YOUR FRIENDS WILL MEET YOU HERE NEXT MONDAY TRADESDAY

THIS WEEK WE GIVE A STORY ABOUT ONE OF BROWNFIELD'S SWEETHEARTS

Miss Queenelle Sawyer a Favorite With Fellow Students in High School, to be Followed up by Being one Among The Most Popular in College. Named in "Who's Who."

We have written up most of the business men, part of the Courthouse gang, some of the professional men, and still we are not nearly done yet. We don't know whether some of them appreciate our feeble efforts or not. However none so far have taken us to task for the write-up, and most have thanked us. But we have to have variety, and this week we are taking up one of Brownfield's Sweethearts, Miss Queenelle Sawyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sawyer, pioneer family of Terry county. There are oodles of other sweethearts of the town and county who will receive writeups from time to time, but we are starting with Queenelle.

The writer has known this young lady from the time when she was just a few days old to the present time, and can therefore speak with some authority on the good graces of this sterling young lady. While the Sawyer family is what may be spoken of as wealthy in this world's goods, that fact is not made known by them. You have to find out for yourself. But in meeting with and forming friendships with them they do not cater any more to the rich than to those of moderate means. In other words, the whole Sawyer generation bases their friendships not on material wealth but on what a person is and does. They hold their heads above none, but any person of worth, rich or poor is in their good graces.

The subject of this sketch is no different from any other member of this large family. She has a smile for all her friends and acquaintances, and this is the one and only reason that she was always a favorite in grade and high school as well as at college. We are truly glad that we have such young ladies in our city; not only pretty, but friendly. Once an editor from New York visited our city, and informed the Herald that he had never seen as many pretty girls in a small town, as he had seen while in Brownfield. And the greatest part of the matter is that they are not dumb, though pretty. Many of them not only made the honor rolls regularly while in the local schools, but have consistently made them in college, and Queenelle is one of them. From the day she entered Texas Technological College at Lubbock, to the present, she has been a favorite in all kinds of college af-

It's Eden, Sweet Eden, But Not Brownfield

Some folks think it is only the young people who get homesick away from the old stomping ground, but some time it is the middle aged and passed that want to trod the old paths again. A letter last week from our former neighbors and friends, A. L. Carson and family now at Eden, Texas, stopping awhile at Christoval after leaving here, wish they had never sold their holdings here. Whether they have no close neighbors, or the people there are just not friendly and neighborly, we can't guess, yet their letter stated that they had no neighbors to chat with occasionally like they did in Brownfield.

There is another old timer who lived in Terry county for 15 years, but moved to Midland on account of he could not get a place here to work this year. This was J. A. Forrester and family, and while they have built a little home of their own in Midland, they are all homesick, and are longing for regular visits of the Herald. Well, here she comes, folks, and hope you enjoy it.

Some new comers, as well as some not so new have remarked that the people of Brownfield are not friendly. But we have always found that most of the people here are ready to warm up to you when you warm up to them. They'll meet you more than half way in most instances. But perhaps we can improve. Let us always be nice to strangers, who are inclined to be homesick at best. It will mean a lot to them, and costs us nothing.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Smith of Big Lake, Texas, and Mrs. Chris Quante, Brownfield returned last week from Indiana, where they visited Mr. Smith's relatives. They also visited in Chicago, Illinois. They returned home the coastal route.

This past term, she received her B. A. degree from Tech, and plans on doing anthropological research work. She majored in English. While carrying a heavy work in college, as stated above, she proved a leader in social, religious and student government work. In this work, the object is to aid the student in getting the most out of their college career; compensation for what they have already done; recommendation of them to the business world, etc. In so doing, she was one of the two girls of Brownfield who won recognition in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities," which had the following to say about her college career:

SAWYER, Queenelle, born December 9, 1918 at Brownfield; Recognized in Women's Service; President of the Ko Shari club; Secretary of Student's Council; Member of student's publication committee; Artists course committee and inter-club council; Member of Association of Women Students and Junior Council.

So, you can see for yourself that Queenelle's college activities have covered a vast field, and while this extra work on her aside from carrying her regular studies was rather hard at times, we have been assured by her many friends that she always came up for more with that ever present, sweet smile. This whole section is proud of her; this writer is particularly proud of her, for she has been our friend and pal from childhood to the present time. Watch this girl go places.

Revival Now Going on At Church of Christ

James F. Black, of Hallsville, Texas, finished a meeting at the Gomez Church of Christ Sunday night, and began here Wednesday night to run over two Sundays, we understand. The meeting at Gomez was well attended, and was considered a very successful meeting. Elder Black is considered one of the best evangelists in the church, as well as a fine located worker.

Elder Wallace Lyton, of Ranger, preached Monday and Tuesday nights of this week with prospects of locating here permanently, as the regular minister has been ill for the past two months, and needs considerable more rest before taking work again.

There will be no day services this week, but they will start in next Monday. Day services 10 a. m. Sundays. All night services at 8:30 p. m. Sermon subjects as follows:

Friday night, "Christ and the Church."

Saturday night, "The First Church."

Sunday morning, "The Lord's Supper," night, "How God Deals with Man."

Monday morning, "Remember Lot's Wife," night, "New Birth."

Wednesday morning, "Be an example," night, "A Church Inspected."

Thursday morning, "Faith and Obedience," night, "The Beatitudes."

Friday and Saturday subjects to be selected.

Sunday morning, "Characteristics of the New Testament Church," night, "Secret of Success."

An Early Blacksmith Visits Us Again

Nineteen years ago this past January, H. Tom Brooks and family loaded out for Arizona, and we believe he first went to the Salt River valley section around Phoenix, but a few years later sold out and moved to the Tucson area, where the family has continued to reside since. The Brooks family were real old timers here, he and a gentleman by the name of Cordell were running a grocery on the north side of the square when we landed here more than 30 years ago.

Soon after that time, however, they sold the store, and Mr. Brooks, in partnership with Jack Drinkard, purchased the only blacksmith shop in the city which stood where the Spear building is now located, west across from Tudor Sales Co. They did well considering the scarcity of customers, but they did not confine their work exclusively to sharpening plows and shoeing horses, but made spurs and bridle bits, many of them trimmed with silver or gold. Uncle Charley Lyon had charge of the woodworks department, and many pieces of cabinet work was turned out in this little shop to enhance the looks of the early pioneer home, many of which came in wagons, and sold most of their furniture. Therefore a good cabinet maker came in handy in the early days. Uncle Charley was born in New York City, and learned his trade there.

So far we have not seen Mrs. Brooks, but Tom looks very much like he did 19 years ago. His belly and backbone have never parted company. They are here visiting their daughter, Mrs. Maury Lewis and family, and will likely be here for a month. Mr. Brooks is in rather poor health, and his physicians has advised him to take it easy for a while.

Bob Stahler will leave Friday for Palacios, Texas, where he will attend the National Guard Camp.

Ralph Carter was a business visitor in Midland, Friday.

Mahon After Cotton Classing Office

WASHINGTON—A regular cotton classing office for West Texas is being seriously considered by the Division of Cotton Marketing of the Department of Agriculture, according to a recent report made to Congressman George Mahon.

Mahon had previously conferred with Department officials on several occasions stressing the need for such an office to serve West Texas cotton farmers generally and particularly to those farmers participating in the One Variety Cotton Community program. The recent conference was for the purpose of again urging favorable action and calling to the attention of the Department the wide interest being shown in the proposal by One Variety Communities and County Agents throughout the area.

Such an office would supplement similar services now available in Texas through classing offices at Austin, Dallas, and El Paso.

One Variety Cotton Communities should file applications for Department of Agriculture classing service through Mr. George E. Miller of the Division of Cotton Marketing of Austin. Mahon expressed the opinion that if sufficient applicants were filed immediately, the West Texas office would be established.

Ray Walsler Badly Hurt Tuesday Night

Ray Walsler, 20, son of G. W. Walsler, who lives in the south part of Terry county, was seriously injured about nine Tuesday night when the rear wheel of a truck, which was driven by his chum, Van Hare ran over both legs above the knee, peeling the flesh from the bone of his left leg.

The boys were hauling gravel from a pit in Dawson county, and the truck seemed to need water, when Ray started to get out with the can of water. He either thought the truck had stopped, or in the darkness thought it moving more slowly than it was. Anyway, he must have slipped and fell partly under the truck.

Physicians said he was in bad condition, and while it appeared that his back might possibly be broken, he was in no condition to be put under the X-ray Wednesday afternoon. No bones in the leg seemed to be broken.

Revival

Foursquare Gospel Church open-air revival begins Sunday, August 6 with Rev. Irene Lee preaching and Mis Katy Lynn Humphries, a very accomplished musician playing the piano and accordion, guitar and special singing.

Some of the subjects which will be used are, "If Men go to Hell, Who Cares?," "The Final Separation, or the Last Good-bye," "Two Dates We Must All Keep," and "When a Fellow Meets a Friend."

Services every evening at 8:15. Everyone welcome—bring your friends.

Arkansas Peaches Have Oomph

A full bushel basket of those kicknailing good old Arkansas Elbertas from the big Murray orchard at Nashville, Ark., was set down in our dive on south sixth last Thursday morning by Charlie Murray, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Murray, who run the Brownfield Produce Co., business on north Sixth. Now we call this some present, and one to be appreciated for months to come, for the good wife only let us eat them until Saturday, when she and the daughter-in-law canned, preserved and jellied them.

Much of the original Murray estate is now in Nashville orchard, said to be the biggest peach orchard in the United States, and hundreds of car loads, as well as truck loads are moved from this big orchard, miles and miles across it each year. So, this year at least a part of the orchard products moved in our general direction, and got in our reach without money, and without price.

And the Herald family; the whole shebang thanks the Murray's for this glorious treat.

Bill Fitzgerald Makes Airplane Trip

Greetings to Bill Fitzgerald, one of our very polite service station men. He now stands a good chance of becoming more or less seriously involved in oil than a mere service station man. And too, he has taken his first airplane trip, and Bill says that if he gets oil on his Arizona property, he'll loan us poor but honest friends a little dough and let us take a vacation.

Seriously, oil people think enough of Bill's land to want to lease it, and they were in such a hurry that an airplane trip was taken from Big Spring to Phoenix. He was accompanied by a lawyer and an oil man from Midland. All papers were signed up and the oil people are to start drilling soon.

On the return trip, Bill says that they made the distance from Phoenix to Big Spring in five hours. He left his car in Big Spring. The oil man and the lawyer were veteran flyers, and had occasion to guy Bill quite a bit, but both had to vomit before reaching El Paso. Bill said he stood it fine.

One Killed And Four Hurt Near Wolffarth

A car slipped and overturned several times, landing in a field near Wolffarth last Saturday afternoon, during a hard rain, which made the pavement slick. A two year old child of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Shepherd, whose address was given as this city, was killed almost instantly, and Ferrel Shepherd, 28, Acuff; Mrs. Scott Dalton, this city were injured, and was Mrs. Ferrel Shepherd, and Mrs. G. A. Shepherd.

The injured were rushed to Lubbock hospitals where they received treatment, the baby being dead on arrival there. These people were said to be oil people, temporarily making their homes in Brownfield and were not well known generally here. We understand that a Lubbock funeral home handled the body of the baby which was buried elsewhere.

Too late to tell these people now, but others might be reminded here that it is positively dangerous to run fast even on pavement, when it is wet.

P. G. Stanford of Plains was over Monday and reported a six inch rain there Sunday night. It is reported to have washed a small section of U. S. Highway 380 out, now under construction.

Mrs. Velma Little of El Centro, California will receive the Herald the next twelve months, complimentary of her father, L. E. McClish.

BROWNFIELD HAS A REAL OIL FIELD RIGHT AT ITS BACK DOOR

A Visit to the Wasson-Denver City Section Sunday, Was a Real Revelation to This Writer. Denver Alone Possibly Has Around 1500 People and Growing Fast.

It has been almost a year since the writer had been over the Gaines and Yoakum county oil fields until Sunday, when we took a four hour drive over them, seeing all except the Bennett fields, and saw them from a distance. To the person who had not been out there in nearly a year, it is truly a revelation, with hundreds of wells in sight. Of course many of these wells have no derrick over them, but are cut into pipe lines, and put on proration, and the casual observer will miss a lot of them if they are not aware of this fact. But the fact stands out more and more that in these two counties alone, we have an immense oil field, which taken with Hockley and Cochran, and perhaps Andrews, and others yet to be developed, will in the future have an oil field, which oil men say will rival or exceed the famous east Texas fields.

There had been many changes in the twelve months since our last visit there, in that some sections, there has been considerable offset drilling. However, the fields in general lack a lot being fully exploited to this day. There is worlds of room between to be drilled. The main idea right now seems to see just how wide and long the field is, and later the in-between drilling can be carried out. But geologists are of the opinion that the companies, large and small lack a whale of a lot having the field all tested yet. And that is the reason so many people say it will eventually rival the east Texas pool, which now has some 30,000 wells. For instance, a little more than a year ago, most people believed that the Wasson, the Denver and the Bennett were all separate pools, but there are many now that believe the Permian field will some day be almost continuous from Ector county on the south to Hockley and Cochran, and perhaps further on north, a distance of 135 miles, and perhaps the width of these and adjoining counties, and tied in with the eastern New Mexico counties. If that be true, then there is a field some 70 miles wide by 150 long.

The writer, accompanied by Mrs. Stricklin and Mrs. Irene Duke of Lubbock, went one way and came back the other. We went via Seagraves and on to the first field some 14 miles west of Seagraves at Wasson in Gaines county. Here we found another change.

A year ago, Wasson was the larger of the oil field towns. Today, it consists principally of beer and wine joints, dance halls, etc., and Denver City is the real burg, just across the line in Yoakum county, which is a dry county. And here comes in the guess work. Some say that the next time Yoakum county votes, it will go wet, on account of Denver being so much larger, and so much more population than Plains, with its predominant dry sentiment. But the knowing ones say that the bosses in the big oil field works and supply houses don't want liquor in too handy reach of their employees, and that is a reason why they chose a site in Yoakum county. Anyway, those that must have their beer and wine can get it within two miles, down at Wasson.

At Denver, one would little suspect that the day was Sunday. The saw and hammer and planes were going at a lively rate, with business houses and dwellings going up on every side. Just about every business one can imagine is represented, except the beer joints, and if there were any honky-tonks, we failed to see them. There are at least ten or twelve oil field supply houses there now and others coming in. To our notion, from now on, most oil field supply houses will be located in the oil fields, instead of any distant town despite the fact that they may have a railroad. With better roads being built, large trucks belonging to these companies will unload their supplies from the railroad and transport them direct to the field supply depot, where it will be handy when needed. The larger railroad towns naturally will be the homes of many of the oil field workers, and many of those that choose to live in the fields will come to the larger towns to trade. So, the oil fields will really benefit all.

To the northeast of Denver, construction is going forward at a rapid rate on the premises of the big Shell gasoline plant, described in these columns last week. Many houses are under construction, and some are finished, and they are really good looking homes, not usual oil field shacks. We understand that material is being assembled for the plant as fast as possible. Workmen were busy making roads and streets, and starting the new pipe line to Hobbs, N. M., where much of it will be taken into the huge pipe lines from there on to the gulf and other refinery locations. If we were to guess offhand, we would say that Denver City now has from 1200 to 1500 people, and with hard growing pains, may reach several thousand before the census is taken in 1940.

We left Denver for Allred, which has some 300 or 400 people and busy, but not in a class with Denver by any means, although it once seemed to have the start on it. A few miles north of Allred one runs out of the developed oil area, although we saw one place on the well graded and oiled road to Plains, where there was a wildcat going down. While many new houses, principally dwellings have been built at Plains, and they have a good school building, that place is not a great deal changed from what it was when we first saw it some 30 years ago. Some say Plains, like some other towns including Brownfield, got too high on property, and messed up a good chance of growth. Whether this is a fact, or oil people just didn't want to go that far to another small town without many of the modern conveniences, we have no way of knowing, but will say that Plains has made very little growth to be as close to a real oil field as it is.

Here we will give the reader just a few figures that they perhaps don't know about these fields. The man who gave them to us keeps pretty well up with what is going on. The figures are of course official up to July 1, of this year. The others approximate: Up to July 1, 1939, there were 237 producing wells in the Wasson-Denver area, with a daily potential of 201,609 barrels, and an allowable of 16,321 barrels daily. Since that time, approximately 50 wells have been completed, and 50 others are now drilling. In the Bennett field on July 1, there were 125 completed wells, and probably 25 finished since, and some 20 now drilling. Their daily potential is around 125,000 barrels, with allowable between 4,000 and 5,000 barrels. That gives a daily potential of probably near 400,000 barrels daily now in the two fields.

So you see we have a great oil field within an hours drive of Brownfield, less time than that when the highway to Plains is all paved, and it will be paved all the way before frost comes again. This was not written so much for home consumption, as most of the local people have been over the fields, but for readers of the Herald living elsewhere.

GIRLS' CAMP VACATION

Several have expressed a desire to send an underprivileged girl or girls to some girls camp, but we have not contacted as many as we wish.

In conversation with Mrs. T. C. Delaney, 2301 10 St., Lubbock, who is to take a group of girls to the Methodist camp ground on the Canyon east of Happy, she stated that she would take all the girls they wanted to send for a dollar a day, each girls to take her bedding and cot. Shelter is provided and they would eat at the mess hall, there would also be a registration fee of one dollar each, if the entrants came for just one week, and she suggested that if for the one week, to come up the tenth or eleventh, so as to have one Sunday in camp.

Hikes, swimming and all types of sports may be participated in. There are dramatic productions and other types of entertainment. This is the twentieth year for Mrs. Delaney to take a group to Camp Canyoncito. It first started out being sponsored by the Methodist church but Mrs. Delaney says they take girls from all over the plains whether they are Methodist or not and in this group will be some underprivileged girls but when they get there they will be accorded all the privileges the other groups are.

Your girl will need nothing but sport clothes such as slacks, shorts or just anything they happen to have to wear.

Any girl who wants to go should get in touch with Mrs. T. L. Treadaway or Mrs. A. J. Stricklin at your earliest convenience and not later than Tuesday or Wednesday. There may be some girls that could partly pay their camp fees, if you can, you are wanted too, and if you want to go, let it be known. This will be a nice vacation for those who will take this opportunity to go.

Don't feel embarrassed in saying you want to go for lots of more fortunate people share expenses and go on vacations.

One big hearted lady says she wants to pay camp fee for two girls, and several others said they would send one, and then others said they would help someone else in sending one or more.

Even if you can help a dollar or so, let the ladies know so they can see just how many girls can go and the first to express their desire to go will be given preference.

If you know of some girl between the ages of twelve and seventeen that you want to pay for their vacation at this camp, phone or write and one of the ladies will call on you.

Interesting Facts About Troop 45

The members of Troop 45 met at the Scout Hall Sunday morning, July 23 at about six thirty, to leave for their summer encampment at Balmorhea State Park.

Nothing of interest happened until we neared Monahans. While driving along some of the boys noticed a man lying on the shoulder of the road. At first we thought he was a victim of a hit-and-run driver, and the boys stopped, the car as quickly as possible. As soon as the people saw the scouts running back to the man several other cars stopped. Upon examining the man we found that he was a victim of sunstroke. He was put in a truck out of the sun and Dr. H. H. Hughes, our Troop Doctor quickly revived him. The man was sent back to town, and we continued our journey.

Nothing more of interest happened until we reached Balmorhea. Our camping site was located, and camp was quickly set up. After this was all done, we all went swimming in the beautiful Balmorhea swimming pool. This swimming pool is the largest outdoor swimming pool in America. The pool is fed by the San Solomon Springs which furnishes a daily flow of 26,000,000 gallons of pure water daily.

The water from these springs furnishes water for irrigation for many of the farmers of Madera Valley.

Our next adventure was a hike to one of the Davis mountains, where we obtained some fine specimens of volcanic lava, quartz and petrified wood. Later we went to Phantom Lake. This lake is fed by an underground river which runs out of the side of a mountain. It is about twenty feet deep in places and crystal clear. That afternoon we went to Toyavale Lake where we fished and boated.

The next day we visited the ruins of old Fort Davis, located at Fort Davis, Texas. This old fort was erected around 1850 and was abandoned in 1891. This old Post is rated as the most picturesque in all the southwest, and was named after Jefferson Davis, who was then Secretary of War and who later became the President of the Confederacy. We collected some souvenirs and keepsakes from the old ruins and went through all the old buildings.

That afternoon we went to McDonald Observatory. This Observatory is the second largest in the world and is located on Mount Locke. The altitude of Mt. Locke is 6,231 feet. The location of this observatory is the best location that could be found in all southern United States. The telescope is 82 inches in diameter and is of the concave type. We listened to a short lecture on the telescope and observatory.

The next morning we spent in swimming, and at about 12 o'clock we departed for home.

TEXAS LEADS IN BUTTER PRODUCTION

Texas' output of 56,000,000 pounds of farm butter, in 1938, is 11 per cent of the nation's total and give the State first rank in production, according to a College Station news item.

TEXAS' SHARE OF U. S. DEBT

Texas' share of the national debt is $1,920,864,616, according to estimates of the Republican National Committee. This amounts to about $32 per capita.

Juarez Coming to Rialto Theatre

Sunday, that great play, "Juarez," is coming to the Rialto. It is the story of a man, Benito Pablo Juarez, a poor but proud Indian of Old Mexico, who took Abraham Lincoln in the United States as his hero, and as Lincoln freed the black man of the United States, so does Juarez free the lowly Indian and Peon of Mexico.

With such stars as Paul Muni and Bette Davis in the leading roles, this promises to be one of the best historical epics that has come to Brownfield in months. Most of you know that Juarez was greatly instrumental in banishing from Mexican shores an Emperor from Austria, who was put in on the Mexicans while the United States was busy with a civil war of their own.

Death Rides Center Stripe of Highway

AUSTIN, July 31.—A warning that death rides the center stripe was given by state police today as a study of fatal head-on collisions in June revealed that a high proportion of fatal crashes occurred on highways.

Of 39 fatal head-on collisions throughout the state last month, 26 took place on highways, as compared with but 13 such accidents in cities and towns. Motorists were again advised that a center stripe along a highway is more than a dividing line; it is a definite regulator of traffic behavior. Drivers are warned not to pass other vehicles when the auxiliary broken stripe is on their side of the center stripe, state police pointed out.

Comparison of fatal highway accidents with the total for all the state—that is, with the total for cities and towns as well as roads—showed that 24 persons were killed in non-collision crashes on the highways as compared with 37 for all traffic. Speed is the factor which explains the higher proportion of highway deaths in this type of accident, state authorities believe. Of 24 pedestrians killed and 100 injured in June, nine died and five were injured on the highways. June traffic claimed 128 lives, with four more fatalities resulting from injuries received in previous months.

Vaccinate Pet Dogs Kill All Strays

Austin, Texas, July 28.—Rabies is increasing in prevalence in many parts of Texas, although it may be controlled and could even be exterminated by intelligent measures, according to the records of the State Department of Health. Unfortunately it has been the practice to wait to apply control measures until the disease is widespread.

The dog is the chief source of rabies infection to man, but all warm blooded animals are susceptible. Contrary to a widespread belief, rabies is not a warm weather disease. It occurs just as frequently in the cold weather months. The most logical procedure in the control of rabies would be to vaccinate all dogs. Where this is impossible the stray dog should immediately be impounded, for the stray dog is chiefly responsible for the spread of rabies.

Public health authorities are handicapped in their fight against the spread of rabies because rabies in humans occurs only infrequently. However, it must be remembered that rabies is 100 per cent fatal once the disease has developed. Treatment is only preventive and must be taken in time.

Do not kill the dog that is behaving strangely or immediately when the rabies virus is put into the body by a biting dog the virus travels slowly from the wound along the nerves until it reaches the brain and spinal cord. Thus if the bite is on the face the virus does not have far to travel to reach the brain. Consequently bites on the face are the most dangerous and immunization must be started at once.

It is possible to control rabies, but, owing to the large territory included in Texas, it will take extra efforts on the part of public health workers and the cooperation of the people of each town and county to carry on an educational program for this control. After it has bitten some one. The animal should be captured and kept under observation for ten days to determine whether it has rabies or not. The confinement should be ample secure, for a dog in the frenzy of furious rabies requires a much stronger collar and chain or enclosure than a non-rabid dog.

Ununited States

Can it be that the feet of the nation's legislatures are set again on the path of interstate sanity? For the entire decade of the depression, the national trend has been unhappily toward the "Balcanization" of interstate commerce. That is to say, the several states have instituted a mushrooming system of punitive tariffs against each other, on the fallacious assumption that they were protecting the industries and other enterprises within their borders.

Lawmakers have enacted restrictive and retaliatory assessments. State line stations similar to the border posts of bickering European nations have been set up, and at them citizens of the United States have been harassed and taxed almost beyond endurance. Up to this summer, the more far-visioned have protested vainly.

Now, however, a mid-western state which has long been a glaring example of this industrial and agricultural animosity has given evidence of reaction. The Wisconsin legislature is giving consideration to a bill which would remove margarine excise taxes and license fees. Earlier this summer, other states refused to pass bills providing for extra taxes upon margarine, a product composed in great part of cotton seed oil. The attitude of these legislatures is ascribed in large part to the activities of the National Cotton Council, which has as one of its principal objectives the defeat of legislation unfavorable to cotton and cotton seed oil.

Thus far, the Cotton Council has shown its legislative persuasiveness mostly outside the Cotton Belt. It could also act to advantage in the south itself, where legislatures even more shortsighted than those of "outside" states have also discriminated against uncomfortable King Cotton.

SOAK THE POOR BILL FAILS

Senate Joint Resolution No. 12 is dead. There is no danger of its resurrection, as the people learn about what it would have meant to them. It proposed to tax purchases to the tune of two per cent. On this basis, the family would have been hit pretty hard in paying the grocery bill. A monthly grocery bill of $30 would provide a monthly tax of 60 cents or $7.20 yearly. It would have added several million dollars annually to the annual grocery bills of Texas.

It was undoubtedly one of the greatest "soak the poor" schemes ever presented to the legislature and when the masses, the people included in the lower income bracket, come to realize the inequities of this resolution, they will keenly appreciate the service of the 56 members who consistently and persistently brought about its defeat by their negative vote.

MISS RUSH PASSES

Last Saturday at 12:30 a. m. Miss Myrtle Irene Rush passed to the vast Beyond, and was buried from the Methodist church at 4 p. m., Dr. O. P. Clark, the district superintendent, in charge, assisted by Rev. B. L. Breedlove and Rev. Jesse Young. She was the only sister of Mrs. J. W. Hendrix. Miss Rush had been a sufferer for a long time; had been confined to her room for better than a year. She was formerly a teacher, among other places, she taught six years in the high school town of her childhood, Indianola, Iowa and seven years in the high school of Gallup, N. M. She had educated herself to teach in college or university but her health never permitted it.

To this end she had attended some of our leading universities, such as Wisconsin, Iowa State, Southern California, and took a Master's degree from the University of New Mexico. It was one of the sore trials of her life that she must give up her lifelong purpose.

She lived a beautiful life. She was a woman of deep devotions. She was deeply devoted to her study of religion; had taken different courses offered along that line; had wide knowledge of the Bible. She was a happy and joyous student, had an insatiable desire for knowledge. She was a earnest conscientious instructor; always deeply anxious that her students should grow in grace of character and knowledge of the Truth. She was a most devoted friend. She very greatly craved to be well and able to associate with people, to make, enjoy and serve friends. Of course, she was unusually devoted to her only sister, maybe her only living relative. In their relationship was tied up deep and hidden emotions that God alone could fathom. But the writer of these lines lost one of the best friends he had on earth.

Yes, she was just exactly what this earth needs in a big order; but God the Father can use such as she in Eternity. Without doubt, He has called her to that task, and will give her a body as it has pleased him, a well and able body, and give her a 100 per cent fling at life. It is far better so. Not for those whom she left but for her health and happiness.

AUSTIN, Texas, July 28.—Another project designed to increase Bobwhite and Scaled Quail population of the lower plains of Northwest Texas has been gotten under way by the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission through the cooperation of interested sportsmen. A 465-acre tract several miles southeast of Lubbock along Buffalo Lake is being used by Charles E. Friley, Jr., game manager of region 9. It is announced by Phill Goodrum, director of research and education for the department.

The tract is believed to be very adaptable for the raising of quail, it being tableland, ravines, gulches and steeply-inclined land. A 100-acre lake is centered in the area.

LESS THAN 400 MOUNTAIN SHEEP NOW IN TEXAS

AUSTIN, Texas, July 21.—Inroads of domestic sheep and elk upon the range of the wild mountain sheep in Texas will keep those nimble-footed and interesting animals from increasing beyond their present number, it is reported by Bob Snow of the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, which has just completed a survey of wild sheep with the assistance of the U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey.

Mountain sheep, which are found in the Beach and Diablo mountains of West Texas, now number fewer than 400, according to Snow, who counted 130 in the Beach mountains and who believes, after his survey, that there are approximately 250 in the Diablos. These mountains are the only ones upon which there is suitable range for wild sheep. Elks have taken over some of it and domestic sheep are making huge inroads upon part of the range.

While it is not likely sportsmen will ever have an open season on wild sheep, which are among the most colorful animals in the Lone Star State, three ranchmen of the Trans-Pecos are leading the fight to help the species survive. They are A. F. Yates, Vivian McAdoo and T. M. Pyle, upon whose lands most of the wild sheep range is found.

State Fair Plans Huge Farm

DALLAS, Texas, July 28—Another gigantic portrayal of Texas Agriculture will be presented during the 51st annual State Fair of Texas, October 7th to 22nd. Featured in this agricultural picture of Texas will be chemistry—this new road to cash crops on Texas farms.

Counties showing credible exhibits will again be awarded $125 and there will be no competition between such exhibits. This innovation in the Agriculture Show at the State Fair started in 1938, enabled counties to show these things which brought funds into the farmer's hands, or enabled the counties to show their main resources to better advantage.

Competition will take its place in individual exhibits, in Club and Future Farmer Exhibits.

The main feature of this program will be the Chemurgic exhibits. Officials of the State Fair of Texas, the South State Fair at Beaumont, and the East Texas Chamber of Commerce are co-operating in the building of this exhibit. The chemurgic possibilities of Texas will be shown.

Last year a total of 64 counties exhibited at the State Fair of Texas. Under the new program it will only be possible to take care of a like number for the 1939 Fair. Arrangements have also been made in the plans to care for an equal number of 4-H clubs, Future Farmers and individual farm exhibits.

The Chemurgic show will be the first ever held for the public in Texas, and those in charge hope to make it a revelation of the possibilities offered in this state for development of farm crops by this means.

U. of T. GETS BOOK ON TERRY'S RANGERS

AUSTIN, Texas, August 4—An "almost irreplaceable" book, a chronicle of Texas' major contribution to Confederate cavalry during the Civil War, "Terry's Texas Rangers," was given the University of Texas last week.

Donor of the 100-page volume, of which only 250 are believed to be in print, was Miss Jeanette Giles of Austin, granddaughter of L. B. Giles, author of the book and officer in the ranger regiment. His grandson is Bascom Giles, present state land commissioner.

According to Mrs. Marcelle Livey Hamer, Texas Collection librarian, Giles, account reports that of the 1,640 Texans originally mustered into the regiment and serving through the battles of Shiloh, Chickmauga and Atlanta, about 240 survived.

Miss Giles said that her grandfather did not surrender his gun after Appomattox, but made his way back to Texas on his own horse, surrendering his gun later under the Texas Reconstruction Government. He died in Laredo in 1922.

Milk and Whole Grain Cereal Tops

Colleg Station, July 28.—Milk and whole grain cereals should be the top items on the family grocery list where food costs must be held to a greatly restricted budget, advises Louise Bryant, specialist in house management for the A. & M. College Extension Service.

In her effort to aid housewives in purchasing foods where the food supply is temporarily hampered by limited budget, due to failure of gardens, orchards, feed and cash crops, Miss Bryant has pointed out that with these two essentials provided, other necessary foods may be in an emergency used in smaller quantities.

"Next, buy potatoes," Miss Bryant says, for on a small amount of money spent for potatoes provides so much of what the body needs. Although fat does not rank next in importance for health, a little is usually purchased after milk, cereals and potatoes have been procured, since it is difficult to prepare an enjoyable meal without its use in some form.

Then, as money permits, tomatoes or oranges, a vegetable in addition to potatoes, a second fruit, eggs, a little meat or fish, and a little sugar may be added to the grocery list. Examples of the foods that are rich in value for their cost are beef, liver, kidney, cabbage, carrots, canned salmon, American cheese, peanuts, dried fruits and vegetables, and fresh fruits and vegetables in season.

Behind the Scenes in American Business

NEW YORK, July 31—BUSINESS—Additional evidence was furnished last week that the recent recovery movement in business is not just a "flash-in-the-pan." One sure sign of better times is that people are eating more and better food. Gains up to eight per cent have been reported lately by food wholesalers, while retail sales have risen as much as 12 per cent. Bethlehem Steel resumed dividends on its common stock, first since 1937, indicating the management's confidence in the immediate future. Men's clothes manufacturers had a good January-April season, are optimistic for the fall season, and expect to round out the year with a production record of 19,000,000 suits, and 6,000,000 topcoats and overcoats. Men who skimmed on clothing budgets during the 1937-38 recession are getting their wardrobe back to normal. Advertising men say that the first half volume followed a rising trend. More favorable retail trade prospects for the fall are expected to help newspaper advertising volume particularly. All in all, the customary "summer lull" seems to be passing without noticeable shrinkage in trade activity.

WASHINGTON—While congress worked overtime last week to clean up last minute legislation, enthusiasm of business men was aroused by the Department of Commerce's report on national income. This showed that wage and salary payments during June made the most pronounced gain since the spring of 1937. The index of employees' compensation advanced to 85 from 83.3 in May. During the first half national income was at the rate of $66,000,000,000 a year compared with last year's total of $64,200,000,000. The gain has meant more to the average American than would appear on the surface since living costs this year have been lower than in 1938, and consumers therefore not only had three per cent more dollars to spend but also got more for their money.

THE MAN WHO SOLD HOT DOGS

There was a man who lived by the side of the road and he sold hot dogs. He was hard of hearing so he had no radio. He had trouble with his eyes so he read no newspapers. But he sold good hot dogs. He put signs up on the highway telling how good they were. He stood on the side of the road and cried "Buy a hot dog, Mister?" and people bought.

He increased his meat and bun orders. He bought a bigger stove to take care of his trade. He finally got his son home from college to help him.

But then something happened. His son said, "Father, haven't you been listening to the radio? Haven't you been reading the papers? There's a big depression on. The European situation is terrible. The domestic situation is worse. Everything's going to pot." Whereupon the father thought, "Well, my son's been to college, he reads the papers and he listens to the radio, and he ought to know." So the father cut down on his meat and bun orders, took down his advertising signs, and no longer bothered to stand out on the highway to sell his hot dogs. And his hot dog sales fell almost overnight.

"You're right, son," the father said to the boy. "We certainly are in the middle of a great depression."—American Lumberman.

Hugh, S. Johnson, columnist, visited Texas recently and wrote this paragraph for his chain of newspapers:

I have lived here for several years. Coming back now after a long absence, its development and growth seems very striking—far beyond anything I know elsewhere."

is an expression of disturbed mental conditions and national unrest.

But when one listens to the melodies of the late Victor Herbert and other composers of his time whose compositions Whitmark published, one wonders whether a more or less contented era of our nation is not reflected in such music. Particularly does this thought grow when one listens to the modern "swing" music with its raucous notes and seeming discords. Modern music such as "swing" seems to base its excuse for existence on rhythm, but most of the "swing" rhythm has the monotony of the jungle tom toms.

In reading Whitmark's book, one is impressed with the individuality of the composers of that era. They did not all play alike or look alike. There was individuality in their music, as there was in their lives. That is something that is lacking in most of the music and orchestra leaders of today—music is just big business to them, ground out at so much per grind over the radio or in the night club. The world trend toward regimentation in human affairs seems to be reflected in the field of modern popular music.

Mr. Whitmark's book covers an era of individuality in music as definite in this nation as the era which saw the great play of individuality which built the railroads and developed the West.

We just wish every father and mother could have heard the views that Chris Quante has when it comes to underprivileged children. If everyone thought as he, there would be no barefooted children in school this winter when the weather gets so cold that some will have to stay home for the lack of proper clothing.

We have lots of children of today that will be our citizens of tomorrow who need a helping hand now, someone to look to as their ideal, someone who is interested in them.

The boy scouts is one of our grandest organizations, but look at the boys that are not members of this organization that need someone to encourage and help them. We believe a big brother and sister movement would be a good thing. We know of boys and girls that with a little encouragement from a person would finish school, or make them push forward to something better in life.

BAPTIST CHURCH

With 299 present in the Bible study period last Sunday and other services with average attendance and five additions to the church during the day it was a day of constructive progress.

The second Sunday in August is the day appointed some months ago as the beginning of the summer revival in this church and it is hoped that the people will remember the date and not allow their vacations to conflict with it as the membership needs the revival in their own lives and the church needs their co-operation that the meeting may be such as is needed in the community. Baptists succeed only as they learn to co-operate in any common task and the widest co-operation is needed in all our work.

The federated missionary societies met with the W. M. U. Monday in our church with sixty present in a good meeting, and Miss Ruth Allen of Lubbock brought the inspirational address.

The W. M. U. will meet next Monday at 4 p. m. in circles for Bible and mission study. The Lotie Moon circle with Mrs. L. H. Rhyne; Reagan, with Mrs. C. E. Ross, Lockett; with Mrs. Gay Price; and Annie Long, with Mother Green.

Special attention is called to a great address delivered to the Baptist World Alliance by Dr. Geo. W. Truett and published in last week's Baptist Standard and in the hands of many of you which deserves a careful reading if you would be informed and know what some of the distinctive things for which our churches have always stood. Dr. Truett was succeeded as president of the Alliance by Dr. J. H. Rushbrook of London, England for the next five years.

It is hoped that next Sunday may show increased attendance and interest in all of the services and is especially urged upon every organization of the church as well as each Bible school class that they make their plans to co-operate to the very limit to make the coming revival what it should be, that Christ may be honored throughout the meeting.

FIRST-HAND INFORMATION

Following the theory that more can be learned from observation than from reading about conditions, faculty members of Texas State College for Women are touring the world this summer on educational vacations. Although none have ventured to the Far East this year, many have gone to the various war-threatened nations in Europe. Others have left for South America, the Mediterranean, and other distant localities.

WORKING MOTHERS

Do the children suffer when the mother works out of the home? Questionnaires designed by a graduate student at Texas State College for Women to answer this query revealed the fact that although children with working mothers missed out on a great deal of social life and pleasures, they ranked above the others in scholarship, dependability, willingness to accept responsibility, disposition, and almost every respect of personality.

QUALITY EGGS IN SUMMER

College Station, July 28.—Thoughtful housewives need not run the risk of securing inferior eggs these hot summer days if eggs are gathered at home and handled carefully. Proof of this statement has recently been offered by Jennie Camp, Extension Service specialist in home production planning at A. & M. College, as she described how quality flocks may become a valuable home or farm asset.

An egg only 24 hours old that has been kept in a warm place is not as fresh as an older egg that has been kept cool, Miss Camp says. Neither quality nor food value of the egg may be determined by the color of its shell, she adds.

When eggs are brought into the house, the shells should be wiped with a rough, dry cloth and placed in the refrigerator next to the coolest spot, Miss Camp suggests. "Do not wash them," she cautions, "for water removes the 'bloom' of the egg which forms a protective seal for the shell." Since egg yolks are an outstanding source of iron—a mineral in which many diets are deficient—eggs should be plentiful in the dietary plan, Miss Camp says, and unless the family income is in the upper brackets the intelligent thing is to provide for their production at home.

All of the vitamin A and D value of eggs is in the yolk, and eggs also contain varying amounts of three other vitamins, Miss Camp points out. In addition they are rich in calcium and phosphorus.

For Texas Youth

There are two and one half million youths between the ages of 16 and 25 in this country. Texas is well represented in this vast and promising army of both boys and girls. They are members of families of all walks of life, many of them with income of less than $40.00 per month.

President Roosevelt has asked the United States Congress to provide $123,000,000 to insure the future of these youths who figure in the National Youth Administration's program that serves Texas as along with several other states.

"There is no one who can gain say the fact that the youth of today are the foundation of flesh and bone, brain, heart and character upon which the future is solidly laid," stated Pierce Brooks, Dallas business man. "The surest and only way to build a better Texas or a better America is to train youth for the responsibilities of citizenship. With work scarce and the ranks of the unemployed ever lengthening, the N. Y. A. has come to this country to stay. It is as permanent as any branch of Nervousness is an enemy to health because it prevents rest and relaxation. Nervousness is caused by irritating pressure on spinal nerves. This pressure is caused by the spinal nerve opening by displacement of spinal bones from their true alignment. The correction of this defective alignment lies solely in the hands of your chiropractor, whose science teaches him how to detect such points of pressure and how to make the proper adjustments to start the displaced bone back into proper position. There is no better method of overcoming nervousness than by chiropractic spinal adjustments. Come in to see me.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

By Julian Capers, Jr.

AUSTIN—Appointment by Gov. O'Daniel of the new State Welfare Board, which on September 1, will take over administration of social security functions, and a declaration by members of the board of their personnel policy, quieted fears of a wholesale clean out of the pension staff. The board members, who serve without pay, are Judge Beeman Strong, of Beaumont, veteran lawyer and politician; Marvin Leonard, Fort Worth merchant, heretofore unidentified with politics; and Dr. M. E. Sadler, of Austin, pastor of First Christian Church in Austin, attended by Gov. O'Daniel and Ex-Governors Allred and Sterling. The Appointees issued a joint statement, indicating that they would retain efficient employees required to do the work efficiently.

Little May Remain
Grapevine reports were that Jack Little, as present director of pension administration under the Board of Control, stood a good chance for reappointment by the new board. Little has been badly worried, before the board was named. The Governor issued a statement, declaring he would maintain a "hands off policy" regarding personnel. During his campaign last year, he assailed the pension investigators, with his famous story about "Grandma's chewing gum, and Grandpa's milk cow," until many believed he would clean out the staff under the reorganization. If he does not change his mind, existing personnel probably will not be greatly changed.

Crisis is Coming
A pension crisis is due in two or three months after the new board takes charge. September 1, the pension fund must begin repaying a banking syndicate from which it borrowed $200,000 a month. That means loss of $200,000 matching fund from the Federal government each month. If the liberalized pension law adds from 50,000 upwards of new pensioners, the present average pension payment of nearly $14 is expected to drop sharply unless the Federal government puts up a great deal more money, now regarded as unlikely this year. Then will come the test to see whether O'Daniel can keep the old folks satisfied without a revenue-raising special session, for another year and a half by his Sunday morning radio talks about religion, law enforcement, economy in government, and similar abstract subjects.

A Book on Session
Senate Joint Resolution No. 12, the famous sales tax amendment which blocked revenue raising efforts of the regular session, is due to be the most widely discussed political issue in Texas during the next 18 months. So few folks actually know what was in it, that Buck Taylor, veteran Texas writer and legislative observer, who now headquarters at 102 east Second Street, Austin, has issued a pamphlet, entitled "SJR 12." It sells for a quarter, and contains not only the complete official text of SJR 12, but a careful, unbiased analysis, showing just what the resolution would have accomplished. The pamphlet is one chapter of a forthcoming book by Taylor, entitled "Did You Say They Tried to Steal Texas?" telling the story of the O'Daniel administration from the inauguration through the end of the session.

$22 Per Capita
The State school per capita apportionment will be $22 for the third successive year, the Board of Education ruled, rejecting pleas for the maximum of $22.50 fixed by the new law, because of deficit in this year's payment. The action probably will make necessary a constitutional ad valorem tax rate of 3 cents for general school purposes, since the Automatic Tax Board must levy a rate sufficient to yield the $22 fixed by the School Board.

REWARD FOR NEW USES FOR COTTON

AUSTIN, Texas, August 4.—University of Texas mails have been flooded with public response to Texas legislative action providing a $5,000-$10,000 award for a new process to consume 300,000 surplus bales of the state's cotton annually, Dr. Homer P. Rainey, University president, disclosed today.

Dr. Rainey with Drs. Clifford B. Jones and T. O. Walton, presidents of Texas Technological College and Texas A. & M., were named members of a three-man board of trustees and judges over the legislative award established in late May. He said the board planned to meet shortly, but had not as yet considered the nature of any of the proposed cotton-consuming plans.

In naming the state school presidents as award trustees, the legislature imposed only the restriction that cotton "experts" submitting new processes for cotton consumption be residents of Texas.

Sudden Death

Sixth in a series of Articles on Safety by Captain J. C. Tappe of the Texas Safety Council.

The thoughtless public official who "fixes" a traffic law violation with the city judge for a friend, may be the innocent cause of a tragic death.

Cities and towns of the State are daily becoming more conscious of the fact that the traffic law violator is a lethal enemy of society, whether innocently or not. Traffic ordinances have been adopted by cities and towns for the protection of their citizens, young and old. Included in these traffic laws is the regulation of pedestrian traffic—and these too should observe the rules.

"Instead of traffic violation fixing our public officials and influential citizens should shame an offender when he comes to them and asks for such relief," Pierce

Brooks, Dallas, runoff candidate last year for Lieutenant Governor, and President of the Texas Safety Council said. "These officials and public men are becoming daily more conscious of the constantly mounting death toll from automobile driver negligence and failure of pedestrians to exercise ordinary safety. As a result 'fixing' is decidedly on the decrease and soon will be a forgotten art."

Those convicted in court of a negligent collision, whether fatal or not, should have their license suspended and placed on the ground for at least 12 months. If the accident is particularly inexcusable, they should be permanently grounded. Severe penalty, you may say, but even that will not bring back the life of an innocent child or another dear relative or friend.

Chamber of Commerce Items

By J. E. Shelton, Secretary.

A representative of one of the leading hotel operating companies was here last week making a survey of the town with reference to the construction of a hotel. He spent two days in assembling information and left Saturday, stating that he would put the proposition up to his associates and while he was not certain, thought that he would be able to submit a proposition to our citizens within the next few weeks.

A modern hotel appears to be the number one project in the minds of several of our leaders and the Chamber of Commerce has been working diligently in an undertaking to interest different companies in the proposal but the company in question is the only one who appeared to have the slightest interest in it. We hope for a favorable action but the representative did not indicate that the action would probably be taken by his associates. We are on the eve of locating our first oil field supply house as a representative of one of the very large companies in his line, was here last week and tentatively selected a site for his business, but left before the owner could be contacted for a price on the property, but this has since been secured and the price submitted to him. He is expected to return during the present week and we hope that a deal will be closed.

If any property owner has any apartments either two or three rooms, for rent, we would appreciate it if you would call the Chamber of Commerce office and let us have a list of them. At this time, we do not have a single one on our list and the demand is very active. In fact we are not able to supply it. Don't get the "big eye" on rental prices but just try to be satisfied with a reasonable return on the investment. One reason that oil people are trying to remove to Brownfield is, that some of the other towns have placed prohibitive prices on the rental property and the renters are just not able to pay it. In this connection there seems to be a prevailing opinion that oil field workers draw large salaries, but this is a mistake as the average oil field worker does not earn more than $125.00 monthly and by the time he gets through paying his bills, does not have anything left with which to take care of emergencies. Keep your prices within reason and you will keep your property rented.

Friday night of next week, August 11th, is the second quarterly membership meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and as stated in the papers, will be in form of a banquet and we are going to undertake to contact each member and request his attendance. However it would be appreciated, if the members will call the office and inform us whether you will be there or not as it is a pretty big one-man proposition for us to get in touch with all the members and sell tickets. We have to guarantee attendance and don't want to have to pay for extra plates and in fact are not going to have any extras if it is possible to avoid it.

I have heard it talked on the street, that a delegation was going to Lubbock sometime during the present week to confer with the district engineer of the highway department in which they will request a change in the routing of highway 137 between Brownfield and the Dawson county line. They may be successful, but at the same time, there is not any chance of starting construction on it under the next two years except by voting a road bond as the city paving project and the construction of highway 51 between Brownfield and the Hockley county line is expected to consume something like two years under the present supply of W. P. A. labor. As a matter of fact it is beginning to become evident that Terry county is going to have to vote some road bonds, not on this particular highway but on several lateral roads as the road and bridge fund of the county is not sufficient to take care of the present needs to say nothing of what is coming up in the immediate future. The Chamber of Commerce has appointed a road bond committee, to make a survey of different lateral roads that are in need of construction and after it is completed, undertake to get the viewpoint of property owners as to the feasibility of undertaking to vote the issue.

The County Fair is not a dead issue by any means, as a number of farmers have indicated their desire to hold it and a committee of them are going to call on the directors of the Chamber of Commerce and ask for a reversal of their decision in connection with it.

Misses Mary Smith, Juanita Tankersly and Iva Dell Claunch left Wednesday for a few days vacation in Fuidoso.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Holmes of Seminole were guests in the home of their son, Leo Holmes Tuesday.

Mrs. Eunice White visited her uncle, W. H. Hague of Plains, Sunday. One of the best, if not the best oil wells in Yoakum county was recently brought in on Mr. Hague's land. Mr. Hague is really an old timer, having been county clerk of Yoakum county twenty-five years and prior to that taught school there.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Powers of Clovis, are here visiting Mrs. Powers' mother, Mrs. W. T. Karr and family.
