The Nazis say that Italy is bound to them by pact. And the other fellow must keep a pact with the Nazis. But they, themselves, regard all agreements as just a scrap of paper.

The US Labor Department is wondering whether it is not a bit safer on the war front than on the production front. It is reported that in 29 months prior to the first of this year, 43,500 workers were killed, while 258,000 lost eyes, fingers, arms or legs, and that more than 5 million were laid up for three weeks, recovering.

The president of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation recently accused some Texas cotton oil mills of "striking against the farmer and the war effort." It seems that some mills will not deliver any stated amount of meal and hulls to the farmer in exchange for his seed, according to Mr. Hammond. That farmers need this protein to fatten cattle as well as in the production of milk, and that some farmers were being forced to sell their livestock for lack of feed.

During his short visit with the Herald last week, Congressman George Mahon stated that he regretted very much that in visiting towns he met so few farmers, and mostly business men. Not that he dislikes to meet business men, but he frankly stated that he also wished to get the outlook of the farmer and ranchman and their expectations. In normal times, there is such a long recess of congress that the congressmen could make all the county seats on Saturdays, which gave them a good chance to meet and talk with rural folks. But with just a few weeks recess, they have to get to as many towns as possible in the limited time allotted them. And, with many farmers busy on the farms, they see few of them.

Homer Garrison, director of Texas Department of Public Safety, in a recent address at Detroit, Mich., predicts that the nation is headed for a postwar breakdown, if not a revolution. He predicts an unprecedented crime wave, and the "nation gone wild for pleasure, and that this chaos will almost threaten the foundations of the nation." He mentions some things more startling than companionate marriage, quick, easy divorces, hip flasks, knee skirts, high speed automobiles, and a crime wave costlier and bloodier than the Capone-Dillinger era. Garrison lays the responsibility right where it belongs—to the American home. He intimates that the schools and churches can never become nurseries or reformatories, and that it will therefore be up to families, if they have children, to deny themselves some "pleasures" and bring their offspring up in the way they should go.

Most people consider advertising as comparatively modern. Indeed as modern as movable type and printing presses. But get this from the Old Bible: "I will advertise these what this people shall do."—Numbers 24:14. Some of the bureaus in Washington seem to think that advertising in newspapers is just another unnecessary expense, but do not hesitate to call on them to help in all kinds of drives for money. These same birds do not hesitate to hire time over the radio networks. They forget that our mass production and high standard of living came largely from advertising.

Our congressman, George Mahon, agrees that the government should pay for its advertising, just as it pays all other persons, firms and corporations for their goods. And he went further and stated that if the government would eliminate about two or three million needless employees in Washington and elsewhere, this money could then be used in advertising without extra cost to the government, and be money well spent. Mr. Mahon stated that he did not think this money would or could be used to buy editorial support for the reason that as soon as the war closes, the appropriation would be stopped, as the government would not then have anything to advertise, and private manufacturers would take the place of the government with a lot more advertising than Uncle Sam would ever do.

The news is so good of Europe, about the progress of the war, that you can hardly blame the optimists for predicting the end of Hitler's career by Christmas.

Here is a straw in the wind that is more than a straw in the wind: On the London Stock Exchange men are putting up their money—betting—$4 against $5 that the war in Europe will end that time. That is almost even odds. It means you bet $4 to win $5. And this is not propaganda, nor is it street talk.

Imagine how far we have come when you recall that on the same stock exchange at the beginning of this year the betting odds were six to one against the war in Europe being over during 1943.

It is the most encouraging news for mothers, with boys in England and Africa, that we have had called to our attention. —Floydada Hesperian.

Eddie Warren, Naval photographer, who recently completed a four-month course of photography at the naval training station, Pensacola, Fla., arrived in Post recently en route to the West Coast and visited his wife and mother, Mrs. F. I. Bailey. Warren, who before entering the service was publisher of the Post Dispatch, volunteered into the navy last January with a second class petty officer rating as a specialist in photography. Upon completing the course and receiving a diploma from the photographic school his rating was changed to that of photographer's mate second class. After reporting to the West Coast the former editor will be assigned to active duty.—Publishers Auxiliary.

Adolf, have you counted your men lately? Well, you better, with a quarter million lost in Tunisia, with as many more in Sicily, with the millions poured into the Russian campaigns of more than two years. With thirty thousand killed in Hamburg in a weeks bombing with the Chetniks in Czechoslovakia killing off your men so fast you didn't even tell about it. And with the big shots falling out with your colorful ally Admiral

Just accidentally, we heard the address of Senator W. Lee O'Daniel last Thursday night from his ranch in Parker county. If there had been an announcement of the speech, we failed to see it. So, after the ten o'clock news broadcast, we kept tuned in to get what we expected to be some news commentator. Sen. O'Daniel, we believe, is learning up at Washington. He is finding that a freshman cannot ride rough shod over the veterans; that one has to bide his time, and to be co-operative. Sen. O'Daniel stated that he had supported the administration in its prosecution of the war 100 per cent, but in domestic affairs, he had disagreed with many of the new deal measures, and in this, he is in accord with thousands of other Texans. The Junior Senator gave the bureaucrats a hard lashing, and stated that so many were employed in some offices in Washington, that they were in each other's way, and that two could do a job better than in some instances where three are trying it. For this reason, the congress had cut the appropriations of many bureaus in order to make them trim their personnels. For instance, it was announced that week, that OWI had cut 777 off their payrolls, or nearly half, as congress had cut their appropriations in half. The senator stated that the American people had better be on guard, or they will be under a greater dictatorship after this war is over than those we are now fighting.

Looks as if I got fooled after all. After I went to all the trouble of having four children (Mrs. V. might claim she had something to do with it) they announce now that the draft boards are not to consider the number of children in sending men up for induction when they start drafting fathers. Well, us poor, persecuted fathers can have at least one consolation—this is the only country in the world where it makes any difference to the draft authorities whether you're a young gay bachelor or a struggling family man puzzling over baby's need for new shoes.—Winkler County News.

War Bond Advertising Helps Win The War

The War Finance Division, Treasury Department, Washington, recently wrote the Leader as follows:

"War Bond advertising now is the largest account, by a wide margin, running in newspapers. It's dollar value is greater than the expenditures of the five largest newspaper advertisers combined.

"Thousands of newspapers, large and small, are running this advertising and hundreds of them have sold a page or more a week for a year or for the duration, plus intensive schedules during the war loan drives.

"This is important lineage—but it is much more than that. It who sells this advertising constructively, like everyone who participates as a sponsor, is pulling his oar in the boat."—Lamb County Leader.

Jap Language Taught By Chinese Leatherneck

San Diego, Cal.—Staff Sergeant Lou Yet Ming, 28, Mississippi-born Chinese-American, is an invaluable member of the teaching staff of the Japanese Language school conducted by the U. S. Marine corps at nearby Camp Elliott.

Leatherneck Ming was born in Coahoma, Miss., but spent his childhood and early youth in Canton, China, where his parents took him when he was two years old. There he learned to speak Chinese and Japanese as well as English.

Stf/Sgt. Ming returned to the United States in 1936 and settled in Jonestown, Miss., where he operated a grocery store. Enlisting in the Marine corps in February, '42, he was dispatched to the Japanese Language school four months later. He was such an apt pupil that he was retained as an instructor. Today, however, Stf/Sgt. Ming is anxious to return to the Orient

May Add Another 250 Income Exemption

Austin, Aug. 5—"A plan for exempting $250 additional income earned by each old age assistance recipient is being submitted to the federal security board for approval," J. S. Murchison, executive director of the state department of public welfare, said today. The plan follows advice of Attorney General Gerald Mann concerning the provisions of a state law passed by the last legislature. The attorney general interpreted the bill as applying to those persons on the rolls when the act became effective in May and to persons added to the rolls after May. He ruled that the act exempted $250 above the amount formerly determined by the department as needed by the recipient. This income must be in addition to the income that was being earned by the recipient when his grant was last determined. The exemption applies only to income from seasonal and occasional employment and only when a recipient reports to the welfare department each month on the amount of his earnings and the name of his employer.

Since the federal government matches state money dollar for dollar, any change in the state law must be submitted to the federal government in order that it may determine whether or not it will continue matching money on the basis of the change. The welfare department is advising the federal government that under state law the plan must go into effect immediately. The local field workers will be sent instructions and forms within the next 10 days, welfare officials said.

We were sitting in a dentist's office the other day when some guy looked up from the paper he had found on the table and said brightly: "Well, I see there's been some fierce fighting around that Argonne forest."

to see action as a U. S. Marine. Then, he declares, he'll be able to return to his grocery store in Mississippi.

Motorists Must Endorse Gas Ration Stamps

Motorists and other gasoline users are required to endorse coupons in their gasoline rationing books immediately, under a new OPA amendment, the Garza county war price and rationing board reminded early this week.

The requirement applies to books already in possession of motorists or received hereafter.

In the past, it has not been necessary to write notations on coupons until they were actually used to buy gas.

Immediate endorsements are required under the new amendment both as a convenience to the public and to help OPA investigators in checking misuse of ration coupons falling into hands of persons not entitled to them, it was said. "The new requirement also means greater protection to the motorist whose book is lost or stolen, since the finder or thief will not be able to pass off the coupons as his own writing in his own license number."

With the exception of "E" and "R" coupons, the information to be placed on coupons remains the same as previously.

In the case of "A," "B," "C," "D," "T-1" or "T-2" books, the license number and state of registration of the vehicle are to be written in the space provided, except that when interchangeable coupon books have been issued for official or fleet vehicles, the information to be noted is the official or fleet designation, or the certificate of war necessity number in the case of commercial vehicles not operating under fleet designation, and the state or city or town in which the principal office of the fleet operator is located.

The name and address at it appears on the book cover, is to be endorsed on "E" and "R" coupons. However, "E" and "R" books, unlike the others, need not be endorsed immediately, but may be endorsed when the gasoline is purchased in bulk lots and delivered to premises of the "E" or "R" ration-holder, no endorsement at all is required.

A letter and check arrived last week from Mrs. B. W. Cruce (Maud) to keep their Herald coming, as she says the folks here don't write much. Mr. Cruce established the "Little Store" corner Broadway and Highway 51, several years ago, but when war was brewing, there was such a demand for telegraphers that he went back to the old trade, and was located at Fouke, Ark. They still enjoy their Herald.

Another letter and check comes from Mrs. J. T. Trolinger way out at Concord, Calif., that said, "keep the Herald coming. And thanks for reminding us that the time was about out. We look forward to every issue."

Walter D. Burnett, of the Field Artillery, of an Army base in N. C., and youngest son of the J. R. Burnetts, spent last week here with his parents.

Mrs. G. S. Webber returned Monday night from Salt Lake City, Utah, where she spent three weeks visiting her son, Glenn Noble Webber and Mrs. Webber. He is in an Army Base at that place.

County Superintendent Lee Fulton and wife left Monday for two weeks vacation at Hot Springs, New Mexico, and vicinity.

Clarence McWilliams and wife, formerly in the furniture business here, but now in war work at Houston, were here Friday and Saturday, visiting her parents, the W. R. Mangums, and attending to business.

Mrs. Ernest Broughton, of Odesa, was in this week. She is here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Heartsill, of the Gomez community. Her dad's health has not been the best for quite some time, and her brother is now home from the south Pacific, recovering from malaria.

Another former Terryite that visited the Herald this week was Miss Lula Ammons, of Loraine, who is here visiting her brother, George, and sister, Mrs. Dick Barton, and families. The M. C. Ammons family moved to Loraine several years ago, and Miss Ammons stated that both her parents are now dead.

A message from the United States Treasury about
★ YOUR WARTIME TAX DOLLARS ★

THE American people have accepted the highest tax bill in the history of the country with splendid patriotism and cheerfulness. The Treasury Department of the United States feels that an explanation is due them in turn—feels that they deserve to be told why, when and how their tax dollars are vital to winning this war and the peace that will follow.

As a taxpayer, consider these facts:

Our government is currently spending 240 million dollars each day, almost all of it on war, and this figure will increase materially as the war continues. About a third of that amount is being raised through taxes. Those tax dollars are as necessary for weapons with which to defeat our enemies as are dollars raised through the sale of WAR BONDS. Hence, when you pay taxes today you are definitely and directly contributing to victory.

And, at the same time, your taxes actually help to maintain your own purchasing power now—and prevent disaster to your country after the war. Here's how:

Billions of Dangerous Dollars

Every time your cost of living advances, you are paying a tax on your income. If your cost of living should double, you would pay a tax on your salary, wages or other income. But it would be a tax that wouldn't benefit our fighting forces, our government or anyone else—except Hitler and Hirohito.

Now—to prevent such a concealed tax on your income from taking place—isn't it good sense as well as sound patriotism to pay your government taxes of 20% on part of your total income—or more, if necessary?

And your taxes do help prevent just such a price rise! How? By taking part of the billions of dangerous dollars which otherwise threaten your living standard and putting them to useful work, winning the war. Those billions of dangerous dollars, you know, represent the difference between the income the American people will receive this year and the amount of civilian goods that will be made in the same twelve months. If taxes were lower, prices would tend to rise, and your real income would be reduced by just that much.

Keeping the America He Knew

There's another reason why your high taxes help your country in wartime—and really a much more important one to you. Your tax money is helping to win the war now—but it's equally essential to winning the peace and keeping the America that boy knew before he went into the armed forces.

All the industrial power, all the inventive genius and productive capacity of this country would not bring back a busy, prosperous America that we know if a drastic deflation followed victory. And, as surely as the sun that rises in the morning will set at night, a deflation would follow an inflation brought about by failure to tax ourselves realistically now.

So, next time that tax burden seems heavy to you—think of these facts. Remember that your tax dollars are helping to pay for victory now—that they are in there fighting for your living standard now—and that they are working to keep our country's financial structure sound for that boy now in the armed service, for all your family, and for you in the years of peace to come.

SOME QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ABOUT YOUR TAX BILL

- Q. How much of my federal tax payments is being spent on war and how much on so-called "normal" expenditures?
- A. About 96% of your tax payments are currently going to pay for direct war expenditures. Only one dollar in every twenty-two you pay, therefore, goes for all other federal expenses, most of which are indirectly to aid the war effort.
- Q. How much of the total war bill is being paid currently out of taxes?
- A. A little over one-third.
- Q. Is this proportion higher or lower than in England and Canada?
- A. Lower. Both Canada and Great Britain are paying approximately half of their war expenses through taxation.
- Q. Is there any way other than taxes and war bonds by which the government could finance our share of the war?
- A. There is. The government could borrow from the commercial banks,

- which would put even greater spending power in the hands of the people —thus creating a basis for inflation.
- Q. Is there any other advantage in financing as large a share of the war bill as possible through taxes?
- A. Yes—and a very real one to you, the taxpayer. All the bills for the cost of the war must be paid sooner or later through taxation, but if paid currently, from taxes, there will be no interest charge to mount over the years and provide an extra burden for you to carry.
- Q. So far, so good. But don't you think taxation is unfair in the way it distributes the burden for all this?
- A. On the contrary, and we believe you will agree if you think it through, that taxes are the fairest, most equitable way to pay for the war. That's because Federal Income taxes are levied on ability to pay for something that all of us need and must have—victory now, a sound America later.

Raised Boys And They Raise Cotton

A thrifty farmer from west side, in town Saturday, talking to a town acquaintance, about his extra good crop, big eared corn 8 feet high, and waist high cotton, and all cleaned out good. The friend who knew and admired his hard working three little boys, asked about and complimented them.

The farmer then stated these boys had not only helped him make his excellent crop, but they had hired out to the neighbors, and so far had earned over $200.00 in wages. Here is a farmer not kicking at the price of wages.

Moral: Raise more boys and less cotton.

The Stork Scores On The Reaper

G.W.N.

The birth and death records kept in Justice Dallas' office reveal that in Terry county, the first six months of this year, there were 41 deaths; 21 males and 20 females, and of these 11 were over 70 years of age, and nine under one year old. During the same period the Stork brought 185 babies; 99 males and 86 females. It is presumed the balance of the state did as well, though Terry county is a very productive county.

Nature is cute Creator. A great evener and off-setter. It is noticed that through this once wide-world and age-old history, that amid the kings and queens in their palaces, and the peasants and commons, the rich in their mansions, the poor in their hovels, the high learned and the lowly ignorant. The ice covered Eskimos of the north, to the negroids of the tropics, in the cities and countryside, of every race and color. The fishes of the sea, the animals of the forest, the birds of the air, insects and reptiles, the cattle on the range, and the poultry in the home yards, there is born just about as many males as females.

And this sometimes against the efforts of science. 'Tis true nature also, even this off by death and destruction of its own makings, but its equal with the sexes. Thus, it seems, that each may, for a fleeting time, enjoy life in the world, then pass on and out for others to follow, to live awhile and, too, pass on and out.

Now, man cometh along, with his temporary avarice, egotism, ambition and self-glorified ideals, to lord it over his fellows, and wars, kills, and destroys the one sex, unbalancing the plan of creation. The ultimate result may be a long way off. It remains, perhaps for generations, to be seen whether nature will change its so long fixed laws, and stoop to rectify the errors of man, or man
