ONE STEP MORE.

What though before me it is dark.
Too dark for me to see?
I ask but light for one step more in the quite enough for me.

Each little humble step I take,
The gloom clears from the next;
So, though 'tis very dark beyond,'
I never am perplexed.'

And if semetimes the mist hangs close, So close I fear to airsy. Patient I wait a little while And soon it clears away.

I would not see my further path,

For mercy valls it so:
My present steps might harder be
Did I the future know,

It may be that my path is rough,

Thorny and hard and steep;
And, knowing this, my strength migh fail. Through fear and terror deer.

It may be that it winds along A smooth and flowery way; But seeing this I might despise Perhaps my path is very short,

My journey nearly done, And I might tremble at the thought Of ending it so soon. Or, if I saw a weary length Of road that I must wend, Fainting, I'd think, "My feeb'e powers Will fall me ere the end."

And so I do not wish to see
My journey or its length;
Assured that, through my Father's love,
Each step will bring it strength.

Phus step Ly step I onward go, Not looking far before;
Trusting that I shall always have
Light for just "one step more."
[British Messenger.

Mr. G. W. Smalley writes from London to the Anti-S'avery Standard as follows: "London is not behind Paris in its indifference to color. The Duchess of Sutherland's salons are famous in America as admitting both races of our countrymen. Others less famous are just as liberal. I bave met negroes four or five times at dinners and parties in private houses. I should be just as likely to meet them if I went, not to Radical, but to Tory dinners; or, at least, the negro, if shut out, would not be shut out for his color; his politics

"Take off your spectacles," said Jacob, "and look me in the face. You can see?" "No," "But I say yes." "Well, then, yes." And the colesiastic retired, to the great astonishment of the crowd. "Your sight is improved then?" said a friend to Green-room gossip at New York says that Edwin Forrest is soon to marry the young actress, Miss Lillie, as the play bills style her, who has been supporting him at the Broadway. She is twenty, and the eminent tragedian over sixty. She was left an orphan, and Forrest took her as an infant, and reared her. He adopt ed her as his daughter, but his and her affections changing in character, he is to make her his wife.

In London the mode of selecting the candidates for Lord Mayor, is so netimes curious. In theory all the Aldermen in the city who have filled the office of Sheriff are eligible, but the custom is to select for Lord

CURIOSITY OF PHOTOGRAPHY.—Photographers have taken "the sun bimself," when in eclipse; they have caught an impression of a shell whiming through the sir, discharged from the mouth of a the sir, discharged from the mouth of a 32-inch morter; they have caught the wave as it broke on the abore, the sun depleting even the drops falling from its to pling crest; more, they have not failed in getting a "good impression" of the head of a criminal executed by the guillotine, catching the head in mid-air as it fell into the basket below. Photographic book marks and visiting cards are sold by the thousand, while photographic shirts study and walstoost buttons, ornamented with miscrescopic mintons, ornamented with miscresee countless numbers at the button manufacturies in Prussis; portraits of a popular person, Garibaldi for instance, being ordered by the hundred thousand at a time. On the authority of a careful English writer, all this photographing requires the use of no less than twenty tons of silver persons. tons of silver per annum.

THE BROADWAY FLOWER GIRLS.— The flower girls of Broadway are a class both useful and ornamental. Of late years as many as a dozen of them be seen every afternoon at different places between Courtlands street and Grace Church, their beautiful wares finding a ready sale. Most of them are Germans, and their industry and taste are praiseworthy. A number gather in front of the Astor House. Perhaps the finest stock on the streets is to be found there, and the pretty French girl who stands by the steps of the hotel, is we have heard, the originator of the trade. All of these flowers are grown in the neighborhood of New York. The cost of raising them in quantities is small, and the profits are considerable. A singie plant of tube roses, for example, will yield fifteen flowers, which being tan cents each. Magnolias are sold at five cents, and other flowers in proportion. The trade in flowers is on the increase, and there are several large firms now engaged in it.—Post.

A Horse TRADE,-The Chicago Tri-bone reports the following:

A good joke was perpetrated a few days ago on a well-known citizen of Chicago, one who prides himself on his knowledge of horse-flesh, that being only one item in the museum-like list of his be shut out for his color; his politics might exclude him, for society has opinions and will stick to them. I met Selia Martin and his wife at Mr. Adams's on the evening of last Fourth of July. Let us hope Mr. Johnson will not recall his minister on this account. Mr. Adams's rooms were filled with Americans that night almost exclusively. If anybody felt himself outraged by the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Martin, the teeling was kept under control.

The Zouave Jacob and his remarkable cures have been the wonder of Paris. A correspondent of the New soon thereafter and exultantly pointed to his property. Judge of his consternaaccomplishments, ... He was visited rehis property. Judge of his consternawhich he had paid $2000, and thought it dirt cheap, was the very one for which he had refused to give $800.

THE GEORGIA ELECTION.

Our despatches bring us the cheering intelligence that all is going well in the State of Georgia. The rebels are industriously keeping away from the polis, which makes no difference, it is their own business whether they participate in the government of the country or not; one thing is certain, the State of Georgia will be reconstructed on a loyal basis. The expressions in the telegraphic despatches, "No white men voting," or "No respectable white men taking part," are gotten up to console the rebels; they are welcome to lay all of that kind of unction to their souls they feel like, it doesn't help their case one bit.

The rebels of Georgia are demonstrating in what kind of faith they "accept the situation." They prove themselves as much rebels as the day they surrendered to the power of the Government; the reasons they refused the terms offered by Congress are, either they feared themselves in the minority and unable to rule at the ballot box, or determined to wait for some new plan to destroy the Union.

The rebels of Texas will follow the example of the Georgia rebels; it is their only consistent policy, for, should they be defeated in a regular contest at the ballot box, they have no more ground to stand upon; but, as long as they take no part, they can be considered as a reserve force not committed, ready for any kind of an emergency. We are satisfied.

THE TORNADO ON THE LOW-ER RIO GRANDE.

We have files of the Brownsville Courier, which details the particulars of tle terrible storm which recently visited that

In Brownsville there were ten persons killed and twenty-one wounded, besides the casualties at the garrison, which was destroyed. One-third of the town of Brownsville remained standing. All the river steamers were destroyed involving a loss of $200,000. In Matamoros 1,500 houses were de stroyed, and 26 deaths reported, Brazos de Satingo has four building standing. One hundred persons were saved by getting on the schooner Volum nia. Fourteen lives lost and about $100.

Bagdad was swept away, but most of the people were saved by the steamer Tamaulipas. Thirty-four deaths reporte' The loss of property not estimated. The Courier estimates 3,000 families who have lost everything and are entirely destitute. Col. Randall, the military commander, distributed rations to the des titute. An appeal for help will be made to the people of the United States.

But two houses are left standing in

No MORE REGISTRATION .- According to the act of Congress the registration lists all over the South are closed finally to-day, the 1st of November. The only work left is the revision of the books fourteen days before the helding of an election, to strike out the names of persons who have been wrongfully registered, or who have since violated the spirit and intent of the oath they took upon registering.

This is only a little harmless lying, and goes a good ways to help out and make respectable the universal custom of the chivalry. ple who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones at those who live he attributes to the rotation of the earth. in log cabins."

THE NATIONAL INDIX.—We are in receipt of a copy of the "National Indix," published at Tyler, Texas; it is a fine, large paper, gotten up in the best style and Union to the core. The Index is the best index of the growing loyalty of Texas, and points to the coming victory of the Union party.

CONSISTENT.—The San Antonio Herald is now crying out for a " white man's party;" a few months back they were working hard to make the "niggers" be-lieve that in the "Conservative party" was their natural place.

THE THREAT-THE OLD POL. ICY TO BE RESORTED TO.

The San Antonio Herald is merely a thing in the hands of Divine et. al. success; therefore when the Herald von tures to be bold it is the old traitor part ig our midst which is at its back; who the Herald hints at the murder of Union men it means that Divine & Co. are arranging their ropes to revive the days when Union men were ignominiously hung or compelled to escape through danger and hardship to Mexico. In their desperation this miserable crew of traitors, with the Herald for a mouthpiece, make the following threat in that paper of the 31st instant :

"We are no alarmist—we want no more war or bloodshed—but the fairest, most sacred portion of the United States never can, and never will be ruled by Hunnicutta, nor by the descendants of importations from Africa. The blood of the most gallant race of men ever known on this continent, will cease to flow through animated veins, before that can be. White, not black, must rule. Americans, Germans, Irish, French and Mexican citizens of this State, will unite in forming a white man's party, and this party must and will prevail. Woe to party must and will prevail. Woe to those who, being white, range themselves on the black side.

"By the blood and brains of whites was this, our beloved State, wrested from foreign rule, and voluntarily annexed to the United States; never, never will it be yielded to negro rule! and Radical rule in the South means negro rule. There is no disguising the fact, nor should we try to shut our eyes to the danger. It is there—it is true. Let the Radicals take warning in time."

The Herald proprietors and their com panions in murder and treason have been tolerated in our midst out of the sheer good nature and charity of the Union men, who were satisfied with the general verdict of the war and content to even let men live in our midst whose crimes as principals and accessories en titled them a hundred times to the courtesys of the public executioner. And these very criminals have the temerity to suggest a resort to their old policy Well, let them try it. There was a day when the slightest hint at negro insurrection terrified guilty m'scegnationof slavery no longer fetter the limbs of of defense are within his reach; it may be that through a little foolish indiscretion on the part of the traitors, the hereditary wrongs of the black man and the fresh, bleeding wounds of persecuted Union men may find a partial redress

A PICTURE OF POVERTY, -Recently having occasion to visit the east end of Goliad street we came across a scene of squallid poverty which would make a telling picture for the Police Gazette, and, located in some northern city, would be pointed to as evidence of the incharitableness of the northern people and an example of the condition of the northern poor. We approached a solitary stone buildng to make some inquiries; two little girls about five or six years old and a boy about ten were the only occupants. The boy stood with his hands in the pockets of his ragged pants and the little girls, dressed in simple domestic frecks, with bear arms and disheveled hair, and little lean hungry faces, sat huddled together fondling a poor little dog; there was not an article of furniture in the house except a dirty bed-tick, a blanket and some old gunny bags and a black bottle. In front of the door was a pile of walnut shells. "Where is your mother, little boy?"

"She's scrubbing out some rooms down town."

"Do you live here!" "Yes Sir."

"How does your mother cook your food?"

"We have nothing to cook." "Don't you have anything to eat?"
"Yes, some sace, once a day."

"Where is your father?"

" He is dead."

"Where did he die?" "In the Confederate army."

No more questioning was needed it was one of the sad stories of the rebellion, the rich man's war and the poor man's fight.

The little boy looked hungry and cold and answered our questions with that sad sobriety always met with in poverty stricken childhood. This little group of orphans formed a picture which would be far more appropriate hung in the parlors of our ser cession citizens, cotton speculators etc., than the likenesses of eminent Southern traitors. Pursuing our enquiries we found out that the mother was not all that a mother ought to be was not a I that a mother ought to be and that she often drowned her sorrows in intoxication. So much the more then does she deserve pitty and relief. Here is a splendid opportunity for the "Dorcas Society," if that society is what it's name indicates. A general relief society should be formally and the society should be formally and the society should be formally and the society and the society should be formally and the society and the society and the society should be formally and the society and the s ed in our city, regularly organized, receiving the donations of our citiens, examining into the worthiness of those applying for help and taking care that the charity of the people is not squandered. It is also the business of those who profess the name of the Saviour to seek out the poor and minister to their wants temporal and spiritual, but "alas for the rarity of Christian charity under the sun."

PAIR SAISTS DAY, Today, the let of November, is the festival of "All Saints Day" observed over Christendom by the Roman Catholic, Episcopal and Lutheran churches. It is in honor of all the saints and angels of heaven.
