Opinions of the Press on Impeachment.
From the Cincinnati Gazette.
The Senators need not stake their trial-oaths at us, and pretend that they alone act upon this matter under any solemn responsibility, and that this makes their act sacred and infallible, and disables all public opinion to the contrary. These Senators cannot dodge this responsibility by setting up the cover of a special oath, and the pretense of special sanctity and infallibility which has been taken for the occasion. His acquittal will be their condemnation.

From the Cleveland Leader.
Already have three Senators set an indelible stigma upon their names and fame for all future time in the annals of the American Republic, by declaring that they stand ready to acquit Andrew Johnson of the crimes charged against him, and to continue him in the power and prerogatives of the Presidential office. Mr. Fessenden has fallen, like the angels who followed Lucifer, from the temptation of disappointed ambition. James W. Grimes is another name which will go in to history in something the same standing as that of the Tories of the Revolution. Lyman Trumbull of Illinois is the third man who has betrayed his State, his constituents, his party, and the whole country, by declaring for the acquittal of Andrew Johnson. In this vote he contradicts his whole past record, and gives the lie to all his past utterances and votes. God forgive him! the country cannot.

From the Toledo Blade.
The meanest of these men are not those who accepted so many of the whisky-ring dollars for their votes. Meaner and more despicable than these are the cold-blooded, calculating men who, before committing themselves, calculated whether or not, under Wade, they could keep as many of their brothers, cousins, and nephews in place as under Johnson; their calculations extending into the future as far as the Chicago Convention.]

From the Detroit Post.
The "conscientious" men, the men with "judicial minds," the men whose souls are elevated above personal and partisan considerations, cannot find anything in the impeachment articles which forbid Mr. Wade from being President. Andrew Johnson is innocent because Ben. Wade is guilty of being his successor.

From the Illinois Staats Zeitung.
If a judicial conscience may stamp the conscience of the statesman and the popular representative as a lie, and the Senatorial oath of office a perjury; if that same conscience may counsel Mr. Trumbull to go back upon the vote which he, on the 21st of February, cast, under his oath as a Senator—then it is a most shabby and despicable conscience, which would rather call for expression of contempt than of admiration.

From the Philadelphia Bulletin.
Seven perjured Republican Senators have fulfilled their bargain with Andrew Johnson, and declared themselves traitors to the people who have trusted them. Andrew Johnson, tried, convicted and condemned by the people, has been acquitted by the vote of seven men who have dared to reverse the nation's verdict. From this day forth they are joined to the enemies of their country and their party, and whatever be the price they have received or hope to receive, it can never compensate them for the deep dishonor they have brought upon their names by this day's work.

From the Hartford Times, extreme Copperhead.
The thanks of every true Union man are due especially to those noble Republican Senators who have stood firm amid this unparalleled storm of obloquy and persecution, and voted according to their conviction of right and justice.

From the Chicago Republican.
When it was announced that Mr. Trumbull would vote to declare Andrew Johnson innocent of all the charges on which he is being tried, the people were amazed. He had, under his oath as Senator, voted for the Tenure of Office bill, and had joined in passing the resolution of the Senate, "that under the Constitution and laws of the United States, the President has no power to remove the Secretary of War, and designate any other officer to perform the duties of that office ad interim." This oath bound performance of duty was a solemn and deliberate expression of the opinion that Andrew Johnson had been guilty of "high crimes and misdemeanors." It was, moreover, such an expression of opinion as led every one to believe Mr. Trumbull would vote for conviction. Nothing but the presentation of exculpatory evidence could justify an opposite expectation. But there has not been any such evidence produced. How, then, can he escape popular condemnation, or how can other Senators who voted for the same bill, and the same resolution of censure?

From the New Bedford Standard.
It is pitiable to see a man of Mr. Fessenden's reputation paying himself with such paltry excuses for voting against impeachment as are contained in his speech in secret session. We shall not dispute the honesty of his motives, but we believe that he is deeply influenced by the prejudices of which perhaps he is not himself aware; and he has at any rate shown a narrowness of vision, and has viewed this whole subject through such a colored medium as greatly to diminish the opinion of his ability and candor which we had previously entertained.

From the Wilmington (Del.) Commercial.
Ross, the Senator, who was chosen as fittest to commit the suicide, has been in the Senate since July 25, 1866, when he took the place of Gen. J. H. Lane. He is a native of Ohio, and was, and to say, an editor, and an officer in the Union army during the war, having risen to the rank of Major. Poor Fowler is probably the most deliberate and decided opponent. His loud mouthed declarations in favor of impeachment, months ago, and assertions that if it was not done the blood of Southern loyalists would be upon the head of Congress, now come back upon himself. But then what rebuke can there be for a man shorn of all decent self-respect, by a moral treason for which, as he well knows, there can be no pardon here or hereafter?

From the Boston Advertiser.
If the vote to-day should be for acquittal, he [Fessenden] could not escape the burden of responsibility it would place upon him. It is unnecessary now to repeat opinions on the topics wherein he differs from his associates, and it is too late for argument. We may regret the tendency of his mind to construe the law so rigidly as to appear to exclude the consideration of its intent and purpose. But with his view of the law and of his obligation, he could not do otherwise. We are bound to concede his right to judge for himself, and to respect his exercise of the right.

From the Albany Journal.
Mr. Henderson added to the suspicious circumstances of his position by voting with the minority, though he permitted it to be understood that he considered the article proper, and Mr. Ross of Kansas—the intimate friend of Vinnie Ream—went over to the anti-impeachers, giving them the vote necessary to save the perjured President from removal. Today's work opens a new chapter in the history of the Republic. And when it is written up, the recalcitrant Senators will have no reason to feel proud of their attitude. The loyal men of Kansas and Tennessee will know how to deal with their servants, who have violated the confidence reposed in them—who shall say, under what influences?

From the Pittsburgh Gazette.
Judge Chase deserved a stronger censure than had been intimated, for he has been, if events can prove anything, guilty of complicity in the most unscrupulous and shameless intrigue that ever disgraced an American Senate or sullied the Judiciary of any civilized people. The Senators who lent themselves to his purposes have achieved a vile eminence in infamy; but no language is strong enough to declare the public detestation for a Judge who, with the ermine around him, has polluted the fountains of Justice and used its sworn exponents as his tools. This man has, there seems no longer room for any doubt, availed himself of his country's extremity to push his personal fortunes. He has prostituted a great trial to the dirty uses of a political intrigue. He has perverted his functions, falsified his obligations, betrayed a sacred trust, dishonored a confiding people, and outraged the decency of the world. His shameful plot has exploded too soon for its success. He can never be President, as he is no longer an honored and respected magistrate, but, so long as he shall live, as a judge, or as a citizen, will not be remembered as the Chief Justice of a great nation, but as the chief traitor of an abortive cabal, as such to be the scorn of a people which once honored him.

PERSONAL ITEMS.
The Desport brothers are natives of Buffalo.
Michael Phelan returns $225 income.

The Rev. Dr. Olmpe, of New York, is about to make a tour in Europe.
Philip Phillips, the popular singer, will sail for Europe in June next.

Rev. Alexander Harris, a well known Episcopal clergyman of Cleveland, is dead.
Carlos Piaros has presented a $20,000 organ to the Metropolitan Methodist church in Washington.

M'He Don is the favorite dancer in London just now. Her success is golden.
Bonner says that one of the best things about the new Ledger building is the fact that it is all paid for.

Mark Twain is lecturing to crowded houses in California and Nevada.
Mrs. Parrington will write an ode for the Masonic celebration in Springfield June 2d.

The father of Robert Bonner, of the Ledger, was an innkeeper at Raynolton, Ireland.
The actual sum that Mr. Peabody gave the Pope was ten thousand dollars.

Hon. Marcus J. Parrott, of Kansas, has returned home from his visit to Europe.
The mother of "Artemus Ward" desires that the proposed monument be placed over his grave at Waterford, Maine, and not at Central Park, New York.

The London Spectator, speaks of Disraeli's conduct after his great defeat on the Irish church, as his "airy obtuseness to a supreme humiliation."
Clary-Louis-Kellogg is at Nice, France, and lately refused an offer of $4000 a night to sing in Madrid.

Gen. Wade-Hampton will deliver the address to the literary societies of Gen. Lee's college this coming commencement.
It is reported that Gen. Sickles will soon resign his commission as colonel in the regular army, and return to civil life.

Carlyle compares Walt Whitman to a buffalo, useful in fertilizing the soil, but mistaken that his contributions of this are matters which the world desires to contemplate closely.
Brignoll is said to have re-rented his villa at Long Branch where he spent last summer, and gave such charming descriptions and mistues to his lady friends.

The famous surgeon, Dr. Nelton, has lately left Paris for Stockholm, to operate for a tumor on Baron Hoepner. His fee is to be $20,000 and traveling expenses.
Miss Williams, an actress in the Maggie Mitchell troupe, and the wife of an editor of the Detroit Post, was seriously injured by a falling drop curtain, in Milwaukee, on Tuesday.

Commander John Pollard, of the British navy, is dead. He was known as "The Avenger of Nelson," because he was supposed to have killed the slayer of the great admiral.

Iowa has three lady editors, and every one of them, by a singular coincidence, wears the loveliest of given names—Mary! Their names are Mrs. Mary L. Mowry, of the Jefferson Era; Mrs. Mary Hartburn, of the Corydon Monitor, and Mrs. Mary Reed, of the Wright County Register.

In personal appearance Lord Brough was tall and stalwart, with exceedingly large bones, a highly developed forehead, and a nose remarkably long, but what the French term retrousse or turned up. When he was excited, it positively quivered with emotion. He was capable of enduring almost incredible fatigue, and in the early half of his career, like all leading public men in England at that period, was of highly convivial habits; but for the last thirty years he was strictly temperate.

Ex-rebel Colonel Baylor is on trial at Houston for killing rebel General Wharton. The parties were political friends, and no cause for killing is proven.

A venturesome Steamboat Captain started up the Trinity river with a small steamboat and after a seven months voyage, reached Dallas. The Houston papers speak of the trip as fully proving the practicability of navigation on that stream.

AHEAD OF TIME.—Do our readers realize how near we are to Europe? We received the commercial reports of Liverpool and London—from actual transactions in that city at one o'clock—at exactly 20 minutes before one on the same day (yesterday).

The publishers of the Express feel a just pride in having, at a most imperceptible cost to the reader, placed this "city of the wilderness" in daily communication with the whole world.

The Houston Telegraph tries to malign Governor Brown of Georgia. When such papers as the Telegraph abuse men, honest persons deem it the highest recommendation.

The same paper gives an incident to show the depravity of the negro. It is a pen picture of a maddened, infuriated, jealous negro trying to kill his wife, and two delicate, respectable white females hurl back the stone and rescue the woman.

Come you old cussing parson of an editor, give something more reasonable, don't add lying to swearing.

THE FEELING.

We give in today's issue extracts from Northern papers showing the feeling regarding impeachment and its result.

What shape the breach would assume of course none except the plotters knew, acquittal developed the plot and it is nothing less than the formation of a new party under the leadership of Chase, Fessenden & Co.

What shape the breach would assume of course none except the plotters knew, acquittal developed the plot and it is nothing less than the formation of a new party under the leadership of Chase, Fessenden & Co.

We do not hesitate to say that had either Presidential or Vice-Presidential candidate been selected with a view to conciliate section or faction the Republican party would have died with impeachment.

Washington Special, May 29.—Late yesterday the House passed a resolution establishing a prison in the Capitol and placing Wooley therein, excluded from written or verbal communication, except by order of the House.

Acosta, Ga., May 29.—Six citizens of Hamburg were arrested yesterday for preventing freedmen from holding political meetings in Union church, in that town.

Washington Special, May 29.—It is well believed; had impeachment resulted in conviction, the republican party would have passed into the hands of Chase and Fessenden, who are in favor of impartial suffrage and universal amnesty.

INDIAN DEPREDEATIONS.

Mr. A. S. Starr, just in from El Paso states that about the 18th of April a large band of Apache Indians attacked an emigrant train about fifty miles from Las Cruces, New Mexico.

About a week subsequent to this affair the same band attacked, captured and burnt a large train of goods belonging to Simon Ager.

The murdered party were all from Las Cruces. We will endeavor to get their names.

Local Intelligence.

Our night dispatches were interrupted by lightning.

ARRIVALS AT MEMPHIS HOTEL, May 28.
Percy J. Eyer, Santa Fe; Joo Pyle.

Paymaster Burbank, U. S. A., is supposed to have two bushels of greenbacks for San Antonio and the frontier.

We see the name of Gustavus Schleicher, among the names of Delegates to the Copperhead Convention to meet July 4th, to nominate candidates for the Presidency, some of the Union men of this city supposed Schleicher was out of that boat.

ARRIVED.—Mr. Phillips, of the firm of Phillips & Rhea, steam engine builders of New York, arrived at Galveston on the 27th per steamer Ariadne, with the steam fire engine for our city.

We gave, some weeks since, a description of the trial of this engine, which proved her to be of fine capacity and power.

HOAX.—The young officer who called at our office for his hat, is informed that the parties who told him "the Express advertised that a hat of an officer who was supposed to have committed suicide, had been found on the bank of the river," told him a falsehood, as such statement ever appeared in our paper.

THE RACE.—A spirited race will come off this evening, (weather permitting) at the Jockey Club course, about 6 o'clock, between the horses of Gen. Ed. Hatch, (the Carber horse) Me. Whiteside black colt, and L. Ecklesporre Gelding, single mile dash sweep stakes. Considerable money has changed hands on the merits of the horses.

A LITTLE boy named Jacob Smith was found by the Police on the Alamo, Thursday night, and provided by them with a stopping place until his parents could reclaim him. He claims to live on the Salado and says that he came in with a wagon on Wednesday, and that the driver drove off and left him.

Information in regard to his present whereabouts can be obtained of the Chief of Police.

A contemptible old rebel visited the City Headquarters some days ago and demanded the names of the police and expressed his opinion against retaining them longer.

Rebels had better buy them a cot in a valley they love; they cannot control this town either as decent men or murdering Ku Klux.

ANOTHER MILITARY COURT.—The Officers stationed in this city met yesterday as a general Court-Martial. From the number of courts meeting throughout the State, we judge crime and misdemeanors are on the increase.

THE STREETS.—Since the storm, pools of water have stood on the streets and now present the appearance of a swamp, with their green slimy surface sending up continuous streams of malaria.

Where is Burk? Who, as Cleveland street Commissioner, kept at least the pools of fifth from the city.

Everybody but the city fathers have concluded, long since, that the present system of cleaning the city by contract is a failure.

Police Items.

MAYOR'S COURT.—May 29, 1868.—William Grown, alias Hans Mynoer, on charge of drunkenness, was discharged.

A plea of guilty Hans Mynoer did make to drinking too much beer, but said it was his first offense. And in future he'd have sense.

VEGETABLES.—Notwithstanding the fearful ravages of the storm our vegetable market seems as well supplied as ever; even our neighbors at New Braunfels will supply rather than we shall go without. Roasting ears made their appearance yesterday for the first.

TRADE.—During the bustle of repairing the damages from the hail storm, trade for the week has been remarkably dull, Friday showed signs of renewed activity in trade, and merchants are sanguine that by Monday it will be fully restored. Paymasters are now on the rampage at the frontier posts and Sellers may be expected to follow on the heels of the hail storm.
