MULESHOE RESPONDS . . . Members of the Muleshoe Fire Department responded when called to help put out a gasoline tanker fire which took place in Bovina Saturday afternoon. The local firemen were called to bring their foam equipment, needed to contain the fire. Their's was the only foam equipment available from a nearby community. The fire and explosions which erupted around 4:20 p.m. Saturday were finally brought under control around 8 p.m.

Gasoline Tanker Explodes At Bovina, Driver Not Hurt

An Amarillo, Texas man miraculously escaped injury Saturday, October 11 at Bovina when an explosion and fire destroyed the gasoline tanker he was unloading at a convenience store there.

Dewayne Lowe, driver for Ate

Oil Company of Amarillo, said he was unloading gasoline at the self-help service station. Lowe said he went to check to see how empty the tank was getting when he noticed fire in the underground storage tank. "I pulled the nozzle out and started running as fast as I could," he said before the first explosion. The truck driver told the reporter that he first thought he was on fire and all he could think about was rolling when he realized he was not on fire. He escaped with the hair on his arms and head singed.

Four explosions were reported and firemen from Bovina, Friona, Farwell and Muleshoe were called to the scene. The explosions blew out the windows and the glass doors in the store. No injuries were reported to persons in the store, from flying glass or to the truck driver. A vacant lot and lawn across the street (Third Street) caught fire, but firemen were able to keep fire from spreading to the house, the store and other nearby buildings.

The incident occurred around 4:20 p.m. and it was after 8 p.m. before they had the fire under control. They were also able to save the tractor on the rig.

The Muleshoe Volunteer Firemen were called to bring their foam truck, and were the only fire department responding who had the facility to spread foam over the burning area.

Around 6 p.m., Bovina Fire Chief, Gaylon Rhodes said he did not feel there was any danger of more explosions and that they were just trying to contain the fire, keeping it from spreading and letting it burn out.

Including Loss Of $12-15,000 In Fees

It would appear that the Superintendent of Schools and members of the local School Board are in for a mammoth headache as they try to amend the 1975-76 budget to fit the Attorney General's Ruling on student fees; adhere to the Federal Law Title IX Civil Rights Act pertaining to sex discrimination; keep records concerning discipline procedures and actions and numerous other policies thought up by the so-called experts."

The hands of the local Board of Trustees were tied during Monday night's meeting when it came to action to be taken on amending the 1975-76 school budget. Supt. Neil Dillman pointed out according to the Attorney General's ruling on student fees, that the schools were supposed to stop collecting fees for certain items after October 1. "This would mean," said Dillman, "that it looks like we may have to make some refunds, since it wouldn't be fair for those students who were late paying the fees to be the only ones who did not have to pay." The Trustees were unable to take action on this item until they received the official guidelines from the AG's office. Dillman said he received the Cont. on Page 3, Col. 1.

Operation Identification Will Cut Burglary Rates

Operation Identification, a special crime prevention project of the Muleshoe Police department, is at work cutting burglary rates here in Muleshoe.

If you own a color television set, stereo, or tape deck and tapes, chances are that this time next year you won't. At least, not the same ones.

You'll be out buying new ones to replace those you found missing when you left your doors unlocked "for just a few minutes" to run to the market or pick up the kids at school.

A few minutes-five or less-is all it takes for the "average" burglar of today to find out if you are at home, pick up a few valuables and easily resalable items place them in his car and be gone without a trace.

Unless an observant neighbor grows suspicious, calls the police or sheriff's office, takes down his license number, he will be almost impossible to find.

Attempting to find him and returning your stolen items, is currently costing taxpayers thousands of dollars a year in residential burglaries, and in commercial property lost, and uncounted thousands in insurance claims and police salaries.

And all this for a crime that, in addition to being the easiest to commit and the hardest to clear, is also the easiest to prevent.

tion, originated in 1963 in California, has mushroomed throughout the country as more and more towns and cities across the country have recognized its effectiveness in cutting burglary rates.

With the cooperation of concerned homeowners and businessmen, cutting burglary rates can be remarkably easy. All a homeowner needs to do is borrow a special engraving pen from Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture and mark his valuable items with his driver's license number, such as TX5551212.

For added security, take photographs, preferably in color, of items too small or delicate to be

Dr. Krehbiel is a native of Oklahoma. As a farm boy and FFA member, he had shown livestock and won many awards, including championships at the Southwestern Livestock Exposition in Ft. Worth and at the American Royal Livestock Show in Kansas City.

He has a strong background in animal production and genetics.

He received a B.S. degree from Oklahoma State University in 1950, an M.S. degree from the University of Arkansas in 1959, and a Ph. D. degree from Virginia Polytechnic Institute in 1966. His graduate studies were based on selection for type and reproduction performance of cow herds.

Between periods of formal training, Dr. Krehbiel worked with the beef cattle industry as artificial insemination technician, beef cattle herdsman, and ranch manager in Oklahoma. He also served as beef cattle research assistant in Arkansas, and animal geneticist for the USDA at Miles City, Montana. For the past two years prior to joining the Agricultural Education Specialist Program, he served as Area Livestock Extension Agent in Ohio.

Busybodies Bottle Gardening

COLLEGE STATION-If you don't have the time to take care of an indoor garden, why not try bottle gardening, suggests a landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"All you need to turn a dull dark corner of your home into a bright colorful spot is a water-proof container, tap water and cuttings of some favorite plants," says Everett Janne.

Beverage bottles, vases, canning jars, fish bowls and aquariums make good containers.

Use cuttings from any plant with a thick stem, such as a myrtle, geranium, oleander, wax begonia, coleus or hibiscus.

"First, clean out the bottle with hot water and detergent. Then add tap water. Make a clean cut on the branch or stem you want to use and remove the lower leaves so that none will be below the waterline. Put the cuttings in the water and arrange them any way you like," says the horticulturist with the Texas A&M University System.

Change the water about once a month and wash the container with hot water and detergent to kill any algae or bacteria. Also, scrub the plant stems and make a fresh cut on the stem to improve water uptake. Turn the container about once a week to make sure all angles of the plants get sunlight.

"When stems start deteriorating, replace them with fresh ones," says Janne. "Also, any of the cuttings that develop roots can be planted in pots or in flower beds."

Plants in bottle gardens add interest and color to the interior of the home and also clean up the air we breathe, adds the horticulturist.

Wise persons keep their reputations by keeping their tongues at rest.

LIBRARY NEWS
By Anne Camp
A storyhour was held at the library for the children of the Goodwill kindergarten, Wednesday morning, with 29 attending. Virginia Valle and Jerri Kennedy accompanied the children. "Fall" was the theme for this time. The children first gave the salute to the flag as it was raised and said the pledge of allegiance. They were then taken on a tour of the library. A book-worm puppet told them to be a good book-worm and how to use the library correctly. They were then taken to the basement where they were shown a film-strip, sang, played games, and talked about what people do in the fall of the year.

The Young Homemakers had good attendance at the story-hour last week. They are doing a very commendable job of sponsoring this storyhour every first and third Wednesday morning. Their efforts are truly appreciated.

The library would like to update our reader's file. If you have a card that is five years or older you will be given a new card free. If your address has been changed since you got a card we would appreciate your giving us your present address, and any future change of address should be reported.

Jackie M. Herring from Anchorage, Alaska sent three books to the library in memory of Sanford Gilbreath. These are all very good books: Lord of Alaska; Glacier Pilot (about the early bush pilots); and the Skagway Story - about the gold-rush days

Hunt Reunion Held Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Buford Hunt of 1711 W. Ave. G had their three children home for the first time in thirteen years this past weekend. Cloyce Hunt of Hamilton, Montana and his twin sister Mrs. Joyce (Bill) Hunter of San Angelo had not seen each other in that 13 years. It was a special weekend for them, as well as the other son, Robert Hunt of Muleshoe.

A family dinner was held Sunday, with a lot of visiting, picture taking and eating taking place. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Surratt, Charlie Berry of Floydada, Miss Brenda Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Buford Hunt, Cloyce Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hunter, Ricky and Becky and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hunt, Sheila, Curtis and Tori.

The Hunters returned to San Angelo on Sunday afternoon. Cloyce Hunt will return to Hamilton, Montana on Thursday. Mrs. Cloyce Hunt, Darrell and Darla were not able to attend due to school days.

Family Night

The monthly family night for West Camp community residents was held Saturday night, Oct. 11, at West Camp. A pie supper with hot coffee and ice tea completed the time of fun and fellowship. Those attending played '42' and visited.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Simmacher, Mr. and Mrs. George Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ramm and Clayton, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Miller, Mrs. Allene Bell, and Mrs. Virgie Shaw. There were several conflicts that affected attendance, but apparently didn't affect the fun. It is understood that Joe Simmacher who is an avid '42' player was stumped or set, on a play, by Peggy Wheeler. The next West Camp family night will be Nov. 8. It is hoped that all in the community will be able to attend the fellowship at the next family night.

Future Of Irrigated Wheat Topic At Annual Conference

INDIAN CORRALED . . . Morton halfback Tino Sabala (33) has little running room as Tom Pepper (66) and Tony Vela (29) corral the running back for a loss. Muleshoe won the non-conference clash handily with a 28-17 victory over Morton.

Seattle, WA--"The Future of Irrigated Wheat in the United States" was discussed by Dr. K.B. Porter, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station Wheat Breeder from Bushland, at the Ninth Annual Conference on Wheat Utilization Research in Seattle, Washington on October 8 thru 10.

According to Dr. Porter, most of the irrigated wheat in the United States is produced in the Southern High Plains and in the west. In 1974, 1.6 million acres of irrigated wheat were harvested on the High Plains of Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, and New Mexico. Yields were low, averaging 27 bushels per acre. Total production was 42.7 million bushels. This was 7.4 percent of the wheat produced in the five states. Normally, irrigated wheat in the southern plains produces 38 bushels per acre.

In addition to grain production, over one million head of feeder cattle worth from 100 to 200 million dollars graze irrigated wheat in the High Plains. Dr. Porter cited grazing studies by Dr. John Shipley, Economist at Texas A&M's Research Field at Etter. Adequately irrigated and fertilized wheat sown about September 1, produced 2.5 tons of high protein forage by March 20. Grazing must be stopped by March 20. If a grain crop is produced. At a stocking rate of 1.5 head per acre and gains of 1.5 pounds per day, this forage produced 293 pounds of beef. When wheat was grazed to May 20 and not harvested, average daily gain increased to 1.8 pounds and 550 pounds of beef were produced. This forage and beef production cost another 100 pounds of nitrogen per acre and an extra irrigation compared to wheat for grain. This practice was very profitable under market conditions of high beef and low wheat prices prevailing in the early 1970's. "When the opposite situation exists, as in winter of 1975, irrigating wheat for grazing may not have been profitable", Dr. Porter said.

Idaho, California, Washington, Arizona, Oregon, and Utah irrigated 1.7 million acres of wheat in 1974. Average yield was 66 bushels per acre and total production was 112 million bushels. Cattle are not usually grazed on wheat in the west. Total production of irrigated wheat was 11 percent of all wheat produced in the United States.

"We have looked at the extent, location, and production of irrigated wheat, now let's look at profit", Dr. Porter continued. A 1975 study at Texas A&M University showed that a 37 bushel irrigated wheat crop lost 31 dollars per acre and a 50 bushel irrigated wheat crop made 11 dollars profit per acre above variable costs for farming operations, irrigation and fertilizer. With a 50 bushel crop, this increased to 85 dollars per acre. This income is used along with income from summer crops to figure total profit above fixed and variable costs.

"In the west where yields are higher, the profit picture is better", Porter stated. In Idaho, net return for a furrow irrigated 80 bushel wheat crop was 62 dollars per acre, at $4.00 a bushel. In Arizona, $3.25 a bushel was considered the break even point for wheat yielding 70 bushels per acre. Irrigated wheat is not the preferred crop in the West because profit is low compared to other crops. Scientists in Washington State projected dollar net returns per acre of 855 for apples, 1414 for sugar beets, 1146 for potatoes but only 288 for wheat.

Dr. Porter continued by posing the question, "Why do farmers grow irrigated wheat?" The best answer seems to be that wheat is the only crop that can utilize irrigation water in the fall, winter, or early spring when more profitable crops cannot be grown. In addition, farmers usually have more land than they can irrigate in the summer. "More than likely", Dr. Porter stated, "if income from irrigated wheat exceeds variable costs, farmers will grow it". "On the other hand, if variable costs, which include natural gas for pumping water, fertilizer, and farming operations, increase faster than the price of wheat, irrigated production will decline."

Irrigation water supply and efficiency of production will determine where irrigated wheat is grown in the future. At the present time, the western states have the advantage. California is in the process of increasing irrigation water supply by transporting water from northern mountains to farming areas in the south. Other western states have cheap irrigation water from rivers. Irrigation water for the southern high plains is pumped from the Ogallala formation. The 45 counties in the Texas High Plains have a reserve of 340 million acre feet of water. At the present pumping rate, this reserve will be 66 percent utilized by the year 2020. If a practical water import plan is not developed before that time, only the most profitable crops will be irrigated. Water use efficiency of irrigated winter wheat is 2.4 bushels per acre inch of water applied in the southern high plains. In the Western United States, yields are higher and water use efficiency is usually 3 bushels per acre inch of water.

"Based on the circumstances that exist today, one might predict that irrigated wheat acreage would decline in the southern high plains", Dr. Porter continued, "but we have a few tricks up our sleeve". In 1975, experimental wheat varieties yielded 100 bushels per acre. This was 20 bushels per acre more than Scout 66, the highest yielding commercial variety.

Research underway at the USDA Research Center at Bushland by Jack Musick, USDA Irrigation Engineer, shows that if applied at the fruiting stage, limited irrigation water can be used very efficiently by wheat. Growing wheat on 60-inch beds requires less water and yields the same as wheat grown on 40-inch beds. Water use efficiency can be increased by growing wheat and sorghum in alternate strips.

"Farmers like to grow wheat", Dr. Porter concluded, "and I predict that as long as there is a drop of irrigation water, somebody will water some wheat".

Local Girl Stars In Musical Comedy

Jane Branscum, daughter of Thurlo Branscum, Rt. 4, Muleshoe, has the starring role in a musical comedy being presented by the Drama Department of the University of St. Thomas, Houston, Texas.

"Anything Goes," Cole Porter's delightful musical comedy of love and mayhem on board an ocean liner will be presented by the university of St. Thomas Drama Department Oct. 14-18 and 23-25.

Set in the 1930's, the play's London-bound ship is populated by colorful characters of the era. Included are an American heiress, a British nobleman, a "broken-down broker" of Wall Street, and an ex-evangelist and her bevy of not-so-angelic Angels. Also sailing is a fugitive, Public Enemy Number 13. The somewhat absurd, but refreshing, plot follows these people as they try to straighten out their loves and lives.

Among the popular Cole Porter songs in the show are "You're the Top", "I Get a Kick Out of You", and "It's Delovely."

Director of the play is Sam Havens, UST drama department chairman. Cast in the play are Jane Branscum, Jim Lewis, Cathy Barroll, D.V. Thompson, Joe Field, and Maggie Johnson. "Anything Goes" will be presented at Jones Theatre, 3900 Yoakum at Sul Ross. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. Cost is $2 for adults, $1 for students. Call 522-7911, ext. 305, for reservations and information.

Hunters Should Prepare For Trips Afield

UVALDE--With the approach of fall hunting seasons, Texas sportsmen should begin making preparations for their trips afield.

"This not only means marking hunting dates on a calendar and contacting landowners about hunting leases but getting field gear and 'desk chair physi-ques' ready for the hunting adventures ahead," says a wildlife specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Firearms which have been stored since the last hunting season should be cleaned and checked. In fact, stored guns should be checked every month or so for signs of rust or dust accumulation, particularly if they are kept where temperature and humidity conditions are variable. Special attention should be given to cleaning the bore and making sure the action works smoothly, emphasizes Dr. Milo Shult, who is located at the Texas A&M Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Uvalde.

He also advocates carefully sighting in rifles and handguns. "Even if the hunter feels sure that a gun has not been bumped or jarred since the last firing, it is a good policy to double check. This will not only prevent disappointment over a missed shot but will also get the shooter used to the 'feel' of his weapon again."

Center-fire rifles should be sighted in using the bullet weights and powder charges which the hunter expects to use in the field. Sighting distances are determined by the type of game to be hunted and the terrain where the hunt takes place. As a rule of thumb, shot groupings from 50, 100 and 200 yards will prepare the hunter for most situations, notes Shult.

"The good hunter does not fire one or two rounds and decide that he and his rifle are ready to go. The expense of firing a box or two of ammunition while sighting a rifle in is easily justified by the confidence the hunter will gain in his weapon and his shooting ability."

Handgun buffs should also spend some time "burning powder" on the range before taking to the field. Generally speaking, handguns should be sighted in for distances up to 60 yards. It takes a dedicated pistol shot to be consistently accurate at greater distances. Remember, range safety is of critical importance with all firearms but especially so with handguns, cautions the specialist.

For shotgun enthusiasts, Shult advises a little trap or skeet shooting and "patterning" the shotgun. This is easily accomplished by firing at large sheets of paper or cardboard at distances of 15, 25 and 50 yards. The grouping of pellet holes on the paper lets the hunter know how his weapon performs at those distances with whatever load he is using.

Another good plan with double barrel, slide-action and semi-automatic shotguns is to fire more than one round to get used to getting off a second or even third shot. Shult points out.

Archers should be getting ready to hunt by carefully checking their equipment, sharpening broadheads and practicing with silhouette field targets. These targets, especially those which are life size, get the archer accustomed to firing at "vital spots" rather than just "at the deer."

"Most hunters carry some type of a cutting tool for dressing game. These knives, hand axes or bone saws should be examined carefully and sharpened. A dull knife in the field is not only frustrating but also is more dangerous than a properly honed one," notes the wildlife specialist.

Checking wearing apparel well in advance of the day it is needed will also add to the comfort of the hunt. Clothing with snags or tears from last season needs repair. Footwear is especially important as a painful blister can ruin an otherwise enjoyable hunting experience. Boot stitching should be checked, and the leather should be oiled or treated for comfort and protection. Break in new boots around the house before starting out on a long day's hunt.

"In addition to checking his gear, the smart hunter prepares himself physically for the field. Many of us work at jobs which don't allow us to stay in shape for our once-a-year hunting trips. Perhaps the best solution is to start early with sensible exercise. This may mean just walking every day or it may include jogging and dieting off a few pounds for the hunter who will pursue game which requires strenuous effort.

"Remember, more hunters die from heart attacks brought on by over-exertion than from firearm mishaps," says Shult. "The sportsman who begins preparing his gear and his body now will have a much more rewarding experience in the outdoors this hunting season," contends the specialist.

Wants Senate Support

WACO--Texas Farm Bureau President Carrol Chaloupka has written both Texas Senators urging them to support the preservation of "safeguards for a valid referendum" in the Beef Research and Consumer Information Act approved recently by the U.S. House of Representatives.

The measure, passed in the House as H.R. 7656, provides for a checkoff for research and promotion programs for beef.

The House-passed bill includes provisions for notifying "all known cattle producers" of the referendum and the time and place of balloting to permit qualified producers to register with the Agriculture Stabilization Service in person or by mail to vote in the referendum "during a period ending not less than ten days prior to the date of the referendum." It also provides that in order for the program to be implemented, at least 50 per cent of the registered voters must vote and that it must be approved by not less than two-thirds of the producers voting in the referendum.

Chaloupka pointed out that without such safeguards, "a very small minority of cattlemen could saddle the entire cattle industry with a check-off program which a majority of producers may or may not want." He said efforts are expected to be made in the Senate, both in Committee and during floor debate, to remove these provisions.

"You will agree when you meet this smiling, singing, and sincere team. Young love has been described in many ways, yet never displayed so warmly as when Sue and Amos sing and smile their way into your heart with the Love of Jesus, Praise, Joy and Worship."

"Sue Ellen (formerly Chenuault) sang her way across U.S. and Canada with the Speer Family in Concerts, Crusades, Churches, Radio and T.V. She presently holds the title "Best Female Gospel Vocalist" from the Gospel Music Association, receiving their coveted DOVE AWARD for 3 consecutive years. When you meet her you will agree with the judges of the Miss Arkansas Pageant who awarded her the title "Miss Congeniality". "Not an EX-addict, con-man, or movie star, Amos, as the son of Missionaries was raised to serve the Lord and respond to the needs of people. This response and compassion for people has taken him across America, in Europe and in Africa serving, singing, speaking to the hearts of people. "Life is a song! Your life won't stop if you don't hear this exciting couple, but if you do... they may change your tune," Rev. Hunter said.

'B' Team Defeated By Morton

The 'B' team Mules played the Morton Indians on October 9 at 5:00 p.m. at the Morton stadium. In the first quarter, all of the scoring was done by Muleshoe. The first touchdown was run by Darrel Chancy with no extra points. The second score was made by Jim Norman after he ran for five yards. The first half ended with a score of 12-0 in favor of the Mules. The second half started off badly for the Mules. Morton made one touchdown. Then Jim Norman ran 60 yards for an attempted touchdown, but, unfortunately, it was called back because of a penalty. The Indians then made another score. At the last of the 3rd quarter, Jim Norman ran again and successfully made another, T.D. In the 4th quarter Morton's offense played very good offense by bringing up their score to 22. The game ended with the score 22-18, in favor of Morton.

Choir Slavery

The Jr. High Choir had a "slave" sale which started on Wednesday the 8th. The choir students would bid any amount of money on the person and the highest bid would keep the "slave". The "slave's" job was to do anything their masters said, such as carry their masters books to class, tie their shoes and so on. If the master didn't pay the price they would become the "slaves".

The money raised will go to the Halloween candidate, Sylvia Quesada.

Year Planned For Historical Society

By Keva Roring
Reporter: Michelle Agee
The Historical Society has held three meetings so far this year. The Honor Society will be planning to meet every first and third Wednesdays of each month. 50c dues will be paid by all 18 members of the society, at the beginning of each semester. A recipe will be brought to each meeting by at least one student or more. These will be put in the F.B.I., one each week. The recipe is supposed to be one that has been handed down from generation to generation. The recipes will also be put on the radio for the public to enjoy listening to. Try some of these recipes. You never know it may turn out to be your best and favorite recipe.

Steelers Step Over Vikings

By Clifford Watson
Last Wednesday, October 8, the Steelers came out over the Viking with a score of 14-8. The game was well played by both teams; but, somehow, the Steelers won. The game started out when Marvin Lewis, the Steelers kicker, kicked a 35 yard kick that went out of bounds. The Vikings kept the ball by driving the Steelers back. Then finally, it was 4th and five, but they didn't get the first down. After a while, the Steelers running back, Marvin Lewis, ran a 15 yard touchdown, but the PAT was not made. After the Vikings retained the ball, Raymond Cabrera made a long run that put them in good position for a touchdown. The touchdown was made by Robbie Haney. The PAT was made, so that put the Vikings ahead with a score of 8-7. The second half started out when the Vikings kicker, Raymond Cabrera, made a nice kick, but the Steelers didn't get much yardage. Not to much happened in the half, but another T.D. was made. The touchdown was scored by Marvin Lewis again, the Steelers halfback. The extra point was incomplete. The game ended up with a score of 14-8, in favor of the Steelers.

He threw a 20 yard pass to his split end, Mark Northcutt, who caught it and ran around 30 yards for a touchdown. Other touchdowns were scored by Ruben Orozco who scored 2 touchdowns. James Atwood, the tight end, scored an extra point by catching a quick pass. Alvaro Ontiveroz, one of the split ends, caught a pass on the right end. It counted for another PAT. CORNER CATCHER

The only center pivot in the world that hits the corners.

In a typical quarter section where a regular center pivot is irrigating 132 acres, you can now do about 150 acres. But the new Valley Corner System isn't limited to squares. Irrigate both ends of a rectangle. Irrigate odd shaped pieces of land too. It's the answer to getting valuable productive land that's been wasted, back under center pivot irrigation. For flood irrigators, it's also the answer to automatic water and labor saving center pivot, without wasting valuable acres. No monitoring, no labor problems, no night work. But you have all the advantages of precise irrigation and fertilizer application through the system, that produces higher yields than ever before. It's a simple concept, precise in operation and engineered with quality of all Valley-built Center Pivots.
