THE STORM WEDNESDAY AT SIGHT AND THURSDAY AT GALVESTON.

We take the following account from Flake's Builletin:

Wednesday night a storm set in from the east, increasing in violence Thursday morning. The waters of the bay rose and overflowed the lower part of the city as high up as Church street, and in the Third Ward the waters of the bay and of Ufford's Bayou united, making a continuous stream of water from gulf to bay serves the Island, Strand and Mechanic we notice the schooners Sam Williams, of Ufford's Bayou united, making a con-tinuous stream of water from gulf to bay across the Island. Strand and Mechanistreets were from two to four feet under water. That part of the Island east of the hospital was one sheet of water from gulf to bay.

At ball past six o'clock the third a fourth stories of the new brick hotel in course of construction on Mochanic street near Flake's Rulletin office, was blown down, crushing the new Odd Fellows' Hall and seriously injuring one of the barkeepers of Mr. Stauffacher. Mr. Stauffacher, who had just opened a new and elegant saloon on the ground floo of Odd Fellows Hall, suffers severely; h

The Freedmen's Hall, or as it is called, Mechanic's Hotel, fell down at about 11 o'clock Thursday morning, burying in its ruins an elderly negro woman, the wife of a freedman named John Crosier Two cottage houses in the same block the College were blown down.

Some small buildings east of Kuhn's wharf were blown down. A new two story wood building of Mr. Balliman, near Labadie's wharf, was

The amount of their losses we omit, because amount of their losses we omit, because the estimates vary so much that no correct statement can be furnished.

The damage in the city is variously estimated at from one-half to one million dollars. After 12 M., the wind moved round to the north, at first increasing the hight of water in the city, but towards night the storm subsided, and at 12 midnight, the water had fallen to the usual level.

The storm was the most violent that has been experienced here since 1842. It is most singular that the storm was not much felt at Indianola, while the steamer Era No. 3, which left Houston at 4 P. M. resterday, reports knowing nothing of the gale until after her arri

THE SHIPPING AND WHARVES. The brig Ocean Wave dragged her anchors and brought up on the beach near the Prince Albert House, two miles west of the city, and must now be high and dry. She was now from New York, and had on board a general cargo of merchandise, which will be saved, though the vessel will no doubt prove a total loss. The three-masted schooner Mary

The three-masted schooner Mary McKee, from Philadelphia, was also anchored outside and was drives out about seven miles south-west of the bar, where she was spoken by the steamship Harlan, and is reported having alost all her masta, though otherwise uninjured. The British bark Palace is also ashere near the same place—is up on her keel, but lost fore-mast and bowsprit. In her company is the brig Isola, ashore, but masts and rigging evidently all right. The schooner Annie E. Glover, with a cargo of merchandise from New York—none unloaded—as well as the steam tug Elzsbeth Read, are ashore near by. These yessels can all be gotten off, though of course considerable expense will be industred. We found the schooner Vau Dyke high and dry, about a mile west of the railroad depot. The steamer Alice M is a total less.
She was partially leaded with cargo for Liberty.

The warves suffered terribly, all being more or less injured. LOSS OF THE RAILWAY BRIDGE.

Mr. G. proceeded to the bridge with a flat-boat loaded with cedar logs for the bridge, on Monday last, and had to rebridge, on Monday last, and had to remain until the storm did no damage, but on Thursday at daybreak, the barge tore

Mr. Guttridge and 8 men, were on the Point. At 9 a. M., the keeper's house on the draw was blown in the bay, and the only inmate, Captain Brown, the keeper, drowned. The water rising rapidly, the seven men on the draw-bridge secured themselves to the top of the bridge by ropes. At 10 a. M., the breakers went clear over the top tressle of the bridge, and at the same time the bridge commenced to break up at both the commenced to break up at both the Galveston and Virginia Point terminus. At 4 r. m., the bridge was entirely swept away; only the draw and the piles were left. At 10 last night the water had receded sufficiently to permit those parsons who had secured themselves to the draw, by means of ropes, to obtain a footing on the floor of the draw. At 7 o'clock this morning Mr. Nelson and a freedman arrived in a row-bost from Virginia Point and rescued Mr. G. and Virginia Point and rescued Mr. G. and his aix companions from their perilous position on the draw, and landed them on Galveston island, Of the railroad bridge nothing is left but the piles and the draw; the latter broke in three places. Mr. Gutheridge, and all those on the bridge during the storm, lost all they possessed; one of them, a Mr. Dobson, lost $1,100 in money.

When A. J. Smith was ordered, in 1864, to take charge of the loose ends of Sherman's troops along the Mississippi, and go to Canby's aid, he telegraphed on reaching Cairo to General Hallock as "I am here in command of the 'wan-dering tribes of Israel,' without number and without name. My corps badge is a comet."

Halleck answered:

"Continue in yous exodus until you reach the land of Canby, where you will be given both a name and a number."

"Smith's Guerrillas" was the name, and the "Sixteenth Corps" was the number which they eventually get. FRIDAY, OCT. 11, ;1867.

GREETING FROM THE GREAT EDITORIAL EXCURSION.

We have received the following dispatch from Maj. Moore, dated Omah Oct. 9th.:

"The far West to the far South greeting: The undersigned has the hon or to represent the largest State in the Union in the great editorial excursion to the Rocky Mountains. God speed the completion of the Kensas and Texas Railroad that is to unite the two Unions." MOORE.

OUR ELECTION NEWS.

The despatches which we are com pelled to furnish our readers are mo unsatisfactory. The election news is all guess work and terribly mixed. The election in Pennsylvania is only for Supreme Judge and members of the Legislature and entirely unimportant. The election in Ohio has been hotly contested and if the Republican candidates have failed to carry the party we must look to some cause outside of A. Johnson's policy or any question effecting the position of the rebellious States. The defeat of the suffrage amendment was looked for. This is a question for the next Congress to decide, and if not by the next Congress it will be decided by Congress when the South is represented by men who have come from colored constituengies. If the Republican party has thrown saide this question of suffrage it must be defeated until this injustice is beaten out of it. To compell the Southera States to accept negro suffrage was just and right, and it is necessary that the same justice be done in every State in the Union. .

"THE HELP THE SOUTH NEEDS.

It has been some time since we have noticed that miserable excressence of treason; the San Antonio Herald, Thursday morning's issue comes to us with a leader in it with the above heading, being the first editorial which has appeared in that sheet for some time, the medical and legal supply having ceased from some reason unknown to us. We desire to call attention to only a couple of conclusions in this effusion. One is, that the "help the South needs" is the substitution of Mexican laborers for our present free colored population. Des-pairing of the coolie trade and still cling ing to the hope of introducing some kind of slavery, these traitors are looking to the impracticable notion of introducing Mexicans under the peon law. Further comment is unnecessary. The reference to the interference of the Loyal League and Freedman's Bureau is simply the natural language of a traitor, and a southern blackguard, or a northern flunky.

ously guilty. The stories circulated by the radical papers in the State with re-gard to the murder of Union men and the oppression of free negroes, are wholly false. These slanders are gotten up, as they themselves acknowledge privately, for political purposes," Much more of the same kind of reck less lying occurs on to the close of the article, showing the writer to be a confirmed traitor, one who practiced the favorite employment of a traitor, murder and theft, during the rebellion. The above is the manner in which is answered the fact that one thousand murders have been committed in Texas since Kirby Smith's surrender, and not one conviction had. As an answer to the assertion that "the stories circulated by the radical papers in the State with regard to the murder of Union men" being false we quote from the same paper during the rebellion. In speaking of Union men it said:

"Their numbers were small at first, and are becoming every day less. In the mountains near Fort Clark, and along the Rio Grande, their bones are bleaching in the suu, and in the countries of Wise and Denton, their bodies are suspended by scores from black jacks. They were warned in time to leave the country; and choosing to remain and rey for protection upon the enemy with

What Texts needs is a loyal government, and then murder will be checked, and emigration will venture to come to us.

OUR MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.

For many months our citizens have been the victims of a most outrageous failure on the part of our mail contractors from Houston to this city. It is a well-known fact that previous to the letting of the contracts our mails came to hand like clock-work, and even up to the letting of the last contract the mails came with some regularity; but now one mail a week is about the average, and sometimes that is a very small one. The mail matter must be left along the route. Our last dates from Galveston, which came on Wednesday the 9th instant, were dated the 5th, This failure to make schedule time has not happened once, but constantly; this failure to bring the mail matter has not occurred in rare instances, but is the continual custom.

There is no reason why the stage should not arrive regularly from Alleyton and bring full mails. If Peach Creek is too high to ford, a small boat would take over the mails and the company could have a stage to take it on. mails have frequently come to hand perfect mass of wet paper, for which there is no excuse and for which the stage company should be heavily fined. and then they would make some provision to protect the mail from the weather. What is the reason that this outrage is permitted. The special mail agent must either be in the pay of the company or be unfit for his place. It has been said that the Government does not pay enough for the service; whose fault is this? The Government took these contractors at their own bid and they should be made to perform the service properly or it should be taken from them and these parties never allowed to bid again for a mail contract.

A line of ox-teams would do the ser vice more promptly, more certainly and with more satisfaction than the present concern. Our citizens should join in a petition to the Postoffice Department for a remedy for the present outrageous conduct of our eastern mail matter from the

THE GALLOWS.

If society is ever to be improved by the hanging of such of its members as are fit neither to live nor die, they must be dismissed from the world in a manner different from that which is at pres ent in voyane. Executions, as at present managed and reported, covey no moral lesson. They are sensational ent managed and reported, convey no moral lesson. They are sensational melodramse, and are so regarded by the public. From the "beginning of the end" in the condemned cell, to the drop scene on the gallows, the whole affair is theatrical. The tragedy opens with co-casional glimpses of the prisoner in durance. The newspapers favor us with ance. The newspapers favor us with In speaking of the people of Texas, meaning the rebels, the writer says: a to the probable light in which he or "They are a kind, hospitable, law-abid ling people, animated by a quick sense of right and wrong, they are a little prone to take the law in their own hands, rather than to trust to the delays and uncertainties of laws and lawyers. Even these cases are rare and the criminal notoriously guilty. The stories circulated by the radical papers in the State with recondition of the miserable wretch, which are to the murilor of Union men and in most cases is represented to be that of condition of the miserable wretch, which in most cases is represented to be that of a saint trumphant. Upon the grand finale the "word-planters" of the press especially lay themselves out. The multitude cannot assist at the grand catastrophe; but next to the pleasure of seeing the cap drawn over the face of law's victim, hearing the thud of the axe that cuts him or her off from smong the living, and watching the last contortions. living, and watching the last contortions is the pleasure of reading the post-mortem dramatic sketches, in which these points of interest are brought out in strong relief. Happing as at pres-ent managed is a stage-play on the ent managed is a stage-play on the scaffold; sud the newspaper descriptions of the spectacle excite the multitude al-most as much as the details of a prizefight, and in the same way.
