The New York Sun expresses the decided opinion that ex-Governor Seymon intends to be and will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination. "That he will be presented in that body,' says the Sun, "no one needs to be told. The Eastern and Middle States will go for him just as earnestly as the Western will go for Pendleton. The Southern delegates will be pretty evenly divided between them; and should the contest be confined to them, it is an interesting problem which of them will carry the day in the Convention."

A movement is now on foot among some of our prominent citizens, to rid themselves and the country of an extortionate monopoly by constructing a new telegraph line from New Orleans to Houston.—Houston Telegraph. jan 3-tf) GARDEN SEEDS.

A Washington correspondent says of Ben. Butler: "His method is wonder-He has more Congressional business brought to him from outside parties and from all parts of the country, than any other five men in Congress. All this is carefully classified and recorded, to be referred to at a moment's notice, and his speech of vesterday was the work, in detail, of probably twenty or thirty men, each carting up some fact or inference, while he like a confident architect, put it together and hewed it into shape. Here in Washington he is surrounded with almost a full company of adherents. They bring him news, search out records and authorities for him, do copying and errant-running, carrying threats and inducements, and in short, increase his power by virtue of that law which Ben. Wade quoted the other day: The more you kick that breed of hounds the more they cling to

A Berlin letter contains the following: To me the Crown Prince is the most agreeable of all. He is about five feet ten, has broad shoulders and a fine manly figure; he is fair, and wears a mustache and a long, silky beard. The expression of his manly face is as pleasant as can be, for it is notural and extremely kind. The ladies are in ecstacies about him, and eve-ybody loves him, with the exception of the highest aristocracy, to whose taste he is not sufficiently dignified. He cherishes his dear little Crown Princess, Queen Victoria's daughter, and is so vulgar and citizen like as to be fond of being surrounded by his little ones. There is a pretty photograph ont, representing the happy family. He has one of his children va his arms, and he looks as disgustingly contended as any shop keeper. The nobility do not expect anything good of him, and are much of aid that he may conside the constitution of the country not as a bad joke, but as a solemn pledge. As this tendency is attributable in a great part to the influence of Victoria's clever little daughter, you can hear the aristocracy speak of with shrugs of the shoulders and a sarcastic twitch of the mouth."

BEAUREGARD AT ARLINGTON .- Speaking of the cenatoph erected to the memory of the unknown braves, we are reminded that the children of General Lee. as well as the notorious General Beauregard, recently visited Arlington. > A few days since the President asked Captain David White, of St. Louis, to tell him candidly what he thought would be the result of the impeachment trial. White replied frankly that he thought the President would be found guilty. Upon this Johnson asked him what was the state of feeling in the West in regard to the matter; whether the people were not, too, indignant at the manner in which the trial was conducted? Captain White told him that so far as his observation extended, the Western people were totally indifferent as to the result, St. Louis Democrat,

A Prussian journal relates a story of a Jewish congregation which determined to present to its Rabbi a ton of wine, in token of their respect and love. Each one of the donors had conceived the idea that in such a quantity a single bottle of water would not be detected, and the result was as stated.

Such an association to promote the industrial or educational interests of the community, after the manner of the German Workingman's Association, will tend to do some good. Bull-Fighting in Zacatecas-The March of Civilization in Mexico.

Quietly but steadily republican ideas and civilization are obtaining throughout our sister Republic, under the wise and patriotic rule of President Junreze The State of Zacatecas has made a tremendous stride in the march of civilization by abolishing the brutal custom of bull fighting, as will be seen by the following legislative proceedings:

STATE CONGRESS, HALL OF SESSIONS, Zacatecas, March, 17, 1868. The State Congress of the Free and Sovereign State of Zacatecas decrees the following:

Art. 1. Bull fights of every species for private or public benefit or gratuitous, are forever prohibited in this State, and no authority shall permit them.

This pious hell-hound of Zion chuckles over the Ku-Klux Klan with as much joy as he did over the murdering "Sons of the South."

We learn from the Little Rock Ledger that Benjamin F. Rice and Alexander McDonald have been elec-ted United States Senators from Arkansas. Both the gentlemen are thorough Republicans. Their election was not, however, deemed a matter of sufficient importance by the nesociate press reporter at Little Rock to send by telegraph. There is little doubt that these Senators will be admitted to seats in Congress. THE PACIFIC TERMINI OF A SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAIL-WAY.

Now that the Southern Pacific Railway is being discussed and becoming a matter, not 'only of deep interest to the South, but the country and to the trade of the whole world, the termini of such a road becomes a subject of vital solicitude. One route, by El Paso, was surveyed before the war, passing through the Northeast corner of Texas and terminating at San Diego California; this road was projected with the idea of securing a feasible railway to the Pacific free from the natural obstacles to be overcome on a more Northern route. The war killed the El Paso road, as it gave the Union Pacific road opportunity to push its work almost to completion, fostered and sustained by all the monied influence of the nation, and the national aid and moral support of the general government. The success of the Union Pacific road, the close of the war, and the great triump of the Union arms, have tended to take off the pressing necessity for a Southern ra froad to the Pacific through American territory, and now the shortest practicable route from the Pacific to the Atlantic is eagerly sought after. The bill before Congress to charter a road running in as direct a line as possible to the Pacific, is awakening the liveliest interest; such a road, passing directly through San Antonio to some point on the Rio Grande, would find its terminus at Mazatlan on the Pacific side. As far as the city of Durango, the rails could almost be laid without altering the grade of a single mile; from Durango to Mazatian it would be necessary to cross the Sierra Madre Monotains, over which no vehicle has ever passed. Cajen, a Mexican chieftain, crossed these mountains a few years since with two field pieces, but to any one crossing by mule-back it would seem that a railroad was impossible, but who has seen the steam horse careering through the Sierra Nevada, or over the Alps, would consider the two hundred miles Setween Durango and Mazatlan not at all impossible. There was a time that mountains were avoided, but now they are tunnelled and nothing is impossible. The barbor at Mazatlan emild be made equal to any on the Pa-eific. Mazatlan is situated just below the Gulf of California, and a glance at the map will show that in a direct line to China it possesses unmeasurable advantages over San Francisco, as the Sandwich Islands and the Islands of the Pacific would afford not only stopping and coaling stations to steamers, but from them would naturally come an immense trade, instead, of seeking ernor, that it may be published and the more Northern and distant harbor of San Francisco. The trade of China and South America would no urally float into the harbor of Mazatlan-which would be only eight hundred miles, by rail to Matagorda lay, on the Gulf of > all the great railroad connections of the United States. Guaymas, situated up the Gulf of California, is next to Acapulco, the best natural harbor south of San Francisco, and a road, with Guaymas for a terminus, could be built through Guadaloupe Pass, avoiding the precipitous mountain range necessary to be crossed between Durango and Mazatlan, but Guaymas is out of Gulf of California is subject to calms and much difficult navigation, and besides a passing directly from the Rio Grande to Mazatlan or even South of that point. And a road built to the Pacific directly through Durango or Guadalajara would pass through a populated country, rich in mineral-wealth, abounding in railroad material and the cheapest labor on the

> GONE TO EUROPE. Judge Siemering, one of our firm and editor of the "Frie Presse for Texas," left on Thursday for Europe, to be away several months. During the Judge's absence, Dr. Theo. Hertzberg will preside over the editorial department of the Frie Presse. It is with no vain pride that we mention our German paper and claim for it a position in the front rank of German newspapers in this country. Judge Siemering's ability as a writer is second to none in the country. Dr. Hertzberg is an old journalist, a man of the first accomplishments, a deep reasoner, a fluent writer, and a sound Radical, under whose busy pen our German paper will continue to occupy its proud position, and lose none of its force or interest.

A great many outrages were commited by a negro procession in New Orleans recently. A policeman was knocked down and disarmed, a little white boy was shoved into a gutter, a white girl was kicked, and several shops plundered. Texas is only semi-civilized, but such things could not happen in her limits with impunity .- [Houston Tele-

It is quite possible that such instances related above would arouse the ire of chivalry, as they deserve, if true, the condemnation of every one; but on the other band it is common to shoot, burn and kill full-grown negroes, as well as officers of the United States and loyal citizens generally, in Texas. A CARD.

There seems to be some misonception in th minds of the San Antonjo, merchants and wool. growers in Western Texas in regard to the obect we have in view in establishing our Woot. House in Galveston, and I take the present opportunity to make the following explanations: Our primary object is to create a home-marke for Wool, so that the merchant in the interior and wool-grower can get the full price for the wool without having to ship away from the

The question is, Will this prove practical

Let us suppose that all the wool in Western Texas is shipped to our house. Upon its receipt the sacks are cut open and the wool graded and exposed for sale. The Eastern manufacturer or his agent is seeking wools. He goes through the different markets of New York, Boston, and Philadelphia, buying small lots here and there, with great annoyance and loss of time. He hears that in Galveston there is a business bouse of responsibility upon whom the woolgrowers of Texas have concentrated their shipments; that the wools are sorted and graded, (so that he can see what he is buying,) and the reputation of the firm is a guarantee that the sales will turn out as represented.

At once he comes to Galveston, (this has actually occurred,) his purchases are made in quantities, his banking arrangements completed rithout difficulty, and his freight contracts either by sail or ateam effected readily.

Within one hour's communication with the East by telegraph, he receives the opening quotations for wool in those markets, calculates the cost of freight and insurance, and allows himself, say one cent more, and then makes a plump offer for the lot, say 50, 75 or 100,000 lbs., and the sheep raiser or merchant gets his account of sales and meney in one third of the time it takes to ship Northern cities. To facilitate this we have effected an arrangement with the Morgan line of steamers to bring wool from Indianola to Galveston for half a cent per pound, (say half currency.) All shipments can be consigned to ARTHUR H. EDEY & KIRSTEN, Indianola. Our agent there will pay freight and forward them to our house in Galveston, without receiving and forwarding charges.

This is the whole story in a few words, and to insure complete satisfaction and success we have spared no trouble or money to place this enterprise on a sure footing. We have an experienced professional wool sorter and grader who has followed no other business during his life.

To secure to our friends who ship to us every possible advantage, we have signed articles that we will not buy wood on our own account, copfining ourselves strictly to the sale of wool.

It remains for the wool growers and merchants to decide whether such an enterprise shall be sustained, or whether the same old beaten path of long, tedious shipments to the North be ad-Galveston has been the best cotton market in the United States these last two years, because the planters advised sold their crops there. The wool growers can make it the best market for Texas wools, if they have the wool in sufficient uantities to invite buyers to come there. In former years it paid to ship off from the State; but in these days of steam and telegraphs, the buyers come to the port where the produce is concentrated, and the usual competition among them causes them to pay full figures.

Our experience of last year's business (a large increase on the former year) proves this emphati-

Our commission for selling is two and a half per cent. Our charge for grading is one cent currency, per pound, as advantage of some 3 to 5 cents a pound to the owner of the wool.

The bushes are full of mocking birds, and the chorus they produce is perfectly charming. There seems to be unusual numbers of these splendid warblers this season, and in he country do they seem to be as happy as in Western Texas.

THE CEMETERY FLAG STAFF. - A flag staff has been erected in the center of the Military Cemetery, and looking at it from a distance it has the appearance of a main mast of a ship. It is a fine piece of work, and when surmounted by the glorious banner of the Republic, will be a most appropriate monument to the heroie dead who lie quietly under its shadow awaiting the last trump,

The rendering of "The Wanderer" by Miss Voght, was a treat the ears of the San Antonio public have never before enjoyed. Miss Voght sang in several other pieces, including the "Waltz Brilliant." The andience cheered enthusiastically, and were not satisfied until the young lady had repeated it. The volume and sweetness of ber highly cultivated voice would tank Miss Voght as a first class soprano. Altogether the concert was a success financially and in a musical

WISCONSIN POLITICIANS,-The Washington Chronicle speaking of the itenerant Copperhead Sergeant Bates, says:

Wisconsin is a State fortunate in some rare specimens of politicians, Mr. Senator Doolittle is a Wisconsin man, and so is Mr. Postmaster General Rapdall, and so is Mr. Brick Pomeroy, and so is Mr. Sergeant Bates; but for all that, it is a very stolid and ungrateful sort of State. For while the Senator traverses from Maine to Mexico electioneering against the Radicals, and the Hardware Merchants, Postmaster General turns all the Radi cals out of office, and Brick Pomeroy dooms them to the assassin's knife, and Seargeant Bates waves the flag against them from New Orleans to Washington, Wiscossin gets more and more stubbornly Republican, and votes more and more
