Hail, Rain Damage Over Muleshoe Area

Some Crops Heavily Damaged In Storm

A fast falling rain, in addition to heavy hail and high winds caused a vast amount of crop and property damage to the Muleshoe area Monday night.

The Plainview highway was covered over with fast running waters early Tuesday morning. Cars had washed upon the road for a half a mile or more. Fields were washed out and crops were beat to the ground. Houses were flooded and livestock was killed. There were some people that got out luckier than others without much damage at all to their crops or homes.

Keith Baldwin, living on Bill Millen's place had six inches of water flood the bottom floor of their house and basement. One mile east, down the road, it rained 3 inches and .7. They received hail, high winds and a foot and a half of water running through their yard.

The Baldwin family is staying in the upstairs now until the damage to the bottom floor has been repaired. They have determined that the carpet will have to be replaced, a new floor put in, and possibly a new foundation. It started raining at 6:30 p.m. and was over at 9:30 p.m. last night. There was water still running from the North Tuesday morning.

Kenneth Precure going East on the Chow-Tex Road, reported hail piled up east of their house. They reported 8 inches of rain, a lot of hail damage to their cotton and feed crop.

Gerald Shanks who lives five miles North and one east on the YL pavement reported losing three cows, three calves, one horse, and one goat in the storm. The stock was in the lake area and the hail floated in the water freezing them. His corn, trees and garden was just completely stripped, but the cotton was completely destroyed.

Don Bryant, four miles west of Muleshoe said, "I have lived here all my life, and I have never seen anything like it before". Bryant found 15 or 20 acre blocks stacked up in three or four foot of hail. It rained six inches at the house and anywhere from 9 to 9 1/2 inches of rain four miles west of his house. This is the area where the bad hail storm hit.

Kenneth Powell, 7 miles northeast of Muleshoe reported three and two tenths inch of rain with a lot of hail. The hail damaged the corn, feed, cotton and sunflowers.

Claude Gregory reported three and a half inches of rain with water standing in one low room of the house with no major damage to it. Their cotton, soybeans and corn were all damaged by the hail with only the corn being stripped. The soybeans and cotton were hailed out.

W. D. Harlan, 10 miles northwest of Riverside reported two and a half inches of rain at the house. North of the house the cotton was hailed out and the corn was slightly damaged.

Jerry Don Halay, five miles north and a half mile east reported four inches of rain at the house with some wheat damage.

Mrs. Gerald Prater, one half mile from the West Camp Baptist Church reported one inch and two tenths of rain with very little hail or wind.

Mrs. Virgil Nowell reported three-fourths of an inch of rain with light hail and not any crop damage reported.

CARS WASHED AWAY BY HIGH WATER . . . These two cars were washed down a bar ditch on the YL Highway northeast of Muleshoe Monday night during a thunderstorm that dropped from three to nine inches of rain flooding highways in the YL area. Heavy hail was also reported with several farmers in the YL Community reporting severe hail damage to their crops. J. W. Holmes is shown trying to untangle the two cars so he can tow them away.

Briefs

The Bailey County ASCS office reports that the measurement service requests will be accepted through July 1. If the farmers want this service let the ASCS office know so their certification can be made by August 1.

If the farmers have had some hail or other weather damage on their wheat and feel that there might be a possibility that they might be eligible for a low yield payment, the farmers have 15 days after harvest to turn in their production records. Also, do not plow or make other use of the land on which the damaged crop was harvested until a representative from this office has visited the farm. If other use of the land has been made before a visit from this office you would be ineligible for payment.

Certification must be accurate as in the past. The teleerty owner's property and amount of evaluation will be mailed out later this week. All taxpayers will be notified.

On July 15 and 16, the Bailey County commissioners court will set as an Equalization Board and will meet with the firm and all property owners who wish to meet with them.

Tax payers are being informed that the county tax rate will be 30 cent of actual value. Property owners will be paying approximately 80 cents per $100 valuation for county taxes and the Special Road Tax. Last year they paid $1.25 per $100 valuation. With the increase in evaluation, it will take less money per $100 valuation.

The total valuation for Bailey County is $140,300,000.00. Rural real estate is $84,900,000.00; City real estate is $23,600,000.00; Commercial personal and utilities, $16,700,000.00; Rural personal, $10,000.00; and miscellaneous, $2,800,000.00.

Farm Bureau Queen Contest Scheduled

The 1975 Bailey County Farm Bureau Queen will be crowned July 18, 1975 at the Muleshoe High School Cafeteria at 8 p.m.

The Farm Bureau office is now taking applications from girls wanting to compete in the contest.

The purpose of this contest is to give recognition to the farm and ranch girls in Texas.

Eligibility rules state that the contestant must be the daughter or sister of a Farm Bureau member of Bailey County. The contestant must be between the ages of 17 and 22 and not married. The girls will be judged on grace, poise, and charm and will be dressed in formal attire only. Each contestant will be required to speak approximately one minute on "What Farm Bureau Has Meant to My Family."

All entries must be turned in to the Bailey County Farm Bureau office not later than Monday, July 13, 1975 at 5 p.m. The local county winner will receive a $150 scholarship toward the college of her choice. The district winner will receive an expense paid trip to the state convention. For entry blanks or more information, contact the Bailey County Farm Bureau office, 272-4567; Mrs. Robert Hunt, 925-3245; or Mrs. Ray Davis, 272-3592.

The contest is open to all eligible girls except all employees, dealers and/or servicing agent's families and previous state winners.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Bradley have returned from a two week vacation where they visited points around Dallas. They also visited their son, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Bradley and family, and a brother, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Montgomery.

Bradley was hospitalized at Methodist hospital in Dallas for a kidney infection.

The State Highway and Public Transportation Commission has acted to extend the 55-mile-per hour speed limit in Texas for another 120 days.

The Legislature, in special session in December 1973, required the commission to review circumstances affecting the speed limit each 120 days. An amendment passed by the 64th Legislature this year extended the requirement for as long as the national maximum speed limit of 55 miles per hour is in effect.

The commission's action today extended the 55-mile-per-hour speed limit in Texas for an additional 120 days beginning July 30.

Wheat Market Outlook

According to Roland D. Smith, Grain Marketing Specialist, Texas A&M, prospects for a record wheat harvest continue to put heavy pressure on wheat prices. The winter wheat crop as of May 1 was estimated at a record 1.62 billion bushels. Total wheat plantings and intentions total 73.2 million acres, the largest since 1953. Yield projections indicate a total 1975 crop in excess of 2 billion bushels -- perhaps 2.1 billion. The next crop estimate will be June 10, and it is not expected to show much change.

Due to the prolonged winter in the wheat region, wheat harvest will be a week or two later than normal. Harvest should expand rapidly in the next few days as drying occurs over Texas and Oklahoma. Yields are varied. Current (June 5) prices to the farmer were hovering near $2.90 per bushel.

Dryland wheat in parts of Texas and Oklahoma did not look good in mid-May due to dry conditions, and traders felt the May 1 production estimates were too high for these areas. Some analysts are still projecting a lower wheat production. But rains fell over much of this territory the last two weeks in May, and the wheat was helped somewhat. Rains in Kansas, Nebraska, and the Midwest also were reported to enhance the winter wheat crop. The irrigated wheat in Texas continues to look good-to-excellent.

The export activity in wheat also has been negative on prices. Move-out of wheat is well behind the level to reach USDA export estimate. Instead of 1,100 million bushels exported this year, it likely will be nearer 1,030 million. This would increase the projected carryover on June 30 from 236 to near 300 million rance this year is different and closer; the larger of one acre or five percent not to exceed 15 acres. This year if a man is over or under by the tolerance it could result in penalty.

August first is the final date to certify cotton to be eligible for program benefits. Also the ASCS office feels that it would be to their advantage to certify all crops when they certify cotton.

If the farmers do decide the ASCS wants the farmers to bring in to the office their ground measurement for cotton. If they have lost some cotton or feed grain, the last few days, they need to come to the office and certify their total acres of the crops and also the total acres that they are going to destroy.

bushels. Export business for 1975-76 is growing at a much slower pace than a year ago. Importers likely are counting on the big crop to push prices lower before they have to buy.

Primarily in the export news is the cancellation of wheat contracts by Turkey. Evidently, Turkey fully expects to get out of the contracts as she has already requested new bids on an amount to fill this void. The U. S. grain companies have submitted the problem to arbitration. If Turkey succeeds in this venture, serious repercussions could be felt in international trading of commodities.

The expanded world production is expected to enhance the competition for wheat exports this coming year. Canada and the EC are already pushing hard to move old-crop wheat in expectation of harvest. For example, the EC is subsidizing wheat exports to the Middle East area to undercut other wheat prices.

Due to short feed grain supplies and lower wheat prices, USDA estimates an expansion of wheat feeding this summer. They say feeding may double last year's level. With an assumed 10 percent premium for wheat as feed, that Amarillo is the proposed site for the Summer Board meeting to be held soon.

President Butch Duncan read a letter of thanks from George Mahon for the Jaycee's participation in the recent George Mahon for the Jaycee's George Mahon Day activities. Robert Hooten, of Muleshoe Motor Co. will donate a new car again this year to raise money for the new hospital complex. The car will be featured in the Fourth of July Parade.

farm wheat prices will not have to go much lower before wheat would be the better buy over corn. This is provided that feed grains hold current levels. Hopefully, this will help establish a floor for wheat prices this summer.

Farmer selling intentions are a critical consideration in price projections for this summer. Farmers control virtually 100% of the supply side of wheat this year. Last year, although not an overt holding action, wheat producers held wheat past harvest. It worked for them with higher prices received. There likely will be more wheat stored in Texas and Oklahoma this year if prices fall much below $3.00. Wheat producer organizations are advocating orderly movement of this bumper crop into the marketing channel to insure higher prices for the growers.

The wheat market is very weather-oriented now, and will be through early summer. But a good crop is expected to put pressure on prices and move them below late May levels. This assumes no major change in the U. S. or world expectations. Good prospects for the feed grain crop also will affect wheat prices. Farmers are expected to be slow in selling wheat at less than $3.00 where storage is adequate and convenient. Early wheat in Texas has been sold, but storage is not readily available in South Texas. In the next few weeks, farm level wheat prices may fluctuate between $2.75 and $3.00 per bushel. Price trends after that will depend upon farmer selling patterns, ultimate size of this year's crop, and foreign demand.

4-H'ers Learn Through Travel

COLLEGE STATION --- Summer is ideal travel time. And this year hundreds of boys and girls will combine vacations and learning through the Texas 4-H and youth program.

"Through short-term exchange trips, 4-H'ers in the state travel to other Texas counties to learn about the area history, industry and agriculture," points out Yvonne Garcia, 4-H and youth specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Intrastate exchanges also help stimulate new program ideas for 4-H volunteer leaders and members."

Several Texas counties conduct two-year interstate exchange programs, notes Garcia. These involve traveling one year to a selected county in the United States and then hosting the out-of-state 4-H group the next year.

The young people with the help of their county Extension agents and volunteer leaders select a 4-H group similar to their own. For example, a 4-H ecology project group in Texas may visit a similar group in Tennessee to study their educational activities, materials and programs. The following year, the 4-H group from Tennessee will visit the Texas group to see how they conduct their ecology activities. Both groups share ideas and make appropriate changes or additions for the future.

"Families at home can also play an important role in 4-H exchange programs by hosting 4-H'ers in their homes for one to three weeks," adds the 4-H and youth specialist. Former 4-H'ers interested in international understanding can spend three to six months in one of 35 cooperating countries as an International 4-H Youth Exchange delegate. During their stay, delegates live with host families, studying 4-H programs abroad and sharing customs and traditions.

"As a 4-H exchange or a host family, 4-H can open doors to understanding," contends Garcia.

Older People Keep Learning

College Station --- Why all the talk nowadays about learning and the older person? "Because one of the greatest resources of all older Americans is the individual capacity for continuing personal development," Mrs. Vivian Blair, family life education-aging specialist explained this week.

This is the critically important factor for success in many new services for this age group, the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, noted. "Also, learning can make adjustment to new life styles easier and add exhilaration to new leisure interests.

"Older people can learn to care for their own health problems and help others in their group. This is more important now than ever as costs continue to rise for improved health and other services to the aging," the specialist added. "Learning can help older people become better consumers. They can make better use of facilities such as libraries and museums, along with learning better nutrition, health maintenance, and keeping up with current legislation, art, music, religion or job training."

Some learning programs are operated entirely by older people themselves or older volunteers. In any sizeable group of older people, almost any talent is likely to be available, Mrs. Blair reminded.

Getting The Freezer Ready

College Station---Freezers need defrosting and a thorough cleaning before storing the new crop of fruits and vegetables, Frances Reasonover, foods and nutrition specialist, reminded this week.

She suggested consumers should consult their freezer use-care booklet. "But if it's misplaced, here are some suggestions," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

Unplug the freezer and remove all frozen food. Store the food in a cardboard box or wrap newspapers around it to prevent thawing.

Place clean towels in the bottom of the freezer. Pour cold tap water along the sides to thaw the frost. Using a wooden spoon may help loosen the frost, but don't use metal because it will scratch the lining of the freezer, the specialist cautioned.

"As the towels absorb the water, wring them out and replace. When all frost has been removed, wash the inside with one quart warm water to which one tablespoon baking soda has been added.

"Rinse with clean water and wipe dry. Replug freezer and wait about 30 minutes before replacing the food."

Turning to other freezer use reminders, the specialist said, "Take an inventory of food and place the packages which have been stored longest at the top or front.

"Now is a good time to match up polyethylene freezer boxes with their lids. Then when it's time to package the food, this job is done."

She said that most homemakers prefer using the plastic freezer bags with cover boxes. This protects the bag from getting holes in it during storage and freezes in a uniform shape for a better fit.

"This season may be a good time to purchase a blancher. Since it's necessary to use one gallon of water for each pound (pint) of vegetables, a large blancher may be the best kind to buy.

The following is a little sincere prayer that I pray as I read it. With a faith and need for God's guidance each day of my life, for without his guidance each day of our lives would be empty. With out his guidance and strength, it follows, "Give me the faith to know thou art my shepherd still. Give me the light to find my way when shadows fall. Be thou my steady guiding Star, Father of All."

We need so much to pray for God's guidance each day of our lives, these days of unrest and uncertainty. We need to seek his guidance and to humbly pray without ceasing, lest we might stumble along the way, Lord teach us how to pray an unselfish prayer.

Miss Sowder Receives Credit

Miss Shannon Sowder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Sowder, is the first student in Bailey County to receive public school music credit for the private study of piano. Miss Sowder was passed by Larry Wiley, associate professor of piano at South Plains College Wednesday, June 17 and will receive one half semester credit through the Three-way Schools under superintendent J. H. Jackson, Jr., which has initiated this new program this school year.

Miss Sowder played three memorized selections from the approved repertoire list, plus technical studies and scales and cadences as coincided with her level of study. Repertoire selections that Shannon played were the following: "Two-part Invention No. 8" by Bach, "Presto" movement from "Sonata in E. Minor" by Haydn, and "Reverie" by Debussy.

Miss Sowder was a junior this year at Three-way School and received credit for Applied Music I since this was her first year to take the course for credit. She also played in the National Piano Playing Guild Auditions this year and was on the National Honor Roll for the sixth year, receiving a very high grade. She has taken the theory tests on the state level through the student affiliate Association of the Texas Music Teachers' Association for four years, scoring highly and receiving a medal one time. Her piano teacher is Mrs. Sam Damron.

Ford On S. Vietnam

President Ford uttered a revealing sentiment about Vietnam when reporters quizzed him upon his return from Europe. He said one lesson from the Vietnam fiasco was that this nation would help others that were willing to fight for their freedom but couldn't fight their battles for them.

This is a blunt admission that the South Vietnamese people wouldn't fight to sustain the Thieu regime in Saigon—which newsmen had reported for years.

The President's candor comes at a time when truth is badly needed—and when misguided sentiment and emotionalism obscure the real facts about the Thieu regime's history and support. The truth is that the Viet Cong in South Vietnam had a massive following among the people—and that the Thieu regime became increasingly unpopular as Thieu attempted to rule with an iron, dictatorial hand.

The President, and other American officials, couldn't mention this publicly when hostilities were in progress, with the U.S. officially allied to Saigon. In saying it now, the President renders the nation a public service and makes it clear the U.S. military did not lose South Vietnam. After U.S. forces had won and withdrawn, South Vietnamese military forces, and the regime, lost their country through lack of support among their own people.

COUGH, GASP, HACK !!

WASHINGTON REPORT BY Lloyd Bentsen, United States Senator

Last month, sixty-five nations converged on Geneva for a full review of the Nuclear Non-proliferation Treaty of 1970. The meeting came at a time of growing concern about the increasing availability of nuclear arms and nuclear technology to countries in all corners of the globe.

Nations represented at the session agreed that the treaty should be tightened up. Many proposed new and far-reaching safeguards against the spread of nuclear weaponry to the point where adequate control might well prove impossible. And, in the end, officials of those sixty-five nations went home in a spirit of optimism, lulled into a sense of security by the talk of peace and responsibility and control.

It was only later that the world learned that, even as the Conference was taking place, secret negotiations were underway that would add three new members to the roster of countries capable of making nuclear weapons.

West Germany has just completed the sale of full-scale nuclear technology to Brazil. And, although West Germany has signed the non-proliferation treaty and is bound by those restrictions against the growth of nuclear weaponry, Brazil has not.

France is also in the process of completing multi-billion-dollar sales of nuclear technology to Pakistan and South Korea which would enable both countries to make atomic bombs.

So, despite all the talk in Geneva about containing the spread of atomic weapons, despite the talk of insuring peace and of acting responsibly, the fact is that the number of countries that will someday be capable of exploding their own atomic bombs is steadily growing.

Already six nations have tested the bomb -- the United States, the Soviet Union, France, China, Great Britain and, most recently, India, Brazil, Pakistan and South Korea will soon be able to follow suit. France has begun to negotiate nuclear sales to Taiwan and Argentina. And America itself is in the process of transferring nuclear reactors to Iran.

It is estimated that by the end of the decade, fifty-two countries will have nuclear reactors operating or under construction. This is twice the number in existence today.

Where will it end? And, most importantly, what is it leading to?

I am convinced there is an urgent need for a new international agreement governing the sale or transfer of nuclear technology to foreign countries. We must act now to halt this backdoor proliferation of nuclear weapons, which is severely impairing the effectiveness of the non-proliferation treaty.

The idea behind that treaty is basic: the fewer countries having the tools for an atomic war, the less likelihood of actually having that war. It makes sense.

For it to work, though, every nuclear nation must actively work against the spread of nuclear technology to countries that might not be prepared, either socially or politically, to cope with it responsibly. For it to work we must establish a more rigid set of controls than the current piecemeal approach against nuclear proliferation.

There are, after all, many other ways to help developing countries progress other than providing them with nuclear capacity. There is technology for fertilizer production, for taking the salt out of water supplies. The list is endless, and in each case this assistance would be raising the standard of living in these countries without promoting a dangerous increase in the number of countries which have atomic weapons.

Unfortunately, one of the prime reasons we are facing this dilemma is that nations are beginning to use the transfer of nuclear technology as a tool of diplomacy. In the face of a worldwide energy shortage, countries are trying to win the favor of oil and uranium rich nations by aiding in their nuclear development.

This is wrong, both morally and politically. And, worse, it is extremely dangerous for every person on this earth. It is a point in America's favor that our government has delayed the sale of eight nuclear reactors to Iran because Iran is demanding more technology than our own laws allow.

But even when we enforce our safeguards, and the safeguards of the International Atomic Energy Agency, there is a serious question whether any existing regulations are up to the task of stopping the spread of nuclear weapons.

We need safeguards with teeth. And we need them to be adopted and enforced on an international basis.

I am urging both the Secretary of State, the President and my fellow Congressmen to begin seeking a truly workable way to stop the mushrooming of atomic weapons. To do this will take all the leadership we can muster, as well as a real commitment from our own people and those of other nations to that elusive goal of a stable, peaceful world community.

The 94th- Thwarted By Vietnam- Congress Fails-

WASHINGTON, D.C.-- At the convening of the new Congress in January, the first session of the 94th, there was hope the many younger members would force economies, modernize procedures and bring a greater sense of urgency and responsibility into deliberations.

At first the Young Turks flexed their muscles with effect. They removed several key committee chairmen, southerners for the most part. They also talked economy.

But in the following months the country after the fall of South Vietnam--which allowed military spenders to have their way in both houses.

The President meanwhile has been able to sustain vetoes and that has brought progress on many vital issues to a standstill.

The nation's greatest need--enlightened energy legislation--hasn't been forthcoming. The President thinks one way and the majority of members of the Senate and House think another. So as the year reaches its halfway mark, energy legislation which should have been on the books in March, is still not enacted.

In short, Congress is badly failing the nation. It acted quickly on only one maior item after convening--and that was probably a mistake--the tax rebates. Now, record borrowing is needed for this and other purposes.

With huge budget deficits for the year ending and the new fiscal year beginning July 1st a certainty, there is no justification for giving away billions in tax rebates, especially since the economy is now showing signs of recovery.

Tough, enlightened energy legislation, prudent spending and major economies are the order of the day for Congress if the dollar is not to be further depreciated and inflation held to reasonable levels. Congress isn't meeting its obligations in these areas.

MORE EXPENSE MONEY

The Senate has voted to let senators have up to about $102,000 each a year to hire aides to assist them with their committee work.

The 28th

The war which changed a way of life in the western world, and which was--in many ways--unnecessary, was triggered by a tragedy on June 28th, 1914. (Five years later the Treaty of Versailles, which made almost certain a follow-up war and which officially ended World War I, was signed on the same day.)

Austro-Hungary, an empire attempting to mold and hold in one nation various races and creeds, was split asunder by the war. Germany was broken and embittered. Communism was helped to power in Russia (by Germany). France was bled white. Monarchies in both Germany and Austro-Hungary collapsed with the defeat of the Central Powers. And America, entering late in 1917, started out on the road to world leadership by entering the war.

All this and more followed the brutal assassination of Austro-Hungary's Archduke (Franz Ferdinand) and his wife in Sarajevo, Bosnia. They were making a ceremonial visit to Sarajevo, and as they entered the town were almost killed by a bomb. Later that day an assassin using a pistol this time completed the brutal double murder.

The Austro-Hungarian Emperor and Government held Serbia responsible for the murders, and, revenge-minded, delivered a tough ultimatum to the Serbs. Serbia was eager to avoid war and willing to meet most of the demands. Russia, however, encouraged resistance as did France, to a lesser extent. Germany, allied to Austro-Hungary and sympathetic with Emperor Franz Joseph, initially backed Austro-Hungary, but the Kaiser attempted to avoid war and restrain Vienna in the final days before Europe plunged into the abyss.

In August fighting began, drawing in all the great powers. In four years of slaughter in the trenches, a way of life vanished. Communism materialized, the Kaiser ended up on trial by an international high court, etc.--all stemming from the deeds of June 28th by anarchists and nationalists sixty-one years ago--in a small town today a part of Yugoslavia.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights
by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Texas may run out of money for new highways, according to State Highway Commission Chairman Reagan Houston.

Houston said the financing picture for road building is critical.

"Costs are rising and available financing is not adequate," the Chairman told Texas Good Roads and Transportation Association.

The time may come, he warned, when the state can afford outlays only for maintenance and operation of its highways.

A new study, Houston said, will examine "the widening gap between needed construction and available revenue... the desire for higher levels of transportation service, as well as the need to demonstrate to the public benefits of proposed projects."

New legislation signed by Gov. Dolph Briscoe merged the Highway Department and Mass Transportation Commission into the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Park Enlarged
The state completed purchase of land, nearly tripling size of Lyndon B. Johnson State Park near Stonewall.

A couple accepted $336,339 for the 133.9 acres of land across the Pedernales River from the late President's ranch. Cost of enlarging the park from its original 269 acres to 717.8 acres will total more than $1 million.

Allowable Set
For the 40th straight month, the Texas Railroad Commission extended the wide-open, 100 per cent oil allowable for July.

However, the East Texas field was again restricted to an 86 per cent allowable. Nominations of major purchasers decreased 2,821 barrels—to 4,018, 347 barrels daily.

Pool Organized
A risk-sharing pool, authorized by the legislature.

was organized last week to help provide a temporary solution to the medical malpractice insurance crisis.

The pool will not begin issuing policies until a plan of operation is approved by the State Insurance Board.

The Joint Underwriting Association was instructed to have the operating plan ready by July 7. August 3 is the target date assigned by Insurance Board Chairman Joe Christie to place the pool in full operation. The new law directs that it actually be provided insurance to doctors and hospitals by September 1.

Courts Speak
Asking the State Supreme Court to restore an injunction prohibiting a Bell Telephone Texas long distance rate increase, Atty. Gen. John Hill said the company openly claims "unlimited power" to set any rate it wants on such calls.

Third Court of Civil Appeals struck down a district court order that Oak Cliff Savings and Loan Association cannot change its name to First Texas Savings Association.

A Dallas man, through an appeal to the Court of Criminal Appeals, received a new trial on charges of burning a two-year-old child.

Another Dallas case — for murder — was reversed, on grounds evidence which resulted in a man's life sentence was too weak.

AG Opinions
Interest from funds transferred to Angelo State University on dissolution of Tom Green County Junior College District may not be used to supplement the president's salary, Attorney General Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded: A district judge would be prohibited from appointing his grandnephew to represent an indigent defendant if compensation is paid from public funds. Also, a district judge should not appoint the district probation officer to represent a defendant in a criminal case.

A two-mile spacing rule for beeyards is valid if necessary to control spread of honeybee diseases.

Unemployment compensation records are, in general, available under the open records act to employing units and claimants.

Appointments
Governor Briscoe appointed Pedro A. Mendoza of McAllen to the Commission on Fire Protection Personnel Standards and Education.

Mrs. Peggy D. Gutierrez of Laredo was named by the Governor to the Texas Cosmetology Commission.

James M. Bailey of Fort Worth will serve as chairman of the 1975 State Textbook Committee.

Sen. D. Roy Harrington of Port Arthur will serve as chairman of a special artificial reefs committee of the Coastal and Marine Council to develop artificial reef programs for Texas bays and inshore Gulf areas.

Short Snorts
Agriculture Commissioner John C. White is the new president of the Southern Association of State Departments of Agriculture.

Seventeen new industries located in Texas during May and will pump an additional $40 million into the state's economy. They will also create 1,500 new jobs.

and generate $250 in taxes. Tyler, Devine, Fort Worth, Eagle Pass, Cameron and Mount Vernon received community achievement awards from the Beautify Texas Council.

Other council awards went to San Marcos, Smithville, the Nacogdoches Federation of Women's Clubs, Gray County and the Christian Reinhardt Society of Longview for Bicentennial programs.

United Business and Industry Inc. opened headquarters here to promote conservation and the free enterprise system before the legislature.

Safety Emphasized Over Holiday Weekend

AUSTIN --- This year the Fourth of July falls on Friday, making a fine three-day weekend for fun and games in Texas --- and an exciting chance for Texans to test their survival training on the highways. For those who avoid or otherwise escape the traffic mayhem, Texas Safety Association sends a reminder that the long weekend offers a variety of other opportunities to get killed, drowned, burned, maimed, strained, poisoned or pulled up lame.

Take heat and sun. They can be killers while watching or participating in a parade or game --- or simply working in the yard. Texans who want to be up and about on Monday should stay in the shade where possible, and avoid dehydration by drinking plenty of water, soft drinks or iced tea. The sun is especially hazardous to the sunbather --- a painful, maybe disabling, burn, and in time (happy thought), skin cancers.

So try a picnic! Picnickers should be alert to the dangers of food poisoning, common in summer when luncheon meats, potato salad, etc. get warm in the sun and breed bacteria. Food should be kept in insulated coolers, set out on picnic tables only when it is time to eat, and the leftovers put back in the cooler promptly to protect those who want a late snack.

Another way to miss the call of duty on Monday is to engage in some strenuous, unaccustomed activity. The least you can expect are some strains and sprains; the "really big one" is a heart attack. It happens all the time, especially to folks over 40 who get carried away (sometimes literally). Cool it!

Texas Safety Association urges Texans to enjoy the Fourth of July holiday --- but stick around for Labor Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas, too, by using common sense in your activities.
