WHILE THE WIVES of officers and enlisted men of the South Plains Army Air Field at Lubbock could probably get all the vegetables they need through the commissary of the government, they are taking a different view out there. From their big co-operative victory garden, the wives of these officers and men are now canning beans, okra, black-eyed peas, etc., and later will start canning corn, carrots and sweet potatoes. These ladies are to be complimented for this essential work, instead of just holding their hands, or spending all their spare time at bridge tables. We have a war to win.

IN A LETTER addressed to newspaper executives, of recent date, Byron Price of the office of censorship, Washington, states that newspapers have done such a good job of censoring their own papers so as not to give vital information to enemy governments, the same rules and regulations that have applied for the past 18 months will stand with no revisions. However, a number of things are not permitted to be mentioned, such as "secret" weapons, mostly being experimented with, or certain chemicals. Well, a country editor way out here in the agricultural west would know very little about them, at best.

AS FAR AS the Herald is concerned, it was not seeking a job as tax-assessor-collector for the government on wage earner's incomes. In fact, we did not seek the job of collecting social security taxes, but that, too, was wished on us, without pay or commission. But a certain gentleman by the name of Henry Morgenthau Jr., Secretary of the US Treasury, has wished this job on us, and imposes a heavy fine for failure. Well, it doesn't cost this or any other firm anything to hire bookkeepers to figure all this out for Uncle Sam, and turn in the money. Frankly, and without levity, it appears to the Herald that a lot of useless employees at Washington and elsewhere that right now are doing nothing better than mimographing and sending out propaganda, might be moved back into the "provinces" to figure out income taxes.

JUST OWING to whose ox is gored. That still holds good. Edit-tor Peter Molyneux of the Southwestern Baking and Industry, in a recent issue gave us a bit of an address by a Palestine banker, at the convention held in Fort Worth in May. This banker frankly stated that bankers as a whole looked on the encroachment of government created utilities, which were tax free, very complacently, when they first began to come in competition with public owned utilities. But since the government has taken over to loaning at a very low interest rate, from funds created by taxes, yet as government funds are tax free, local, state or national. Mr. Molyneux might have added that bankers in general took an even more complacent view way back 40 years ago, when the government entered the printing business, furnished printed and stamped envelopes cheaper than even the larger printing establishments could buy the stock. And strange to say, the bankers were one of the government printing office's biggest customers. What printing of envelopes or most anything else the local printer got from banks could have been stuck into your eye without pain. Finally, some of the big printing firms, covering a city block, in the larger cities, got together, bought up entire envelope factory outputs and began to meet the government competition. Yes, the printer is in position to know just what government encroachment on their business means for the past 40 years. Bankers are just beginning to feel it, and unless we are shield away from too much socialism and bureaucracy, local bankers are going to have a hard time making money for their stockholders.

ONE OF the most discouraging things the home front has to read and hear is the continual bickering, name calling and other billingsgate stuff coming from higher up officials of our government. All this from men one would take to be statesmen, and who, if they have a personal quarrel, it should be settled without reaching the public for an airing. Folks, such is becoming disgusting, when a high cabinet officer and the vice-president of the United States engage in stuff that

- Q. What will stop pine pitch from running out of knot holes in boards?
A. Nothing will correct it entirely, but several coats of shellac will check the trouble.
- Q. What is the rating of rabbit manure?
A. The analysis will vary widely with the ration fed. But it will be up in a class with sheep manure, which is considered about the best.
- Q. How can I prevent the mold from accumulating on hams?
A. If your storage is too damp, try storing hams in a barrel of oats or bran in a dry place, but in one that is fairly cool.
- Q. Is it safe for chicks to drink out of a fountain that is coated inside with a black, tar roofing cement?
A. We have used asphalt roof cement and paint on water troughs and fountains for some 30 years and never noted any bad effects; so I guess it is safe to use it.
- Q. How many gallons of spray are needed for one mature apple tree?
A. That depends on size, condition, and thoroughness. Use 10 gallons in dormant stage, and up to 25 gallons per tree when foliage is out full, on a tree that bears about 25 bushels.
- Q. What can I use for bugs on beans and cucumbers?
A. Rotenone, arsenate of lead, or any similar poison.
- Q. What makes parsnips rusty?
A. Probably it is mostly due to maggots. I will send you a page on how to control them.
- Q. Is there a remedy for oyster-shell scale on young apple trees?
A. Yes. A 6 per cent oil emulsion spray in spring while trees are still dormant.
- Q. What will be the yield from a peck of white bush beans?
A. The yield depends on many factors, but you can be fairly sure of a return of 10 to 15 pecks from your one peck of seed, plus a lot of work.

FROM PLATO on down the line to Jefferson, the world has had some instruction and education on democracy. Even President Woodrow Wilson tried to give the world an inkling of what real democracy stood for, but his aims and influence was voted down by isolationists and representatives from districts where there were big manufacturing concerns that were fearful they might lose a dollar here and there, if there was a fair and even trade condition established with the rest of the world. Some have said that we admire Jefferson, but follow Hamilton, pointing out that we have persisted in mass production, centralizing of wealth; drifting into centralizing of bureaucratic government, with their strikes and other labor upheavals. Jefferson, however, was not strictly agrarian, as he was a noted architect, and an inventor in a limited way. One of his inventions was the lowly wheelbarrow, an implement still used and appreciated.

DANIEL WEBSTER SAID IT 100 YEARS AGO!

The other day we ran into a bit of speech by Daniel Webster, spoken in a debate in the Senate over one hundred years ago: "If war should sweep our commerce from the seas," he declared, "another generation will restore it. If war exhausts our treasury, future industry will replenish it. If war desecrates and lays waste our fields, under new cultivation they will grow green again and ripen to future harvest. "If the walls of yonder Capitol fall and its decorations be covered with the dust of battle, all these can be rebuilt. But who shall reconstruct the fabric of a demolished government; who shall dwell in the well-proportioned columns of constitutional liberty; who shall frame together the skillful architecture which unites sovereignty with State's rights, individual security with prosperity?"

Elequent words, and sound. Above all, their meaning to us now and today is that vigilance pays, everlasting vigilance for the continued preservation of our liberties.—The Pathfinder.

A Few ???'s to Ask the Printing Peddler

When the Peddler selling stationery and printing supplies solicits your business, there are a few questions which he should be willing to answer to your satisfaction.

Among them being:

- Does he pay taxes in this community?
- Does he donate space in his newspaper to the local community enterprises?
- Does he pay wages to a force of employees located in this City or County?
- Does his paper devote its entire space toward the betterment and upbuilding of this community?
- Does he grant you every favor that you would ordinarily ask of a local newspaper?
- Does the quality of his merchandise stand inspection—is it on quality paper stock and the printed matter attractively arranged?
- Will he submit proof of your work before finishing and mailing it to you C. O. D.?
- Does his price include postage and insurance charges?
- Can he supply your order on short notice?

If he can answer all the questions in the affirmative, he is entitled to your business.

IF NOT . . . CONSULT

Land Power

College Station—Need for abundant food will not end with victory in this war, says Robert R. Lancaster, pasture specialist for the A. and M. College Extension Service. A forecast of abundance may be reversed by a sudden, unexpected critical food scarcity. There is a parallel for that in the protein food shortage last fall. Hence the urgent need for maximum production at a critical period in soil depletion from the continuous cropping and erosion.

But increasing food requires land power, not simply man and machine power. Soil must have humus, nitrogen, phosphorus, potash, calcium and other elements necessary for life and growth. Land power has been featured for seven years on hundreds of Texas farms in many counties representing different soil types through cooperation between the Texas A. and M. College and the Tennessee Valley Authority in the use of mineral fertilizers.

Lancaster says that a ton of highly concentrated TVA triple phosphate contains more than twice as much plant food as ordinary superphosphate. Tests of these fertilizers, called farm unit demonstrations, are conducted cooperatively by the A. and M. College Extension Service and committees of farm people with selected farm families whose chief source of income is from farming. Each family plans its farming and homemaking for progressive improvements according to its best knowledge, skill and judgment. It is assisted by county Extension agents, and in many cases by other agencies working with agriculture. The TVA supplies phosphate fertilizers yearly for soil building to improve finally every acre of the farm.

During the past year TVA supplied more than 600 tons of phosphate to 300 farm unit demonstrators in Texas. Lancaster says that 42,000 farm unit demonstrators farming 6,000,000 acres in 29 states who use TVA phosphates will surpass their food goals this year. On the most successful farms in that program production of foods needed today soared more than 60 per cent over the previous maximum without more machine power, but with increased land power.

Mrs. Ray Hailey visited in Brownfield Monday.

Long Range Weather Forecasting Advocated As Farming Aid

Long-range weather forecasting by the United States Weather Bureau would increase the annual production of farm products, Wheeler McMillen, editor of The Farm Journal and Farmer's Wife, declared in a General Electric Farm forum talk in Schenectady, New York.

"The United States apparently has not caught up with our enemy countries in such long-range weather forecasting as has enabled them to carry on important naval movements under the protecting cover of continued fogs," he said.

With the assistance of such forecasting, farmers could have anticipated this spring's heavy rains which are seriously delaying planting, he explained, adding: "Late planting usually means lower yields at harvest time. Plants of each species require a very definite number of summer days, so many long days of sunlight and warmth, in order to complete the cycle of their maturity. On my old home farm in Ohio we figured — and the state experimental station confirmed the fact — that for each day's delay in corn planting after the tenth of May, we would harvest one bushel less per acre."

Mr. McMillen said that shortages of labor, fertilizer, and machinery and the loss of farmers' time in filling out forms and questionnaires are other reasons why this year's crop will fall short of the 1942 yield.

"Washington set up a machinery rationing system so complicated that new equipment gathered dust on dealers' floors while farmers were in desperate need of it," he said. "I am using this as only one illustration of an important fact. Because of such innumerable and repeated handicaps, created by government officials eager to impose and extend their power over everything, many a farmer will be unable to make the most efficient use of what favorable weather does come."

"Consequently there will be definitely less food raised on the farms this year than could have been produced if farmers, manufacturers and equipment dealers had been allowed to work out their problems under whatever restraints the needs of war actually made necessary. Because of over-reaching of federal authority, some city families this winter will find their food coupons worth less. There will be less food to ration out."

In addition to editing The Farm Journal and Farmer's Wife, Mr. McMillen is president of the American Agricultural Editors Association, vice-president of the Farm Chemurgic council and a member of the American Society of Agricultural farmers. A leader in promoting the development of farm crops for industrial uses, he also finds time to operate the Ohio farm on which he was born and owns another in New Jersey.

HYDROELECTRIC POWER BASIC FACTOR IN SOUTH AMERICAN DEVELOPMENT

SCHENECTADY, July 1 — Potential hydroelectric power sources, including a waterfall larger than Niagra, are basic factors in the economic development of Latin America, Nelson D. Pagani, native Uruguayan and member of the engineering staff of the International General Electric Company declared here in a General Electric Science Forum address.

"The Iguazu Falls, 200 feet high, a mile and a half long and larger than Niagra Falls, alone, has potentiality of 250,000 kilowatts," he said. "The Apupe rapids, formed by the junction of the Iguazu river, which runs between Brazil and Argentina, and the Parana river, could deliver twice that amount of power."

"Latin America has more than three times the hydroelectric power potential of the United States. But only two million of the Latin American potential of 80 million kilowatts have been developed, while approximately 19 of the 25 million United States potential has been developed. Brazil—which ranks fourth to Russia, the United States and Canada in potential hydroelectric power—has a potential of 19 million kilowatts."

By erecting South American power projects on the scale of Boulder dam or the Dnieperstroy dam in Russia, aluminum, iron ore and other raw materials now so much in demand in this country could be developed and converted into manufactured goods, for which South America is now very largely dependent on the United States, he pointed out.

Mr. Pagani was born in Montevideo and in 1937 graduated from the University of Uruguay there. He later came to the United States and in 1941 took a degree in electrical engineering from the University of Detroit, that same year joining G.E. as a test engineer.

Mr. E. P. McWhorter of Lubbock, has just returned from the markets in Chicago, where he purchased several thousand dollars worth of merchandise for the Southern Auto Stores in Brownfield, Lubbock and Littlefield.

Joe Pete and Ida Mae May had as their house guests for the weekend, Virginia and Louise Shewmake of O'Donnell, and Jack Lister, Jack Ethington and Norman Main, of the South Plains Army Flying School.

Chicken, Turkey Shipments Decline

AUSTIN, July 1—Only six cars of chickens and one of turkeys moved from Texas farms to the nation's markets during May, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

These figures were less than half shipments of a year ago, when 15½ cars of chickens and 7½ cars of turkeys were shipped in the corresponding month.

Sales of Texas independent retail stores this year are 25 percent above 1942, on the basis of records for the first five months of each year, the University of Texas bureau of business research reports.

Recent upturn in life insurance purchases by the American people is expected to continue with most families having more money to spend and fewer things to spend on.

The Old He Makes An "Essential" Trip

Hardly a week passes that the Herald does not chronicle that "dis, dat and tother" is not making a trip somewhere to see some one, or to fish. As we worked hard for nigh onto a year without hardly being out of the county, we begin to try to "think" up some essential trip that we should make, and as it had been about that long since we had been to see the kids, Herman and Sally Trigg at Brownwood, there was where our heart longed to be.

Besides, Herman is soon to be called to the colors, it seems, and we wanted to visit him before he had to go. So, we hit 380 about ten ayem, June 25, for that port, accompanied by Mrs. Bill Lyle of Lubbock, who came down on the bus that morning. She has a sister in Brownwood, also a lot of relatives over at Brady, she wished to visit. Talking of visiting, why should it be just that? . . . when the bass were biting in Lake Brownwood. So most of the time, other than night, was spent at Herman's mother's "shack", as they call it, on the lake, and where they have two motor boats. No, we did not choose to take a ride out on the lake to fish, as we cannot swim any too good, when we did not have rheumatism, which made it another essential reason for the trip.

The biggest catch was on Saturday afternoon, when in two hours around 25 pounds of bass and crappie were taken. Sunday afternoon was not so good, as about 15 pounds were taken, including one channel cat of perhaps two pounds. All these fish were immediately cleaned and placed in the frigidaire for us to bring back home. They already had a lot of fish frozen down to eat. In fact, we had a nice mess for supper Friday night.

Brownwood, with its big Camp Bowie, and its army air base, is still on the boom, and all have work, and are making money, if they wish to make. Also, there is still considerable building and repairing, as you know materials can be obtained in such towns that cannot be secured here at all. Even though it is hot, there were air conditioners in the home, and we had a swell time on the visit!

As to crops, the best we saw on the plains are between Tahoka and Post. Scurry county, too, has very good crops, as does the Abilene section. They are fair to good in Coleman and Brown counties. No hard luck until we started home.

The old Chevy kicked off like nobody's business when we left Brownwood about ten Monday morning. But, when we stopped in Abilene for cokes at a filling station, the starter was dragging, and we had to be shoved off, as they told us it would be almost impossible to get the job done in Abilene that day. Maybe at Merkel or Sweetwater. But it won't hurt it to run. So, we brought the job back to home folks.

But, that ain't all. Just as we neared the west edge of Merkel a tire went down. It was a very old spare, instead of one of the regulars. It cost us $3.75 to get another well-patched tube and a second-hand liner, to have a spare on in. Our other tube was torn in two.

But we made it without further trouble, except we had to keep the old car perculating, and most of the perculating was in the general direction of Brownfield.

You may think this is a big mess of nonsense. We don't give a darn where you went, or what happened to you, says you. But we still have a few of these fish, but—none to spare, however. And didn't we kill a lot of space we had to fill?

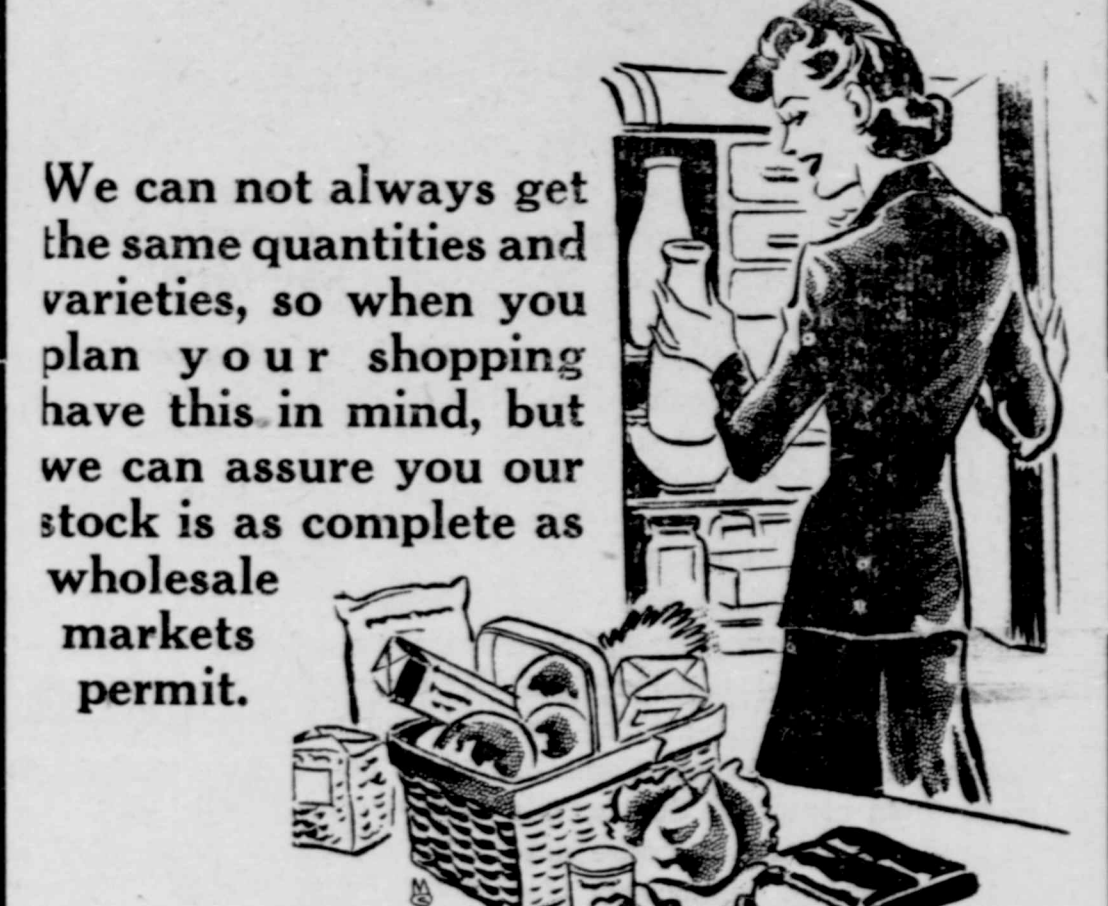

And being gone over the weekend, we were just as blank as the dickens Tuesday morning when we started on this weekly grind.

University of Texas men students who recently sold their furniture and other equipment from the Oak Grove cooperative dormitory—turned over to the Navy—have "salted away" the proceeds in a trust fund for resuming operations after the war.

Only one Texas business concern had to go into bankruptcy in May and one in April, as compared with pre-war monthly totals which sometimes went as high as 20 to 30, University of Texas bureau of business research records show.

Having Trouble Getting Help?

So are we. Like you, we're faced with the biggest production job in our history. And, like you, we've lost many of the men who used to help us.

Yet that's only part of the story. Every day, on farm and factory, there's something new to test the skill of those running the business. Not only getting help, but—to mention a few others—rising costs, making a fair profit, and setting aside reserves for a rainy day. Essentially, those problems are the same for farm and factory, though they may at times differ in size.

But it is that thing called "management," that peculiarly American ability to think through problems no matter how tough, that is helping to see us through today.

It is this skill in management that farmers and businessmen have most in common, a skill which insures the realization of our determination to produce all that's needed for our country today, and, tomorrow, to make a fair living through greater service to our fellow Americans. SUMMER PROJECTS OF HOME-MAKING GIRLS IN BROWNFIELD HIGH SCHOOL

Seventeen girls are completing their projects and finishing up their work this week. They started work on various projects at home, immediately after school was out, and will be through the last of June.

The girls met in groups three afternoons a week to work on joint projects. This summer they made hospital garments during the first weeks, and for the past two weeks they have been folding bandages for the Red Cross. They folded several hundred bandages during these meetings. They felt that this would be a project that would be worthwhile at this time, as there are so many bandages on hand to be fixed.

The girls carried on some very good projects within their own homes. These were checked and visited by the home-making instructor once each week. Some of the projects completed during this month were as follows: home canning, gardening, slipcovers for furniture, refinishing floors, papering and painting rooms, cooking and sewing various articles including curtains and clothing. Several pieces of furniture were refinished also.

These girls have accomplished something in their work, and at the same time will receive a one-half credit.

VISITS BROTHERS ENROUTE HOME

Twilla Graham, who has been attending Lindenwood College at St. Charles, Mo., is home for the summer. Enroute home she stopped at Camp Van Dorn, Miss., to visit her brother, Lt. Sawyer Graham. While she was visiting there, Lt. Graham was promoted from Second Lieutenant to First Lieutenant.

This promotion was granted within the shortest period of time allowed by the Army after the commission of Second Lieutenant has been received. Miss Graham also stopped in Fort Worth to visit friends and in Texas City to visit her other brother, Tight Graham.

GIRL SCOUTS—TROOP I

Troop I, of the Girl Scouts, met at the home of Mrs. Tom Cobb, Wednesday afternoon of last week for another lesson on etiquette. They have been taking a course in Personality Development for the past few months. Mrs. Cobb read articles from magazines on etiquette and discussed the personality of famous persons.

Those present were Dolores Gillham, Billy Finney, Janet Davis, Hazel Vernon, Aurelia Ann Cobb, Qwenette Glover, Jane Weir, Judy Griffin, Norma Jean Cary, Mary Edna Tankersley and Betty Jean Holmes.

PLEASURE CLUB MEETS WITH SUE JONES

Miss Sue Jones entertained members of the Pleasure Club, Wednesday night. After a delightful evening of bridge, scores were tallied and first, second and bingo prizes were given.

Cokes, candy and smack sandwiches were served to Mesdames John L. Cruce, Joe Shelton, C. C. Primm, Mike Barrett, Ruth Huckabee, E. L. Sturges and Misses Gertrude Jones and Earlene Jones.

EASTERN STAR HOLDS REGULAR MEETING

The Eastern Star met Tuesday night in the Masonic Hall, for their regular meeting. Mrs. Mollie Goodpasture presided as Worthy Matron. Refreshments were served to 20 members.

The next meeting will be on July 20th at 8 o'clock.

PICNIC ENJOYED IN LUBBOCK

The Lucille Reagan Circle met with Mrs. J. C. Green, Monday, with Mrs. Green as leader. Seven members were present.

The other circles did not meet because of the holiday.

Romie C. Stewart, vice president of the Commercial Standard Ins. Co., of Fort Worth, and wife, spent last week end with his mother, Mrs. Tennie Stewart of this city, and also met with his brother Fletcher J. Stewart of Anaheim, Calif., who spent last week with relatives here. They both left Monday for their respective homes.

Baptist Church News

We cannot refrain giving the result of our collection of funds to apply on our building debt as without a public collection through the envelopes only, the building obligation has been reduced this week four thousand dollars leaving only six thousand dollars against the property which it is hoped can be liquidated by next January first, as many of our people wish to see it paid at the earliest possible date.

Last Sunday being July fourth, the pastor dealt with the dangers to Christian America, reciting the great increase of the divorce evil, which has been greatly assisted and abetted by the movie industry through the lives of the actors as well as the pictures shown.

He classed the second greatest danger the desecration of the American Sabbath or the Lord's Day which was once generally observed by the American family but is now being put in discard and used for amusement and recreational purposes by the American public and is generally referred to as the week end, and he also indicated the movie industry as taking a leading part in educating the public to desecrate the day by using it for entertainment and not for worship.

He did not overlook the great increase in the drinking of liquor and the promises made by the distillers and brewers not to return the open saloon to the American public all of which promises not having been made to keep but only to deceive some fair minded citizens who should now know better than to believe the wets.

His discourse was so timely and so true to facts that I have given only a few of them but these are questions that vitally affect the religious life of the nation.

If the Church does not stand against things that threaten its existence it is very short sighted indeed and a preacher who is fearful of warning his people is not worthy of his pulpit.

We expect to win the war but we must guard the religious life of our nation and have something left worth while when our men return to civil life again. You will be welcome in our services.

CANNING METHODS

I. Pressure Cooker

- Use cooker in good condition and one thoroughly checked.
- Follow manufacturer's directions for use of cooker.
- Keep petcock open until steam escapes in steady stream 5 to 7 min. to exhaust all air from cooker.
- For this altitude increase pressure two pounds above that given on charts.
- Always use pressure cooker for canning non-acid vegetables like peas, greens, corn, pumpkin, beans, etc., and for meats, poultry and fish.

II. Boiling Water Bath

- Fruits and tomatoes may be canned by this method.
- Water should cover jar from 1 to 2 inches and be kept constantly boiling the entire processing time specified.
- At this altitude increase length of time 8 minutes more than that given on charts.

III. Oven Canning

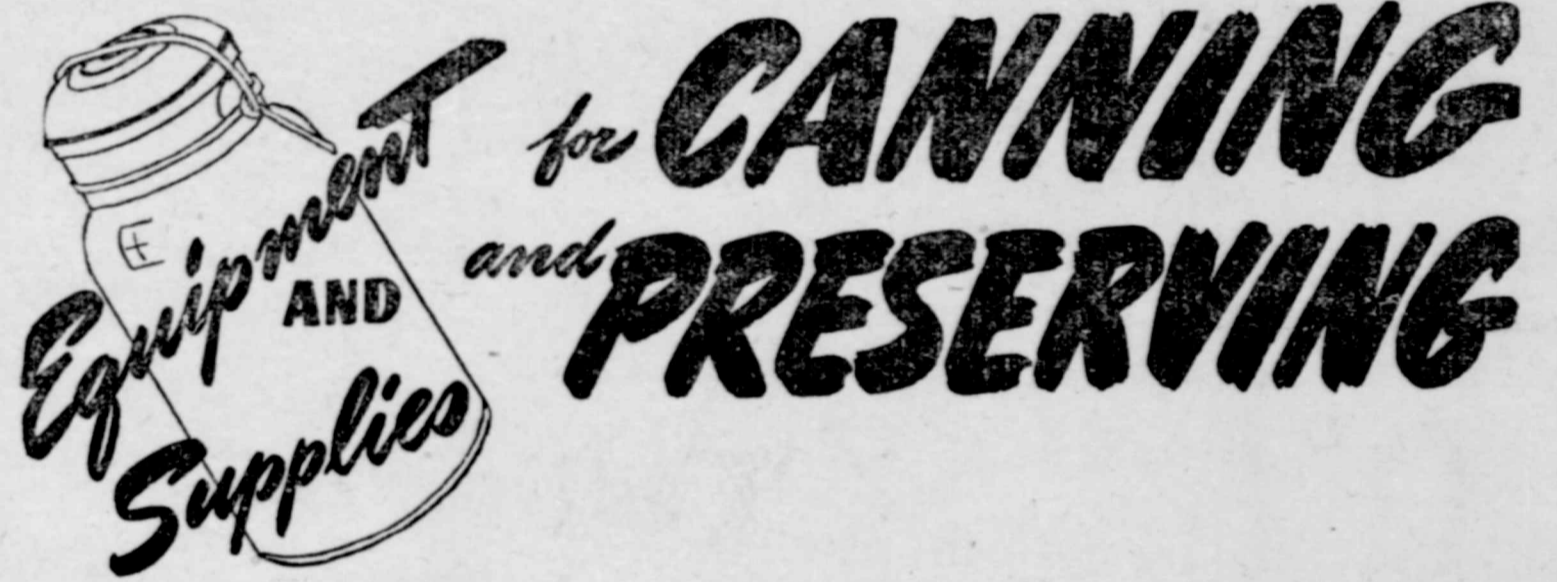

- This method may be used if the range has an accurate oven control.
- DO NOT can non-acid vegetables or meats in the oven.

IV. Open Kettle

- Oldest method of home canning.
- Use this method for making jams and butters.

Can and Preserve Your VICTORY GARDEN
 And Enjoy Them Next Winter

You may all well be proud of what's been accomplished by this community toward relieving wartime food problems! One and all—men, women and children have rallied 'round the nation's call for food for the home, fighting and allied fronts — and have planted Victory Gardens where food never grew before; have raised chickens, geese and ducks where they would have seemed mighty out of place a year ago; have become wise in the ways of putting up their produce so there won't be any lean months ahead for their families.

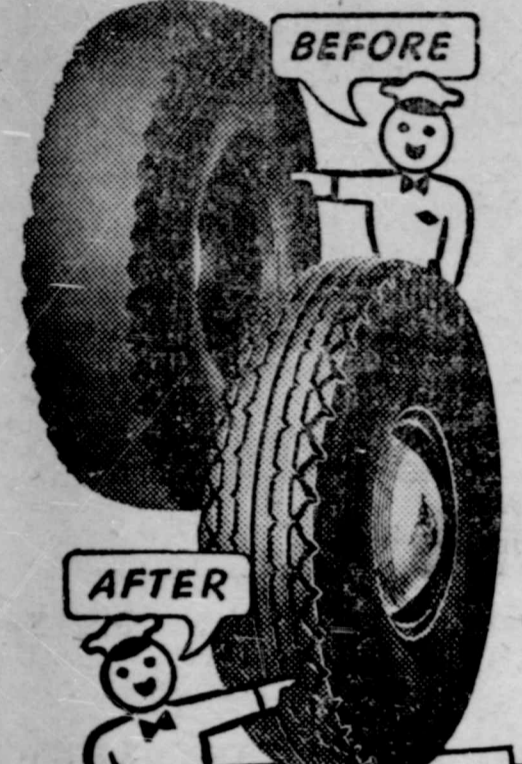

We can supply you with your canning needs, and the Government urges you to can for VICTORY.

MILK FOR WOUNDED IN ARMY-NAVY HOSPITALS

CHENECHADY, N. Y., July 8—Army and Navy hospitals give a lot of fresh milk to our wounded fighting men every day.

"Today Uncle Sam is commanding 50 per cent off all butter commercially produced in the nation, 70 per cent of all American cheese, and 90 per cent of all spray process skim milk powder," he pointed out.

"Fluid milk, which helps to keep the nations workers strong, is also being served at the training camps and the Army and Navy hospitals throughout the country."

"Last week, I visited a U. S. Army hospital where hundreds of wounded soldiers had returned from Africa," Mr. Morrow related.

"The authorities told me that every medical patient receives New York State milk three times daily and that patients in the surgical ward often get milk every two hours."

HOLIDAY DEATHS SHOW DECREASE

A nation forced to stay put, to a large extent, over the three-day July 4 holiday week end discovered today that wartime curtailment of highway travel saved scores of lives.

Thousands of Americans had to forego motor trips to favorite fishing spots or back to Uncle Jim's farm, but many were alive and whole to tell about being a wartime homebody instead of being received at a morgue or hospital.

An Associated Press survey showed that at least 298 deaths occurred over the week end but only 127 of these were traffic fatalities. There were 84 drownings and 87 deaths from miscellaneous causes.

Last year, the first wartime July 4 holiday, there were 320 traffic deaths and in 1941 before gas-tire-auto restriction there were 500.

This year, also, not a single fire-works death was reported.

Deaths by states from traffic accidents, drownings and miscellaneous causes, in that order, included: Texas 5-1-2.

Washington, D. C.—How important is the average worker's war bond purchases out of his pay every payday in the grand strategy of the Allied High Command?

George C. Marshall said "Mr. Secretary, I want you to answer leaders plan to fight this war in an orderly way—in the surest and most effective manner—or must we take extraordinary risks for fear the money will not hold out?"

Replied Secretary Morgenthau: "General, the American public will take care of that. What they have done in the Second War Loan drive—the money they have produced and the spirit they have shown—is proof enough for me that they will not let our fighters suffer from lack of support until we achieve complete victory, no matter how long that may be nor how much it may cost."

KEEP CHILDREN AWAY FROM INFANTILE PARALYSIS

AUSTIN, Tex., July 8 — With the current incidence of poliomyelitis in Texas being somewhat over the seven-year median, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, is urging the public to co-operate in helping to prevent the spread of this crippling disease.

"Children should not visit homes where poliomyelitis or symptoms of this disease are present. Promptness in diagnosing poliomyelitis is one of the most important factors in its control," Dr. Cox declared.

"Direct contact between persons is the chief factor in the spread of infantile paralysis and since carriers are difficult to determine, it is advisable to reduce to a minimum all human contacts during any outbreaks of this disease."

Dr. Cox stressed the fact that a rigid program of sanitation is advisable since it has been suspected that flies and other seasonal insects may convey the virus or germ of poliomyelitis. He added that insect transmission has not been scientifically demonstrated but pointed out that sanitation is always advisable in controlling disease and that filth is likely to prove dangerous.

Early symptoms of infantile paralysis are headache, fever, vomiting, unusual drowsiness, and irritability, followed by stiffness in the neck and back.

Children under five years are most susceptible and all children under twelve years should be watched for suspicious symptoms. Dr. Cox urged that a physician be called immediately if infantile is suspected. If the disease is definitely diagnosed, local health authorities should be contacted immediately and patients isolated for at least 21 days.

Texas may earn as much as five and a half billion dollars during 1943, a University of Texas economist predicts. He estimates non-agricultural payrolls will reach 2.7 billions dollars; farm cash income, 1.3 billion; minerals, nearly one billion; and value added to goods by manufacturing, approximately one-half billion. In 1942 Texas income was 4.2 billion dollars.

"Behind The Scenes In American Business"

By John Craddock

NEW YORK, June 28 — The mounting problem of how small business can be saved from destruction because the country is preoccupied with war production apparently is headed for a solution, after some two years of abortive attempts to set up safeguards. The American Bankers Association has agreed to assist small concerns to fit themselves into the production of both war materials and essential civilian goods. Details have not yet been worked out, but some of the advantages are obvious. Often it is the local banker who knows the problems of individual communities better than anyone else. Moreover, they know the people who are in business, and since the A. B. A. has decided to decentralize its program, this will be of prime importance. The accusation has been made that the small enterprises which have received the most help from Washington have been those which could make the most noise. The local banker is not going to be impressed by noises; he knows the source. The bankers know, too, that mere advice is not always going to be enough. Their assistance will be valuable in many cases, but they realize that they cannot overcome situations where individual industries are not able to obtain supplies.

TRIPLE WAR JOB—Unique in its contributions to the war effort is Marshall Field & Company. All three of the corporation's major divisions are directly and indirectly engaged in war work. Hughston M. McBain, president, recently revealed that 40 per cent of the production in the company's manufacturing division is going directly for the armed services. Contributing to the home front morale, the retail division has made an all-out effort in its cooperation with government sponsored war-time promotions, while its real estate division has a high rate of wartime agency occupancy. Marshall Field & Company's manufacturing division is turning out blankets, sheeting and towels for various branches of the armed services. Added to this they are making cartridge cloth, nylon parachute cloth, silk waste powder bags, mosquito netting, camouflage materials, window pane bomb percussion material and osnaburg cloth for sand bags.

MORE SHELLS, LESS STEEL —Bad news for the Axis was the recent announcement that an improved process of shell making enables American war plants to turn out six 155 mm. shells from the same quantity of steel which formerly produced only five of the same size.

SANTA FE CARLOADINGS —Santa Fe carloadings for the week ending June 26, 1943, were 26,704 compared with 25,304 for the same week in 1942. Cars received from connections totaled 12,217 compared with 10,694 for the same week in 1942. Total cars moved were 38,921 for the same week in 1942. Santa Fe handled a total of 36,953 cars in the preceding week of this year.

What America need is not so much a good 5 cent cigar as it is one radio newscaster or news commentator who will talk in the American language.

"J-u-n-k-e-r-s" spells "junkers" to me and the sooner all those German planes are junk the better off the world will be.

"K-i-s-s" certainly spells "kiss"—then why should "Kiska" spell "Kees-ka"? After all, its and American island and we've owned it a hundred years. How long do we have to own it before we can pronounce it our way?

The sawdust Caesar of Italy is "Il Deuce" to me because he's just a cheap little two-spot and his name is "Muss-o-lin-i" because he tried to muscle in but only made a muss of things.

"Nazi" ought to sound as much like "nasty" as possible because they mean about the same.

Some day the people are going to rebel about all this hi-falutin' guff from the lads with the velvet tonsils—and we'll have at least one news commentator who won't "rawther" and "eyether" us to death.

Though no one has been clamoring for details, here's a self-portrait:

I like crowds and the roar of crowds; am logical (I hope) but am proud of a few pet prejudices; like poetry and oratory; am impatient until the task before me is performed and am usually prompt in answering letters; incline to take side if I know nothing of either scrapper, then I'm for the under-dog; resent an injury to a friend more than to myself; can't stay mad long; and as the years march on, am becoming a little doubtful of my opinions—not so sure that I know the answers.

In addition to the Bard's birthplace, they can see Anne Hathaway's thatched cottage, Holy Trinity church, where Shakespeare is buried, and which dates back to 1184, the Memorial library and gallery, with its many relics, books and paintings. They can do their sightseeing at leisure, making the American Red Cross club in this quaint, historic town their headquarters. The Red Cross club is housed in the White Swan Hotel, which, as the White Swan Inn, was 100 years old when Shakespeare was born.

A MESSAGE TO EVERY AMERICAN FROM THE PRESIDENT

THE WHITE HOUSE WASHINGTON

June 24, 1943

My dear Mr. Secretary:

Through you, as Secretary of the Treasury, I want to congratulate the American people on the way in which they have supported the voluntary payroll savings plan.

I am proud of the fact that 27,000,000 patriotic Americans are regularly investing more than $420,000,000 a month to help pay the cost of the war. And since all of this money comes from wages and salaries — nearly 90 percent from people earning less than $5,000, and the bulk of it from those working in war plants — I do not hesitate to say that the payroll savings plan is the greatest single factor we now have in protecting ourselves against inflationary spending.

This is a great record, both from the standpoint of curbing inflation and from the standpoint of financing the war. However, I heartily endorse your present drive to improve that record, and I agree it must be improved if we are to keep pace with the increasing demands of the war.

I therefore join you in calling upon the American people — and upon labor and management particularly — to do still more. Additional people should be convinced of the necessity of participating. Everyone now on the payroll savings plan should materially increase the amount of bonds he is buying. We originally asked for 10 percent, but now we need considerably more.

I hope every American on a payroll will figure out for himself the extent to which he can curtail his spending, and will put every dollar of additional saving thus made into the payroll savings plan.

Sincerely yours,

Franklin D. Roosevelt

The Honorable,

The Secretary of the Treasury

Soldiers Striking Back At Strikers

We are in receipt of a clipping from an army newspaper, printed somewhere in the South Pacific, sent to Martha (Graves) Oldham, by her husband Jack, and we pass it on to show what our boys in the service think about events at home. It is headed "Striking Back." "We, the members of the armed forces, that are so far from home, are shocked and not a little incensed at the attitude of those workers (?) at home who are quibbling over their pay envelopes, already fattened by this war! It shocked us when we think—and how true this is—that the very people sabotaging the war effort at home by striking, are our own people. Don't they realize they are bartering the body and blood of their own sons, fathers and brothers, for a few tainted dollars? Yes, almost as tainted as the silver pieces of Judas Iscariot! The shock is even greater, when we see many articles of weapons, food and things we need, looking for, fail to come in time. We ask our officers, and receive the reply: "Sorry they have not arrived." What a disappointment! No other charge could truthfully be told us that it is "Because of the strikes back home."

Our anger will make us remember the ones who stabbed us in the back, by going on strike, when and if, we get back home.

These same people will argue as to their inherent right to strike. We ought to ask by whose grace, do you have that right at present? Is it not the gift of men who face the enemy trying to take that right away from us? Is it not the blood and life of those men who died for that right? Then why turn on these same men by holding them back from their avowed purpose of freeing the world from Axis slavery? Why sentence your own flesh and blood to death for a few paltry dollars.

Are the days and weeks spent in fox holes, and under fire spent for nothing? Why do we fight abroad, only to be stabbed at home?

We men will go on and win—but—woe betide those people guilty of such doings, because those dancers will be made to pay the piper. We will not all remain in foreign graves; and those who return—can you, who go on strike now—face your own, and exclaim: 'my rights'. We think not.

We only wish this could reach all of those responsible for these outrages. The men of the armed

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

Two hours after the ill-fated destroyer Hammann was sunk, her skipper, Comdr. Arnold Ellsworth True, was rescued from the water and found to be supporting two enlisted men. He himself was so exhausted that he did not realize both men were dead. Comdr. True, who was awarded the Navy Cross and the Distinguished Service Medal for heroism, typifies the spirit of our men in arms. They give to the limit of their endurance. Do YOUR part! Mrs. W. H. Hague was in Lubbock Sunday.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Rowe Smith, a girl on the 26th. The Smiths live at Louisville, Ky., and this makes their third daughter. Wendell Rowe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith of this city, and was reared and received his high school education here, later attending Southern Methodist University, but received his Engineering degree at Texas Tech.

forces are giving their all. What sacrifice does this band of strikers give? We can see none! If their love of country is so strong, then let the work go on and on, until the war is won. Then and only then, will they have also won the right to strike.

Let's be Americans!

Meadow School is Champ Scrap Getters

SOUTH PLAINS ARMY AIR FIELD, July 8—Meadow School took the lead in the scrap metal campaign with the donation of eight big truck loads of vital scrap, it was announced this week.

Lieut. Col. Frederick W. Franke, quartermaster officer at SPAAF and coordinator of the drive, has called for an all-out drive to get the last remnant of metal in the West Texas area on the way to factories where it will be used for war tools.

A survey is planned over the entire South Plains area of 15 counties with all residents of the area urged to participate. The metal will be picked up by Army trucks.

Some Sunshine After Weeks of Showers

Monday gave us more sunshine than we have had in a single day in a week, Tuesday was likewise mostly clear. This is just what the farmers were needing, so they could get into their fields to cultivate or replant crops that were blown, hailed or rained out.

Around two and three quarter inches fell from last Tuesday to Sunday of this week in Brownfield. Some section of the county perhaps received less and some much more than this amount.
