WAITING.

BY AGNES STONEHEWER.

Waiting many a lonesome hour,
Waiting ever eye for thee,
Till the sunbeams on the tower,
Shant and fade from off the lea,
Till all light from maiden's bower
Slips into a hazy sea.

Waiting while the snowdrop springeth,
Piercing through the lobebound sod,
Waiting while the summer bringeth
Flowers, fair offering to her God;
While the sun of autumn singeth
Golden gleams, and corn-fields nod.

Waiting while cold winter stoneth
O'er the emshine loving earth,
Waiting while the yule-bell pealeth
Sounds of blessed joy and mirth;
Waiting until Time revealeth
To my soul of bliss the birth.

Waiting while my spring is waning,
Melting into summer days;
Waiting only patience gaining,
No reward, no need of praise;
Waiting, till of life remaining
There will be but faintest rays.

Waiting? What rock I of waiting,
Days and months, and years may be?
If Time alone is erasing
In thy breast more love for me?
Then I am far over-rating
Life-long years of misery.

Youth and love shall not be boarded,
I can wait, and war with strife,
If to me may be accorded
One brief hour thro' all my life,
When—and oh! how well rewarded
I may hear thee call me—"wife."

MARK TWAIN ON THE MEDI- TERRANEAN.

[Civita Vecchia Correspondence of the New York Tribune.]

This is the vilest nest of dirty raggin and ignorance we have got into yet; except that African perdition they call Tangle, which is just like it. The people here live in alleys two yards wide, it is lucky the alleys are not wide, because they hold as much smell now as a person can stand, and, of course, if they were wider, they would hold more, and then the people would die. These alleys are paved with stone and carpeted with slush and decayed rags, and decomposed vegetable tops, and remains of old boots, all soaked with dishwater, and the people sit around on stools and enjoy it. They are indolent, as a general thing, and yet have few pastimes. They work two or three hours at a time, but not hard, and then they knock off and catch flies. This does not require talent, because they have only to grab—if they do not get the one they are after, they get another. It is all the same to them. They are not particular. They have no partialities. They have other kinds of insects, but it does not make them arrogant. They are very quiet, unpretending people. They have more of this kind of things than any other communities, but they do not brag.

They are very uncleanly, these people, in the face, in person and dress. When they see anybody with a clean shirt on, it arouses their scorn. The women wash clothes half the day at the public fountains, but they are probably somebody else's, or may be they keep one suit to wear and another to wash, because they never wear any that have ever been washed. When they get done washing, they sit in the alleys and nurse their cubs. All the women in Civita Vecchia have large families. They nurse one at a time, and the others scratch their backs against the door-posts and are happy. All the people scratch. It is their delight. There is a rusty shrine here and there along the streets, where the people can watch and pray, but they don't do that; they scratch and pray. They like it better.

All this country is presided over by the Pope. They do not appear to have any schools here, and only one billiard table. Their education is at a very low stage. One portion of the men go into the military, another into the priesthood, and a third into the shoemaking business, and the balance "lay around."

They keep up the passport system here yet, but so they do in Turkey. This shows that Turkey is not a whit more enlightened than the papacy, what ever malignant villains may say to the contrary. I had to get my passport vised in Florence, and then they would not let me come ashore here from Leghorn till a degraded policeman had examined it on the wharf and sent me a permit. They did not even dare to let me take my passport in my hands for twelve hours, I looked so formidable. They thought I wanted to take the town, likely. But such was not my desire—not if I had a chance to swap off and take the small-pox, any how. They examined my baggage at the depot a while ago. They passed my shirts, but they held on to my tooth-brush, so as to lay it before the board of commissioners and let them find out what it is for, and whether there is any harm in it or not. This was unfortunate, because I borrowed it from my shipmate, who is particular about his teeth to an extent which is ridiculous. And they took one of my ablest jokes (it was one of those extraordinary soundrams which I get up sometimes), and read it over carefully, and then read it again; and finally turned it around, and read it the wrong way. But it was too deep for them. They handed it around, and everybody ciphered at it a while, but it was no use. They all had to pass. It was no common joke. At last one of the oldest of the officers, apparently, and certainly one of the most abandoned and ignorant men I have ever looked upon, spelled it over very slowly and laboriously, and then shook his head three or four times, and said in his opinion it was seditions. That was the first time I was alarmed. I immediately said I would explain the document, and they crowded around. And so in that sweltering place I explained, and perspired, and perspired and explained, with my coat off, and they took notes of all I said, but the more I explained the more they couldn't understand, and when they desisted at last, and summed up their notes, I couldn't understand it myself. They said they believed it was an incendiary document, leveled at the government. I declared it was not, but they only shook their heads, and would not be satisfied. And then they consulted, and consulted, and consulted a good while, and finally they confiscated it. I cannot tell how much I was grieved; because I had worked a long time on that joke, and took a good deal of pride in it, and now I shall never see it any more. I suppose it will be sent up and stowed away among the criminal archives of Rome, and will always be regarded as a mysterious infernal machine which would have blown up like a mine, and scattered the good Pope all around, but for a miraculous Providential interference. And I suppose that all the time I am in Rome the police will dog me about from place to place because they think I am a dangerous character.

It is fearfully hot in Civita Vecchia. The streets are made very narrow, and the houses built very solid, and heavy and high, as a protection against the heat. This is the first Italian town I have seen, which does not seem to have a patron saint. I suppose no saint but the one who went up in the fiery chariot could stand the climate. This is a miserable town. They haven't any wonders here at all to exhibit to strangers. They haven't even a cathedral, with eleven tons of solid silver archbishops in the back room, and a petrified saint in the cellar; and they don't show you any rusty buildings that are seven thousand years old, nor any rusty, smoke-dried old fire-screens, which are splendid chef d'oeuvre of Titian, or Simpson, or Reubens, or Ferguson, or any of those parties. I am going to Rome—there's nothing to see here. This town is the worst swindle yet.

MARK TWAIN.

SHERMAN AND THE INDIANS.—General Sherman made a speech to the Indians in the council on the North Platte last week. He told them the Pacific Railroad must be built, and that they could not be permitted to interfere with it. He added: If the Indians are damaged, they will receive compensation. He supposed they had agreed on the Powder River road in the Laramie treaty last spring. While the Indians continue to wage war, the road will not be given up, but if the Indians' right is found good, it will be given up, or compensation paid, if they keep the peace. Powder and lead would not be given them until a definite treaty was made. A railroad train had been attacked and men were killed who had no guns, but were bringing goods, some of which were to feed the Indians. A proposition was then submitted for the Indians to accept of homes on the new reservations, and they were given until the first of November to answer at the council to be held at North Platte; at the same time they could hunt on the Republican. The General also represented that we were building costly roads, and they could not be stopped any more than the sun and the moon in the east. You hardly think, he said, what you call war here is, but if you make up your minds it will come to the Plains thick, where there are the largest herds of buffaloes, and kill you all. He also told the Indians that if they wanted to go east and see for themselves, they would be "dead-headed" through. The chief responded that they only asked for ammunition, which the Commission finally concluded to give. The Commission returned to Omaha.

MURDER OF HON. R. W. BLACK

Yesterday morning (Friday) a courier from Uvalde brought us the following letters containing the intelligence of the brutal murder of the Hon. R. W. Black: UVALDE, Oct. 1867.

JAS. P. NEWCOMB

DEAR SIR:—R. W. Black was brutally murdered this morning at nine o'clock while lying on the counter at Mr. Thomas' store. He was shot through the heart by G. W. Wall. It was a cold blooded, premeditated and infamous murder. Wall has escaped.

Yours truly, JAMES B. TAYLOR.

Letter from Dr. Ansell, U. S. Surgeon at Fort Inge.

An inquest has been held on the body of our poor departed friend Black. It was a most atrocious murder. The ball entered the right arm two or three inches from the head of the humerus, passed through the arm, entered the chest on the right side between the 2nd and 3rd ribs, making a fearful wound, traversed the chest, wounded the ascending aorta and passed out between the 3rd and 4th ribs on the left side. Death was caused instantaneously, he spoke not one word and left this world without one expression to his bereaved wife and children.

No cause for this dreadful deed is given, only that it was a deliberate murder. Mr. Black was well known to the people of this section of the State, as one of the best and kindest men in the world; one of the most quiet and inoffensive of men; a man of very few words, even painfully silent, a pure good man, he had the respect and confidence of all who knew him. He was a staunch Union man; elected to the last State legislature he was among the few who voted in favor of the constitutional amendment. Mr. Black was deeply interested in the welfare of the frontier and his loss is a severe blow to the people in his section. Poor Black, hurried so ruthlessly from time to eternity, has hundreds of mourning friends who will keep long in remembrance his quiet ways, excellent qualities, and sterling worth.

Wall is well known to our citizens; he is a man of about five feet ten inches in height, dark complexion, black curly or kinky hair, a remarkably well made man. In making inquiries we learn that he made quite a figure during the rebellion as a cotton dealer, shipping that article to Mexico, and bringing goods back. He had a wife whom he abandoned and allowed to die in the most distressing circumstances. After which he married a widow lady named Mrs. Shultz, who kept a millinery shop in this city. After the break up he went with his second wife to Cuba or Louisiana, where she died. He recently married the sister of Mr. Black's wife. Wall made a great deal of money during the rebellion, and is said to have considerable property in Uvalde county. It is also reported that he has become involved and has recently been in trouble. He is represented as a grasping, unscrupulous man, and although a secessionist it is surmised that the reason of his killing Black arises from some private cause. Wall is a smart, plausible man. Many of our citizens will know him as Tom. Wall, though his initials are G. W.

Such is another specimen of Texas civilization. The spirit of murder and rebellion is rife among us. We hope this murder will wake up our people to the necessity of putting down such barbarity.

MORE EVIDENCE AGAINST THE DICTATOR.—PAYSON, the telegraphic correspondent of the New Orleans Republican says more evidence of Johnson's duplicity and anxiety to obstruct reconstruction laws has come to light. He wrote a letter to S. F. Rice, of Montgomery, Ala., advising the latter to test the constitutionality of the military bills, by attempting to register under the provisions of the amnesty proclamation, and if refused to resort to the courts. He tried to register; was refused and brought suit.

A California crew has challenged the Ward Brothers, of Newburg, to a boat race for $3,500 in gold, $1,500 to be allowed to each crew for expenses, according to the place decided upon, Sacramento or New York. The challenge has been accepted.

OUR NEW RAILROAD HOPE.

Again hope dawns faintly upon our Mexican Gulf Railroad enterprise; for the moment the incredulous relax their set notions of the impossibility of such an undertaking, and the land-grabber takes a tighter grip on his boarded acres; everyone congratulating themselves upon the easy prospect of immense benefits brought to them without any endeavor of their own.

We learn that all the difficulties of the railroad company have been settled, and that work will open with the first frost. The road is first to be built to Querro, from which point it can take its course along the Guadalupe to New Braunfels, and then to San Antonio, or can come directly to our city. A branch will no doubt go up the Guadalupe, and the determined enterprise of the citizens of New Braunfels will bring it to their doors. New Braunfels already outstrips us in manufactures and if our people don't wake up we will be left out in the cold. If this English company get to building railroads we must see to it that San Antonio is not left in the lurch.

Little do our citizens dream of the changes a railroad would bring us. Our streets would widen to business thoroughfares; our houses rise to stately stories. Our hotels crowded with transient multitudes, seeking wealth and health; our people change to a brisk business community; the afternoon snooze would be impossible because of the tramp of the iron horse; common schools would spring up ample enough to educate and civilize the rising generation. San Antonio would become the center of wealth; the Atlanta of Texas, the great business radius of the Southwest. Our future history with railroads connecting us with the east and west is too magnificent to contemplate at present; only let us have the privilege of straddling the iron horse once a day, with the prospect of a lunch on fresh oysters and a sea bath, and a chance to return home the same day, and we will forego the pleasure of being visited by the Chinese mandarin on his railroad trolley over the Southern Pacific Railroad.

But our citizens must hurry up, or else New Braunfels and other small places will reach the train first.

REPORT OF LIEUT. CLEMENS UPON THE LAVERNIA AFFAIR.

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS, Oct. 3, 1867.

Editor San Antonio Express, San Antonio, Texas.

SIR:—Having noticed in the various accounts published in your paper of the troubles at and near Lavernia, that an error exists as to the true nature and final adjustment of the affair, I respectfully request that the following, my report, made to Brevet Brigadier-General John S. Mason, commanding Post of San Antonio, together with this letter, be published:

I am, sir, Very respectfully, Your obedient servant, WILLIAM W. CLEMENS, 1st Lieutenant 35th U. S. Infantry.

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS, Oct. 3, 1867.

1st Lieutenant CHARLES P. SMITH, Adjutant 35th U. S. Infantry, Post Adjutant.

SIR:—I have the honor to report that, in accordance with Special Orders No. 165, dated Headquarters Post of San Antonio, San Antonio, Texas, September 30, 1867, I left this place at 6 P. M. same day for Lavernia, Wilson county, Texas, where I arrived at midnight.

Immediately upon my arrival, I consulted with the Deputy Sheriff of the county, the resident Justice of the Peace at that place, and other white citizens who were there congregated for the purpose of guarding four (4) colored men who had been arrested for an offense against the laws of the State, and found that there was considerable fear on the part of all, that there would be an outbreak of the freedmen in that vicinity, information having been given them that the colored people were collecting, armed, for the purpose of resisting the civil authorities and rescuing the persons then in their hands.

I offered my assistance to secure the arrest of all persons for whom warrants had been legally issued, and guaranteed protection to all, irrespective of color, acting in accordance with the law.

During all the time I was in Wilson county, there were no overt acts committed by any one, which came to my knowledge, but the trouble which then existed was occasioned under the following circumstances:

Complaint was made before C. C. Rector, Justice of the Peace for Wilson county, that Braxton Barford (colored) had been seen killing, or had killed, a beef which did not belong to him. A warrant (a copy of which is herewith appended, together with the return of the Constable,) was then issued for the arrest of said "Braxton" and one Joe Saucherer (white), and placed in the hands of R. W. Sharpley, Constable, who brought Braxton before Justice Rector, but Saucherer could not be found.

In order to satisfy myself that the person who issued the warrant was a legally-authorized person so to act, I asked that proof be given me to that effect, when C. C. Rector exhibited a certificate of election to the office of Justice of the Peace, Precinct No. 2, Wilson county, Texas, the result of an election held in that county on the 7th day of January, 1867, given him by the Commissioners of said county, with the county seal attached.

The said Braxton asked a postponement of his trial until his witnesses had been summoned, for whom the Constable, Sharpless, was immediately sent; but while he was gone to serve the subpoenas, an armed body of colored men, to the number of ten to fifteen, came to the office of the Justice of the Peace and demanded information upon what authority the prisoner had been arrested, and they were told, "By the authority of the State of Texas," by Justice Rector and other persons then present. They then went away, but returned under the leadership of another man and took the prisoner from the custody of the Justice.

A warrant was then issued by the County Court of Wilson county, on the 27th of September, 1867, for the arrest of thirteen (13) colored citizens to answer to the charge of riot, the persons named having participated in the rescue of the prisoner Braxton. The Deputy Sheriff of the county, in whose hands the warrant was placed, deeming it impossible to make the arrests himself, called upon the citizens to aid him, and, taking about fifteen or twenty men with him, proceeded to Braxton's Ranch, where most of the guilty ones were supposed to be. Upon the approach of the Sheriff and posse, some of the colored men ran, but the majority of them remained at their quarters, quietly submitting to all arrests which the Sheriff chose to make. There was one shot fired by one of the Sheriff's party, at a colored man who attempted to escape, but he stopped and then delivered himself up.

The above is, I believe, a correct account of affairs as they occurred, my conclusions being formed from the statements made to me by both white and colored citizens.

I then arrested Braxton and others connected with his rescue and took them to Lavernia, the former to be tried for the offence with which he stood charged, the others to await such action as might be deemed best under the circumstances.

Braxton was arraigned before Justice Rector, and, after a fair trial, conducted in my presence, was acquitted. My attention was then turned to those men arrested on the charge of riot, nearly all of whom were young men, and totally ignorant of the crime of which they stood charged. They said they regretted the course they had pursued, that they would be more guarded in their conduct in the future, and that they would not have acted as they did if they had not been so advised by those who are recognized among them as their leaders, who had informed them that the arrest of Braxton was done without a shadow of authority.

After consulting freely with many of the white citizens of Wilson county who did not desire to carry the affair any further, I concluded that it would be to the best interests of all parties, to release the prisoners and allow them to return quietly to their homes. I then had all, both white and black, assembled before me, and I spoke to them at some length, fully explaining to the freedmen the error they had committed and the danger incident to any attempt to take the law in their own hands; not to act against the dictates of their own consciences; shun the advice of those persons who instigate them to lawless acts; showing them the result of idleness and the great necessity of more frugality on their part if they ever expected to be recognized as good citizens. I also admonished the white citizens that all ill-treatment, abuse or illegal actions on their part towards the freedmen, must be avoided in order to preserve harmony and peace amongst them, and to both parties. I said that any overt acts committed by either, would meet with speedy punishment at the hands of the proper authorities.

I would respectfully state that I left Lavernia at 3 P. M. yesterday and arrived at this Post at 8 P. M. with all my detachment.

I have the honor to be, sir, Very respectfully, Your obedient servant. (Signed) WILLIAM W. CLEMENS, 1st Lieutenant 35th U. S. Infantry.

It is proposed that the city of Philadelphia purchase Petty's Island, for $500,000, and erect a House of Correction. The Moyamensing prison has 195 cells, into which 493 persons are crammed, and the Government is using the upper corridors for the incarceration of whisky and other swindlers of the revenue.

The residence of Gen. Felix K. Zollicoffer, on High street, Nashville, was sold a few days since, under a decree of the Chancery Court, for fifteen thousand and six hundred dollars—ten thousand dollars less than it was really worth. Mr. H. S. French was the purchaser.

Local Intelligence.

Indian Raid in Mexico.---They Capture a Train---Kill Seven Men and take off the Booty.

We learn that a party of Kickapoo and Comanche Indians attacked a train of thirty wagons between Eagle Pass and Monterey, Mexico, killed seven of the men in charge of the train, captured the entire outfit, packed the mules with merchandise, and also $30,000 in specie, and made off with their booty for the Texas frontier. A Mexican General with a strong force pursued the Indians and have crossed to the Texas side by permission, and we learn that the United States military authorities will co-operate with the Mexican forces and follow them until they are overtaken. This will, we hope, break up the Indian nest in Mexico.

THE LAVENIA AFFAIR.---In another place in our paper will be found the report of Lieut. Clemens in regard to the Lavenia affair. The Lieutenant deserves great credit for the manner in which he settled the difficulty, and we hope that quiet will reign in that vicinity. Whatever hasty action the colored men may have been guilty of they are in the highest degree excusable; it is a well known fact that they are a peaceable people, and further, that if it were not for the military and the bureau their condition would be little better than in slavery. It is also a well known fact that these people have been murdered and outraged by the rebel whites, and that it is almost time they should evince some resentment. We are the advocate of peace and order, but we consider that the black man has the same personal rights as his white neighbor, and should defend those rights when threatened. We believe that this very act of rescuing one of their number from a band of men they considered unfriendly to their race, while a breach of the law, has resulted in justice to the accused and a general benefit to all parties concerned, as it has assured the freedmen that Uncle Sam is not dead yet, and the rebels, that in spite of Johnson's proclamation the military will hold them to strict accountability for any outrages they may commit.

ADVENT OF THE GRASSHOPPERS.---Yesterday, (Friday) the air became full of flying grasshoppers. Looking towards the sun, as far as the eye could reach into the ether blue, millions of these insects could be seen moving, apparently, to the southeast. Like an immense army with millions of stragglers stopping by the way, popping about our streets, and flying into our open doors. All sorts of theories are given for their appearance. They seem to come from some far region, and are, perhaps, seeking some genial clime, driven out by approaching cold weather. The crops are made, and these insects create no alarm. In California the Digger Indians roast them, and get exceedingly fat upon this dainty food.

SULTRY WEATHER.---Yesterday and the day before were extremely sultry. The thermometer stood 92 in the shade yesterday. A norther will be our next change.

FLYING OVER.---Flocks of geese have been heard passing to the south during the last few days. A sure sign of the approach of cool weather.

PRESBYTERIAN SYNOD.---We learn that the Presbyterian Synod for Western Texas is in session in our city.

WIRE DOWN.---The telegraphic wire is down.

And be it further enacted, That said Kansas and Neosho Valley Railroad Company, its successors and assigns, shall have the right to negotiate with and acquire from any Indian nation or tribe, authorized by the United States to dispose of lands for railroad purposes, and from any other nation or tribe of Indians through whose lands said railroad may pass, subject to the approval of the President of the United States, or from any company or parties incorporated or authorized for such purposes, by such nation or tribe, or which such parties may have acquired under the laws of the United States.

Sec. 11. And be it further enacted, That any railroad company authorized under any law of the United States, or of the State of Kansas, which may have been heretofore or shall hereafter be recognized by act of the Congress of the United States, may connect, unite, and consolidate with this railroad company, after the same shall be located to the valley of the Neosho River, upon just, fair, and equitable terms, to be agreed upon between the parties, and shall not be against the public interest or the interest of the United States; nor shall any road authorized to connect as aforesaid charge the road so connecting a greater tariff per mile for freight or passengers than is charged for the same per mile by its own road: And provided further, That should the Leavenworth, Lawrence, and Fort Gibson Railroad Company, or the Union Pacific Railroad Company, southern branch, construct and complete its road to that point on the southern boundary of the State of Kansas where the line of said Kansas and Neosho Valley Railroad shall cross the same, before the said Kansas and Neosho Valley Railroad Company shall have constructed and completed its said road to said point, then and in that event the company so first reaching in completion the said point on the southern boundary of the State of Kansas shall be authorized, upon obtaining the written approval of the President of the United States, to construct and operate, its line of railroad from said point to a point at or near Preston, in the State of Texas, with grants of land according to the provisions of this act, but upon the further special condition, nevertheless, that said railroad company shall have commenced in good faith the construction thereof before the said Kansas and Neosho Valley Railroad Company shall have completed its said railroad to said point: And provided further, That said other railroad company, so having commenced said work in good faith, shall continue to prosecute the completion of the same within a reasonable time, subject to the approval of the President of the United States: And provided further, That the right of way through private property when not otherwise provided for in this act, or by the law of any State through which said road may pass shall be obtained by said Kansas and Neosho Valley Railroad Company, or either of the other companies named in this act, in accordance with the provisions of section three of an act to amend an act entitled "An act to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the Missouri River to the Pacific Ocean," and to secure to the government the use of the same for postal, military, and other purposes," approved July first, eighteen hundred and sixty-two. Approved, July 25, 1866.

CHAP. COXXII.—An Act granting Lands to aid in the Construction of a Railroad and Telegraph Line from the Central Pacific Railroad, in California, to Portland, in Oregon.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That the "California and Oregon Railroad Company," organized under an act of the State of California, to protect certain parties in aid to a railroad survey, "to connect Portland, in Oregon, with Marysville, in California," approved April sixth, eighteen hundred and sixty-three, any such company organized under the laws of Oregon as the legislature of said State shall hereafter designate, be, and they are hereby authorized and empowered to lay out, locate, construct, finish, and maintain a railroad and telegraph line between the city of Portland, in Oregon, and the Central Pacific Railroad, in California, in the manner following to-wit: The said California and Oregon Railroad Company to construct that part of said railroad and telegraph within the State of California, beginning at some point (to be selected by said company) on the Central Pacific Railroad in the Sacramento valley, in the State of California, and running thence northerly, through the Sacramento and Shasta valleys, to the northern boundary of the State of California; and the said Oregon company to construct that part of the said railroad and telegraph line within the State of Oregon, beginning at the city of Portland, in Oregon, and running thence southerly through the Willamette, Umpqua, and Rogue River valleys to the southern boundary of Oregon, where the same shall connect with the part aforesaid to be made by the first-named company: Provided, That the company completing its respective part of the said railroad and telegraph from either of the termini herein named to the line between California and Oregon arrived at the same line, shall have the right, and the said company is hereby authorized, to continue in constructing the same beyond the line aforesaid, with the consent of the State in which the said line may lie, upon the terms mentioned in this act, and all the said parts shall meet and connect, and the whole line of said railroad and telegraph shall be completed.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That there be, and hereby is, granted to the said companies, their successors and assigns, for the purpose of aiding in the construction of said railroad and telegraph line, and to secure the safe and speedy transportation of the mails, troops, munitions of war, and public stores over the line of said railroad, every alternate section of public land, not mineral, designated by odd numbers, to the amount of twenty alternate sections per mile (ten on each side of said railroad line); and when any of said alternate sections or parts of sections shall be found to have been granted, sold, reserved, occupied by homestead settlers, pre-empted, or otherwise disposed of, other lands, designated as aforesaid, shall be selected by said companies in lieu thereof, under the direction of the Secretary of the Interior, in alternate sections designated by odd numbers as aforesaid, in such manner as to not more than ten miles beyond the limits of said first named alternate sections; and as soon as the said companies, or either of them, shall file in the office of the Secretary of the Interior a map of the survey of said railroad, or any portion thereof, not less than sixty continuous miles from either terminus, the Secretary of the Interior shall withdraw from said public lands herein granted on each side of said railroad, so far as located and within the limits here specified. The lands hereby granted shall be applied to the building of said road within the States, respectively, wherein they are situated. And the sections and parts of sections of land which shall remain in the United States within the limits of the aforesaid grant shall not be sold for less than double the minimum price of public lands when sold: Provided, That bona fide actual settlers under the pre-emption laws of the United States may, after due proof of settlement, improvement, and occupation, as now provided by law, purchase the same at the price fixed for said lands at the date of such settlement, improvement, and occupation: And provided, also, That settlers under the provisions of the homestead act, who comply with the terms and requirements of said act, shall be entitled, within the limits of said grant, to patents for an amount not exceeding eighty acres of the land so reserved by the United States, anything in this act to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That the right of way through the public lands to, and the same is hereby granted to said companies for the construction of said railroad and telegraph line; and the right, power, and authority are hereby given to said companies to take from the public lands adjacent to the line of said road, earth, stone, timber, water, and other materials for the construction thereof. Said right of way is granted to said railroad to the extent of one hundred feet in width on each side of said railroad where it may pass over the public lands, including all necessary grounds for stations, buildings, workshops, depots, machine shops, switches, turn-tables, water stations, or any other structures required in the construction and operating of said road.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That whenever the said companies, or either of them, shall have twenty or more consecutive miles of any portion of said railroad and telegraph line ready for the service contemplated by this act, the President of the United States shall appoint three commissioners, whose compensation shall be paid by said company, to examine the same, and if it shall appear that twenty consecutive miles of railroad and telegraph shall have been completed and equipped in all respects as required by this act, the said commissioners shall so report under oath to the President of the United States, and thereupon patents shall issue to said companies, or either of them, as the case may be, for the lands hereinbefore granted to the extent of and coterminous with the completed section of said railroad and telegraph line as aforesaid; and from time to time, whenever twenty or more consecutive miles of the said road and telegraph shall be completed and equipped as aforesaid, patents shall in like manner issue upon the report of the said commissioners, and so on until the entire railroad and telegraph authorized by this act shall have been constructed, and the patents of the lands herein granted shall have been issued.

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted, That the grants aforesaid are made upon the condition that the said companies shall keep said railroad and telegraph in repair and use, and shall at all times transport the mails upon said railroad, and transmit dispatches by said telegraph line for the government of the United States, when required so to do by any department thereof, and that the government shall at all times have the preference in the use of said railroad and telegraph therefor at fair and reasonable rates of compensation, not to exceed the rates paid by private parties for the same kind of service. And said railroad shall be and remain a public highway for the use of the government of the United States, free of all toll or other charge upon the transportation of the property or troops of the United States; and the same shall be transported over said road at the cost, charge, and expense of the corporations or companies owning or operating the same, when so required by the government of the United States.
