WHAT A RAILROAD TO THE

railroad from the Gulf to the interior of Western Texas will cause a new turn even in the stream of public tracel A regular line or lines of steamers would be established between Texas and New York and other ports. And the traveling public would prefer the single change from the railroad to a splendid scena steamer, which would land them in New York city at a reasonable rate of passage, to the innumerable changes and great expense of a trip by way of New Orleans.

Emigrams would find it easy and chesp to reach our State, while at prescut there seems a perfect net work of difficulties in the way of the emigrant. As an aid to emigration a railroad from San Antonio is of the first importance.

There are hundreds of patural undeveloped products which would find a market if we only had a railroad to the Gulf. Our splendid hay crop, which will this year be produced upon our broad prairies, like the crup last year will ripen and be consumed by the fire king. The hay which could be cut within fifty miles of this city would bring us bundreds of thousands of dollars if we had a railroad to take it to the Gulf... Our lime kiln's would find a new and extensive market, and the beefpacking interest which is now seeking, the coast, on account of want of transportation, would concentrate about our city on account of the superiority of our atmosphere for curing beef and the nearness to the finest cattle region in the world, from which the beef dan be had fat and healthy d'All the latent epergy of the country would be nwakened by the whietle of the locomotive, and

District Court.-The Hoxie Land Case involving about $1,000,000 interest, is still occupying the District Court, this is an old Spanish land claim.

FLOWERS -- Beautiful boquets are be coming common. The China trees load the air with fragrance, the prairies are putting forth millions of flowers and all nature seems to be putting on the robe of paradice All'varieties of the floral kingdom do well here, and every one who owns a plot of ground should plant roses, and other flowering shrubs; even the dwellers in rented dwellings could raise a few pets in boxes. Flowers are to the material world what love is to the human heart.

Or Frederick Douglass, the New Bed-ford (Mass.) Standard says: "Twenty-seven years ago, a jugitive from Southern bondage, found his way to this city. He received here his first earnings as a freeman. He obtained employment in a foundry, and while blowing the bellows his eyes were fixed on the newspaper slip stuck up before him, from which he was striving to obtain knowledge. After toiling here for a few years, aged by a few who recognized in him the capacity of being more than a mere day laborer, he went to other and higher fields of toil. Two evenings ago the fugitive lectured before our lyceum to the largest audience of the season, lis-tened to attentively by an audience composed of the best of our citizens. The next morning he breakfasted with the gentleman who paid the first nine pence he carned twenty-seven years pre-
