Letter to the President.

Sympathies of an Ex-Postmaster—The President advised to Stand by Principle.
(From the Kansas City Journal of Commerce.)
The following private letter has been written to Mr. Johnson by an ex-postmaster of Kansas City. It is full of sympathy, and intended to give back-bone to the President:
NEAR THE POST OFFICE, }
Kansas City, Mo., February 26. }
(PRIVATE.)
To Andrew Johnson, President ad interim:
Sir: You will remember me as having been one of your P. M's.
Knowing you well I thought proper to write you.
I see that the Rump which has fastened itself to the verge of the government, at the "other end of the avenue," is endeavoring to get you into trouble. If I understand it, the object is to remove you.
This is unpleasant, as I have had a Rump to try the same thing on me, and that successfully.
You are standing up for principle—so was I.
People said that I was mistaken, and didn't know what I was doing. Nobody accuses you of being mistaken, or not knowing what you are doing!
The conduct of such unprincipled men as Sheridan, Sickles and Pope shows you how men of their principles turn out and get turned out.
Congress proposes to give you a trial; this you never gave me. I had the people on my side, while you have got them on your back.
Congress hasn't got much individual sense, and collectively are half-way traitorous—they don't believe as you do, that treason should be made odious, and traitors offered a back seat—this, if nothing else, shows their disloyal spirit.
If Congress don't turn you out, the people will stand by you if you turn them out—either of you will be justifiable in acting.
You have got some back bone, which is more than can be said of Congress.
Specially you and I are bully good fellows; politically we differ as to the minor point, whether we are to have a government or not.
I helped turn you into office, and you helped turn me out. One good turn deserves another, and Congress is trying to screw its courage up to give you one more last turn.
All kinds of bad stories will be circulated concerning you, but pay no attention to them. Don't fret if the Washington Cob-mill is attributed with grinding out stories to the effect as is stated, when the impeachment vote was taken, that "the old man is gone up at last." Such statements are untrue, as there is no earthly or heavenly chance of your ever going up.
As this will probably be the last swing you ever will take around the circle, would it be out of place for me to suggest the appointment of a custodian for the Constitution and flag, with thirty-six stars—at least "ad interim!" Think of this, oh! Sympathizing with you as I do in this, your latest trial, I am feelingly yours,
EX-P. M., ad interim.

AN ADDRESS.
St. Marks, February 25, 1868.
To the Voters of Atascosa, Karnes and Goliad.
GENTLEMEN:—Having received, some ten days since, a request to run my name as a Union candidate for a delegate to the pending Convention, signed by numerous citizens, to which I beg leave to respond; for I must confess it is a proud reflection to know that I yet live in the memory and confidence of a people who acted in concert with me and others in trying to avert the great troubles and calamities which has actually befallen our once happy land.

It is not untrue, that men who stood boldly for the Union, against popular opinion, passed through many fiery ordeals, and possessed a liberal share of firmness. Nor is the task much lessened; for when we retrospect the past, and see that the legitimate fruits of the war falls, like the dew of heaven alike upon all, and that, in consequence thereof, several of those proud States whose strong arm the Government is mainly indebted for her existence, has entered their protest against the results of the war, is it not time for the most sanguine to tremble for the future, and gird on the whole armor of patriotic zeal, and move on to civil organization, which will insure to us a representation in the councils of the nation, in which dispassionate and united efforts may be made to establish such basis as will be productive of harmony and a restoration of confidence and a perpetuity of the Government?
But, alas! our political horizon is greatly clouded and our land in a distracted condition, and, from recent developments made by our journals, there is much to be feared from the demonstration made against the acceptance of the Military bill, which refusal, to my mind, will only sink us deeper and deeper into helplessness, humiliation and misery.
Therefore, you need men to represent you in this all-trying crisis, of firmness and capacity. Had the voice of my countrymen given me a seat in that honorable body, my humble efforts would have been exerted, as hitherto, for a speedy restoration of the State to the Union, as well as a close adherence to such changes in our organic laws as the great change of affairs seem to demand. But, fellow-citizens, the results of the election is one that you have a right to be proud of; for, in the person of Dr. Jordan, you will find all the qualities necessary to honorably fill the high station to which he is elevated by the vote of your District.
Ever grateful for the manifestation of esteem, fellow-citizens, I remain, with the greatest respect, your humble and obedient servant,
L. B. CAMP.

An Oligarchy or a Republic?
The difference between an oligarchy and a republic consist in the restriction or enlargement of the right suffrage. When it became necessary for Congress to establish governments in the rebellious States, where according to Andrew Johnson, "all civil government had been overthrown," it was necessary to choose between an oligarchy and a republic—between monopoly and equal rights. As Congress has no right to guarantee to any State an oligarchical form of government, but is expressly required to guarantee to all the States a republican form, it proceeded to legislate in the direction of impartial suffrage. The rebels and Copperheads who are fighting so fiercely against Congress, are fighting against republican government. And this is the real explanation and motive of all their deadly hate and antagonism. The ex-rebels cannot endure a regular and genuine republican form of government. They cannot tolerate equal rights, and democratic usages. The traitors must have special privileges; they must be endowed with certain particular prerogatives and monopolies; they must have more power, or higher station, or larger liberty than their fellows, or they will not submit to any government but that of Military force. The form of society these men are struggling for is not republic-

JOB WORK.

Our patrons are solicited to send in their orders for Bill-Heads, Cards, Circular letters, Checks and every variety of Job Work.

We have secured the services of a first class workman from the east, and have made our Job Department as complete, as is possible to have it.

DIVISION AND EDUCATION.

In a former article we spoke of the necessity of a division of our State into two or more States in order that the laws may be more perfectly administered and protection guaranteed to life and property. Next to a strict enforcement of the law, the punishment of crime, and the safety of the citizen in the enjoyment of his life, opinion and property, comes the education of the children of the State.

A common school system is almost impracticable in so large a State as Texas; it is the experience of this country that the New England States have always had successful common schools while New York and Pennsylvania have never been able to attain the common school perfection of New England.

Slavery was a complete barrier to the education of the people in the South; it rested its very foundation in ignorance. The only educational effort made was to furnish accomplishments to the offspring of the aristocratic planter. Education was interdicted by law from the slave, and by custom from the poor laboring whites.

Violating the Stock Law.—Four Mexicans, José M. Ramirez, A. Garcia, José M. Benavides, and D. Martinez, were arrested and brought before Mayor Thielepape, yesterday, Thursday, on a charge of violating the State law in regard to selling stock without being able to show their title to the same.

important interests of this section of the State. These parties say they purchased these animals from their neighbors in Zapata county, and were ignorant of the law.

New York, March 25.—Gold opened 138 1/2.

LONDON, March 25.—Consols 93 1/2 to 1.

LIVERPOOL, March 25.—Cotton firmer sales 12000 bales; quotations unchanged.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The Canadian Government will apply through England for damages including the loss of life caused by Fenian raids; this movement complicates the Alabama claim.

Senate on motion ordered 300 copies daily, and finally 500 copies of the impeachment proceedings printed.

At 12.30 o'clock Wade announced suspension of business for impeachment.

Order was argued until 1 o'clock when Chase proclaimed the court open.

Journal read and managers were informed that the President's counsel had appeared.

Davis submitted the motion that the Senate as conducted did not constitute impeachment court as contemplated by the Constitution.

Only Davis and McCreery both of Ky., voted aye. Chase intimated that the court was ready for the President's answer.

Stanberry said it was ready but the counsel had devoted every hour allowed ignoring their own private business and encroaching on habitual refreshments and recreation to its preparation.

Curtis, Stanberry and Everts each read in turn.

In answer to the first article the President argues, all the question involved and his duty under circumstances claiming his constitutional power of removing and so considers the organization of the War Department and relations of the Secretary of War to his administration claiming him as his constitutional adviser and showing the President's responsibility for the Secretary's actions.

He proceeds to show Stanton has become hostile to the administration and could not longer occupy the position towards the administration contemplated and that the President could no longer assume responsibility for his actions.

He further claims that the action of the Senate did not restore Stanton to War Office, but War Office was technically vacant when he appointed Thomas.

Familiar laws and proceedings were quoted at length to sustain this position.

Answering the second article the President asserts that the War Office was vacant and quotes laws to sustain Thomas' appointment.

In his answer to the third article is a general denial.

In answering the fourth article, he denies any conspiracy whatever; his action was confined to the notes to Thomas and Stanton—appointing one and removing the other.

In answering the fifth, sixth, and seventh articles, the same allegations occur—all backed by the assertion that he had no object whatever but to maintain the prerogative of his office by legal means.

In answering the eighth article he disavows any intention of taking possession of the money or property of the War Office, and again insists, by argument, illusions and precedent, that he acted in a Constitutional manner.

In answering the ninth article, he quotes the interview at length, and his protest against the side to the Army Appropriations bill, in which he claims that it deprived him of his Constitutional duty of commanding the Army.

In answering the tenth article, the President denies that the specifications give the truth in a verbatim statement or argument in quoting from his speech, and in case Senators enter charges, he demands a full investigation of what he said and meant.

In answer, the President claims, in a manner somewhat defiant, his freedom of speech. He claims that, though President, he is an American citizen.

In answering the eleventh article, he claims that he cannot answer it, because it designates no design, device, or attempt, involving no action which could be construed into a high misdemeanor. The President retains his right to replication.

The managers announced that their replication would be ready to-morrow at one o'clock.

The President's counsel asked for 30 days to prepare for trial.

Two hours' argument ensued, and 30 days was refused by a vote of 41 to 12.

A motion to postpone the fixing of the time until after reflection by the House, failed.

Reverdy Johnson moved allowing ten days as amendatory to the motion from the presiding council, for a reasonable time, but the Court and Senate adjourned.

In the Supreme Court there was no official announcement regarding the intentions of the Court in the McCord case.

In the original case of the Georgia vs. Gen. Grant et al., it was ordered that notice of the motion for a preliminary injunction will be served on the parties, returnable before Friday next.

In the impeachment scene there was more fashion in the galleries to-day. The confusion regarding the procedure is almost painfully evident.

Chief Justice Chase had his hands full in restraining Howard, Drake and others from amending motions of the managers on either side, and failing, their motion to table them.

The effects of the President's answer to Stanton's remarks in saying "public considerations of a high character induced me to retain the office," elicited quite a grin between Washburn of Illinois and Schenk of Ohio.

The utmost gravity prevailed. The countenances of the impeachers were evidently lengthened as the answer proceeded to its close.

The votes to-day indicated nothing beyond a desire on the part of the Republicans to hurry up the matter. Those Republicans who were regarded certain voted finally from the evidence and law, against the thirty days replication.

The managers assert they wanted on grounds of public interest that the unfortunate disagreement between the two branches may be removed, that the trial be pushed, so that peace may be restored to the country.

Logan was the spokesman of the managers to-day. His hoarse style contrasted strongly with the quiet eloquence of the President's counsel.

St. Louis, March 24.—Cora James alias Proctor, famous here and in Chicago for bringing suits against all sorts of persons on frivolous matter, was committed to jail as a common sot.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—In secret session Johnson modified his motion giving the President ten days, by making the trial commence on the first of April.

Williams moved that the consideration of the application be postponed until the managers opened the case and submitted the evidence, 9 days, 22 days.

Anthony, Chandler, Dixon, Grimes, Harlan, Patterson of Tenn., and Williams voted nay.

Summer moved that the Senate proceed with the trial from day to day, but withdrew it.

The order finally adopted was as follows: that the Senate commence the trial on Monday the 30th, and proceed then, with all convenient dispatch, under the rules of the Senate, sitting as a Court for the trial of impeachment.

It is noticed that Wade don't vote.

LONDON, March 24.—Consols unchanged.

LIVERPOOL, March 24.—Evening—Cotton quiet and unchanged, sales 10,000 bales.

ABILENE, Kansas, March, 1868.

To the Stock Drivers OF TEXAS.

The undersigned take this method of informing the Cattle Drivers of Texas that our Shipping Yards at Abilene, Kansas, will be open free to all to ship this season, these yards are on the Union Pacific road, 100 miles west of Topeka, Kansas, on the only legally authorized route from Texas to the north-west; and are situated in an excellent grazing region, these yards are extensively advertised in the leading northwestern papers, calling attention of all classes of buyers, where they can come and supply themselves; and this point will, without doubt, be the best one to which to drive and sell the surplus cattle of the Southwest. Once here, you are accessible by rail to all the markets of the country. We would advise to drive only fall grown steers, as they are the most wanted. The proper route to drive is via Baker's Crossing on Red river, thence to Fort Arbuckle; thence to Chisum ranch; thence to the mouth of little Arkansas; thence to Abilene; total distance from Northern Texas about 850 miles. We will be at Abilene in the trade, buying, shipping and selling on Commission, &c. We refer to all with whom we deal the past season. W. K. McCOY & BROS. march20 d30d

Entertainment

AT THE CASINO HALL,

Saturday March 28th, 1868.

None but members and their guests admitted. (msrch27d2t)

COTTON.—A long train of Mexican carts passed through our city yesterday, Thursday, on their way to Mexico.

Knocked Down.—Yesterday, a person named Pique accused another person named Webber of falsehood, the first named person Pique'd himself up a few seconds afterwards, accusing the stars of making moons of themselves.

New Mail Route.—Major Ficklin has received an order to establish a new route through to Presidio del Norte, on the Rio Grande, and Mr. Kelley has been recommended as Post Master. Presidio del Norte is on the main thoroughfare to the City of Chihuahua and the authorities at that place will undoubtedly connect themselves with the outer world by establishing a line in connection with this.

A DESPERATE STATE OF AFFAIRS.—We learn from a gentleman just in from the scene of Topo's outrages, that the entire country, is alarmed along the road to Helena, even travel is stopped, for fear of a large gang of desperadoes, said to number thirty. We hope Gen. Reynolds will change the civil law tune.

A COMPANY OFFER TO GO BAIL.—Curious scene at the Court-house.—Yesterday, Thursday forenoon, considerable curiosity was excited by the appearance of a company of soldiers, all looking as neat as pins, with no other arms but the bayonets—drawn up in front of the Court house. The company was under the command of Bvt. Lt. Col. Cresson, who had come to present a bond, signed by the whole company, headed by his own name and that of Dr. Sharpe, asking for the release of the soldiers, Turner and Klyne. Capt. Fisk did not consider the bond in accordance with the requirements of law, and refused to release them. The company was marched back to quarters. To simplify the matter, the Commanding officer at the Post should issue an order to Capt. Fisk to release these men, particularly if it is thought they are suffering innocently. The Military is superior to the Civil authority until reconstruction is consummated, and military men should have no hesitancy in acting accordingly.

WAGONS, DRAYS, ETC.—In our advertising columns will be found the advertisement of A. Staacke, agent for Wilson, Childs & Co., Philadelphia. This old and reliable firm have supplied much of the rolling stock for our Texas roads. We are an advocate for the home-manufactured article, and give our voice in its favor always; but as our factories have not yet reached the capacity to supply the market, we advise all who wish to buy an imported article to give Mr. Staacke a call. Philadelphia wagons have a reputation from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Wilson, Childs & Co. is the only firm who keeps separate parts of their wagons for the replacement of broken or wornout parts.

A SPOKE.—Three gentlemen of standing in this city, recently started out on a spree, and wound up gloriously drunk. The next morning they woke up considerably bruised and battered, and, thinking they had probably each whipped the other, they one after the other quietly went to the same Justice of the Peace and complained against themselves, each paying fine and costs amounting in all to about $20.

If any doubts are entertained of this story, the "doubting Thomas" can examine the records of a Justice of the Peace not a thousand miles from the clerk's office of the District Court in this city.

MARRIED.—Two persons, inexperienced in such matters, engaged a Justice of the Peace to tie the knot for them. Subsequently hearing the Justice was a single man, they deserted him, and engaged Judge Stribling. They explained their conduct by saying they feared the single man would not understand the business.

Wool.—Mr. T. H. Zanderson of the firm of Zanderson & Cole, New York and Galveston is on a visit to our city with a view to establish an agency at this point. Mr. Z. has long been engaged in the wool trade and has as good judgment (if success is a criterion) as any person in the country. After traveling over the State since the 5th inst., he decides this to be the best business center in the State, and would immediately establish a branch of his house in San Antonio if we had railroad connection to the Gulf.

The wrongs and temptations in the commission system have shown these gentlemen the impossibility of confidence between the producer and the dealer, they have ignored this system and only buy for cash, depending upon their knowledge of demand and supply for their profits.

Mr Zanderson favors a wool-growers convention and a permanent organization of wool-growers, with headquarters in San Antonio.

ANOTHER MURDER.—Wednesday night, (25th inst.) a desperado attacked and murdered an innocent Mexican at the 16 mile house on the Sulphur Springs road. After robbing the store he escaped unmolested.

This is undoubtedly another of the crimes chargeable to Taylor gang of Texas outlaws.

TOPE PLAYING HIGHWAYMAN.—HE SHOOTS A POLANDER AND PLAYS HIMSELF OFF AS FISK'S DEPUTY.—Tope, one of the desperadoes who a few months since was arrested and turned over to the military authorities, and by the military given in charge of the civil authorities, and by the aid of a shrewd lawyer again turned loose upon the community, has been showing his hand. Word came to the city on Tuesday to the effect that Tope had made his appearance in the Post Oaks, fourteen miles east of here, representing himself as Sheriff Fisk's Deputy; he arrested a man on the charge of stealing rails; he arrested several colored men and robbed them of their arms; they proceeded to rob a Poland, who resisted, and Tope shot him, the ball taking effect in the arm and side. Captain Fisk sent Deputy Thomas to the scene of Tope's operations, who found the reports true, but could get no trace of the gay highwayman. This is another of the beautiful instances of civil law being made superior to the military. Tope should have been summarily tried by military authority, and punished, on the charges preferred against him at the time of his first arrest. Tope is accompanied by some desperate confederates. The people have turned out to hunt for the desperadoes, and may succeed in catching them. The Poland who was shot is an old man some 80 years of age. The wound is not considered dangerous.

ONE OF THE TAYLORS REPORTED KILLED.—The telegraph operator at Bastrop, conversing with the operator in this city, reports that two men named Taylor were caught in the act of stealing horses; one was shot dead, and the other was secured and placed in jail. It is surmised that they belong to the Taylor gang.

THREE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS DESTROYED.—At the meeting of the City Council on Wednesday night last, a resolution was passed to destroy all the cancelled scrip which had accumulated in the Mayor's office up to the present time, amounting to over three hundred thousand dollars. Forthwith a fire was kindled and the conflagration accomplished in the presence of the Board.

In sifting over the packages the autographs of several Mayors appeared—Lockwood, Sweet, Maverick, Boquer, Lyons, Cleveland, and Thielsapap—some of the scrip dating back as far as 1858.

TELEGRAMS.—At last the wires speak. If the first vote of the Higher Court is indicative of the prospects of the acting President, his chances are lost. The defense entered a plea that Congress was not a competent court under the Constitution, ten States being unrepresented. The plea was sustained by two votes—Davis and McCreary of Kentucky.

The general tone of the dispatch leads to a feeling of doubt, but the feeling is all the result of the verbiage of the press reporters, rather than the facts. For instance, contrasting the "style" of Gen. Logan with the "quiet eloquence" of the President's counsel is plainly a rebel distinction.
