Wheat Tops The Market Sixty-four Pounds To The Bushel

Prof. H. L. Johnston passed through Dumas Monday from his ranch in Hutchinson county with a load of grain for the Hartley market. On his return Tuesday he was heard to say his wheat tested at both Hartley and Texhoma, Okla., 64 lbs. to the bushel. This being by far the best that's been marketed at either market this season.

Mr. W. F. P. Bishop, of Middle Well was in Dumas and purchased 100 bu. for seed.

Mr. Johnston says he has been as busy as the busiest of farmers down his way; market his grain and heading Milo maize. He was also pleased to hear of the new move of our wise trustees, in placing an additional teacher in the Dumas public schools. Prof. Johnston is a man of several years experience in the school room and says: "It is impossible for the two teachers to do justice with the Tenth Grade added."

Miss Minnie May Vance, of Paradise, Texas, arrived on the hack Monday. Miss Vance will teach the Fairview school, 15 miles north-east of this city.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES

R. H. Young, former owner and resident of a ranch two miles west of Dumas, who removed five years ago to a farm two miles from Gatesville, Correll Co., was stricken soon after his move with paralysis and was helpless until his death 16th of Sept., last.

Many of Dumas High School pupils remember Little Miss Mary Young; so studious, bright and well advanced in her classes. She has continued her endeavors for an education and her efforts are this year to be crowned with success, as a graduate of Gatesville High School. She also attended school in San Marcus, one year and will begin her career as a teacher next year.

Deputy J. V. Mills who was just recovering from a case of typhoid has suffered a relapse and his temperature for past few days has been ranging from 101 to 103 degrees.

NICE WEDDING PRESENTS ARRIVE

Mr. Walter Dennis, was in from his ranch Tuesday and says he and Mrs. Dennis expect to be at home at the Pounds place in about a fortnight.

Mr. Dennis was also gleefully surprised to find awaiting them a beautiful wedding present from his kind and thoughtful brother, W. R. Dennis, the big land agent of Peoria, Ill. The present was a box of silver ware, consisting of a set of knives, forks, spoons, sugar shell and butter knife. Mr. Dennis previously presented the young couple with a barrel of fine china ware. To show Mr. Dennis' appreciation he remarked that he was so pleased with these kindnesses that he would probably try the matrimonial adventure again some day. "He has only been married a short time!!"

ASKS FOR BACK NUMBERS OF PIONEER

A letter Monday requesting back numbers of the Pioneer was received from Mr. Charles Dore, of Ft. Worth.

Mr. Dore left Moore county two years ago to accept a position with Gents Furnishing Store, of Dallas as bookkeeper, but for his love and talent for engineering he gave up this work and accepted a position with a Ft. Worth Under Ground Construction Co., as engineer and repairer, his present occupation. But with January, 1st he suffers a promotion, and accepts a position with Sears, Roebuck & Co., of Texas.

Mr. Chas finds time in this busy city to read the Pioneer seeking tidings of his parents, brother, sister, and a host of friends in the Dumas country.

Entertain With 42

At Hotel-Dumas

The following guests thoroughly enjoyed progressive 42 until a late hour at Hotel Dumas Monday evening:

Mrs. C. W. Divilbiss, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Craven, Prof. Clark and wife, Pride Hale, Sheriff Burnett and daughters, Misses Rosa and Ella, Misses Cora and Aletha Payne, Mr. Powell and wife, and Messrs. Henry Payne, Clarence Walker, and James Morton; competing the required number for four tables.

Prizes were awarded Henry Payne and Mrs. Clark. First prize, a bottle of fragrant White Rose cologne. Booty prize, a box of delicious Cracker Jack popcorn.

Mrs. B. B. Eiland, who is visiting her daughter Mrs. H. L. Johnston, was quite sick Monday night, a physician having to be called in. But was much better last news we had.

Mrs. Eiland was quite low for several months before leaving her home in N. M. and was hauled to the Panhandle on her bed, but since reaching here she has seemed to improve all the while and we hope she will soon be strong again.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Divilbiss were in from their ranch Tuesday horseback, and had the Pioneer girls make them some "snapshots" in the regular western style.

Master Henry Johnston, the young freighter, believes in a "Cleaner Dumas" and verified his belief Friday that improvements were to be made, by carting outside the city limits, several double freighters, of tin cans and etc., such as is to be found around quite a number of our respected residences.

We suggest Master Henry as President for a Dumas Civic Improvement Club.

It was decided this week at a meeting of the trustees that above all other improvements the Dumas Public schools needed the addition of another teacher. So crowded were the classes since the addition of the Tenth Grade that it was impossible for the two teachers to make the rounds of a day and do justice to each class.

Mrs. W. M. Craven proved the choice of the Trustees and was employed for remainder of the term. This addition also called for the addition of another room, for which, plans were made and turned over to carpenter J. L. McDade and contract was made for the building of same at once. The room is to be joined on the west.

The new arrangement will give Prof. Clark, (Principal) eighth, ninth and tenth grades. Mrs. Clark (Intermediate) fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh grades. Mrs. Craven (Primary) primer, first, second and third grades.

The Election passed off quietly very few farmers taking the one important day-off to come in to cast their ballot. The Primary having seemingly killed all interest for the general election.

Mr. O. E. McDowell was "voted in" as Commissioner of Precinct No. 4. Voters were greatly rejoiced as one by one they came in for their mail and found the other fellows had so comfortably seated Democrat Wilson in the Presidential chair. Three cheers for the New President!!

THE CHILDREN'S HEALTH

In observing the physical characteristics of her children, the careful mother soon learns that health is dependent on the regularity of the bowels. When the bowels become clogged with the stomach's refuse, loss of appetite, restlessness, irritability, and similar evidences of disorder are soon apparent. Keep the bowels regular and a healthy, happy child is assured.

At the first sign of constipation the mother should administer a mild laxative to carry off the congested waste from the stomach that is fermenting and forcing poisonous gases into the system. A simple compound of laxative herbs with pepsin is highly recommended as being very mild, yet positive, in its action, a teaspoonful at bedtime usually serving to bring an easy, thorough, natural movement next morning. This compound is known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and is sold by druggists everywhere for 50c a bottle. A larger bottle, put up especially for the family medicine chest, costs one dollar.

The use of salts and violent purgatives and cathartics should be avoided. They are too harsh and drastic, tending to upset the entire system. Write to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 203 West St., Monticello, Ill., for a trial bottle of his Syrup Pepsin, if you have never used it. He will be glad to send it without any expense to you. Adv.

FOR COUGHS AND COLDS

IMPORTANT PINCH OF SALT

Seemingly There Are Few Dishes to Which It Will Not Impart an Excellent Flavor.

Few housewives, especially the little Mrs. Newlyweds, fully appreciate the value of the pinch of salt. Of course, everyone uses salt on meats, and in soups, entrees, vegetables, sauces, etc., but although the cook books do not always include it in recipes for cakes, pies and desserts generally, there is almost nothing from the most dainty gelatine and whipped cream dessert to bread and butter pudding that is not greatly improved by it. You probably would not dream of putting it in a pot of tea, but if you try it you will find that it brings out the aroma of the tea, making it actually fragrant by neutralizing the flatness of the water. This will be found especially so in localities where the water is hard or has a mineral taste. It should always be used in coffee and cocoa. It imparts a mellow taste to coffee and makes the cocoa seem very much richer.

The delicate flavoring of all custard desserts is enhanced by the magic pinch of salt. Put it in pies of all kinds. Use plenty of salt in the pie crust where only lard is used for shortening. Meringues are improved by it.

At preserving time remember the pinch of salt, whether you are making preserves, jelly or marmalade. It simply puts the water where it belongs—in the background, and the fruit flavor stands out preeminent.

These are a few of the out of ordinary, yet everyday, uses of a pinch of salt.—Armour's Cook Book.

FOR PLUM OR GRAPE JELLY

Delicious Preserve Will Result if These Directions Are Faithfully Carried Out.

Put ripe plums in a colander and pour boiling water over them; then put the fruit in a preserving kettle with barely enough water to cover, and boil until the plums are softened and the juice is plentiful. Strain off the juice and put it on to boil. Measure out a pound of sugar to every pint of the juice, and place it in shallow pans in the oven to heat until the juice has boiled for twenty minutes. Add the sugar then, stirring it in until dissolved and removing all scum as it rises, and pour into glasses boiled in hot water to prevent their breaking when the scalding fluid is poured in. A delicious jelly from wild grapes may be made in the same way, but, remember, if the jelly bag is squeezed the result will be jam and not clear jelly. When the natural dripping seems about over, squeeze out all the pulp that will come through the mesh of the bag and use it for jam.

Preserved Half Peaches.

Clingstone peaches are the best. Pare and cut them in halves. Remove the stones and cook the stones in water for twenty minutes. Use the water for making syrup in which the peaches are to be cooked. For preserving, use as many pounds of sugar as there are pounds of fruit and one cupful of water to each pound of sugar. Boil the sugar and water until the syrup is clear, then drop in a few peaches at a time, until they are cooked. Put into jars which have been sterilized and seal them while they are hot.

Delicious Fudge Cake.

Break into a bowl two eggs and add a cup and a half of milk. Place in a crock and add two cups of sugar, two cups of flour (sifted two or three times), with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, then add four teaspoonfuls cocoa, last add three tablespoonfuls melted lard. Place in pans and bake.

Filling—Buy five cents' worth of marshmallows, lay even on china plate, place in moderate oven till marshmallows spread out in shape of the plate; spread between cake layers.

New China Currency.

The new Chinese dollars of the Chinese republic are objects of much curiosity among the natives. They carry English on the obverse side and Chinese on the reverse, with the picture of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, founder of

THE RIGHT SOAP FOR BABY'S SKIN

In the care of baby's skin and hair, Cuticura Soap is the mother's favorite. Not only is it unrivaled in purity and refreshing fragrance, but its gentle emollient properties are usually sufficient to allay minor irritations, remove redness, roughness and chafing, soothe sensitive conditions, and promote skin and hair health generally. Assisted by Cuticura Ointment, it is most valuable in the treatment of eczemas, rashes and other itching, burning infantile eruptions. Cuticura Soap wears to a wafer, often outlasting several cakes of ordinary soap and making its use most economical.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston." Adv.

BACKACHE IS DISCOURAGING

Until You Get After The Cause

Nothing more discouraging than a constant backache.

Lame when you awake. Pains pierce you when you bend or lift. It's hard to work, or to rest.

You sleep poorly and next day is the same old story.

That backache indicates bad kidneys and calls for some good kidney remedy.

None so well recommended as Doan's Kidney Pills.

Here's A California Case—

Mrs. E. Walsh, 1649 Tenth Ave., San Francisco, Cal., says: "The sharp, knife-like pains in my back were almost unbearable. I often had to cry out. Once while walking, I had a sudden attack and a doctor had to be called. Finally I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they made me well."

Women

From Forty-Five to Fifty Are Much Benefited

by

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The "change of life" is a most critical period in a woman's existence, and the anxiety felt by women as it draws near is not without reason.

When her system is in a deranged condition, she may be predisposed to apoplexy, or congestion of some organ. At this time, also, cancers and tumors are more liable to form and begin their destructive work.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude, and dizziness, are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period in life when woman's great change may be expected.

These symptoms are calls from nature for help. The nerves are crying out for assistance and the cry should be heeded in time.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is prepared to meet the needs of women's system at this trying period of her life. It invigorates and strengthens the female organism and builds up the weakened nervous system. It has carried many women safely through this crisis.

Mrs. Estella Gillispie

ONE CASE OUT OF MANY TO PROVE OUR CLAIMS.

St. Anne, Ill.—"I was passing through the change of life and I was a perfect wreck from female troubles. I had a displacement and bearing down pains, weak fainting spells, dizziness, then numb and cold feelings. Sometimes my feet and limbs were swollen. I was irregular and had so much backache and headache, was nervous, irritable and was despondent. Sometimes my appetite was good but more often it was not. My kidneys troubled me at times and I could walk only a short distance.

"I saw your advertisement in a paper and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I was helped from the first. At the end of two months the swelling had gone down, I was relieved of pain, and could walk with ease. I continued with the medicine and now I do almost all my housework. I know your medicine has saved me from the grave and I am willing for you to publish anything I write to you, for the good of others."—Mrs. ESTELLA GILLISPIE, R.F.D. No. 4, Box 34, St. Anne, Illinois.

DAIRY

KEEP DAIRY UTENSILS CLEAN

Home-Made Sterilizer May Be Put Together at Cost of Few Dollars—Directions Given.

If the dairyman is to keep his dairy utensils absolutely clean he must sterilize them daily. This is just as necessary in the small dairy as in the large one, writes F. L. Austin in the Country Gentleman. The dairyman who milks only a few cows cannot afford an expensive equipment in his dairy room. Many who do a profitable but modest business believe that a sterilizer is an expensive luxury. Such is not the case.

A home-made sterilizer may be made at a cost of not more than $7 or $8. Go to your local tinner or hardware merchant; show him the accompanying cut and tell him to make you a box three and a half feet square of galvanized iron, 28 gauge—a little heavier if he hasn't this. All joints should be riveted and soldered closely.

This will make a steam-tight box, with the exception of the cracks about the door, and will hold enough steam pressure for all practical purposes in sterilizing.

The door should be not quite three feet square and should be cut to lap about an inch over all four sides of the opening. Ordinary heavy, double-strap hinges may be used, fastened with either bolts or rivets. A bolt and staple fastener holds the door shut. The steam may be piped into the top and one side as shown in the illustration. A few holes punched in the bottom will drain off the condensed steam. It should be turned on slowly at first, and then gradually be worked up to full force with 30 or 40 pounds of steam in the boiler. A thorough sterilization will be accomplished in from ten to fifteen minutes. The writer has used a sterilizer similar to this, which cost $7.50, and found it to be thoroughly efficient.

HANDY BARN DOOR FASTENER

Contrivance Not Only Makes Door More Firm and Secure, but Makes It Safe Throughout.

(By R. G. WEATHERSTONE.)

One of my neighbors has his stable door fastened with a very good hinge, one which many farmers would do well to copy. The door is fastened with a flat iron bar extending across the middle of the door and used for a third strap hinge. The iron bar is about three inches wide by three-eighths of an inch thick. It is bolted solidly to the door in several places, and is hung at one end as a hinge.

This not only makes the door more secure and firm on its hinges, but it makes it strong and safe throughout. A groove in the other end of the bar slips over a heavy iron staple when the door is shut, and is held in place with a half-inch iron pin or bolt.

The broad iron strap, as a heavy reinforcement for the door, together with the heavy iron fastenings, make the door absolutely safe for the keeping of strong animals.

Such a door is the kind to use for a jack, stallion, bull or any large animal that must be absolutely safely stabled at all times.

The hinged iron strap for a safe stable door is simple and easy in construction. An old tire from a wide-tired wagon would answer the purpose adequately, and any blacksmith could easily make it at a cost of perhaps not more than 25 or 30 cents.

SAFETY BOTTLES FOR MILK

Receptacle Invented by Brooklyn Man Prevents Tampering by Any Unscrupulous Person.

In describing a safety receptacle, invented by W. Winkelmann of Brooklyn, N. Y., the Scientific American says:

Bottles containing milk or other merchandise may be deposited in this receptacle, so as to prevent the latter from being tampered with by unscrupulous persons when the vender leaves them outside of the buildings. This simple inexpensive and perfectly secure device is normally maintained unlocked, but it may be automatically locked or placed in a receptive locking condition by the insertion therein of a full milk bottle or other merchandise. The accompanying illustration presents a vertical section of the receptacle showing it locked.

Butter from Ripened Cream.

Butter from fresh and properly ripened cream not over a day old keeps better than does butter made from sweet cream. The butter fat from very fresh cream is apparently in a more stable condition than is the fat in sour cream over one day old, and not so predisposed to decomposition. Butter fat in the form of butter keeps better than does butter fat in the form of cream, even though it be in properly ripened cream.

It is the things that are possible but not probable that keep some people from being happy.

If your appetite is not what it should be perhaps Malaria is developing. It affects the whole system. OXIDINE will clear away the germs, rid you of Malaria and generally improve your condition. Adv.

Joke on His Clerical Brother.
Two brothers named Chalmers, one a minister and the other a physician, lived together in a western town. One day a man called at the house and asked for Mr. Chalmers. The physician, who answered the door, replied: "I am he."

"You've changed considerably since I last heard you preach," said the man, who appeared greatly astonished.

"Oh, it's my brother you want to see; he preaches and I practice."

Vegetable Fiber for Shoes.
A Haverhill (Mass.) shoeman has obtained patents giving him the right to make vamps and tops of vegetable fiber which he has invented and perfected to be used in the manufacture of shoes. A few cases of shoes have been made of this material, which appears to be a good substitute for leather. The fiber is said to be particularly adaptable for warm weather wear because, being of a woven material, air can penetrate the vamp and top. The inventor also claims that a shoe made of this material is waterproof.

IT'S THE FOOD.
The True Way to Correct Nervous Troubles.

Nervous troubles are more often caused by improper food and indigestion than most people imagine. Even doctors sometimes overlook this fact. A man says:

"Until two years ago waffles and butter with meat and gravy were the main features of my breakfast. Finally dyspepsia came on and I found myself in a bad condition, worse in the morning than any other time. I would have a full, sick feeling in my stomach, with pains in my heart, sides and head.

"At times I would have no appetite, for days, then I would feel ravenous, never satisfied when I did eat and so nervous I felt like shrieking at the top of my voice. I lost flesh badly and hardly knew which way to turn until one day I bought a box of Grape-Nuts food to see if I could eat that. I tried it without telling the doctor, and liked it fine; made me feel as if I had something to eat that was satisfying and still I didn't have that heaviness that I had felt after eating any other food. "I hadn't drank any coffee then in five weeks. I kept on with the Grape-Nuts and in a month and a half I had gained 15 pounds, could eat almost anything I wanted, didn't feel badly after eating and my nervousness was all gone. It's a pleasure to be well again."

DEPENDS ON THE BONUS

Col. Sharman Returns from St. Louis and Reports Trust Co. Will Inspect Bonus

Col. Sharman returned from St. Louis this morning where he had been on business connected with the securing of money to build the E. O. & W. He informed The Texan man that representatives of trust company which will furnish money for the construction of the road will be here soon after the election and if the bonus is guaranteed, $125,000 raised and secured, the money for construction purposes will be forthcoming.

So many subscribers to the bonus are getting impatient that it might be well to remind them of some past history. When Col. Sharman and associates first inspected the property with a view of buying they were assured by leading men at Ochiltree, Hansford, Dumas and Dalhart that the "bonus can be raised in twenty-four hours." So optimistic were the people along the line that Col. Sharman and associates immediately made arrangements for the money for building purposes, assuring the trust company officials that the bonus would be forthcoming at once and would at once be put up as security along with the property of the road for the building funds.

Instead of being raised in twenty-four hours it took two months of hard soliciting and then the notes were unsecured and it is not known even yet whether $125,000 has been raised and secured. Meanwhile the trust company has been attending to other businesses and it has taken the hardest kind of work for Col. Sharman and associate to gain interest in the E. O. & W.

The money is now in sight for the construction purposes and the building of the E. O. & W. is assured if the bonus is raised, and the means SECURED.

and looting the helpless you and every man associated with you. Neither you, nor all your company, can make me marry Captain Grant. I will die first. No, don't move, and don't think you are dealing with a frightened girl. I am desperate enough, but I can act—

"Hell! Jones, take that hell-cat by the arms!"

"Jones will do nothing of the kind—and you—stand back, Fagin; don't dare to lay a hand on me again!"

Her face was white, her lips set, her eyes blazing, but Fagin, assured of her helplessness, laughed, and stepped forward. From what hidden concealment it came I know not, but there was the flash of a polished barrel, a sharp report, the whirl of smoke, and the brute went backward over a chair, crashing to the floor, with hands flung high over his head. I was aware of the swift rush of a body past me, of steps going up the stairs, and then, with a yell, my men poured out from the library into the hall.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

The Fight in the Hall.

Scarcely comprehending that Claire had escaped from the room, I was swept forward by the onrush of bodies. The preacher was knocked headlong beneath the table, but Fagin lay motionless underfoot. Jones and Grant turned to a door at the right, and I leaped after them. One of the two fired, and the ball struck my shoulder, the impact throwing me back against one of my men. An instant I felt sick and dizzy, yet realized I was not seriously hurt, and managed to stagger to my feet. The door was closed and locked, and, although my head reeled, I began to think clearly.

"The other way, lads!" I cried.

"Quick, into the hall!"

We tumbled out through the narrow entrance, and I found myself next to Eric. But we were too late to head off the fugitives, or prevent their achieving their purpose. In through the rear door, confused as to what had occurred, yet shouting fiercely, poured Fagin's wolves, seeking trouble. They were a wild, rough-looking lot, ill-dressed, and dirty even in that dim light. For an instant, congested within the limits of the hallway, both sides paused, staring at each other in mutual surprise and hesitation. Then I heard Jones' bellow of command, and Grant's nasal voice profanely ordering them to come on. With us there remained no choice; we must fight it out where we were, regardless of numbers.

"Fire! you damned fools—fire!" roared Jones, and there was a crashing of guns, the dense smoke swirling between us. A Dragoon at my right went sprawling; another behind gave vent to a yell as he plunged head first down the basement stairs. There was the sound of splintering wood, of breaking glass. I felt the blood in my veins leap to the fever of it.

We were upon the fellows with a rush, firing in their very faces, and leaping madly at them. There was little room between the walls, barely space for a half-dozen to fight in, shoulder to shoulder, but those behind, eager to strike also, pressed up so recklessly that we hurled them back. To me it was all confusion, uproar, deadly fighting. I could think of nothing to right or left, only of the struggling devils in my front. Faces, forms, came and vanished in the swirl of smoke, brown gun-barrels whirled before me, flashes of fire burned my eyes, strange features, bearded, malignant, glared at me. I leaped straight at them, striking fiercely. Once I saw Grant, and aimed a blow at him. Then he was gone, swallowed in the ruck.

Our mad onrush swept them back, helpless, demoralized. I stumbled over bodies, slipped in pools of blood, yet kept my feet. Every muscle ached; I was cut and pounded, yet drove into the mass, shouting to those behind: "Come on, lads! Come on! We're driving them!"

A yard, two yards, three—beyond the door where the men had escaped we won our way. Then they could go no further. Blocked, unable to retreat, wedged helplessly against the far end of the hall they turned like cornered rats. I could see nothing of Jones, but I heard him, raging like a fiend.

"Now, you curs, now!" he stormed. "You cowardly scum—perhaps you'll fight when you can't run! What are you afraid of? There's only a handful, you can chew 'em up, if you will! Push 'em back, there! Push 'em back!"

With a yell of rage, those crushed against the wall hurtled forward, driving the others; men were lifted and hurled at us; others gripped at our feet; by sheer force of numbers they swept us backward. It was hard to head, neither side having time to reload their weapons. The smoke rose, permitting a view of the shambles. There was a tangle of arms, a jumble of faces. They were maddened beasts, desperate, revengeful. Hands clutched at us, gun-butts were thrust into our faces, the crush too dense to permit of their being swung overhead. My Dragoons had their sabres out, and stood to it like men, the steel blades dripping as they tasted blood. But killing on only brought a new man to the front. One does not see so much as feel in such a jumble. Yet I knew we were overated, outnumbered. They came at me like a battering ram. I saw the sergeant shot through the forehead; I saw Eric go down beneath a crushing stroke, and roll under my feet. I stepped on bodies, fighting for my own life as I never fought before. Somewhere I had gripped a gun out of dead fingers and swung it savagely, smashing the stock at the first blow, but retaining the twisted iron. The intensity of excitement seemed to clear my brain. I began to distinguish voices, to notice faces. I heard Grant yell safely in the rear; I heard Jones' roar, "To hell with 'em! To hell with 'em!" Out of the murk of struggling figures I made out his black beard, the gleam of yellow fangs, and leaped toward him, striking men down until I was able to swing at his head. He went over like a stricken ox under a butcher's ax, knocking aside two men as he fell. It gave me chance to spring out of the melee.

"To the stairs, men! The stairs!" I cried. "We can hold them there!"

I cannot describe now how we made it, but we did. I only know Tom and I held the rear, sweeping circles of death with our whirling gun-barrels, falling back step by step as we fought. At last I felt the bottom stairs with my feet, and heard a voice shout:

"Come up, sir! We'll hold 'em now!"

Then I was above the heads of the mob, gripping the rail, and sobbing for breath. There followed a moment's wait, an instant of hesitancy. I began to see and feel once more. Below us the hall was jammed with men, so closely pressed together as to be almost helpless. Blood streamed from a cut in my forehead, nearly blinding me, but I wiped it away, and took one glance at their angry upturned faces, and gained a glimpse of my own men. There were but six of us, and one of these lay helpless propped against the wall. Tom and I stood alone, his face blackened by powder, his shirt ripped into rags; the other three were above, pistols in hand.

"Are they loaded?" I gasped.

"Yes, sir."

"Stand ready then, but look out for above; there was a guard up there—Tom."

He turned his face slightly.

"Move back a step or two more; we've got to hold them."

"All right, sir."

I felt weak from loss of blood, my head reeling, and had to hold to the rail. Below us, growling like wild beasts, but seemingly leaderless, the mob crushed forward to the foot of the stairs. Suddenly I saw Grant, and the sight of him gave me new life.

"You black-faced hound," I called down angrily. "You've kept yourself safe so far. Now come on."

He snarled some answer, what, I know not. There was an empty pistol in my belt, and I flung it at him with all the force of my arm. He dodged, the weapon striking the man behind. With a howl of rage the fellows leaped toward us, bearing Grant on the crest of the wave. The pistols of the Dragoons cracked; three fell, blocking the stairs with their bodies. We had room now in which to swing our iron bars.

As Outlined Many Centuries Ago, They Are Essentially the Same Today.

Two things, men of Athens, are characteristic of a right-minded citizen (if so I may speak of myself and give the least offense): When he is an authority, his constant aim should be to preserve the dignity and pre-eminence of the commonwealth; and at all times and under all circumstances his spirit should be loyal. This depends upon the heart within him; success and conquest upon other things. Such a spirit, you will find, I have steadily cherished. Observe: When my person was demanded—when they brought Amphictyonic suits against me—when they menaced—when they promised you great rewards to give me up—when they set these miscreants like wild beasts upon me—never did I for a moment waver in my loyalty to you. From first to last I chose an honest and straightforward course in politics, to support the honor, the power, the glory of my fatherland, these to exalt, in these to have my being. I do not go about the town gay and light-hearted because the stranger has prospered, holding out my hand and congratulating any I think may report it yonder, and when I hear the news of our own success, shuddering and groaning and bowing my head, like these unholy men, who sneer at Athens as if in so doing they did not sneer at themselves; who look abroad, and if a stranger thrives by the distresses of Greece, are thankful for it, and say we should keep him so thriving to all the time.

O God, let not such wishes ever be fulfilled! If in thy wisdom it be possible, give these men a better and nobler spirit! But if their hearts are bad, past all recovery, may they work out their ruin for themselves! Destroy them from off the face of the earth! And for the rest of us, grant a swift release from all our fears, and the enjoyment of a lasting deliverance!—Demosthenes, ("The Oration of the Crown.")

New Way to Manifold.

A manifolded letter has certain earmarks by which it may be readily detected by anyone who is in the habit of receiving mail in quantities. Such letters get scant attention as a rule, and there has been long a demand for some system of manifolding by which a letter will be turned out with all the characteristics of a specially written missive. This has been done in a typewriter said to have been invented by a German. In addition to this function it is possible to make corrections in the letter without the necessity of rewriting it. After the first draft has been made it is possible to duplicate this indefinitely at a very rapid rate, each letter being written separately and accurately following the lines of the first draft. As the impression is being made on the first sheet another sheet is being prepared, each character being represented by a combination of perforations and this is a master sheet by which the subsequent sheets are prepared automatically. The same principle can be applied to typesetting machines.

Recording Births in Aeroplane.

That the regulations and rules governing aerial travel will be modeled closely upon those in use on the sea is shown in the latest set proposed by the international committee. It provides, among other things, says the Scientific American, that a death or birth occurring on an aeroplane or dirigible balloon in transit must be reported by the pilot at the first landing place.

Tales of GOTHAM and other CITIES

New York City Crowd Pursues One Little Bird

NEW YORK.—"The best way to catch an Irish linnnet is to do a cabaret dance and make a noise like a worm," was the philosophical decision of one of a score of men who spent the entire afternoon recently trying to capture a bird in the clearing back of the Hotel Astor, where the New theater is to be erected. An interested crowd of several hundred persons watched the chase and several hundred suggestions were made.

All the commotion was started when Miss Martha Marr of Stamping Ground, Ky., reported to a clerk in the Hotel Astor that her Irish linnnet, which she had smuggled into her room on the eighth floor back, had flown her coop, or, to be exact, her gilded cage. Great was the grief she displayed. But nothing happened until she displayed a yellowback with $20 marked all over it.

"Try an ad in the paper," suggested a bellboy, "and you will get back a dozen birds in the morning."

"But I must get my Colleen (Christian name of the bird) at once. She is right out there in the back yard, the poor dear, just flying around in a hysterical manner."

Baskets, buckets and other articles, arranged with bait underneath and propped upon sticks to which were attached long strings, were the more popular methods used.

"Put salt on its tail!"

"Get an aeroplane!"

"Make a noise like a worm!"

"Get a letter of introduction!"

These were a few of the suggestions made to the crowd that labored for more than three hours trying to catch the feathered prize. Colleen was still fancy free and having the time of her young life when darkness came and Miss Marr refused to be consoled.

"Hoodoo" Didn't Work and Sallie Got "Wusser"

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—A white woman named Mrs. Titmore was arraigned before Judge Benners of the court of common pleas the other day on a charge of the larceny of a cow belonging to an aged negro woman named Adelaide Williams. The evidence was not sufficient to sustain the charge, but it revealed a state of facts that showed the credulence of the negro race in the efficiency of the "hoodoo."

The negro woman stated that she was the proud mother of a yellow girl of about seventeen years old that instead of staying at home the said offspring, as the old woman expressed it, went "er gallivadin' wid de boys." This behavior on the part of her daughter Sallie caused the old woman some "oneasiness" and she called on the white woman for assistance. The said assistance was immediately promised and a bargain was made that in the event the white woman succeeded in casting a spell on the wayward Sallie she was to receive the cow in payment.

According to the testimony of Adelaide the white woman fixed a powder and a bottle of liquid, which she gave to the girl with the injunction to place them in her trunk and the desire to roam would immediately vanish. The directions were carried out and the white woman took possession of the cow.

"Did the charm have the desired effect?" asked the prosecuting attorney.

"What you mean?"

"Did the hoodoo keep Sallie from running around at night?"

"Keep dat chille from runnin' 'round at night? Lordy man, no, sah; hit made her wusser."

Sallie was put on the stand to testify as to the effects of the charm and also stated very emphatically that it made her "wusser" and that since that medicine was in her trunk she had almost left home.

Boys' Tricks Force Action by Chicago Council

CHICAGO.—Mischievous small boys, through a recent acquired habit, are going to force the city council to amend the automobile ordinances to prevent the boys from adding to the city's automobile accidents.

Alderman James W. Kearns discovered the other day that the combination of an automobile, equipped with a self-starting engine, and a small boy was one which may cause trouble.

Instead of being content to walk up to a machine standing at a curb and "toot" the horn, boys have demonstrated the merits of self-starting devices for automobile engines by pushing a foot lever and letting the engine "run wild."

"There is no danger in this," said Alderman Kearns, "if some one is left to guard the car, or if the brakes are set. But just think what would happen if a small boy was to press the engine-starting device of a machine where the brakes are not set."

"Why, the machine is likely to start running in a crowded street and injure, or perhaps kill, several persons before it could be stopped. I am going to ask the city council to pass an amendment to the automobile ordinances requiring that all automobiles, whether or not they are equipped with self-starting devices, be made 'small boy proof.'"

The police department has the power to arrest any person other than the owner for tampering with an automobile. Alderman Kearns said, however, that it would take a small army of policemen to keep track of the mischievous acts of Chicago's thousands of small boys.

"Well, in the first place," explained the little lady, "they've got three of the scrawniest kids, and the mother herself don't look very strong."

"Twenty-five dollars!" he expostulated. "Your honor, where is this poor, unfortunate man to get $25?"

"His honor did not know, or if he did he refrained from saying so, but the prisoner was less discreet.

WOMEN AS NATURAL ENEMIES

Writer Advances Some Good Reasons Why This Unfortunate Condition Must Exist.

"The average woman now begins that study of society which will merge ultimately with the marriage campaign. She makes many discoveries which she admits frankly to herself. She comes to many conclusions," says Inez Haynes Gillmore in Harper's Bazar, "which sink unnoticed into her subconscious mind. Marriage, for instance, is her natural career, then men are her natural prey.

"But unfortunately there are never enough men in her world to go round; and of those from whom she may hope to choose some are much more desirable than others. Naturally she prefers the desirable ones—i. e., the 'eligibles.' But—and here she runs against her first obstacle—every other single woman in her circle has come to the same conclusion. From the instant she realizes this she must declare war on every other member of her sex.

"Men must often wonder at that minute and merciless examination to which, on a first meeting, every woman submits every other woman. Men must often marvel at the power of quick observation which women always develop in these circumstances. This is only the swift interrogation with which a warrior surveys the arms of his opponent. Women are forever discovering new and complex weapons in the possession of rivals. And, perhaps, the most terrifying element in the situation is psychological—her sense of bafflement, in that she cannot judge of women for men any more than they can judge of men for her. Every other woman becomes her enemy. To succeed in her world she must play a lone hand and a cut-throat game."

One Problem Settled.

Mrs. Stronghead had just thrown a paving stone through a drug store window, merely to prove that she was entitled to a vote (says Judge), and had been marched off to jail. "Thank heaven," said Stronghead. "That settles the where-shall-we-spend-the-summer problem, anyhow."

Miss Mary Steele Harvey is the first woman to be appointed a police officer in Baltimore. The last legislature created five police matrons with full police powers. Miss Harvey is the first of the five to be appointed.

Constipation and Catarrh

S. B. HARTMAN, M. D.

You are constipated. You have taken laxatives a great many years. You have tried to select a diet that would keep your bowels regular. In this you have failed and were obliged to go back to your laxatives again. This, I say, has been going on many years.

You also have a slight catarrh in the head and throat. You never imagined that the catarrh had anything to do with the constipation. Suppose I were to tell you that as long as you have that catarrh you will never get better of your constipation. Would you believe me? Well, whether you would believe me or not it is the truth.

A great majority of summer ills are due to Malaria in suppressed form. Lassitude and headaches are but two symptoms. OXIDINE eradicates the Malaria germ and tones up the entire system. Adv.

At the age of forty a man begins to live and unlearn.

For many years I have been wrestling with the problem of furnishing the public an internal catarrh remedy. Peruna has been the remedy that I have devised and it has certainly relieved many thousand people, yes hundreds of thousands of people, of chronic catarrh.

Constipation was my chief difficulty in treating these cases. I often felt that it would be better if a laxative element were added to Peruna. I feared to do so, however, first because of the number of catarrhal patients who needed no laxative, and second I was afraid of making such a radical change in a remedy that was already doing so well. Thus it was that I continued to prescribe with the Peruna a bottle of Manalin to those who needed a laxative. At last, under circumstances explained in my booklet, I was constrained to add the laxative element to Peruna. This constitutes what is now known as the revised Peruna.

Now those who take Peruna will, first, find themselves promptly relieved of their constipation. Second, the catarrh will gradually disappear. And once the catarrh is cured the constipation leaves permanently. Then if you follow the advice given in my book, you will never have to take pills any more. Cathartics and laxatives you can ignore. You will be permanently relieved of both your catarrh and the constipation.

Peruna, Manalin and La-cu-pla manufactured by the Pe-ru-na Company, Columbus, Ohio. Sold at all drug stores.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—Many persons inquire for The Old-time Peruna. They want the Peruna that their Fathers and Mothers used to take. The old Peruna is now called Katarino. Mr. Crump, of near Dumas, visited the family of Joe Cluse one night last, and while helping Mr. Cluse doctor a sick mule he came near receiving a serious injury. The mule was suffering with spasmodic colic and during one of its struggles it struck Mr. Crump in the stomach with both feet knocking him nearly twenty feet but fortunately, besides the bruises on his body and the general shakeup he received, he was uninjured. Mr. Cluse reports that if he had been a foot farther away from the mule it would have killed him.
