In spite of the old expression, "hell and high waters," the idea of equalizing wages and cost of living seems not to fit the case. As long as someone is willing to pay someone else's employees an advance in wages, just so long will they have extra money to spend for food and raiment, and those things will advance in spite of hell and high waters. The Bureau of Labor Statistics may occasionally give out a series of dry figures that food in a certain time has advanced one half of one per cent, or some such insignificant figure, but the people in that period, who are doing the buying and paying on even staple foods, are not to be so easily fooled. And when government bureaus like the BLS cracks down and gives out figures that the people know are absurd, people lose just that much confidence in their government. There is talk of a government monopoly just now, not unlike they have in England to control food prices, and they're really controlled over there. Anyway, it looks like our government has never hit the right stride in controlling food prices, whether you like monopolies, private or governmental, or not.

When thousands of women were called into production plants and especially in those where there was welding or the grinding of objects that sent off pieces of metal or glass, it became necessary to fit them with goggles, just like the men. But the goggles were not pretty in design, nor did they fit the smaller features of the women workers. So manufacturers had to get busy and design some goggles that did not give the ladies that old idea that we used to use to scare the children, "Old Bloody Bones." In fact the ladies like to look good to their male co-workers, war production, or no war production.

Gosh, folks, that was some 'star the McDonald Observatory down here in west Texas scared up lately. It was a whopper, to be plain about the matter; the twingling little star is said to weigh in the neighborhood of 200 billion, billion tons. Yes, sir, the billion part was repeated over three times, with the prefix 200, and tons was the suffix. Can't say whether or not this is a baby star, a middle size star or a big star. If a newspaper man was to get up a story like that, the children on the streets would brand him as that old windy editor.

We like to read editor John Price's column, "Off the Griddle" in the County-Wide News, Littlefield, just like he and the writer both like to read the Plainsman column in the Lubbock paper, that Editor Price recently mentioned. But John made two cracks in a recent issue that need to be analyzed. For instance, John seemed Supreme in Circulation ed to have had plenty of coffee in the home that morning when he was writing, or making notes, and he told us that a shemala mocking bird was singing near his premises. Now, John, we have always understood that the Old Hes and not the Shes in the mocking bird family did the singing. While the lady bird of the proposed home goes about building, laying and hatching and then feeding the brood, the old he deports himself on a nearby treetop or telephone pole, and once in awhile reaches such an ecstasy of song, that he gracefully rises several feet perpendicularly, and comes down on his perch like a parachute falling, all the time carrying on his song. But he ever has an eye peeled out toward the new home, and any other bird, fowl or beast that approaches too close gets a quick attack, and we mean attack. Then John drops that subject, and in his next paragraph he moves the International Food Conference bodily from Hot Springs, Va., to Hot Springs, Ark. What was the matter with you that morning, John?

Our local merchants are sure getting fed up on co-operative ads, whether they be junk ads or bond ads. And we might state that this paper is getting fed up on soliciting them. We don't want to make our customers, especially regular ones, mad or even sore. They ask, and with good reason, "why can't the government pay for their advertising just like it pays for every other commodity it buys? Senator Bankhead of Alabama has introduced a bill to appropriate from 25 to 30 million dollars for governmental advertising, half of which is to be used in weekly papers. Now is a good time for you to use your influence by writing your U. S. Senators, or Congressman Mahon, or even Senator Bankhead. Such advertising, it is stated, is not to be used in trying to influence the editorial policies of newspapers, no more than our biggest advertisers right here in Brownfield are trying to influence what we write or do not write. Both Canada and England do their own advertising. The business men in those countries are not called upon to underwrite government ads.

U. OF T. MAN TO HEAD PUERTO RICO COLLEGE

AUSTIN, TEXAS, June 10.—Dr. H. Wilson Little, instructor in educational administration at the University of Texas, has been appointed dean of the Polytechnic Institute of Puerto Rico at San German, and leaves soon to assume his new duties in July.

A native of Rison, Arkansas, Dr. Little attended North Texas State Teachers College at Denton and took his Master of Education and Doctor of Philosophy degrees at the university.

He has taught school in Bonham, Abilene, and Gladewater in addition to his work at the university.

THE HANDKERCHIEF TRICK

A local motorist, driving down the streets of Amarillo, ignored a red light signal, threatened the traffic policeman's knees, missed the street island by a hair, and lightly grazed a bus, all in one dash. The policeman hailed him, then strode over to his car, pulling a handkerchief from his pocket on the way.

"Listen, cowboy," he growled, "on your way back I'll drop this and see if you can pickit up with your teeth."

To Hasten Victory

No American wants this war to go one minute beyond the time we can bring it to a victorious end. To hasten that victory—to save possibly the lives of millions of our boys on our far flung fronts—it is imperative that every American do his part in the Second War Loan. There is an investment to fit every purse. The most you can do is little enough compared with the sacrifice offered by our boys in service. They give their lives—you lend your money.

Sources Of 1942 Farm Income

COLLEGE STATION, June 10.—Texas farmers obtained one-third of their 1942 cash farm income from cotton and cottonseed. Specifically, cotton seed produced 4.7 per cent of this, according to U. S. Department of Agriculture figures quoted by C. E. Bowles of the A. and M. College Extension Service. Compared with other crops, the revenue from cottonseed exceeded that received from wheat, more than the combined income from fruit, truck and vegetables, and four times the amount received for other oil-bearing seed crops, such as peanuts, soybeans and flaxseed. Bowles, who is the extension specialist in organization and co-operative marketing, says that the income from lint rose more than that from cottonseed, largely because of price ceilings governing the sale of cottonseed products.

Proceeding with a breakdown of farm income sources in 1942, Bowles says that beef cattle contributed 18.8 per cent; poultry, eggs and turkeys, 7.5 per cent; milk 7 per cent; sheep, wool and mohair, 5.7 per cent; government benefit payments, 5.7 per cent; and hogs 4.4 per cent. Income from sale of hogs was more than double that of 1941, the revenue from eggs was 63 per cent more than in the preceding year.

A 12 per cent increase in crop and livestock production, along with prices averaging about 29 per cent higher than those of 1941, account for most of the rise in income. Income trends during the first four months of 1943 bear out predictions of USDA economists that farm incomes will be somewhat larger this year. But scarcity of certain feeds and soaring feed prices may be expected to slow down expansion of livestock.

Offsetting increasing farm income are the higher prices in 22 years for hired labor, feed, seed, machinery and other items in production, Bowles points out.

Area Junk Rally At Lubbock Tuesday

LUBBOCK, June 10.—War Salvage committee members, public officials and other community leaders, both men and women, from 22 counties surrounding Lubbock are being invited and requested by E. E. Kirkpatrick, Brownwood, chairman of the Texas Salvage committee, to attend an area rally in this city on Tuesday, June 15. The meeting will be at Hotel Lubbock.

William A. Becker, Washington, D. C., field deputy for the General Salvage section of the War Production Board, will be the principal speaker at the rally. Among others who will participate in the all-day session, in addition to Mr. Kirkpatrick and Mr. Becker, will be General John A. Hulén, Dallas, WPB Region Eighth Salvage manager; Lewis C. Huff, Dallas, regional chief, General Salvage Section; Geo. B. Butler, and Joseph B. McAdams, Austin, executive secretary and associate executive secretary, respectively, Texas Salvage Committee; and Mrs. H. F. Godeke, Lubbock.

The purpose of the June 15 gathering will be to stimulate renewal and intensification of salvage collection programs in the counties of the area, according to Mr. McAdams, who is working with the Lubbock Salvage Committee and the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce in arranging for the affair.

Imparative Need

There is a very imperative need, Mr McAdams declared, for the immediate collection of all used tin cans, silk and nylon hose and other garments made of those materials, waste fats and all salvage copper, brass and bronze. In addition there is still a pressing need for all scrap or discarded iron and steel materials, he added.

Full explanation of the procedure followed by the Army in co-operating with civilian salvage programs will be given by Major Alfred R. Teter, Dallas, salvage co-ordinator for the Eighth Service Command of the U. S. Army.

OPA Allows Gasoline

Importance of the affair is indicated by the fact that the Lubbock OPA district office has issued a special letter to all county war price and rationing boards in the area authorizing issuance of supplemental gasoline to officially designated salvage committee members sufficient to enable them to use their automobiles to come to the meeting, when it is not practical for them to use other means of transportation.

Terry county should be represented.

It has been suggested that farmers needing labor soon should make their wants known to County Agent Hartzog, who is acting with the Victory Committee, and War Labor Board in procuring farm labor. This service is free to both farmer and laborer. Many times a laborer desires work, and if none is available, he moves on elsewhere, when if employers were registered with the County Agents, immediate contact could be made.

Somewhere A Boy Has A Rendezvous With Death

Somewhere an American boy has a rendezvous with death tonight.

Whether on a carrier's deck in the Pacific, amid the burning sands of North Africa, or in the tropical forests of New Guinea—whether swift and perilous, or terrible and slow his going—he is giving to his fellow men the greatest gift a man can give.

The years unlive—the warmth and the laughter and the tears, and—most precious gift of all—his sons that might have been. All these he is giving.

No effort of ours, now, can stay the speeding bullet that has his number on it. What to him, now, are the bonds we buy, or the guns we build?

With nothing that is bought or sold, with nothing that is made of human hands, can we share his sacrifice.

What gift can we give to match his—what sacrifice can we make? The answer will come from that still, small voice within our own hearts.

For no one can tell us how many bonds to buy, how hard to work on the guns and planes and tanks we build, to keep his gallant effort from having been in vain. Yes, we must each decide the measure of our own obligation—the gasoline we do not use, the pints of blood we donate, the food we do without, and all the other appeals we answer—to make the precious gift he made worthwhile.

Not for the boy who is dying tonight, but because he is dying we can make our sacrifices to the cause of freedom.—G. E. Monogram.

Dallas News Brings Out New Almanac

Great economic and social changes are revealed in data presented by the 1943-44 edition of the Texas Almanac, which has just been published by the Dallas Morning News. Approximately 400,000 rural Texans have shifted to urban residence and vocation since the census of 1940. For the first time in the history of the state, the majority of population is now urban, according to information in the new volume. More remarkable, relatively, has been the industrial expansion due to the founding of munitions, rubber, shipbuilding, aviation and other war industries. Texas' manufacturing output has expanded as much during the last three years as in all preceding history.

Mineral production has also been greatly stimulated. Last official figure on value of all minerals produced was $954,211,150 in 1941, placing Texas far ahead of any other state. On basis of partial reports, the Texas Almanac estimates total value of minerals produced in 1942 was more than one billion dollars. While petroleum, natural gas and natural gasoline counted for most of the production, Texas would rank high among the states without the oil group. During the last two years, there has been rapid increase in the number of minerals produced in Texas, and in 1942 there was commercial output of more than sixty different kinds.

Next to the greatly increased manufacturing and mining production, military activity has had the most notable effect on recent Texas developments. While reasons of military secrecy prevent the release of some information, the new Texas Almanac lists twenty-two major army camps, in addition to which there are more than fifty Army aviation fields. At San Antonio and Corpus Christi, the Army and Navy have, respectively, their greatest air training centers.

While the chapters in military activities and industrial expansion are the principal items of current interest, the new Texas Almanac is essentially the all-round reference book that it has been, ranging through the whole field of Texas' historical, civic and economic data. The date of the battle of the Alamo, the cotton production of Jones County, the name of the State Comptroller, the number of deer killed in Texas in 1942 and thousands of other classes of information in as widely diversified fields can be found on its pages.

The Texas Almanac is a biennial publication, and the new volume is for the two years, 1943 and 1944. It is bound in paper at 60c on newsstands, 75c by mail; also in cloth at $1 on newsstands and $1.15 by mail.

Mrs. Ray Burke and daughters Janice and Carol Lynn, are in Dallas visiting relatives for several weeks.

Jimmie Applewhite of the Farmers Implement Co., and Budie Norris, were business visitors in Ballinger the first of the week.

Mesdames Ed Evans, Tommy Moorhead, and R. M. Moorhead, were Lubbock visitors, Tuesday.

The other day we passed Will Fitzgerald's Victory Garden. He had two rows of tin cans—a good stand and they were doing right well.

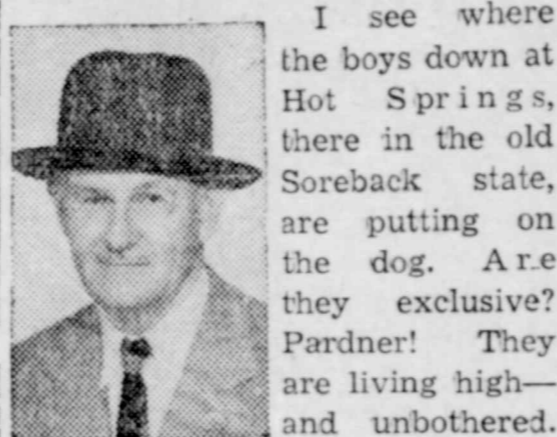

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Chapman and daughter, spent last week visiting Mrs. Chapman's mother in Lancaster, who is ill.

Mr. Walter Butts visited in Winters last week and returned Sunday with the Chapmans.

Joyce Ann Eubanks, of Lubbock, is spending the summer in Brownfield, with her grandmother, Mrs. D. P. Carter.

THE LOW DOWN

HICKORY GROVE

JO SERRA

I see where the boys down at Hot Springs, there in the old Soreback state, are putting on the dog. Are they exclusive? Partner! They are living high—and unbothered. No common person can barge in and listen or get any idea of what is cooking. A common person, he is to keep his distance—just so he don't get beyond the tax collector's jurisdiction. Somebody has to pay for the affair. And you take just liquor—our U. S. A. State Dept., the paper says, asked Virginia to lift the lid and let in another 2400 bottles. Every person attending had already been permitted to bring in 4 quarts on the hip.

The affair is billed as a "food conference." She looks like somebody slipped, and misnamed the meeting. But it is our own U. S. A. Govt. putting on the show. Sambo is showing off. Old Belshazzar couldn't have done better.

Yours with the low down,
Jo Serra.

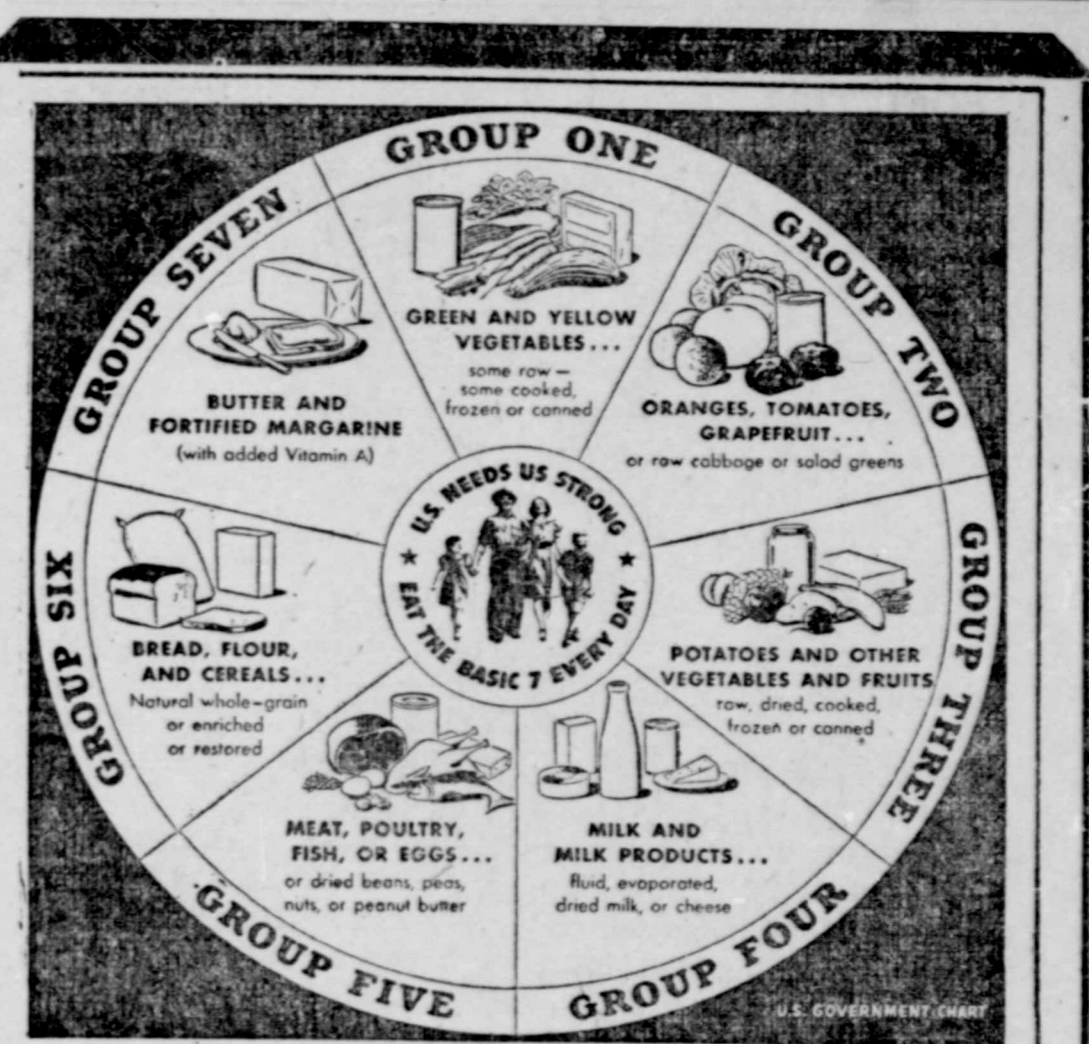

In a recent issue of "Publicity Highlights, Red Cross publication, it is said, "Editors are liberal with space if they are convinced that a local event is newsworthy. They are not so liberal if the material submitted to them is not real local news." Every editor strains a point to print everything offered, but it takes time and money to put matter into type, and advertising, propaganda, and just wanting to see something in print is not reason enough for publishing. On the other hand, many items are never published because people seem to think that an editor should be a mind reader and know all that is going on in the community.—McLean News.

Texas has such a wide range of temperature that farmers in the southern part of the state are sometimes planting their new cotton crop before the farmers in the northern end of the state have finished picking the preceding season's crop.

Your columnist never has been very proficient at games—but I like to play dominoes, anyway. My favorite opponent used to be a hotel proprietor in a West Texas town (when I lived out there). He was a good player and on the rather rare occasions that I would plunk down a rock and score 15 or 20, he would drily remark: "Blind hog found an acorn."
That will give a general idea as to my ability.

However, I used to mystify acquaintances by informing them that I had such delicate powers of perception that I could tell, when a domino was face down, which end had the most spots on it, provided it was not a double. I would spin the domino and explain that the end with the most spots would wobble a little differently; though, of course, since they didn't have the marvelous eyesight, they couldn't see the difference. They would scoff—but I picked the right end every time.
The dominoes had an eagle design on the back and the eagle faced the way that the most spots were

"THE OLD HOME FRONT"
I'm just an old dirt farmer
My chores are never through,
Work never stops, trying to grow crops
For America and her Allies too.
I can't be called a hero
For medals I never wear
But you can guess, I find happiness
In trying to do my share.
Too old for a soldier
A sailor or marine,
But I'm a fighting man, doing all I can
Against the Axis, I mean.
I may not carry a rifle
Or hear the cannon's roar,
But I'll stay in it, a mile a minute
Until this fight is o'er.

Much Food To Be Processed In Texas

AUSTIN—Nearly 10,000 Texans are now learning food processing in Rural War Production Centers, according to Robert A. Manire, Director, "and at the present rate of operation more than 3,000,000 cans of food will be conserved to feed Texans at war."
"Nearly half the 1,039 approved centers are already in operation and in most cases the Food Processing Courses have been lengthened to 90 or more hours in order to serve a larger enrollment."
"Early expectations were that only 1,000,000 cans of food would be processed, but this figure will soon be exceeded, and will eventually be tripled," Manire says, "particularly since some of the plants with operating capacities as high as 10,000 cans daily are getting underway."
"Persons interested in this phase of the Rural War Production Training should see their local vocational agriculture teacher. No charge is made for the training, and a well informed instructor will be on hand to help those participating do their own processing."

WATKINS INSECT DUST
For Your Victory Garden

"Food will win the war and write the peace." Produce more!
Grow more and kill the pests that ruin gardens and crops. Insects destroy millions of dollars worth of crops every year according to government statistics. Use Watkins Insect Dust to protect your Victory Garden. It's just the thing for beans and plants with edible tops. CONTAINS NO ARSENIC, LEAD OR FLUORINE.

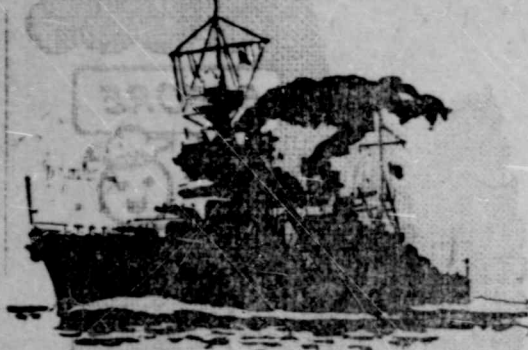

How Watkins Dust Affects Insects
Insect feeding is either by biting, chewing and swallowing (like cabbage worms, etc.) or by sucking (aphids, etc.) Chewing insects can be killed by poisons that act either through the stomach or through the skin. Sucking insects can only be killed by "skin poisons" (contact action). Rotenone and rotenoids are unique because they kill both by contact with the skin and from the stomach when swallowed. The aliphatic thiocyanate is a contact poison. Watkins Insect Dust, therefore, affects both chewing and sucking insects.

5 Ocean Navy

When Pearl Harbor burst upon us our great expanse of territory was protected by a one ocean navy of about 350 first line ships with an addition of an approximate number building.

Now we are in a five ocean war and we are required not only to pay for the building of enough ships of the line but also for hundreds of Liberty ships and auxiliary craft. The amount of money you invested in War Bonds when we had a one ocean navy was all right then, it isn't enough now. Buy more and more War Bonds.

Wigwag

Frequently the Navy, the Coast Guard and the Signal Corps finds it expedient to relay messages without benefit of telephone, telegraph or radio. That is when the semaphore system is employed.

Like a single flag in the "Wigwag" system, the purchase of a War Savings Stamp or Bond, in itself has an infinitesimal effect upon the entire war effort, but when 130 million determined people set their minds to make our War Bond drives successful, the result is anything but infinitesimal.

No Easy Way To Win Battles

There is no automatic and easy process for winning battles on the home front any more than there is an automatic and easy process for winning battles in the field. The war must be won and the war must be financed by the voluntary, united effort of the whole American people.

What success in financing means to our fighters is illustrated by a conversation I had recently with the Chief of Staff, General Marshall came over to the Treasury to have lunch with me and, before he left, he said:

"Mr. Secretary, I want you to answer a question for me and to answer it with complete frankness. Can we military leaders plan to fight this war in an orderly way—in the surest and most effective manner—or must we take extraordinary risks for fear the money will not hold out?"

My answer was: "General, the American people will take care of that. What they have done in this Second War Loan Drive—the money they have produced and the spirit they have shown—is proof enough for me that they will not let our fighters suffer from lack of support until we achieve complete victory, no matter how long that may be, nor how much it may cost."

THAT was my answer to General Marshall. I know it is the answer of all the American people.—Secretary Henry Morgenthau, Jr.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Beans

So long as a soldier can eat and think up disparaging names for his equipment the Army will do all right. Food is either "beans," or "chow."

"Chow" may consist of a well cooked meal or if circumstances demand our fighting men have learned to subsist on "Ration K," the concentrated food that all of them carry into battle.

With millions of men and women in the services it will require a lot of War Bond buying on our part to keep them happy.

Baptist Church News

A good number of boys and girls of the church families are enjoying a week of study and recreation at Ceta Canyon, the boys having their camp the first three days of the week and later the girls camp.

The young people will meet personally some of our returned missionaries now in the home land and these camps enable the young people to get together under the proper supervision.

The building for the Mexican church is being moved this week and will be further improved as the people by their contributions make it possible, but they will be able to use it next Sunday in their study and worship. The leading Mexicans in this church are American citizens, loyal to this country, and are setting their fellow Mexicans a worthy example of church going and seeking to bring up their own children under religious influence and their example in this matter is worthy of the consideration of many of our own people who rarely ever darken the door of the church except they attend a funeral for themselves or others.

As was mentioned in this column last week, July first is the date for another payment on our building obligation and with $2,000 cash in that fund already, we will need an additional $1,250 to reduce this debt to $7,000 which should be done by all means. The church is retiring this debt in a hurry as it should do as the people want to pay it off while we have the money and if you have not had worthy part in it, this is your chance to get in on it.

People who complain about the expenses of the church are generally those who do not furnish the money as that old adage is near-

"PINK FLOWERS" BECOME WAAC

Could there be any more picturesque setting for a WAAC induction ceremony than the magnificent Carlsbad Caverns!

It is there that Lillian Lencheze, a Navajo Indian girl was inducted into the Corps.

By her own tribe, Aux. Lencheze is known as "Pink Flower". "Lencheze" is the phonetic spelling of the Indian translation. A graduate of the Las Vegas Highland University, Aux. "Pink Flower" was an instructor in home economics before enrolling in the WAAC.—Daytona WAAC-tivities.
