Hometown Girls In Riding Classes

WTSU - Mrs. Lee Gable of Lazbuddie and Miss Jenny Milburn, of Muleshoe have discovered something many people don't know - that West Texas State University has one of the few advanced riding instruction programs in the United States.

The WT students are currently taking WT's Introduction to Jumping class, at the WTSU farm under the guidance of Marjul Wright, riding instructor.

"WT's horsemanship program brought me here," Mrs. Gable says. "I would like to introduce jumping to the younger set at home."

Mrs. Gable (Debbie), who has taught children how to ride western, likes English riding and jumping. Jenny is in the class more for entertainment. "I just enjoy horses," replies Miss Milburn. Introduction to Jumping students spend the first two weeks of class learning how to post and how to position their bodies for a jump. They then begin taking their horses over log jumps, and gradually work up to jumps of about three feet.

In addition to elementary and intermediate horsemanship classes, West Texas State offers beginning and advanced work in English riding and jumping, and special clinics on specific topics.

Bailey County Resident Receives Honors, Monday

Mrs. Lula Kistler of 252 Third Street in Muleshoe was honored with the recognition of being the oldest person still living here in Bailey County, during National Library Week, by Mrs. Anne Camp. She was born in Topeka, Kansas and grew up there on a farm. Mrs. Kistler's husband moved here in June of 1908, from Kansas. He bought 160 acres of farmland with in two and a half miles, from "Old Hurley."

Early in December of 1908, Kistler and his hired hand chartered a Zula railroad freight car on the Santa Fe Texas line. They loaded three mules, two horses, two cows, six yearlings, several hogs and pigs, six chickens, farm machinery, farm wagon, furniture and all such items needed on a farm.

Kistler got settled in and after building their new home, in January of 1909, Mrs. Kistler and their three children came on a train, and joined her husband in their new found home.

Bailey County was not yet organized, but attached to Castro County, for judicial purposes. Dimmitt was the county seat, so people went 45 miles to pay taxes. In 1915, the Kistlers bought their first car, an Overland, for $750 cash.

The mail for the settlers was sent to Bovina and from there, to Old Hurley. The first mail carrier, Josh Blocher, a farmer carried the mail once a week for one year. He drove a one-horse open sulky, light two-wheeled cart with one seat.

The second year, the mail was delivered by Bert Hubler, twice a week.

Mrs. Brunk, the third mail carrier, a farmer's wife, drove a one-seated buggy, until the mail was sent to Muleshoe, after the railroad came through.

Police Report

The police document showed arrests for four DWI, one hit and run by DWI, one drunk no drivers license and for aliens picked up.

Fry and Cox reported vandalism to a combine cab window shot out over the weekend, of March 29.

Tony Valdez reported March 31, stolen a pocket type radio. April 1, Charles Watline of 111 Quincy Avenue reported stolen a black lawnmower, film. It had been missing for about three weeks. The brand was a Trustworthy Model 50211 20" 3 HP.

Lewis Sanders reported a breakin on April 1, taken was a white gold ring with seven small diamonds and two brown Samsonite suitcases and $50 cash. A 68 Ford car was stolen and a IBM 731 from Ted Harrison. Linda Sinnacher, of 911 E. Fir

The farm crops those years were mostly maize, higheria, sudan and kaffir. They were sold to ranchers. Cotton and wheat came later with the advent of irrigation. In the winter, they killed a beef, hanging the choice parts covered on the windmill. Their fuel consisted of coal, which they hauled from Bovina and "prairie fuel", or chips, which were picked up around the ranchers windmills. In the summer the neighbors would go "plumming", hunting wild sandhill plums, on the ranches, often staying overnight. These plums were used to make jelly and cobbler.

The Kistlers had a large brass kettle in the back yard, they used for heating water for laundry, scalding hogs and making soap; in later years it was used for making apple butter, when the apple trees were bearing.

In 1908, Bailey County was made into one large school district centered around "Old Hurley" and the first school in Bailey was opened in September 1908, at "Old Hurley" with 25 pupils and 16 year old Miss Leota Bearden, later marrying Harry Wilterding.

The Muleshoe residents rushed to the polls, Saturday, April 3, to elect new Muleshoe School Board Trustees and City Councilmen. Running in the city race for Mayor, Kenneth R. Henry defeated his opponent, Homer Millsap, 382 to 148. Write ins for Mayor was J.K. Adams, 20 votes; Clarence Christian, four votes; Doyce Turner, one vote; Ken Box, one vote; and Harvey Bass, one vote.

There were 564 total votes cast in this election. In the School Board election, held in the high school cafeteria, two men won places on the board. They were Don Harmon, with 481 votes and H.D. Hunter, Jr., with 476 votes.

Others receiving votes for the school board election were W. Jim Young with 351 votes and Charles G. Lewis with 295 votes. Twenty-one votes were received by other write-ins, who received from one to three votes each.

Muleshoe Set Annual Tournament

The Muleshoe 13 Annual Volleyball Tournament will be held April 19-24, sponsored by the Muleshoe Jaycees.

First, second, third and consolation team trophies; first place individual trophies and second, third and consolation individual ribbons are to be given as awards.

Games will be played in the high school gym. Entry fee is $8.00 payable to Muleshoe Jaycees and must be paid before game time. The deadline for accepting entries will be the 14 of April.

Those entering are Frances Ketchisid, of Plainview; Sharon Rector, of Friona; Marlin Mills, of Muleshoe; Renee and Rickey Barrett, of Muleshoe.

There was a total of 762 votes that were cast at the polls; and 72 votes cast in Absentee voting, made the total 834 votes. The total votes cast in both elections was 1398.

Botkin Wins Tournament

The Anthony Invitational was the first golf tournament victory in the southwest for Rick Botkin, formerly of Muleshoe. His short game turned sweet just in time.

Botkin, being a resident of El Paso for just under a year, raced past Sammy Lujan with back-to-back birdies.

The defending champion, Lujan, was one-up with five holes to go yesterday. He found himself behind the trees after his tee shot on 14. Trying to weave the ball in the woods, he was unsuccessful as it bounded to the 18th fairway.

The match was tied. Botkin was just short of the par-five hole in two and chipped to within seven feet. He made the putt for a birdie while Lujan double bogged.

"The short game usually isn't one of my strongest points," he said. "But all week I was able to get up and down from any-

Agricultural Production Exceed In '75'

LUBBOCK -- Texas Agricultural Extension Service specialists estimate that income from 1975 agricultural production in the 19-county South Plains area exceeded $900 million.

"The total impact on the economy in this area alone because of the 'multiplier effect' will be around $3 billion," said Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel of College Station.

Pfannstiel, who is associate director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service was keynote speaker for the annual meeting of the South Plains Development Program in Lubbock Tuesday afternoon (March 30).

Based on 1974 output, Pfannstiel said the 19 SPD counties produced almost one-half of the Texas cotton crop, one-fourth of the sorghum, more than one-half of the state's total corn production and one-third of the state's feed lot capacity.

The area also had about 15 percent of the state's pork production, one-third of the soybean crop, 15 percent of the Texas wheat production and one-fifth of the state's vegetable production.

Referring to Governor Dolph Briscoe's "On Our Way to Number 1" agricultural goal for Texas, said Pfannstiel, the state currently is in third place in terms of agricultural income behind California and Iowa. But the growth rate in agricultural income in Texas, he said, has been more rapid in recent years than in these other states.

If the trend that was established from 1969 to 1973 can be maintained through 1980, Pfannstiel added, Texas agricultural income would reach $9.1 billion with a multiplier effect of about $30 billion as agricultural dollars move through the economy. If the other states grow at the rates at which they had been increasing during the same period, Texas would then rate number one.

Pfannstiel stressed the importance of net income, saying that there must be a high gross income because of rapid increasing costs of production items over which farmers and ranchers have very little control.

He said area income growth programs such as SPD have had a very definite influence on increasing the agricultural income of their area.

Noting that one of the biggest concerns of agriculturists today is energy, Pfannstiel said that the Extension Service is stepping up educational efforts to help deal with energy problems.

Dr. William J. Vasline, economist in marketing and food distribution for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at College Station, told the gathering of about 250 agriculture leaders that although food prices have increased by nearly 40 percent in the last three years, food costs are expected to rise only about six percent in 1976 which is about the average price increase during the 1960's.

He said consumer buying habits may change in the near future due to the impact of the energy situation on food, industry and consumers. Retailers will have to adjust their labor scheduling and merchandising programs as well as a number of other transportation and labor costs.

Vasline said that the limit of food price increases depends on income growth.

Marvin O. Sartin, area Extension Service farm management economist of Lubbock, described steps which should be taken toward achieving irrigation efficiency. He said not only should producers work toward fuel efficiency of the pumping plants but that they should also strive for improvements in water distribution.

Sartin suggested smoothing out and packing the lister furrows for faster and more even water distribution, avoiding sprinkler irrigations during high windy conditions, irrigating only to the point of soil saturation at the proper time and avoiding excessive run-off.

An energy panel of four utility company representatives discussed implications of future energy supplies for agriculture. Panel members were Bill Helton of Southwestern Public Service Company, Amarillo; Alton Higginbotham, Lighthouse Electric Cooperative, Floydada; Harry Walden of Pioneer Natural Gas Company, Amarillo; and Charles Wyatt, Exxon Oil Company, Dallas.

Helton told the group that if historic trends of energy consumption continue, Southwestern Public Service will be able to adequately handle the area's electricity requirements over a long-term period. But if a sudden major shift of irrigation units to electricity should occur, demand for electricity could exceed their generating capacity.

Helton said that if the 34,000 irrigation wells presently served by Pioneer Natural Gas Company had to immediately convert to electricity, it would take the equivalent of eight new coal power plants to handle the increase.

Pioneer Natural Gas Company Vice-President Harry Walden referred to development in the Eastern Texas Panhandle of one of the most significant new supplies of gas within the continental United States.

"With a substantial capital outlay," he said, "the company expanded and enlarged its capacity to transport this gas to its main transmission system and now can bring up to 200 million cubic feet per day -- or more than one-third of its total gas -- from this area."

"We are currently able to convince attractive industrial and agri-business prospects that the energy availability in West Texas will compare favorably with any area of the nation," Walden said.

"Current prices have resulted in active exploration in our supply area although there has been less activity at the south end of our system.

This slow down, he said, is generally attributed to national legislation either passed or pending.

"The drilling activity at the north end of the system and the successful identification of new gas supplies is pleasing," he said.

C.E. Wyatt of Dallas, distributor relations coordinator with Exxon Oil Company, said that the so-called omnibus energy bill recently signed into law extends oil price controls for another 40 months and lowers the "composite" price.

This roll-back will tend to increase demand and at the same time reduce incentives for development of new domestic supplies. The result will be an even greater dependence on foreign oil imports.

While saying that he could not speculate on future prices for petroleum products, he said that "when you are dependent on outside sources for 40 percent or more of your energy supplies, those outside sources are in a position to call the shots on prices."

Congress can legislate lower domestic oil prices -- regardless of the detrimental effects on the nation's efforts toward self-sufficiency -- but they cannot control the prices charged by foreign suppliers, Wyatt said.

"And if those prices continue to rise," he added, "the cost of products made from their oil will also rise."

Wyatt pointed to the rapid growth of nuclear energy, which by 1990 should be supplying 16 percent of total demand compared to only about 2 percent in 1975. Nuclear energy could be supplying about half of U.S. electricity demand by 1990 compared to 8 percent in 1975, he said.

Hydro power, geothermal and other forms of energy are each significant for special applications, he said, but have only limited potential because of the scarcity of site limitations and, in the case of geothermal, technological problems. Coal will show strong growth, he said. Gas production peaked in 1972 and has been declining ever since. Wyatt said he does not expect that domestic output will ever exceed 1972 levels.

As for oil, North America will supply much less of the world oil supplies in the near future and more oil will be needed from the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

Opec's supplies will grow to about 61 percent of all oil needed by 1990, or about 45 to 50 million barrels per day.

Alton Higginbotham of Lighthouse Electric Cooperative in Floydada, said that the 16 electrical co-ops served by Southwestern Public Service and other wholesale suppliers expect to meet energy needs of area producers if historic trends continue.

He urged farmers to plan with electrical co-ops in meeting their energy needs to avoid sudden shifts in energy requirements.

Why is Asgrow RX 100 a proven profit-maker?

Because it gives super yields at high populations in areas outside the Corn Belt.

RX 100 has certainly performed exceptionally for farmers in the Southern Corn Belt, the Eastern U.S. and the High Plains of Texas and Kansas. The medium height RX 100 plants, with their almost totally upright leaves, respond well to above-average populations. Of course, favorable growing conditions and modern management practices help some farmers exceed 200 bushels. RX 100 also performs well under less than ideal conditions.

- Sturdy stalks and strong shanks support well-filled, fast-drying ears.
- Excellent standability insures easy picking or combining . . . even into late season.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Texas will be a battleground of presidential candidates this month.

Ninety-eight Democratic delegates and 96 Republican delegates will be selected in the May 1 presidential preference primary—among the top half dozen from any state.

Democrats will pick another 32 delegates and their 70 alternates in the June 19 state convention. Republicans will name only four delegates at their June convention.

Republican Ronald Reagan, in addition to his Texas campaign swing this week, plans additional visits April 13-14 and April 29-30.

President Ford reportedly will spend this weekend in Texas and return April 28-29.

Democrat front-runner Jimmy Carter will be in the state April 20 and probably again just before the May 1 primary. His son, Chip, tried the Texas water last weekend.

U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, seeking favorite son Democratic designation as well as re-election, is spending nearly fulltime on the campaign trail this month.

George Wallace's supporters say he will show up soon after this week's Wisconsin primary.

Democrat Fred Harris is expected April 27-30 and perhaps for a warmup visit earlier.

Session Pushed

Legislators continued to shower Gov. Dolph Briscoe with proposals for a special legislative session to curb skyrocketing utility bills.

They ranged from tax relief schemes to special low-low rates for small homeowners. Briscoe apparently encouraged the special session speculation, but made no firm promises.

Comptroller Bob Bullock warned that fiddling with the utility tax structure would save the consumer no more than "chicken feed" on electric and gas bills. Bullock suggested legislators concentrate on turning around the rate structure which now provides lowest rates to largest users and highest rates to homeowners.

Law Protested

Food and beverage "chains" are concerned about Alcoholic Beverage Commission plans to enforce strictly a law requiring liquor license holders to be three-year residents of Texas—or corporations to be majority-owned by Texans.

ABC Commissioner Luke Robinson has backing of the commission in enforcing the law, which may stop sales of beer, wine and whiskey in many national supermarket, hotel and restaurant chain outlets.

The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed two Dallas murder convictions and a conviction for fraudulent misrepresentation in selling securities.

—Refused to enter money damages to a Fort Worth family of a woman who died on an operating table in a hospital.

—Awarded damages to a Corpus Christi woman injured in falling over an empty Woolco Department Store merchandise platform.

Botkin's opponent, Lujan, two-putted while he sank a birdie putt to go one-up.

They both even played the next two holes.

Three times, Lujan gambled on the final hole and failed to produce the shot needed to win the game.

"I knew, he (Lujan) would be tough," Botkin noted, "but he plays a lot better than he did today."

A two-day symposium on "Maintaining the Momentum of Agriculture in Century III" will feature national and state leaders who explore the future of Texas agriculture, April 6-7.

Special Centennial awards for distinguished service to Texas agriculture will be presented to several key individuals during a luncheon on April 6, Pope added.

Among symposium discussions will be weather and food, the chemical revolution in U.S. agriculture, the young farmer, food and policy makers, energy, transportation and labor.

Concluding the symposium will be a panel discussion on "Texas Agriculture -- Can We Climb to Number One?" Dr. H.O. Kunkel, A&M dean of agriculture and acting director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will be moderator.

Economist Named For Panhandle

COLLEGE STATION -- Educational programs in farm and ranch management in the Panhandle will receive new leadership with the appointment of Dr. Ramon W. Sammons as area economist in management for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Sammons will be headquartered at the Extension District 1 office in Amarillo. He fills the job vacated by William R. Masch who resigned several months earlier.

"The effective management of farm and ranch resources is vital for any type of agricultural enterprise," said Dr. H.O. Kunkel, dean of agriculture at Texas A&M University and acting director of the Extension Service, in announcing the appointment. "Sammons will give leadership to planning and conducting educational programs dealing with the management of available resources and will be working closely with county Extension agents and county program building committees in this endeavor."

"Sammons will also play a key role in the continued implementation of the Panhandle Economic Program (PEP) designed to increase income from agriculture and related industries," added Kunkel.

A native of Windham, Mont., Sammons served as an economist for the Montana Extension Service for three years and was program leader in farm management for the Arizona Extension Service for another three years. He was also president of Management Computer Network which he helped organize and was a consultant with the Food and Machinery Corporation (FMC) of San Jose, Calif., serving in Iran for two years on a special project. For the past year he has been self-employed as a counselor on estate and retirement planning.

Sammons was graduated from Hobson, Mont. High School and has a bachelor's degree from the Multnomah School of the Bible in Portland, Ore. His M.S. and Ph.D. degrees are from Montana State University.

Sammons served with the U.S. Navy "Sea-Bees" for four years.

He and his wife, Phyllis, have two sons, Steven and Stacy.

Tetanus--Easy To Get; Easy To Prevent

With the return of outdoor activities the hazard of minor accidents, cuts and scratches increased. Most often these aren't serious but minor mishaps can be avenues for tetanus (lockjaw) infection if they are not treated properly.

Tetanus-producing spores can lie dormant in the soil almost anywhere. These spores can enter the body through the tiniest wound -- a pin scratch, a bee sting or a small cut.

Tetanus spores may remain in the body for long periods without producing the disease. Or, they may produce poison effects in five to fourteen days, even though the wound has healed.

First signs of tetanus are irritability and restlessness. Muscles rapidly become rigid, eventually causing a clenched-jaw leer that gives tetanus its popular name -- lockjaw.

When symptoms appear, the outlook is grim, even with the best treatment. To help avoid the deadly consequences, be sure to clean all wounds thoroughly. Free-bleeding, surface scratches have less chance of producing tetanus than puncture wounds since tetanus grows best when little air can get to the spores. However, the best protection is to be immunized with tetanus toxoid. With immunization, the body manufactures antibodies that will fight tetanus. A booster is needed every 10 years.

State Chicken Contest Scheduled for May 15

AUSTIN--Five Texas women will compete in the Texas Chicken Cooking Contest cook-off May 15 at Nacogdoches for a chance at the National Chicken Cooking Contest in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania and $20,000 in prize money. Texas finalists will receive an all-expense paid trip to Nacogdoches. Judges will pick a winner who will go to the national contest in Philadelphia July 14.

The state contest is being sponsored by the Texas Broiler Council with the cooperation of the Texas Department of Agriculture and the Nacogdoches Chamber of Commerce.

The National Broiler Council and the makers of a flavor enhancer and corn oil are sponsoring the national cook-off.

To enter the state contest, persons must submit one or more recipes to the National Chicken Cooking Contest, 614 Madison Building, 1155 15th St. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20005. Contest officials will choose the top five recipes from each state and the District of Columbia.

Entry deadline is April 1. Contest rules state that the predominant ingredient of each recipe must be a broiler-fryer chicken. Each recipe must contain at least 1 teaspoon of flavor enhancer and 1/2 cup corn oil. If cooked chicken is an ingredient, instructions for cooking it must be included. Name, address, birth date and telephone number must be written on the front page of each recipe. Contestants must be at least 18 years old and residents of the United States.

Recipes will be judged on the basis of five equal points: recipe simple enough to appeal to most people; different enough to be interesting; familiar and nationally available ingredients; appearance; and flavor.

The Kitchen Almanac

Staggering Statistics Do Americans really love hot dogs? So much so that about 14 billion are eaten every year that's an average of nearly 80 per person. At this rate, 500 hot dogs are being consumed every second of every day. The hot dog and its history is certainly an important part of our American folklore!

Just in case you've ever wondered... muffins as well as fruit and nut breads can be frozen. Cool, wrap and freeze for 2-3 months. When ready to use, thaw loaves, wrapped at room temperature, or heat foil wrapped muffins at 350 degrees for 10-15 minutes until piping hot.

Energy-saving info: Perhaps you've never thought of it this way, but every time you save energy, you also save money! For example, when cooking, use flat bottom pans that cover the burner heating element. More heat enters the pot and less is lost to the surrounding air. Also, clean the heat reflectors below the stove heating elements. Doing so will reflect the heat more efficiently.

Consider purchasing an "energy saver" automatic dishwasher. According to research, KitchenAid energy saver units can conserve as much as 50% of the electricity normally used in a wash/dry cycle. In addition, you'll be taking a giant step toward liberty and away from "dishpan hands".

If you already have a conventional dishwasher, one lacking the energy-saver features, let the dishes "air dry". After the final rinse, open the door.

Incidentally, be sure the dishwasher is full (but, not overloaded), before washing the dishes. That would possibly eliminate at least one use of the dishwasher each week. If every dishwasher user in the country could do that, enough oil could be saved to heat more than 100,000 homes in winter. And, your dishwasher could last longer.

Lastly, use proper defrosting methods for manual refrigerator/freezers. This will also save energy and cut operating costs.

Looks can be deceiving. Before it's cooked, a pound of good old-fashioned spinach looks as if it may be enough to feed a crowd. Don't let it fool you—it isn't! When cooked it will yield approximately enough for four.

Send your kitchen hints to: Harry G. Clark, (512), 173 W. Madison St., Chicago, IL 60602.

The Pastor Speaks

By Rev. Everts

A VOICE IN THE NIGHT: 1 Samuel 3:7 "Now Samuel did not yet know the Lord, neither was the word of the Lord yet revealed unto him." If you are very well acquainted with the story of Samuel, you will note that it reads like a story book. It's charm and elegance is evidenced by the appeal it makes to children. But there are crowded into it some of the most fundamental facts of life as we know it. In the day in which Samuel lived, religion was about to die, or at least it was not at its full strength.

WHY WAS THIS SITUATION REAL? - In the day of Samuel the Word of God was some what a scarce item. Worship had become very unpopular and not many people were brave enough to stand up and fight for what they knew to be right. The Temple was not used by the people like it was in better days. The Bible or 'The Word' or 'Schroll' was no longer read by the people. The Priests had been put to death, many of them, and the Prophets had been run out of the country. There was a time however, when the Word of God was popular - there was religious freedom and worshippers were not persecuted. But as in Samuel's Day - experience has taught us that popularity, comfort, ease and freeness of Christianity have been the very reasons for its destruction. I heard a story one day that around 1900 a group of young house-wives almost beat the town drunk to death because of their deep conviction concerning his example before their children. But is very unpopular now to stand up and speak out on any subject that might be upsetting or disturbing the normal way of life in the community. The Book of Revelation tells the story of Seven Churches. And it is interesting to note that Ephesus was confronted with the Nicolaitanes - Smyrna had great tribulations - Pergamum was at Satan's Capitol - Thyatira was under the influence of Jezebel and Philadelphia had a bunch of lying members to torment it. But Sardis had no troubles and it died of ease and comfort. Just as Joseph and Nicodemus helped to nail Jesus to the cross by their silence - and God's work was killed in the days of Eli by his wicked sons and not by his foes - Just so is the cause of righteousness suffering today - not from without - but from within.

HOW CAN RELIGION SURVIVE IN OUR DAY? - First of all God must become a personal God. He must be more than in name only - and much more than just a National Symbol. God must be to us what He was to Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and also to Samuel. Secondly, Christianity must be a personal experience. Verse 7 says that Samuel did not yet know the Lord. He had noble parents - he had been dedicated to the Lord - he had grown up in the Temple - and had never known anything but the best environment - Yet we are told that he did not yet know the Lord. The message of Christianity is a personal message. And we are his personal witnesses. And a witness can tell only what he knows for himself - not what someone else has told him - not something he got out of a book - not just a plan or a program - but from his own experiences from the Lord. Our religion can not live on reported actions - religion lives on a living testimony.

Soil Fertility Increases

LUBBOCK -- Producers who use greenbug resistant sorghum hybrids this crop season can fully expect "good to excellent" yields even in the presence of greenbug infestations, provided production circumstances are normal.

This conclusion comes from evaluations last season of greenbug resistant sorghums tested on Deaf Smith and Hale County farms, and from four years of observations throughout the Great Plains from Texas to Nebraska.

Dr. Jerry W. Johnson, sorghum breeder for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, released the results this week, citing Texas High Plains sorghum producers for their contributions to research which led to the rapid development of the greenbug resistant hybrids.

With these hybrids on the market for the first time this year, he added, producers who use them can expect lower greenbug populations, sustained yields even with greenbug infestation, and agronomic characteristics at least equal to susceptible hybrids.

"Greenbug resistant hybrids will save Texas sorghum producers millions of dollars in insecticide costs and lower yields caused by the greenbug," Johnson said.

"Greenbug resistance has now been incorporated into hybrids that are indistinguishable from susceptible hybrids in the absence of greenbugs," Johnson said, "but which can produce a 600 percent increase in grain yield when the greenbug population is large."

Johnson said breeding efforts to incorporate greenbug resistance into sorghum hybrids acceptable to producers was begun in 1969 by Experiment Station personnel and other public and private researchers. Since then, Experiment Station scientists have reared millions of greenbugs in the greenhouse and thousands of breeding lines have been evaluated for resistance in the greenhouse and in the field.

In the past four years, he added, greenbug resistant hybrids have been tested throughout the Great Plains from Texas to Nebraska. Observations during this time have caused cautious optimism among sorghum breeders about "hybrids that contain greenbug resistance derived from the three lines -- Tunis Grass (PI 38108), IS809 and PI 264453."

Among these observations were the following:

--Greenbugs are present on greenbug resistant hybrids but at one-third to one-half the numbers found on susceptible hybrids.

--Beneficial insects remove the greenbugs from resistant hybrids earlier in the season than from susceptible hybrids.

--Greenbug resistant sorghums can be damaged by greenbugs but it takes a large number of greenbugs feeding for a longer period of time on resistant sorghums to cause the same yield loss on susceptible sorghum hybrids.

--Greenbug resistance in sorghum has no adverse effects on grain yield, quality or other important agronomic characteristics of the hybrid.

In 1975 yield trials where greenbugs were controlled, resistant hybrids produced grain yield equal to standard commercial hybrids (over 7500 pounds per acre), Johnson reported. However, in Deaf Smith and Hale County tests where greenbugs were not controllable with insecticides, resistant hybrids produced seven times as much grain as susceptible hybrids (600 pounds per acre for non-resistant hybrids compared to 4500 pounds per acre for resistant hybrids) in Deaf Smith County, and over two times as much grain in Hale County (3700 pounds for the susceptible compared to 6100 pounds for the resistant hybrids).

Breeding and evaluation studies conducted by Experiment Station personnel in greenbug resistance have been aided by a research grant from the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board.

"Most sorghum producers on the Texas High Plains can take pride in the fact that they have had a direct input into the availability of greenbug resistant hybrids when they participated in the check-off program," Johnson said. "These producers will receive a return on their investment many-fold."

Lockett BXL has excellent resistance to nematodes and fusarium wilt. It has high yield potential of quality fiber on all types of soils either dry or irrigated. It has staple length in the 1" and longer range with storm-proof type bolls. It is an excellent stripper variety well adapted to this area and is especially recommended for the light soils where fusarium wilt-nematodes complex causes heavy losses.

RX LINE®
White Corn
Hybrids—first choice of farmers

RX 125 W

RX 125W provides top yields of medium-size, white dent kernels that are excellent for processing. It's well adapted throughout the Southwest, the Southern Corn Belt, the San Joaquin Valley of California, the white corn areas of Kansas, Missouri and the High Plains of Texas, and it can be used in the Southeast United States. It has good resistance to MDM, Northern leaf blight, Race "T" Southern corn leaf blight and stalk and ear rot. Extremely uniform RX 125W plants have sturdy stalks and broad, dark green leaves. The long ears are placed mid-high on sturdy stalks and have quick drying characteristics. Relatively hard, white dent, medium-size kernels are excellent for food processing. It stands well and picks cleanly for ear harvest—shells easily for combining. A real plus for this hybrid is its ability to produce good yields—even under marginal conditions. A tempting offer on a gas grill.

SAVE $30

Right now, we're making you a tempting offer on gas grills with twin burners! Independently controlled twin burners never use more gas than you need. For big meals, use both burners. For smaller meals, save gas and money by using one burner and half the grill. A gas grill adds a new dimension to family meals and entertaining. It eliminates the fuss and bother of cooking outside while it keeps the flavor and the fun. And, because you take cooking heat out of the house and the burden off your air conditioning, you save energy, too.

Buy one of these grills before August 1, 1976, and save.

Straight Facts About Arthritis

Editor's Note: Despite the fact that 17,000,000 Americans have arthritis, the truth about it is still shrouded in misinformation, misleading advertising and old wives' tales. For example: Nothing can be done about arthritis. Only old people get arthritis. The minor aches and stiffness of arthritis . . . The author is a well-known medical writer, former science editor of the Detroit Times, whose articles have also appeared in national magazines. He is a regular contributor to the Detroit News Magazine and is a collaborator with Dr. G.C. Thosteson on the syndicated column "To Your Good Health." This is the first of a three-part series. Of all common disease, arthritis is most misunderstood. It is repeatedly dismissed as "just rheumatism," yet it can rob victims of the ability to earn a living, condemn them to life in a wheelchair or in bed, make their days a nights a constant misery.

An enormous folklore has grown up around arthritis, full of false notions about what causes it and what will cure it - beliefs that it can be "cured" by diet, pills, climate, charms such as metal bracelets, or sitting in abandoned mine shafts.

Defensive Driving Week

AUSTIN -- Governor Dolph Briscoe has proclaimed April 4-10, 1976 Defensive Driving Week in Texas and called for personal participation by Texas drivers to help reduce traffic crashes in the State.

He called the loss of more than 3400 Texans in traffic deaths last year, and more than 138,000 personal injuries "an unconscionable burden of suffering and economic loss to the people of Texas."

Governor Briscoe's proclamation called attention to the Defensive Driving Course now available throughout Texas as a Driving Course (DDC).

Calling on Texas drivers to drive defensively, Governor Briscoe said that the number of motor vehicles, drivers and miles traveled continue to increase and that the job of reducing traffic crashes "requires more personal responsibility, individual commitment and consistent practice of defensive driving techniques than ever before."

Hugh Scott, Houston, TSA President, cited the fact that Texans who complete the DDC training qualify for a 10 percent reduction in automobile insurance as a direct personal benefit in the course. The popular training course also is available in a Spanish-language version, and also includes supplemental training in safe motorcycle riding.

In 1975, more than 100,000 Texans completed the Defensive means of fostering positive driving attitudes to cut traffic crashes. The eight-hour National Safety Council training course is conducted by 600 training agencies in Texas coordinated by the Texas Safety Association.

Visiting in the Jack Lane home over the weekend, were Danette Lane and Sharyl Tyson. Both are student nurses at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. Mrs. Ross Bennett and daughters, Cynthia and Mellisa from Lubbock were dinner guests with Mrs. Lane's mother, Mrs. Nettie Quesenberry.

Nursing Classes Held In Dimmitt

Classes for Vocational Nursing will be held in August at the Plains Memorial Hospital in Dimmitt. The Dimmitt School of Vocational Nursing is a one year school. A high school diploma or the equivalence thereof will be needed for enrollment.

For further information contact Mrs. Barbara Keel, Director of the school, at 647-2193, ext. 33 of Sid Bullock, of Lazbuddie, at 965-2236.

There is the opposite misconception that "nothing can be done for it; you just have to live with it." This is also false and dangerous. There is a somewhat similar belief, which oversimplifies the problem, and is often heard expressed in the words, "Why go to the doctor? It's arthritis and all he'll do is tell you to take aspirin." There is a grain of truth in some of these remarks and none at all in others. The facts are these: --Dismissing it as "just rheumatism" can be disastrous. "Arthritis" isn't just one disease. It is a group of many. The most common arthritic diseases are rheumatoid arthritis, osteoarthritis, rheumatic fever and gout. Bursitis is also a form of arthritis. Some arthritic diseases and conditions are relatively innocuous. Others progress rapidly and explosively. When unchecked, these account for most of the crippling of patients. Still other types now can be so effectively treated, once correctly diagnosed, that treatment can usually put a permanent end to the trouble. So find out what kind of arthritis, and protect yourself. It can keep people out of wheelchairs. No Miracle Cure --Patent medicines, "secret remedies", jewelry charms, diet, eating certain things or not eating certain things, none of these will cure arthritis. Some of the old "home remedies" are harmless - except that they delay patients in getting really useful help. Unfortunately, a vast business has grown up of preying on the hopes of arthritis sufferers, abetted by theories, unscientific

QUICK QUIZ ANSWER
TRUE. Meetings of the TWQB are open meetings, as required by state law.

"science", and come-ons in print. The "take" from such quackery now is approximating $1,000,000 a day in the United States. None of it reduces the amount of arthritis. --It is just as misleading to believe that "nothing can be done for arthritis". Something can be done for every arthritis patient. Cases that used to progress inexorably to crippling now can be halted. A growing number of disabled patients now are being restored so effectively that they go back to work. Pain can be eliminated in many instances; sometimes all symptoms can be suppressed. But everyone can be helped to some degree. William E. Reynolds, M.C., medical director of the Arthritis Foundation, asserts without qualification: "No case is hopeless. Something can be done for arthritis now." --Refusing to go to the doctor "because all he'll do is tell you to take aspirin" is a defeatist attitude.

White Corn Hybrids—
first choice of farmers

RX 153 W

A good yield potential is one of the top characteristics of this early white hybrid. Widely adapted to the central Corn Belt and the Texas High Plains, RX 153W is resistant to both Yellow and Race "T" Southern corn leaf blights, it has good ear rot resistance and moderate stalk rot resistance. The medium-tall RX 153W plants have sturdy stalks and good standability. The ears have medium-width, pearly white kernels with a deep dent, soft cap, and hard starch, making it an ideal hybrid for processing. And it is a good corn for picking or combining.
