Scholastic Records Made by Both Groups

LUBBOCK, June 13. Do boys and girls from cities or from villages make the best scholastic records in college?

Parents and educators have long debated the question. A quick glance at the records of Texas Technological College tends to show that it may be an even chance.

Nine of fourteen honor students this year hail from towns of better than 5000 population, but the four who received degrees with high honors come from towns with less than 4000 population as figured in the 1940 census. And the highest ranking one of them all, Maxine Harp, is a graduate of the high school in Abernathy, population 857.

Other high honor students are Roderick Shaw, Olton; Alex Cooke, Clarendon; and Joel Mitchell Simmons Jr., Seagraves.

Terry County To Get Iron Lung

The local Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars are procuring a portable respirator known as the Iron Lung, and will have it on demonstration with live patients in the display window of Knight Hardware store, all day today and Saturday. W. E. Coles of Dallas, will demonstrate the machine.

It is to be kept in the local Fire Station where a vehicle is ever ready for the use of anyone in Terry county. The portable respirator can be easily carried and powered by ordinary batteries or light plug in homes. It has various size "chests" to fit the individuals needs. It is said to be very successful and useful in any case where artificial respiration is needed.

The machine will cost over $1,000. The manufacturing company selling it agrees that in the event of epidemic to furnish five others, for the emergency and will train a local team to operate it.

The VFW has less than 100 members here but have put forth much effort to procure the Iron Lung as well as being active in other civic affairs. The boys will welcome contributions to help pay for it, as it is for the use of anyone in the county. It is hoped that the public will respond generously to these boys whose patriotism did not end with the war.

Migratory Labor Requests Made To County Agent

Migratory labor such as cotton choppers, pea pickers and wheat harvest labor moves to areas where they are needed under the direction of the Extension Service represented in each county by County Agricultural Agents.

Most of this labor begins in the Rio Grande Valley and works northward according to the growing season of the crop for which labor is used in cultivating or harvesting. Most of this migratory labor is Latin Americans who return each year to the same farms provided working conditions in the past have been satisfactory. It is very important that these workers have the correct information on the amount of work and the number needed in each locality. To do this it is necessary to establish a chain of information. Farmers should let their needs be made known to the local County Agent. The County Agent contacts field men and other County Agents to direct labor into areas where it is needed.

If at all possible, McElroy, local County Agent, advises that for harvest labor, cotton choppers and pea pickers that the request should be made 10 days in advance if possible. This insures the farmer of a better chance to get the type of labor and the number that he wants. Contact the County Agents office at your earliest convenience for your labor needs.

The affair was in celebration of Mr. Will Jones' 87th birthday. He resides in Hale Center. In addition to Mr. Jones, his immediate family of seven boys and one girl were present. Several grandchildren and great grandchildren also attended.

He is an uncle of J. M. Jones of Meadow and Ed Jones of Aspermont.

A large crowd enjoyed the enormous outdoor lunch and the beautiful day. They plan to make this an annual affair.

N. M. Asks Removal Of Rocket Range

After one of the long range rockets, fired from the atomic try-out field in southern New Mexico, went haywire and landed too close to nearby Alamogordo a month ago and last week another changed its course and landed near Juarez, Mexico, 80 miles south, the citizenry and officials of the Sunshine State are asking the government to remove this field elsewhere, to wider spaces, if same can be found in the United States, or to Bikini.

It was on this field, a spacious desert just west of Alamogordo the first successful atomic bomb was proven. Only a few weeks later Hiroshima Japan was made famous by its sudden atomic disappearance.

Since the wars end, this field has been used to experiment with German rockets and some are reported to have reached a height of 80 miles. It was some of these, while aimed out over the spacious uninhabited desert, somehow got back out of bounds.

The Forces Of Freedom

It is estimated that there are more men under arms now than shortly before the Second World War. Save in the Western Hemisphere, there is no real peace anywhere on earth. Violence, disorder, oppression—these are the symbols of the postwar world. And, as inevitably occurs in an age of suspicion and unrest, the liberties of peoples everywhere are being limited and destroyed. The position of the United States in this dark and dangerous time is clear. We, with a handful of allies, none of whom are economically or militarily powerful, are the last citadel of individual freedom. With few exceptions, the English speaking world alone still maintains and respects the basic rights of man—and even in that world are ominous signs of weakening. The American government, in its dealing with other powers, is the leader of the forces of freedom against the forces of darkness and the total state.

The duty of the United States is equally clear. To put it in a phrase, this duty is to maintain our strength. And strength can be divided into two different and distinct classifications. There is military strength—the strength of force. Much as Americans hate war and thought of war, we must maintain this, in the interest of self-preservation. Second and still more vital, there is the kind of inner strength which only a free people can possess. This is the heart and soul of a nation and its institutions. It is a nation's greatest resource in time of trial. And it rests upon the proposition that the rights of the individual are inviolate. So long as we have this, we shall be ready to meet whatever the coming years bring.

Dead Wrong

A Large Order

Soviet Russia's "Iron Curtain," according to some reports, is mainly a defensive device. Apparently there is a genuine fear that if the miserable millions of Europe and Asia could glimpse the luxuries enjoyed by the masses in the capitalistic United States, the cause of communism would have tough sledding. Piercing the Iron Curtain with the story of what politically free men can do for themselves, is a problem that is occupying much thought these days—and the expenditure of a lot of the taxpayers' money.

Against this background of near frustration, one positively encouraging note appears. A group of American oil companies has introduced an inspiring example of American life throughout large areas of the Middle East, by development of Arabian oil. The importance of this move to develop the resources of Arabia, cannot be overestimated. As Fortune Magazine says: "If those resources are developed with foresight and with vision and with a new regard for the 50 million people of the area, then a — hopeful prospect emerges. These are immense stakes; and by one of the great ironies of history the issue will be decided not primarily by the United States government, not by the British foreign office, not by the planners,

TECH SUMMER SCHOOL ENROLLMENT SETS RECORD
LUBBOCK, June 13 — Setting a new record for first term summer enrollment at Texas Technological College, 2593 persons, including 16155 war veterans, secured permits to register this week.
Classes begin June 7. The first term will continue until July 16.

Second term dates are July 21 through August 29.
Previous high enrollment record for the first term was set last year when 2310 students, including 1265 war veterans, enrolled.
Mr. and Mrs. Everett Latham and son, Bobby returned Monday from a ten day visit in Bowie.

Babson Discusses Banks

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 13—During my recent western trip I spent most of my time in the six Central States; namely Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas and Oklahoma. These comprise the "Magic Circle" of America, "the richest in time of Peace and the safest in time of War."

High Prices Prevail Everywhere
Every farmer in this area, with normal judgment and willingness to work, is now prosperous. Of course, he is obliged to pay high prices for implements, feed and other things; but he is getting very high prices for his products. This means that the farmer who raises his feed is making extraordinary profits on his livestock.
As an illustration of the price increases of farm products: Lard which sold at 5c a pound fifteen years ago, has been up to 35c a pound and now sells at 28c a pound. Hogs which sold at $2.00 per hundred pounds in the "Thirties," now sell at $25.00 per hundred. I attended an auction where the auctioneer sold 6 weeks old pigs at $15.00 apiece; and he told me that he sold them at 5c apiece in 1932. Wheat and corn sell at very high prices now, and may sell at even higher before the slump comes.

What Of The Future
Every farmer with whom I talked recognizes that he is enjoying a honeymoon and sooner or later there will be trouble. The only difference of opinion is as to how long it will be before farmers must tighten their belts,—that is, how long "parity legislation" will hold.

In the last analysis, the price of farm products is tied up with income of the industrial cities of the East. Most things go up and down together. Human nature is hard to change. Farmers, labor leaders, merchants and manufacturers are now thinking only of temporary profits. They refuse to curtail until forced to do so.

What To Do With The Money
A farmer whom I visited sold a lot of cows and hogs. I asked him: "What will you do with your money?" He replied: "buy some more livestock next week and start over again!" Thereupon he asked me:—"what would you do Mr. Babson, with the money?" To this I replied: "I would put the money in banks and give my wife one good vacation. She certainly deserves it." To this he replied: "I am afraid the banks might bust while I'm away." This last remark brings me to the subject of this week's column.

Let me assure every reader that the banks are strong today. When the price of hogs drops back to $5.00 per hundred the banks will still be open and doing business. They learned their lesson in the Thirties and will not get caught during the next depression at least. In my humble judgment, money in the bank is safer today than money in hogs.

Banks Are Now O. K.
All accounts up to $5,000 in all National and most other banks are insured. Farmers can easily distribute their money in a number of banks. Do not bother about

Pasture Produces Cheap Gain

According to Experiment Stations' records conducting beef feeding experiments the use of pasture reduces the cost of gain according to Lee H. McElroy, county agent. In the local calf show the winner of the "Economic Gain" contest has used some type of pasture to reduce the cost. This pasture may be native grass, sudan, alfalfa, a mixed grass pasture or wheat. The use of the above pastures has reduced the cost of gain as much as 5c a pound according to 4-H club records in Terry County.

All boys feeding beef calves on a dry lot basis should buy these calves when they have sudan grass available, stated McElroy. In order that these calves may be bought in a group and distributed within the next few weeks all boys wanting calves should contact the County Agent.

interest on your deposits. The man who seeks high interest is usually the man who makes the biggest losses. Another suggestion is to buy Government Bonds.

Fortunes are made by selling when prices are high and when everyone is optimistic; then putting the money in banks and waiting a few years until prices are again low and everyone is pessimistic. Those who follow this practice not only roll up wealth for themselves, but also render an important service to the entire country by helping to level off the booms and busts.

Avoid Speculation
Remember that the best investments continue to be in the State where you made the money which you now have. Don't send your savings to any large city which perhaps may be destroyed during the next war if it comes. Invest money at home in property and businesses about which you know the worst!

Things To Come . . .

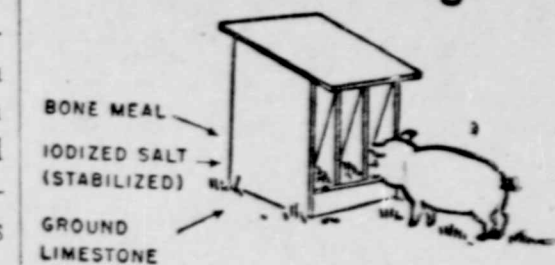

Look for announcement soon of the "engineering house," designed to make possible the construction of an efficient mass market house for $6,000 . . . A new paste-forming plastic which can be used for coating both paper and fabrics.

Trailer living with home comfort is said to be provided by a miniature central heating system for trailer coaches. It is equipped also with ventilation features.—A Philadelphia manufacturer has developed a new multi-temperature all purpose refrigerator to take care of everything from freezing ice cubes to foods with a single cooling unit. . . . Simplified step-by-step "build it yourself" patterns are now being offered for homes, outlining construction stages and assembly techniques in pictures and easy-to-understand language . . . The New Haven railroad comes to the rescue of harried mothers traveling with children by furnishing drawing pads and crayons to youngsters as part of dining car service . . . Chemical elimination of snow and ice in large shopping centers may be possible soon. A New York department store will conduct experiments on Fifth Avenue this winter . . . Junior at least, will welcome the news that a new plastic water pistol is guaranteed up to 150 shots without reloading and its manufacturer points out there are no "parts to rust."

The Low Down From Hickory Grove
"Corporations," that is my subject. I will tackle any subject. Some of 'em I know less about than others, but more folks know less about corporations than most other subjects.
Maybe you work for a small outfit or company—or your husband does—and you kinda overlook that such outfit is also a "corporation"—a group of persons joined together in business. A group can get together—put their dinero in a jack-pot—form a company, and do things that one person could not do so easy. Take a railroad, who do you know that could build a road from Boston to Seattle? And before we had a railroad, and you craved to go from St. Joe to San Francisco, you saddled up a horse. Or you take gas—how many folks could afford their own oil well and gas pump?
Corporations, instead of being

Minerals for Hogs

Proper growth cannot be secured, nor will health be maintained among the hogs without ample supply of minerals. Bone meal, iodized salt (stabilized) and ground limestone should be kept before them at all times.

Hogs know how much salt they need and if given free access will not take more than their system requires.

Check These Safety Tests in Farm Home

If you can answer "Yes" to these 10 statements, give yourself a score of 100 on this test for safety from fire hazards in your home. These are some of the precautions by which you can protect your house and your family from fire:

- The chimney is free of cracks and holes.
- Chimney top is at least three feet above a flat roof and two feet above ridge of gable and hip roof.
- Chimney is cleaned regularly to prevent fires.
- Stove pipe is fastened to flue securely by rivets, wire or other safe method.
- A wire mesh spark arrestor covers top of the chimney (if roof is combustible).
- Oily rags are promptly discarded or kept in metal containers.
- Matches are in a metal container, or only safety matches are used.
- Matches are out of reach of children.
- Every match is completely extinguished after use.
- Flashlight instead of a match is used to see in dark places.

Conservation Brings Dividends to Farms

Farmers throughout the nation have made astounding progress in soil conservation. Farmers now know that conservation pays in dollars and cents. Farmers never would have been able to roll up the production record of the war or the high, profit-making production of today had it not been for our years of soil conserving work.

pointed at with suspicion by some slippery gent who is trying to get himself elected, they should have an encouraging word. They have made our USA click. They have given us super-duper streamliners, bright electric lights, the best "asoline, moving pictures, modern stores. And fire insurance, try letting your house burn down sometime and having no policy in a fire insurance "corporation."
Hard working corporations—well run—I give 'em this pat on the back.
Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA.

Business Happenings Over The U. S.

One of the disconcerting factors in the business picture is the spottiness that has been developing. Even six or eight months ago almost anything would find an immediate and profitable market. The backlog for manufactured articles of all kinds still seemed virtually inexhaustible. That is no longer true.

Small, private aircraft are an especially outstanding example of the change. Following the war, a long list of manufacturers rushed into production. Some optimists seemed to think that the personal plane would become nearly as abundant as the automobile. What actually happened was that the market became saturated in a remarkably short time. Where, less than a year ago, new small planes sold at premiums, overstocked dealers are now offering them at a discount. At least one maker has abandoned production of a once heavily advertised model. Used plane prices—due in large part to the sale of surplus government ships—have sagged. The usual reason given for the public's reluctance to buy planes is the high operating cost, which is far beyond the means of the average family.

Many other commodities are in the same boat. Small radios, for instance, are a glut on the market. Prices have been slashed. And where, in the recent past, it was next to impossible to find a standard brand radio-phonograph combination, you can now take your pick of scores of models and styles in all price brackets. And many a buyer is showing an unanticipated reluctance to invest in expensive equipment.

This condition is not entirely restricted to luxury and semi-luxury lines. Dry goods have run into consumer resistance. Sheets and other linens, once among the scarcest of items, have tended to move slowly. Stores report that women in increasing numbers are turning thumbs down on the higher-priced dresses and coats. There has been a slackening in the "soft-goods" field. And that, in turn, means reduced employment and worker income. As retail and wholesale inventories build up, orders to manufacturers go down.

This is not universal by any means. The automobile makers, according to Business Week, "haven't even made a dent in their market as yet." Recently car output took a drop, due to a lack of flat steel. But it is being increased as rapidly as the producers can get the necessary materials. All car dealers seem to have sufficient orders on their books to last for the rest of this year, and perhaps well into next. Even so, the dealers—as well as the makers—are seriously concerned over what will happen when the backlog is used up and they have to really start selling once more. Thousands of people

New Termite Killer Found by Farmers

COLLEGE STATION, June 13—Pentachlorophenol, a chemical used widely in the treating fence posts against insect damage and decay, is killing termites in farm buildings for Lipscomb County farmers.

Charles Imke, Follett Community farmer, treated two buildings with 35 gallons of five per cent pentachlorophenol last February.

A recent check-up by Lipscomb County Agricultural Agent E. M. Gossett, Jr., showed a complete kill as far as he could determine. The county agent plans future inspections to see if the material will keep the termites down over a period of years.

The pentachlorophenol was applied with a spray developing 30 pounds of pressure, which was enough force for good penetration says the county agent.

Mr. and Mrs. James Harley Dallas and daughter Carol left last Friday for a two weeks vacation in Fairfield, Iowa. They will visit Mr. Dallas' sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Hunt. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dallas accompanied them as far as Kansas City to spend a week visiting relatives.

have reluctantly abandoned plans for buying new cars—because of the price tags.

Probably the greatest decline, so far as dollar-volume and jobs are concerned, has occurred in residential building. It has slowed everywhere, and in some sections has come to a virtual standstill. It is holding up best in rural areas, where cost of building is somewhat lower than in the metropolitan districts. It is at its worst in suburbs of cities, where extremely ambitious plans for home developments have not matured. The need for homes is as high and perhaps higher than ever—but prices, which buyers consider out of all reason, stop sales.

Industrial building has done much better. Many companies have had to expand to meet their commitments and to maintain their competitive positions, but a number of important businesses have announced that expansion plans have been curtailed, or have been postponed in the hope that costs will come down.

All in all, production is still at a high level. But the dark spots in the picture are becoming more numerous. The government economists are frankly worried. Unemployment has not reached a serious level yet, but it has been increasing. A drop in the amount of overtime work available has hit many working families hard. This is having its obvious effect on purchasing and on industrial production. Millions of people living on fixed or semi-fixed incomes find that the bare necessities of living absorb all they receive. No one has found the solution to such problems as these.

Wellman 4-H Clubs Hold Regular Meet

The regular meeting of the 4-H clubs of Wellman were called to order Tuesday afternoon, June 3 by Zona Lea Chesshir, president of the W.W.W. club. The minutes were read and approved and the roll was called.

It was decided that only one secretary need keep the minutes during the summer meetings. This task was assigned to Marorie Scales.

The demonstration, given by Miss Dunlap was on canning green beans. Packing jars and time limits were demonstrated. Methods of sealing were also shown.

Mrs. Howton, Wellman home ec. teacher, was also present. She gave the girls some instructions about posture and mentioned several points they should watch in the dress revue Wednesday.

Edd Evans, formerly of Brownfield and Union, but now the lone ginner of Seminole, was here

Tuesday. Edd says his country has fine prospects for a big cotton crop and is making ready for a heavy run this fall.
