Three-Day Violence Toll Includes Five Injuries

Muleshoe Publishing Gives Trees To Park

This week, workmen were busy planting 100 trees which were contributed to the West Avenue D City Park by Muleshoe Publishing Co.

Publisher L.B. Hall purchased four varieties of trees, locust, mulberry, umbrella and ash, which are being planted in the ball park and playground areas where sprinkling is available.

Also contributing trees for the park recently was Myron Pool III.

Park Superintendent Rev. Walter Bartholf said, "Other areas of the park need more trees. However, we first need to rework our watering system so that adequate watering facilities will be available for best growth."

He added, "In a few years, we expect to have a beautiful park here, and we hope that just as soon as watering facilities are expanded, more people will be contributing trees."

According to the park chief,

'Dead End' Wreck Leaves One Serious

A violent, bone-jarring accident seriously injured one young man from Hale Center shortly before midnight Monday. Steve Marshall, 19, was given emergency treatment at West Plains Medical Center in Muleshoe before being transferred to Lubbock around 2 a.m. Tuesday.

Report of the accident was received in the Bailey County Law Enforcement Center around 11:48, from a resident of the area. Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Pearson Sr. were preparing to go to bed when Mrs. Pearson related, "I heard the car coming and ran to a window. As soon as I saw the car was not going to stop, I called my husband to get dressed."

"About that time, the car hit the embankment and the dirt flew. I saw the car fly into the air and it was almost as high in the air as the tops of the trees. It came down beside our garage, between the garage and the cornfield."

"I ran to the telephone and called the emergency number for an ambulance. My husband grabbed a flashlight and ran outside as someone started calling. 'Help us, help us.' As hard as the car hit, I just knew someone was hurt bad."

The Pearsons said they were retiring late as their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Pearson, had just left their house. Jim Pearson said that as they left the elder Pearson's house, two cars, one of them the vehicle which was wrecked approximately five minutes later, were sitting at the corner and several young men were around the vehicles.

According to the elder Pearson, he sat for a few minutes on his front porch and watched the cars drag racing on the paved strip which ends at the dead end on the west, approximately one-half mile north of Wiedebush and Co. and on the other end at Highway 214. He said he went into the house as the car which was wrecked was going east on the paved road. At the time he entered the house, he said the car was turning around on the east end and was starting back to the west.

Pearson commented, "The other car left, and only one boy stayed with the boy in the wrecked car. I didn't see the other car anymore. When the boy wrecked the car, the other car was sitting right here at the corner. I don't know where the other boys went. They didn't come back."

Gary Pierce, who picked up the wrecked auto from the turnoff said this made some eight or nine vehicles he had picked up following wrecks on the dead end. The Pearsons said they knew of at least 15 wrecks at the intersection since they had lived in the house, some of them with injuries, and others without injuries. They also said the Monday night accident was by far the worst one that had occurred since they had lived at the intersection.

According to the Pearsons, the Marshall car came further up the turnoff than had most vehicles and it was the first vehicle that they personally knew of that was airborne before it finally landed. The high embankment, which was 'plowed out' by the Marshall car, usually stops the other vehicles, added the Pearsons.

Investigating officers were Texas Highway Patrolmen from Littlefield, who were assisted by Deputy Sheriff Alton Carpenter and City Officer Jimmy Mills. Officers said liquor and speed were contributing factors in the wreck.

The Marshall youth said another boy in the car with him at the time of the accident, however, this was not confirmed as the one youth who stayed with the injured boy had apparently not been in the Marshall vehicle. The youth named by Marshall as his passenger was not at the accident scene when the officers arrived.

This was the third accident with injuries in Bailey County during the past three days. On early Sunday morning, Highway Troopers Louis Cardinal and Jim Williams investigated an accident in the Needmore area which left three injured men overnight in West Plains Medical Center for treatment of injuries. According to the officer's report, the driver of a late model pickup, had rolled the pickup. The driver was issued a citation for driving without a driver's license.

Hair Policy Survey Ends Next Monday

Deadline for indicating your personal preference in the hair policy for the Muleshoe school system is 5 p.m. on Monday, August 2, according to the Board of Trustees for the Muleshoe Independent School District.

For the past two weeks, The Journal has included a hair survey form in each issue of the paper to be filled in and returned to the school administration office of the school tax office at the Muleshoe City Hall.

Indications have been received that many persons have taken advantage of the form and have signified their preference by filling out the survey form. The school board will make a decision on the number of entries received.

The survey form asks if your preference is the present hair policy for boys which is: a. At least one-half inch above the eye in front. b. Trimmed on sides so that hair does not completely cover the ear. The bottom of the ear must be showing. d. Sideburns trimmed no lower than in line with bottom of ear and e. Hair length may not be concealed by any artificial means, such as wigs, head bands, etc.

Second question on the form is: If this is the opinion of the majority of the Muleshoe ISD, and it remains a school district policy, will you support it?

According to school officials, the alternative in case the hair policy is vetoed by the public is no hair policy at all for boys, with hair length, sideburns, mustaches and beards being allowed with no disciplinary measures.

School board members and neutral individuals will tabulate the survey forms after the 5 p.m. Monday deadline.

West Camp Receives Second Prize Check

Proud West Camp Community residents gathered at the West Camp Community building Tuesday morning for a 'special' coffeebreak. At the coffeebreak, the community received a check for $75 as second place winners in a Rural Improvement Program.

Organizing formally last September, the group named George Wheeler as chairman of the program and Mrs. Robert (Nelda) Hunt was named secretary, treasurer and reporter for the program. Using much "elbow grease" and limited funds, the group instituted a massive improvement program in the entire community.

Shortly after March 31 of this year, they submitted a record book showing various improvements and activities during the preceding year. The report was submitted to Texas A&M University and the Texas Extension Service, who acted as co-sponsors of the statewide contest.

Included in the book were names of the chairman and officers, including various committees for the community. Also in the book were lists of not only completed improvements, but planned improvements; a sheet listing reasons families might like to make the community their new home; activities conducted on a community-wide basis, including the Family Nite the second Saturday of each month and the monthly coffeebreak on the fourth Tuesday.

The workers included news clippings, pictures, an outline of a planned safety program, activities of the young people, including in 4-H along with much other information.

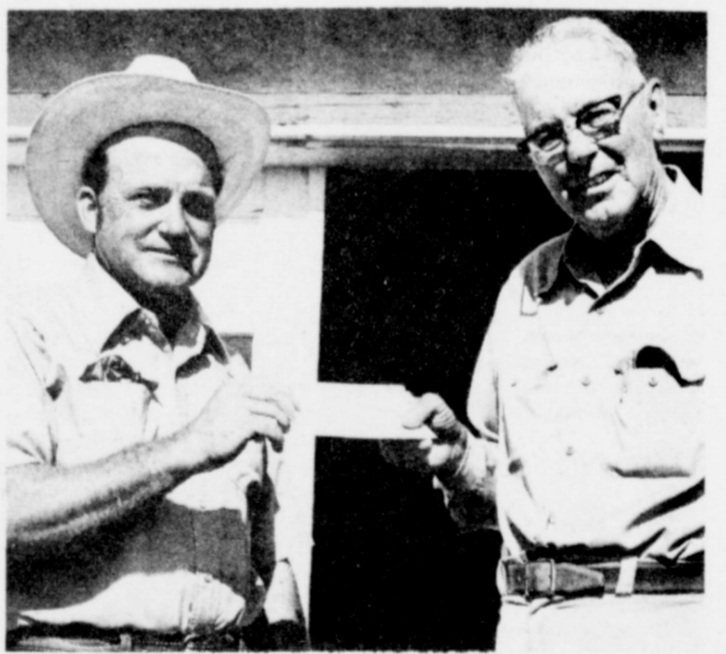

It was noted that many of the clippings concerned the activities of the 4-H Youth and their programs, including the Sewing Clubs and Horse Show programs. Among adults, were articles concerning improvement activities and social activities, designed for the community.

They told of the community building, which formerly housed a grocery store, and how they had acquired the limited furnishings. They talked of planned activities designed for raise funds to add to the kitchen and meeting room facilities and spoke of various meetings already being held in the recently acquired building.

Safety conscious residents plan an emergency first aid school in the near future to be attended by as many community residents as possible, partially because of the high percentage of youth activities. Most of the community youth are involved in horse and animal programs, and Mrs. Hunt said the community wanted to be prepared for possible emergencies in the area west of Muleshoe.

Other than Wheeler and Mrs. Hunt as leaders of the improvement program are other committee members. They are: PROGRAM - Mr. and Mrs. George Wheeler. Cont. on Page 3, Col. 4

A Day In The Life Of A Policeman

Are you one of the people who thinks it would be fun to put on a badge and gun and play 'cops and robbers'? If so, let's follow our local officers on their shift -- let's live one day in the life of a policeman.

Let's take the four p.m. to midnight shift on Sunday, July 25, for a good example and go with Fabian Flores as he takes over the shift for the Muleshoe City Police. We can't forget the two local Texas Department of Public Safety Officers, Louis Cardinal and Jim Williams, who also came on duty that afternoon. Their Saturday shift had ended at 5 a.m. that morning after they had completed checking an accident with injuries which occurred around 2:33 a.m. They were called back out at 2:33 p.m. on that particular Sunday to check another accident.

It all started off at exactly 3:59 p.m. when the THP officers told the dispatcher on duty they were 10-95 (had a prisoner in custody). By the time the officers had done paper work, had run wanted checks on the man and vehicle, and had arranged for bond for the individual, they had another call to take.

In this instance, there was a call into the Law Enforcement Center about a drunk man trying to get into a house. Flores and Williams took the call and brought the man in to be an overnight guest at the Cross-Bar Hotel.

Before they finished with that call, another telephone call came in about a rabid dog in another part of town. They took that call, rounded up the dog and asked for the dog catcher to come pick up the animal to be held for observation at the K-9 Hotel.

Back in the office, they attempted to catch up some paper work from the first calls and did not get inside the building before there was another call, about three drunk men raising a disturbance. All officers on duty answered the call and brought in the three men and booked them. But, before they got the booking forms filled out, there was a CB call about someone

Farmers Warned Of Illegal Cooperatives

The Texas State Securities Board today warned farmers and others in the agriculture business to be on the lookout for a possible swindle in newly-formed farmers' cooperative associations. The Board asked that this warning be publicized in the hope Texas farmers may be spared the loss of sizeable amounts of money.

Beginning this Spring a pattern has emerged, and now farmers in about 20 states in the central United States are discovering that they have been duped. While details of the swindle vary somewhat from state to state, the main characteristics generally are the same. They are as follows:

- * A new farmers' cooperative is formed, and one or more prominent local citizens are listed as officers or members. These local citizens usually are not aware a swindle is taking place, but their names are used to draw in other victims.
- * The farmer is told that if he joins, he'll be able to buy equipment, seed, supplies, etc., at reduced prices. In order to join, he must invest in a 20 year savings certificate or promissory note of the co-op, for which he pays about $350 per year. When the certificate matures in 20 years, he supposedly will get back all the money he's paid in plus a certain rate of interest compounded annually. He's led to believe that his price saving on any big ticket item (such as a tractor or combine) will more than offset the $350 annual payment. He's also promised the use of grain elevators and other cooperative facilities.
- * The promoters and their employees take at least the full first year payment ($350) as their "commission" for selling the savings certificate to the farmer.
- * Since the cooperative had no money or assets to begin with, it still has nothing, although $350 has been paid in by hundreds of farmers. Even if a few farmers elect to pay the full purchase price of the savings certificate in a single payment, the assets of the co-op will still be negligible. The managers of the co-op simply don't have enough money to do anything for the farmers, even if they had intended to do anything in the first place.
- * Just in case there is any money remaining after the first huge bite for commissions, the promoters usually will have signed, as representatives of the cooperative, a management or consultant contract for some other company to manage the business of the cooperative. The

The Pastor Speaks

By Rev. Evelis

THE TRAPS OF SIN: Luke 15:13 "After a few days the younger son sold his part of the property and left home with the money. He went to a country far away, where he wasted his money in reckless living." The traps of sin may be summed up in one statement: "The art of riotous living." We are not told what his particular sins were, nor the character of the places visited. But we know enough from this one verse of Scripture that most of what he did was bad and that nothing good was to come out of it. The details of our sin may be insignificant, but the port reached is the outstanding fact to be considered. The cause of imprisonment for one criminal may be stealing a horse, another a cow, and still another money. No one has the right to boast that he is not guilty of the crime of another - the fact remains they are all guilty. The question is not a particular sin or sins - the main thing is that God hates and will punish sin. The trap is of little concern - the serious matter is that men are caught and will be brought into question about it.

SATAN HAS A TRAP FOR EVERY OCCASION, PERSON AND AGE: The trap used to snare the Prodigal may or may not be used today to catch the youth of our land - but you rest assured that the Devil is on the job twenty-four hours out of every day. As children, my brother and I trapped for small game, skunks, rabbits, oppo-sums and the like. One thing we learned was to cover the traps well - keep them as clean as possible and odor free if we could. Satan not only covers his traps - but he even makes them beautiful to look at. He fills the Honka-Tonks with the latest song-hits. He dresses his agents in the finest clothes. He makes sure that the thoughtless youth is easily taken in. And the same thing can be said where adults are concerned. He covers the vilest crime with a coating of innocence. When I was a child my mother used to give me castor oil. She would put it in orange juice, or coffee or prune juice to make it look like something else. But I could, even as a child, always tell the difference. And I think if we today would act half awake we would know the difference between right and wrong. The devil never shows us the sad end of the beginning. He covers it with pleasure - with the talk of privileges and liberties and our rights. You know men are not as wise as some beasts in some things. You cannot catch a second beaver in the trap used to catch his mate. But this is not true with men. The saloon business has caught millions - and man after man has stood by the door to see his fellow go in never to come out the same. Yet he walks right in as if no one had ever been there before.

ONE OF THE MODERN TRAPS IS THE DANCE: If the dance was ever innocent - it certainly is not so today. It is here that young people go in like corn in a hopper to be ground in the devil's mill. A Mayor of a certain city a few years ago took a canvass of his town. He learned that some 80 percent of the fallen women in his city attributed their downfall to the dance alone. There may be some good things to be said about the dance - I'm sure I wouldn't know about that. But I do know that many women as well as men have gotten off on the wrong foot when they participated in it. It inflames the passions by its physical relations so that no man or woman can pass through its fires and remain a strong moral and christian character. If this were not true - they wouldn't think of doing it. I have witnessed incidents when the bodies of men and women - not married - are brought into such close proximity - evil passions are stirred that terminate usually in a divorce court. I believe that the dance is diametrically opposed to the highest ideals of christian life. The young women who puts a premium on virtue should never allow herself the company of the kind that hang out at a public dance. I don't believe any sane, sensible man would allow another man to take the same advantages and privileges of his wife on any floor but a dance floor. I also believe that the dance will disqualify a christian for the holy task God called him to do. I know this kind of talk sounds strange in our enlightened and advanced civilization. But the fact remains that the basic laws of nature and especially the laws of God have not changed and they will never change.

ANOTHER TRAP IS THE MOVING PICTURE INDUSTRY: I am not quick to say that this thing is all bad - it isn't. Someone made a prediction some 30 years ago that the day would come that the moving picture would be shown in our schools and in most of our churches - and it has come as he thought it would. The picture show can be an agent of good. For a long time the violin was thought to be an agent of Hell and it belonged to the devil. Today it has found its place and is used to glorify God. It is not the instrument that is good or bad - but the use to which it is placed. The danger comes in the kind of picture and the vaudeville so often connected with it. A good, clean, uplifting and wholesome picture is the exception and not the rule. Much too often a picture appeals to the low and base side of human nature. It inflames the passions and plays on the weak impulses of life. It either honors and lionizes the desperado - the crook or it is a triangle with two men and a woman or two women and a man in which the marriage relations and vows are outwitted and set aside. Such pictures when held before the public and especially the young - will undermine the home, and the morals of the whole land. If we must have picture shows - give us the kind that will educate us - honor and exhalt virtue rather than tear down all we have tried to build up. It is not a mere guess on my part that the modern picture show is responsible for widespread evil, shame, sin, disgrace and loose-living in our modern society today. In this day when human life seems to be the cheapest commodity on the market and when morals are fast fading into criminal compromises - it is time that parents, and good citizens - and above all christian men and women take seriously the situation and try to do something about it.

PLACES IN STATE SHOW . . . Sharla Farmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Farmer won a ribbon for eighth place in the State 4-H Horse Show competition in Amarillo last week. She was 15th in a field of 200 contestants in the barrel racing with a time of 15.48.

When planning priorities and trying to get the most from time available, remember that for most people, work expands to fit time allowed. If housework is expected to require eight hours every day, it probably will, Mrs. Lillian Chenoweth, family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says.

Sharla Farmer Ribbon Winner In State Show

Sharla Farmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Farmer, competed in the 1976 State 4-H Horse Show in Amarillo Tuesday, July 20 through July 24.

She participated in halter, western pleasure, barrels and poles. Sharla placed eighth in halter grade mares and received a bicentennial rosette ribbon.

Competing with 200 barrel races, she was one half second out of a qualifying time with a time of 15.48 hundredths of a second.

As a participant in the state horse show, Sharla represented District Two with the district receiving a third place plaque for the show.

Farmer's Union Sponsors Texas Women's Conference

Texas Farmers Union is sponsoring its first annual "Texas Women's Conference" August 9-11 in Amarillo at the Hilton Inn. The conference will focus on the leadership role of women in the Farmers Union as well as their role in politics, government activities and communications.

According to Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco, "Women have always played an important role in rural America, sharing the work, the responsibilities - and the rewards. This has been particularly true in the Farmers Union, and today women are exercising leadership roles in many other areas of our lives. We want to expose to the women in our organization the various ways in which they can be influential in the Farmers Union, civic and political action groups. This is the purpose and will be the focal point of the conference."

Participating in the two-day conference will be Ruth Kobell, Legislative Assistant, National Farmers Union, Washington, D.C.; Victor Ray, Director of the Department of Planning and Development and Assistant to the President, National Farmers Union, Denver, Colorado; and Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco.

Kobell, a native of Montana, has been active in the Farmers Union for many years, serving in both elected leadership roles and staff capacities. She joined the National Farmers Union staff in 1951 and was named Legislative Assistant in the Farmers Union's Washington office in 1975. She is the first woman registered as a lobbyist for the Farmers Union in the nation's capitol.

Ray joined the national staff of the Farmers Union in Washington, D.C. in 1968 as Director of Public Affairs. He had been an award winning editor and publisher in Arkansas before joining the Farmers Union staff. Ray was a controversial figure in Arkansas as an advocate of family farmers, working people and minority groups. He transferred from the Washington, D.C. office of the Farmers Union in 1972 to its Denver office where he now serves in his capacity of Assistant to the President of the National Farmers Union and its Director of Planning and Development.

Naman has served as president of the state-wide farm organization since 1961. He is a member of the National Farmers Union executive board and serves on several state advisory boards. Naman also operates a farm in the Waco area.

The Women's Conference will begin at 6:00 p.m. on Monday, August 9, and conclude after lunch on Wednesday, August 11. The conference includes a trip to the "Texas" pageant near Amarillo. Women interested in attending the Texas Women's Conference should contact their local Farmers Union officers or the Texas Farmers Union state office in Waco.

throwing rocks at cars on Main Street, and this was followed immediately by another call from the CB base station about a gang fight south of town.

Simultaneously, a telephone call came in from a local resident about an individual driving in a reckless manner -- but this one had to wait. There were already priorities in the fight matter, which turned out to be a potential knife fight.

Also, in the meantime, another woman called into the Law Enforcement Center about a fight that was supposed to take place in a city park. The officers on the way to check that call were called back by radio to check an accident on West Avenue D which involved a car driving through an office building. They found that an out-of-control automobile had driven into the Bailey County Memorial Park office building, taking out the front of the building and destroying furniture inside.

Even before they completed the accident investigation, which slightly injured the young woman driving the car, the officers received another call about a fight in progress in a city park. Since the lone city officer on duty was completely tied up checking the freak accident, Deputies Alton Carpenter and Pete Black immediately went to the park. They called back and told the dispatcher a car had hit another car and had driven away. The two deputies took off in pursuit, which ended in a high speed chase out of town before they got the vehicle stopped some four miles from town. This individual was brought into the office for a breathalyzer test prior to being charged with driving while intoxicated and hit and run. From the fight and the chase, another three people joined those already brought in for the afternoon.

A woman called and said she had received a call that one of the men (who had already been locked up a short time earlier) was supposed to come to her house and give her trouble. She was told he was resting in jail and wasn't going anywhere immediately to give anyone any trouble.

Before the officers were through with all they had so far, another call came in from a man who had seen young children playing on top of a city water tank. Back to the patrol cars. This matter was taken care of before one of the children fell off.

As all of this was going on, the dispatcher was taking care of calls for the Texas Highway Patrol from Farwell who have no dispatcher on Sunday. She also found the owner of a freshly painted and still wet painting which had been found and turned in by a young man. Mrs. Horace Blackburn was very pleased to get her painting back.

Shortly before 10:30 p.m., and right after Patrolman Jimmy Mills had joined Flores on duty, there was a telephone call about a shooting. The officers, including city, county and state police spent some time working on the shooting. They found no victim, but the potential victim came to the office, and Bailey County Judge Glen Williams was called out for the second time that evening to issue a warrant for the signed complaint from the intended victim.

While searching for the man who did the supposed shooting, the officers brought in another man who was charged with carrying a prohibited weapon (a gun). They then resumed the search for the man who had been charged with the shooting. During the time all this was taking place, Deputy Black was handling an emergency message call which had come in from Spokane, Wash. concerning a 14 year old boy.

So, tired officers dragged out much later than their particular shift was supposed to end, and in some cases, who were not supposed to even have to be on duty. Do the officers around here have anything to do? Ask the tired officers who did not have time to have coffee, eat a meal, or do required paper work.

Bara of Roswell went out of control at the corner of South First Street and West Avenue D. The veering automobile came to a rest inside the Bailey County Memorial Park Building across the street from the courthouse of Avenue D.

Mrs. Bara was treated at West Plains Medical Center for minor injuries and released.

Insurance adjusters were still computing damages to the Bailey County Memorial Park building and adjacent offices in the block as of presstime.

Farmers are urged to be very careful about turning over money to strangers purporting to organize a new cooperative. There are, of course, many honest and legitimate cooperative associations serving their members well, and other legitimate ones will be formed in the future. But questionable cooperatives have been set up recently in states adjacent to Texas, and the Texas Securities Commissioner is concerned that attempts to do the same here are quite likely.

Any farmer approached to invest money in a cooperative with the characteristics described above is asked to contact the State Securities Board office in Austin at P.O. Box 13167, Capitol Station, Austin 78711; telephone (512) 475-4561.

Summer Accidents Spoil Sun

Summertime and recreation just naturally go together, especially under the warm Texas sun. But the Texas Department of Health Resources warns that this year, as in past years, too many Texans will have their fun spoiled by unnecessary accidents.

Whatever type of recreation you choose, there are a few simple precautions you can take to ensure that you enjoy all of your vacation and leisure time.

According to safety experts, water sports offer the most frequent summertime hazards. Last year, more than 630 people drowned in water-related accidents in Texas. Typically, swimming accidents take the largest toll each year, followed closely by fishing accidents. Boating, sailing, water-skiing, and canoeing also take their toll.

But not all drownings involve swimmers and boaters. In too many cases, people fall from a place of presumed safety, such as a dock, bridge, or the edge of a swimming pool. When this happens, in many cases the person isn't prepared to swim and can't get himself to safety.

Children are most susceptible to this type of accident, especially very small children playing near a swimming pool or a pond. Two simple safety rules could prevent almost all such tragedies: first, never leave children without adult supervision; second, make sure everyone in the family knows how to swim. Free or very inexpensive swimming lessons are available in almost every community through American Red Cross programs and local recreation agencies.

Not only children but adults as well should wear an approved life jacket while on a boat or near deep water -- just in case of an unplanned dip. Even an expert swimmer won't be able to avoid drowning if he's knocked unconscious by a fall from a boat or by striking a rock underwater.

Always swim in areas you know are safe, either because they're marked for swimming or because you're accompanied by someone who knows the area thoroughly. And that's another good safety rule: don't swim alone. If you get into trouble, your companion can toss you a life jacket or a rope to help you reach safety. Never swim when you're chilled, overly tired, overheated, or you've just finished eating.

Anyone familiar with Texas weather knows that it can change rapidly. If you see thunderclouds building up or lightning in the distance, stay away from the water. Boats make an inviting target for a bolt of lightning, and choppy, wind-blown water can turn a pleasant swim into a potentially deadly nightmare.

Make sure your boat is in excellent condition and meets all safety regulations, which includes having a Coast Guard-approved flotation device on board for each person. When pulling skiers, boat drivers must be on the watch for swimmers and other watercraft. It's a good idea to have two people in a tow boat -- one to drive and the other to watch the skier. It's also a good idea to learn the hand signals developed especially for skiers; it's too hard to hear above the noise of a motor, but a hand signal can get the message across.

Health authorities warn that there are dangers in other kinds of recreational activities, too. Whether it's hang-gliding or golf, jogging or tennis, mountain-climbing or sunbathing, a few simple precautions can save you and your family a lot of grief.

First and foremost, don't get into anything over your head. Know what you're doing; plan and think ahead to avoid possible danger.

Second, don't overdo it. Over-extending yourself on a hot day under the bright sun is a sure way to put yourself in trouble. Exhaustion, sunburn, dehydration, sunstroke -- those are the penalties for people who don't know when to take it easy, and they can turn today's play-time into tomorrow's misery.

Third, share your fun with a friend. Whatever your favorite leisure activity might be, it's almost always more enjoyable in another person's company -- preferably someone who can help if things go wrong.

Fourth, keep an eye on the children. Don't let their inexperience and immature judgement lead to a spoiled weekend, or a tragically shortened life.

Summertime -- it's the favorite time of year for many people. That's why Texas Department of Health Resources safety experts says, "A little bit of caution never spoiled anybody's fun."

Miss Debra Bray Receives Degree

Miss Debra Lynn Bray of Pampa, daughter of Mrs. Thelma Bray and the late Clyde A. Bray, Jr., received her Bachelor of Science degree at Amarillo Civic Center, Saturday, May 4. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. J.W. Crim and the niece of Mrs. Horace McAdams, Keith Bray of Muleshoe and Dan Bray of Lubbock.

Miss Bray has been active in many organizations while at West Texas State. Some honors she has received include Sweetheart of Phi Epsilon Kappa (Honorary men's physical education fraternity), Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities, Woman of the Year, runner-up; and Psi Kappa of the Year (Delta Psi Kappa, women's honorary physical education fraternity).

As a graduate assistant at West Texas State University, Miss Bray taught modern and intermediate dance, dance production, techniques of dance, and archery. She also coached the cross country team in 1974-75 and the track and field team in 1976. "She has strong interests in recreational programs as related to varsity sports and expertise in dancing," Dr. Harder said.

Miss Bray will join the college coaching staff in mid-August for the beginning of the 1976-77 college term.

Those attending her graduation exercises were Mr. and Mrs. Horace McAdams of Odessa and Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Crim of Muleshoe.

Debbie Bray, native of Pampa, and a 1976 graduate of West Texas State University, with a master of education degree, will assume a new position as basketball, track and field coach of the women's physical education program at Garden City Community College.

She will join Betty Jo Johns, who has been the varsity coach for all women's sports programs at the college, according to Dr. Asel Harder, dean of instruction. Mrs. Johns will coach tennis and volleyball activities for women.

Fashion

The popularity for pants suits has also brought the blouse and skirt or shirt and skirt into great popularity. This is probably due to the summer season as skirts are cooler than pants.

Wrap around skirts are easier for fit when one's size is not a standard one.

The classic shirtwaist dress continues to be good. Some are buttoned down to the hemline.

The graduates will now find that there's a difference between going to college and going to work.

The Kitchen Almanac

Historical notes: Many 17th century colonial homes featured one main room called "the Hall". Here, the cooking and dining took place.

Because the fork was a rarity, food was eaten with knives, spoons and "fingers".

Oh, one more thing: It's said plates were shared by two or more diners. (We wonder if these were dinner? . . . or dental?)

Bringing up parents: We're not sure how this reflects on the above, but a college-age friend announced to his mother and dad the other day that he and his buddies are planning to celebrate the nation's 200th birthday by downing 200 beers on July 4th. We hope he was only kidding!!

When tenderizing meat, don't feel if "some is good, more is better". Too much tenderizer can make meat mushy or crumbly, mealy and dry. This is the word from USDA home economists. . . . These experts also say that any food that can be canned, can be frozen.

Here's a good old-fashioned cooking trick. Mix bread with ground beef or a combination of ground beef and leftover ham to make a tasty meat loaf . . . and help s-t-r-e-t-c-h your meat budget.

Today's household items are tomorrow's antiques and your teakettle could one day fall into this classification. Researchers at KitchenAid appliances report many homemakers are turning to the company's Hot-water Dispenser as a practical alternative to the familiar teakettle.

The dispenser instantly provides up to 190° water for everything from instant coffee, warming baby bottles, gelatin, thawing frozen foods and boiling eggs to making gravy, hot chocolate, soups and even cool, warm weather beverages that require a hot liquid first.

Cottage cheese contains about 20 percent milk solids, and many of the same nutrients found in fresh milk. . . . Sour half-and-half may be used in place of sour cream in many recipes.

How about a waffle sundae? After making waffles, top them with scoops of ice cream and warm fudge sauce. Garnish each with whipped cream and a maraschino cherry. (Also nuts, if you like.)

We always enjoy hearing from our readers. Send your tips, comments or whatever to: Harry G. Clark, (512), 173 W. Madison St., Chicago, IL 60602.

Nutrition From The Garden

COLLEGE STATION -- Fresh garden vegetables, packed with vitamins, minerals and bulk or roughage, add lots of nutrition to daily meals, Mrs. Sally Coble, foods and nutrition specialist, says.

She is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. "Tomatoes, popular in the home garden, supply generous amounts of Vitamins A and C. One medium-sized tomato provides about half the daily requirement for Vitamin C and one-fourth that of Vitamin A. Tomatoes may be sliced and served fresh, canned or frozen for future use."

Another favorite garden vegetable is squash, providing small amounts of many vitamins and minerals. Use it raw in salads, cooked for casseroles, canned, frozen or pickled, she suggested.

"Carrots are an excellent source of Vitamin A and may be used in a variety of ways, both cooked and raw.

"A few peppers go a long way in providing Vitamin C for the family. They add flavor to salads, casseroles and are good alone, too.

"Most beans and peas supply iron in fair amounts, and this makes them a good source of energy," she said.

Remember to harvest and use any garden vegetable at their peak for highest nutritional value and quality, the specialist said.

Conditioning Children To Be Obese

COLLEGE STATION -- Parents may create a "weight problem" by urging their young child to clean his plate or by allowing him to eat too many high calorie foods.

"Expecting a child to eat everything on his plate at every meal may not only be unrealistic (how many adults do this?) but also harmful to the child's health."

"Research indicates that fatness acquired in early childhood is harder to lose than any extra pounds gained in adulthood," Debby Johnson, a family life education specialist, says.

Pointing out specific physical reasons for this, Mrs. Sally Coble, a foods and nutrition specialist, said, "Children require calories for energy and growth. But during periods of slow growth, such as the preschool years, calorie needs are not so great."

"But if children overeat during this time, they create new fat cells to handle the excess calories. Once a fat cell has been formed, it will never go away -- so it is important to try to limit the number of fat cells produced during the early years. Adults who overeat simply fill up cells already present," she explained.

Both specialists are with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"In the past, overweight individuals often excused their obesity by saying they had a 'glandular problem'. This is rarely the case. It generally boils down to one problem -- overeating," Miss Johnson said.

Although heredity also plays a role in obesity, most research indicates poor eating habits are the real culprits, she continued. Children learn their eating habits from parents. And since children tend to model their behavior on what they see their parents doing, the parent who "stuffs" a meal will be more likely to have a child who also does, she said.

"Some parents use confections or other food items as a part of their discipline, or as a bribe to get children to do what is expected."

"Though it may be convenient at times to pacify a child with treats, two considerations should be kept in mind. It establishes a pattern for the child, in that he expects to be rewarded with food in exchange for good behavior. The result may be short-term-learning, which often does not carry over to other similar situations. Also, as he is conditioned to eat more, the number of fat cells increases, as does the need to satisfy a growing appetite."

"Obesity is unsightly and unattractive -- research shows that it affects the self-concept -- and increases the mortality rate. People who are 30 percent overweight decrease their life expectancy by 30 to 40 percent."

Obesity also may lead to other health problems, including diabetes and heart disease.

CANCER ANSWER LINE

American Cancer Society
M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute

A regular feature, prepared by the American Cancer Society, to help save your life from cancer.

Mrs. H.L. writes: "My doctor prescribed hormone pills to help me through some of the troublesome symptoms of the 'change of life.' Now I hear that estrogen might be involved with bigger trouble -- cancer. Is this true?"

ANSWERline: In two recently-reported statistical studies from Seattle and Los Angeles, estrogen hormones, given to correct the hormonal imbalance of menopause, have been linked with an increased risk of cancer of the uterine lining, which is called endometrial cancer. These reports are being reviewed with great care by the medical profession because therapeutic hormones are also useful and important to many women. If you have doubts, please speak with your physician, whom you should be seeing regularly for checkups. Estrogen users should have a Pap test, breast exam and blood pressure reading every six months. Any bleeding that occurs after the menopause should be brought to the attention of a physician right away -- careful checking can be a lifesaver.

A Gary, Indiana housewife writes: "My children are now in high school and I am planning to go to work. But I am afraid that I might have trouble because, although I am healthy, I was treated for cancer four years ago. I have heard that it is difficult for former cancer patients to get hired. Is this true?"

ANSWERline: In some areas, in some industries, there can be problems because of misinformation. For example, an employer might think that a person who has been treated for cancer will need more sick leave than other people. However, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has been hiring cancer patients since 1957. A study made by the company showed that their "sick leave" records were considered as acceptable as those of employees who had never had the disease. The American Cancer Society Unit in your community is ready to help with any problems of possible job discrimination.

A cigarette smoker notes: "I am thinking of quitting and I'd like to know the worst -- how many people get lung cancer and how many die of it?"

ANSWERline: We are experiencing an epidemic of lung cancer with an alarming death toll. In 1976, there will be an estimated 93,000 new cases of lung cancer. The disease will take the lives of 65,200 men -- making it the greatest cancer killer of American men -- 18,600 women. This is a

HYPERTENSION: THE SILENT DISEASE

High blood pressure, or hypertension as it is known medically, is a major health problem in the United States. Over 25 million Americans have the condition and it is believed that over 11 million cases go undetected. If untreated, hypertension has been found to be a contributing factor to heart attack, stroke, or kidney disease.

Labeled "The Silent Disease" because it has no early symptoms, it is one of the few serious illnesses that a person can do something about, but it does require cooperation and compliance with the physician's regimen of treatment.

The Pharmaceuticals Division of CIBA-GEIGY, a leading producer of antihypertensive medication, embarked upon a series of screening programs to make the public aware of the dangers of high blood pressure. The company, in conjunction with heart associations and medical societies, screened over one million persons. Over 20%, one in every five, showed elevated readings. These people were referred to their physicians for further evaluation.

Hypertension can set the body up for serious cardiovascular complications with virtually no warning. Heredity, obesity, too much salt in the diet, anxiety and stress are contributing causes. Control of the disease is possible, with recognition of the problem, treatment by physicians and compliance by the patient.

A blood pressure check is simple, quick and painless. Early detection of a problem could set in motion treatment which could dramatically change the quality, even the length of a person's life.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,
I have a very good husband in many ways but there is one thing about him that really makes me mad. It is about money. He seems to think that anything he needs or any trip he wishes to take is fine and spends money for those things but he has me on a budget, which is really not enough for necessities. Yet, when I say I need more money for something he says for me to take it out of the budget. Why would a man be so stingy with his wife and generous with every one else?

Worried--Pa.
Answer: If your husband was stingy with everyone I would say that he was a thrifty type and one that would be hard to change. But singling you out for his grasp of the dollar, makes me think that he resents you in some way and is unconsciously trying to punish you. You might try to find out if this is so.

But if you are to be on a budget and it doesn't cover your expenses the budget should be re-evaluated and set right.

There is no sense in a woman who is running a house and taking care of children having to pinch pennies to make ends meet while a man buys what he wants.

Tell your husband to wake up to the fact that marriage is a partnership not a dictatorship.

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN--Recently Pollster Louis Harris told the National Governors Conference that the American public, by almost 3-1, feels state governments can be trusted more than the federal government.

That poll concluded that citizens overwhelmingly feel the federal government is more wasteful, gives the taxpayers less for the tax dollar and is more corrupt than state governments. The consensus is that state government really cares what happens to the people.

Nationally syndicated columnist Neal Peirce, probably the country's leading journalistic student of the states today, said at the conference that the states are awakening from a long hibernation and that they have immense potential for creative change as the nation begins its third century.

The key words for the states are that if they are to fulfill their destiny they must show sufficient courage and the will to employ their array of constitutional powers.

We in Texas, although a state, have become the size and have the problems once reserved for nations. Our population of 12.3 million citizens, were we an independent country, would exceed that of more than 100 other nations and even more than 100 in land area.

One question being asked is how strong is state government today.

According to state scholars such as Peirce, the states are in a much healthier condition and are more honest and responsive to people's needs than they have been over the long stretch of our national history.

I think that is especially true in Texas where our legislators are well qualified by reason of adequate staffing, good information and planning procedures. The increase in public higher education, competitive bidding, development of professionalism among state employees, all have combined to strengthen state government as a unit.

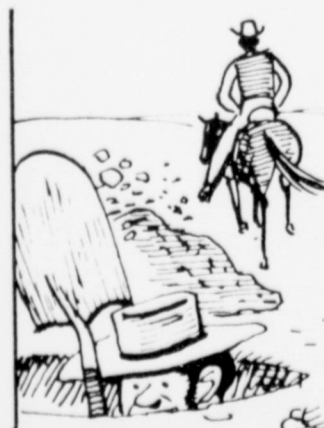

Still the experts say that they cannot say with certainty how well state governments will survive over the next 100 years. While one road leads toward a continued rise to excellence and effectiveness, the other road leads downward.

That lower road would have the states, at best, as powerless administrative shells of an all encompassing federal government. At worst, we would see the obliteration of state government.

We must not let our states travel that lower road. We have seen where direct governance from Washington in the 1960's ended in massive failures. Federal bureaucracy is too remote to administer state or local affairs responsibly.

During the third century we in Texas must be watchful to stay off the lower road. State government must remain democratic, open and accessible tool of the people's collective will.

We can provide that close relationship of citizen to government. The polls show the people believe that is what is happening today. We must see that it continues for all our tomorrows.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Our Consumer Protection and Insurance, Banking, and Securities Divisions, along with the State Securities Board, which our office represents in litigation, have moved successfully to stop fraudulent Schedule "D" offerings to potential investors in oil and gas well drilling ventures in Texas.

But there are other ways in which inexperienced investors may be approached by unscrupulous promoters offering a chance to "make a killing" by investing in drilling ventures.

One area which some former fraudulent Schedule "D" offerors are reportedly moving into is the "private offering" of an investment opportunity, since a "private offering" does not have to be registered with either the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission or the State Securities Board.

A legitimate private offering must meet certain criteria: there must be no public solicitation of investors; there must be no more than 35 investors; there must be some "relationship of trust" between the investors and the offeror (for example, all might be relatives or friends of the offeror); and generally the investors must be relatively sophisticated about investment matters.

Our office is studying reports that some former Schedule "D" operators are misusing the "private offering" exemption in much the same way Schedule "D" was being misused.

Another method by which some unscrupulous former Schedule "D" operators are reported to be continuing their efforts to obtain money from investors is the federal oil and gas lease lottery business, or the "simultaneous offering" as it is officially designated.

The federal government each month offers oil and gas leases on government-owned land through a lottery system operating in 11 cities (none of which is in Texas). Participants pay a $10 fee and agree if they win to pay the first year's rent of 50 cents per acre on the lease within 15 days after the lottery. Lottery winners hope to sell drilling rights on the land to oil and gas companies and reap a percentage of any production.

There are many reputable individuals and service companies that assist persons wishing to participate in these lotteries. Their services usually include helping the layman decide which lease lottery is a likely prospect, filing for that lottery on behalf of the investor, arranging to resell the lease if the investor later desires, and sometimes paying the first year's rent within the 15 days for lottery winners. For their services, these promoters and service companies get a fee that may range from $20 up to several thousands of dollars.

Our attorneys point out that unscrupulous promoters and service companies may recommend leases that have little prospect of oil and gas production, they may try to purchase a winner's lease rights for less than they are worth, and some companies have been charged with mail fraud in connection with the lotteries.

They also caution that even when you deal with reputable promoters your chance of winning a lottery is very small, and there's a good possibility that if you win, you could get stuck with a lease on land that is worthless for drilling.

Aid For Rural Elderly Possible Through Grant

Problems and needs of the rural elderly are the focus of a Texas Tech University college of home economics project recently funded by a federal grant of more than $298,000.

It is titled "Model Rural Project for Homemaker Service Aide Program to the Elderly." Texas Tech home economics graduate student and administrative assistant Gail House said the program is designed to provide home services to rural persons 60 years of age and older. Mrs. House is the principal investigator and project director.

"Rural elderly persons have long been neglected," said Mrs. House. "In an area like West Texas the large expanse of land and sparse population mean resources are spread over urban areas. This emphasis on aid in rural areas is what captured the attention of the people in Washington."

The Administration on Aging

has agreed to provide more than $148,000 during the project's first year and $150,000 the second year. The administration is a division of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare's Office of Human Development.

Mrs. House said the program has two basic goals. First, project workers will study the needs of elderly persons and attempt to provide care in homes as an alternative to institutional care. The project also will represent an attempt to address the problems of displaced homemakers -- persons who have been in their homes most of their lives and lack training or other resources to enter the job market. Mrs. House and other project workers will attempt to attract displaced homemakers and train

Jobless Rate Up Slightly

The Texas jobless rate climbed to 6.1 percent in June. This is an increase of eight-tenths of one percent over the May rate, according to Texas Employment Commission Chairman Harold K. Dudley, who added that it is no cause for concern.

"There's an increase every June," Dudley said, "as students and others entering the labor market begin looking for jobs."

"Unemployment patterns since 1970 show larger fluctuations from May to June than the current increase," Dudley said. "The new figures actually are evidence of economic recovery. It appears that the economy is making a step in the right direction, but it is moving slowly."

During June, some 331,600 Texans were seeking jobs and 5,149,300 were employed.

"Texas continues to fare better than the nation as a whole," Dudley commented. "The national unadjusted rate for June is 8.0 percent -- a full 1.3 percent higher than the May rate of 6.7 percent."

The TEC chairman predicted a gradual decline in joblessness in the months ahead.

"The unemployment rate will go down very reluctantly and very gradually," he said.

"Since there seems to be little chance of a sudden superheating of the economy, further decline in the unemployment rate is expected to come slowly."

physical fitness, first aid and other topics.

Mrs. House said project workers will begin field work in August. Workers will contact persons 60 years old and older in the 15-county area included in the South Plains Association of Government's jurisdiction. Homemaker aides will participate in training seminars in September. Mrs. House said she hopes the elderly persons can start receiving services by October 1.

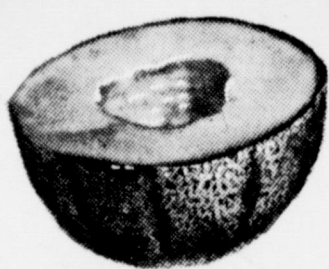

Mrs. House stated that project workers will cooperate with all existing programs providing aid to the elderly. She said she hopes the project eventually can be established on a community basis with funding provided from community monies or revenue sharing.

Persons with questions about the project and its services should call the dean's office at 742-3031. Persons interested in working as homemaker aides should call Mrs. House at that number.

Student Building At LCC To Open

The new $1 million Mabec Student Life Building at Lubbock Christian College is slated to be open before students return for fall semester classes which start August 30.

The two-story brick building, which completes the mall on the LCC campus, will house complete facilities for students' leisure hour activities. Floyd Wilson, director of the Mabec Student Life Building, said the new structure would house a full range of activities in a Christian atmosphere so that students won't have to leave campus for recreational opportunities.

Construction on the project got underway last year. Architect is the firm of Ribber, Huckabee and Donham of Lubbock, Tex. M.W. Turner Construction Co. of Lubbock is the general contractor, while the Finishing Touch of Midland is in charge of decorating the building. The new structure is located on the east side of campus, directly across from Moody Auditorium.

As one enters the Mabec Student Life Building, the first thing that can be seen in the foyer is a huge fireplace. Its chimney extends upward through the ceiling, serving as a focal point for both the first and second floors. Surrounding the fireplace on the first floor are planters, trophy cases and a lounge area.

Also on the first floor will be student mailboxes, book store, an old-fashioned ice cream and pizza parlor and a four-lane bowling alley with AMF Automatic Pinspotters.

Both floors will contain a snack area, but on the second floor students will be able to walk out onto a terrace that will contain tables resembling those found in an outdoor Parisian cafe.

Also on the second floor will be a billiards room containing foosball tables and air hockey. The entire building is not dedicated to recreational facilities, however. Other student needs are met, too.

Student health services will also be housed on the second floor, as well as individual study rooms, KLCC, the campus radio station, the student newspaper and the Student Senate Room are also on the upper level. Next to the new newspaper office is a television room, which also has lighting so that it can be used for news interviews by the Lubbock media.

The Mabec Student Life Building will replace the Betty Hancock Campus Center as the gathering point for students on campus, although the older building will still be put to good use. It will still house the cafeteria, will serve as the headquarters for the post office, will be the new home for the print shop and will be used for a variety of other purposes.

FPC boosts wellhead gas prices

Expected to raise consumer's bills nearly 3 times

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Power Commission today nearly tripled the amount producers can charge for interstate natural gas. Averaged with other lower-price gas, it would increase the average consumer's gas bill by about $15.60 a year.

Unless challenges to the increase are successful, it will go into effect almost immediately. The commission's action nearly tripling the producers' ceiling price to interstate pipelines applies to gas brought into production after 1974. For gas brought into production during 1974 and 1975, the commission doubled the producers' ceiling price.

Pre-1975 gas remains at lower prices. Thus, the impact of the increase to consumers, reflected through the added costs of pipeline transportation and local distribution, is softened by being averaged in with the older, cheaper gas, which also is reaching consumers.

Depending how much gas is consumed, this increase would vary; the commission staff estimated the average residential increase might range, for example, from $5.20 a year in Florida, where winters are warmer, to perhaps $23.14 a year in Ohio, where they are colder.

At a cost to an average residential customer of about 13 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, the staff estimated the average residential bill would increase about $11.70 a year in New York state; about $10.40 in California; about $17.81 in Pennsylvania; and about $21.45 in Illinois.

Other factors in the averages in addition to climate are how many ways households in various states use natural gas, such as how many use it for cooking, for instance, or for drying clothes.

Over all, the increase is predicted to cost the nation's consumers up to $1.5 billion in the first year.

Under previous regulations, producers were allowed to charge about 52 cents per thousand cubic feet for gas they sold outside the producing state.

In today's decision, the commission set a new nationwide ceiling price of $1.42 per thousand cubic feet for gas brought into production since Dec. 31, 1974. The commission said this ceiling price may increase by one cent every three months.

The commission set a lower ceiling price of $1.01 for gas brought into production between Jan. 1, 1973, and Dec. 31, 1974.

BUILDING DESTROYED . . . An office building housing offices of the Bailey County Memorial Park is shown shortly after an out-of-control car veered into the building late Sunday afternoon. Hints For Homeowners

MONEY-SAVING TIPS

Keeping your garden tools in good shape helps insure them a long useful life. And the longer you can use a tool, the more money you save. Here are some care tips that will keep tools in proper shape and efficient.

1. To sharpen your hoe, or edger, file along the face only, making strokes at a 30-degree angle. File only on the downstroke, never on the upstroke.

2. To give your shovel a sharp edge, so that it will go into the ground easier, file around the rim of the spade face. File the spade on the downstroke at a fairly deep angle.

3. It's best to clean digging tools after every use. But if dirt has hardened, make sure to remove it before rust sets in. Rub the blade thoroughly with coarse-grade steel wool or sandpaper. When blade is clean, apply lubricating oil.

4. To do these and many other tool upkeep jobs, you'll need high quality files. A professional-quality file for every common purpose can be found at hardware centers in the Handyman's Home File Pak made by Nicholson. It includes the 4-IN-HAND, four tools in one.

KEEP IT ON FILE—Many common garden tools need to be sharpened with a high-quality file.

5. To smooth tool handles, use light sandpaper. Sand until all nicks and splinters are gone, then rub the wood of the handle with linseed oil.

6. To sharpen a scuffle hoe, put the blade on a block of wood and file flat across the inside.

Follow these tips and you'll be taking out an insurance policy on the life of your garden tools, and making gardening easier.

into newer cars, however, will tend eventually to break this pattern. And with fewer cars on the road, the break will have a decided effect on state highway funds.

Beginning next year, auto makers will be turning out cars 700 to 1000 pounds lighter than comparable 1976 models. And the new models are expected to get nearly 40 percent better gasoline mileage. That is in line with an industry goal to build cars in 1977 that can average 16 miles a gallon, compared with 11.5 miles in 1974.

With the trend to newer models, then, lighter weight cars are coming, reinforcing efforts to get better gas mileage. At current tax rates, revenues will shrink further. But with fewer, lighter cars on the road, the need for maintenance and new construction will also be less.

Texas Taxes

By BOB BULLOCK
State Comptroller

AUSTIN—Beginning August 1st, the Comptroller's Office will have a new easy-to-remember, toll-free taxpayer information and assistance number. It is: 1-800-252-5555. You may call without charge from anywhere in Texas.

Since we instituted the program in January, we have received between 7,000 and 8,000 calls per month—a total of approximately 50,000 inquiries from Texas taxpayers.

We now have six lines instead of two, in order to give taxpayers quicker answers to their state tax questions.

The lines are in operation during regular working hours to handle any and all State tax questions and problems.

The calls come in first to our central switchboard and are then transferred to the appropriate division where specialists in the various taxes can answer your questions.

The Comptroller's Office deals with more than 500,000 taxpayers in connection with the collection of more than two dozen different state taxes. So it is not surprising that several hundred questions a day need to be answered.

Providing those answers is our responsibility and we have an obligation to make those answers available as quickly and cheaply as possible. Doing so saves taxpayers and the Comptroller's office time, money, and trouble.

The foundation of tax collection is voluntary compliance.

"The sole objective of the High Plains Boll Weevil Control Program is to prevent the infestation of previously weevil-free cotton fields throughout the High Plains, New Mexico and farther West."

So stated Ed Dean, Field Service Director for Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., in Lubbock recently at a meeting of the organization's Board of Directors. "The program is financed by producers in our original 23 counties, with matching funds from the Federal Government," he added, "and the funds cannot be spent for anything not essential to that objective."

This same message is going to farmers in the program's "control zone" in counties along and below the Caprock which rims the Plains on the East.

The subject has drawn increased interest in recent weeks as weevil numbers and the attendant threat to 1976 crops intensifies in the infested area.

"The weevil control program since 1963 has prevented westward encroachment of the weevil, as was intended from the beginning," Dean states, "and as a bonus it has also prevented severe damage to control zone crops for about a dozen years."

But the value of this "bonus," officials say, for some control-zone farmers will be considerably less this year. Weevil populations in the area just East of the program's control zone have been building for the last two years, and migration of the pest into the controlled area has increased proportionately. Also, the mild 1975-76 winter promoted a survival rate from 15 to 20 times as great as normal.

Consequently a great many more weevils are coming out of hibernation into weevil-favoring weather this Spring. While this is true both inside and outside the control zone, surveys indicate populations up to 40 times greater in the area just East of the control zone where cotton went untreated last Fall.

"This is going to create an early buildup of populations through both reproduction and in-migration," according to program entomologists. And Dean says there is little doubt now that many fields in the heavily infested area will suffer unless individual producers spray for weevils long before treatment begins this Fall under the control program.

Aerial applications of Malathion under the organized control program do not begin until last August or early September each year. Periodic sprays continue through the Fall and early Winter until the weevil's food supply is destroyed by frost or chemicals, killing a high percentage of those weevils that otherwise would go into hibernation.

This procedure has effectively kept weevils out of the vast cotton acreage above the Caprock, Dean reports. And, he told his Board, "We have every reason to believe the program will again be effective in 1976."

AG AGENTS WIN INFORMATION AWARDS

Five county agents (agriculture) with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service have been named state winners in the 1976 Public Information Awards Program, with one being named a regional and national winner. State winner as well as regional and national winner in the radio program category was Robert E. Moon, Dallas County horticulturist. Other state winners were M.H. Brown, Limestone County, single news photo and feature story; Edwin Bright, Dallas County, series of colored slides and direct mail piece; Thaddeus McDonald, Travis County, news column; and Wylie Roberts, Kaufman County, newsletter. The awards program is conducted by the National Association of County Agricultural Agents and is sponsored by Amchem Products, Inc.

An infant goes through stages in his reaction to strangers. In the first months, he does not discriminate between strangers and familiar persons. But at about eight months, after the infant has become attached to the caregiver, he may react with fear or withdrawal if the attachment figure is not present. Studies show that infants who have a secure attachment to their caregiver will be less likely to develop separation or stranger anxiety, according to Debby Johnson, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Certification Label Changes On 1977 Certified Seed

Texas producers shopping for certified planting seed for the 1977 season will see a change in the certification label accompanying each bag of seed. Starting next year, seed will be certified for genetic identity only.

Although the new certification label assures that the seed is the variety stated on the label, the big change is the fact that it does not relate to any seed quality factors such as purity, inert matter, other crop seed, weed seed, noxious weed seed and germination. The Texas seed law, however, still requires that this information be truthfully stated on the analysis label accompanying the seed.

"The change in seed certification which becomes effective January 1, 1977, means that producers will have to pay particular attention to the labels on the seed bag," emphasizes Dr. Robert B. Metzger, cotton specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "The certification label will tell them what variety the seed is, and the analysis label will provide information on quality factors."

Both labels tell the complete story about the seed, but keep in mind that quality factors can vary even though the seed is certified, notes Metzger.

Certification for genetic identity means that seed has been produced and processed under standards and procedures established by the Texas Seed and Plant Board and enforced by the Texas Department of Agriculture to assure that the variety is as represented by the certification label accompanying the seed.

"Reading the label has always been of importance in purchasing seed, but the new standards will place even greater responsibility on the producer to carefully read both labels to determine if the seed meets his quality requirements," points out Metzger.

The Texas A&M University System specialist lists a number of reasons for the change in seed certification standards:

--To assure a more dependable supply of seed officially certified as to genetic identity.

--To establish uniformity with the Federal Seed Act.

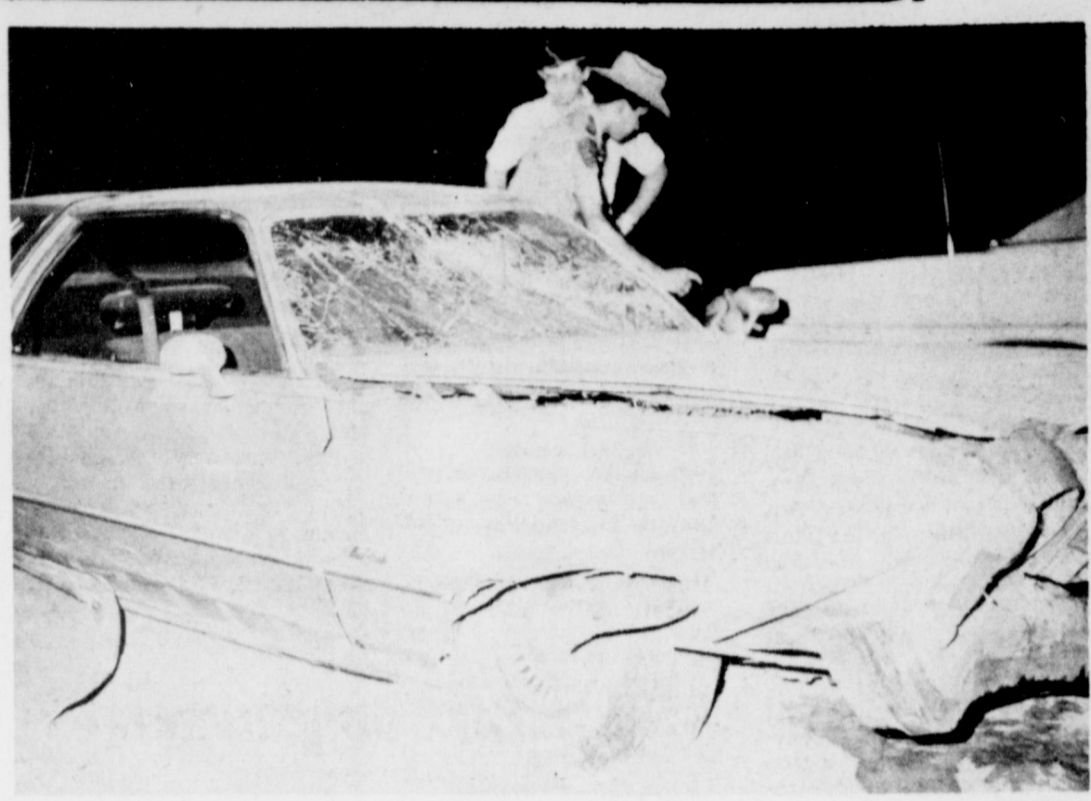

--To encourage international seed trade.

--To allow production of certified seed having quality characteristics for different market needs.

"The change gives seedmen more flexibility in producing seed for different markets," notes Metzger, "and at the same time promotes a plentiful supply of high quality seed."

"Quality is by no means being sacrificed by this change," he emphasizes. "Quality standards will be as important as ever. The main thing the seed certification change does is place greater responsibility on the producer to select the proper seed for his particular needs."

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

We would like to express our appreciation to the City of Muleshoe for putting stop signs at the corner of West Third and Avenue F.

For years, we had asked for a stop sign at that corner to help slow down traffic around the schools.

Your actions last week may save the life of a child. There have been many times when there have been "near misses" during school hours, and we know of at least three bad accidents at that corner.

Thank you for showing consideration for our school youth.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Texas-style presidential preference primaries apparently are banned by a new mandate of the Democratic National Convention.

Actually, the law authorizing primaries for presidential delegate selection in 1976 expires by its own terms this year.

However, Gov. Dolph Briscoe and others have spoken out for renewal of the statute next year in essentially its old so-called winner-take-all form.

The Democratic convention voted to instruct the party's commission on future presidential primaries to outlaw at all levels delegate selection procedures decided by a plurality.

Texas and a dozen other states this year elected delegates at the senatorial and congressional district level in primaries where those who received a plurality of the popular vote won. Delegates representing other presidential candidates got no representation in the districts.

Republicans wanted no part of the Texas primary in the first place, but Democrats control the Texas legislature and they passed the bill (they thought) to aid U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen who was then seeking presidential nomination. Jimmy Carter and Ronald Reagan were the beneficiaries of winner-take-all provisions.

Atty. Gen. John Hill said he will recommend the legislature not to renew the expiring law. Hill agrees with the convention majority that primaries should insure proportional or fair-share representation.

Plan Submitted
A proposed plan for settlement of $1.4 billion in lawsuits against Lo-Vaca Gathering Company was reviewed by the Railroad Commission.

It calls for separation of the gas distribution system from its parent firm, Coastal States Gas Producing Company, and creation of a new independent company.

It also provided that Coastal must spend $230 million over a 15-year period in the Lo-Vaca supply area in searching for new natural gas supplies.

Austin, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Brownsville, Lower Colorado River Authority and other cities and districts are served by Lo-Vaca.

Appointments
Sherman McBeath, a former Foard County sheriff, has been named acting administrator of the Alcoholic Beverage Commission. John Davenport of Austin resigned as assistant administrator.

Gov. Briscoe appointed Cecil E. Burney of Corpus Christi to the Texas Historical Commission.

VRA Check Ordered
The House Elections Committee is conducting a survey to determine impact of the controversial federal Voting Rights Act on 4,000 local governments in Texas.

The act requires governmental units to get U.S. Justice Department approval on all changes in laws or procedures bearing on elections and voting rights — including annexations and boundary changes.

Courts Speak
A divided State Supreme Court held the Open Records Act does not provide for forcing a person to specify why he wants access to public information. The decision concluded that a business firm is entitled to Texas Industrial Accident Board data on workmen's compensation claims, but placed restrictions on embarrassing information.

In another case, the high court agreed to review a challenge to legality of fuel adjustment charges on San Antonio utility bills.

The court determined that the Savings and Loan Commission does not have to make decisions within 45 days on Jacksonville and Naogdoches applications. At the same time, the top state court refused to force the state banking commissioner to recover assets of Citizens State Bank of Carizo Springs from federal authorities.

AG Opinions

The county tax rate established on July 20 will be effective for taxes that become collectible beginning on October 1 and delinquent in 1977. Atty. Gen. Hill held in a new opinion.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded: A mental health-mental retardation center composed of two or more local agencies is subject to requirements of the open meeting act.

Any person affected by an order of the commissioner of insurance (whether or not it is a disciplinary order) may appeal to the State Board of Insurance. The board will determine whether the person is affected.

The state Department of Labor and Standards commissioner is not permitted to enforce the prevailing wage statute.

Interest Sought

Comptroller Bob Bullock is pushing for federal authority for banks to pay interest on state and local government checking accounts.

He figured the state could earn $15 million a year and local governments $35 million if their $1 billion in the checking accounts now in Texas banks could draw reasonable interest.

The comptroller expressed his views in supporting a bill before the U.S. Senate Banking Committee.

He said small governments would benefit most, since they don't have expertise to run an investment program or cash to hire a professional money manager.

Short Snorts

The number of Bullock's toll free line for information on taxes has been changed to 1-800-252-5555.

More than 500 Texas cities received checks totaling $13.4 million from July sales taxes. Gross sales during the first quarter in Texas came to $30.6 billion.

up from $26.9 billion for the same quarter in 1975.

While speculation increased that he may be the Republican vice presidential nominee, former Gov. John Connally took off for a July rest on his ranch near Floresville.

In the future, institutions seeking corporate charters to grant higher education degrees will have to get certification from the Coordination Board, Texas College and University System.

you and the LAW
PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: If I am stopped by a law enforcement officer for a traffic offense, am I required to sign the traffic ticket?

A: You do not have to sign the ticket. However, the law requires that a citizen who refuses to sign a traffic ticket must be taken before a judge. This means the citizen may spend some time waiting in jail for the court to come into session or for the judge to be located if he or she is not in the courthouse at the time. At that time, the judge could either hold the trial immediately, or release you on a surety bond or on a personal recognizance bond.

Q: My husband was taken to court by his ex-wife to increase the amount he pays for child support. Why is my salary considered as part of his income for the support of his other children?

A: The amount of child support set by the court in a divorce decree is based both on the father's ability to pay and on the needs of his children. Subsequent modifications of amount ordered are based on changes of circumstances of children and/or the father. The father's ability to pay is determined by his total financial status, including his community share of his second wife's earnings. The judge is free to consider the second wife's earnings in determining the father's ability to meet child support payments.
