BED-TIME.

Rosebud lay in her trundle bed
With her small hands folded above her head,
And fixed her innocent eyes on me, While a thoughtful shadow came over her glee.
"Mamma," she said, "when I go to sleep,
I pray to the Father my soul to keep:
And he comes and carries it far away.
To the beautiful home where His angels stay.
I gather red roses, and lilies so white,
I sing with the angels through all the long night;
And when, in the morning, I wake from my sleep,
He gives back the soul that I gave Him to keep,
And I only remember, like beautiful dreams,
The garlands of lilies, the wonderful streams."

How the Morgan Monopoly Treats an American Citizen—A Suit for Damages Instituted.
We take the following account of the outrage committed by the Morgan Monopoly upon Hon. G. T. Ruby, from that sterling Republican paper
the Galveston Republican:

"On the departure of the steamship Morgan, on her first trip of last week, Mr. Ruby was on board. When the vessel had got to sea, on the collection of the fare and tickets, Mr.
Ruby tendered the money for cabin accommodations to the purser of the boat. The clerk refused it, stating that he (the purser) would not take the onus of making a precedent in Mr. Ruby's case against the rules or regulations of the boat. Several friends of Mr. R.'s were then called to witness his tender of cabin fare and the refusal thereof.

The matter was then referred to Capt. Lewis, commanding the boat.
Mr. Ruby stated to him that, as a gentleman, he did not desire to obtrude himself on any one, but he wished decent accommodations while on board, for which he was ready and willing to pay—at the same time again tendering first-class passage money, which the captain refused to accept, coupling his refusal, after Mr.
Ruby had indignantly left him) with grossness of language and deportment, to Mr. R.'s friends, unbecoming a gentleman.

Mr. Ruby, under protest, then paid deck fare, and during the inclemency of a very tempestuous and rough Gulf passage, for the period of twenty-six hours, to Berwick Bay, was exposed to cold, privations, want of food and comforts—suffering physically and mentally such indignities as only sensitive minds can appreciate.

On arrival at New Orleans, suit in Admiralty was brought against the steamer Morgan, which, with her engines, machinery, tackle, furniture and apparel, was libelled by Mr. Ruby for $5,000 damages.

All who know Mr. Ruby, whether political opponents or otherwise, can bear testimony that he is a gentleman in bearing and deportment, dignified, intellectual and refined, and no gentleman would refuse him honor.

Apart from the violation of a law of Congress in refusing Mr. Ruby cabin accommodations solely on account of color, the Morgan monopolists perpetrated a gross outrage on Republicans and loyal men in refusing a member elect to the Constitutional Convention, and an honest representative of the Union party, that courtesy and treatment due his position and influence.

Mr. Ruby is the person who, while supervising one of the registration districts of the State, visited a little town and being seen in the company of the registrars, the long haired chivalry of the place remarked, "look, there is a stranger who seems to be a Southern gentleman walking round with those damned nigger registrars." In appearance, in manners, in gentlemanly deportment, in education, in ability, Mr. Ruby is a man worthy of the society of the best men in Texas; and as a citizen of the Republic, Morgan's miserable blood-sucking monopoly has done him an injury—it should be made to pay for dearly.
Such a proscriptive monopoly should not be allowed to anchor its ships to the shores of a republic.

WOOL.

Messrs. Editors Galveston News,
The clipping season is at hand, and in view of the necessity of improvement among a majority of the wool growers of this section in the preparation of their crop for market, and the many inquiries made for information on the subject, we deem it of sufficient importance to communicate the following necessary hints, which, if heeded properly, will surely and steadily raise the standard of our wool among consumers. It is well known by all who have given the subject any attention that a great prejudice exists among manufacturers against Texas wool, mainly on account of the slovenly and shiftless way it is cared for and prepared for market. This should not be, and we are glad to see an improvement taking place. With a proper spirit shown, and increased care on the part of our wool-growers, it will not take many years to bring the standard of Texas wool fully up to that of the Western States.
Respectfully, &c.,
ZANDERSON & COLE.

1st.—CLIPPING.—The popular idea is that clipping should take place at the second quarter or full of each moon, and two or three days after a good shower of rain.

2d.—WASHING.—If soft water is within reach the sheep should, by all means, be thoroughly washed before shearing.
If not convenient, the wool can be washed after shearing. The loss in weight sustained by washing is more than made up by the enhanced value of the wool and the reduction of the expense in handling and transportation, as the cost of handling and transporting the dirt is the same as it would be for clean wool.

3d.—BURRS.—Where there are a few burrs on the fleeces they can be removed by clipping; but if the fleeces are very burry it is advisable to pack them appar-ately, marked as such. If this is done the clear wool will get the full benefit of its superior condition. But where a burry fleece is mixed here and there, suspicion is aroused and the whole lot suffers—in most cases entirely out of proportion to the number of burrs in it.

4th.—FLEECES.—The fleeces should be rolled up separately, and tied with a small twine. Dung locks should never be stuffed into the fleeces nor left hanging to the tail, as they detract from the value of the wool more than they make up in weight.

5th.—STONING.—If it is desired to keep unwashed wool any length of time, the fleeces should be put away unpacked in a perfectly dry place. If it is put in a damp place, or tightly packed it is liable to damage. The alkali contained in the wool after a time destroys the oil, and the result is (as is frequently seen in Texas wool) a harsh and tender staple, undesirable for manufacturers on that account, and from the impossibility of bringing it to a required whiteness.

THE DUTCH WAY TO SALT BEEF.— Take a lean piece of beef, rub it well with brown sugar and turn it often. In three days wipe it, and salt with common salt and saltpetre beaten fine, rub them well in, and turn it every day for a fortnight; roll it tight in a coarse cloth, and press it under a heavy weight; hang to dry in wood smoke, but turn upside down every day; boil it in pump water and press it; it will grate or cut into shivers, and make a good breakfast dish.
To twelve pounds of beef the proportion of common salt.

JOB WORK.

Our patrons are solicited to send in their orders for Bill-Heads, Cards, Circular Letters, Checks and every variety of Job Work. We have secured the services of a first class workman from the east, and have made our Job Department as complete as is possible to have it.

The El Paso Mail Service.

The most important enterprise in which the people of this city and Western Texas generally are interested, is the overland mail service to El Paso, making as it is intended, connection with the tri-weekly service to California. San Antonio is the natural overland outlet to all the trade of the Mesilla Valley, but now that trade goes by way of Santa Fe and St. Louis. For more than a year the Government has had a contract with parties to put this mail service through. Sawyer, Risher & Hall, had a finger in the pie, and up to last fall, managed not to make a single trip. One mail left El Paso in the Spring and seven months after came back to the same place. When the 35th Infantry marched to El Paso from this post, six or eight bags were put into a government wagon and hauled within a few miles of El Paso, taken off and carried bag at a time into that place on mule back, making regular trips and demanding a receipt from the Postmaster for the delivery of the mail. At last Mr. Ficklin came; his reputation as a stage man gave new confidence to the people who had so long suffered from the want of the regular mail service to El Paso.

Mr. Ficklin has had difficulties to contend with, and we have been patient with him, but patience cannot always be exercised when every day the most important interests of the country are suffering. Judge Bacon and Hon. W. W. Mills, just down from El Paso, represent the condition of the mail service as perfectly outrageous. The mails are taken from the Postoffices at each end of the route three times a week, but they never get through.

Messrs. Bacon and Mills represent that there is neither stock or accommodations for carrying mails or passengers, that there is no provision for forage for animals, and that the Government is called upon at each post to furnish hay and corn. Now this state of things cannot exist much longer. The Government pays to have this service performed and it must be done.

Before the war Geo. Giddings conducted this mail service with speed, certainty, and safety; the mail company employed its own escort, furnishing its own forage and made regular trips every seven days to El Paso. The Indians were worse than now, or as bad. Now the Government has lined the road with troops, furnishes escorts and forage, pays for the service and the mails are not carried. We are unwilling to wait much longer for a change. The people of New Mexico, and of the Mesilla Valley, have nearly been ruined by this failure of the Government to furnish them mail facilities, while San Antonio has suffered a great damage. A speedy change must take place. Men who take overland mail contracts, should take them at a figure that will enable them to carry them through at all hazards, and not take them with the expectation of casting the blame of failure upon the Government. We hope Mr. Ficklin may soon prove that our sanguine expectations, were not misplaced in him.

MR. KLAPPENBACH'S SUCCESSOR.—The people of Comal, Hays and Blanco counties will soon be called upon to choose a successor to the lamented Klappenbach as a delegate to the Reconstruction Convention. It is impossible for these loyal people to elect any other than a loyal man, but they should elect a representative man; a man from their midst, one identified by residence, by interest and by feeling with their particular section. We learn that Judge Geo. W. Paschal and Capt. Hunt are spoken of as candidates; both are good men and good republicans, but we believe that the people of those counties would feel more interested in the acts of the convention, and feel more responsible, if they select a man from among themselves. There are hundreds of good republicans in those counties and there should be no lack of a candidate.

An Outrage Committed Upon American Citizens in Mexico.—The Particulars as Given by a Mexican Paper.

The Atahua, published at Monterey, dated April 26th, has an editorial in the purport of which is as follows:—

"On Wednesday night, by order of the Secretary of the Government, six American citizens were arrested for the frivolous offense of loud talking—they being a little elated at the late arrival of one of their friends. They were taken to prison and every thing except their watches taken from them. After being left all night with the criminals in the prison, two of them, Messrs. Lichardt and Potter, were ordered to perform the disgusting work of removing a barrel containing the accumulated filth of the prison; and upon their refusing to do so, they were whipped by the authorities of the prison.

"This is the mildest statement we can give from what we know of the facts.

"This disgraceful affair gives rise to the most grave reflections and apprehensions, and will demand that the perpetrators be promptly and severely punished.

"We know how sensitive the United States Government is about the protection of her citizens, and this act may bring unpleasant consequences; the more to be regretted as our relations with that Government have been most cordial.

"We must mention that one of these Americans, Mr. Potter, has been here for more than a year trying to collect what is due him for a lot of arms which he sold to our Government during our late struggle with the French."

A Tale of Blood and Lynch Law.

A correspondent of the Houston Telegraph writing from Bonham, Texas, April 18, 1868, thus relates a series of murders and lynch law, in which two men were killed, three hung by lynch law and two dangerously wounded:

Another of those deplorable acts of violence which we have too often to chronicle, happened in our community yesterday morning. A young man named Clark Gillespie was killed in a rencontre with a party of some eight or ten men, who had gone to a house where Gillespie happened to be, to arrest him. The full particulars have not reached me. I can therefore only give an outline of the circumstances as they have been made known to me.

It seems that Gillespie and a Mr. Simcox had a short time since, pursued two other young men, named Pittman, into the Indian Nation, on the suspicion that they had stolen some horses from him—that after a time, Gillespie returned and stated that he had succeeded in arresting the Pittmans, but that the Indians had taken them from him. Not long after this one of the Pittmans, it is said, returned to Texas and stated that Gillespie and Simcox had bound them together and thrown them into the river—the Washita—that one of them was drowned and the other escaped. Upon this, Pittman's friends resolved to arrest Gillespie and Simcox for the murder of one of the Pittmans. In attempting to do this Gillespie was killed and two of the arresting party dangerously wounded, one mortally. Simcox was arrested and taken before a magistrate yesterday morning and committed, without bail, to Fannin county jail. The fact that he has not yet reached town, a distance of only eleven miles from the residence of the Justice, begins to excite serious apprehensions for his safety.

This occurrence took place six miles from town, on "Cany," at the residence of Mr. Simcox, sen. The wounded men are at a Mr. West and a Mr. Old or Ould. Two other young men were arrested also at or about the same time, in the same neighborhood, for horse or mule stealing. They were duly committed and sent here to jail, in default of bail. Neither of them has yet reached town. Why is not known.

It pains me to record such revolting scenes as these. They are the legitimate offsprings of a protracted civil war, and will probably never cease until Texas resumes her sovereignty and can exert her full authority over her territory and her citizens.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DESPATCHES.]

Impeachment.

Under dates of May 5th we have a few sentences of Bingham's speech so disconnected as to be worthless. He declared some part of Johnson's counsel argument parlie, not fit for the ears of the Senate. Below we give the intelligible portion of the dispatch.—Ed.

Bingham said that Sherman's remarks regarding the cabinet officers was not applicable because when the bill passed the malignant character of the President was not then developed. He defended Stanton as a culminated and slandered officer, who had proven faithful among the faithful and as one who in all the qualities which adorn human nature excelled. He characterized the quo warrant arguments as a mere dabble in the air. He regarded the constitutionality of the tenure of office bill act as a closed question after voting on it three times. Senators who questioned its constitutionality were themselves impeachable. Bingham concludes to-morrow.

Neon Report.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The House resumes business as soon as the Court retires. On the conclusion of Bingham's speech, Stevens will make a personal explanation. Bingham is still speaking on the Impeachment.

New Hampshire.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The Republican State Convention has adopted resolutions favoring Gen. Grant for President and the impeachment of Johnson. A letter was read in the Convention from Butler and Washburn giving assurance of the conviction of Johnson.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, May 5th.—House-Speaker named Banks, Thomas, Parknell, Griswold, Blair, Woodward and Beck as committee to investigate Washburn's charges against Donnelly.

Mr. Brooks charged that he Brooks made Butler disgorge sixty thousand dollars which Mr. Butler had stolen in New Orleans referred to the same committee.

The question from Boyer whether gold covered plate and spoons, answered by the Speaker negatively.

The proposition that the committee extend investigation over Butler's entire administration at New Orleans, rejected.

Casey moved the withdrawal of the tenth article as untenable; under House proceedings of Saturday, the Speaker decided it a privileged motion and pending vote on its reception, House adjourned.

Gen. Grant has an Indian Talk.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Judge Paschal now acting as Indian Agent, with delegations of Cherokees, Chickasaws and Creeks, visited Gen. Grant to-day. Gen. Grant asked them to state their plans in writing.

The Indians proffer to protect Northern Texas frontier.

Miscellaneous.

PHILADELPHIA, May 5.—Commodore Ridgely is dead.

NEW YORK, May 5.—An engine went through the trestle work at Jersey City; engineer and fireman drowned. Three thousand emigrants arrived yesterday.

NEW YORK, May 5.—H. J. Menonger, broker has failed.

Connecticut Convention.

CONCORD, May 5.—The Republican Convention has selected a full delegation to the Chicago National Convention, and passed resolutions favoring the nomination of Gen. Grant for President. The same Convention passed resolutions, favoring the impeachment of Johnson.

Impeachment Certain.

Dispatches received from Butler and Washburn, state that the impeachment of Johnson and his removal from the position he has disgraced, is certain.

Foreign News.

LONDON, May 5.—Queen Victoria refused to accept Disraeli's resignation.

The dissenting members of the ministry agreed under the circumstances to continue in office. Parliament to be dissolved in autumn when the new franchise bill will come into execution.

LONDON, May 5.—Midnight.—In the House of Commons, Lord Gladstone, referred to the Duke of Richmond's assertion in the House of Lords, that the Queen had left it to the ministry to dissolve Parliament whenever they pleased.

Lord Gladstone said such a process was unconstitutional, as it left the ministry at liberty to deal with questions that have not yet arisen, and he asked for an explanation of statement. Lord Gladstone also contradicted a Disraeli's statement in the House.

Lord Disraeli said there was no discrepancy between the statements he had made, he had offered to resign but the Queen had declined to receive his resignation; his advice to the Queen was to dissolve parliament when business permitted. Disraeli also stated that the right to dissolve Parliament was only reserved in case the issue on the Irish Church question should be pushed by others.

THE CRISP THEATRE.

We learn that Mr. Crisp has secured Mr. Vance's building, opposite the Menger Hotel, and will commence a series of performances this evening. Mr. Crisp is bound to give the public a chance to patronize the drama. We have not the programme before us, but have heard it intimated that it was "The Honey-moon."

THE PARLIAMENT REVOLUTION IN ENGLAND.

Our dispatches from London up to midnight, May 5th, disclose a perfect revolution in England. The liberal party has triumphed, and the Ministry with Disraeli at the head, are required to resign by the ancient custom; but the Queen resists the fiat of Parliament, refuses to accept Disraeli's resignation and proposes to dissolve Parliament. Kingcraft and liberalism are coming to close quarters.

THE EFFECTS OF RADICAL RULE.

The market value of the bonds of South Carolina has more than doubled since the convention met to form the constitution which the people of the State have just ratified. At that time they sold for twenty-five cents on the dollar, and now they are worth fifty-three cents. If the government which is about to go into operation shall prove successful they will soon rise to par. Let us earnestly hope that such a result may not be long delayed.—[New York Sun.]
