OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

New York, January 21, 1868.

I wish sincerely that my initial letter could be written under more cheerful atmospheric auspices than this snow, that melts into rain, again becoming sleet, and fluding a final sepulcher in the tolerably (or intolerably) universal mud of this big, dirty, weary wilderness of bricks, stones and tenement houses. But since it will snow, and since I can't help it or prevent it, I will "evolve from my inner consciousness" as much entertaining matter for your readers as lurks therein.

I suppose you are not above our metropolitan weakness—politics? Well, the mean, shabby, disgraceful and thoroughly Democratic withdrawal by Ohio of her ratification of the 13th amendment, caused Horace to become fairly delirious for a few days in the Tribune; but his attention having been called to the constant bragging of the World over its fictitiously increasing circulation, the philosopher forgot his wrath and plunged in a perfect maelstrom of challenges to the World to prove its assertions. Of course (at present at least) nothing has come of it; but it proves that after all even the philosophic Greeley is not too philosophic to forget the advantages of the numerous greenbacks which the large circulation of his paper is equivalent to.

I feel confident that the fame of the "Black Crook," of the "leg v. legitimate drama" notoriety, has reached you. It has been withdrawn from Niblo's to give place to a miserable English version of the celebrated "Biche au Bois." During the performance of the latter, some thread-bare "gag" elicited three dubious cheers for General Grant. An ardent Johnson man present, with that remarkable absence of common decency and sense which seems the peculiar feature of his fellow Democrats, called for three cheers for Andy. He was rewarded by lusty plaudits, which for some moments caused the cessation of the stage dialogue. So much for those kindred delicacies, Copperheadism and the nudities of the "White Fawn."

The summary arrest of George Francis Train has caused no little excitement here, and it will have the effect of stimulating the Anglo-phobists in the House to an intolerable degree.

The British Legation arrived here yesterday in the "Jason" from Vera Cruz.

The "Woman's Rights" clique have fairly launched their "Revolution," which has created about as much general notice or excitement as would be caused by an insurrection against Beranger's King of Yooet. It is really a very miserable affair, containing stale reprints of speeches, and "inspired" editorials from the Tribune, with one or two dimly stupid dissertations from Cady Stanton and Parker Pillsbury. Its publication has done much harm to the cause it proposed to champion.

The editors of that capital weekly review, the "Round Table," have just come out with a very good eclectic which they call the Week, and which threatens to become a serious rival to Tickner & Fields' Berry Saturday. We have also a new critical and very tolerable weekly, styled the American Athetium.

And now for some special bits of interest for Texas. In one of the letters which failed to reach San Antonio, I mentioned that Judge Paschal was engaged on a new and comprehensive work on the "Constitution"—that much-battered bone of contention. He has nearly finished his task, and hopes to have it out in March. Competent authorities say that it is a master-work, and predict a decided success for it.

Major Moore, of Corpus Christi, who has been North for a considerable time in search of men and material for opening the ship channel between Corpus Christi and Aransas Bays, has finally succeeded in effecting an arrangement with some experienced contractors, and the work is to be taken in hand immediately. An Incident in the Life of S. A. Douglas.

New York, January 21, 1868.

A writer in the Rochester Union, who became personally acquainted with Senator Douglas in Chicago, in the summer of 1854, says:

It was on the morning of the 4th of July. Mr. Douglas was in the enjoyment of an unusual flow of good spirits. The day and the occasion may have had much to do with this. An involuntary expression escaped the lips of Mr. Douglas as he heard the stifled roar of a far distant cannon: "This is the Fourth of July! Gentlemen," said he, to one and all, "I will remember the return of this day when I was abroad in a foreign land. If it was not a day 'big with the fate of Rome,' I might," he said, "have quoted, it was one to me of uncommon excitement and interest. I was at Messina, and at the suggestion of Captain Hunter, of Texas notoriety, and who was subsequently dismissed the service for going beyond a just exercise of a proper authority (although the act was one of great gallantry and heroism, and so generally considered at the time), we ordered a sort of cab or calèche to convey us to a remote point overlooking the placid, unmoved waters of the still and quiet Mediterranean.

"Here reclining in as graceful a position as a gentle slope would furnish, no one within miles of our secluded spot, Captain Hunter, unknown to me, withdrew from his pocket a copy of the Declaration of Independence, which in a spirit of true patriotism he had stealthily concealed about his person, the more, perhaps, to animate if not to surprise me when we should have reached the point of our proposed destination. Without a word by way of introduction he opened the little volume in his possession, and in a clear and emphatic manner read to me its valued precepts and stern resolves.

"Perhaps at no period of my life had I been so impressed or so completely carried away as I was in this instance by the force and reasoning of this sublime and comprehensive paper. It seemed to awaken me to a new existence, and, gentlemen, this is the first time in my life that I ever made an allusion even to this matter for it has been 'in my memory locked,' and, as it were, 'unmixed with baser matter,' and let me now say to you that had I been called upon by the most flattering invitation of my friends, giving me ample time for the fullest exercise of my best ability, I could not have produced such an oration as I delivered only to the person of Captain Hunter on that day. I felt myself as though I was fully and extraordinarily inspired; words flew and bounded to my lips with a rapidity almost beyond my power to give them utterance. It was an occasion I shall never forget, nor one the like of which I shall ever again enjoy.

"At this immediate juncture the United States ship St. Louis, having in sight, Captain Ingraham in command, who, by some unaccountable instinct, ordered his 'gig' ashore, where he soon found himself in our company, enjoying our society, our glow and merriment. We related to him the achievements of the day, the manner in which we had celebrated the glorious Fourth, the Captain's happy manner of reading the Declaration of Independence, my impromptu 'Oration,' and all that sort of thing, when Captain Ingraham at once thought it no more than his right that he should have some small share in the celebration of a day so dear to them, and, doubly so under the circumstances of such an unexpected meeting.

"Acting upon this resolve Captain Ingraham at once despatched his coxswain to the ship with an order to bring off a basket well stored with cold meats and sandwiches, together with a half-dozen of choice sherry, a basket of champagne, cigars, &c. It was then that we had a celebration of the Fourth of July over again, and may be some of you think that this concluding suggestion so entirely carried out by Captain Ingraham was the best part of it—and, perhaps, said Douglas, with a smile peculiar to himself, and a slight well-understood twinkle of his eye, "I thought so, too!"

The War Office Difficulty.—It was stated in the Chronicle, several days ago, that there was no truth whatever in the statement put forth that General Grant had in any way deceived the President in the matter of Mr. Stanton's return to the War Office. An authoritative denial appears in the New York Tribune of yesterday. The President now denies any responsibility for the attack made upon General Grant.—[Washington Chronicle.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATION to the Convention for the Counties of Comal, Hays & Blanco. G. KLAPPENBACH.

THE ISSUES OF INGRESS—SHALL TRAITORS RULE THE NATION.

The contest between parties fighting under defunct principles for the government of this country is fair to become one of vital interest to the nation and that will probably define the policy of the Government for years to come.

It stands in hand then to view the grounds over and see what the principles are and who are their respective advocates. It is a well known fact that many of the great leaders of the Republican party are from the Democratic ranks and of Democratic antecedents, there is Bingham, Logan, Fremont, Norton, Butler, and scores of others, who, before the war were the intimate associates and political friends of Sidel, Davis, Wigfall (of our State) and all the defenders of "Southern rights" who, in days of yore, were delighted to honor. When the question of all slaves or all free was forced upon the party, Davis and his friends placed themselves upon the Davis platform, and as we well know, were harried from their arrogant position amid carnage and blood shed into misery and suffering, carrying with them in their downfall their "class" the wealthy aristocracy. The active leaders are warring exiles, and the party of ex-slaveholders are objectionable and broken hearted, burdened down with the weight of their actor, and no future before them. While the Republican party fight for "schools for tax-payers," and "franchise for all except the traitor," the opposite party simply place themselves on the defensive and appeal to the passions of ignorance to sustain them. The question is simply this: "Shall traitors rule the Nation."

Senator Morton in a recent speech at Washington says: "There are two ideas paramount in the American mind antagonistic and irreconcilable, each struggling for the supremacy. One is the justice and propriety of the war to put down the rebellion and preserve the integrity of the Union. The other is the righteousness of the rebellion, and the wickedness and injustice of the Government of the United States in putting it down by force of arms. The contest between these two ideas will, as in 1861, constitute the issue of 1868, and all questions will be offset from them and will arrange themselves upon the one side or the other. Whoever shall vote the so-called "Conservative" or "Democratic" ticket in 1868, whether he so intend it or not, will thereby endorse the rebellion; and whoever shall vote the Republican ticket will vote in favor of reconstruction upon such terms as will give protection to all loyal men and guarantees against future rebellion; and whoever betters in the rightfulness of the rebellion will be in favor of the immediate restoration of rebels, without condition or limitation of civil and political rights, just as if there had been no war and nothing had happened. The Democratic or "Conservative" party will be composed of the Northern Democrats who sympathized with secession and rebellion and of the Southern rebels with the addition of a few recruits from the Republican party.

The contest must not be buried under the debating talk about a "white man's Government" under this tempting bait, the murderers of our relatives ask us to relegate them to power. Under it the hords led by the infamous Judge Devine, ask us to repudiate the Houston Convention of July 1867 that endorsed the results of the war and endorse the Convention of January 1868 which declared itself the representative of the late Confederate Army. Under it, the crew, who met in convulsions in San Antonio last week and offered the names of parties, who have no merit "save what lies in their willingness to serve outlaws,"—one of them an outlaw himself,—the other put out of office by a loyal General for his lack of principle,—ask us to forget the past, and support those whose hands are steeped in loyal blood.

Under it, twenty-five hundred cotton bales thieves, sequestration bureau robbers, Judges who chased the limbs of one citizen, murdering Colonels who hung our fathers to the trees, cowardly editors who gloated over the assassination of the martyr Lincoln, howl in rage over their disfranchisement and in the same breath appeal to us to help them disfranchise forty-seven thousand men whose every word speaks devotion to the Government. The watch hour is on us, these dishonest people having nothing to give, offer everything.

Loyal men of Texas spurn their offers as did the loyal men of Bexar county. These rebels in Convention in this city offered the nomination of their party to a score of Union men, and to their honor or be it said nobody could be found willing to accept.

RESULT OF THE LATE REBEL HOLOCAUST CONVENTION.—At the time the rebels met in convulsions, Flake and John Hancock held the McMahon convention; the result was that the Ashbel Smith-Throckmorton-Carter Convention, absorbed the Flake-Hancock-McMahon concern, body and soul. The egotistical John visited this city some months ago and tried to induce loyal men of prominence to visit him, they would not absorb him and he left in disgust. Flake is independent, he is caught, but with his usual modesty, says he owns the party. We refer modest Flake to the fly who got fast in a hoghead of molasses and called the attention of his companions to the quantity of sweetening it had found.

THE DIFFERENCE.—The difference between the rebel or so-called "white man's" party and the Republican party is that one is a "white man's party" with colored instincts, desirous of perpetuating the easy going ways of the South as they existed before the rebellion, "having neither the sanction of law or gospel; while the Republican party is the "decent man's party," who propose to make the colored man a citizen capable of legally protecting his wife and daughters from any illicit advances made by members of the "white man's party."

Washington Items.

WASHINGTON, February 1.—The Ways and Means Committee have agreed to the Senate's amendments to the Whisky Meter bill, and it will undoubtedly pass the House. It authorizes five Commissioners to act with the President and Henry and Professor Bilyard of the Smithsonian Institute.

WASHINGTON, January 31.—The New York World of this morning has the following special: President Johnson declares to Great Britain that the American ultimatum, the termination of Secretary Seward, is of equal importance.

Another and higher authority has determined upon the course which is to be pursued in respect to the claim of the United States Government upon Great Britain. I am authorized to state most confidentially and decisively that the legal demands which have been made to the meeting urged by the Secretary of State upon the British Cabinet, are to be enforced, at whatever hazard. The new British Minister, Mr. Thornton, will probably be presented to President Johnson on Tuesday. Although the addresses are to be exchanged between the President and Minister Thornton, they may be guarded and secure. The fact yet remains that a speedy and satisfactory response must be made by the British Government to the ultimatum of the Executive of the United States, or else a declaration of war against Great Britain must inevitably ensue.

(Signed) J. B. S.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, January 31.—Hopes.—The Conference report on the cotton tax was adopted. It abolishes the tax after 1867, and tariff after November 1st, 1868, Vote 14 to 43.

SENATE.—Ohio's withdrawal of her assent to the amendment created sensation. Johnson agreed, with others, that the assent could not be withdrawn.

In the Supreme Court, the case of McCordie was dismissed on the ground of want of jurisdiction. The appeal is from the judgment of the Circuit Court in the case of the original jurisdiction only. The Circuit Court, which issued the habeas corpus, has no jurisdiction of the case or proceedings under any law of Congress. The argument will be continued next Friday.

WASHINGTON, January 31.—The discussion on the cotton tax and the stubbornness of the Senate in its adherence to its repeal of the duty on importation, is bitter and threatening in tone, showing increased hostility between Western and New England interests. Threats are made of retaliation at the proper time.

WASHINGTON, February 1.—The President has recognized Augustino Kede, Spanish Consul at Galveston.

THE MARKETS. New York, January 31.—Gold firm at 140.

New Orleans, January 31.—Cotton 18 1/2 to 18 1/4; sales 4,200 bales. W 3 1/2. Old 180 to 180 1/2.

European. Florence, January 31.—The Italian fleet has sailed immediately for Rio Parana. The Paraguay Government declines to explain its object.

More About the Indians.

We have been handed the following letter by our Postmaster, Mr. Gambie, from Mr. John Vance, of Castroville: CASTROVILLE, Texas, Jan. 31, 1868.

Postmaster at San Antonio:

Dear Sir:—The Indians are again raiding extensively in this county. On last evening they took twenty-five mules out of the arms of Mr. Villenais; and fifteen head of saddle horses from Mr. Wirtzback—all he owned; the horses of Mr. W. were in a fold near his house. Several other horses were stolen, but how many has not yet been ascertained.

This raid was made six miles above this place. The day previous to the raid, two persons dressed in Mexican garb passed through the settlement, making inquiries about the road, and stated that they had some cattle coming, freighted for San Antonio. It was remarked at the time that their looks indicated that they were Indians and not Mexicans, and their actions and inquiries excited suspicion. Unfortunately the suspicions of the neighborhood were too well verified; they were undoubtedly Indian spies. The Kickapoo are very enterprising but very treacherous neighbors.

Yours truly, JOHN VANCE, P. M.

THE HUNT FOR CANDIDATES.—The ex-Confederates, with Devine at the head, who have organized themselves into a "white man's party," had one of the most vigorous hunts after candidates to accept their nomination, ever known in the political history of Bexar county; every man of the least respectability, who they thought they could approach was offered their nomination, but none could be found so mean. Letters were written and committees were sent to quiet, good, loyal citizens, who feel deeply offended at the indignity offered them. At last the exhausted candidate hunters called John Fisher and John C. Carothers with the hope that Fisher will carry him through.

WHERE IS A BOKAY?—A worthy son of the Emerald Isle was brought up before the recent Grand Jury of this county to give evidence in a murder case. In making his statement he said when he saw one of the parties, "he had a large knife in his hand whittling a bokay."

This stumped the Jury, they had never heard of such an operation before, as a man "whittling a bokay," and the witness was asked what was it he was doing when he again repeated, "whittling a bokay." The wits of the Jury were fairly upset, so one could make out the idea of a man "whittling a bokay" and the witness seeing the dilemma the Jury was in, explained by saying the "kay (key) to an ox bow."

REFUSING TO ASSIST AN OFFICER.—Many of our citizens are perhaps not aware of the fact that to refuse to assist a policeman when called on to do so is an offense punishable by a heavy fine. The police are expected to quiet all disturbances and arrest all persons who violate the city law, or break the peace and if a policeman finds himself unable to arrest a peace breaker or law breaker or is overpowered he can call upon any person at hand to assist him and such person must obey or be punished, as by such refusal they participate in the offense of the person resisting arrest.

DISAGREEMENT.—During the past week the weather was cold and clear but on Sunday night changed, and became wet and stormy. Monday morning the ground was covered with sleet and everything wore a wintry look. During the forenoon the sleet turned into a cold rain and it continued to rain all day, besides being quite cold. The country needs rain.

Resign an Officer.—To resist an officer in the discharge of his duty is no light matter, and consequently police officers are armed with deadly clubs and dangerous shooting pistols so that if attacked they can defend themselves or if necessary can bring an unruly customer to his knees. Persons who disturb the peace and attempt to whip policemen should remember this, and a policeman who should allow himself to be whipped without using his weapons should be discharged forthwith.

MAYOR'S COURT—February 8.
Jacob Vancil for being drunk and sure of person, fined $3 and costs. Same party for being drunk and disturbing the peace fined $3 and costs.
Peter Smith for refusing to assist an officer to make an arrest when called upon to do so, fined $5 and costs.

Christian Burner for being drunk and noisy and for assaulting officer Tully who attempted to arrest him. Burner was knocked down by the officer and hurt so badly as not to be able to appear for trial.

County Court.—The County Court met on Monday morning and adjourned according to law until the first Monday after the adjournment of the District Court.

POLICE COURT.—The Police Court met on Monday and adjourned until next regular term. The butchers were ordered to have their accounts ready by next term; those failing will be presented to the Grand Jury.
Pot on to give the mayor wages. We learn that Mr. Fisher was put on with Carothers to give weight to the white man's ticket.

To the Voters of Bexar District.

The undersigned, committee appointed by the Conservative Union Mass Meeting held at Dryden Hall on the 29th inst., to select candidates to represent the citizens of the District comprising the counties of Bexar, Wilson, Kerr, Bander, Medina, Uvalde, Kinney, Maverick, Edwards and Zavala, to be voted for as Delegates to the contemplated Convention, have maturely considered the subject matter entrusted to them, and have unanimously selected the following named gentlemen, Charles F. Fisher and Dr. A. E. Carothers, as Conservative Union Candidates, opposed to Negro Suffrage in Texas, or the disfranchisement of any American citizen by the Convention for past political action or opinion.

- J. ROSENHEIMER, Chm.
- DR. A. E. CAROTHERS
- JOHN ANDERSON
- R. H. DRYDEN
- H. C. LOGAN
- S. A. MAVERICK
- DAVID RUSSELL
- T. J. DEVINE
- W. B. KNOX
- R. J. TEEL, Secy.

The above address is published in the Herald. We simply call the attention of all the loyal men of Bexar and the counties of this District to the list of names. Every decent loyal man who was mentioned in the first proceedings has indignantly refused to have anything to do with so scaly a concern.
