THE PUMPKIN.
BY JOHN G. WHITTIER.
Oh! greenly and fat in the lands of the sun,
The vines of the gourd and the rich melon-
And the root and the tree, and the cottage,
And the gold,
With broad leaves all goodness and blossoms all
Like that which o'er Niveah's prophet once grew,
While he waited to know that his warning was
true,
And longed for the storm-cloud, and listened in vain
For the rush of the whirlwind and red fire rain.
Of the banks of the Xenli the dark Spanish
maiden
Comes up with the fruit of the tangled vine
laden;
And the Crocus of Cuba laughs out to behold
Through orange-leaves shining the broad spaces
of hold
I wish dearer delight from his home in the North
On the fields of this harvest the Yankee looks forth,
Where crum-necks are coiling and yellow fruit
shines,
And the sun of September looks down on his vines.

Oh!—on Thanksgiving Day, when from East
and from West,
From North and from South come the pilgrim
and guest,
When the gray-haired New Englander sees round his board
The old broken links of affection restored,
When the care-worried man seeks his mother
once more,
And the worn matron smiles where the girl
smiled before,
What moistens the lip and what brightens the eye,
What is it that checks the past like the rich pumpkin pie?

Oh!—fruit lore of boyhood!—'tis old days
recalling,
When wood-grapes were purpling and brown
nuts were falling;
When wild, ugly faces we carved on the skin,
Gearing out through the dark, with a candle in
When we laughed around the corn heap with hearts all in tune,
In a chair a broad pumpkin—our lantern the Telling tales of the fairy who traveled like a
On a pumpkin-shell coach, with two rats for a team!
Then thanks for thy present "body sweeter or better"
Fairer hands never wrought at a passy more
fine,
Brighter eyes never watched o'er its baking than thine!
And the prayer, which my mouth is too full to express,
Such as my heart that thy shadow may never be lost,
That the days of thy lot may be lengthened below,
And the fame of thy worth like a pumpkin vine
grow,
And thy life be as sweet, and its last sunset sky
Golden tinted and fair as thy own pumpkin pie.

THE KANSAS AND GALVESTON ROAD.
We have from Kansas the important information that the Building of the Lawrence and Galveston Railroad has been begun; and that the first section of the line, thirty miles south of Lawrence to Ottowa, will be completed by the end of the present year. This is an exceedingly important public work, which was projected ten years ago, and which is destined to have a great influence upon the business interests of the father Western States.

It proposes to connect Kansas and the adjacent regions by a line running directly south with the harbor of Galveston, Texas, and hence with the commerce of the world. The exports and imports of that vast section, instead of going across the continent by way of the Eastern States, will then move to market upon a comparatively short and straight line; and the saving in time, transportation and cost will be immense. Ships from all countries will bring their goods to Galveston, which can then be carried by one sweep, and in short time, to the cities of the Missouri river, and to all the country from thence to the Rocky Mountains.—Cincinnati Times Dec 3.

This road will naturally come to San Antonio, to take the trade and travel from this region and Mexico.

ARKANSAS.
Arkansas speaks as follows through the Little Rock Republican, of the 20th inst:
It is with peculiar satisfaction that we announce to our readers the triumphant success of the cause of reconstruction in the State election. The Republican party has elected probably sixty of the seventy-five delegates to the convention, insuring it a vigorous, reliable majority in this body. Enough returns have been received to show a large and decisive vote in favor of a constitutional convention; and to convince the most skeptical that the Republican party, although dating its existence only a few months since, is now a living, active, and successful organization. Its first efforts have resulted in a glorious achievement. When it entered upon the conflict in this State, in April last, like the era of '63 before the world began, the Union elements were "without form and void," but henceforth we have faith to believe they will be a new and regenerating power controlling the destinies of Arkansas.

Hereafter the advocates of national principles, and the supporter of the cause of the Union, can boldly proclaim his principles. Rebellion is dead! The dark and evil days are past, and better and brighter ones are dawning. Treason is becoming odious even in Arkansas! Verily, here is matter for profound congratulation.

We take occasion here to pay a brief but merited tribute to the colored citizens of Arkansas, who have so signally vindicated the confidence reposed in them by the National Government, and so honorably assisted in bringing about the grand triumph in the State. In the late struggle, in which they had so much at stake, they have been tried and found true! Their quiet and orderly conduct, their courage, loyalty, and devotion have been clearly and completely demonstrated. Not all the threats, the incessant coaxing, or the insidious appeals of their "best friends" could swerve them for a moment from the path of duty, and the road to self-preservation. They knew their real friends, and instinctively shunned the hypocritical and proscription party whose policy would consign them to political degradation.

WHAT WILL THE SOUTH GAIN BY IMPEDING RECONSTRUCTION?

The South needs money. Will she get it by impeding reconstruction? The South needs labor—Will she get it by again degrading labor? The South needs hardy and enterprising men from the North. Will she get them by socially ostracizing and persecuting them? The South needs the most skillful mechanics. Will she get them by continuing to call them mendicants? The South needs improved agricultural implements. Will she get them by legislating in such a way that all who know how to make and use them will be driven from her midst? The South needs schools of agriculture and art. Will she get them by calling the most learned, accomplished men in the land "infidels and fanatics"? The South needs large appropriations for rebuilding the levees, constructing railroads, and improving river navigation. Will congress give her a dollar if she still persists in thwarting its will? The South wants freedom from military rule. Will she get it by stirring up insurrection against the blacks, and driving loyal men from their homes? The South wants to be let alone. Will she be at peace by warring against the spirit of the age, against justice, humanity, and the purest religious instincts of our nature? The South wants law and order. Will she get it by violating laws of congress, keeping negroes from juries, driving them from the ballot-box, and rendering their lot worse to a state of freedom than it was in slavery? All these things she wants, and is daily crying aloud for. Again we say will she get any of them by impeding reconstruction, defeating the action of the convention now in session, and restoring rebels to office after they have been removed by the military commanders? Will she deserve universal amnesty by defeating universal suffrage?—N. O. Republican.

Some time ago, the Rev. Mr. Spurgeon preached a sermon on the text—"And Mary wept." In the midst of a stream of earnest eloquence that drew tears from many of those present, in describing the character of the tears shed by Mary over the feet of Jesus, he broke suddenly off, and turning to his congregation, exclaimed: "The tears that Mary shed were not such tears as many of you pour out when you come to this altar. They came from her heart—they were tears of blood—not the poor stuff that you present as an offering to an offended God!" Then, leaning over the sea of upturned faces, he exclaimed: "There are some of you for whose tears I would not give a farthing a quart."

Sergeant Morrison; the officer in charge of the old fort, &c., on Great Island, Newport harbor, was a school-mate and playfellow of Robert Burns, the Scottish bard. The sergeant is 83 years old.

The probabilities are the Southern States will be represented in the coming Republican Convention to be held in Chicago to nominate candidates for the Presidency and Vice Presidency.

We understand that Captain Jesselyn has withdrawn from the editorial department of the State Gazette.—Little Rock Republican.

END OF THE FIRST VOLUME OF THE DAILY EXPRESS.

A year since, impressed with the need of a Daily Union paper to advance the interests of the Union cause and meet the wants of the community, we began the publication of THE DAILY EXPRESS, under circumstances not at all flattering; but a year of trial and struggle has brought our enterprise out upon an established basis, and inspires us with the hope that it will continue to wax stronger and stronger, and its influence extend wider and wider.

Our Daily paper, laid every morning on the breakfast tables of our Union citizens, has quickened the pulse of loyalty, awakened flagging energies, dispersed the clouds of doubt which have daily overcast the horizon, fought back the insidious arguments of the country's enemies, and each day confirmed and strengthened the spirit of loyalty, and built up a united and determined Republican party in this city, which only awaits the opportunity at the ballot-box to put to silence forever the enemies of the Union, and the real foes of the city and State.

In order to be up with the spirit of the times we have secured daily telegraphic despatches, which, while not of a satisfactory nature as we could desire, still we believe they have grown to be a necessity.

While our population must reach fifteen thousand souls, yet our reading community is very small. But with the increasing prosperity of our city and State we expect to grow and fill to the fullest standard the place of a first-class Daily paper.

Thanking our patrons for their liberality and patience in the past, we push out upon Volume II. with renewed hopes and better prospects.

ANOTHER MANIFESTO FROM THE AUSTIN FAMILY QUARREL.

Some time since we took occasion to allude to a manifesto sent out from Austin signed by Messrs. Hunt, Taylor, Keithly and Madison, in which grave charges and bitter insinuations were used towards our prominent Union men. Since that time the Hunt faction have been quiet; but last mail brought us the Houston Platform doctored to suit their taste. Such documents will fall harmless in all quarters to which they may be sent unless backed by the personal advocacy of the originators. We can find no particular fault with this revised platform; it is only the animus, we object to, we coincide with its general declarations, but we ask why load the party platform with the whole legislation of the Constitutional Convention that is to be held to create a new frame work for the State government? Why not be satisfied to elect patriotic, loyal men to that Convention, and trust to their integrity, and not hobble them with a political platform. Party platforms have long since sunk into a disrepute and it is usually a sad place to put the vital, active issues of a party. We need no flaming pronouncements, every man, white and black, has the main points settled and fixed in his mind. Separationists are fighting to impede Reconstruction; Union men are determined to carry it out in its completest sense, to wipe out every trace of rebellion and put all citizens of the United States on a legal and political equality. The bill of rights will do us just as well as the Houston platform. Every Union man believes treason a crime; every Union man believes rebels the wrong hands to trust the Government of the State to; every Union man believes rebel legislation needs overhauling; every Union man believes in the justice and right of the 14th Constitutional amendment; yet we ask Messrs. Hunt and company, what is to be gained by getting up a platform faction; what good can come of forcing forward abstract issues? And we advise them to cease their pronouncements and labor to impress upon the Union men within their reach, the importance of selecting their best and truest Representatives to go to Convention. We do not wish to call Messrs. Hunt and company demagogues, because their motives may be the purest and best, but we do say their persistency in trying to get up an issue in the Union party squints strongly that way.

A BARBAROUS ORDEAL.

The Bombar Gazette has the following: "Nagjee Sewjee, a native of Morbee having his banking shop at Jamonggur, amounting to 8,000Rs on Magh Shoodh 11th in Sevast 1920, on a camel, in charge of his driver named Chankee Soomer, accompanied by a boy named Sabhoj. On the same night the treasure was plundered on the road between Yecpur and Sunnars. The kharbaree (agent) of Morbee, at this time was Tirulitchund Vakutehand, who conducted the affairs of the state. Nagjee Sewjee, the sowar, was a relative of this kharbaree, and taking advantage of this circumstance, brought a charge of theft against the camel driver, Chankee Soomer. The kharbaree, without consulting the chief, resorted, at the instigation of Nagjee to the rude and barbarous test of putting his hands into boiling oil to try the innocence of the camel driver. The moment the chief of Morbee heard of this he not only reprimanded the kharbaree, but was about to visit him with stronger marks of his displeasure but for his death, which took place within only a fortnight since. The camel driver rightly complained against the ordeal to which he was subjected to the agency at Rajcote, and for this act of inhumanity on the part of the late kharbaree, the chief of Morbee exacts from Nagjee Sewjee and pays to the camel driver the life pension of 100Rs. per annum."

Gov. HAMILTON.—Gov. Hamilton arrived in Austin last week and delivered an address to the people at the Capital on Saturday as.

A STORY ABOUT EARLY RISING.

In the "Life of Josiah Quincy" is the following story of a joke passed by Judge Story on two of his friends addicted to the habit of early rising.

"I have related, in telling my father's doings as President, how he never failed to set the sleepy students an example of rigid punctuality at morning chapel. He deserves the less credit for this example, however, in that he had contracted, long years before, the habit of rising every morning, winter and summer, at four o'clock, so that he had been long astir before the prayer-bell rung out its unwelcome summons.

This excess in early hours, however, like every other excess, brought its penalty along with it. Nature would not be cheated of her dues, and if they were not paid in season, she would exact them out of season. Accordingly, my father was sure to drop asleep, wherever he might be, when his mind was not actively occupied; sometimes, even in company, if the conversation was not especially animated, and always as soon as he took his seat in his gig, or 'sulky', in which he used to drive himself to town. It was good luck and the good instinct of his horses that carried him safe through for so many years.

"One day Mr. John Quincy Adams, who was addicted to the same vice of immoderate early rising, with much the same consequences, was visiting my father, who invited him to go into Judge Story's lecture-room and hear his lecture to his law class.

Now Judge Story did not accept the philosophy of his two friends in this particular, and would insist that it was a more excellent way to take out one's allowance of sleep in bed, and be wide awake when out of it—which he himself most assuredly always was.

The Judge received the two Presidents gladly, and placed them in the seat of honor on the dais by his side, fronting the class, and proceeded with his lecture. It was not long before, glancing his eye aside to see how his guests were impressed by his doctrine, he saw that they were both of them sound asleep, and he saw that the class saw it too. Pausing a moment in his swift career of speech, he pointed to the two sleeping figures and uttered these words of warning: 'Gentlemen, you see before you the melancholy sample of the evil effects of early rising.'

The shout of laughter with which this judicial obiter dictum was received effectually aroused the sleepers, and it is to be hoped that they heard and profited by the remainder of the discourse."

An invention by which a common Kerosene Lamp can at once be transformed into a Gas Lamp, of a most brilliant light, entirely safe against explosion, no chimney needed, and is not subject to be blown out by the strongest breeze or current of air; at the same time giving a better light than the combined light of two ordinary Kerosene Lamps, and saving fully one-third of the kerosene oil, by simply applying the gas generator.

The undersigned having procured the patent right for Bexar County, has now a supply of the Generators on hand, and offers to sell them at One Dollar apiece, each.

To Dealers, they will be offered by the dozen at a very fair discount.
