WASHINGTON, December 4.—The law suit of Wm. Borley vs. Messrs. C. A.
Weed & Co., and S. P. Griffin, all o Louisiana, is commenced in the Supreme Court of the District. The bill complains that in 1864 the defendants received from the plaintiff 843 bales of cotton, amounting to $92,000; defendant claims clandestine shipment, false and exorbitant charges, and fraudulent actions on the part of Weed & Co.; and that Griffin has passed a claim on the treasurer for $100,000, most of which belongs to their firm.

The President's Message.
WASHINGTON, December, 3.—The message from the President says the first duty at the close of the war to repair injuries and secure the benefit of civil war lessons at the earliest moment, this duty was promptly accepted by the executive; that insurrectionary restoration in the first moment of peace it was thought to be as easy and certain as it was indispensable to the establishment of a Union, this expectation was foiled by the legislation of Congress and now there is no Union where one State is as free as another to regulate its internal affairs according to its own will; an elaborate argument follows on the proposition that the Union and Constitution are inseparable as one or both the others will be preserved, and if one is destroyed both must perish together; there is no necessity real or pretended which can prevent obedience to the constitution North or South; he hopes that Congress may ultimately concur in some true interests and duties which are too natural and too just to be abandoned. It is clear to the President's apprehension that States lately in rebellion are still members of the Union. The executive, my predecessor, as well as myself and heads of all the departments have adopted and acted upon the principles that the Union is not dissolved but if it is dissolved Congress submitted amendments to the Constitution to the Southern States and accepted their ratification, the Judges of the Supreme Court have included the Southern States in.

If the Southern States are component part of the Union and the Constitution is superior law for them as for all other States they are bound to obey it as we are. Being sincerely convinced that these views are correct the President desires the repeal of all acts placing the Southern States under military rule. The evident conflict between the Reconstruction Acts and the rights of the people under the Constitution. Alluding to the negro suffrage the President says that the subjection of the States to negro dominion will be worse than the existing military despotism, that the people will endure endless military oppression rather than degrade themselves by subjection to the negro race. That the blacks are entitled to be well and WEEDS.—I was once walking with a farmer through a beautiful field, when he chanced to see a tall thistle growing on the other side of the fence. In an instant he sprang over the fence, and cut it off close to the ground.

"Is that your field?" I asked.
"Oh, no," said the farmer, "but bad weeds don't care much for fences, and if I don't leave that thistle to blossom in my neighbor's field, I should have plenty in my own."

I wish all the fathers and mothers in our dear little Corpor's army would think of that. The evil weeds in your neighbor's field will scatter seeds into your own. So it is worth while to pull them up in self defense. Try to influence the little, untought child to follow humanely governed, but if it were possible to give them a government of their own it would prove a grave question whether we ought to do so or whether common humanity would not require us to save them from themselves, but it is not proposed that they shall only govern themselves but that they shall govern the white men and in a greater or less extent control the destiny of the whole country. Negro character be contrasted with the virtue in telling on the spirits and progress of the whole race. The negro population with immigration have different terms of acquiring citizenship and franchise.

The President yields to no man for general suffrage but, that it requires of some classes a time suitable for protection and preparation; to transfer our political inheritance to negro, would in the President's opinion be an abandonment of duty which we owe to the memory of our fathers and to the rights of our children. Depicting the proposed government the President says it will require a strong standing army and probably more than two hundred million per annum to maintain the supremacy of the negro government after they have been established; without military power they are wholly incapable of holding in subjection the white people of the South.
The President's final policy has already been truthfully foreshadowed the message makes no special allusion to the cotton tax; discussing the President's duties he says after grave considerations a case might arise where after laws had passed all Constitutional forms and placed on the static books where it would be the duty of the executive to refuse to carry them out in regard of Constitution of enforcing them would be to involve the country in a justifiable civil war.

HOW TO INDUCE IMMIGRATION.

The name of liberty charms the world, and from the old centers of civilization, aristocracy and monarchy, thousands are annually seeking this land of liberty. Like a gathering flood this stream of moving humanity pushes before it all the loose material it comes in contact with in its course.

South of the great path of empire hitherto trodden by emigrant armies of hardy, enterprising, cultivated, civilized men, who build homes and make the desert bloom, lies a country which, in natural beauty, in fertility of soil, in salubrity of climate, has no equal on the face of the earth.

Why is it that the march of empire has missed this enchanted country? Why have men poured in countless thousands to the bleak Northwest and left this land unvisited?

Men who cut loose from their old homes, who leave their fatherland, who brave the ocean and the hardships of making new homes, have more love for freedom than ease, and are careful not to cast their lot in a land of uncertain liberty.

The New York Post, commenting upon the attempts to induce immigration in Virginia, remarks:

The Virginia Board of Immigration asks for ten thousand dollars "to bring immigrants to Virginia," they had better save their money. The foreigners whose passages they pay will do them little good.

We hope this great truth will be properly appreciated by every well wisher of Texas. In immigration rests all our hopes by building up our State.

The composers in the New York Journal of Commerce office are on a strike. The question at issue between the proprietors and composers is not one of wages, but one relating to the management of the news room.

THE PROSPECTS FOR A CONVENTION.

The prospects for a Convention in this State are very promising. Our voting population has been increased by the addition of the colored citizens from sixty thousand to one hundred and four thousand, thereby increasing the political importance of our State fifty per cent.

It is impossible for a Convention to fail and that it will be a Convention composed of loyal men there is but little doubt.

Within the next two months the election will transpire, and the experiment is to be tested whether the majority of the people will take the advice of rebel newspapers and deny themselves the right of voting.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

The telegraph brings us a summary of the President's Message. It is just what the country expected from the miserable traitor who disgraces the office of an American President.

Never in the history of any nation, or possibly in the history of mankind, has there been so flagrant a case of perfidy as Andy Johnson presents to-day.

THE MAJORITY REPORT.

Our telegraph brought us the Minority report, but said nothing of the Majority report. The following appears in our exchanges:

Boutwell, second member of the Judiciary Committee, rose to report the testimony taken by the Committee on Impeachment and the majority report Chairman Wilson dissenting. The report is as follows: In accordance with the testimony herewith submitted and the views of the law herewith presented, the Committee is of opinion that Andrew Johnson is guilty of high crimes and misdemeanors in that, &c., it closes with this resolution:

Resolved, That Andrew Johnson be impeached for high crimes and misdemeanors. The report was followed by mingled expressions of applause and disapprobation, the Speaker meantime using his gavel.

A new Masonic Hall is to be built in Richmond. The European States are drifting into bankruptcy.

RADICAL HUMANITY.

The Radical convention of Alabama has set to work in the true spirit of benevolent reform. One of its first acts is to provide for the restoration of the property of rebel widows and orphans squandered by executors, administrators and guardians, during the rebellion.

"During the last two years we have had occasion to visit the probate judges' offices of about forty of the sixty-two counties of the State, and we made it a point to ascertain to what extent estates had been settled with rebel paper issued by that mob to be used as money, and in every county a more or less number of estates had been settled in this way, and this paper filled every pigeon-hole, drawer, desk, and trunk in many of the probate judges' offices.

"The rebel Legislature of Alabama authorized conductors of estates, whether the effects of those estates were in money or notes, to invest such effects in rebel bonds, which thousands of them done; and in many instances, after the rebellion was suppressed, these men hurried a settlement of their administrations and paid over Confederate money. In some instances, administrators who held notes for property of estates would compromise with the debtors, let them take up the notes at reduced prices, and would then buy Confederate money, and return that trash to the courts as effects of estates, thus swindling the poor, sorrowing widows and helpless orphans out of what honestly belonged to them, leaving these poor widows and helpless children penniless, while the administrator had their property in his pocket; and all done strictly in accordance with a set of outlawed rebels sitting as a body to legislate for a people.

"We could go on and enumerate hundreds of instances where this gigantic plundering has been done; and as proof we refer every honest man to the files in every probate judge's office in Alabama." Texas has many such wrongs to right.

THE MEANEST STATE.

Asking which is the meanest State, Wendell Phillips answers his own question in the following language:

"For constitutional, unintermitted, incessant, ingrained, heartily-relished, and ostentatiously vaunted meanness, we think the palm belongs either to New Hampshire or Connecticut."

He says Connecticut obstinately clung to the indecipherable meanness of taxing and hanging men she would admit neither to her schools nor her ballot-box. Then New Hampshire became the Dexter on the race-course of servility by inflicting on the country Isaac Hill, "Gag," Atherton, and Franklin Pierce.

Wendell Phillips declares that in consequence of this order Connecticut is entitled to the belt as the meanest State in the Union. He expresses great sympathy for New Hampshire.

FAITH WORKING BY LOVE.—All true and lively faith begets love; and thus, that heavenly light is the vehicle of heat. And as, by this means, true faith has a tendency to the precision of obedience, so, all true obedience depends upon faith, and flows from it.

Here is a defence for that useful but much abused animal, the mule: "Leonidas Moses, a mail-carrier in Arkansas, was assassinated recently by some unknown person while riding along a lonely road. His body was not found until eight days after the murder, and all this time his mule stood guard over the corpse. The faithful animal had to go a mile and a half for water, but invariably returned and resumed its singular vigil."

Max Maretzek has resolved to reduce the prices of admission to the Italian opera at the rates that ruled before the war—a dollar for admission and a half-dollar extra for reserved seats. The season opens rather gloomy for Max.

Proposals for Fresh Beef. OFFICE OF POST COMMISSARY OF SUBSISTENCE, FORT MARION, TEXAS, November 25th, 1867.

SEALED PROPOSALS, which must be in triplicate will be received until 12 o'clock P. M., December 28th, 1867, for supplying Fresh Beef (either on the hoof or slaughtered, as may be required) to the Troops at Fort Marion, Texas, and to all Camps and Hospitals in the vicinity drawing supplies therefrom from January 1st, 1868, or as soon thereafter as may be required, to January 1st, 1869, or such less time as the Commissary General of Subsistence may direct.

The bids will state the price per pound, net, currency for Fresh Beef furnished on the hoof, and the price per pound net, for that furnished slaughtered.

Proposals must be accompanied by a proper guarantee, signed by two responsible persons, stating that if the proposal is accepted, the bidder will enter into a contract, and that they will enter into bonds in the penal sum of ($3,000) three thousand dollars for the faithful performance of the contract. Satisfactory evidence of the loyalty of each successful bidder, and the solvency of the persons offered as security will be required. The names of firms should be stated in full, with the address of all members of the firm.

No bid will be entertained when put in by contractors who have previously failed to comply with their contracts, nor when it may be discovered that the bidder has offered directly or indirectly more than one bid. Bidders (if a firm, the members) must be present to respond to their bids, and to sign and complete the contracts and bonds upon the above named day.

The beef cattle furnished must not be over five years old, and weigh less than (500) five hundred pounds, net, dressed. The beef furnished must be of good marketable quality, in equal proportions of fore and hind quarters, heads, shanks, kidneys, tails excluded, and to be delivered at such times, and such quantities as may be required.

Payment will be made monthly, or as soon thereafter as funds are received therefor. The Government reserves the right to reject any or all bids offered. Endorse envelopes enclosing bid, "Proposals for Fresh Beef."
