Ramic China Grass, Rhea.

Editors Missouri Democrat:
As it is impossible to answer the numerous letters which I have received, and receive daily, to give information of the culture, &c., of the "China grass," I am obliged to take this method.
Such letters which have not been answered yet, particularly on tobacco seed, will be answered as soon as I have received a new supply—in a few days.

"Boehmeria nivea," formerly known as "Utrica nivea," is a member of the nettle tribe. It is called "Tchou-ma" in China. In Sumatra this plant is known as "Ramic" "Kalmoi," or Caloee bemp. Experiments with this plant have resulted in proving that it can be grown successfully in many parts of the United States, especially the cotton growing States; also Missouri, Kentucky, Maryland, and other States lying nearly in the same latitude. Plants are easily produced from seeds. These are very minute and will require to be sown, and the young plants treated in a similar manner to that adopted in raising the tobacco. The soil should be worked, only moderately enriched, and properly pulverized. The plant is very susceptible of cultivation and propagation in various modes, increasing readily by seeds and suckers. Its growth is rapid and luxuriant, vying in vigor with the rank-est tropical weeds. The colonial botanist of Jamaica found one of its shoots attain the height of six and a half feet in fourteen days, and ultimately eight and a half feet, while in China and the East Indies, where it is highly cultivated, eight feet is the height mentioned it now makes, from which fibre six feet long is obtained.

The Chinese have for centuries made by hand labor various descriptions of "grass cloth," well known in America and Europe, and of great strength and beauty, from the fibre of "Boehmeria." Large quantities of the grass have at various times been brought over to England, and probably also to the United States, in the hope of finding a market among the dry goods manufacturers, who are always on the look out for new materials, but it has hitherto been found impossible to produce a true "grass cloth" by machinery. The fibre is rather brittle, though very strong, and it is found that the China grass cloth of commerce is only to be woven by hand labor, in which of course the Chinese themselves are beyond the reach of competition. Several machines, intended to break the unrotted stems, were originated, tested and abandoned during fifty years. L. W. Wright & Co., obtained finally a patent for a process for preparing this fibre, which removed the practical difficulties preventing its use.
It consists of an ingenious arrangement for boiling the items in an alkaline solution, after steeping twenty-four hours in cold water and twenty-four longer in water of a temperature of 90 degrees.
The fibre is then thoroughly washed in pure water, and then subjected to the action of a current of high pressure steam till nearly dry.

Great quantities are now imported into England, and a new impetus has been given to trade by recent successes in attempts to perfect the processes of its manufacture. Beautiful specimens of China grass goods were exhibited at the international exhibition.

The market value of the raw material has for some years past maintained itself in England at the very high rate of eighty pounds per ton. Two things are certain in this respect: one, that there is now and will be a practically limitless market in England for all the raw grass that can be imported, at from seventy to eighty pounds per ton; the other, that under any fluctuations of the market the material is intrinsically so valuable that it will always in the future command a price as high as that of cotton, and nearly or quite as high as that of worsted itself, if not even higher.
There will be a great and rapidly increasing market for a certain vegetable production at a very high price. We have vast tracts of country, which being in the same latitude and with very much the same climate as those districts of China of which the grass is native, we should be able to grow this production to great advantage.
Farmers who wish to experiment can receive seed of "Boehmeria" gratis, by addressing,
THEODORE PFAU,
St. Louis, April 8, 1868. Box 3172.

John Bull is again alarmed at our progress in naval architecture. The English Army and Navy Gazette, alluding to the extraordinary speed attained by the new steam frigate Wampanog, exclaims: "What would we not give to have a class of vessels with such a heavy armament, and with anything like the speed?" Chicago is planting elm trees fifty feet high.

FURTHER PARTICULARS OF THE MURDER OF Mr. G. F. EBER.—Since our paper was issued on Saturday, we have received the following letter from Gen.
Norton, giving the result of the preliminary examination of the supposed murderer of Eber.

ROCKWALL, TEXAS,
April 10, 1868.
FRIEND SWINDLELLS—Since I wrote you last four men have been arrested on suspicion of having had a hand in the murder of Geo. F. Eber. Finally to night Shelton Howard was, by Justices Stephens and Boydston, committed to the charge of the Sheriff and jail during, upon evidence that scarcely admits of a doubt as to his murder of Eber. I have not now time more than to say that throughout this investigation, and ever since this highway robbery was committed, this entire community have taken a most lively interest in bringing the guilty to punishment. Such conduct is worthy of all praise. The evidence is pretty much all circumstantial, but it points clearly and indisputably to Shelton Howard as the murderer.

I have not time to write more now, having been detained here several days by high water and attendance on the trial.
Respectfully yours, A. B. NORTON.
[Dallas Herald Extra.]

CURTIS AND BUTLER AND THEIR CLIENTS CONTRADICT.—"Occasional," the Washington correspondent of Forney's Press, under date of April 9th, says:

The forte of ex Justice Curtis is to open a great case, and he is doing that for his present client with the skill and clearness of a well-read and well-bred lawyer. Saying nothing new, (for excuses for the crimes of Andrew Johnson are as old as these crimes themselves,) he is, nevertheless, placing a perfect armory of aggressive weapons in the hands of the eminent manager (Mr. Bingham) who is to close the trial in the name of the American people.

The galleries were brilliant and crowded. The party of reaction was represented by its sympathizers, North and South, and there was respectful attention throughout; but whether because the ex-Justice had no heart in his cause, or lacked the voice and the passion to reach the hearts of others, or was a stranger to the intense feeling that now throbs in every loyal bosom in this exciting hour, it is certain that he produced none of those emotions among his hearers which followed General Butler from the beginning to the end of his splendid inaugural of the prosecution. Indeed, the difference between the arguments of the two men was precisely the difference between their respective clients—Butler speaking for an insulted and betrayed nation, and Curtis for their insult and betrayer. All the best instincts of humanity are enlisted on the side for which Butler speaks; all the very worst on that defended by Curtis.

The New York Herald says the President of the Senate and prospective President of the United States is from Ashtabula, Ohio, Edwin M. Stanton is from Steubenville, Ohio. The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court is from Ohio. Senator Sherman, of Ohio, is Chairman of the Senate Committee on Finance. Bingham, of Ohio, is Chairman of the Impeachment Managers on behalf of the House of Representatives. Those facts speak well for the Ohio politicians, and are otherwise suggestive. The Ciu. Commercial adds, that the three promise-competitors for President—Grant, Chase and Pendleton —are Ohioans.

"Well," said Mr. Greeley, recently, "I'll tell you what I think about impeachment. I heard of a tavern keeper's bill once that illustrated it. A guest got drunk, smashed the furniture, broke dishes, kept all the servants waiting on him, and all the inmates of the hotel awake with his howlings. When he came to leave his bill was handed in:
To two days' board . . . $9 00 To raising hell generally . . . 50 00 Total . . . $59 00

"I think that's about the view the American people take of our present account against A. Johnson."

Cassius M. Olay, late Minister to Russia, now en route to the United States, is expected home in a few days. It is stated that he will shortly proceed to Kentucky and arrange for stumpng that State in behalf of the nominees of the Chicago Convention.

The expenses of the War department during the month of March were fourteen millions of dollars.

Local Intelligence.

WHITE-WASHING THE MARKET.—The work of white-washing the main market is now in progress, and will be an improvement appreciated by all our citizens.

DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.—The extensive auction establishment heretofore known under the firm Meyer, Sawyer & Co., is now entirely in the hands of Mr. Sawyer, who will continue the business. This establishment is full of new goods, furniture, etc., and liberal bargains are daily offered the public.

GENT'S FURNISHING GOODS.—The firm of Koenigshorn & Co., have at last received their stock of spring goods from the East. One of the firm went on and selected the stock in person, expressly for this market; every one pronounces it the best selected stock ever brought to the city. See advertisement.

CAPTURED.—Arnold and Bradley who recently escaped from jail in this city, were captured by Deputy Sheriffs Kroeger and Thomas, five miles below Belmont, and have again been committed to our jail. These officers deserve praise for their successful search and capture.

SUIT FOR DIVORCE.—A suit for divorce and Habeas Corpus, to get possession of child and alimony, was brought before Judge Stribling yesterday, Tuesday morning, the parties were Annie Kneisale vs. Paul Kneisale. The Court room was full of witnesses to testify to the ill treatment of the husband and the conduct of the wife.

SOLDIERS TRIED BY CIVIL AUTHORITY.—In our police reports will be found an item about the trial of two soldiers for stealing a kit of mackerel from the U. S. Government. This sounds decidedly civil-lawish. Each Military Fort or encampment is separate and independent of civil authority, and the power to punish crime is given to the Military authority within those limits. If our Justice Courts are to be lumbered up with the petty thefts, assaults and batteries and other offences contrary to good order and military discipline, a new career is open for the exercise of civil law.

COUNTY COURT.—The criminal docket was taken up yesterday. Charles Young, for retailing spirituous liquors without a license, was fined $100.00.

The strict enforcement of the Tax Laws is necessary for the protection of the Public Revenue, delays or neglect to comply with their requirements, are dangerous, we hope those interested will take warning from the experience of others.

GRAND VOCAL CONCERT.—To-night the grand vocal concert for the benefit of the school of the Laborer's association comes off. A splendid treat is promised; the programme is complete. We learn, among others, that a young lady will appear, whose splendid talents have never been tested before an audience. All the musical talent of our German citizens will be represented, this alone without allusion to the good object for which the concert is given, will pack the hall.

MAYOR'S COURT.—April 21.—Two soldiers were arraigned upon the charge of theft of a kit of mackerel, property of the United States, from the sidewalk of the commissary building, where the goods were being loaded for Fort Hudson.

One of the soldiers Patrick Moore of Co. I., was bound over in the sum of two hundred dollars, to appear at the next term of the District Court; the other one Wm. Garrett was discharged.

Wm. McLue, was arraigned for assault and battery upon the person of Anastacio Gonzales, and attempting to shoot him. His Honor the Mayor bound him over in the sum of three hundred dollars to appear at the next term of the District Court.

A PARISH LIBRARY.—Dr. Keith, the new rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church in this city, has put on foot a plan for the establishment of a library for the benefit of the members of his congregation, old and young. No money is asked, but each member of the congregation, and all other citizens who feel disposed, are invited to donate such books as they may have in their possession, it matters not of what description, so they are moral and elevating in their character; books of science, history, theology, or romance. Already one hundred and fifty volumes have been donated, and the prospect is that it will reach several hundred. The library will be under the immediate control of the Dorcas Society. The idea is a most excellent one, as most every one has books they have read through and care nothing about and find in their way, which if put into a public library will find other readers and be the means of imparting pleasure and knowledge. No matter how old the book, it will be carefully mended, bound, and labeled with its proper number and the name of the donor. There is no such thing as a public library in the city, and it is a fact which speaks volumes against our enterprise and intelligence as a community. We are not a reading people, and consequently we are not as intelligent or enterprising a people as we might be. This first attempt at a library, even though it be intended for the benefit of a portion of our community, deserves encouragement, and challenges imitation.

Proceedings of the City Council.

On motion, the Board adjourned till Thursday, April 23.

ST. MARY'S SCHOOL.—St. Mary's School, exclusively for girls, under the management of Mrs. Virginia T. Polk, Professor Serureau as assistant, has been thoroughly reorganizing and reopened. The French, Latin, and higher classes of mathematics are under the charge of Professor Serureau, who has had many years' experience as a teacher in New Orleans. Professor S. will also teach book-keeping, having taught in Dolbea's Commercial College in New Orleans. This is a most important feature of female education, which has been generally neglected in our Southern accomplishments for young ladies.

THE LATE UNPLEASANTNESS NOT YET FORGOTTEN.—We clip the following from a Northern paper, which shows that the glorious triumph of the Union armies over the traitors is not yet forgotten:—
New York, April 10.—The anniversary of the surrender of General Lee was celebrated at Cooper's Institute last evening, and addresses were delivered by E. Delafield Smith, Generals Sickles and Pleasanton and others.
