per cent of Lo-Vaca's gas deliveries last year had signed a memorandum agreeing to the proposed out-of-court settlement.

These customers, he said, include Coastal, San Antonio, Lone Star Gas Co., Southern Union Gas Co., Brownsville, Corpus Christi, Robstown, Del Rio, Central Power & Light, and Entex.

Austin lawyer Clint Small Jr. representing the Lower Colorado River Authortity, said, however, it appeared the plan would result in 'some sort of windfall' for Lo-Vaca stockholders and "possibly insiders."

He noted that Coastal stock was selling for $9 a share in November and had risen to $16 a share this month, and this period coincided with the 'serious' discussions over a negotiated settlement. Also, Small said, LCRA's more than 50 wholesale customers felt the plan would bring on an immediate increase in gas rates and this "sticks in their craw.

Austin, too, has not yet agreed to accept the plan

Major provisions of the proposal include the formation of a new company that would include Lo-Vaca and Coastal States Gas Producing Co. The new company would be independent of Coastal States Gas Corp.

Also, Aztec Oil & Gas Co., Hobbs, N.M., will drill No. 1-AR State, a 36mile southwest offset to Morrow gas production in the Antelope Ridge

It is 990 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 35-23s-34e. 16 miles northwest of Jal. Contract depth is 13,800 feet.

WT sectors get wildcats

Exploration is planned for Pecos and Andrews counties and production has been extended in a Pecos field.

C. F. Lawrence & Associates, Inc., Midland, staked site for No. 1 Landreth as a 3,400-foot wildcat in Pecos. 14 miles west of Girvin and % mile northwest of the one-well Maclaw (Ellenburger) gas field.

Drillsite for the test is 2,176 feet from north and 467 feet from east lines of section 112, block 11, H&GN

C. F. Lawrence also has completed No. 1 State River Bed, a third Queen gas well in the Onlaw field of Pecos, eight miles south of Iraan

It gauged a calculated, absolute open flow of 1.1 million cubic feet of dry gas per day, through perforations at 1.245-1,297 feet, after acidizing with 2,000 gallons and fracturing with 30,000 gallons.

Location is 480 feet from south and 11,140 feet from west lines of section 55. block I. I&GN survey.

ANDREWS WORKOVER

Amoco Production Co. intends to reenter and test at around 2,930 feet at No. 35 University Consolidate XII, in attempt to open a new pay in the Fuhrman Mascho field of Andrews, 12 miles west of Andrews townsite.

It is a former producer from the Grayburg-San Andres zone, and the old total depth is 4,600 feet.

Location is 760 feet from south and 440 feet from west lines of section 45, block 13, ULS.

A trust for Lo-Vaca's more than 400 customers would be set up that would include 1.5 million shares of Coastal's stock, $115 million of preferred stock in the new company, and approximately 3.6 million shares of the common stock in the new company as partial settlement. Coastal also would commit itself to a $180 million gas-search program, with up to $50 million more being spent if the explorations also yielded oil reserves. The gas would be sold to the new company for less than market

Lo-Vaca's headquarters would be transferred from Houston to San Antonio or Corpus Christi.

We have all suffered too long already," said McLelland

Texaco official urges break in oil stalemate

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A senior vice president of Texaco Inc. says he hopes President Carter can end a stalemate with congress over development of a national energy

Kerryn King, Texaco's top public relations official, says the "severe cold wave which is gripping the nation" this winter "is showing us there is an energy crisis." "Hopefully, with Jimmy Carter in the White House, we can stop the confrontation (with congress) and get on with finding energy and meeting the nation's needs," King told a news conference Monday He said former President Ford was 'in confrontation' with the Democrat-controlled congress and thus unable to reach a compromise on major energy programs. King said the United States is lagging behind other nations in developing its energy resources-oil. natural gas, coal and nuclear. He said solar energy is not feasible for many parts of the nation. King also said the United States should begin immediately to build a 60-day "strategic reserve" of oil to protect the nation from economic blackmail if there is another foreign

He said the nation now imports about 40 per cent of its oil needs. More than it did at the time of the Arab oil embaro of 1973-74. 'We must be able to keep the nation afloat while the State Department and other officials negotiate in such circumstances," he said 'Without such a reserve, we'd begin to feel the cruch almost immediately. If we were blockaded, or brought to our economic knees very rapidly," King warned. He also urged removel of price controls on domestic oil and natural gas as an incentive for producers to find new energy sources. He said consumers will ultimately have to pay the cost for finding and developing new oil and gas supplies. "But it would take five, eight or 10 years just to begin turning around this natural gas thing we have this winter," he said, referring to the gas shortage being felt in many Northern

King also said he favored removel of federal price ceilings on gasoline prices and said he didn't think prices at the pump would jump quickly.

He said much gasoline already being sold is priced below the ceiling price and competitive pressures in the market would keep prices as low

He said the code should require annual disclosure of all income, assets, debts and other financial data by Senate members, officers and employes — "all the elements necessary to assure the public that they have the facts.

Byrd also made clear he considered the ethics code essential if Congress is to justify a pay raise that will boost salaries from $44,600 to $57,500 next month.

Carol Tucker Foreman, them. president of the Con-America, as assistant secretary of Agriculture for consumer services, Agriculture Department sources said Monday.

Foreman's appointment to the post has been strongly opposed by agriculture interests, who regard her and her organization, the nation's largest such group, as no friend of the farmer.

But, under a plan recommended by Agrilculture Secretary Bob Bergland to Carter, the responsibilites of Foreman's job would be diminished, with many of her areas of responsibility transfered to the supervision of an assistant secretary for marketing services.

According to Agriculture sources, Robert Meyer, a cattle rancher and cotton grower from Brawley, Calif., will be appointed to the marketing post.

This reorganization represents a compromise to Foreman's appointment which was strongly opposed by such producers as the California fruit and vegetable citrus growers and milk recently. Recent cold temperatures have
