OUR GALVESTON LETTER.
Gen. Buchanan's Order—Its Purpose—The Louisiana Election—Probable Reconciliation—Party Spirit—Rebel Machinations—A Huge Monopoly—Local Matters.
GALVESTON, April 21, 1868.
EDITOR OF EXPRESS:—At last the military fossil who at present commands the Fifth Military District, has issued his order concerning our Constitutional Convention. Using the purposes of his command in the interests of his impeached master and the Conservative Democratic Rebel Party, Gen. Buchanan has ordered the sitting of the Convention at as late a day as could possibly be fixed, consistent with the official safety of his own (Buchanan's) position; and thus retards what he cannot prevent, the loyal people of our great State from the first step in their efforts at reconstruction and reorganization.
Thank G d! we will not long be cursed with the incubus of Johnson and his military satellites in the administration of this District. Within two weeks the bad man at the White House will be removed, and with his downfall, follow the base men and miserable officials who have cursed the land with their foul deeds.
Business the past week called your correspondent to New Orleans, and there he witnessed the contest of loyal men, Republicans against Rebels for the ratification of the Louisiana Constitution. Prior to and during the two days of the election the rebel press was filled with scurrilous abuse of and inflammatory appeals against the leading Republicans and the new made Constitution of that State. All the machinations that hellish minds and devilish spirits could create, have been produced by the unreconstructed rebels of Louisiana to defeat the Republican party, and the Constitution in the recent election. Money was unparingly used in all the large cities. Threats, intimidation and violence were perpetrated in all the country parishes of the State against men, black and white, to deter them from manifesting their sentiments at the ballot box. In New Orleans the Commissioners of the election, appointed rebel—of Gen. Buchanan, were openly bought up by the so-called Conservatives, and together with Arney, the sheriff of the parish, also a member of the rebels, black men were kept from the polls, and hindered and oppressed in the use of their God given right of franchise. Not only these means were perpetrated, but leading Republicans who remonstrated at these unjust proceedings were hustled away from the polls, and told that if they persisted in giving utterance to their honest indignation, they would be arrested! In many instances this was done, as in the case of the brother of R. H. Shelly, the Police Commissioner of New Orleans, who asked a venal policeman who was oppressing black voters, the number of his badges, and was at once arrested and placed in confinement. It is needless to add, however, that Mr. Shelly was soon released from his unjust imprisonment. I give this as but a sample of the way disfranchised and unrepresented rebels controlled the election, even in the city of New Orleans. Such has been the pernicious and damnable influence of Hancock and his successor. If this was done at the capital of the State whence issues the brains, pluck and energy of the Republican party, and they were powerless to avert the evil against the influence of a pro-rebel military commandant, what must be expected of the frauds and terrorism prevalent in the country parishes? Rest assured, that if the Constitution of Louisiana is defeated, the fault lies not at the door of the Republicans of that State, for if they differed as to men, they were doubtless a unit as to measures—but to the treachery and false dealing of a military commandant who has dishonored his profession and the country, by open affiliation with rebels and their sympathizers in efforts to defeat the righteous measures of a loyal Congress. Despite these grievous drawbacks, however, the loyal men of Louisiana have probably adopted their Constitution and elected their standard bearer, Warrent, with his colleagues to administer the government of their reconstructed State. For some days after the election we will have only the Democratic and pro-rebel side of the late contest in our sister State—this as you know, is always so, such being the policy of our Conservative telegraphic agents—but I feel confident in asserting such were the assurances given me by prominent and leading Republicans on both sides of the gubernatorial ticket—who had thoroughly canvassed their State—that the ratification of the Louisiana Constitution was certain and accomplished. Ten days hence will prove the strength of my assertion.
The Morgan line of steamships is one of the huge monopolies that afflict our State to the detriment of the commercial interests herein. Why energetic business men with a keen eye for trade and profits, and the advantages of daily commercial intercourse with the country at large, will permit this monopoly to crowd out competition and courted intercourse between our commercial ports, restricting traffic to the great centers of trade in our Southern markets to only twice a week, is one of these problems which may perhaps be solved when Yankee thrift and Yankee pluck and brains shall have demonstrated the feasibility of a competitive line of steamers, enhancing the material and productive interests of our State and ensuring that speed and safety of travel and intercourse so necessary to the go-ahead and progressive spirit of our people.

The anniversary of the battle of San Jacinto was celebrated with much eclat by our Lee, Beauregard and other named rebel hero fire companies. Much of the spirit which characterized the New Orleans frowns on their last anniversary, was prevalent here today. There was the same commingling of coarse praise for Mr. Johnson with the leaders of the "lost cause," and fierce objections of "Congress and the Radicals." The day, however, has worn away without disturbance. Maj. Plumly of the City Railroad Company, has completed some very commodious and pleasant buildings at the terminus of the Gulf route, and proposes are long to have bathing facilities that will place Galveston among the deserved watering places of the country. Our city owes much to the untiring perseverance, persistence, and pluck in overcoming obstacles as such men as our friend the Major. The G. H. and H. R. R. Bridge, promises to be entirely rebuilt in a few weeks and in excellent order. Mr. Boyce who has had the building of this bridge, has displayed an energy and promptitude of action, which marks him as one of the few men of real administrative and executive ability among us.

JOB WORK.

Our patrons are solicited to send in their orders for Bill-Heads, Cards, Circular letters, Checks and every variety of Job Work. We have secured the services of a first class workman from the east, and have made our Job Department as complete as is possible to have it.

The Tomato and its Varieties.

A great interest is taken in the culture of this queen of the vegetable kingdom. A great many varieties have been produced and still our horticulturists are not satisfied. The tomato plays an important part in the commerce of the world—it is put up in cans and made into catsup and shipped to the remotest regions of the earth. It is also dried, and as a dried fruit rivals the peach and apple. In no country does the tomato flourish more luxuriantly than in Texas, and yet New York supplies us with tomato catsup at seventy-five cents per pint. Here is another tremendous leak which ought to be stopped—it is provoking to think that the people of the north are continually getting the better of us by sending us canned milk, canned fruit, and tomato sauce in payment for our wool, cotton and hides, when we might as well have these things by simply taking a little trouble. Among the late varieties mentioned in Horticultural works are "The Round Red Tomato" of Bary Sigdon. The fruits are red, roundish and smooth, about the size of a Washington Plum, and matures a few days later than the yellow plum tomato.

"The Large Red Italia," is the earliest of the large-fruited sorts. It is a dwarf fruit, growth, very prolific and bearing fine fruit within six inches of the ground. It is one of the best. "Keyes Early Prolific"—the fruit is medium sized, roundish, pale red, slightly corrugated and very prolific. It is a first class variety.

"The Great Mammoth, or Large Red Thordus"—leaves very early.

"The Large Red" of Veitch, or "Powell's Prolific," fruit medium sized and plant very prolific.

"The 'New Giant' is a very large coarse late variety, plant very prolific.

The Tilden is a very strong growing variety and a great favorite with American horticulturists. It is rather late, not very prolific, but very excellent.

The "Fiji Island," is very similar to the Tilden. The fruits are large and very fine.

There are many other varieties, and we would advise our gardeners and farmers to try every variety they hear of. Every farmer, every gardener, ought to make catsup enough for home use and to bring to market every family having ten feet of ground about their dwellings could make their own tomato sauce, and have dried tomatoes and preserved tomatoes for winter use.

Grown in pots, the tomato makes a very handsome decorative plant; the cherry, plum, and other small fruited sorts, especially so. Few plants are more strikingly ornamental in the autumn months, than these, when well grown, and loaded with their numerous clusters of brilliantly colored fruit.

How the Anniversary of the Battle of San Jacinto was Celebrated.

A correspondent of the Austin Republican gives a short account of the ravings of a pack of traitors on the heroic field of San Jacinto, on the occasion of the anniversary of that battle, the 21st of April. Lubbock, Mitchell, Ashbel Smith, Oscar Farish, and Rev. C. C. Gillespie, were the speakers. The correspondent gives the following account of Gillespie's speech:

Colonel Gillespie opened by saying that the apprehension of being regarded loyal or disloyal should not prevent him from saying what he pleased. He said he intended to speak from the stump and print in his paper whatever he felt and thought, without any regard to the opinions or authority of the damned rotten, oppressive Government that had robbed him and his friends of their rights; and said many other things to the same effect. During his speech he said, "There are men at this meeting who are friends to Congress, and they ought to be hung. There are grapes enough on the old battle ground of San Jacinto to hang every one of them; and if I had my way I would have every damned one of them hung as high as Haman before sundown!" Some disturbance originated at this point. The friends of Rev. Gillespie gathered around him and attempted to stop him from further remarks. The band struck up music, but Rev. when the music stopped, continued to curse Congress for some time, when the public exercises closed, and all repaired to the boat to attend the ball.

Gillespie is the editor of the Houston Telegraph, and is one of the hell-fired opposites of treason and slavery, who originated the rebellion and attempted to build up an aristocracy and a religion with African slavery for a foundation. He is one of those who preach Conservatism, applaud Johnson, and justify murder and assassination.

And this was the heroic field of San Jacinto, decorated on the 21st of April, 1868.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DESPATCHES.]

Impeachment Proceedings—Speech of Mr. Everts.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Mr. Everts, in speaking of the people, says: They know their Government, and they mean to maintain it; and when they hear that this tremendous engine of impeachment and trial and threatened conviction and sentence has been brought into play—that that power which has lain in the Constitution like a sword in its sheath, is now drawn, they will wish to know what the crime is the President is accused of. They know that bribery and treason are crimes, and that those who are guilty of them should be brought into question and deposed; but they are ready to believe that there are other great crimes and misdemeanors touching the conduct of the Government and the welfare of the State which may equally fall within the jurisdiction of the law. But they wish to know what the crimes are, and wish to know whether the President has betrayed our liberty or our possession to a foreign State; they wish to know whether he has delivered up a fortress or surrendered a State; they wish to know whether he has made merchandise of the public trust, or turned it to private gain; or, when they learn that none of these things are charged or even declaimed about, they yet seek further information, and they are told he has removed a member of his Cabinet. Now the people are familiar with the removal of Cabinet officers, so that on the mere statement it does not strike them as either an unprecedented occurrence or as one involving great danger to the State. "Well, but how comes it to be a crime?" they inquire; why Congress passed a law for the first time in the history of the Government and undertook to control this removal from office, and provided that if the President should violate it, it should be a crime or misdemeanor? And now that he has removed a member of his Cabinet he is to be removed himself; for that, because he undertook to make an ad interim Secretary of War, you are to have made an ad interim President in consequence. Mr. Sumner moved a resolution censuring Nelson for language likely to provoke a duel.

Several objections were made. Mr. Nelson produced a letter written on the 9th of March, with Butler's and Logan's signatures, regarding alibi. Mr. Butler desired to see the letter. Mr. Nelson desired some pledge that it would be returned. Mr. Chase moved an objection. Mr. Nelson said he would prefer depositing them with the Secretary of the Senate, who could show them to Mr. Butler.

Here the matter stopped. Mr. Everts then proceeded. Mr. Everts spoke all day, and concluded tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—A House resolution offered to print 5,000 copies of Southern Constitutions. Mr. Trumbull moved that Mr. Nelson be allowed to explain the votes, and that a part of the explanation was reading the letter. Mr. Butler objected. Mr. Davis said the manager had no business to object. Mr. Sherman then objected. Mr. Hendricks moved that Mr. Nelson be allowed so much as would show the date and signatures. Carried.

Mr. Nelson, holding the face towards the Senator, said: "Senators will see the letter is dated March 9th, and here attached to it they will see the autographs of J. E. Butler and J. A. Logan." The leadership which Mr. Sumner has assumed regarding new rules is evidently distasteful to several Senators.

General Meade has telegraphed to General Grant that Georgia ratifies the Constitution and elects Ballock, but the Legislature is likely to be Democratic. Mr. Stanberry will deliver a speech in person. Acquittal stock is up; bets were even to-day. Mr. Nelson's triumph over Mr. Butler to-day is complete.

General Canby telegraphs General Grant that the Union majority in North Carolina so far is 13,000. Six counties are unreported. It has transpired in the Court of Claims that many depositions in cotton cases were not properly read to witnesses.

WASHINGTON, April 29, 1868. Mr. Sumner offered an order that—Whereas, Mr. Nelson one of the counsel for the President, in addressing the Senate, has used disorderly words, as follows: "So far as any question the gentleman desired to meet with me, this is not the place to make it." And, Whereas, Such language, besides being disagreeable to the Senate, is calculated to bring on a duel, or intimate a desire or willingness to fight one; therefore,

It is ordered that Mr. Nelson, one of the counsel for the President, has justly deserved the disapprobation of the Senate.

Mr. Nelson rose, but the Chief Justice said he could only proceed by unanimous consent.

Mr. Sumner objected, unless for the purpose of explanation. Mr. Nelson said he only desired to read the letter in the alibi case.

Mr. Butler said that so far as he was concerned, he hoped there would be no further action in the matter, but objected to the reading of the letter. Mr. Nelson hoped he would be allowed to say one word. He had intended no offense by what he had said; but if anything was to be done with the resolution, he hoped he would have an opportunity to explain. So far as he was concerned, he was willing to let the matter drop. Mr. Sherman objected to it for the present.

Conscious of the resolution, Mr. Nelson repeated his desire to present the letter. The Chief Justice put the motion whether Mr. Nelson should be allowed to proceed.

Which was agreed to. Mr. Butler then repeated his objection. Mr. Trumbull asked that, as the manager had been allowed the privilege of saying what he desired, the same privilege should be extended to the counsel.

The Chief Justice said the counsel could not proceed unless by the consent of the Senate. Mr. Davis raised a point of order. After the Senate had permitted the counsel to proceed, it was not competent for a manager to object.

The Chief Justice did not understand the leave as allowing the counsel to read the letters. Mr. Howard begged leave to object to the reading of the letters until after they were presented to the managers for examination.

Mr. Sumner positively objected to allowing the counsel to proceed after the language he had used, except for the purpose of explanation.

Mr. Johnson asked if Mr. Nelson was in order. [Confusion here occurred—several Senators speaking at once.] Mr. Hendricks moved that the attorney for the President be allowed to read so much of the letter as would show the date.

Which was agreed to. Mr. Nelson then resumed, and said the letter bore the date of March 9, 1868, and signed Benjamin F. Butler, and addressed to Colonel Shaffer. Mr. Johnson asked if he had the original letter.

Mr. Nelson understood this to be the original letter; he also understood the signature to be the genuine signature of Benjamin F. Butler, and the signature below to be the genuine signature of John A. Logan and John A. Garfield. The letter was brief, and he would like permission to read it.

Mr. Howard objected. Mr. Chase said the letter could not be read unless it was done by the consent of the Senate.

Nelson said it was impossible for him to explain if he was not permitted to read the letter. The letter is signed by Butler beneath his signature are the words "I consent," which are signed by Logan and Bennett. "So do I," signed by Mr. John A. Garfield. There was no other date to the letter than March 9th, 1868.

Johnson asked as to the hand writing; Nelson said the date and body of the letter were the same but the signature different. On the 15th of March C. F. Black addressed a letter to the President saying that he enclosed this letter.

Chief Justice said counsel must confine himself to date. Mr. Hendricks said his motion was to allow Nelson to read only so much of the letter as would show its date and object.

Nelson said he could not explain unless going somewhat into the body of the letter. The letter of the same date was further endorsed by Messrs. Kountz, W. W. Marshall, Thaddeus Stevens, John A. Bingham, Jas. G. Blaine. The copy was precisely like the original.

Mr. Tipton here rose and with some appearance of excitement moved that the gentleman be allowed to proceed one hour. Chief Justice did not put the motion and Mr. Nelson sat down.

House.—No business. Court resolutions censuring Nelson; tabled 35 to 10. Motion for night session ordered so as to prolong day session; tabled 22 to 27. Mr. Everts proceeded. Acquittal element seems more confident this morning.

Brownlow Calls out the Militia. CINCINNATI April 30.—Special to Commercial says: Brownlow without legislative authority, but urged by letters from Senator Fowler and members of the House, has determined to call out the militia to suppress violence.

A New Bishop. Rev. Mr. Whitelee was consecrated the assistant Bishop of the Episcopal Church of Virginia to-day.

A Shipwreck. SAN FRANCISCO, April 29.—The schooner Growler, the property of a new fur company, bound to Sitka with a valuable cargo, wrecked, twelve lives lost.

EUROPE. LONDON, April 28.—The London journals comment in lamenting the fact that debate on Irish injustice in Commons is left to the rule of men which causes both parties to play directly into the hands of Disraeli. The great object now is to gain time.

South American News. LONDON, April 29.—Dates from Rio Janeiro of the 9th says that the allies had taken the Paraguayan lines at Boyas and the headquarters of Caffos. President Lopez had ordered the position flanked, and his whereabouts were unknown. The allied fleet had gone up the river again to Fort Harriatto which was to be attacked shortly. The allies expect that the Paraguayans will surrender.

Markets.

New York Market. New York, April 29, 1868. Cotton dull and a shade lower; sales of 600 bales. Flour, State, 9 1/2. Sterling $210. Gold 139 1/2. London cables 93 1/2. Government bonds 70 1/2. Money, demand light; call loans 6 1/2. Government stocks quiet. New York, April 20.—Gold 139 1/2. Cotton dull at 32 1/2. Balance in the Sub Treasury $109,000,000.

Foreign Market. LIVERPOOL, April 28.—Cotton closed quiet uplands 12 1/2; Orleans 13; sales of 10,000.

Texas Items. We understand that B. B. Lee was shot and killed at Hemstead, on Tuesday last. No particulars have reached us. Lee is well known throughout the State.—[Houston Telegraph.]

If Colonel Morris gets $4,000 a year on the Houston Telegraph, an ordinary editor ought to have 20,000 annually.—[Browsville Rancher.]

Several large and well selected droves of beeves, together with two large droves of horses, have passed, have passed, going northward, during the week. From our county, two droves and others on the eve of departure. Charlie Talbot leaves with his drove of horses about the 1st of May.—[Georgetown Watchman.]

We were informed during the past week that two negroes killed a white man—or two white men kill a negro, we forgot which—somewhere in this, or one of the adjoining counties, a few days since. We were furnished the particulars, but fail at this writing to recall them.—[Hempstead Countryman.]

The above is a fine specimen of non-committal journalism. Five hundred dollars reward, is offered for the apprehension of one D. C. Otis, former agent of the Texas Express Company at Hemstead. He left that place on the night of the 18th April, with $2,500 in gold which did not belong to him, and his wife. They are supposed to be making their way to Mexico. The $500 would be a tempting morsel for any of the Rio Grande banditti, who would willingly take him, rather than have him in their way.

GRAND OPPORTUNITY TO SECURE A VALUABLE PRIZE. Sale of Jewelry, Furniture, Books, Paintings, Clothing & Provisions.

MRS. H. H. WARE proposes to sell the above articles privately at her residence, (known as the Mitchell house, next but one to Mr. Pentecost's) at $10.00 a ticket, in specie; every fourth ticket drawing an article worth $5 (five) to $1000 (one thousand dollars), the articles can be seen at the residence, before purchasing the tickets. Each ticket is numbered, and the articles and blanks have corresponding numbers. When all the tickets are disposed of, the articles will be sent to the purchasers or to whom they may designate. All the things, with but few exceptions, are new and valuable, and offer great inducements to persons to risk a small amount, in order to gain a large one. Mrs. Ware is going to leave the city and wishes to get the value of her things, and thought this perhaps the surest way to do it. Persons from the country or other towns, can write or send for tickets, and state where their articles, if they draw any, are to be left. The tickets will be sold, and the things delivered, upon entirely honest principles. It is not a money making scheme, but simply intended to get the full value of the articles.

We will mention a few of the leading articles for sale, and the number of valuable things: Lady's Diamond Pin and Ear Rings, worth $1000 (one thousand dollars). Diamond Ring worth $200 (two hundred). Elegant set of Mahogany Furniture, consisting of Bedstead, Wardrobe, Bureau, and Washstand worth $300—three hundred dollars. Walnut Set, consisting of Bedstead, Bureau, Washstand, Toilet-table and four chairs, worth $120—one hundred and twenty dollars. Lady's Gold Watch and Chain, worth $150—one hundred and fifty dollars. Splendid Rosewood Book Case, worth $150—one hundred and fifty dollars. Besides these, there are ten articles worth $100—one hundred dollars each, worth $20—twenty dollars each, and twenty worth $20—twenty dollars each—the balance from five to ten, none below five, in specie.

Sale of Tickets will commence Monday the 27th of April—at the residence of Mrs. Ware—and continue, Sundays, excepted, until the 27th of May, unless sooner disposed of. Should no article be received, the person holding tickets may know that they draw blanks. A list will be made of the articles drawn and who by Rich and poor, black and white, share equally in this sale. Persons who intend buying tickets are requested to do so as early as possible. The drawing will be done under the supervision of some responsible person whose name will be announced before the drawing takes place. Address: MRS. H. H. WARE, Post Office Box No. 72, San Antonio, April 28th 1868.

It is the unfailing remedy in all cases of neuralgia facialis, often effecting a perfect cure in less than 24 hours, from the use of no more than 2 or 3 Pills.
 No other form of Neuralgia or Nervous Disease has failed to yield to this.

WONDERFUL REMEDIAL AGENT.
 Even in the severest cases of Chronic Neuralgia and general nervous derangements, of many years standing—affecting the entire system, its use for a few days, or a few weeks at the utmost, always affords the most astonishing relief, and very rarely fails to produce a complete and permanent cure.
 It contains no drugs or other materials in the slightest degree injurious, even to the most delicate system, and can always be used with PERFECT SAFETY.
 It has long been in constant use by many of our MOST EMINENT PHYSICIANS, who give it their unanimous and unqualified approval.
