LETTER UPON DIVISION.

Editors of the San Antonio Express:

I am glad to notice in your issue (weekly) of the 14th inst., that your Executive Committee on the division of the State has deemed it prudent to dispatch a representative to Washington, for the purpose of counteracting the influences which may be brought to bear by those opposed to the movement.

It is to my mind unaccountable how any one who has simply the prosperity of the country and the good order and efficient government of its inhabitants at heart, can oppose the measure; for nothing besides can be done which will compensate, even in a degree, the advantages which, in my opinion, would result from the organization of three or four States of convenient size. We should commence on the east and north, where the population is tolerably compact, and set stakes, one, two or three, as may be found convenient or practicable, leaving the residue of territory westward for future subdivision.

The rebel element, except in and around San Antonio, will, as a rule, oppose the proposed division or indeed any division, because they see plain enough that it will aid greatly in the overthrow of the compact organization of their party, while at the same time the hands of the State and United States officials will be strengthened in the enforcement of the laws. Not only this, but it will give an impetus to immigration and enterprise generally. The separation and consequent isolation of the old secession leaders and politicians, would require new combinations upon new political centers, which in the face of the new elements of political power efficiently organized and installed in office under a new constitution, with the sanction and support of the United States, would present difficulties which even the fertile resources of Southern secessionists will be found unequal.

The additional expense to the people for the support of three governments instead of one will be found to be very inconsiderable, though if it should be doubled, this would be a small matter in comparison with the benefits which would certainly accrue. Why, sir, a good government would in two years more than double our taxable property, independent of the new sources of revenue opened up under our improved condition.

Many protest against surrendering the name of Texas. This is an argument which the adherents of the "lost cause" may well put forward, but why any loyal man should object is difficult to divine. For myself, though I have been thirty-one years in the country, I would gladly exchange it for any name less infamous. If we shall be admitted into the union of States under new names for the respective divisions of the territory, perhaps foreigners seeking homes in America might not even remember that the State of "Guadalupe," "Sabine" or "Trinity" were subdivisions of the old State of Texas. If so, it would be a positive gain. Let the name go. It is now a curse, whatever we may once have thought of it.

As to the increased cost to the people of carrying on three or four governments, we in this section need not complain, for I feel assured that the examinations of the records in the Revenue department of the Republic and the State will show that the counties west of the Trinity river for many years, if not from the first organization of the Republic, have contributed largely over half the taxes. I am not sure but that the counties west of the Brazos, including Galveston and Harris, have contributed half the yearly revenue.

The division must be made whoever may oppose, and we shall have some opposition in our own ranks, at least inertness and want of sympathy if not active opposition, unless our friends come up in a body earnest advocates of the measure. In that case there will be none, except on the part of the secessionists.

Yours truly,
GUADALUPE.

OUR TREATY WITH THE GERMAN STATES.

The President sent to the House on the 4th instant, a report from the Secretary of State in relation to the negotiations and treaties with any of the German States since the 1st of January last, relating to the rights of naturalized citizens. In one of the letters from Mr. Bancroft, January 20th, he says:

Count Bismarck informs me that the British Government has inquired of him as to the answer of the Prussian Government on the subject of naturalization. In reply he informed them of the intention of this Government to come to an understanding with that of America, according to request.

The remarks of Count Bismarck implied that the British Government is inclined to follow the example of Prussia, and that the settlement of the question will be virtually a settlement for Great Britain. Mr. Seward to Mr. Bancroft, February 13, says:

"I have informally suggested to the British Minister here that a proceeding, in a form of mutual of common legislation, in the two countries would be more simple, and, probably, easier than a formal negotiation in the naturalization laws existing between the United States and the two Governments respectively, inasmuch as there are so many questions that urgently require settlement between the United States and Great Britain, besides that of the conflicting naturalization laws. The documents include a copy of the treaty recently concluded between the United States and the North German Confederation."

Mr. Bancroft, in explaining the history of the negotiation, says:

"On the question of the right of expatriation there arose no discussion. It is recognized by the laws of both countries. On the question of residence as a condition of naturalization which the mother country should respect, there existed no difference; the time of residence was a point of more delicacy. The Prussian law required an absence of ten years; ours a residence of five. With liberality and frankness Count Bismarck declared himself willing to accept the American rule, as it had received the sanction of Administration of Washington, and had become fixed by the usage of more than three score years and ten. Should the United States see fit for its own purposes, as lately in the act of July 17, 1862, to concede the naturalization on a shorter residence, their right to do so is not impaired, but the meaning of this treaty is that they will not ask North Germany to recognize such naturalization till the adopted citizen shall have completed the term of residence now required by their normal laws."

"Humphrey," the Galveston correspondent of the San Antonio Express, denies having written anything to that paper which impugned the loyalty of Max Mobius or warranted the assertion that Mr. M. "is a rebel spy" upon the office of the Bureau of Civil Affairs.—Austin Republican.

The above extract is false in fact, after reiterating his statement that the person elevated to the control of the Civil Bureau by Hanegeck's rebel associates, had furnished private information to Flake's Bulletin under the nom de plum of Saxon. Humphrey says:

"Whether Mr. Mobius violated his official trusts or not in so doing, was a matter for his superiors to decide; your correspondent simply gave the facts in the case offering no comments thereon."

Republican papers in Texas have sufficient data against their enemies, without deserting the lines of truth to assail friends.

It looks as if the Austin Republican's fealty was to pap instead of principle. Max Mobius was a Union man by accident. We know the fellow and his private conversation is full of "d——d the nigger." Whoever is responsible for his present place is either dialoyal or very young.

A New York letter says: "Daniel Drew is a short, thick-set man, with a rather shriveled, worn face. He dresses very plainly, carries a cane, and has quite a farmer-like appearance. Commodore Vanderbilt, now in his seventy-sixth year, is one of the handsomest men in New York. He has a skin and complexion almost as fair as a woman. He dresses very neatly, always wears a white cravat, and a ministerial cut coat, and would be taken by ninety-nine in a hundred for a preacher."

The citizens of Dickenson county assembled on Saturday, April 4th, at Lumbarger's Ford...

The meeting was called to order by F. F. Hersey, Esq., of Abilene...

On motion, the Chair appointed Mr. Lyman Field, J. Marvin, T. C. Henry...

The Committee reported the following preamble and resolutions: Whereas, Our experience in connection with the introduction into and shipment from...

Resolved, That we, the citizens of Dickenson county, invite and encourage the presence of the trade as beneficial to every permanent interest of our people.

The resolutions were adopted, and that copies of the proceedings be prepared and sent to the Junction City Union, Salina Herald, and Texas papers for publication.

PROPOSALS FOR WOOD.—We invite attention to the Quartermaster's advertisement for wood to be supplied at Forts McKavitt, Quitman and Duncan. The season of contracts is again opening.

SOLD OUT.—One of the proprietors of the San Antonio Herald has withdrawn from that concern—Sweet has traded his interest to Mr. Thompson, one of the former proprietors. This either augurs a better tone for that paper, or that the ship is sinking, and one of the old rats has taken the alarm. The retirement of Sweet from the Herald concern materially weakens its mental capacity. His Yankee tack and shrewdness was all that seemed to keep it together. He was its orator and public man, its representative abroad, in fact its brains.

COUNTY COURT.—The April term of the County Court of Bexar county, Hon. Wm. W. Gamble presiding, commenced yesterday.

There being no jury in attendance, a special venire was issued for twelve jurors to appear this morning at nine o'clock.

Owing to the lengthy session of the District Court, which has prevented the holding of the County Court since the last December term, there is quite an accumulation of business on the docket.

THE TURNER'S FESTIVAL.—The annual festival of the Turners came off last Sunday at Mr. Guenther's Mill, just below the city. The Turners went early to the ground, and all day long until sundown crowds of people, young and old, numbering at least one thousand persons, congregated under the shady trees on the banks of the river. Singing, dancing, games and Turnverein exercises were the order of the day. Refreshment tables were well attended, and every one seemed to enjoy the occasion. The day passed over with joy and pleasure. Several boats, filled with happy companies, passed up and down the river. The only accident which happened was the capsizing of a boat and the precipitation of the company into the river, resulting in nothing more serious than a pleasant bath. The sultriness of the weather was a serious drawback to the pleasure of the company.

MAYOR'S COURT.—April 20th.—E. Robbin, for furious riding through Commerce street, fined $2 and costs.

August Fish, for being drunk upon the streets, fined $3 and costs.

Louis Koruramp, hackman, for fast driving over the Main Bridge, fined $2 and costs.

J. Hubbard, for furious riding through the streets, fined $2 and costs.

Thos. McNeal, for being drunk and disturbing the peace and quiet of a family, fined $8 and costs.

Vilviam Billass, drunk and disorderly, fined $3 and costs.

Charles Affelder, for furious riding through the public streets, fined $2 and costs.

Leonard, Henkles, for committing same offense, fined $2 and costs.

R. Kennedy, for assaulting an officer, was fined by a jury 50 cents and costs before Justice Briggs.

Jose Casiana, for driving over the Commerce street bridge faster than a walk, fined $2 and costs.

Max Johnson, for racing his horse down Commerce street and across the main plaza on Sunday afternoon, was fined $2 and costs.

A CRUEL JOKE.—MAJOR MOORE PLACED IN AN EMBARRASSING POSITION.—A WILFUL FORGERY, WITH INTENT TO INVOLVE THE EDITORS OF THIS PAPER IN DIFFICULTY.—In Monday's paper we printed a marriage notice of a business man of this city. The circumstances connected with this notice are infamous, and calculated to excite the gentleman to a pitch of rage that the chivalry would consider a justification of murder; and Mr. Sawyer, not being above the passions of human nature, within a short time of the appearance of the paper, made his appearance at the office with a loaded revolver, (inquiring for the editor), accompanied by another man, who he brought to see him "kill the writer of the marriage notice." Being informed that the editors were at breakfast, Mr. S. took his position in front of the office, impatiently waiting. On the appearance of Major Moore, Mr. S. hailed him; and the ignorance on Major Moore's part, of the notice being a cruel forgery, probably prevented an encounter, as the Major approached the victim, intending to congratulate him. On learning the affair to be a hoax, explanations and arrangements were made to ferret out the cowardly sneak originating the hoax.

That the intention was to have the editor murdered by one of his friends, will appear in the following details:

The marriage notice (as published) came in the regular mail from Castroville, accompanied by a well-written note, signed "Earl Sawyer," directing the notice to be printed twice in the Daily and once in the Weekly Express, and directing the bill to be sent to Mr. Sibert, a partner of Mr. Sawyer.

The details of the note are gotten up by some one familiar with newspaper phrases, and we believe the writer can be ferreted out.

INSTRUCTIONS TO THE CITY POLICE.

1st. All Rules and Regulations heretofore adopted for the observance of the Peace, are still in force, "and any violation of the printed Rules or verbal instructions received from the Mayor, or Chief of Police," will be punished by immediate dismissal from the force.

2nd. The Police will observe closely the condition of the streets, side-walks, yards and vacant lots in their respective Wards, and report to the Mayor's office all the necessary repairs required; also any violation of the City Ordinances relating to nuisances.

3rd. Police officers are required to make themselves thoroughly conversant with all the City Ordinances, that they may impart any desirable information to the citizens, relating thereto.

4th. Copies of the most important Ordinances will be posted up in the Mayor's office, and also at the Police Station in the Market.

5th. When a fire is discovered, the Police will immediately sound an alarm with their whistles, and the officer on duty nearest to the Engine Houses, and alarm bells, will hasten to those points, ring the bells and direct the firemen to the locality of the fire. When going to a fire, the Police will cry "fire," giving the Ward, Street, &c.

6th. The Officer upon duty in the vicinity of the residences of the Mayor and Chief Marshal, will, if the fire occurs at night, hasten to inform those officers before going to the fire.

7th. Policemen shall in no manner interfere with the duties of the firemen, except to render all the assistance in their power towards saving life or property, and they shall also require all other citizens to do the same.

T. H. L. PAYNE, Chief of Police.

Approved, this 15th day of April, '68. W. C. A. THIELEPAPE, Mayor of the City of San Antonio.

An old Democrat in New Hampshire who heard heavy firing on the morning after election, without having read the morning paper, took down his musket and began to fire it with great enthusiasm. On learning of his mistake he protested that he was "only killing polecats."
