

Ever See Lee O. Allen's Community Center?

A good many years ago now, two men came to Terry, saw and liked. One of them was Lee O. Allen and his right hand man, Mr. Ramseur. Finally they decided that Tokio, Texas, two miles from the line of Yoakum county, was the center of a fine farming country. They settled down and began the erection of a gin.

This gin, a four stand Murray system, is as modern as any, but any addition that makes for better ginning has been added from time to time. Right now they are adding the newest in a dryer system. It burns butane gas, and in case a bale of cotton is brought in too wet, hot air from this huge butane burner, is circulated through the cotton before it reaches the stands, conditioning it for good ginning. The same system will also add moisture if too dry, or full of static.

Just south of the gin plant is the store, and in it you will find anything from bolts to buckskin britches, ice boxes, plates, table ware, pressure cookers, or what have you. This department of the center is in charge of Mr. Ramseur, and he knows his way about in a "country store" as they call it. They do not sell groceries, but have feed for the animals and poultry.

To complete the center, just south of the store a lot of neat cottages are arranged for the help in the store, or about the gin. Lee O. is affectionally referred to as the Mayor of Tokio.

Back several years ago, the Lee O. Allen gin plant turned out a season run of 2800 bales, and the entire crop was sold to a Jap firm at Tokio, Japan. This was quite a coincidence. By the way, the little village of Tokio got quite some publicity in the daily press during the war because of its similarity to the name of the Japanese capitol.

Guard Recruiting Inaugurated By Gov. Jester

Governor Beauford H. Jester Monday launched Texas' participation in "National Guard Assembly," a nation-wide recruiting contest in which one enlisted Guardsman from each state will win a plane trip to Washington and the Army-Navy football game in Philadelphia, November 29 for his outstanding recruiting activities.

In the ceremony inaugurating the Texas recruiting contest held in the state capitol building in Austin, Governor Jester was joined on the program by Maj. Gen. K. L. Berry, the Adjutant General of Texas, Brig. Gen. William M. Martin, Assistant Adjutant General, Honorable Price Daniel, Attorney General of Texas, Mr. Ward Moody, State Adjutant American Legion and Dr. T. S. Painter, President of the University of Texas.

County Gets Several Thousand Refund On Gas Tax

By a new formula enacted by recent legislature, re-allocating the one cent gasoline tax being collected for several years, to retire county road bonds, the less populous counties get a better slice than heretofore, while such counties as Dallas, Bexar, Harris, Tarrant, etc., don't fare as well as before.

Terry county was recently refunded little over eleven thousand dollars. Eleven thousand-fifty of which was applied on some old road bonds, while $9,870.00 is available for local road work.

City Tax Valuations Greatly Increase

City Assessor-Collector announced early this week that the total valuation of property in the corporate limits for the year 1947, is $4,584,000.00, this is an increase of over $645,000.00 over 1946.

It was pointed out that this increase is entirely from new property becoming taxable for the first time as valuations on property existant last year was not raised.

Building permit records show over $700,000 issued for the calendar year 1946, but many buildings are not completed.

This increase is also added to the school and county valuations which have not been tabulated yet.

The City Council at its regular meeting last Monday night levied an eighty cent rate on the $100 valuation of property for tax purposes. This entire sum is to pay annual interest and provide sinking fund on the City's $439,000 bonded debt, greater part of which was voted on for extensions of municipal utilities, sometime ago.

It is estimated the other expenses of the city government can be paid from the current revenues of the utility plants.

Need For Girl Scout Little House Voiced

The Girl Scout Association stated today that there has been a need for a Girl Scout little house in Brownfield for several years, but the need is particularly urgent now as scouting has developed into a very active organization here. New troops are being formed and it is becoming difficult to find places for them to meet.

Through the generosity of Mr. Johnny Haynes the girls have accumulated a fund of $351. Mr. Haynes donated a large, beautifully decorated cake each week during the latter part of the summer to the scouts who auctioned it off. Plans are underway now to invest the money in getting the little house started.

The Girl Scout association and the Girl Scouts express their appreciation to Mr. Haynes and the employees of his bakery for making the beginning of the little house possible.

Of course it is none of our platoon business, but it seems to us that a lot of people in some towns keep themselves unduly stirred up about the highways that happen to pass through their towns. It is a trip here, a trip there, and a trip to Austin to see the highway commission. Here in Brownfield, we have always figured that a tourist has easy access to state or oil company road maps, and if they figure that the nearest and best way for them to reach their destination is over 380, 51 or 137 through Brownfield, all hades couldn't make them go another way. Further, if they have no business in Brownfield, the nearest way through this burg with the least traffic light stops, the better they like it. A lot of unnecessary stops will be remembered long after how the town looked to them is forgotten. All of you who travel are in the same boat. Two or three different places comes to mind. You enter a sizable town, leave a nice straight highway, trek down a street to the public square; stopped a half dozen times by lights, and finally turn back on a street just two or three blocks over from the one you had to make the round of the square on. Loss, 20 to 30 minutes of travel time. Outside of tourist courts, cafes and filling stations, you can hold in your eye all the money the average tourist leaves in a town.

Next session of congress is very likely to introduce a measure to make government power projects like TVA pay interest on the money it used to build and operate. This is just and fair to the millions that use either utility or municipally owned power and light kilowatts. They have to pay taxes, interest on money or both on their plants. Of course the paternalistic power plants are fine for the people so situated as to be use their tax free, interest free juice, but unfair to the millions who have to help pay for these projects, and then taxes for their own power sources.

The English coal miners last year dug and sent to the surface an average of 1.3 tons of coal per day, and were paid at the average rate of $23 weekly wage. On the other hand, the American miner with superior machinery and tools, sent to the surface 5.8 tons per day, but drew $70 per week—more now. But here in the catch. The American miner wants good pay and at the same time present possibility of killing the goose that laid the golden egg. With coal steadily climbing, and other fuels holding their own, millions of householders in the east are preparing just as fast as humanly possible to switch to gas or oil fuel. Then the market for coal will go glimmering, as well as jobs in mines.

The independent oil companies are accusing the majors of sending out of the USA 320,000 tons of sorely needed steel pipe to foreign concessions they have, thus holding down production and pipe lines in the States. If this be true, it should be stopped or at least modified. The independents state that if this drain on piping was stopped, at least 1835 additional wells could be put down in proven territory, or nearly 8 wells per operator.

One of the surest ways Europeans and Asiatic people have to stop the production of wars, famine and starvation, is to quit raising their sons to be dictators.

The Star-Telegram carries no ads on Monday, but that "biggest circulation paper in Texas" sure pours it on with its owner, Amos G. Carter and other big shots on Mondays, with "gallanish" hats, silver trimmed saddles, bridle galore. Reminds one of that old gag about the Hearst papers, in which "W. R. Hearst interviews William Randolph Hearst." Ha-ho, getting cooler in Texas.

The fact that some of the politicians of Dallas, no can get nowhere themselves, are talking of drafting Gen. Jonathan Wainwright to run for the US Senate against Pappay Biscuit O'Daniel, is causing loss of sleep and trouble to a whole raft of other "want ins" here in Texas. And it seems that the retired general will accept drafting. But no one, not even the Bataan hero seemed to know about his politics, whether a Demmy or GOPer. But Wainwright seemed to have settled that to his own satisfaction at least. However, some of the Republicans said they thought the general was one of them. Wainwright, remembered that he had spent all of his adult life in the regular army with no voting allowed; that he had spent most of that time in continental United States at Texas Forts; that the legislature of Texas had voted him a citizen, and so far as he knew there was only one Republican in Texas, evidently referring to R. B. Creager, of Brownsville.

Playing Politics With Texas Oil

The entry of Texas into the Union was made upon an entirely different basis, from any other state in the Union. Texas was a republic, an independent nation, which entered the union of states voluntarily, upon an agreed basis. So far as we know, no other State was admitted to the union on anything resembling this status.

As an independent nation Texas had a "public debt." The United States refused to assume Texas public debt, and Texas was permitted to keep it "public lands" and pay off its own public debt. It was an agreement between the Republic of Texas and the United States government, which should not be repudiated—at this late date, (or at any other date).

We seriously doubt that most other coastline states have any valid claim, whatsoever to their "submerged lands." They have no oil or gas, or anything else of much value under their coastlines and so care very little about it. It is quite likely that the Federal Government has a valid claim to these tidelands and will assert this claim and nobody will care.

Advertising the fact that Texas has rich oil and gas deposits under her "submerged lands," and lumping our valid claims with their weak claims—if any—looks to us like "a sucker play." The only chance these inland states, and other coastal states with no mineral deposits, have to "get in on Texas Oil" is to give Texas tidelands to the Federal Government. What would Texas do, in a case of this kind?

If Texas has a valid claim to its submerged tidelands, which is superior to the claims of other states, our fight should be made on this basis. California has already lost its battle to hold its tidal lands. The Supreme Court of the United States has ruled, and the matter is settled. Why should Texas weaken its valid claims by tying in with a state which has already lost its fight?

"Fighting to save Texas Submerged Lands for Texas School children" is a beautiful political slogan; and trying to get ones self elected to office on such a patriotic slogan is a pleasant pastime—no doubt. But these mad scramblers, in their efforts to advertise themselves, may lose the main battle, unless they show more judgment than they have—shown up to now.—The State Observer.

Old Homer Pours It On Rotarians

Homer Winston, business man, present county judge of Terry county, and noted native wit of Brownfield, was the guest speaker at the Rotary luncheon here Thursday.

Stating that he had not been assigned a subject, he announced in the beginning that he did not know what he was going to talk about, but he proceeded to talk about politics, the New Deal, hard times, good times, drouths, pioneer days, wire gaps, good roads, and a lot of other things too numerous to mention. Suffice to say he entertained his crowd. After it was over, one Rotarian remarked to the writer that he had heard Will Rogers two or three times, but he had "just as soon hear Homer Winston any day."—Lynn County News.

Suggests Less-Known Cuts of Meat For Variety

Here is one solution to the problem of the homemaker who has difficulty in getting enough variety in her meals, as offered by Reba Staags, cookery authority.

She suggests that women make the most of the great variety offered by meat. Most women are amazed to learn that there are over 125 cuts of meat—including the regular cuts of beef, veal, pork and lamb, plus the variety of meats such as hearts, kidneys, livers, etc.

Actually, Miss Staags, asserts, meat offers more variety for daily meals than any other food. Since almost every cut of meat can be prepared in a host of different ways the homemaker can avoid sameness in her meals by varying her main course from day to day.

Those who are having trouble making their meals varied, should learn the less familiar cuts of meat and use all of them, instead of asking for the same few, over and over, she says. For example, the family may be very fond of the flavor of smoked ham; but there may be times when ham is not the most practical choice. In that case, the homemaker might select a smoked picnic shoulder or even smoked shoulder butt of pork or even some slices of Canadian style bacon.

If she wants a beef steak to broil, there are others besides the porterhouse, T-Bone and sirloin. There are club steaks, rig steaks and tenderloin steaks—all of which are tender enough to broil. In lamb, it's the same story.

There are many delicious lamb roasts besides, the leg—such as a rolled or cushion-style shoulder or a sirloin roast. Shoulder lamb chops are as good for broiling as

Labor Looks At Free Enterprise

In a recent editorial, the newspaper Labor said: "If 'free enterprise' fails in the United States and Canada, it's 'gone with the wind.' This newspaper would not like to see that. Labor believes in the American system. 'Free enterprise' has been guilty of many crimes and Labor hasn't hesitated to say so, but after all, it's better than any form of totalitarianism."

This is a very mild statement of the case. Free labor has never existed except where free enterprise has existed. In every country where total government has been established, the workers have been among the first to be enslaved. Their unions have been destroyed. The right to strike, to make demands for higher wages and better conditions, to organize, and to change jobs, has been brutally abrogated. Labor does what it is told.

The newspaper Labor states that free enterprise has been guilty of many crimes. So, of course, has organized labor. But in a democratic society these crimes can be corrected without destroying our economic system, or infringing on the basic liberties of the people. The crimes of dictatorship can be corrected without destroying our and war.

The welfare of labor in inseparable from the welfare of industry under the free enterprise system. Whatever the differences between them, they should present a united front against the ruinous doctrines of statism. —Industrial News Review.

Harold Dalton of this city, letterman of the WTST college at Conyan, has been accepted on the Varsity football roster as guard.

the rib or loin chops.

Miss Staags further points out that many of the less familiar cuts are those which require long, slow cooking with moisture to make the meat tender. She suggests that the homemaker choose the cut of meat with the cooking method in mind—for all meats are tender when cooked by the right method.

Moseying With The Advertisers

By THE OLD HE
Well, the printers tore into our playhouse last week, and instead of "Moseying" around with advertisers, they got it "moving", etc. Surely it means about the same thing, except "moseying" is a slow motion version, while "moving" indicates real action, high gear movement. And we'd say we come nearer qualifying for the moseying stuff, as you would likely have to set a stake to see if we were moving at all, sometimes.

Anyway, we hope to have an advertising man to bother you in the next two weeks. But we don't intend quitting our visits with you. To do so is to lose that personal contact that means so much. And too, maybe we will learn in time the name of the man who runs this, that and 'tother.

We have been threatening to get out to West Texas Cottonoil plant on Lubbock highway, where Pete Peterman and his force are now processing copra (cocoanuts to you) and see if we can tell heads from tails when we get there. But we'll have to hurry as that processing will soon be over, and the mill will go into the work of processing cottonseed, its original mission. But since the war, soybeans and copra have been added and instead of just a four or five months operation, the mill runs throughout the year. Will state for your benefit, if any, that Pete "relents" the qualifying "old" as a prefix to Pete, jokingly of course. He says he's put out the welcome mat for our belated visit.

Folks, we have been eating some real Terry county honey here of late, a pint of comb honey being donated by our good friend, Pedro Zant. Pedro "robbed" four hives back a few weeks ago, and obtained 100 pounds of fine honey, and left plenty for the bees through the winter. Some folks used to say the wind in this country would blow bees helwesterncrooked. Well the wind doesn't seem to faze the bumblebee, the wasp, the fly or even the delicate moth. Who started that anyway?

Over at Minnie Hazel Gore

Bowman's fashion shop, they have a candidate for Harvest Queen, and the store is being joined by a host of other school gals of a few years ago. They are leaving no stones unturned for the candidacy of Miss Glenna Fae Winston. Next door, the Nelson Jewelry is whooping it up just as lively for Miss Janella Turner. These two girls are not hard to look at if you ask us, and George Lynn Nelson is no shidepolk when it comes to organizing and putting over what he starts.

Like to have started a mild argument over at the Lal Copeland last week, when we were trying to pry him out of a Launderall ad. He showed us a big copy of a page ad run in a number of the big magazines. Our comeback was, that the gals who peruse the big slicks are not looking for washing machines, but are looking for something new from Hollywood or Broadway and Fifth Ave. Anyway, we compromised on a nice Philco ad.

There is always a pretty fair bunch of guys waiting to be waited on at the Terry County Lumber Co., but you would be surprised how fast they get each one waited on, and get to your troubles whatever they are. And when each one leaves, they feel they have really had some personal service. Generally they look happier when they leave than when they come in. Only drawbacks is in scarce lines.

When you walk into the newly enlarged and redecorated J. B. Knight Furniture, if you will keep your peepers in the store and not out on the street, you can well vision yourself being in a large city furniture emporium. It will make you proud that it is in your fine little city. What the carpenters, painters, etc., under direction of Mr. Tracy Cary have done to that store is marvelous. But go look for yourself—don't take our word.

Have you visited the Brownfield Sales Co., over on the south side of the square. If not, do so, and see what a fine stock of War Surplus goods Jerry Kirschner and Gordon Alexander have for your selection.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bryant have sold their home on Broadway and with their family have moved to Carlsbad. Mr. Bryant is in the moving business.

EASY PAYMENTS?
SURE!

See what this brand-new Fireball engine can do for Buicks built in the past ten years

YOU see here a hood-filling straight-eight power plant exactly like those which put an eager rush of Fireball energy at the command of folks who own 1947 Buicks.

But you don't have to be the owner of a 1947 Buick to boss this husky package of concentrated power around!

You don't have to wonder, "How about delivery?"

If you hanker for the thrill of having, beneath your toe, the surging power of a new Fireball engine, we're in a position to talk business right now.

How come? The answer is simple:

Out in the Buick factories, engine production is forging ahead — engines are coming off the line faster than bodies or other parts needed to build complete automobiles.

All of which means we can give you prompt delivery on 1947 power plants — brand-new, straight-from-the-factory Buick engines, ready to repower any Buick built in the past ten years.

If you own a Buick built between 1937 and 1942, the whole thing boils down to this:

We lift out the old engine — put in a new one — and send you on your happy way in less time than it would take for an overhaul.

That's why we say, buying one of these engines is the next best thing to getting a new Buick — and when you do get a new one, you'll have a better car to turn in.

Come in and let us show you how simple the whole thing is.

Here's the Answer to SHORTER-MORE PROFITABLE Cotton Harvests!

Harvesting cotton in a once-over operation is the short cut to bigger profits. Get this advantage by stripping and delivering cotton, two rows at a time, with a labor-saving John Deere No. 15 Cotton Harvester.

Designed to work with the John Deere "A" and "B" Tractors, the No. 15 is a simple, sturdy, long-lived machine that does a fast, efficient job of saving bolls after the cotton plants have been killed by frost. Many gin operators state that cotton stripped by the John Deere is cleaner than that pulled by the average hand puller.

This year, to make short work of your cotton harvest—use a John Deere Cotton Harvester. See us for complete information the next time you're in town.

Soil Conservation District News

The District Board of Supervisors met in regular monthly session Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 16, at Morton, Texas. Several items of business were transacted. For the Brownfield Work Unit office a total of 16 applications were received for District approval totaling 5,704 acres, also three cooperative agreements were approved consisting of W. W. The planting of 10 acres by Mrs. Rhodes, 10 acres by Walter Montgomery and 30 acres by Claude Montgomery is all being done by a previous Conservation plan work out by the District Program last year.

Several terracing contractors have already contacted this office wanting to know who wanted terraces built. The District engineering technician is ready to assist any farmer who makes application under the District Program.

Edgar Melcher is having the surveying crew to topog his farm in order to better plan an irrigation system, if and when he drills for irrigation water.

Plan cover crops now. Be protected next spring from sand storms. Land that has a tendency to blow every spring, if covplanting purposes, please let your neighbors know about it. This particular rye is much in demand for winter and early spring pasture. It is an excellent holder of soil from blowing too.

Mrs. Johnny Davidson and daughter, Janice returned to their home in Tucson, Ariz., Thursday of last week after a weeks visit here with her father, Mr. Steve Boruk and Mrs. Boruk.

Mrs. J. L. Randal is in Seymour with her sister, Mrs. Chas. Randal who is quite ill.

ered with a good grass mixture of Balboa rye will pay the owner many times over. At least your neighbor will be easier to get along with if your sand isn't blowing over on his farm. Plan ahead and use protective measures against the dreaded wind erosion.

Land farmed to peas and peanuts and after harvest, land left barren, doesn't afford much protection from blowing sand. Tie such areas down with Rye cover crop.

Riggs Raises Some Fine Maize

J. A. Riggs, who lives on his own place 12 miles west and three south of town, was in one day last week and showed the writer some of the best maize we have seen this or any other year. We asked Mr. Riggs if he planted his own seed. "No, I bought what I thought was the best seed obtainable." He has about 30 acres of this variety.

The heads are some ten inches long and wider than your open hand, and the seed are matured clear to the most inside stems. It is the red variety and looks like the old goose neck kind, but this grows straight upward, making it easy to combine.

Mr. Riggs figures he will get at least a ton to the acre off this field. This maize will be on display at the Terry County Fair.

All-Over Newness for Fall

The hooded suit in white-flecked grey wool has a slim pleated skirt. Grey jersey turtle neck blouse teams with a grey flannel flared skirt.

If you've been wondering about the wandering hemline, whether it is going and where it will stop, these new Fall and Winter fashions by New York designers will clear up the matter. Skirts are longer, but it's not a case of the skirt's being a set number of inches from the floor. Proper proportion is what counts, with the skirt length related to the length of the bodice, the design of the dress as a whole, and the time of day it is to be worn.

The two-piece outfits shown here are apt illustrations not only of proportioned skirt length, but of several other changes in the silhouette. Shoulders are still padded, but there is a curve in the padding, giving a rounder line more becoming to most women than the "football player" look of squared-off shoulders. Skirts and jackets are cut to rounded hip lines as well, and waistlines are well delineated.

Although the hemlines are nearer the floor by a couple of inches than those of last year, any "stringbean" effect is avoided by a break in the plainness of the skirt. The grey flannel flared skirt, worn with the grey wool jersey turtle neck blouse, achieves a balanced effect with a band of the fabric just above the knees.

Hooded coats and jackets are very much to the fore in the Fall fashion picture. The hooded suit shown, grey wool dotted with white, is the sort of setup that will do yeoman duty on the campus all Fall.

The Herald is trading with a lot of second generation folks here and in a few instances, the third. But it is not too often that it gets to do business with the second generation of out-of-town folks. Way back about 1912, Sim, or Simeon O'Neill was head clerk and advertising man for the John P. GOMEZ H D CLUB REPORT Points on home tailoring was discussed by Miss Helen Dunlap county home demonstration agent, Thursday afternoon when Gomez Home Demonstration club members met in the home of Mrs. Kelly Sears.

During a business session the club voted to place agriculture exhibit at the Terry County Fair.

The club will meet September 25 with Mrs. B. R. Lay.

Our good friend Jacob Sandage of the Union community rolled two large melons into the Herald office this week, and invited us to try 'em out. The Low Down From Hickory Grove

I just been readin' Uncle Harry's labor message where he says, "The right to join a union of one's own choice is unquestioned today and in sanctioned and protected by law." But he didn't say anything about a guy who didn't choose to have a choice and didn't want to join anything in the first place, but who wanted to work but couldn't because he had no union card. So what I want to know now is, what Uncle Harry was talking about or tryin' to say. And what is a free American going to do about making a living for his helpmate and their offshoots unless he gives up the idea of being "free" and knuckles down to somebody over in the labor "Temple."

Coming from Missouri and just across the river from Kansas where my Susie hails from—she is a Topekaite—I kinda try to stay sociable and overlook some of neighbor Harry's doings that look a little squee-gee. But now and then I think it is not a bad idea to remind the old boy that the folks out here are still just like they were when he was out here—no different. Uncle Harry has no easy time of it—crafty gents on all sides to wrangle this or wrangle that—so I try to do what I can to keep him from gettin' too far off the beam. He knows I mean well—I think.

Yours with the low down,

JO SERRA.

OUTLOOK FOR COUNTY FAIR ENCOURAGING

Many exhibits are already booked and others in prospect. A large exhibit of farm produce, as well as livestock, is expected.

Tweed Topper

A purposeful coat, slim and tubular, in green and black striped tweed.

Whether you plan to travel far afield or just between the points encompassed by your daily routine this Fall, there's always need for a good tweed coat of the kind you can wear and wear, and like just as well at the end of the season as at the beginning.

A coat such as the one pictured, by a New York designer, is the kind of smart, simple thing you'll find useful day in, day out. Of green and black striped tweed, the coat tapers toward the hem and fastens from top to bottom with black buttons. Pockets are deep and roomy, as pockets of good tweed coats should be. A wonderful steamer coat for a lake or ocean voyage, or to take to college.

The secret of fall harvesting is to adjust the cylinder speed instantly for varying moisture conditions that change from hour to hour. The All-Crop Harvester's Quick Speed-Changer makes it as easy as tuning your radio.

Tough conditions require higher speeds to thresh the grain or seeds from heads or pods. Dry, brittle conditions require slower speeds to avoid damage to kernels.

The All-Crop Harvester's famous full-width, rubber-faced, spiral-bar cylinder processes the crop gently and thoroughly in a wide, thin stream... at the proper speed to save it all.

UNION SCHOOL SOPHOMORES ELECTS OFFICERS

The Sophomore class of the Union high school met and organized Friday Sept. 5.

Lena Bill Bearden was elected president; Weldon Cheatham, vice president; Mary Jo Hadaway, secretary; Bill Cornett reporter and Mrs. Victor Herring, sponsor.

Veterans' News

World War II veterans who renounce disability payments for any reason do not lose their rights to other benefits provided by law for them or their dependents, the Veterans Administration has ruled.

VA said these veterans may re-apply for disability compensation or pension at any time in the future and that approved awards will be payable from the date of the second application, but will not include retroactive payments covering the period renunciation was effective.

VA's ruling is of particular interest to disabled veterans who desire to enroll as officers or enlisted men in the National Guard or Naval Reserve. They may enlist in these units under the law only by waiving their disability payments. Reserve officers are not subject to this restriction, but while receiving active service pay, they may not also receive compensation or pension.

Almost as many World War II veterans will be alive at the turn of the 21st century as there are living veterans of World War I, today according to the latest Veterans Administration estimate.

VA computes that 3,400,000 War II veterans will be alive in the year 2000. The number of War I living veterans as of June 30, 1947, as 3,727,000.

However, although the average age of War I veterans now is approximately 54 years, the average age of the War II veterans expected to be living in the year 2000 will be slightly over 77 years.

The War II figures come from a projection that VA made to determine what its administrative and operating requirements for these veterans will be in the fu-

Medicine Under The Nazis

In his revealing book, "The Last Days of Hitler," H. R. Trevor-Roper, a British intelligence officer who as detailed to study the final cataclysmic collapse of Hitler's regime, observes that the quality of medical practice in Germany deteriorated enormously under the Nazi dictatorship. Charlatans, quacks and incompetents were given positions of the highest importance. Doctors and scientists of the type who once made German medicine famous throughout the world, were relegated to obscurity.

This was an extreme case. But it has been true, to some degree, of socialized or government-dominated medicine wherever it has existed. It is one inevitable development when the politician, the bureaucrat or the dictator assumes power over science. The road to advancement lies through political favor, rather than through work, achievement and ability. Research and arduous experimentation are discouraged—much quicker reards are offered to those who please their political bosses. And the real losers, of course, are the people, who are given inferior treatment when they become ill.

These precedents, if nothing else, should act to prevent the future.

The projection begins with the potential War II veteran population of 16,051,000 as of July 25, 1947. The average age of this group of that date as 28.6 years.

The projection ends with the year 2030 when VA expects less than a thousand War II veterans to be alive, averaging 104 years of age.

Pyorrhea Curable If Started Early

Contrary to the popular belief that pyorrhea is incurable, this is only true in the most advanced cases. Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, advises those persons who even suspect the presence of pyorrhea to seek an early diagnosis from their dentist so that proper treatment can be instituted while the disease is still curable.

"Early detection and proper establishment of political medicine in this country. Such measures as the Wagner-Murray-Dingell compulsory public health bill may be well intended—but, regardless of motive, they would make the practice of medicine a political matter. The bureaucrat would be set above the doctor. The way to completely socialized medicine would be wide open. And the standards of American medicine which are now the highest in the world, would start downward.

treatment of pyorrhea represent the formula for a successful cure. This means that the dentist must have an opportunity to discover the presence of the disease at the earliest possible moment since the symptoms are often so vague that the patient is unaware of its existence," Dr. Cox said. "Regular visits to the family dentist are therefore extremely important."

The treatment of pyorrhea is not an involved procedure. In the average early case of the main therapeutic features is the proper hygiene care of teeth and gums as outlined by any reputable dentist. Carelessness regarding mouth hygiene is usually the basic cause for the condition.

The family dentist can usually remove the cause of the trouble, and when this has been done, intelligent routine home-care of the mouth by the patient will effect a cure in the majority of early cases.

Larry Tarpley, of Jefferson City, Mo., was here for several days visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Tarpley.

FEW T B STUDENTS IN UNIVERSITY

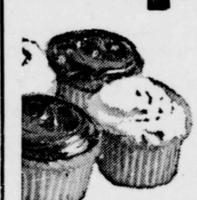

Only 45 persons out of 17,325 x-rayed at the University of Texas showed definite evidence of having tuberculosis, the Texas Tuberculosis Association reports. Forty-six were listed as "suspicious."

X-rays ere made last fall by the Association and the State Health department, and will be repeated this year.

R. N. McClain, former county agent is on vacation this week at his boyhood home in South Carolina.

OLD GUNS TO FIRE FINAL SALUTE

Trusty old Enfield rifles will fire the final salute to Texas youths who died on foreign soil in World War II. The rifles are being distributed by the Fourth Army to National Guard units and chapters of various veterans organizations for use at graveyard rites for the reburial of the State's war dead now being returned from overseas cemeteries. Full military funeral honors for the 17,000 Texas war dead being brought home have been promised by National Guard and the veterans' groups.

THE GREAT GRAND DADDY OF THE RAT FAMILY IN TERRY

The above rat was poisoned by the rat eradication brigade of this city, right here in Brownfield. We saw the rat himself after rigor mortis, or whatever that Latin word, death, means or is spelled. Note that the body exceeds the length of the 12-inch rule.

Those in charge of rat eradication in Brownfield, inform us that this is not the native Texas rat, but is a product of some of the northern European countries. He was as large as an ordinary squirrel.

Rats are said to be one of the primary carriers of some of the most deadly diseases, plague included, and it is essential that rat population must perish from Brownfield and vicinity.

LOST—3500 Children

Sounds like a lot of kids, doesn't it? And all of them under 14, too—real lively youngsters. More than you'd care to cope with? Well, you won't have to; they're all dead. Not in Nazi concentration camps—here at home, on American streets and highways, in the year 1946.

Wherever there may be children playing in or near the roadway, motorists must be prepared to stop instantly, and this means a very very low driving speed. Children are unpredictable, and a preoccupied youngster who seems to be going safely about his business one moment, may, in the next run directly in front of your car.

School zones are special danger spots. It is no coincidence that during the months when schools are in session, pedestrian deaths double between three and five o'clock in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Miller, of Pampa were here Thursday and Friday of last week to be with his brother, K. D. Miller, who underwent surgery in the local hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Mitchell and children, Buddy and Bobbie, of Lubbock visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Dunn, sr., Wednesday of last week.

SANTA FE CARLOADINGS

Santa Fe System carloadings for week ending September 13, 1947, were 29,323 compared with 25,788 for same week in 1946. Cars received from connections totaled 11,641 compared with 11,728 for same week in 1946. Total cars moved were 40,964 compared with 37,516 for same week in 1946. Santa Fe handled a total of 37,094 cars in preceding week of this year.

"The railroads have been largely responsible for the rapid inland development of the United States. In comparison with Europe, our country has few interior waterways. Without the railroads, the transportation essential to development of inland regions would not have existed."—Dallas Times-Herald.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Gaston over the weekend were his nephew, John W. Bridges, of Oklahoma City; his nieces, Mmes. Frank Setser, Bogota, Texas; D. R. Childress, Lorenzo; M. L. Norwood, Wellington and his sister, Mrs. Annie King of Lubbock. Dinner guests Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Leon Morgan, Mrs. T. W. Bruton and Buddy Cabe, of Brownfield and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Robinson and sons, of Wellman.

Mrs. Frank Weir has accepted a position as saleslady at Lathams.

WHOOPS!

No, this isn't a strip-tease, but just Hulda Cannon, 1947 International Cotton Queen, demonstrating a neat combination of cottons at the Cotton States Jubilee of the Lions international convention in San Francisco, where she won the title.

BRING MECHANIZATION TO SMALL FARM

Power units similar to this one, especially designed for service on the small farm, are paving the way to mechanization of family-size farms throughout the Cotton Belt, bringing the promise of greater productivity and increased income.

COTTON INDUSTRY'S AMBASSADORS

Two effective ambassadors for the cotton industry were the Maids of Cotton for 1946 and 1947. The 1946 Maid (left) was Gwin Barnwell of Gastonia, N. C., while the 1947 Maid was Hilma Seay of Memphis, Tenn. The National Cotton Council inaugurated the Maid of Cotton program in 1939 to stimulate interest in cotton.

Mr. and Mrs. Cal Glass of Seagraves were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Al Muldrow Thursday.

Only a few months ago West Texans were whooping it up about a fellow named Beauford Jester, his People's Path and No New Taxes. The land of milk and honey was the ground Jester walked upon, and a man who opposed this Jester was a double-eyed Communist with a hole in his head. Today, Gov. Jester is about as popular in West Texas as a 6-months-old infant at a movie. Over in Lubbock, Editor Charley Guy is displaying specks of froth around the mouth, and his right hand is inching toward his hip pocket. We remember when Jester was the "fair-haired boy" around the Avalanche-Journal. Now Guy is currying Harley Sadler to unseat the oil companies' private governor. It'd be a good trade, considering that our taxes are doubled and some new ones added, and that the fantastic People's Path is somewhat overgrown with underbrush and infested with boa constrictors. Funny, Homer

Bang's Disease Committee Appointed

The organization of a state advisory committee to map plans for controlling Bang's disease in Texas livestock herds is nearing completion. Appointments on the committee have been made out of all livestock breed organizations in the state, including Jersey, Guernsey, Aberdeen Angus, Brahma, Hereford and milk goat associations. Cattle raisers associations, the Livestock Sanitary Commission of USDA's Bureau of Animal Industry, the state department of health and the Extension Service, Agricultural Experiment Station and the teaching division of Texas A. and M. College — all are represented on the committee that will attempt to curb the high toll that Bang's disease, or Brucellosis, is taking among the state's livestock.

Dr. E. A. Grist, Extension veterinarian at Texas A. and M. College, says that several new ideas have already been set forth for consideration of the committee, one proposal being a vaccination program for heifers without tests of adult animals. Another is the possibility of complete herd vaccination with special permission. Also up for discussion by the committee is a plan to include local practicing veterinarians in a Bang's disease control plan. The committee will next meet in Fort Worth, February 12.

Mrs. Harris Schaefer and children of Austin arrived here Tuesday to make their home. Mr. Schaefer has been here several days and is employed with the State Dept. of Public Health.

Party Plaid

Bright plaid wool combines with black velvet for gay evenings.

THE wool-for-evening idea is one that has met with enthusiastic acceptance everywhere by women who like to be comfortably warm as well as glamorous for the winter's social doings. The college girl likes party wools in plaids, lively and gay—and if the skirt is separate, so it can be worn with different tops, so much the better. And she likes it to be ankle length for evening party-going. If the skirt is full and dished, practical considerations dictate that it should take its fullness in unpressed pleats, to simplify pressing and hem adjustments. The New York designed skirt and blouse jacket combines red, black and white plaid wool with black velvet in the season's new rounded hip, tiny waistline look.
